HARDING COLLEGE LIBRARY

Foreword

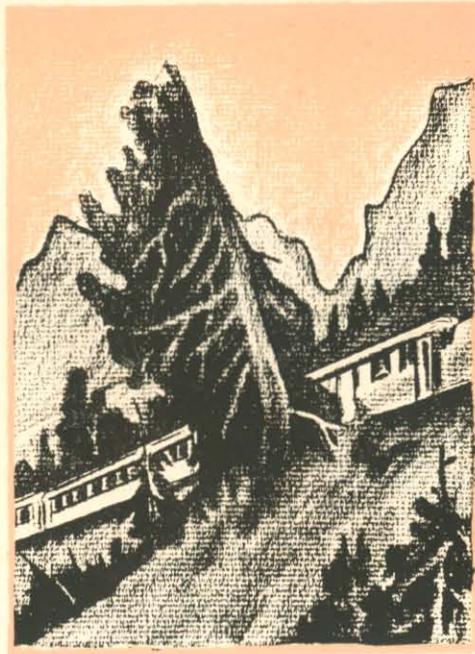

In this, the 1933 Petit Jean, we present to you a panorama of the past year's activities. It is our sincere desire that in future years you will find its pages filled with pleasant memories of your college life at Harding. May this volume be a lasting stimulant to your efforts toward her future progress.

Theme

The art theme of the 1933 Petit Jean takes you over the romantic progress of the railroad. It is through this decorative theme that we remind you of that great force that has rendered enormous service in the civilization of the world, vitalizing human affairs, and bringing untold benefits and joys to mankind.

100680

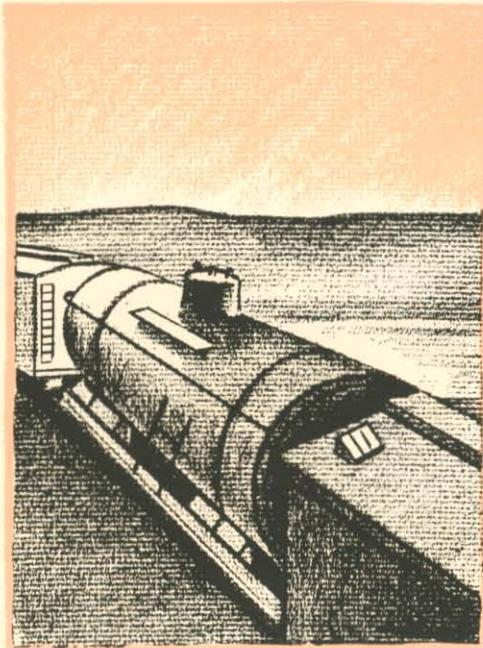

Dedication

Because we appreciate noble ideals, high standards, sincere devotion, and cheerful, unselfish service, we respectfully dedicate this ninth volume of the Petit Jean to one whose life has been to us a constant example of these admirable qualities—

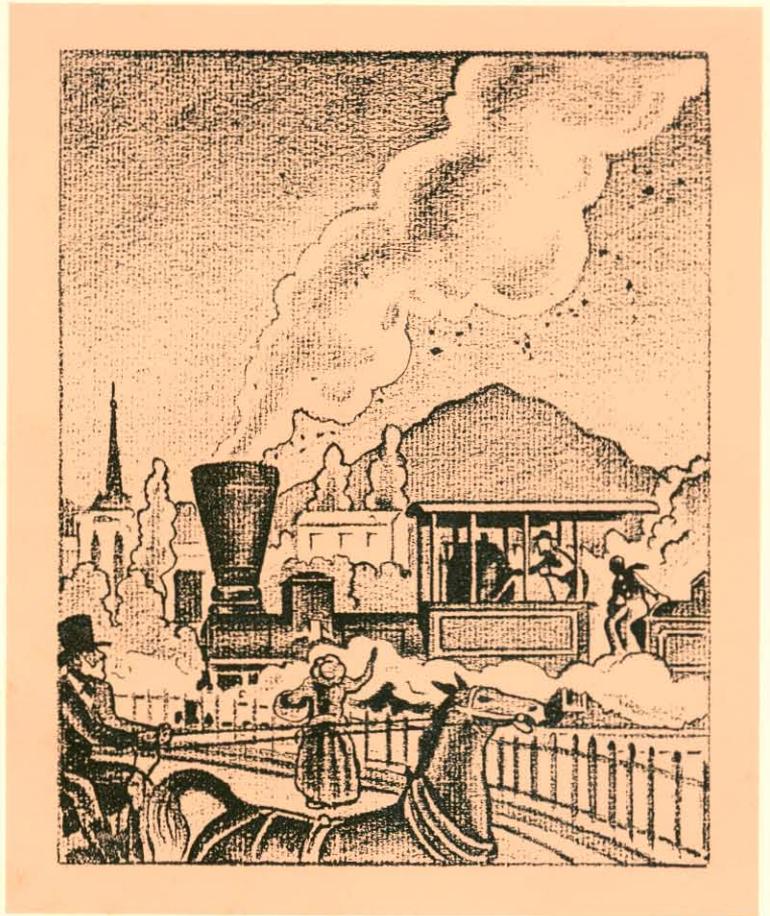

Samuel Albert Bell

Since the founding of Harding College in 1924, Professor Bell has been head of the Biological Science Department. His graduate work was taken at the University of Oklahoma and the University of Kansas. Each year, Professor Bell is dean of the summer session.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Not only did the coming of the railroad attract to the city trade and wealth, but its crudely proportioned coaches and miraculous self-propelled engine drew from the country into the city thousands of curious spectators who gazed in awe at the innovation. Typical of the doubtful group was the one who looked at the puffing locomotive and observed, "If she ever starts, they'll never get her stopped." Children were delighted, older people shook their heads, while horses, astonished by the appearance, and sound of the monster, ran wildly away at its approach.

Alma Mater

*In the foothills of the Ozarks,
Near to Petit Jean,
Stands our glorious Alma Mater;
Harding is her name.*

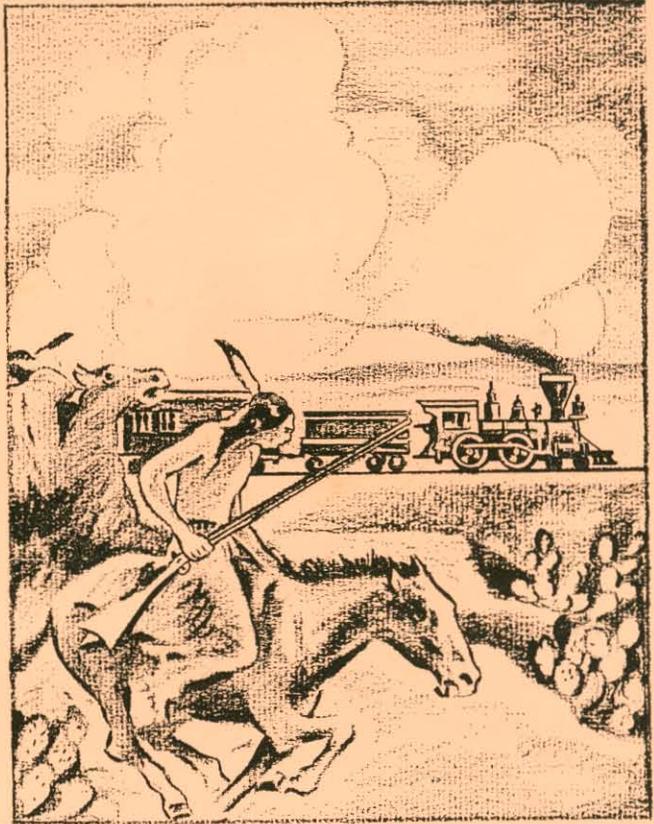

CHORUS

*Sing the chorus! Shout it loud'y!
Echoing through the vale;
Hail to thee, beloved Harding!
Alma Mater, hail!*

*Christian standard is her motto;
Christian life is stressed;
And in every branch of learning
Each one does his best.*

*Harding opens wide her portals,
Thus inviting all
Who would tread the path of knowledge;
Heed then to her call.*

FLORENCE M. CATHCART.

Settlement of the western plains and prairies was very hazardous until the coming of the first transcontinental railway. The "iron horse" sounded the death knell of Indian opposition to the advance of the white man. The railroad made the conquest of the West peaceful. The train not only took passengers safely to their destination, but also carried their products to the markets. The great western region owes its modern civilization chiefly to the railroad.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

BEVERLY WATERS
Honor Student

MILDRED FISER
Honor Student

The aim of the department of Business Administration is to afford young people a most thorough and extensive business education in a thoroughly Christian atmosphere, thus building character with education. It is the aim of the department to meet the demands, especially of those who have neither a lifetime, nor a fortune to spend in school.

The department was organized, and is maintained for that class of young people who go to school for business, for study, and for a purpose. Through the correlation of this with other departments, students receive a broad training so essential to our present-day life. The teachers take a keen personal interest in every student who comes under their direction, and are never happier than in learning of the promotion, or advancement of those whom they have helped to train.

Honors of the department this year go to Beverly Waters of Alachua, Florida, and to Mildred Fiser of Morrilton, Arkansas. These young people are making splendid records in business and take first place in a variety of ways.

As the railroads extended into new territory, towns began to spring up as if by magic. Small villages along the railroads became thriving cities. In 1853 Wheeling, Virginia, became a very busy city, because it was in this year that the railroad began its operation from Wheeling, eastward.

When the railroad was extended westward in 1860 as far as Chicago and St. Lou's, because they were favorably situated as trade centers, these towns expanded rapidly in business and in population.

CAMPUS TWOSOMES

These snaps of Harding twosomes recall the fact that it is not in spring alone that "the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." However, in several of these cases the turning seems to be no light matter.

REMINISCENCES

These are all well-remembered scenes—the piano studio, typing room, and dining hall; the bookstore and the infirmary; “The Treasure Chest.” Can you find yourself in chapel?

STUDENT WORKSHOPS

The various workshops at Harding cover a wide range of endeavor, both practical and artistic. On this page are represented the several Science and Home Economics Laboratories, Business Office, Library and Art Department.

KODAKING EXCURSIONS

Those kodaking excursions! This group will take you back to some pleasant Sunday afternoon. From the husky oar-pullers to the barefoot boy, these gay posers have not a care in the world.

ALL DAY OUTINGS

Here are souvenirs of some memorable outings. The scenes are Cedar Park and Petit Jean, the characters, well-known Hardingites. But did anyone ever see such feet?

STUDIOUS AND OTHERWISE

This page will call up memories—that energetic Economics class! Play practice! Study hours! There's the pensive Editor—and the kitchen at the Club. Which couple will be first to regroup the chairs and disturb the serenity of the Reception Room?

"BRRRR" WINTER!

Did somebody say, "Winter"? Who walked from the Library to the Ad Building after our December snowstorm without receiving his share of the pelting? The Floridians at lower left, standing in the snow, have somewhat the appearance of a pair of Balboas having just discovered a couple of Pacifics.

POTPOURRI

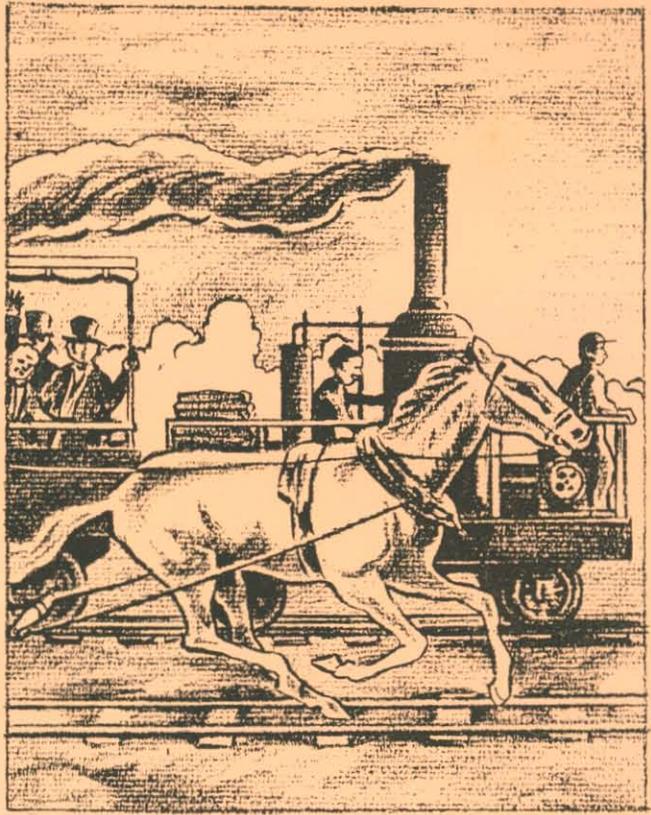

Here we have a generous portion of every class, well stirred, and seasoned with Faculty. "And isn't that a charming dish to set before a King?"

SEASONAL SPORTS

On this page appear several types of athletic contests in various stages of progress, ranging from advertising the game all the way through active participation to looking pretty between times, and finally to the result, at upper left.

When the railroads first began in the United States the trains were drawn by horses. Not until 1831 was there a successful locomotive used. In this same year the locomotive, "Puffing Billy," ran a race with a horse-drawn train, and the "iron horse" proved to be far swifter than its flesh and blood competitor. This experiment led to other similar ones, with the result that the invention had proved its superiority.

Accordingly, by 1834 the horse had almost entirely been displaced by the steam-driven locomotive.

SPOKANE MOUNTAINEER GAMES

In two pre-season games the Bisons easily defeated the Spokane Mountaineers, a Missouri semi-pro team. The Berryhillites took early leads in both contests and were never overtaken. McReynolds led the Harding attack in the first encounter with ten field goals and four free throws. Bell scored 9 and 5 to lead the way in the second of the series. P. Berryhill scored 20 points in each game.

FORT SMITH JUNIOR COLLEGE GAME

Harding opened its regular college season away from home, returning with the short end of the score. The first half was played on even terms, ending in a 26 to 26 tie. Early in the second half Captain B. Berryhill and McReynolds were forced to retire on fouls, and the Junior Collegians began to pull away. P. Berryhill scored 18 and McReynolds 15. Walkord, giant Fort Smith center, counted 24 points.

SUBIACO COLLEGE GAME

The first home game of the regular season was a glorious occasion for Harding. The Bisons jumped into a fighting Subiaco College quint and crushed these Trojans 50 to 30. McReynolds was looping baskets from all angles, scoring 17 points. Bradley played a great defensive game counting 10 scores. Bell's and P. Berryhill's floor work was great, and each scored 11 points. Captain B. Berryhill, though not figuring in the scoring played an almost faultless game at guard, his man failing to score from the floor.

SECOND SUBIACO GAME

In the return game at Subiaco, the men of Berryhill were nosed out by a single point margin, 70 to 71. The Bisons held a 37 to 25 lead at the half, but again rough play eliminated regulars, and Subiaco gradually caught up and held the one score margin at the final gun. Bell, McReynolds, and P. Berryhill were the eliminated, Berryhill's offense being the first in his three years of play here. However, he scored 22 points and played a good floor game before he retired. McReynolds accounted for 21. Bradley at guard counted 10 times.

P. BERRYHILL, Center CARROLL, Guard HOLLIS, Guard SMITH, Forward

LITTLE ROCK JUNIOR COLLEGE GAME

Bell and McReynolds showed the way against the Trojans here with 23 and 24 points respectively in the Bisons 75 to 41 victory. Coach Berryhill started big Joe Carroll at center, and Carroll showed to advantage. P. Berryhill entered the game at the half and scored 17 points. Every member of the squad got into the fray and the recruits were able to hold their own. Bradley and Captain B. Berryhill played their usual good games.

COLLEGE OF THE OZARKS GAME

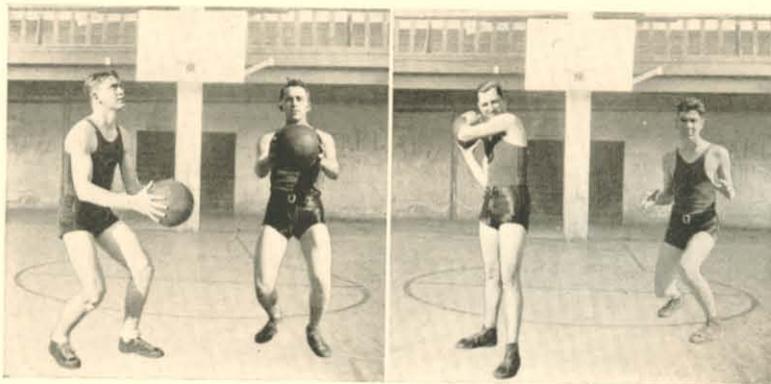

At Clarksville the Black and Gold hoopsters were as merciless as they were the previous night winning 45 to 38. McReynolds and P. Berryhill rang up baskets from all angles, each scoring 13 points. As usual Bradley's game at guard was outstanding. The Bisons started with a rush and held a 28 to 14 lead at the half. They coasted along in the second half. P. Berryhill and McReynolds received slight injuries that slowed them up in the next four contests.

HENDRIX COLLEGE GAME

The Harding five next met Hendrix, state champions for three years, and were set back to a 61 to 25 tune. Moffatt and Eason, "all-state" forwards, and Barnett, rangy center, proved to be too much for the smaller and somewhat crippled Bison five. Eason scored 21 points, and Moffat, leader of state scorers with 235 scored 12. P. Berryhill scored 5 of Harding's 9 field goals. McReynolds scored 2 field goals and was death on free throws, making six out of six tries. The men of Berryhill fought hard but were out-classed and out-ranged.

SECOND FORT SMITH JUNIOR COLLEGE GAME

On the night following the Hendrix affair, Fort Smith invaded the Harding floor and eked out a 32 to 31 victory. Walkord, rangy center again went on a scoring spree accounting for 23 points, and running his total to 47 in the two game series. The Bisons held a 13 to 8 lead at the half, but their long seige of contests on successive nights told on them in the second half. Bell and P. Berryhill led the way for Harding, scoring 15 and 10 points respectively.

LITTLE ROCK JUNIOR COLLEGE GAME

Two nights later, Berryhill took his boys to Little Rock for the second game of their series with the Junior College. Worn out but full of fight, the Bisons eked out a 30 to 28 victory. The game was nip and tuck all the way. Harding held a two-point lead at the half, Berryhill and Bell scored 10 and 9 respectively. Coach started McReynolds at center, but he was soon forced to retire. Carroll substituted for him and played a nice game.

SECOND HENDRIX COLLEGE GAME

After a four day rest, the Harding five met Hendrix on the home floor and played improved ball over the play of their first meeting. The Warriors won, 58 to 34, but not without a fight. The first eleven minutes were played on even terms, then Hendrix went on a spree and held a 33 to 11 lead at the half. Captain Berryhill rallied his forces, and the scoring in the second half was 25 to 23 with Hendrix having the 2 point margin. Moffatt scored 15 for high point honors. Bell led the way for the locals with 12. For the first time P. Berryhill was held to less than 10 points, scoring but 9.

ARKANSAS COLLEGE GAME

After trailing until the last four minutes of play, the fighting Bisons came back strong and pushed over Arkansas College 59 to 52 in a thrilling contest on the home floor. The Panthers jumped into an early lead and looked like they were not to be headed, leading at the half, 35 to 23. Then, too, the Bisons lost Bradley in the early minutes of play by a shoulder injury that kept him out for the remainder of the season. Carroll took his place and filled it well. McReynolds and P. Berryhill were Harding's shining lights with 22 and 19 points respectively.

SECOND ARKANSAS COLLEGE GAME

A tragedy brought the game at Arkansas College to a halt after two minutes of the second half. Smith, Arkansas forward, dropped to the floor and died enroute to the hospital. Doctors gave the cause as heart trouble. The Bisons were leading when the game was halted, 21 to 11. Led by Bell, the boys took an early lead and had a 21 to 9 advantage at the half.

SECOND COLLEGE OF THE OZARKS GAME

With Carroll filling the gap left by the loss of Bradley, the Bisons turned back the Mountaineer invasion 49 to 43. Carroll's defensive work was fine and his floor work left little to be desired. As usual P. Berryhill turned in his brilliant performance and was high scorer with 17 points. Bell also played a good game, showing plenty of fight and counting 10 points.

Bradley (Coach), P. Berryhill, Smith, Stapleton, McReynolds, Love, W. Ashmore, Carroll, Arnold, S. Chambers (Manager).

Allen, L. Ashmore, B. Berryhill, Brown, B. Chambers, Neil, Waters.

Twenty men reported for baseball practice late in March, and, with but three lettermen in the squad, Coach Bradley faced the problem of filling vacancies left by such men as Ruby, Merrick, Von Allmen, Norris and Neil.

The pitching staff will consist of P. Berryhill, last season's mainstay, Tucker, Carroll and Allen.

The positions will probably be filled as follows: Chambers at third base; W. Ashmore, left field; Love at first base; Smith in center field; P. Berryhill at second base; with McReynolds taking the position when Berryhill is pitching; D. Neil or Waters will roam in right field, with Carroll possibly seeing service when not on the slab. The batting order will appear about as listed.

The team is a member of the Arkansas College Baseball League, making its debut this season. The league consists of four teams. Other games will be played with colleges not in the league.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Any system of education that has not included in its curriculum a study of the world's most wonderful book is incomplete. A better definition of education cannot be had than to call it an organization of the acquired habits of life and the adjustment to the spiritual possessions of a race—learning to live.

In this twentieth century, certainly no one will have the audacity to doubt the fact that the influence of Christianity has been the saving power of the American nation.

There is no way to conserve this rich inheritance of Christian faith on which the perpetuity of our social life depends, nor to make dominant in our civic relationships the spirit of our Saviour unless there is a conjoining of educational system with the principles of Christianity. Unless the principles laid down by the Prince of Peace are put into the minds of the youth of our land, we too will fall into decadence and ruin and be counted among the nations that have forgotten God.

Civil law forbids the teaching of the Bible in public schools. To whom then shall we turn for instruction in matters religious?

Some have presumed that the teaching might be relegated to the home. We see immediately that this is mere presumption and in this particular age an impossibility. Men and women have secured equal rights. Both have become bread-winners for the home. We have drifted far from the age of the patriarchs and home training.

Sowing the "seed of the Kingdom" can be most effectively done in such schools as Harding College. Here the Bible is taught daily. Thank God for the great and good men that have gone on before, men who saw the necessity of Christian education and who realized that it could be had only as a result of daily Bible teaching.

"Preach the Word." This admonition was given Timothy by the Apostle Paul. It is decidedly an opportune time for every young man with the ability to teach, to heed the instruction.

These young men have decided to consecrate their lives to the preaching of the gospel. One could not expect to accomplish a more glorious work. By thus dedicating themselves to the Lord's work they very efficiently serve their fellowman and reflect honor and glory to God.

In the variety of its activities the Harding Dramatic Club has, this year, equaled, if not excelled, the high standard set in previous years. The college lyceum course of five numbers was again the major project of the year. Numerous tryout plays for initiates, directed by advanced members, were given before the club at its meetings.

"The Great Divide," star production on the lyceum course, provided real Little Theatre experience for the Campus Players. A complete new set was created. Costuming entirely foreign to this section was imported for the western setting. "Turn to the Right," in which three graduate members of the club returned to play, made a hit as the first number on the course, and was followed by the comedy-drama "The Treasure Chest."

The Campus Players were honored this year in that their President, Dean L. C. Sears, was elected president of the Arkansas Little Theatre Association.

The Alumni Association of Harding College takes this occasion to convey to the faculty and students of the institution our satisfaction and pride in the work you are doing.

You present students are enjoying those same privileges and blessings we enjoyed before you. We do not envy you. There is only a regret that we cannot more actively share in your undertakings. When you shall have graduated or become "exes" you will understand our feeling for you because of a corresponding interest you will have in those who replace you on the campus.

Let us all unite—former, present, and future students—in the common task of building Harding College for the years to come.

Alumni Association,

T. Wade Ruby, President,
Frances Ruby Lowery, Vice-President,
Maurine L. Rhodes, Secretary-Treasurer.

Railroad lines on important stretches are often double tracked. This facilitates the movements of commerce and lessens the danger of collisions. In the vicinity of important cities the tracks are not only double, but are multiplied many times. A modern railroad switch-yard is a confusing maze of tracks, switches, and signal lights. Train crews of many years' experience find that entering terminal stations of our great cities is a difficult task, one that calls for experienced judgment, cool heads, keen eyes, and steady hands.

The locomotive engine in appearance and purpose is the visible embodiment of strength and speed. Only a little over a hundred years ago the first locomotive was used. Although it was the marvel of its day it cannot compare with our modern freight locomotives. The early engines were small and drew only a limited number of cars. Those of today, weighing thousands of tons, draw more than a hundred heavily-loaded cars. Our railroads today with their equipment are modern examples of engineering skill in transportation over plains, mountains, and deserts.

MORRILTON

Hub of the Petit Jean Country Invites You

Morrilton is the county seat of Conway County and the principal market for a large area in the rich Arkansas River Valley, with as splendid farm lands on either side for corn, cotton and truck farming as there is in the South. It is situated in the foothills of the Ozarks, where the finest peaches, grapes and strawberries are grown.

Little Rock is only fifty miles away, and Hot Springs, the world famous health resort, sixty-five, with splendid State highways to both cities.

The city has a population of 4,042 splendid citizens, sponsoring Rotary, Pathfinder, Kiwanis and other civic organizations, together with an active CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Situated within nine miles is beautiful Petit Jean Mountain, the conference grounds of the State Y. M. C. A. and various church organizations. This conference center further enhances the delightfulness of Morrilton as a place in which to live.

Morrilton is one of the best places in the Southwest in which to rear a family. Its churches, schools, and college afford opportunities rarely found in one community.

Harding College is considered by the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE as one of the community's greatest assets.

HARDING TRACK TEAM STARS

SURPRISE TALENT FOR NEW FEATS

WHO'D A THO'T IT

Pinkerton Wins by a Neck

Members of the Harding track team starred in the meet held February 30 at the Bison Green. Three breath-taking events were scheduled. Four contestants entered the Standing Broad Grin. Arley Moore placed first, James Johnson second, and John Stewart and Glenn Stapleton tied for third. The second feat was the Three-Legged Race. Burke and Copeland finished first and Rice and Britt second. There were no other teams.

The last event of the day was so spectacular that when standing on the sidelines the people were brought to their feet. Three teams entered the relay race. Team X was comprised of Robert Gibson, Ira Hester, V. V. Kniseley and Frank Rhodes, Team Y of Mike O'Kelley, "Ha Ha" Howell, Doyle Hughes and J. D. Pinkerton and Team Z of Howard Key, Glenn Parks, Gayle Hamilton and J. C. Kingsley.

Gibson and Key were off to a brilliant start. O'Kelley was slow, having to stop at 20 yards to change shoes with his roommate. Key made an end run which gave team Z the advantage for a minute but then Gibson made a forward pass bringing him up to Hester, second man on team X. Hester struck a fly and ran hard and fast, replacing Kniseley on third.

Almost instantaneously, Key served one straight to Parks in the left court. Parks returned by a punt to Hamilton, who, for a time, seemed to have the wrestling won for team Z. O'Kelley, thus far in the rear, recovered on a team X fumble and stole a base for team Y.

Howell carried on for O'Kelley who doubled up on second.

Howell knocked several into the net but finally deuced the score. He pitched two innings in fine shape but went to pieces in the third when Hamilton made a goal from beyond center. Hughes carried on for team Y, following Howell. Kniseley, team X man, sprinted forward in excellent form, clearing the net at terrific speed. He held that line well for team X and let no one strike under the basket. He then served to Rhodes, end man of team X who, in new socks, made a hole in one.

Team Z was showing up well in the third inning but Hamilton had to be put out for rough play. Kingsley substituted. Hughes waddled through the line and won a love set for team Y, passing on to Pinkerton who fumbled but slowly regained.

Team Z was plainly winning by a stride when luckily, for opponents, Kingsley was penalized 30 yards for taking too many steps. Rhodes was bearing up well as forward for team X and neatly threw a basket on which he reached third. Catching a fly, Pinkerton, end man for team Y, made a run to right court, gaining 25 yards and winning the set for his team. Kingsley and Rhodes tied for second place for their respective teams.

TO A SANDSTORM

You are the apple
Of my eye,
The balm of all
My sorrows,
The idol of my
Heart's desire.
Without you I am
Worthless;
With you I have
Wim, wigor and utility,
Dear little bowl of spinach.

Having purchased a wagon I am prepared to do your dray work.—Opie Tucker.

WEATHER

(From oblique observations)

Will clear up cloudy and rain a dry drizzle. Light breeze of 102 miles per hour from the southwest. Sunshine unless clouds prohibit. Warmer unless temperature falls. In any case, rain in Arkansas.

FIDDLER VS. FLORIST

Homer Nero Reeves and Sweet Pea Durrance, Jr., met in open combat when Reeves insisted that Durrance apologize publicly for calling him a kangaroo. All was finally satisfactorily settled when Durrance said that he reiterated his statement.

CUPID SHOOTS

POISONED DART

On the fourth day of All Fools Month, Miss Frances Mirandy Smith and Albert Josiah Murphy were united in the bonds of pre-alimony. Miss Smith wore a gown of pale white goosedown satin denim cut on extreme lines and caught at the waist by miniature saftey pins. Her train consisted of one engine, a coach and three freight cars. She carried a bouquet of wild onions. Mr. Murphy wore the conventional dark black suit made in a clever imitation of a riding habit. Woven in his lapel was a dainty potato bud.

After gaining sufficient courage to announce their actions the thus far happy couple are "at home" at the Standridge Apartments on N. West Street. Their many friends extend sympathy.
