THERE WERE MEN OF GOD

AS THE wheels of time were turning the 20th century into view, four men, pioneers in their field, were fostering an idea designed and destined to combine and coordinate religion and education.

J. A. Harding, David Lipscomb, J. N. Armstrong, and B. F. Rhodes, Sr., believing that to "fear God and keep his commandments—is the whole duty of man," envisioned colleges where the word of God would be given first place in academic endeavor.

A vision inspired by Bible truths guided those men through hours of darkness and toil, with a ray of hope and faith drawn ever from Him eternally lighting the way.

Confident that the future of our country lay in its

James A. Harding, born in Kentucky in 1848, was known as a great religious debator, evangelist and educator. His courage, humility and faith in God made him the great man that he was.

David Lipscomb, born in 1831, was reared on a farm in Tennessee. In addition to his interest in Christian schools, he was a profound writer, an outstanding business man and a leader in his community because of his vision and unerring judgment.

John Nelson Armstrong, born in Tennessee in 1870, devoted more than forty years to the work of establishing Christian education. He is remembered for his friendliness, devotion to God, unselfishness, and self-sacrificing for his students and school.

Benjamin Franklin Rhodes was born in Iowa in 1869. He had a keen wit, and a cheerful outlook on life. He loved young people, took a great interest in their activities, and was a natural teacher whose first aim was to please God.

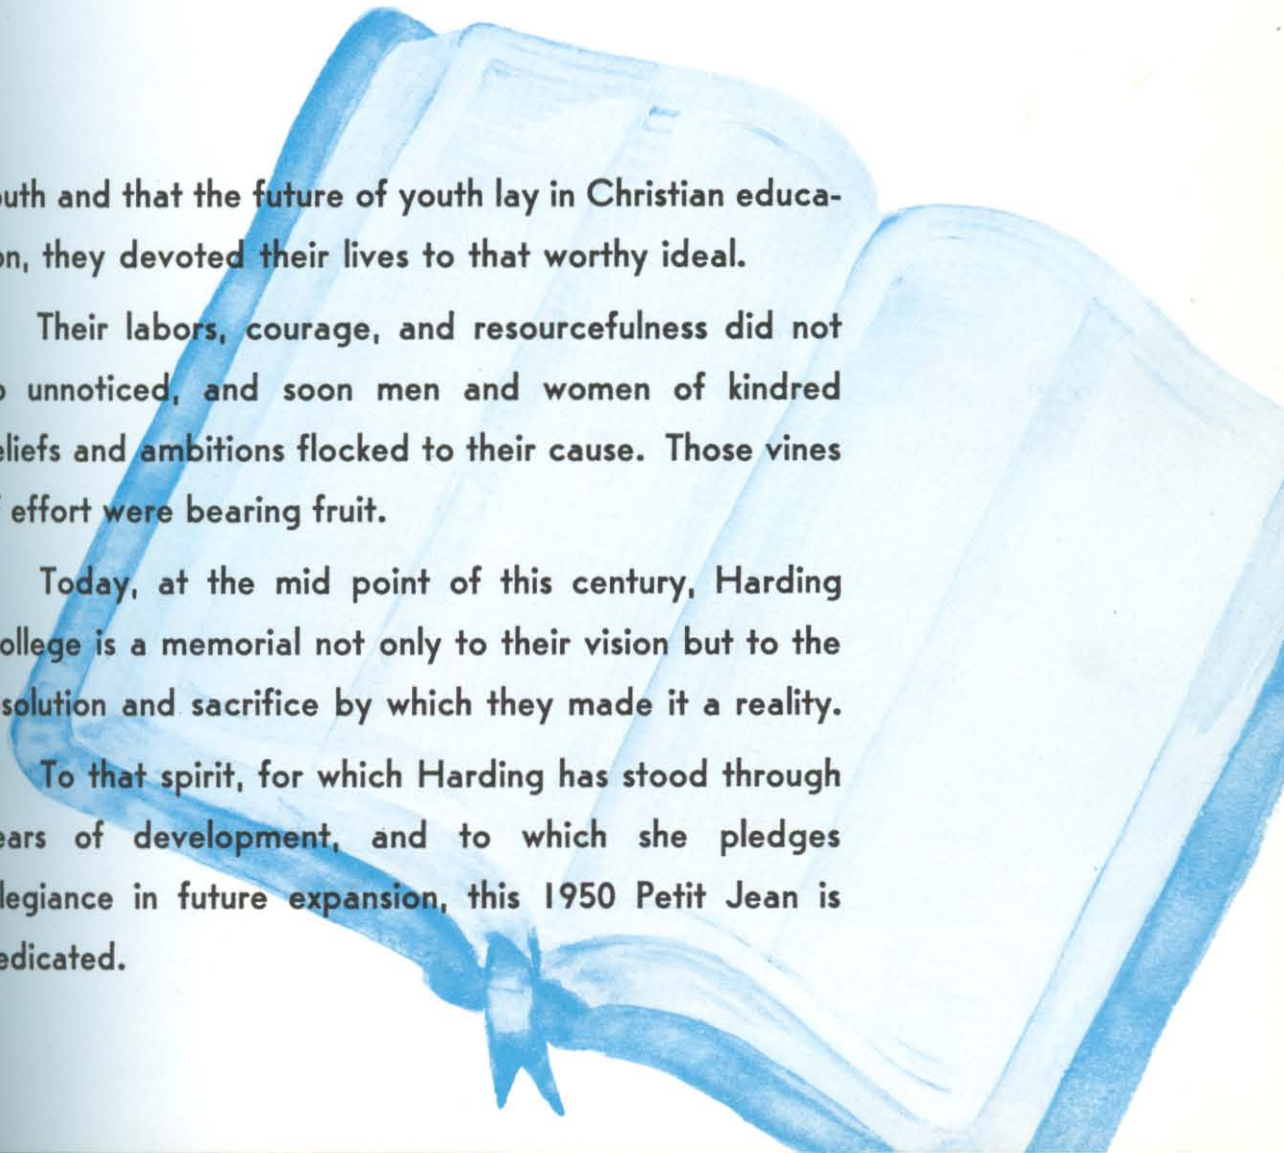

WHO HAD AN INSPIRATION

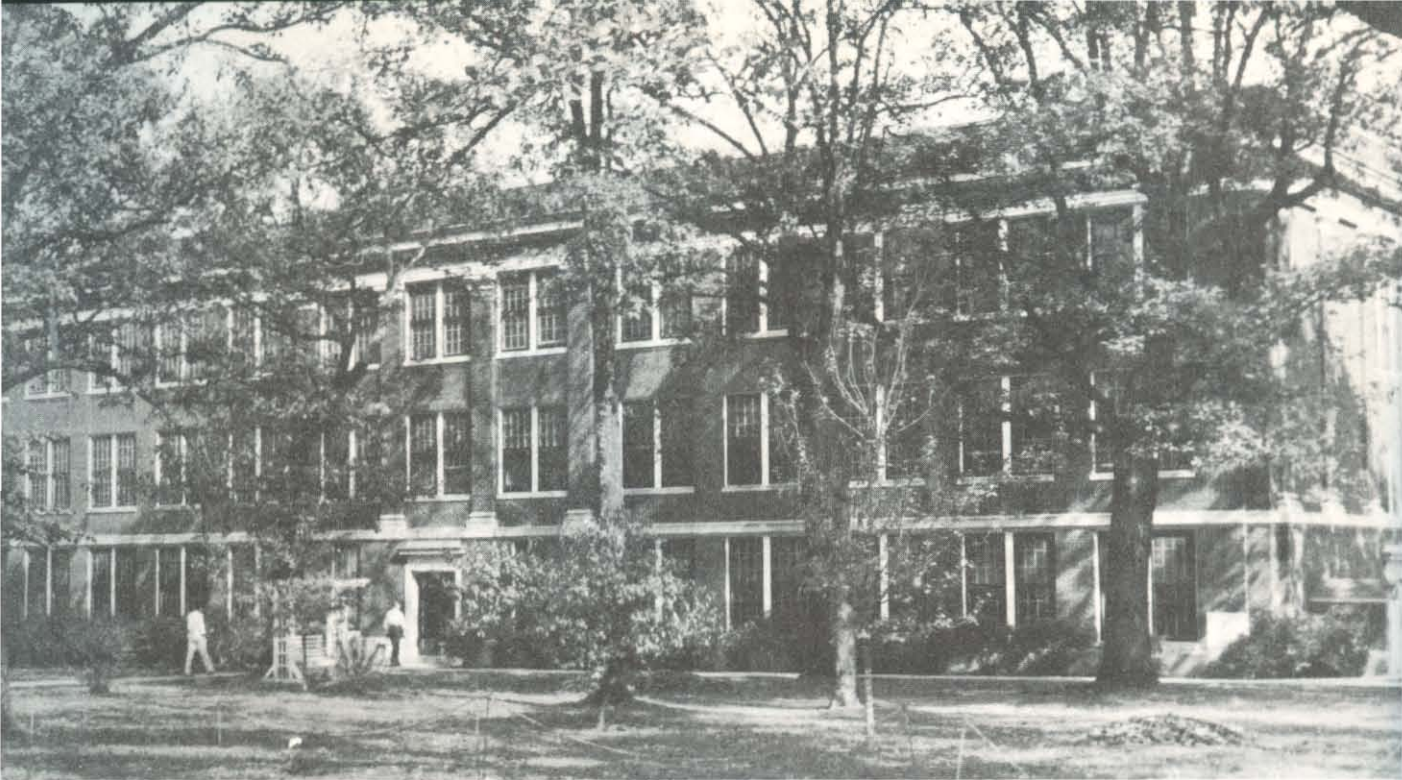

youth and that the future of youth lay in Christian education, they devoted their lives to that worthy ideal.

Their labors, courage, and resourcefulness did not go unnoticed, and soon men and women of kindred beliefs and ambitions flocked to their cause. Those vines of effort were bearing fruit.

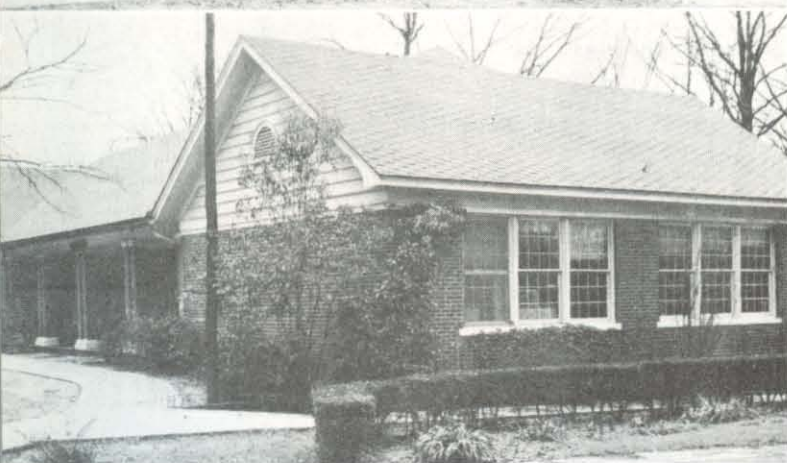

Today, at the mid point of this century, Harding College is a memorial not only to their vision but to the resolution and sacrifice by which they made it a reality.

To that spirit, for which Harding has stood through years of development, and to which she pledges allegiance in future expansion, this 1950 Petit Jean is dedicated.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

WITH ITS history covering slightly more than half of the first fifty years of this twentieth century, Harding College as such dates back to 1924 when Harper College of Harper, Kansas, was consolidated with Arkansas Christian College at Morrilton.

Named in honor of James A. Harding, the school had J. N. Armstrong as its first president.

The consolidation, an advantageous one, made the school a senior college and enabled it to draw support and students from a greatly broadened field.

The campus at Morrilton, a 40-acre tract in the north section of the city, was landscaped with money and labor donated by the students and faculty as the young school began its struggle to survive and to serve. The construction of an administration building and a girls' dormitory, begun by Arkansas Christian College, was completed soon after the consolidation.

UNDER THE inspired guidance of President Armstrong, Harding College increased in enrollment from 280 to 430 in the nine years it was to remain at Morrilton.

In 1934, in the midst of the nation-wide depression, Harding moved en masse to Searcy. Its new plant, formerly occupied by Galloway College for Women, was three times larger and considered to be worth a half-million dollars. It was purchased for $75,000.

It consisted of 120 acres and six main buildings, including Godden Hall, Pattie Cobb, Grey Gables, the administration building, the old gymnasium, and the old boiler room, which also housed the laundry. Also on the site were a few residential buildings, a garage-storage room, and the swimming pool.

It was in these difficult years immediately following the move from Morrilton that only the self-sacrifice of students and faculty alike kept the school in operation.

In 1936 the depression was at its worst and Harding was faced with many serious problems. Yet in that year began a remarkable period of growth and achievement, out of which developed the school we know today.

J. N. Armstrong, who retired from the presidency in 1936, left the nucleus for the modern Harding. His belief in active Christian education and citizenship has been a guiding light through the years, and that foundation of well-grounded policies was the rock upon which the greater Harding was built.

As the clouds of depression were at their blackest, it remained for a Harding alumnus to return after more than ten years as a missionary in China and lead the way to a dignified and honorable niche in world education.

Armed with enviable qualities that have placed him high in national recognition, George Stuart Benson displayed above all an unshakable faith in the American people and the system by which they live.

Dr. Benson threw himself whole-heartedly into the task and wasted little time in introducing plans designed and destined to get Harding on the road to recovery and into a prosperous future.

He was greeted by a $76,000 debt incurred during Harding's heroic struggle to survive the rocky years immediately past. He was greeted also with a vote of confidence and a pledge of support by those connected with the school—more than a counter-balance.

A five-year plan to liquidate the debt was introduced—and accomplished in three years, the forerunner of accomplishments that were to come.

Thanksgiving Day, 1939, is remembered as a turning point in Harding's history. On that day, as hundreds of alumni and visitors watched the ceremony, the last of the $76,000 debt was gone forever in the public burning of a $68,000 mortgage on the school. Harding College was debt-free.

During this three-year drive the faculty-student sacrifices were still evident, and President Benson had put several income-producing projects into operation. Included were farms, a print shop, and others. Adopting every measure of economy, he and his family lived in an apartment in Pattie Cobb during their first few years on the campus.

In a few years some new buildings were constructed, including the president's home. The curriculum was expanded, the faculty increased, and the enrollment continued to grow.

Then came World War II and a temporary halt to Harding's outward progress. The school pitched in with all the help it could muster to aid the war effort. When peace again came, Harding resumed its onward trend.

In 1946 the first of the building programs was launched. To accommodate the influx of veterans among the student body, Vet Village and Hutville came upon the scene, the former a settlement of apartments for married students and the latter temporary housing for boys. Also constructed were six rock houses to serve as apartments for married students and faculty.

Then came the addition of two boys' dormitories, the infirmary, science annex, and a new boiler room. Following that was the establishment of an industrial arts department with a new, $100,000 building.

With this progress came the all-time record enrollment for the school as 728 students registered for the fall term in 1947.

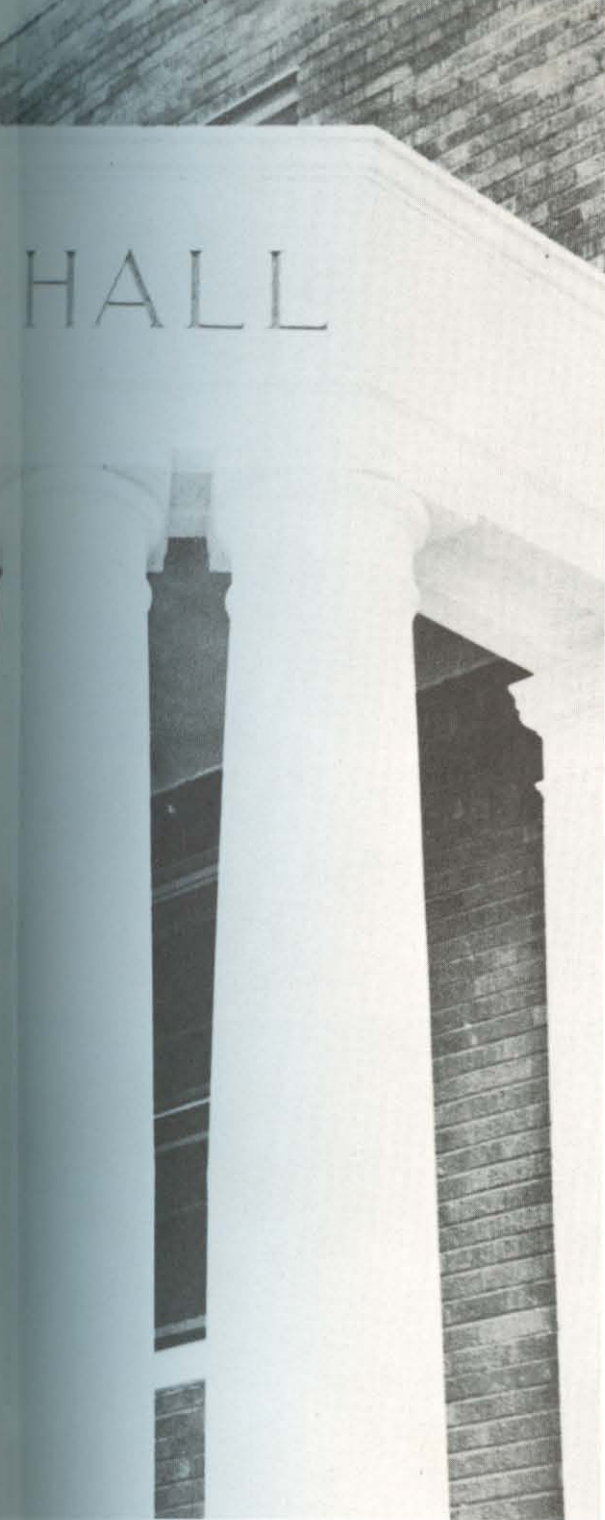

Early in 1948 Dr. Benson announced the opening of a financial campaign designed to raise $1,500,000 for seven additional buildings to complete an ideal campus facility setup.

raise $1,500,000 for seven additional buildings to complete an ideal campus facility setup.

Two years later, on New Year's Eve of 1950, he announced the successful completion of the campaign.

Of the seven buildings planned, three have been completed: a new gym, Rhodes Memorial Field House; a new boy's dormitory, Armstrong Hall; and a new library building. The other four, a girls' dorm, to be built as an additional wing on Pattie Cobb; a new training school; a student center building; and an auditorium-administration building will be completed in the next two years.

Harding's growth these past fourteen years has been a carefully planned program of expansion, both intrinsically and on a scale that has brought the school and its policies national acclaim.

As we enter the second half of this century it is well to pause for a backward glance, thank God for our being and accomplishments, then dedicate our future as students, faculty and as Harding College to serving the needs of our school, our country, and our God.

GEORGE STUART BENSON

The rise of this energetic native of Oklahoma has been steady and synonymous with the advent of Harding College as a leader among educational institutions of America and the world. Two nation-wide recognitions have come our way, first an award to Harding College, the school, for its National Education Department, then a gold medal to Dr. George Stuart Benson, the man, both presented by Freedoms Foundation, Inc.

MARGUERITE O'BANION, Dr. Benson's indispensable secretary, can testify to the long hours and unceasing effort which he has expended in behalf of the welfare of Harding.

THE THINGS of GOD CAME FIRST in our lives

FIRST in the minds of her founders, and of those whose sacrifice has made Harding what she is today, has been the idea that of all the knowledge man can master, the most important is an understanding of how he can be most pleasing to his God.

Though expansion and academic improvement have been the keynote of recent development, as Harding reached this year the midpoint of the century, Christianity still influenced every phase of activity on the campus. Hymn sings at the fishpond stimulated us; classwork developed minds to defend the truth; athletics built bodies capable of greater service. There were also . . .

Taylor, Thompson, Thornton, Tidwell, Todd—CHAPEL for most of us was experienced in alphabetical order.

INSPIRATIONAL DAILY ACTIVITIES

ONE OF these was the chapel service—a period of the day spent in singing, prayer, and talks which helped us and gave us a larger vision of service. It provided a time to relax and let our minds dwell on those things which we had not taken time to consider in our hurry to make classes and get our work done.

OTHER OCCASIONS WHICH INFLUENCED AND UPLIFTED US

THE MONDAY Night Meetings, where we came together to study the word of God and young men became proficient in preaching the gospel; the mid-week prayer meeting at the downtown congregation, to which many looked every week as a source of help in living the Christian life. For many, another high point in the week was the Personal Evangelism meeting every Friday night. Its very informality lent an atmosphere of nearness to God. The spontaneous beginning of songs, swelling till every voice was included, the sentence prayers and moments of quiet meditation made us think of God as very personal.

MONDAY NIGHT MEETING AUDIENCE, including Dr. Bales and Professor Healy, listened attentively to what volunteer speaker, Murray Warren, had to say.

Each Wednesday night numerous couples, as well as some "singles," enjoyed the walk to the downtown church building for PRAYER MEETING.

Brother McMillan, here evoking a laugh from the PERSONAL EVANGELISM group, gave us an inside view of mission work in the Orient.

VESPERS in Pattie Cobb—and similar scenes were taking place in East Wing, Godden Hall, and Gray Gables.

In addition to the larger groups, there were many smaller ones which helped to guide us along the way. Each night in the dormitories over the campus, little groups of us met for a few minutes of song, a short Bible reading, and a prayer, that we might close the day and go to our rest with our minds cleansed of any bitterness or discouragement that might have arisen during the day.

INTEREST IN MISSIONS

THE WORLD WIDE MISSIONS CLUB was concerned with the problems of foreign mission work in both general and specific fields.

GROUPS of boys gathered in each other's rooms for brief devotional services at the end of the day.

The AFRICA MISSION GROUP worked for the advancement of Christ in that country. Many workers in Africa today once met with this group.

The DEUTSCHLANDERS had as its purpose the furthering of the mission work in Germany. Their activities included collecting clothes for distribution, studying reports that came back from our missionaries, and making this information known.

The CHINA CLUB was dedicated to the purpose of taking the gospel to China. The customs of the people were studied with the hope that some of the group would be able to go into the work.

THANKSGIVING LECTURES, 1949

AN OUTSTANDING event of the year was the Thanksgiving Lectureship. This series of lessons has been a part of the Harding calendar of events for twenty-five years. To its platforms have come some of the greatest men in the brotherhood, bringing inspiration and knowledge on many subjects of interest to Christians. Since its beginning it has grown with each year to its present scope.

It provides a good opportunity for the students, alumni, parents and faculty to get together on the campus and enjoy the lectures, along with the Thanksgiving dinner, club meetings, the faculty-student basketball game, and other special events which are a part of the homecoming activities. This year over five hundred visitors from all parts of this country and from Canada came to partake of the joy of the occasion.

The general theme around which the lectures were built this year was, "Christian Education in the Local Church." The subject was selected with the idea of presenting the preachers, teachers, and church leaders who attended with an understanding of what is being done in Christian education by the local church, and what can be done to help the congregation improve its teaching program. In morning chapel, afternoon discussion groups and evening meetings the speakers gave us the inspiration to work for a sound educational system, and outlined actual and practical methods for putting ideas into practice.

The meetings were held in the Rhodes Memorial Field House with its seating capacity of approximately 1500. This was the first time in many years that the whole audience has been able to meet together because of the former lack of auditorium space. It was no doubt a great inspiration to the speakers to face so great a throng of people, assembled to study the problems of the church.

Frank Cox of Austin, Texas opened the lectureship at regular church services on Sunday, November 24. Other visiting speakers throughout the week were G. C. Brewer, Riley Henry, Reuel Lemmons, L. O. Sanderson, Melvin Wise, and Norvel Young. Several members of the Harding faculty also appeared on the program.

An inspiring variation in the program was furnished nightly by the musical organizations on the campus whose well executed music was a source of relaxation and great pleasure to all, a stirring of happy reminiscence to those visitors who were once a part of it.

APPRECIATING the need to train young men to preach the word of God with power and conviction, and to be capable leaders in the church, Harding has collected a Bible faculty of able men to teach that greatest of all books.

These men, all of whom graduated from Christian schools themselves, are not only extremely well equipped as religious instructors, but have inspired us students by their wholesome lives and devotion to the cause of Christ.

In addition to their opportunity of receiving training under inspirational teachers, young men had a chance to develop their speaking ability in the Evangelistic Forum.

From the campus each weekend radiated many students and faculty members, some traveling several hundred miles to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. Though there was little glory, and the crowd was frequently small, Harding boys went, for there were souls to be saved.

Typical of many of the small CONGREGATIONS for which Harding boys helped to conduct services is this one at Hindman, Arkansas. The lesson that day was taught by Charles Draper, but Ken Istre, Emil Menes, and Lester Balcom were there, too, to help with the singing, and in other ways.

WORK AT THE COUNTY FARM

ONE OF the more unpretentious acts of Harding students was the work done by those boys and girls who went to the county farm each Sunday afternoon, taking the Lord's Supper and conducting services for the unfortunate people there.

In addition to these weekly visits, a collection was made at Christmas to purchase some of the things that were needed to make them more comfortable.

Those of us who took part in this service can vividly recall the sympathy which we felt, and the joy it brought us to be able to give to these people something of the companionship, hope, and consideration which they did not receive from the world that had largely forgotten them.

Gravel in our shoes was the usual thing, unless it was one of the days for mud up to the ankles . . . but how much we enjoyed these particular Sunday afternoon walks.

Hymns of peace . . . of comfort
. . . of joy . . . of exaltation
. . . And we knew that our singing was bringing happiness.

NEW EDIFICE FOR COLLEGE CHURCH

IT HAS for many years been the desire of the leaders of the college congregation to provide a building in which the whole student body of the college might meet for worship. It was their further desire that such a building be off the campus, that people in town might come without the feeling that they were attending a college activity.

It was felt that the congregation would be in a better position to carry on its teaching program, and do the work that it should, if it had a building of its own. That desire was turned into fact when the plans were drawn and the work begun.

The new building, located two blocks from the campus, at 712 East Race, is a brick building of modern architectural design.

With a seating capacity of 1200, it is large enough to accommodate any contemplated audience and will provide for a teaching program that is full and adequate for the congregation, not only on Sunday morning but throughout the week.

THE WORK THAT MADE

LACK OF something to do was never a common complaint among us during the busy school year of '49-'50. To those who took their studies seriously, the academic side of life was perhaps most time-consuming, and for the working students it was even more work and less play—but that's not saying we didn't enjoy ourselves. . . .

OUR DAYS so very full

CLASSES GOT US UP FOR BREAKFAST

SOME didn't make it to the dining hall 'til 7:29, and some didn't make breakfast at all, but 8:00 o'clock found most of us skipping off to meet class in the Science Annex, Ad Building, Auditorium, Industrial Arts Building, or the new Gym.

Our classes ranged in scope from Experimental Cookery to Differential and Integral Calculus, and in size from a single trembling tenor taking a private voice lesson in Mrs. Jewell's studio to the one hundred and fifty wide-awake students who eagerly attended Dr. Jack Wood's General Biology lectures on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings. Each represented a contribution to the well-rounded, though varied courses of study of some eight hundred individuals who were students at Harding during the year 1949-50.

These students, from all parts of the United States, as well as several foreign nations, took work in fourteen groups of studies offered at Harding—art; Bible and religion; chemistry and biological sciences; business and economics; education, psychology, philosophy; English, speech, journalism; home economics; industrial education; foreign languages, including German, Greek, and Spanish; mathematics; music; physical education; physical sciences; political science, and geography.

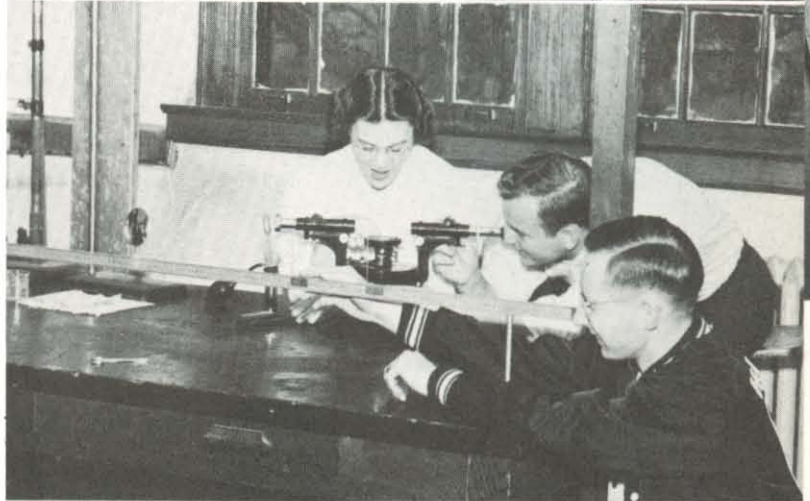

PATIENT HOURS WERE SPENT . . .

By the art students, laboring in the studio with oils, pastels, watercolors or charcoal, and by the piano students, pounding away in the practice rooms. Sometimes we burned the midnight oil endeavoring to finish an English theme, or a term paper dealing with the history of psychiatry.

Our Bible classes privileged us to walk the shores of Galilee with the Master and to sail through Mediterranean storms with the Apostle Paul. They included many things, from Professor Burke's insights into the Greek to Dr. Bales' convincing arguments on Christian Evidences.

DEBATE class watched the birdie.

The SPEECH department included a course in Radio Speech. Here Dick Smith and Keith Thompson yodel between programs.

"Bughouse Blues" or, "Why I always staggered to supper on Wednesday evenings."

Though sometimes the frog-cutting in Biology Lab was a bit tedious, at other times we were fascinated by our first glimpses of wriggling one-celled animals through a microscope.

Those weary hours spent struggling with the problems of an accounting set only to culminate in disheartening mistakes were offset by the more pleasant things that happened—such as the debate in Mrs. Stapleton's Teaching-of-English class as to whether round or square roosts were better for the chickens.

The cookery girls spent domesticated moments cracking eggs and sifting flour in the Home Ec.

kitchen. The pleasant odors originating there drifted down the halls and mingled with hydrogen sulphide fumes from the chem lab, all of which was most disconcerting to those of us trying to absorb an American History lecture at the time.

When our calculus had us stumped it was a joy and relief to go to that Coaching-of-Basketball class in the gym, or the swimming class at the pool. Somehow our classes seemed to complement each other, and round out our activities.

We ended each quarter feeling a little more broadened, and as we lined up on the following registration days, it was usually with a renewed determination to study harder, put off less, and take a little better advantage of the college education which we were being privileged to receive.

STUDENT LABOR: the symbol of a well earned education. Employed by the college this year were more than two hundred "willing to work" students, engaged in various types of labor in order to wholly or partly finance their education at Harding.

Jobs ranged from milking cows at the college farm to pounding typewriters in the offices. Some who worked in the cafeteria had to get up at 4:30 in the morning, to have breakfast ready for the lucky individuals who got to sleep until 6:30 or 7:00. Many who worked back in the kitchen, or in the offices, or swept up classrooms after hours weren't seen much, but were nevertheless an important part of what made Harding tick.

Workers formed lasting friendships as they cut hedges, or washed dishes together, and 'most anyone who did it can testify to the real joy they found in serving toast to their fellow students, hunting books for them in the library, selling them cokes in the Inn, or putting up the mail for them.

STUDENT LABOR KEPT THINGS GOIN'

Dining hall workers had their own worship services on Sunday morning, so that dinner could be ready for the others when the doors opened at noon.

Those of us who were working students knew what it meant to pass up a cherished activity because we had a responsibility to fulfill. We spent hours working when we'd much rather have been relaxing or sleeping—but as we worked, we received valuable lessons in responsibility, and we frequently felt the satisfaction which comes with achievement.

THOSE OUTSTANDING WERE NOMINATED TO

ONE OF the highest honors a college student may achieve is that of being given a place in the annual publication, Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

This book, modeled after the original Who's Who, exists for the purpose of extending due recognition to college students who have proved to be outstanding. Selected by the faculty, these students have been chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, participation in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society.

We are proud of the nine Harding students who were officially accepted for this recognition this year.

MILDRED BELL, industrious and mild-mannered home-economics major, made an outstanding scholastic record, while earning her own expenses.

LOIS BENSON, an art major, was an enthusiastic participant in many campus activities, especially in the fields of music, art and dramatics.

RUTH BORN SCHLEGEL, selected for Who's Who a second time, majored in art, minored in extra-curricular activities, and piloted the 1950 Petit Jean through a successful year.

JOE BRYANT, a quiet, industrious married man from Florida, made an excellent scholastic record, while preparing for Japanese missionary work.

JOHN HADLEY, a chemistry major with a fine record at Harding, has made evangelistic work his field, Germany his goal.

MARILYN McCLUGGAGE, smiling and always willing to do more than her share, has contributed greatly in musical, dramatic and home economics organizations.

KATHRYN RITCHIE, wife of our beloved Andy, managed a home and attended college at the same time—and did both jobs well.

NORMA LOU SANDERSON, an English major, earned most of her own expenses in college, while providing tough scholastic competition.

RECOGNITION OF SCHOLASTIC ACHIEVEMENT

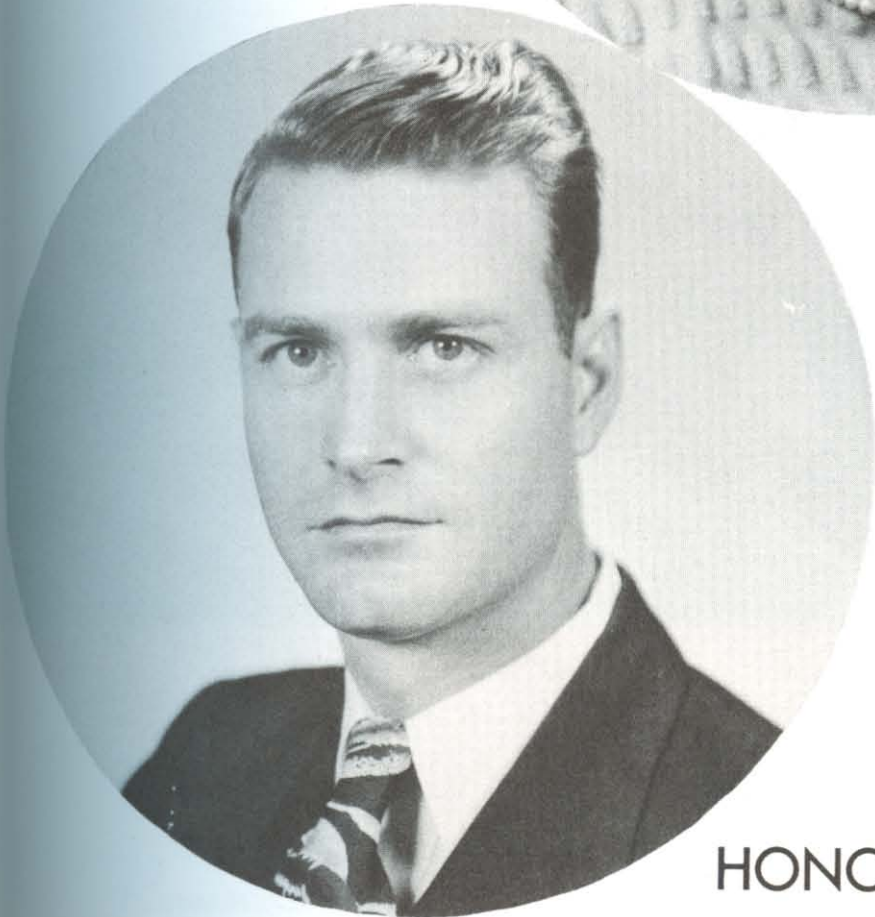

IS EXTENDED each year through selection of two honor students—the boy and girl who have maintained the highest scholastic average—and the invitation of a strictly limited number of juniors and seniors of high scholastic excellence into the membership of the Alpha Honor Society.

Established to promote scholarship, the society annually presents a medal to the graduate with the highest scholarship record through their four years of attendance.

Traditionally at commencement time, the Alpha Honor Society banquet brings a noted speaker with a subject of current import before its members and the citizens of the town.

This year's honor students were Yonda Gifford, a sophomore Business major, and Joe Bryant, a senior who has majored in History.

ANOTHER PHASE OF OUR YEAR WAS

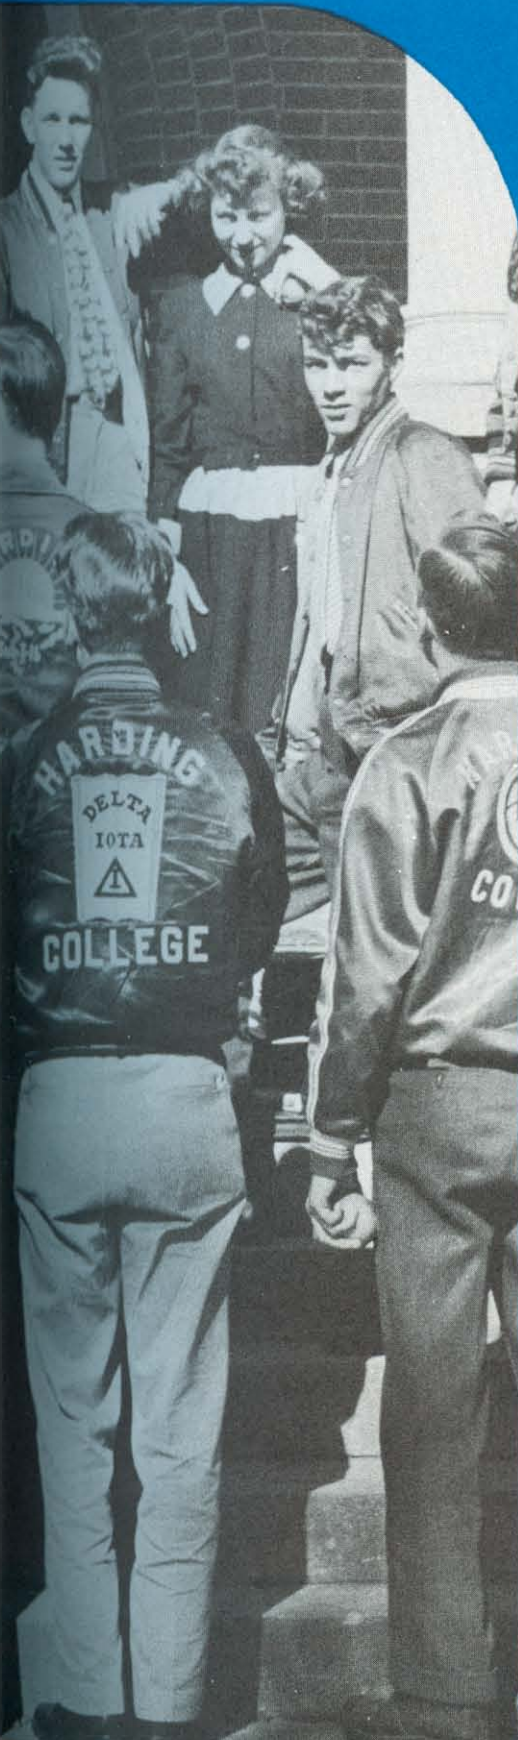

THE ENJOYMENT AND COMPANIONSHIP

for everyone

SOCIAL CLUBS are traditional at Harding College. They are open to everyone for the purpose of promoting good will and fellowship among all the students.

It is through the social clubs that some of our most lasting and treasured friendships have been made. May they ever provide fun and entertainment for all!

Skits were presented by the girls' clubs for the freshman girls. The Omega Phis took a tour through the years.

Mr. Agony, with helpful advice to frustrated freshmen, was presented by the GATAs.

FIRST WE INFORMED THE FRESHMEN

AS THE school year began we greeted our club brothers, or sisters, joyfully, eagerly anticipating those first few meetings of the fall when we met, talked over summertime experiences, enjoyed each other's company, and took up important matters at hand—a main one being that of selecting pledges from among the new Hardingites.

Twenty-eight different clubs! From the freshman point of view it was all very confusing—the Alpha Sub Stratas, the Kappa Phi Jugo's, the Lambda Tau Gatas, and the Delta Chi Omega Phi lotas were just so many nonsense syllables—and the question of which of those many colored jackets—red and white, white on green, purple on gold, blue on orange—belonged to which club was equally perplexing.

The girls' clubs got together and planned a program for the purpose of introducing each club group to the freshman girls. The boy's club members were content merely to seize every opportunity to publicize or emphasize their own club, striving hard to make favorable impressions on the innocent minds of those green youngsters. And as the days went by, the freshmen became better acquainted and the confusion began to diminish.

METAH MOES held a pow-wow, right there in front of everyone!

Hard to guess, but this was the OEGE presentation.

Club members mingled with freshmen after the program, at the RECEPTION held in the Rendezvous Banquet Room.

Coy Campbell took notes on the efficiency of his shoe-shine-boy pledge.

They didn't even need an audience—the DELTA IOTA pledges just sang for the sheer joy of it.

PLEDGING WAS HECTIC BUT FUN

PERHAPS THE most eager, excited, breathless group to congregate in front of the mailboxes during the entire year was the huddle of freshmen which met there at noon on the Monday that club bids went out.

Girls squealed with joy, and boys beamed with pleasure. They donned their emblems of crowns, pins, garters, socks, or ties, and off they went to face their pledgemasters, and a week filled with all the tortures which those fiendish superiors could conceive.

And what a week! Shoes shined, trays carried, futile fishing in the fishpond, girl friends serenaded, polls taken, windows counted—and all at the expense, and sometimes much to the humiliation of the unfortunate pledges.

First course in blind-flying resulted in wet feet.

These weren't very efficient pledges—didn't catch a thing.

. . . and these disappointed boys didn't catch a thing either.

Some of the smarter ones exercised the fine art of making themselves scarce, but none of them escaped completely, because they had to come out into the open for classes and meals. Free toothpicks were handed out as the chow line filed into the dining hall; Mohican and Sub-T time was announced on the minute every minute; and free entertainment, though of a questionable quality, was provided by the Lambda Sigma tin-can band, and by pledge trios, quartets, and full choruses around the mailboxes after supper.

But pledging had its advantages . . . Most everyone agreed that the dating part of it was not bad at all, and probably more of it took place that week than during any other given one throughout the year. Shy freshmen, both boys and girls, were provided with a wonderful excuse for being forward, and who knows how many dating, "going steady," and even married couples have resulted from Harding College pledge dates? Then there was the sad case of at least one pledgemaster who lost a perfectly good girl friend to one of his own pledges. That was nothing less than poetic justice.

The pangs and pains of pledge week were followed by initiation ceremonies. Formal in the case of most of the girls' clubs, they were held at the homes of club members or sponsors, or in the choral studio. They are remembered as beautiful and impressive occasions by all who took part in them.

The boys' club ceremonies, though mostly characterized by extreme informality, were equally memorable occasions for the participants.

The Discipline Committee was really hard on students that night.

"Mule Traaaaain!"

Impersonating DELTA CHI OMEGA girls, the Andrews Sisters convincingly rendered "Buttons and Bows."

The BORESOME FOURSOME, comprised of Jim Porter, Dudley Spears, Jimmy Garner, and Tex Oldham, and accompanied by Sally Croom, supplied musical atmosphere.

HAVING to return to school before the New Year came in could have been an even sadder experience if the clubs hadn't come to the rescue with a big New Year's Eve party.

Sponsored by the GATAs, and held in the College Cafeteria, the program of skits and fun lasted from 9:00 to 12:15. Each girls' club teamed with a boys' club to present some sort of entertainment, and three hours of laughs were the result. Though faculty impersonations seemed to predominate, other acts included the Ju Go Ju-Galaxy barber shop scene, Omega Phi-T.N.T. minstrel show, the featuring of John Mason, in a short program of songs, and the K.K.K.-A.T.A. wishing well, to mention only a few.

Excitement was high that night, as Dr. Benson began his announcement of the results of the Building Fund Drive, and tears were in the hearts of many as he stated that it had been successfully completed and a new dormitory for girls would soon be on its way.

BARBERSHOP quartet quarteted, and the manicurist manicured on . . .

The ALPHA PHI KAPPA quartet practiced on its fellow club members.

What Boy Scout built that sickly fire at the T.N.T. fall outing at Red Bluff?

OUR VARIOUS club shindigs and undertakings kept us occupied and active all year long.

Besides regular meetings and frequent "stag" activities such as Thanksgiving breakfasts, or bunking parties, there were the "special" events that most of us looked forward to with the greatest of enthusiasm.

The winter months were heavily scheduled with formal banquets and gay club parties; and when spring came, there was at least one club outing every Monday, and three or four on most.

Sometimes the planning and preparation for these occasions was troublesome, but when the plans were worked out, and the event ended up being a real success, we looked back on the getting-ready part as half the fun.

Nearly every club carried out some project. Some of these were the sponsoring of an orphan, the furnishing of needed equipment for the missionaries abroad, the donation of labor for work on church buildings or at Camp Wyldewood or, in a lighter vein, presenting chapel entertainment and, for the Ju Go Jus, the sponsoring of the May Fete.

It wasn't a very orderly meeting the Monday night the GALAXY boys took over the skating rink.

Searcy's finest French restaurant, Pierre's Parisian Pavilion, catered to the GATAs for their winter banquet.

Traditional in the springtime at Harding and a cherished memory for May Day enthusiasts is that lovely ceremony. In it a host of pastel attired girls weave a colorful pattern winding the May poles, and one girl, previously selected by the student body, is crowned Queen of the May.

Early morning practices preceding it, nervous speculation concerning the weather, and the happy surprise of finding out who the May Queen is are all part of our memories of that day.

AS DID many other clubs, the ALPHA PHI KAPPA'S made their first appearance on the Harding campus at the beginning of the school year in '46, with Stan Heiserman and Brodie Crouch as originators. From fourteen charter members the club expanded to include twenty members, a size it has maintained since that time.

Although the club is not primarily a musical group, both past and present members have demonstrated talent in this respect and, as a result, chapel programs have been given featuring various soloists from among the group as well as ensemble numbers. One radio program has been presented by the quartet.

To Professor Leslie Burke goes the credit for the club's name and its challenging motto: "Unfailing in Abundant Fruit Bearing."

THE WORDS Adelphi Tu Amitos mean literally "Blood Brothers." Although the membership in the club was comparatively small this year, loyalty characterized its members. Because the group was small and well acquainted, an unusual feeling of closeness pervaded the atmosphere at the winter banquet which was held in the Blue Room of the Rendezvous.

Talent ran high in the ATA. Their trio, composed of Cliff Seawel, Bill Stephens, and Ray Herren, was ready, willing, and able to perform on any occasion—invited or otherwise. ("Dear Hearts and Gentle People.")

The club members all agree that Lucien Bagnetto is one of the best of sponsors.

THE CAVALIER Club was organized in the year 1928 for the purpose of fostering social life of the highest order on the campus of Harding College, with membership coming from all classes.

During the school year of 1943-44, every member of the club was either called into, or volunteered for, service in some branch of the Armed Forces. The year of 1944 was the first in sixteen that there was no Cavalier Club on Harding's campus.

This year the club had 23 members with Dr. Frank Rhodes as its sponsor. Dr. Rhodes has sponsored the club for many years and he has commanded the respect, admiration and confidence of every Cavalier, both past and present.

Standing: Marilyn Eggers, Martha Clark, Thelma Oldham, Mrs. A. S. Croom (sponsor), Wilma DeBerry, Audrey Schaefer, Betty Roemer, Joyce Burt, Clara Haddock. Seated: Mae White, Eunice Shewmaker, Genevieve Henry, Norma Lou Hamilton.

HAVING SUCCESSFULLY survived pledge week, the DELTA CHI OMEGAS opened into their third year at Harding November 19, with a formal initiation in the home of their new sponsor, Mrs. A. S. Croom. With ten new members they set out for a year of fun and friendship.

On February 11 they transformed the banquet room at the Rendezvous into a "Land of Cupid" and invited their dates to a Valentine banquet. Dean L. C. Sears was their guest speaker for the evening.

The climaxing event of the Delta Chi's activities was their outing to Latona. Although they returned with blistered faces and weary feet, the inevitable consequences suffered were well worth while.

THE DELTA IOTA Social Club had its beginning in the fall of 1944 with the purpose of creating better social relationships among the students, and to uphold the Christian standards for which Harding College stands.

Many of the original traditions remain today in their activities such as pledging of new members and their unique initiations, this years' being held at Camp Wyldewood. The feeling of fellowship which each member manifests toward his brother increased the good times at their stag outings.

One of the projects of the Delta Iotas this year was to paint the bulletin board in front of Godden Hall.

FRATER SODALIS

RICHARD TAYLOR and Bob Hare organized the FRATER SODALIS Club in 1946. Richard had been a member of this club at George Pepperdine. The membership that year grew to twenty.

The club projects this year were partially supporting a child in Morrilton's Orphan Home and sending money to Jack Nadeau in Germany to help pay for a slide projector to use in his work there.

All of the charter members of the club graduated this year. Most of the members of the Frater Sodalıs are married.

The banquet at the Mayfair in the fall was a big event in the history of Frater Sodalıs. The outing to Petit Jean on May 8 was equally as much fun.

"HITCH YOUR Wagon to a Star" was the impressive theme of the first GALAXY banquet in 1947. That year they also had a fine outing at Red Bluff and bought books for an orphan home's library in Kansas. How is that for a Year's activities for a newly organized club?

Since then they have had many excellent club projects: selling Harding's home study Bible courses in Searcy and nearby towns; inserting a copy of the Harding Alma Mater in the college song books; and starting a bulletin which is mailed regularly to the Galaxy alumni.

The Galaxy Club colors are blue and white. They have their regular club meetings on Monday night and their club sponsor is Dr. Kern Sears.

GATA

THE GATA year started off successfully with the selection of eleven nice new muds, who turned out to be the pride and joy of the older members.

When the Christmas holidays were scheduled to end before New Year's Eve the GATAs came to the rescue. They worked out the plans for an All-Student party. The clubs pitched in and provided three hours of "varied" entertainment—all in good fun, though perhaps somewhat at the expense of impersonated faculty members.

Pierre's Parisian Pavilion, Searcy's most exclusive French restaurant, was reserved for their winter banquet.

THE H CLUB was organized in 1946 with Dot Munger, Dot Baker, Lou Dugger and Norma Stephens as charter members. Norma and Lou are now in Japan doing missionary work and Dot is in Germany.

Five pledges were formally initiated in a candlelight ceremony this year at the Bergeron home. Each of the new members was presented a white chrysanthemum, the club flower.

The Rendezvous was changed into a Winter Wonderland for the formal banquet of the H club. After everyone had enjoyed the delicious food, Dr. Bales gave an entertaining biographical sketch of his life at Harding.

The lovely May Fete is sponsored annually by the JuGoJu Club, and was ably engineered this year by their vivacious spring term president, Lois Benson. This is one of the most outstanding events of the year because everyone is so eager to see who is crowned Queen of May.

The JuGoJus went slant-eyed for their winter banquet and used a Japanese theme. At their stag skating party they spent most of the evening on the floor.

KAPPA KAPPA KAPPA—KKK—or Tri Kappas, the long and short of it is that this club has really done all right for itself in its three years of existence. The skit that they presented for the freshman entertainment would want to make anyone ride a bus to Bald Knob providing that Ethelyn "Bus Driver" McNutt was a-herdin' it down the road.

You could never mistake a Tri Kappa pledge for anyone else because they wore such flashy gray and gold stockings with KKK plastered down the side.

An outstanding chapel event every year is the fashion show that the Tri Kappa's sponsor.

Mrs. Clifton Ganus is the club sponsor. In her absence this year, Mrs. Stapleton assisted the club.

THE KOINONIA Club was chartered in 1935 and given its name, which means fellowship, by Leslie Burke, a charter member and present sponsor.

An outstanding event of the past year was the annual winter banquet held at the Rendezvous, at which the announcement proclaiming Mary Katherine King sweetheart of the Koinonias was made.

The spring outing at Petit Jean, and many of the stag gatherings that took place to devour cakes and cookies received by one of the fellows from home, provide memories of untold values, and also the times when the group serenaded the girls after social hours—for this they were richly repaid by showers of apples, oranges, candy, cake and even cans of vienna sausages.

THE LAMBDA SIGMAS have rounded out another successful year, their fourteenth in a row since their founding in 1936.

After two years of heavy losses due to graduation, the Sigmas filled in their ranks with eight sturdy pledges. Perhaps the highlight of their pledgship was a "forced march" around the fishpond and over the campus, pantlegs rolled up and drums (tin cans) in hand.

Club meetings at Hobo Island, all-night stays at Camp Wyldewood, skating, swimming, basketball, a Blue Room banquet at the Rendezvous, a spring outing to Petit Jean, putting up Harding signs at the edges of town—all these activities made a full year for the Sigmas.

THE L. C. Club was organized in the fall of 1933, the last year Harding College was at Morrilton, Arkansas. Miss McClure was the sponsor until 1936.

The L. C.'s have had some fine club projects. In their years of existence they have placed a cabinet radio in Pattie Cobb; planted the tulip bed at the north end of Pattie Cobb; placed Mrs. Harding's picture in the reception room of Pattie Cobb.

The impressive initiation ceremony was held at the home of Sue Christian this year.

The banquet was made so much more enjoyable by dandelions and forgotten songs! Strictly for the girls was their bunking party at Mrs. S. A. Bell's farm north of Searcy.

During the club's five years of existence, it has carried on such varied projects as obtaining Christmas gifts for an orphan's home, sending money to missionaries, and working at the County farm. This year the Metah Moe's purchased linens for the kitchen in Pattie Cobb.

THE MOHICANS of Harding College, so named because of admiration for the great character traits of the original Mohicans of the New England States, endeavor to put characteristics of honesty, integrity, initiative, loyalty, and faithfulness into their everyday lives. They apply principles of Christianity in their associations whatever they may be—hikes, outings, banquets, personal criticism or scalping parties.

The Mohican brave had a spirit of self-sacrifice in everything he thought a worthy undertaking. He would offer a hand of friendship to all and stand by his brother in time of need or grief. He never doubted the truth, nor did his faith waver.

IN 1944 THE Omega Phi social club was organized with five charter members. Mary Blanton, the school nurse, was their first sponsor. Lois Jackson, a charter member of the club, is sponsoring now.

The admirable project for the Omega Phis this year was the bedside kits that they sent to the mission fields in Japan.

George Washington's Birthday was the theme for the winter banquet at the Mayfair. The place cards were George's head and the nut cups were little beds that said "George Washington slept here."

In spite of the fact that many people were crowding Petit Jean the day of their spring outing, the Omega Phis and their dates had a grand time.

The Phi Delts had their Valentine Party at the church annex last year. Their banquet this year was at the Rendezvous and they used a unique theme, that of Marine Life. Their decorations carried out the theme using mermaids, fish nets, anchors, etc. Even the meal consisted of seafood. Mr. Erle T. THE REGINA Club was organized in 1947 when, due to a larger enrollment, there was a need for additional social clubs. Mrs. Joe Pryor was elected sponsor by the fifteen charter members. The word Regina means queen.

At the Inter-club party for Freshman girls, the talented Reginas presented a typical Negro minstrel show. Reckon Lorene ever got her case to a higher court?

Banquets can be fun unless your name is Julia Belue and someone steals all your money. Anyway the Reginas were all "hooped up" for their banquet and with their dates in bow ties they truly depicted their theme of an Old Fashioned Banquet.

In the Spring, they packed their lunch and went to Petit Jean for the day.

SIGMA TAU was organized in the fall of 1947, with six charter members: Melvin Elliott, Wayne Hardin, Hal Hougey, Harold McDonald, Vernie Shrable, and Rodney Wald. Taking as a theme the panoply described in Ephesians, chapter 6, they drew up the familiar equilateral triangle design with a sword and the Greek letters Sigma Tau Sigma.

A favorite pastime seems to be stag weiner roasts, which the fellows have often. The choral studio was the milieu for the annual party this year, at which Pledge Abney was Master of Ceremonies and at the same time entertained three dates. Deluxe hamburgers, punch, and luscious homemade chocolate chip cookies were the fare.

The annual all-day outing this year was at Camp Takodah.

A SALUTE TO YUNKAN and plenty of good food are traditional in the SUB-T 16 Club functions. This year was no exception to the rule. Yunkan performed beautifully, capturing the attention, if not the heart, of every girl present.

The winter function was held in the Legion Hut, with the new members presenting the entertainment, featuring the "Andrew Sisters." There was a lot of food, laughter, and onions, of course. Afterwards some of the members had to be reprimanded for their inefficiency, however.

As a special project the club supports one of the children at the Southern Christian Home in Morrilton.

THE TNT's, a group of athletic fellows with one noted "nut" each year, always have a stag outing. On these occasions they serve the exclusive TNT dish, slum gullion. Latona was the favored place this year, and lafer they took their dates on an outing to Petit Jean. On one of their outings to Red Bluff, they discovered TNT Falls.

Six former members of the club are in foreign mission fields, and the TNT project this year was to send sporting goods for the schools in Japan.

The Dr. I. Q. program given on one of the student Thursdays was especially enjoyed by those winning participants who won from two to twenty silver dollars (candy mints).

THE MEANING of the word TOFEBT and a very worthy club motto is "To Our Father Ever, Be True."

The formal initiation ceremony was at the home of Mrs. Perry Mason, club sponsor. The girls looked lovely in the dim candlelight as they took their club vows.

One of the most outstanding events for the club this year was their stag outing to Red Bluff. They went one Monday afternoon and had supper there.

Ellen Engles' brother provided some of the entertainment for their formal banquet at the May-fair. Their theme, the Rainbow, was beautifully carried out in their decorations.

THE HONOR OF being the first girls' social club at Harding College belongs to the WOODSON HARDING COMRADES. It came into being October 7, 1926, with eighteen charter members, and was named for Mrs. J. N. Armstrong, Dean of Women at that time.

The most memorable event of this year was the night the club initiated the six pledges out at Camp Wyldewood. No one will soon forget the breakfast the pledges cooked, the program they gave, Frankenstein, or the face creams that got mixed up.

Almost synonymous with WHC is the annual Country Supper. This year it was a tremendous success, highlighted by the melodrama, "And the Lamp Went Out."

Petit Jean was the scene of the spring outing.

IN FEBRUARY of '46 some 30 veterans of World War II began calling themselves "THE GAURS" for the avowed purposes of promoting citizenship, personal honor and to have a good time. They can rest in peace, assured that they will be remembered as having succeeded in all three. For the four years during which they saw fit to carry on their work they were well known for the ability to "throw" a fine party or for serious work when needed. Now that they feel their presence to be less necessary they have disbanded and dismissed Luke-the-Spook with the injunction to "watch out for Harding now that we are gone." Saddle up, Gaurs; ride out to conquer greater goals.

The Large Chorus sang on Thanksgiving afternoon.
ANDY T. RICHIE, Jr.

OUR SINGING ORGANIZATIONS

THE ESSENCE of the spirit of Harding breathes in the music produced by the people who know and love their God. The slogan, "At Harding, We Sing," is most appropriate and true. The different musical organizations were supported by students who loved to tell with their voices the story of Christianity, love, and fellowship.

Open to anyone on campus interested in singing, the large chorus under Brother Ritchie's direction provided diversion for almost 200 members. It was the loyal large chorus participants who made up the group that sang regularly for the Sunday morning radio broadcasts. They gave a performance for the Thanksgiving lectureship audience; and their annual outdoor concert, held in the springtime, was looked forward to all year.

These who took part in large chorus also have pleasant recollections of those Tuesday evening rehearsals—of singing Tradi Nunca, Battle Hymn of the Republic, and "Happy Birthday," "engagement," or "haircut" to anyone who happened to fall victim.

MEANT MUCH TO ALL

ONE OF THE factors that made our signing so inspirational was the direction of Professor Andy T. Ritchie, Jr. A graduate of David Lipscomb College, he obtained his M. A. at Peabody State Teachers College. In addition to directing the chorus, Professor Ritchie directed the singing in chapel and the Men's Glee Club.

Professor Erle T. Moore was a new addition to the music department this year. Teaching voice and directing the men's quartet were his duties.

A PRETTY GIRL is like a melody—true; but when a group of pretty girls gather to sing lovely melodies the result is overwhelmingly beautiful. The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Jewell, is a valuable as well as ornamental organization at Harding.

Though not depending on their looks for applause, the Men's Glee Club presented a varied program which was well received. An "unexpected" visit from a donkey delighted the audience.

The Men's Quartet and the Girls' Sextet also added a great deal to our musical atmosphere. They made several public appearances and radio performances throughout the year.

Mrs. FLORENCE JEWELL obtained her M. A. from Peabody State Teachers' College. As voice teacher, and head of the department of music, her influence has been profound in molding the careers and lives of many Harding students.

AND DRAMATICS ENTERTAINED

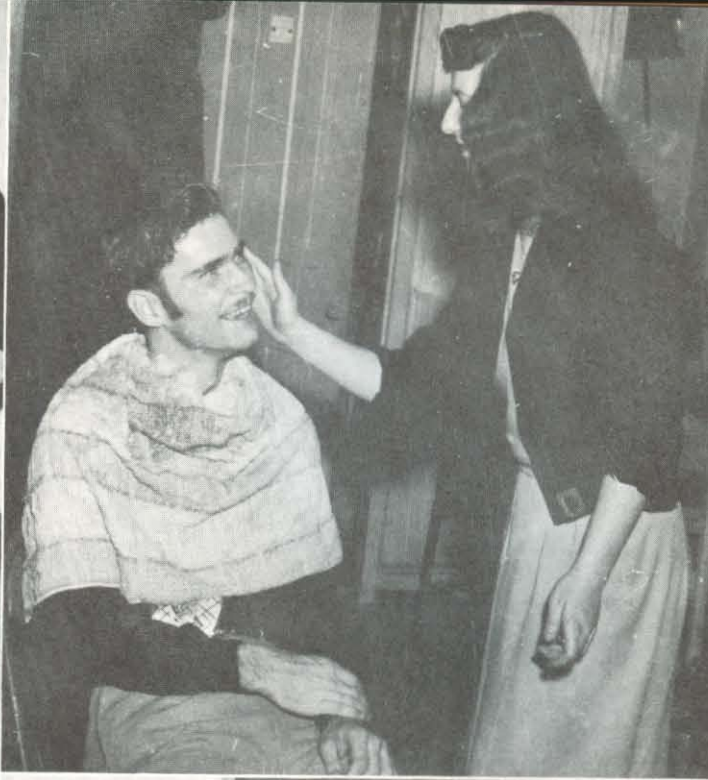

NELDA HOLTON, BILL SKILLMAN, EILEEN SNURE.

UNDER THE capable direction of Bill Skillman, Nelda Holton and Eileen Snure, the dramatic activities this year were high spots on the calendar of most Harding students.

The Dramatic Club and its directing organization, the Campus Players, have, from their inception, served a very important need at Harding. They have provided entertainment and diversion for the spectators and, for the participants, the opportunity for self-expression and development in dramatic arts. This year these organizations again served these functions, not only in the lyceum productions but also in the one-act plays presented under student direction.

THE ENTIRE SCHOOL

THE LYCEUMS presented by the Campus Players were "You Can't Take It With You," "Hearts and Blossoms," "Othello," and "Claudia."

It was the first time in many years that a Shakespearean play has been presented to a Harding audience. Under the direction of Bill Skillman, the depth of the great bard's "Othello" was ably unfolded.

Alpha Psi Omega is a dramatic fraternity on the campus which includes not only students but many of the faculty. The Alpha Psi production this year was "Ladies in Retirement," under the direction of Nelda Holton.

DRAMATIC ART has from the earliest days of man been one of his best forms of self-expression and at the same time self-improvement. The work of the Dramatic Club this year was devoted to the same ends which have been characteristic of the art throughout its history.

Our Thursday night meetings were filled with infinite variety. We not only studied the principles of acting itself, with the accompanying arts of make-up and costuming, but gave attention to the staging and production of a play. Our study was not all theory. We put the principles which we studied into practice in the production of one-act plays by members of the club.

Our program director, Dick Smith, was ever ready with some new idea which would not only provide entertainment for the meetings, but also increase our skill in dramatic arts. Pantomimes of the facial contortions while shaving, answering the telephone, and other weird human habits were the order of the day, along with individual readings and extemporaneous monologues of amusing situations.

HOUSE COUNCIL SERVED DORMITORY GIRLS

THE HOUSE Council was formed in 1947 for valuable service to Harding girls. Composed of representatives elected by the students from each living area, the council this year was an effective mediator on problems of dormitory routine, social regulations, and general attitudes.

It met once every month to cope with new problems which arose. The meetings were interesting discussions among the student representatives and dormitory supervisors.

The representatives, elected for 18-week periods, valued their positions on the house council, not only because it provided an opportunity for service, but also training for leadership.

The new kitchen in Pattie Cobb was opened under the supervision of the House Council, and initiated with a tea in honor of new council members. They also sponsored open house, and arranged for the dormitory trees at Christmas time.

THE BISON

UNDER THE guiding hand of Editor Jimmy Atkinson, the Bison stacked up a number of "firsts" this year, and gained the respect and admiration of the entire student body.

One of the firsts was an All-Star game held in the Rhodes Memorial Field House in order to liquidate the liabilities of the Bison. Another was the special report of the Houston chorus trip by Reporter Danny Fulkerson.

"Sadie Hawkins' Day," Chris Elliott, and the banquet are a few of the things that will remain in the minds of Bison scribes and other students.

A bouquet of orchids go to Atkinson and Johnson for making this year for the Bison the best yet.

THE LITTLE cubby hole of an office, down in the Science Annex, would not be in itself memorable. But when the pulse of the school throbbbed into it, a feeling of importance and excitement was experienced by those connected with producing the 1950 PETIT JEAN.

DID THEIR BEST

As the staff strove diligently to record the outstanding events of the school year, they received a lot of pleasure that came from service and association with each other.

This year the PETIT JEAN staff ventured out from several traditions to try for new and better results. As this book comes out, it is sincerely hoped that these efforts will have been successful, and that the mistakes or omissions which may have occurred, despite all the efforts to avoid them, will be forgiven, with the understanding that accidents can happen.

ATHLETICS BUILD STRONG BODIES

HARDING's extensive intramural program went hand-in-hand with the other departments of education by providing recreational activities for physical development and at the same time emphasizing the Christian principle of fair play.

NEW GYM REALLY STEPPED UP THE

IT HAS long been the dream of students, faculty, and especially those who have charge of the physical education program that some day it would be possible to have a field house large enough to provide both space and equipment for an all-around athletic program. This dream came true when in the summer of '49 work was completed on a new gymnasium which provides these facilities.

Provisions were made for almost any indoor sport. The main floor has three basketball courts laid off side by side across it. Two tennis courts are marked off and courts for badminton, shuffle board, indoor softball and other lighter games are provided for.

Dressing rooms with shower facilities and lockers and equipment rooms are located along one side of the building. Bleachers are constructed along the other side with seating space for approximately 900. A skating rink is located beneath the bleachers. Offices for Physical Education instructors and class rooms are located across the front of the building.

EVER IMPORTANT ATHLETIC PROGRAM

PREREQUISITE to any successful undertaking is adequate supervision and leadership. For this Harding is well supplied. M. E. 'Pinky' Berryhill, director of the Physical Education department, and Hugh Rhodes, assistant, are outstanding for their ability to organize and supervise a well balanced Physical Education program. Many thanks to them for carrying the sports events to new heights.

Ping pong action took place in the end of the skating rink. "Jonesy" and Coy Campbell enjoyed this game (even if they didn't have a ball).

Excitement and Exercise,

Worm's-eye view of a huddle.

WHILE WE may not be able to boast the thrill and excitement that might have been, had our teams played intercollegiate sports, we sometimes experienced thrills that were as great as any game could produce. From many parts of the country came boys that were tops in certain sports. When these fellows met and began to talk their favorite sport, the competitive spirit began to rise. Yet at Harding we did not have the attitude of winning no matter how it was done, but rather the spirit of good sportsmanship was always present. This is probably the reason that the sports at Harding carried all the thrills and excitement of highly competitive games. Even though our football was quite a bit milder than tackle, and no brawls occurred in any game, many of the fellows suffered sprained ankles and even broken bones, through all-out effort to give their best. Some even came up with black eyes, not the less colorful because they were accidental.

Thrills and Sprained Ankles

An early warm-up session, 1950 baseball season.

From these action shots, it can be seen that the fellows made the games interesting and enjoyable to all participating, and also for those who came to see them in action. All in all, Harding can be proud of its intramural program.

Softball - Early Fall.

THE FALL term of school was welcomed because, along with other things, we played softball. This was one of the major sports of the year. From the very first day boys began to get in shape for the forthcoming season.

Throwing, hitting, fielding and running were all practiced so that each might do his best and work for the honor of being selected for the all-star team.

Finally, after school got into full swing, Coach Berryhill posted a notice to sign up for softball. Teams were made up by drawing names so that the players were distributed to form well-balanced teams. Games were played every day. Interest was great and competition keen between the teams to gain an early lead in the daily standings.

TENSE MOMENT IN A LEAGUE GAME

and Football Followed Shortly

IMMEDIATELY following the softball season, two football fields were marked off on the athletic grounds and football was the center of attraction.

Harding's game of football is quite a bit different from the regular collegiate game. It has many of the rules of tackle but the method of stopping the ball carrier is quite different. Each player is given two rags, two inches wide and approximately 8 inches long which he tucks under his belt on each side. The defensive team must succeed in grabbing one of these rags before the ball is dead. The game requires much of the skill of tackle because the runner has to be more deceptive, and since body blocks are illegal the line has quite a task in protecting the ball carrier.

FOOTBALL ALL-STARS. Back row: J. Camp, J. Lay, L. Wright, K. Istre, E. Menes. Front row: J. Allen, H. Dean, R. Lewis, B. James. Not pictured: W. Hagemeir, J. Hazlett, M. Richardson, L. Perrin, D. Wilkerson, D. Walker, C. Beck.

AT HARDING, it is not the desire of the Physical Education department to emphasize only one game nor develop only those who have great ability in some sport, but rather to devote an allotted time to as many games as possible and allow anyone to play that wants to.

VOLLEY BALL ALL-STARS: J. Lay, C. Hinshaw, C. Geer, L. Perrin, G. Pledger. Not pictured: W. Howk, T. Richesin, W. Chaney, H. Groover.

Volleyball was included as one of the games in the intramural program. The interest was great because it requires skill in many phases of the game to play it successfully. There were two leagues competing in the volleyball tournament, the Server and Liner leagues. The winners of each league were required to play a game to determine the school champs. The PT's of the Server league came out victorious.

VOLLEY BALL SERVER LEAGUE WINNERS: C. Hinshaw, G. Olbricht, W. Bennett, C. Langston, P. Gross, J. Nichols. Not pictured: C. Geer.

Early spring days found the tennis courts in good repair and constant use.

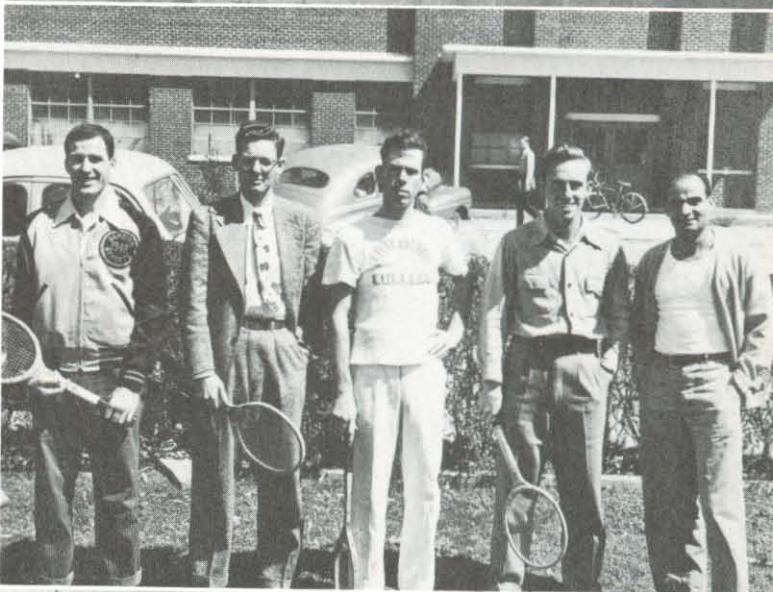

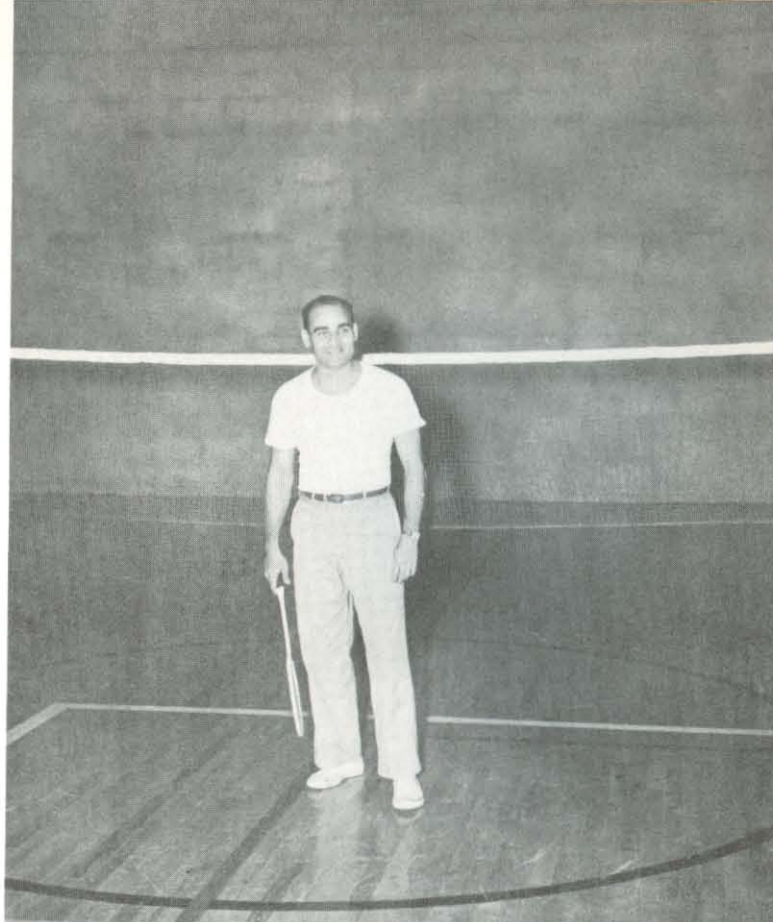

Indoor Tennis

AND BADMINTON games were exciting because of the great skill required to play them.

This skill was especially demonstrated by Prem Dharni and Emil Menes. Prem is a champion badminton player from India, an expert with a racket in both tennis and badminton. To see Emil serve and play tennis is a sight to behold.

Many others performed in the tournament with great accuracy such as "Coach" Berryhill and Frank Rhodes of the faculty, Coy Campbell, Bill Simpson and T. M. Hogan.

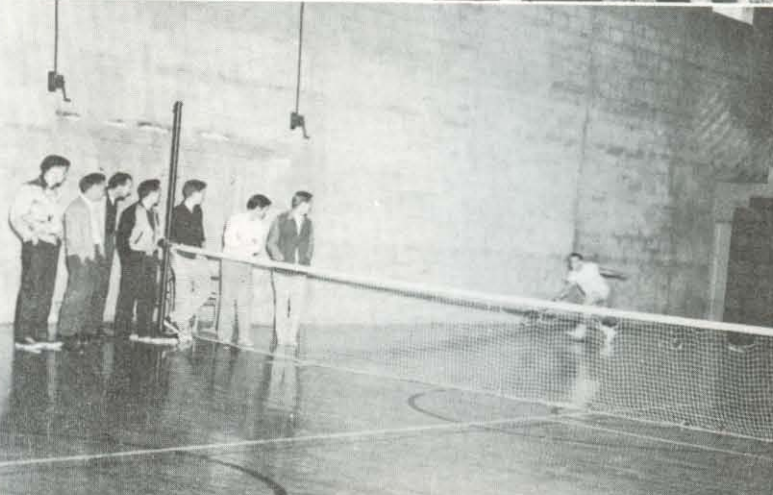

Holding the tennis tournament inside eliminated fishing for the balls in mudholes, going "over the fence" after a wild one, and the necessity for battling the wind; but the four walls only heightened the tenseness at the beginning serve and increased the thrill of a close game.

BADMINTON WINNER: Prem Dharni.

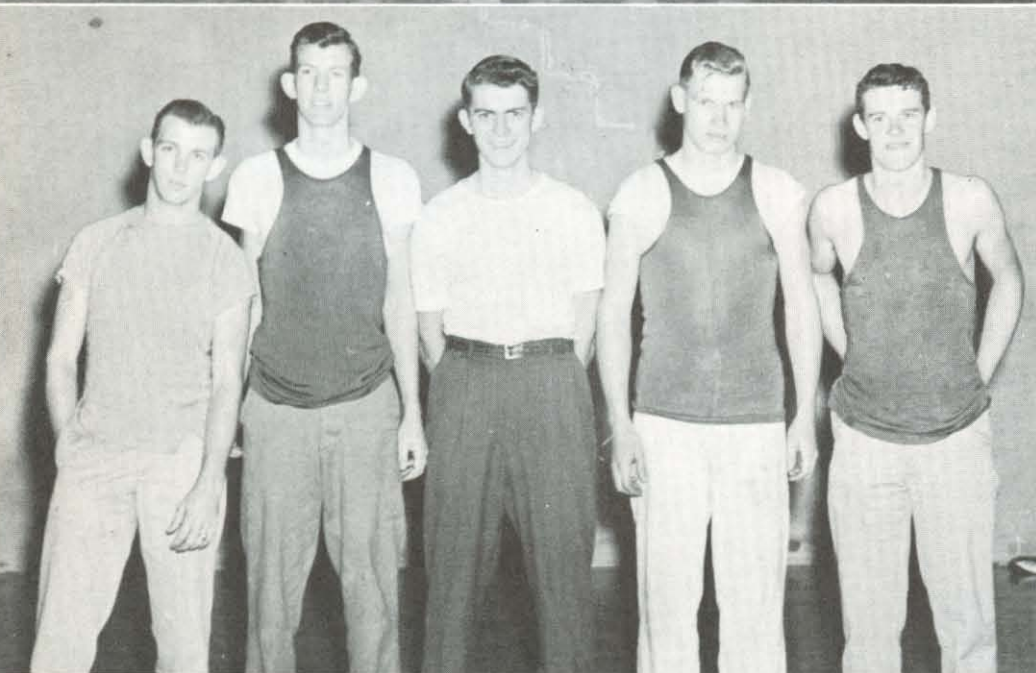

SENIORS, INDOOR TENNIS CLASS CHAMPS: Cecil Beck, T. M. Hogan, Bill Simpson, Coy Campbell, Prem Dharni. Cheers and jeers from the sidelines.

Almost suppertime by the clock—and this indoor tennis match is moving right along.

THE BISONS, MAGYAR LEAGUE WINNERS. Back row: J. Ballenger, B. Hurst, P. Moore, Front row: J. Miller, M. Mowrer, D. Walker.

THE COLTS, CELTIC LEAGUE WINNERS: J. Craig, H. Olrey, C. Draper, Falls, J. C. Roe.

MINOR LEAGUE WINNERS. Back row: C. Beck, coach, B. Plunket, O. Hanes, C. L. Cox, A. Ritchie, C. Sexson. Front row: R. Finnell, W. Wilkerson, J. Mattox, A. Petrich.

and Basketball

WAS PROBABLY the outstanding game of the year. More students participated than in any other sport, and the quality of play was outstanding.

Two leagues were formed, Major and Minor, so that the teams might be more evenly matched. Each boy designated which league he wanted to play in. Because of the great number requesting the major league, it was necessary to subdivide it into two divisions. The high school boys were permitted to enter a team in the minor league and won it. They were the only team that went through the season undefeated.

Games were played at regularly scheduled times throughout the season, two in the afternoon and four at night. The outstanding game of the year was probably the All-Star, played between two teams selected from the major league divisions by the Bison sports staff. This game had all the class of professional basketball, and the season could not have ended in a more exciting way.

MAJOR LEAGUE ALL-STARS. Back row: R. Fletcher, C. Campbell, L. Perrin, J. Nall, B. Hurst, C. Beck. Front row: H. Garner, L. Beauchamp, J. Allen. Not pictured: H. Groover, K. Istre.

MINOR LEAGUE ALL-STARS. Back row: J. Camp, W. B. Camp, J. Linn, R. Blankenship, R. Orr. Front row: C. Sexson, O. Haynes, C. Cox, H. Spurlock. Not pictured: J. Speir.

Pinochle was a popular six-man game.

Indoor Track

THE TRACK events were held during the winter term. A new experience and a new sport was added to the intramural program and that was indoor track.

Since it was the first year, a real challenge was offered to all who participated. Names of winners in each event were placed on a plaque with the record made in that event. Those names will remain there until someone, in some future year, sets a new record.

The tournament was carried on between classes. All were well represented and competition for a berth on the plaque was keen. The Sophomores seemed to have the best. When all points were totaled, they walked away with the trophy. Fellows like Ken Istre and Emil Menes sparked the drive ably, assisted by fellow teammates. Jimmie Miller captured the prize for high-point man. Jimmie, a junior from Texas, probably got his running ability from chasing those Texas jack rabbits. But besides being a fast runner, Jimmie, better known as "the deer," is a typical example of outstanding sportsmanship.

There were other honors for which participants in athletics contended. These were individual trophies for good sportsmanship. Fair play was stressed in all games because it is believed to be a necessity for success in life. At the left are the 1949 winners in volleyball, softball, basketball and football.

HIGH POINT MAN: Jimmie Miller.

The quarter-mile relay was really a thriller.

1949 TROPHY WINNERS: Bob Hare, Max Mowrer, Hugh Groover, Ernie Wilkerson.

GIRLS' SPORTS WERE EVENTFUL, TOO

AN OVER-All view of the girls' sports at Harding would indicate extraordinary enthusiasm on the part of the participants. This interest was given new life during the year by the facilities of the new gym, the enlargement of the physical education program, and the co-operation of skillful freshman girls from high schools all over the nation.

A good sport is always a good friend, and the friendships formed among the girls as they participated in the intramural program proved to be lasting relationships of the highest type. Outstanding ability and sportsmanship characterized the performance of the girls, as they won and lost together.

A well-rounded program was provided to suit the varied interests of all willing athletes. This program included tennis, badminton, shuffleboard, ping-pong, and horseshoes, along with the activities pictured on these pages.

Much of the credit for the effectiveness of the intramural program belonged to Maxine Grady, who was in her first year as girls' physical education director at Harding.

With mighty force she hurled the ball.

PING PONG WINNER Joan Hays.

INDOOR SOFTBALL opened the season's fun and brought the top thrill when the championship game was won by one point. A lot of us will remember the final out, with the victors in the field, two girls on base and two down with Mary Pritchard at bat. Clara Whitener caught that smashing hit and the shouting began.

The most ominous threats to a peaceful volleyball season were Jo and Georgia, the Webb sisters. Without these two it would have been less work, but also less thrilling. The tournament crown finally went to three gals who battled long and lonely against teams of greater numbers. Perhaps these contests were in preparation for married life: if so, Mildred Horne is well prepared and Hugh Groover has the sympathy of all.

BADMINTON WINNER Faye Hare.

Dorm tournament players kept their eyes on the ball, their hands in the air, and their feet off the floor.

THE CLIMAX of the year's sports program came when basketball claimed the attention of fans and foes alike. Three tournaments were held: class, intramural, and a round between the various dormitories. The final game between Third Floor Godden and the team from Off Campus was sport supreme as the score was tied with two minutes to play. Third floor claimed the victory by one point as the gun sounded.

Scores, runs batted in, and other statistics do not relate the full story of a season of sport; rather, the true value of play lies only in the hearts of the girls as they remember the thrill of the opening whistle and the kinship which comes through competition.

AND THESE ARE THE

who made the year.

ON THE following pages are the faces of many friends whom you will never forget. Some were your teachers and advisers, some your classmates; some were only acquaintances, others your closest companions.

But all of them, in one way or another, had a part, large or small, in making an unforgettable year for you.

LLOYD CLINE SEARS, Harding's beloved Dean, is also head of the English Department. All who have experienced a Shakespeare or Chaucer class under him know the excellence of his teaching.

OUR LEADERS AND EXEMPLARS

THOSE of us who graduate this year can say that we have received a college education.

What made that education? Books? Courses? Buildings and facilities? These were contributing factors—but perhaps the most important influence in our education was the personal contact between us and our teachers. Books were often confusing, and easily forgotten, but the views and attitudes, the very characters, of our instructors, influenced and became an inseparable part of our thinking.

We have been proud of our faculty at Harding, for they are not an ordinary faculty. As a group they are young, but many already have well-established reputations in their fields. Not long ago students themselves, they have been to us, as examples, the very epitome of high scholarship, character, and spiritual understanding.

We have seen a certain uniqueness about the close comradeship existing between Harding's faculty and her students. We felt no hesitance in seeking counsel of our instructors, for they stood always ready to give advice or sympathetic understanding, whether our problem was selection of a course, or a matter of a deeply personal nature. They have been more than teachers to us. They have been the truest of friends.

ZELMA BELL, Dean of Women. Miss Bell received her M.A. degree in Guidance from Columbia University. She has been known on the campus for her excellent Guidance classes, as well as her efficient work as Dean of Women.

DR. F. W. MATTOX, Dean of Men, Director of Student Personnel, Bible professor, and a favorite among chapel speakers. Dr. Mattox received his Ph.D. from George Peabody College.

A. S. CROOM, Business Manager, was new to Harding this year. It didn't take long for his reputation for extremely capable work to become generally known among all of us.

HOWARD COX very neat gentleman. His clever cartoons entertained everyone. A loyal Gaur. Frequently seen with his little brown satchel. THEODORE FARMER tall blonde and very eligible but seldom dated. Spent much of his time with Wisenbaker at the White House. Made us aware of good posture. KATHRYN YINGLING short and 'Dutchy.' Very proud of her little nephews. Has a cute giggle and winning ways. Knew the library backwards and forwards. PAUL WISENBAKER very good friend of Ted Farmer—they were always seen together. Owned a little green Dodge. Quiet and unassuming. His shy smile made him famous. One of those southern boys.

OBERT HENDERSON was the tall dark gentleman from Arizona. Liked his cowboy boots. Ex-Army man who knew his way around, especially how to get to East Wing. HELEN POPLIN likes her middle name. Jolly and a lot of fun to know. Great at poetry reading. Real whiz at playing Bingo, quite fond of Physical Science. ELSIE NORTON'S deep alto voice made her the bass for Girl's Glee Club. Cut off the long tresses in February. A gay Godden girl who loved to laugh. Kept us all neat looking by working at the laundry. JAMES HALBROOK came from Smackover. Jolly happy-go-lucky always rooting for the home team. Not an eager beaver for getting to class on time.

RUBY HANES another 3rd floor Godden Hall girl. Intelligence is a woman's greatest charm. Another representative of the Harding Hanes family. Spent her spare money on flash bulbs. JACK CHAFFIN drove a long blue Oldsmobile. Made frequent trips to Mississippi but not to see the river. Took a great interest in his school work. MARGARET CHAFFIN is very neat and attractive. Visited many times during the year by Jimmie Mooneyham. Another red-head. EUGENE CATTERTON one of our veterans. Is very proud of his wife and lovely little daughter. Enjoys all kinds of sports. Smart, industrious student with a will to learn.

BOBBY CONNELL supported the White House along with the rest of his gang. Not at all sorry to be graduating. When he thinks, he shows symptoms of a man with brains. BOB LANE plans to get married soon after school is out. Strictly an individualist who thinks for himself. Very independent. GARNER GROSS helped hold down the tenor section of the chorus. He liked to go on trips. Just call him the Stamps Baxter Melody Boy. Was a Gob during the war. His unusual experiences are censored. TOM LAVENDER is quite the "Master Painter." Loves his work and does it well. Was the designer of Harding's Flag. We're proud of him for making the scale model for the new and modern Harding College.

BOBBY MOCK young father with a younger son. Met Maxine at Harding, both find pleasure in Shakespeare classes. Has initiative and willingness to learn. Future home will be in Africa. RAY USSERY has tousled straw-colored hair and wears horn-rimmed glasses. Very good at acting and liked appreciative audiences in speech class. Bison photographer. NORMA LOU SANDERSON "Salty" to all who know her. Put the girls to bed in East Wing. Embarrassed when water ran down in chapel. Future Dean of Women. Found a home for a black cocker spaniel. PEARL MAHAN took her studies seriously. Early to bed and early to rise. Liked to keep up with what's happening on the campus. Took notes by the volumes.

BYRON CORN Pretty blonde hair, hails from Wichita, Kansas. Most eligible bachelor until Jolene came along. Baseball fan, soon destined to take over his father's business. BOB HARE is very interested in mission work. Worked especially hard in Searcy. Met his wife on the New York campaign. Tall gentleman from Texas. BILL WILLIAMS "Bill" easy-going but studious. Always seen in slow motion. Usually found with Groover close by. Future Einstein. VICTOR BROADDUS former missionaries' son, future missionary himself. Speaks Chinese fluently and knows the customs. Chief baker for the INN.

WENDELL BENNET was more often seen behind the wheel of his Chevy than anywhere else. He likes sports and the Beanery, is an amiable guy liked by all. ROBERTA CHOEA has pretty brown eyes. She was so quiet and reserved that her pretty voice went unnoticed. BETTY BEAMAN, another Searcy student who came to Harding for her higher education and is now wondering if she'll ever get hired. Feels bad when chapel is over. She is very much interested in Home Economics. BILL BRUMLEY athletic type with a math major. His cute wife has her P. H. T. (pushed husband through).

JAMES ELLIOTT teachers at Mars Hill. He left us at Christmas time. Quiet and efficient, always willing to help those who need it. Tall and nice looking. LURLYNE RICHARDSON believes that real happiness comes from making others happy. "Lurlyne and Frances" synonymous names. Has a reserved table in the College Inn. FRANCES SMITH The Bales' kids call her "mama". Is always smiling and loves to make people happy. Usually ends up at the White House after supper. IMOGENE FRANKS called "Gene". Has a lot of dramatic ability. Good personality—she was born with the gift of laughter. Her group of friends seem to be the happiest group on the campus.

ED RANSOM has been very helpful in the dramatics department. An outstanding Senior with good grades behind him. A whole-hearted Christian who is quite the family man. Is proud of his poetess wife. WILBURN RAIN-EY used to teach in the Army. Took good notes in his classes. Had a daughter in the training school. Liked to talk up in psychology class. Took his work seriously. LLOYD PRICE another of our married students. Proud of his two sons. Wife Vivian was a Harding graduate.

BILL SIMPSON is quite proud of his "bundle of joy". Likes to play tennis and is very good at it. Conscientious and hard working student. Another lucky man who got his wife at Harding. FRANCIS HERRING, nice to know, often seen in his station wagon. He and his wife admire Mrs. Dodd's cooking at noon. Loves Arkansas weather. BILL STURM was called "Strum" by Brother Bell. Drives an old beat up Plymouth. Runs a free-shuttle service between town and school. JOHN HADLEY plans to go to Germany, is a loyal Deutschlender. Met Helen in Maine while he was serving Uncle Sam. Became a proud papa in November, everyone in Vet Village knows it.

MIRIAM LARSEN owner and operator of Jo-Fo and Co. Kept entire dorm supplied with prints. She is famous for her friend Pierre. Has always lived with "Mert". MARION HICKINGBOTHAM is called "Hick" by his friends. Nicest dressed boy on the campus. One of the sought-after men. Has that air of aloofness. MARILYN McCLUGGAGE always active in everything. Helped to bring F.T.A. to the top. Sincere, sweet and lovely—a real friend to all. EVELYN RHODES has beautiful red hair, lovely soprano voice and a charming personality. "A real artist." Co-worker with Jo-Fo and admirer of Pierre. One of the six of the sextette.

LESTER PERRIN goes by the nickname "Les". Very good in athletics. His wife taught school in West Point. Fond of singing and going on chorus trips. GLEN OLREE a favorite with the students, especially at 1:00 and 5:00. Found happiness at Harding—Nell. Has to be shown because he hails from Missouri. MAX MOWRER has two adorable daughters and a cute little wife. Second "Preacher Roe" and also an excellent tenor. Won the cup for his abilities in softball. WALTER JOHNSTON is still interested in High School. Teacher's pet to Miss Bragg. Canadian who is really "out" and "about". Understands and appreciates Guidance.

GLEN SHAYER drew real masterpieces in "Bugology." Family man with a purpose in life. Liked to hear his favorite records in Music Literature class. WILLIS CHEATHAM took care of the Senior money—as well as a girl named Helen. Did mission work in the summers. Always willing to do his share. Did not live up to his last name. Had to graduate to get away from sitting by Chesshir in chapel. TOMMIE JEAN HULETT will always remember her night at the White House when she was homesick. Another Harding Hulett. A true friend is always a friend. Unusual combination of brown eyes and blonde hair. SUE SAUNDERS dark black curly hair. An East-Winger with a purpose for taking Home Economics. Sees slip-covers in her sleep.

MARY CATHERINE WILLIAMS energetic and always willing to help. When anything is done by her, it will be done well. Checked the girls in Pattie Cobb. Was a loyal W.H.C. BURL CURTIS strict Chevrolet fan. Strong for Personal Evangelism. Got his exercise climbing the stairs to East Wing. BETTY NELL McRAE sweet disposition. Has a hearty laugh. Plans to work in the business world. Her motto is "More power to you." She is very loyal to the Horne-Groover team. MARTHA WALSTON short, blonde, seen either in Dean Sears' or the Registrar's Office. Another one of those kids from Nashville. Spent quite a bit of her time out in town.

CECIL BECK proudly sported his orange and black athletic jacket. Took an interest in education and spoke his views along with Dewey and Kilpatrick. Baby sat with Nancy Perry. COY CAMPBELL participated in all the sports. Spent so much time in the new gym that it should have been named after him. He also takes a great interest in Bible and was a favorite speaker at Monday night meetings. LOIS BENSON Pepsi-Cola personality, plenty of sparkle, zip and zesto. Got a bunny rabbit hair cut and looks good in her blue angora sweater. SUE HOGG "Miss Pig" is a future Chevrolet salesman. An original "FFF" member. An excellent student.

BRUCE BROWN wine sports jacket often seen in the Pattie Cobb reception room. Goes with "Robbe"—Dr. to all the injured typewriters in the school. MARY HOLLINGSWORTH talented pianist. Backbone of the chorus. Blonde, dependable and efficient. Dead pan when she's kidding. JANE NEAL small—but who complains about the size of dynamite? Efficient and helpful. Pug nose. Spent her spare time in the practice room. Handy-Dandy. THURMAN HESTER came to Harding from Freed-Hardeman. Likes to talk to anyone who will listen. Knows a lot about English and History. Loyal to California.

WILLIAM ALFRED MORRIS
 Ashland City, Tenn.
 B.A.: History and English

JOSEPH BRYANT is very intelligent and neat. Still water runs deep. Plans to go to Japan with his family. Quite interested in his class work. Ever ready to do his share. CHARLES MORRIS a small bundle of personality, always ready to help and eager to serve. A very good chorus member. Jolly and gay with a fiendish laughter. AUDREY SCHAEFER was a real joy to her suite-mates. Crazy and witty. One ambition in life is Pontiac "Catalina." Took care of Danny Boy. "Nursie." JUANITA WALLER "checker-upper" on the lazy chorus members. Always on the job. Accepts responsibility well. Andy's right-hand man, if she wasn't in chorus she was in Bold Knob.

JAMES WALKER "Dudy" as we know it. Girls may come and girls may go, but not if he can help it. Has good voice. In Male Quartet. Always having trouble with his nose. BILLY SMITH has a wonderful little wife, Joan. Nice personality and makes a most delightful friend. Very good at clever remarks. ALVIN MOUDY. He doesn't say much but neither did Lincoln. "Happy" red-head from Texas. Seen around campus with cute brunette. RICHARD WALKER will long be remembered for excellent acting in various Lyceums. Calm, cool, dignity shaken only by Oral Interpretation class. Often seen in his little blue 'Chevie.'

MARTIN LEMMONS used to work in Oklahoma, is neat in appearance and another of Koinonia boys. One of the tenor "men" in chorus. Helped out quite a bit on the Bison. RUTH BORNSCHLEGEL our editor, responsible for the year book. Eccentric artist who hates the color green. Hails from Colorado and proud of it. ROGER HAWLEY we all look up to one so tall. "Have you reserved your Petit Jean?" Attended a wedding Christmas day—his own. The "Jolly Roger." GENA CHESSHIR another Nashville Chesshir, she's a happy combination of friendliness and beauty. Likes to ride horses and she got through four years of Harding in only six years.

JAMES LANKFORD received his training at West Point (Ark.) before entering the Army. Quite the business student and with the hobby of doing imitations. Tall and lanky. ETOILE GIBSON lived off campus with her sister in Bergeron's Rock House. She is an ardent chorus member and plans to teach. Former Beebe College co-ed. HERMAN BARKEMEYER, the strong and silent type. Was in the Quartermasters Corp in the Army and served in the Pacific Theatre. HOMER HORSMAN spent his time in the Chemistry lab, yet he found time to be popular at banquets. Quoted Hutchins in Education.

KEITH THOMPSON quite the debater and reminded us of J. D. Clap—happy in chapel. Was an eligible bachelor to a point. Originally an Englishman. RUTH WILLIAMS held the key to Pattie Cobb and still holds the key to a lot of our hearts. Quiet, reserved and helpful. Soft laughter was often heard at Camp Tahkodah. TED NA-DEAU Betty fell for his red shirt. Good member of the Frater Sodalis club. He and Betty make one of our favorite married couples. BETTY NA-DEAU Ted's better half. Former Godden Hall co-ed. Married Ted then returned to classes. Kept a neat home.

RICHARD SMITH Dick was a very good Dr. I.Q. in the T.N.T. program. He and Wynelle plan to go to Germany. Has an education system all his own. Personality plus. BOB ADAMS, a nice Canadian gentleman who came to the States for his education and in return will take the gospel to his home. Blonde family man—at home on his bicycle. ISAIAH HALL "Ike" owns a new blue Buick. Charming wife and daughter, altogether they were an asset to Harding. Generous with his belongings, his car made many preaching appointments. M. T. BISHOP short gentleman, well versed in Bible. Experience for teaching through practice teaching in Civics.

LONNIE GRAY likes to fish. Wears a shy grin. Loved to sit in his Ford while on the campus. Always seems to enjoy a good joke. CLARA JEAN HADDOCK thinks that the Koinonia club is the best on the campus. Nice to know even for a little while. Quiet and reserved—(for Raymond). MARY JO SUMMITT lived in the dorm, then moved off-campus. She is another Missouri gal. Plenty of freckles and a cute nose. FRANK UTTLEY is a native Arkansan. Spent some time in the air force where he was a "tuff" sergeant. Married now and lives in Searcy. Interested in the field of business.

EDDIE BAGGETT, old married man who spent his Mondays in Kensett teaching music. Often doubled for Andy at chorus rehearsal, even took them on trips. JEANETTE BAGGETT Mrs. "George"—hails from 'South of the border.' Keeps house, studies hard, and still manages to make it to classes on time. Oh, to have brains like hers! MILDRED HORNE, Mrs. Groover in March. Four-year W.H.C. Active in sports. Shows she is easy to get along with by having the same roommate four years. Graduated in March. HUGH GROOVER, Mildred's man. Sports fiend who participated in most games. Works hard but plays harder. Always wears a crew cut. Brother to Margie.

BERNARD KENNETH WALTERS lives in a blue trailer with his pretty brunette wife. Is very proud of his Pontiac. You could recognize him by his mustache. KATHRYN RITCHIE never an idle moment. Thrifty and thoughtful to others. Gets Andy to Chorus on time and then waits patiently (?) on him for supper. Found time to study and make good grades! WAYNE JOHNSON made the money for the Bison. His friendly attitude made him known among the students. Quite the speaker.

JOSHUA LIVELY quiet studious type. Well liked by those who know him. Has a nice smile and a friendly attitude. Does not take his work lightly. DENZIL E. GATES graduated end of summer term. Plans to go to University of Oklahoma. Former, 1st Lieut. in the U. S. Air Force. Brother to Ruby Nell. LUCILLE HANCOCK thinks that if men interfere with studying you should quit studying. Kansas is the best state and she is interested in Guidance work. Has quite a time with her suite-mates Smith and Richardson. WILLIE O'BANION so they call him "Jay." Left Arkansas for "Sunny California" but came back to Harding to finish his education. Plans to teach. Is cheerful and well liked and somehow always managed to get to supper on time.

CLIFTON HINSHAW was a Radioman 1st Class while in the Navy, and is still first class. His blond wavy hair helps him to keep his neat appearance. CHARLES DRAPER active in everything—sports, journalism and religion. Very strong for extra-curricular activities. Conscientious preacher. Took the position of Kilpatrick in Education. CLARENCE RICHMOND, answer to a maiden's prayer. Energetic and usually seen with a camera. Spent quite a bit of his time in the dark. Helped with the radio programs. W. H. SIMS—Wife is happy to see him graduate. Tall and lanky with blond wavy hair. Noted for his crazy laugh. Just another good-looking Sims.

MARILYN HAWLEY'S paintings adorned the halls at Thanksgiving time. She is also very good at portrait painting. Loyal G.A.T.A. from way up north. PETE BARNES another married man. His son is a carbon copy of Pete. Another example of the fact that dynamite comes in small packages. LINDA SKINNER eligible for May Queen. Blonde nurse who was good at pulse taking and pulse raising. Always ready with a smile for all.

VELDA TURNER friendship is a part of virtue. Has a contagious laughter. Wore bangs. Always up to mischief. Crazy about New York. HENRY WATERS quiet and a bit reserved. Usually seen stag but the girls wondered why. "H. J." always has a cheery smile. Was strictly against note-taking in class. Brother to MARY ELLEN WATERS is always seen with her bunch from third floor Godden. Good model for snapshots. HOWARD GARNER he came, he saw, he whistled. Can Croon like Sinatra. Sparkling brown eyes and a flashy smile. Was quite the ladies' man, but worried about his bald spot.

A 1950 VIEW OF HARDING ACADEMY

. . . a small but vital center of learning and activity in which young lives grew to a better understanding of the meaning of work, responsibility, and achievement.

An important factor in the success of the high school year was Perry Mason, principal of the Academy, pictured here with class presidents Andy Ritchie, Charla Cranford, Joe Mattox, and Wayland Wilkerson. Mr. Mason's enthusiasm was an ever-present source of inspiration and his vision pointed the way to greater accomplishments.

GEOMETRY,

CLASSES WERE FUN

CLASSES five days a week, thirty-six weeks a year, but plenty of variety and never a dull moment.

We cut up grasshoppers, quoted from "Macbeth," planned travel tours, and did our math work out on the campus one cold winter morning.

There was the hearty laughter we shared over amusing class incidents, that glow of pleasure we experienced when we received an "A" on a good report, and the awful suspense until we found out our grade on "finals." The year taught us that we can have fun while learning and still reach our goal with a sense of achievement.

ENGLISH,

AND BIOLOGY.

BANQUETS.

OUR FUN UNFORGETTABLE

WE CARRIED our good spirits everywhere, enjoying ourselves, and each other. There were always willing hands to help in any project—a prevailing sense of sportsmanship and consideration that made all of our undertakings successful ones.

Whether attending a formal banquet, or merely chatting informally between classes, cutting up in the dormitory, relaxing in the Inn, or competing with each other on the tennis courts, we were always sure to find many happy moments and memories.

Nor did our fun lie altogether in the things that we did, but partly in the very spirit of wholesomeness which pervaded Academy activities.

CONVERSATION, AND OUTINGS.

ENTHUSIASM AND INTEREST

QUARTET. Conway Sexson, C. L. Cox, Andy Ritchie III, Wayland Wilkerson.

SEXTETTE. Bellie Beth Hill, Nell Young, Sarah Longley, Verna Vaughan, Charla Cranford, Miriam Draper.

BUT HOW could it have been otherwise with such good teamwork?

We remember so many things about those activities—how we always found time for a laugh during the long, hard work on the Senior play; how the stage crew didn't mind drafting anybody's property for an all-important High School production; and our leading man didn't show up until an hour before the presentation of our play at the Speech Festival.

Some of those chorus rehearsals were a struggle, we admit, but we always managed to come out on top, and we never tired of giving vent to our feelings through the joyful medium of music.

CHARACTERIZED OUR ACTIVITIES

The senior play, LITTLE WOMEN, was well done and lots of fun.

THE WALKING HILLS, a one-act drama, had a responsive Thursday night audience.

BEING IN the Beta Club, the Harding Academy chapter of the National Honor Society, was one of the highest honors attainable by academy students. Maintenance of an average of 90 or better was the requirement for membership.

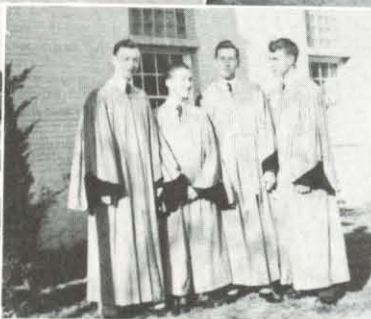

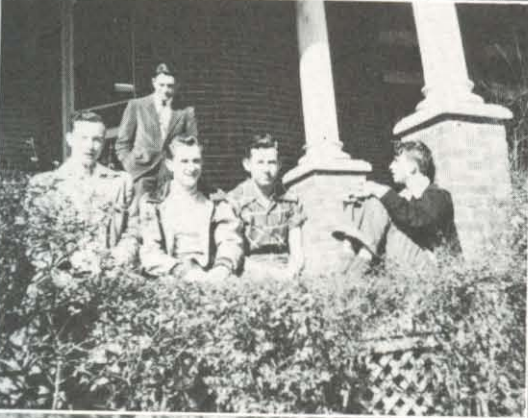

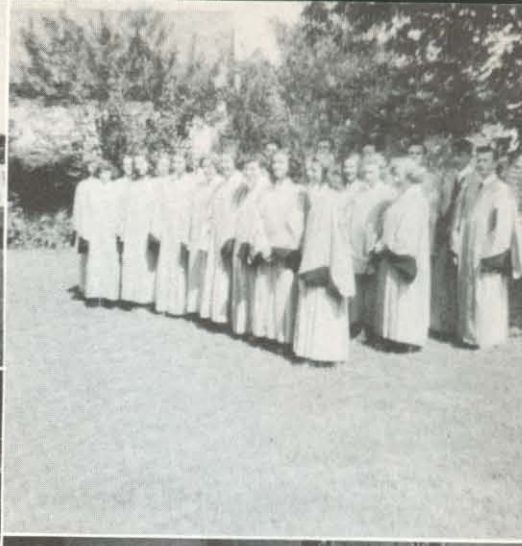

The Debate Club, sponsored this year by Richard Walker, went to Fayetteville for the Speech Festival, where the girls' team, composed of Nell Young and Miriam Draper, did very well for themselves by reaching the semi-finals.

It was the able and inspirational guidance of the Academy faculty, shown here in faculty meeting with Principal Mason presiding, which made this year the great one that it was.

DEBATERS. Andy Ritchie, Miriam Draper, Nell Young, Rita Jo Baldwin.

FACULTY. Back row: Mrs. Andy Ritchie, Vaughnece Bragg, Bill Cook, Eileen Snure. Front row: Ed Sewell, Mrs. Perry Mason, Miss Annie Mae Alston, Mrs. Inez Pickens, Esther Mitchell, R. N., Perry Mason, principal.

SUB DEB

THE SUB DEB Club is a chapter of the National Sub Deb Club and has been on Harding's campus for many years. In 1948 the membership changed completely because all of the members graduated; however, the club has always held a prominent place in the Academy.

Under the direction of their sponsor, Miss Ann Early, the Sub Debs gave their winter banquet at the Rendezvous. Their theme, Snowman, was difficult to portray but because of the hard work and cooperation of each of the members, their banquet was most successful.

This Spring they joined the KATs for an overnight outing to Camp Takodah.

UNTIL 1943 The Kappa Alpha Theta was known as the Royal Fun Club. Every year they have had a worthy club project and this year they sent a Christmas basket to a family to make their holiday more enjoyable. Miss Annabell Lee is sponsor of the KATs.

Eight pledges were formally initiated at Mrs. Dodd's home in a beautiful candlelight ceremony.

The members worked diligently to complete arrangements for their banquet February 3. The theme "Pirates" was depicted throughout the decorations. Their spring outing to Tahkodah with the Sub Debs promoted better feeling between the clubs.

K - 9

THE K-9 Club is the older of the two High School boy's clubs. It was originally called the Nine Knights because of its nine members, but now it is the largest club in the Academy.

They began their year with an excellent club project—assembling lockers for the high school boys in the new gym.

Their annual Christmas banquet, the second in K-9 history, was held at the Mayfair on December 10, and they used for the theme a typical White Christmas motif.

Later in the year they shook themselves free from their school daze and took to the wide open spaces for their spring outing.

TRAINING SCHOOL YOUNGSTERS

LEARNED, too, as Miss Annabel Lee and her able and devoted staff of teachers worked to develop children—sons and daughters of faculty families and Searcy Citizens—to their fullest potentials. Here, one hundred youngsters with their thriving imaginations, their individual interests and talents, were furnished endless opportunities through work and play to find their way successfully to higher levels of life and learning.

Nearly every hour of the day found some college student in interested observation or busy participation in grade school classes, learning by very real experience, the principles and techniques of effective teaching and deepening his understanding of its responsibilities and opportunities.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL EDUCATION

CORA OGLEVIE, MARY ALICE SWAIN, DOYLE SWAIN

THE SLOGAN, "Harding College, The College That Speaks to the Nation," is emphatically carried out through its National Education Program which is designed to restate and re-emphasize to the American public the value of constitutional government and freedom of individual opportunity.

For twelve years, the department has achieved its aims through publications, radio, motion pictures, lecture programs, and forums.

"Looking Ahead," a weekly editorial column, carried in 2600 papers, contains a discussion of the value of the American economic and business system, the need for competitive and private initiative, and many allied subjects.

The Harding College Letter sent to a subscription list of 40,000 comments on national affairs and stimulates thought about our economy.

DOYLE SWAIN, assistant to Mr. Nater, directs distribution of literature.

IS A UNIQUE FEATURE WITH HARDING

The weekly radio program, "Land of the Free," dramatizes the life of Americans who through personal success and public service have proved the value of American principles.

The producing and screening of the Harding series of ten-minute Technicolor animated cartoons on economic education has been underway since 1948.

Freedom Forums, which assemble American industrial leaders, has been a recent addition to the program's media. The forums are designed to instruct individuals, companies and industries how to teach the American way of life to their employees.

The National program office at Harding is under the direction of Carl Nater, executive assistant to Dr. Benson.

DOROTHY WELSH is librarian for the National Program Library, a unique project specializing in collecting materials on the subject of free enterprise and the economics of capitalism.

Distribution of films employed LEAH BOYD, student.

Mr. DOOLEY, of Saginaw, Michigan, addressed Freedom Forum audience in the College Dining Hall.

BRADLEY'S BARBER SHOP

Two of the many Hardingites, who through the years have felt at home in Charlie Bradley's shop, have come back for more. A clean, friendly atmosphere and good workmanship distinguish this shop.

VIRGIL LEWIS MEN'S STORE

Mr. Wright shows LeRoy O'Neal a perfect fit, one of the many fine suits which may be found at this store. Featuring Curlee Clothes and Weyenberg Massagic Shoes, Virgil Lewis carries everything for the man.

O K TAXI AND CAFE

The camera has recorded the pleasant expressions on the faces of the above young ladies from Harding. And well might they smile, for here they enjoy not only the privilege of riding in the latest model automobile, but also of sipping a Coke in the friendly restaurant. Quick, courteous service distinguish both the OK Taxi and OK Cafe, between the bus station and downtown.

SOUTHERN AUTO STORES

Located in the heart of downtown Searcy, this business establishment carries everything in the line of hardware. Sporting goods, as shown above, tools, kitchenware, automobile accessories—just anything you want may be found at Southern Auto. You are welcome to come in and shop around.

WHITE COUNTY MOTOR COMPANY

A sweet car for a Sweet family. . . . The fortunate owners of a 1950 Ford themselves, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sweet and Candy are quick to agree that this year's Ford, "50 Ways New," is a leader in the low price field. White County Motor Company is, conveniently located on the east side of the square.

S M I T H F L O R I S T

Admiring beautiful long stem roses, Ethelyn and Alice behold but a small portion of the wide selection that Smith Florist has to offer. Located just across from the White House and only a short distance from school, Smith is always eager to give friendly service to the Hardingites.

VAN PATTEN-ADAMS

Aware of the fine service available to customers of Van Patten-Adams, Tommy Richesin has added his name to that list. Specializing in all kinds of insurance, from life to automobile, real estate, and loans, Van Patten-Adams will be happy to answer your needs.

HARDING COLLEGE BOOK STORE

Certainly one of the busiest spots on the campus, and one of the most useful, is the College Book Store. Traditional seems to be the privilege, one of which many students take advantage, just to browse around—and talk, purchasing only when ready.

One of the finest features of this College enterprise is the "Share with you" plan whereby 15% of all one spends on religious books is held in a fund, to be made use of in the purchase of other religious books.

There's a great day coming for the Book Store, for September will find it in a beautiful air-conditioned location in the new Student Center, more ready than ever to be of real service to students.

THE RENDEZVOUS CAFE

Cool, quiet surroundings . . . absolute cleanliness . . . the tastiest of food.

Whether serving a group of two or one-hundred-two the Rendezvous takes the greatest care to see that every meal carries a desire for a repeat performance.

The Rendezvous features the Blue Room and Banquet Hall, perfect settings for memorable occasions.

HEADLEE DRUG CO.

Bob buys a toothbrush—just another every-day necessity. But whether it be toothbrush or alarm clock you can depend on either one of the two Headlee Stores in Searcy to have it for you. Headlee's also maintains a store in Newport.

DE LUXE BARBER SHOP

Notice those Harding faces. Notice that clean, well-lighted shop. This is the Deluxe Barber Shop, on the west side of the square. With its four chairs, you can count on the fact that Deluxe is well equipped to serve the needs of all its customers.

A SINCERE thank-you is extended to all those who helped in the production of the 1950 Petit Jean.

Many were called upon, outside the staff members, for assistance. Mrs. Elva Phillips and Tom Lavender contributed art work; Miss Annie Mae Alston, Miss Vaughnece Bragg, Jimmie Atkinson, Margie Groover, Dick Smith, and Hugh Mingle contributed copy; Mr. Cope and his secretary, Velma Davis, stood by many times with helpful advice as well as photographic contributions. Others, too, helped with just a sympathetic word when work was hectic, and time was short.

It is to them, as well as to my loyal staff members, that a deeply felt gratitude is here expressed.
