Volume XXXIV

Harding College was founded for the purpose of educating students in an atmosphere of Christianity. Here we have been given an opportunity to learn, to think and plan, and to develop along with this institution. Every year at Harding is a significant experience that shapes our destinies.

The significance of this year in Christian education is the only theme of the 1958 PETIT JEAN. It is a review of events, but more than that, it is a review of our growth.

Dedication

A warm philosophy of life . . . an interest in anything which the student is interested . . . talents that demand appreciation . . . a life devoted to God and the cause of Christian education . . . and excellence in friendship characterize Jim Atkinson, Dean of Students. Busy? Extremely, but never too busy to help students in any way possible. Having sponsored the class for three years, your sensitive counsel, expressed with animated humor, has guided Harding students and won for you their regard. There is no tribute great enough to mark our appreciation for the contributions you have made toward improving life on our campus. It is with respect and gratitude that we — the class of 1958 — dedicate the 1958 Petit Jean to you, Jim Atkinson.

Having grown up and been educated at Abilene, Texas . . . and having mastered the round, pear-shaped tones of the professional radio man during four years with a Lubbock, Texas, radio station . . . Jim Atkinson left the plains of West Texas to become Field Representative for Harding College. Because of his ability and perseverance, he was soon promoted to Director of the Personnel Office and next to Dean of Students. His work requires many hours and much "midnight oil" which he gives unselfishly. A master of verbal brilliance, Dean Atkinson will not only be remembered for his fairness as an administrator but also for his mercurial mind . . . his nimble tongue . . . the rapier thrust of his verbal retorts and puns . . . and his jocular personality.

The Atkinsons meet visiting delegates at the Council Conference.

Mr. Atkinson adds sparkle to chapel with his daily announcements.

He relaxes with his two favorite people—"Kitty," his wife, and his son "Scotty."

Perplexed? No, just excited at the game.

Christian Education Is Complete In Instruction . . .

Harding College was founded thirty-four years ago in order to educate students in an atmosphere of Christianity. This is that something which surpasses mere buildings, laboratories, books, and training facilities. Every phase of life — with an accent on the spiritual — receives attention at Harding. The teachers aim to lay the foundations for building successful lives that are guided by the knowledge of a Higher Being and His commandments.

Christian instruction is found in our worship and fellowship, in our part-time jobs, in our classes, and in our co-curricular activities — providing us with inspiration and a challenge. The general education program, an integrated course of study, is designed to increase our intellectual perspective and to help us see the inter-relation of various areas of knowledge. Perhaps the greatest instruction we receive is that gained for us by our Christian association.

Visiting speakers such as Marshall Keeble broadened our outlooks.

Eight o'clock is awfully early for biology class.

"First things" are placed "first" . . . studying can wait!

Linda and Eddy typify the couples who spend many hours dating at the movies, swings, or various feature attractions.

In Recreation . . .

Many factors are combined to develop Christian character, and not the least of these are the varied recreational constituents we find at Harding. Music is an integral part of Harding, and singing late in the evening around the fishpond or in the Student Center is always a source of enjoyment. The hours spent in the Inn leave many unforgettable "special memories." A major source of recreation is our social clubs that provide us with parties, stag outings, banquets, spring outings, and keen competition in activities among clubs.

The campus activities were heightened by the tacky party at Halloween, the newly-instituted intercollegiate sports, the Singathon plus a multitude of dates. Traditional at Harding are the always-occupied swings, the Harding "moons", and benches around the lily pond. Wherever our activities carry us, and whatever we do, God and His Son remain the foundation of Harding life.

A pizza supper was held for the cast and workers following "The Comedy of Errors."

One . . . two . . . three . . . Ken Vanderpool kept on till he set a new record.

Baseball reigns as king during the spring.

Jim and Augustine match skills at ping pong.

. . . In Physical Development

Believing that a physically fit body should accompany an alert, inquisitive mind, the faculty at Harding has constructed a well-rounded program of physical activities. New this year is an intercollegiate sports program. In addition to this, fully ninety per cent of the students, girls and boys, participate in a carefully organized intramural program, which features both individual and group competitive sports. Archery, base-running, track, football, volleyball, and rope-climbing are a few examples, and basketball still remains king among sports. Competition is also staged in tournaments among classes and clubs. Some of the most enjoyable hours of our life at Harding are spent in the gymnasium or out on one of our ball fields.

Basketball is just one sport sponsored by the WRA.

Both fun and work go on behind dining hall serving counters.

Circle-K operates a hatcheck stand at a district Kiwanis banquet.

And In Service To Others

In His Word, Christ taught that he who would be greatest must be the servant of others. We learn to serve through teaching, preaching, and Christian living. Many young men preach on Sundays in communities near Searcy. Each Sunday afternoon a group of students hold worship services for the people at the county farm. Others learn sign language in order to teach the deaf — making frequent trips to the Deaf School at Little Rock. Harding is filled with organizations that offer students an opportunity to serve. The Bison and Petit Jean relate the news and record our memories. Musical organizations provide entertainment, sing for funerals and weddings, and give programs to advance the interests of the college. The student council promotes campus activities, and the big sisters aid new girls in adjusting to college life.

It takes a week but the Bison serves us a big variety — Petty to Humphrey.

The Place

HOME OF THE DEAN

Some of the most familiar scenes in the world to a Harding student . . . these buildings. Each building means something special in each person's mind. Every scene brings back memories — maybe good, maybe not so good—memories of some kind.

Never forget that special spring evening over by the Science Hall. Remember that day when the sidewalks were so icy in front of the Ad Building? This was a part of our life here at Harding.

This was the physical side of THE COLLEGE as we knew it in 1957-58. This was our school — Harding College.

ADMINISTRATION

Harding's growth, both physically and academically, can be traced to the vision of our administration. These are the individuals who are dedicated to service . . . who formulate standards for scholastic achievement . . . who provide examples for building strong character . . . and who watch with a diligent eye the phases of our life at Harding.

GEORGE STUART BENSON, M.A., LL.D., President

A mighty important man, that fellow above. His associates will tell you that his driving desire is to render service in Christian education . . . he does. Although he travels extensively to solicit support for Harding College, George S. Benson still keeps close contact with all the activities on campus. His leadership has led the school for many years in the dignity and warmth that is his . . . and for this the school is forever indebted.

The Administration

Scholar, athlete, and lover of fun . . . this is the man who so adequately serves as vice-president of Harding College and as dean of the School of American Studies. Student activities are his chief concern, and his personal touch with students is amazing. As a faculty sportsman, spectator, host, or professor, he is an outstanding person doing an outstanding work.

“Your attention, please, to these announcements” introduces every student to Jim Atkinson, dean of Students . . . Ah, the dynamic intellect that is his . . . a combination of dignity, wisdom, and wit that presents the student body with a standard to be desired. His constant fervor in forwarding student activities brings him even closer to the students.

“To be or not to be, that is the question,” and Dean L. C. Sears can help you decide. His long experience and wide travels combined with his native ability make him an excellent personal counselor. A very capable professor . . . and chairman of the English department . . . his wisdom radiates wherever he is and to all within range.

The Board -- Service To Christian Education

Dedication to Christian Education . . . untiring service . . . these are characteristics of the men behind the scenes formulating the policies and decisions of Harding College. Students rarely get to know these men personally, but all know they are rendering an indispensable service to the college. Chairman Dr. L. M. Graves capably leads this group in the accomplishments of their dual purpose of advancing education and Christianity.

The Board of Trustees — W. D. Rhodes, Wichita, Kansas; Flanoy Alexander, Delight; Louis Green, Tulsa, Okla.; Dr. John Young, Dallas, Tex.; T. J. McReynolds, Morrilton; J. A. Thompson, Searcy; Milton Peebles, Saratoga; Dr. George Benson, Searcy; Dr. L. M. Graves, Memphis, Tenn.; Dr. Houston T. Karnes, Baton Rouge, La.; W. O. Beeman, Memphis, Tenn.; John E. Fuller, Memphis, Tenn.; Leman Johnson, Wenatchee, Wash.; NOT PICTURED: R. V. Lovinggood, Memphis, Tenn.

CLASSES

Classes at Harding . . . educational facilities and life in the dormitories . . . the college seeks to develop in its students a philosophy of life, wisdom and knowledge . . . training that will help them serve themselves and mankind.

Classes Gave Preparation

From an humble beginning in 1924 with approximately 77 students, Harding College has developed into a promising young liberal arts college with 1000 students and extension work in Little Rock, Arkansas, and Memphis, Tennessee. We came from 42 states . . . with different backgrounds . . . different ways of talking . . . for different purposes . . . but we came because we knew Harding was interested in advancing the kind of Christian education that would enable the individual to live a more useful and satisfying life.

Dedicated to building a philosophy of life upon a foundation of Christian ideals, Harding's curriculum was organized to give students adequate preparation for a chosen vocation or profession and to provide for all students intellectual, social, and spiritual development. Because of the complex circumstances of our time, the GENERAL EDUCATION program was designed to create wholesome attitudes toward the world, to develop fundamental skills and to give students basic understandings, and furnish a broad foundation of knowledge for advanced level courses. Basic in the program is the required Bible class each semester.

Harding offers work in SEVENTEEN DEPARTMENTS: art; Bible, religion and philosophy; biological science; business and economics; education; English and humanities; foreign languages;

With time only for quick greetings friends hurry to meet classes, appointments or committee meetings.

Lab hours pass soon as students become involved in biological problems.

And Skills

general science; history and social science; home economics; journalism; mathematics; music; physical education; physical science; psychology; and speech. For those students with a choice of a profession for which there is no departmental major, special fields of concentration may be arranged.

The SCHOOL OF AMERICAN STUDIES offers specialized training in the following fields of learning: accounting, business, economics, history, government, secretarial science and education. To supplement the curriculum of the college seminar discussions are scheduled, guest lecturers of recognized authority are invited, and extended tours are arranged. The dean is Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr.

Expanding facilities, curriculum, and faculty have enabled Harding to increase the number of DEGREES OFFERED. In addition to the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees, she now confers the Master of Arts degree in Bible and Religion, the Master of Religious Education degree, and the Master of Arts in Teaching degree. In addition to achieving a satisfactory scholastic record, the candidate for any degree must be of good moral character. Closely related to the graduate department is the extension program under which classes in Bible and related fields are conducted in Memphis and Little Rock.

After Chapel begins the rush to check mail, grab a doughnut and make that next class before roll call.

Nearing semester finals, students in Prof. Sime's Bible class take notes frantically.

These students find that their speech class can be entertaining as well as instructional.

Art classes seem more like play to these Hardingites.

"Every day" is the way Harding's new students are introduced to the Bible program. Tuesday through Friday various teachers instruct in the freshman survey courses, but Saturday brings a special treat as all gather in the large auditorium for instruction by Dr. Benson. Sophomores take a year sequence on the New Testament church and Christian living. Upperclassmen choose from a wide variety of offerings. They note the special challenge of Dr. Jack Lewis' course in church history, Andy Ritchie's class in mission studies, Dr. J. D. Bales' course in Christian evidences, text classes by Sime, Hays, and McRay, and Greek by Burke and West. Classes meet in almost every building on the campus, but students and professors alike look forward to the construction of a "home" for the Bible department. Emphasis is placed on a high quality of instruction and the lessons learned permeate every facet of campus life and give students greater goals for Christian growth and service.

Inspiration From Our Bible Classes

Conrad Hayes conducts a class in the Old Testament.

Bishops and ministers hear of plans for Magic Valley Christian College.

Strengthened By Lectureship

"The New Life in Christ" was the theme for the 34th annual fall lectureship. The series of lectures was attended by 2,000 guests, four hundred of whom were housed in dormitory rooms and in homes of faculty members and other town residents. The highlights of the lectureship week, in addition to the close fellowship, were outstanding speeches, panel discussions, daily Bible classes and choral presentations. Thanksgiving day, with a huge barbecue for all, signified the end of the lectures with concluding addresses by Otis Gatewood and Marshall Keeble.

Dr. West, chairman of the Lectureship committee, outlines the next day's program and activities.

Many old grads join in an Alumni Coffee Hour during the Lectureship week.

Thirst For Knowledge Drives Us Onward

The continuous, detailed research for thesis material . . . long, eye-weary hours laboring over papers and projects . . . more long, eye-weary hours in small groups . . . the endless rook tournaments — quite a contrast, but typical of the resident graduate student. His program is one of intensive study to equip him better in his chosen area of concentration, but he often finds welcome relaxation in those rook games, intramural sports, and other activities.

The Harding graduate student may prepare for the M.A. or M.R.E. degree in Bible and Religious Education or the M.A. degree in Education.

The M.A. candidate in Bible may choose from the Biblical, Historical, Doctrinal or Practical field of advanced studies. The M.R.E. aspirant is required to obtain a minimum of two years of graduate study. This work is specifically designed for future Bible teachers, Church Education Program directors, gospel preachers and others interested in the religious education area.

Extension courses are offered one hundred miles away for those interested, in the Memphis area. Plans are now in process for offering the B.S.L. degree at the School of Bible and Religion in Memphis.

Graduates interested in advanced work in education receive instruction toward their Master of Arts in Teaching degree in the field of Elementary Teaching, Secondary Teaching, or Educational Leadership.

A warm sincere personality . . . a spirit of service . . . of humility . . . of mirth . . . these are qualities that characterize the recipient of the REGINA SPIRIT AWARD. This award, sponsored by the Regina social club, is bestowed upon the senior whom the senior class selects as the one who best typifies the spirit of Harding. For her wit and love of life, her efficiency as class secretary, plus her devotion to God and willingness to give help to others, her classmates have chosen TILLIE WATSON as recipient of the '58 Spirit Award.

Halloweeners pause to listen to Nan's ghost story.

A Halloween Costume Party

October 31 seemed like any other normal Thursday night on the Harding campus until one drawn by lights and laughter entered a gym transformed with a mixed atmosphere of gaiety and spookiness at the Halloween party sponsored by the Student Association. Tacky clothes were high fashion this evening, and shrill shrieks and moans formed background music for the crowd as they visited various sideshows and enjoyed refreshments and ghost stories amidst the pumpkins, cornstalks and traditional black and orange Halloween decorations .

Ugggh! Those costumes. Jan and Glenn deserved the prize.

All I want for Halloween is bubble gum.

That's powerful punch. Right, Leon?

Thanksgiving Barbecue . . .

Although it was cool and cloudy on our campus, Thanksgiving Day came alive in the warm and friendly atmosphere of hundreds of homecoming visitors and lectureship guests.

The highpoint of the day was an old-fashioned barbecue dinner which was enjoyed enthusiastically by the crowd. The day was filled with activity including an alumni gathering, a ball game between "old grads" and students, and the climaxing lectureship speeches.

A Winter Wonderland

We came to sunny tropical Arkansas.

Dashing through the snow in a one horse open sleigh . . .

After nearly two months of cold, drab winter weather, we awoke one February morning to a campus transformed with a blanket of white. What delight it was for us, especially for our more southern students, to walk to chapel that morning with snow drifting softly down. Soon, however, the air of suspense was lifted when the first snowball was thrown, unofficially welcoming our brief snow-storm. Thus began two days of snow battles, broken windows, snowmen and sledding, mixed with plenty of laughter and fun. For awhile everyone lost some of his "collegiate dignity" as Hardingites took advantage of this visitor before it quietly slipped away. Come again, Mr. Snow, you're always welcome!

The grades have not been turned in yet.

Uncle! Uncle! Uncle! Please I give up!

Don't run too fast, Bob. You might like getting caught.

TOP: Dallas, would you . . . uh . . . well, anyway BOTTOM: Sure, Dortha, Wednesday night?

Twirp Week

"So, on your mark, get set, go get 'em!" These words of the Student Association President at the "hunters' rally began four days of a drastically inverted social system, during which all unattached males were fair "twirp" game for the female hunters of Harding.

"May I carry your books?" . . . "Here — I'll get that door." . . . "How about a Coke?" . . . "What time shall I pick you up?" . . . is it possible that a girl made those statements? Yes, it is — and was! Girls were required to have dates for all major activities, and for encouragement, a "game warden's patrol" roamed the campus. Pity the luckless girl caught without a date or an exemption card (which was issued to those already successful hunters) for she ended up in a "jail" until redeemed by some poor twirp.

An air of suspense was created by the secret "most eligible bachelor" as each girl hoped that maybe she would be the one to date him! All was revealed in the climactic all-school Twirp Party, culminating the fair game season. Although left with empty pockets, the hunters agreed with the twirp that this "Ladies' Choice Week" was a welcome temporary campus change.

It isn't so bad, Nell. Women only have to pay one week. Think about the boys.

Each evening, students assemble in reception rooms for vespers — the conclusion to a full day.

There's just no place like home.

No, Mom's not coming; it's just preparation for room check.

Life In The Dorm Provides

Each morning the familiar clang of the alarm clock begins a new battle of human will power to face that eight o'clock class. Roommates are greeted with numb silence or a grouchy "good morning" as they stumble around trying to make it to the breakfast line just before the dining hall is closed. But dormitory life is not limited to the unpleasant things such as the alarm clocks, the leaky faucet one always meant to have fixed, the ants that persist in invading the cracker box that has been in the closet for only two weeks, the people upstairs who insist on re-arranging their room about midnight, or even the roommate who always seems to be

In ten more minutes, we'll stop talking and start studying.

"Wonder how many cuts I have left in my eight o'clock class?"

"Man on second!"

Fun And Adventure

wearing your clothes when you need them. Things such as the endless corny parties, surprise birthday celebrations that somehow never seem to be a surprise, gab sessions that run on into the next morning plus beds short-sheeted, doorknobs greased, and people thrown into showers for everything from going steady to making a first "A" on a theme depict the true dormitory story. This story becomes complete with the addition of the nightly vesper service in all dorms. Yes, a college education is studies, dates, athletics and other extracurricular activities, but dormitory life will be remembered perhaps best of all.

The contented hour—it happens every spring.

Studying is always a necessary evil.

Grin and bear it. Your turn will come next year.

Social Clubs Keep Us Active

"And pledge . . . be sure you have a minimum of twelve dates during the next four days." Instructions such as these . . . whether given to the pledge, mud, worm, rat, or finite . . . are part of the "mad" goings-on of pledge week. Every new student has an opportunity to join a social club; and thus, the week before final installation into these clubs the campus burst into activity with nearly everyone playing the part of either lowly pledge or dignified pledgemaster.

Bunking parties . . . hamburger fries . . . spaghetti suppers . . . stag and doe outings . . . picnics at Wyldewood . . . Christmas caroling . . . hayrides . . . tacky costume parties . . . skating parties . . . ice cream suppers . . . wedding parties (uh, oh) . . . pizza parties . . . backwards parties . . . swimming parties . . . kiddy parties . . . the list of club activities is seemingly endless.

Three cheers to the sponsors who bravely endured these and many more; for in addition to the informal parties and get-togethers, each club had a winter banquet and a spring outing. The banquets involved hours of work on such themes as those necessitating creation of a miniature carousel, snowflake scene, garden of orchids, "sputniks," rainbows, underworld, or television station KMAD, etc. Amid fallen crepe paper, torn souvenirs, and empty plates, tired club members agree it was "worth it."

What a relief a couple of months later to slip into jeans and an old shirt and head for Blanchard Springs, Camp Tahkodah or Petit Jean for an all-day outing. The outdoors, beautiful . . . the appetites, enormous . . . the food, "the greatest" . . . and the day, perfect!

Date-desperate pledges take B.J. to breakfast.

Silhouettes In The Snow

A relatively new organization on Harding Campus, Beta Tau Gamma, was organized in the spring of 1956. Since that time the club has grown in membership, in fellowship, and in unity of ideas. With the help of their sponsor, Miss Irene Johnson, they experienced many hours of companionship and working together. The members worked to uphold the ideals of Beta Tau — effective and pleasant living, maintenance of Christian ideals, and rendering service of a worthy nature. Activities included the club banquet — Silhouettes in the Snow — third function, and outing, plus many informal club gatherings such as bunking parties and the annual Christmas party.

Hey! How 'bout that?

Lonely Hearts And Lowly Pledges

Climaxing a week of pledging, the Alpha Epsilon Chi began its eventful year with the initiation of the "lowly ones." Highlighting the social events of the year was the second annual formal banquet, "Lonely Hearts," held February 13, in the Blue Room of the Rendezvous. Other functions on the club calendar included a hayride and wiener roast at Camp Wyldewood, a skating party, parties in the home of their sponsor, James Hedrick, and stag outings. The spring outing ended the second year of club activities. Gayle Claunch was chosen as club queen and nominee for the Petit Jean Queen.

Celebrate Tenth Anniversary

"Someday I'll be initiated, and then I'll be appreciated . . ." was sung by the Delta Chi pledges in October on their march to join the green and white band of fun, fellowship, and fidelity. The old refrain of "Happy Birthday" was joined by all at the tenth anniversary dinner given in the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Kenneth Davis. "Anyone for another tube steak" was heard from the Davis patio at the wiener roast and bunking party. Volleyball beat its usual enthusiasm into the heart and hands of all members for a very enjoyable season. The last strains of the finale were echoed with the outing for the tired but exuberant Delta Chis. Jim Borden was honored as their "Sweetie Pie of Delta Chi."

Will Mrs. Davis survive another semester of bunking parties?

Pit In Park

The Alpha Phis started the new school year with a stag outing at Bee Rock overlooking scenic Little Red River. Following pledge week, the fifteen new members joined former pledgemasters in planning the year's activities which included the hay-ride to Wyldeewood that was climaxed by a wiener roast, the banquet at the Rendezvous in March, the toy drive, and the annual spring outing. Tillie Watson was chosen club sweetheart for the year. In an effort to promote student and faculty use of the College Park, the club erected a long-needed barbecue pit on the grounds. The year's activities ended with the annual club breakfast in the home of sponsor Charles Pitner.

Ali-Gata -- Our Spacial Angel

"Ali-GATA!" Who's that? Why, he's Bill Dismuke, the first GATA beau who was honored on the "Out of this World" cruise taken by members and their dates at their banquet. A musical journey carried the "earthlings" into outer space and back again. As remarkable as this trip was, there were other activities of the year which were equally exciting. Sleeping bags for an indoor bunking party . . . picnics in the snow . . . even the regular Monday noon meetings in the Empire Room were fun. As the school year drew to a close, Gatas bade sad farewells to those who would not return next year at a breakfast at the Rendezvous.

Successful Second Year

“... develop to the maximum mentally, physically, spiritually, and socially” This is the purpose of Beta Phi Kappa, a relatively new club on campus. The members have done so by participating in various activities such as speech debates and tournaments, by being active in the intramural sports program, and by participating in campus devotionals. February 14 was the date chosen for their “Sweetheart” banquet at which time their queen, Mozelle Telchik, was presented an inscribed locket. Dr. Hughes, guest speaker of the evening, gave a very enlightening address. Spring found the group and their dates on their way to a national park for an outing to rest and bask in the sun.

Fun, Frolic, And Hard Work

Preparations for pledge week were made at a bunking party in Pat Sutherlin's home. Following formal initiation at Mrs. L. C. Sears, the Ju Go Jus began a year of fun, frolic, and hard work. Among their activities were a chapel program, a Christmas party and a "Cinderella" banquet held at the Rendezvous February 28. May Fete, the club project, found many girls rising early in the mornings throughout April to wind the May pole. The beauty of the occasion was ample reward for the work. All members and their dates enjoyed food and fun on their spring outing.

CAVALIER

Was it a long trip?

Thirtieth Anniversary For Cavaliers

The oldest men's club on campus, the Cavalier Club, formed in 1928, had an active thirtieth year. The special year started off with a stag outing at Bee Rock. A note of solemnity and dignity was added to pledging by a formal initiation in the Emerald Room. The Cavaliers chose Gale Easterling as their club queen. They participated in the toy drive before Christmas holidays and following their return, they enjoyed an evening in a "Winter Fantasy," January 11, in the Terrace Room of the Mayfair. Later in the year they experienced an amusing third function and spent a tiring day in the wilds on their spring outing. They capped the year with a birthday celebration.

Mugs Given As Favors

The gold KKK signifies the key to lasting friendship, and Tri Kappa members agree that their associations and activities together generated such friendships. This year ten new "gophers" were added to the club, and Jim Borden was chosen club beau. The calendar was turned back to the Elizabethan Era when the club held its annual banquet at the Rendezvous. Elaborate decorations and entertainment were characterized by a medieval air and each guest received a miniature mug designed to accentuate the theme. The celebration of the club's tenth birthday was marked with a spaghetti supper in Mrs. Ganus' home, after which a beautiful birthday cake was served.

Banquet Behind The Iron Curtain

Delta Iotas stressed fellowship and good will to all. Their new emblem represented the beginning Greek letters for servants of Jesus. They participated in the toy drive and combined projects with the Pioneer club. A touch of the unusual was portrayed by the presence of "Sputniks," Russian motifs, posters, and the illustrious Dr. Bales! Rockets and an eight foot Russian flag added to the atmosphere and modern effect of the banquet. Kathy Payne, club sweetheart, was presented a dozen red roses. The usual spring outing ended the club's multitude of activities.

Enchantment In Fairyland

Friday, December 13th, turned out to be a lucky day for Kappa Phis whose fairy Godmother waved her magic wand, transforming Bill's Grill into an enchanted fairyland. Elves, toadstools, and a wishing well formed the atmospheric setting for the banquet. Previous activities included a rigorous week of pledging which was climaxed with a formal initiation at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. John Lašater. Spring activities included bunking parties, a valentine party, a third function and work on a project. The climax to an eventful year was the annual spring outing.

Spirit, Solidarity, And Characer

The solitude of a camp fire . . . the inspiration generated by their frequent hymn sings . . . the thoughtful reflection around a candle at a formal initiation . . . a general solidarity of association . . . these reflected the Frater's spirit of Christian brotherhood in social activity. Typical of their benevolent functions were the sick list on the bulletin board and their aid to a needy family at Christmas. The Fraters created a banquet that took them "around the world in eighty days" with travel posters and traveling balloons. Queen Betty Baker found the way to their hearts with her cookies and support at all Frater functions.

Hold Breakfast For Former Members

A breakfast . . . pizza supper . . . these events started the LCs off on an active year. Following these events were pledge masters wondering just who suffered the most. On Thanksgiving a breakfast was held honoring former Las Companeras members. The Christmas spirit arrived when the LCs and their dates assembled in the Emerald Room dressed to represent some expression of Christmas as "The Knight Before Christmas." Before anyone realized it, it was time for a new semester and "the trip to New York" in the spring banquet. Ending this year of gaiety was the annual spring outing. The big senior class picture in the Science Hall was their project.

Members were soon caught up in the whirl of planning for such activities as the Christmas party, participation in the toy drive, and competing in the annual club volleyball tournament. The theme of the formal banquet held at the Rendezvous on February 15 was "Holiday Inn." For their project the OEGEs chose to send financial help to a missionary. With the coming of spring, the girls and their dates went to Camp Tahkodah for their outing.

Fun At Old-Fashioned County Fair

To top off an eventful week of pledging, the Omega Phis began the year with the initiation of ten new members. The first event of the fall was a Christmas caroling, ending with a get-together at the home of Mrs. Russell Simmons. The theme for this year's banquet, held at the Rendezvous, was

"County Fair." The entertainment included an old-fashioned corn-shucking contest and a pie-eating contest. They were all kept busy through the year with bunking parties and athletic tournaments. One Monday in early spring, girls and dates headed for an enjoyable day at Blanchard Springs.

Activities And More Activities

"Hey, Rat. Come clean my room" was a familiar phrase during pledge week. But after a week of such "working," the "rats" became full-fledged Phi Delta members. Anxious for the holiday season to come early, they and their dates journeyed to the Rendezvous, December 13, to get in the mood for "Home for Christmas." The next big item on their social calendar was March 18. They climbed aboard a wagon and took a hayride to Wyldewood where they treated their dates to a wiener roast. Thoughts of the outdoors accompanied spring so they spent a day at Petit Jean for their traditional outing. Bunking parties and occasional record sessions kept their spirits high.

Initiation: Never-To-Be Forgotten

After a week of demonstrating their capabilities as "pioneers" in dress and proficiency as servants, eleven hardy individuals were admitted to the Pioneer Club. Initiation night, however, was not as rigorous as had been planned since the pledges outnumbered the pledgemasters. The Pioneers occasionally ventured out of the environment of "The Harding Encampment" to enjoy moments of relaxation and fellowship in "The Wyldewoods." Members and dates gathered for a banquet at the Rendezvous in February. The spring outing consisted of a trek to Camp Tahkodah, and as usual there was no lack of beans in the fare. Ann Tatum was chosen as club queen.

supper. Many other events such as parties and buffet suppers in the home of Mrs. Pryor, bunking parties, a white elephant party at Christmas, the traditional third function, and the outing to Camp Tahkodah kept the Reginas busy from the formal ceremony when pledges were met and presented their traditional crowns until the year ended.

From the first stag outing at the beginning of the school year until the ice cream supper for former members at the close of the year, the Sub Ts were busily engaged in campus activities. Pledges were welcomed warmly — with a belt line. The club — the largest on campus — made excellent showings in the club athletic events, winning the softball and ragball tournaments. For their annual informal banquet the crew met in the form of an underworld syndicate. Other highlights of the year were a club project for the school and many impromptu outings held at the club cabin. Delia Beth Stephenson reigned as club queen.

Tin-Can Supper Highlight Of Year

There isn't another organization on campus that can boast of a Tin Can Supper. This is an annual affair of the Tofebt club. Somehow wieners roasted over an open fire, mixed generously with a supply of dirt and smoke, equal a feast. The college park was the scene of such a feast early in the year when the club staged their third function. At their banquet, members and their dates journeyed to fairyland to be with Cinderella at her ball when Hardingale and Prince Charming were crowned. Spring found Tofebts headed for Petit Jean for their annual all-day outing.

Continue Work On Bulletin Board

Another year of hard work and fun defines the spirit of the TNT club. They continued to work on the intramural athletics bulletin board which is an asset to the reputation of the club and to the sports program. Their "Adult Western" banquet was held on February 15. Joyce Jennings was chosen club queen and nominee for Petit Jean queen. Pledge week and initiation kept the members busy the first part of the year as did stag outings and visits to the home of the club sponsor. During the spring they laid aside all books and spent an enjoyable day on their outing.

Hayride, "Fixins", And Wyldewood

The WHCs began their thirty-first year with a semi-formal birthday dinner at the Rendezvous. At the dinner the carpet was rolled out for the seven new members formally initiated in the home of Mrs. W. B. West, club sponsor. As their first entertainment, the girls took their dates on a hay-ride to Wyldewood. The same informal atmosphere prevailed at the annual country supper with its fried chicken and "fixins," and frolic, making the ivy decorated hall a setting of southern hospitality. Doe outings at Wyldewood, bunking parties, the annual spring outing, and working together on club projects made the club's year outstanding in its history.

Pledges, beware!

What's Powers telling this time?

Watermelons And Stuffed Animals

"Dark Town Strutters' Ball" . . . "Basin Street Blues" . . . these tunes carried the Tri Sigma Deltas and their dates into Dixie Land for their banquet on February 15. Stuffed animals were given as remembrances of this special occasion. Several stag excursions to Camp Tahkodah allowed the members to get away from studies and have fun together. To keep up the club spirit and plan for coming events, the members held monthly dinner meetings. For a club project the members helped raise money for the Heart Fund. Miss Loreta Huffard represented the club in the Petit Jean queen contest. She was also a special guest at their watermelon feast.

Treats For The Whole Family

Theta Alpha Gamma — the one social club on campus that has a very specific qualification that limits its membership. You have to be married! The club was organized two years ago to fulfill a need among the ever-increasing ranks of young married couples on campus. Every meeting was in the form of some type of party such as a pot luck supper, wiener roast, ice cream party, or special event party. The club this year has shown an increased interest in inter-club sports program. Theta Alpha Gamma looks to the future with hopes of greater service.

Time out! We're planning a banquet.

Nervous but smiling, Gayle and Ann display their poise for those votes. Congratulations are in order as the 1957 Petit Jean era is finally completed by a banquet at the Rendezvous.

Who is the 1958 Petit Jean Queen? The answer to this long-asked question was shrouded in secrecy until Petit Jean Day arrived. Girls nominated by men's social clubs were presented to the student body in chapel, and three finalists were selected from a field of fifteen.

At last, the finished yearbooks arrived, and the Queen was introduced with her court of class favorites, honor students and best all around students from the college and academy. After the crowning and dedication, yearbooks were distributed and the frantic signing of them began.

May Day -- A Highlight Of Spring

Theoretically the first day of spring is the twenty-first of March; however, to all members of the Ju Go Ju club the dawn of spring comes with the first day of May. Students, faculty, and many non-college visitors gather on the campus lawn to view the crowning of the May Queen and the winding of the May pole by girls in colorful dresses.

This day had an extra special meaning to many people: for the thirty-two May pole winders it marked the end of a month of early morning practices in blue jeans and rolled hair; for the students it relieved the suspense of "guess who is queen," and for the director, Sandra Phillips, it released the tension and let her breathe a sigh of relief.

Who's Who In American

Bill Stafford. Bill acquired majors in Biblical language and English literature and served on the student association cabinet.

Seventeen seniors and two juniors were selected for one of the highest honors a college student may receive — inclusion in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, an annual publication modeled after the original Who's Who.

Versatility is a chief characteristic of these students who are awarded this honor on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, participation in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society.

Fred Massey. Freddy, interested in personal work, was recognized as an all around student and outstanding sportsman.

Patsy Parker. A radiant disposition characterized Patsy as she worked in NEA, musical organizations, and on the Petit Jean staff.

Leon Clymore. Through his participation in dramatic productions and debating, Leon became a pillar in the speech department.

Universities And Colleges

Calvin Downs. Editor of the Petit Jean and a speech major, Calvin also found time to be president of district NEA.

Bill Floyd. With his many activities in student association work, Bill still served as as valuable member of Harding's debate team.

Martha Tucker. Her cheerfulness and dry wit have made her a campus favorite as she worked on her education major.

Garrett Timmerman. He portrayed his leadership ability as NEA president, participating in intramurals, and working on the Bison and Petit Jean.

Pat Teague. Characterized by a cheering smile, Pat kept busy as a beaver in quartet and other musical organizations.

Tillie Watson. Because of her deep interest in all those she meets, Tillie was active in the Dactylogy Club and attended the camp for the deaf.

Glenn Parrish. As vice-president of the Student Association, Glenn promoted Christian character in personal evangelism and in the Dactylogy Club.

Larry Bills. Contributing most of his time to musical activities, Larry also found time for NEA and camp work.

John Vanderpool. Putting emphasis on his Bible major and working in youth camps, John also participated in athletics.

Sallie Turner. A zealous worker for the Student Association, Sallie did a commendable job as assistant Petit Jean editor.

Lyndal York. Lyndal's scholastic achievements in the science field have made him a valuable asset in the science club.

Bob Scott. Although he was kept very busy with A Cappella and men's quartet, Bob participated in the band and symphonette.

Sue Paxson. An efficient secretary in the Student Personnel Office and for her junior class, Sue was recognized to be an outstanding classmate.

Harold Vanderpool. Harold is known for his achievements in Harding's intramural activities and service on the advisory cabinet.

Asako Kakehi. Her friendliness and ability to adjust to the American way of living made Asako a friend to students and faculty.

Alpha Chi Promotes Higher Scholarship

"You shall know the truth . . ."

Promotion and recognition of scholarship and of those elements of character which make scholarship effective are the objectives of ALPHA CHI. The Arkansas Eta Chapter was installed at Harding College March 1, 1957, upon the petition for a chapter by the Alpha Honor Society which was organized in the winter of 1936. Membership is restricted to not more than ten per cent, respectively, of the junior and senior classes. To be eligible for membership a student must have completed at least 24 semester hours of work at Harding College; also, members of the junior class must have attained a 3.70 scholarship index in not less than 80 semester hours and members of the senior class must have achieved a 3.50 scholarship index in at least 104 semester hours. Good moral character is an additional requisite for membership.

Alpha Chi has an annual banquet at which old members, honorary members, and new pledges join in an impressive initiation ceremony. Twelve seniors and five juniors of '58 attained the much-sought membership. The society presents a medal to the senior with the highest four-year scholastic record.

FINE ARTS

Music . . . art . . . drama . . . and their variations all make up that part of the college called Fine Arts. Here each of us finds a suitable avenue for personal expression. Some of it is formal . . . some of it is informal . . . it's all a part of college life.

Act One: All the World's A Stage

Immediately upon their return to school and before the curtain was opened to the Harding stage, Campus Players prepared the launching of a huge membership drive. They plunged madly into the preparation of a one act play, "They Ain't Done Right By Nell," for presentation in chapel. The melodramatic action and comic relief were received enthusiastically. As a tool for public relations, it proved quite successful, drawing ninety eager apprentices to the first meeting.

These apprentices are students interested in dramatics and in becoming full-fledged members of Campus Players. Immediately they began earning the twenty-five points required for membership by washing costumes, painting flats, prompting, ushering, and acting.

The first of three major productions was Shakespeare's "A Comedy of Errors," directed by Mr. and Mrs. Wiley. It introduced a pair of real twins and a pair of "pretend" twins to the Harding stage. The plot unfolded in a tirade of mistaken identities and entanglements, providing almost continuous motivation for laughter.

ABOVE: And we had such beautiful faces before all this began. RIGHT: Ouch! take it easy with those scissors, Mr. Wiley; I could grow my own easier than this. BELOW: Which twin has the Toni? Mistaken identities provided a lot of laughter in Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors."

Put some oomph behind it. You aren't painting your eyebrows!

Act Two: As You Like It

Satires . . . comedies . . . tragedies . . . a continuous strain of good drama was provided by the Theatre Guild, which had been organized earlier in the fall. Proceeds from the ticket sales went towards improvement of the Little Theatre stage. Twenty-one plays were presented by the Guild throughout the year.

Impressive simplicity was the keynote of the presentation of "Juno and the Paycock," the next dramatic event, by the touring Dublin Players. The audience's reception of the players, probably one of the best of the year, proved that drama is universal, no matter what the language or the nationality.

Norway earlier in the century provided the setting for the winter major production, Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People." From the hours of rehearsal, advertising, and making sets to the cast party when sets were put away and the cast relaxed again feeling a job well done, a spirit of comradeship developed that made the hard work a pleasure.

One act plays such as "Spreading the News" introduced many newcomers to the Harding stage.

Act Three: All's Well

Seeking to promote a high quality of dramatic performance, Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, invited five pledges, who had exhibited exceptional willingness to work and extraordinary ability in acting and directing. The pledges were accepted for membership at a formal initiation and tea toward the close of February.

Through the cooperation of the music and drama departments, a spring opera, "Pagliacci," was presented under the direction of Erle T. Moore and R. Glen Wiley.

Shut up, big boy, you'll come apart at the seams.

I know that's a light, but what is that thing?

In general, our audiences were very receptive — especially to humor.

That Ends Well

Both the curtain and the year began drawing to a close with the presentation of "Night Must Fall," a thrilling murder mystery by Emyln Williams. After all productions had been closely scrutinized, the annual awards to the best actor, actress, supporting actor, supporting actress, director and backstage worker were made. So another year of drama at Harding is written into the annals of history.

John has to be "pieced" together to get a suitable costume.

After the smoke clears away . . . you . . .

Honest, Judge, I didn't do it!

Pi Kappa Delta Grows And Grows

Leon and Bill get new points for argumentation

Interest increased along with the debate budget and an expanded debate itinerary as Pi Kappa Delta finished its second year. The fraternity, sponsored by Dr. Evan Ulrey, encouraged participation in forensics, including debate, discussion, extemporaneous speaking, radio speaking, oral interpretation, and original oratory on both the intramural and intercollegiate levels. Participating in these activities were twelve students. Teams were entered in eight debate tournaments in six states. In the Invitational Tournament at the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Arkansas, Raleigh Wood and Sam Kitching were selected as outstanding speakers; and Ron Rea and Eddy Nicholson talked their way into the limelight as the most outstanding junior team.

Ron shares his information with colleagues.

Through Music We Glorify God

The CHORALE under the direction of Erle Moore is comprised of enthusiastic people, genuinely interested in vocal music and in constant improvement. The group's programs were thoroughly enjoyed throughout the year by chapel, lectureship and spring concert audiences and by various other organizations.

Several enjoyable chapel programs have made A TEMPO well known to the students. The variety in these chapel programs shows the broad interests of the members and promotes musical culture on our campus. It presents the outstanding Musician Award to some deserving Harding student.

And Provide Entertainment

Voice recitals . . . hymn sings around the lily pool . . . band concerts . . . choral programs . . . all these musical events touch the lives of Harding students. Music interests range all the way from unofficial "pop" sessions in the dorm to opera such as this year's production of "Pagliacci" staged by the music and speech departments. Music is truly an integral part of daily life here.

Marches . . . overtures . . . fight songs . . . the repertoire of the HARDING BAND continually increased. Composed of both college and academy students, Director Eddie Baggett had the largest group in its history. Their infectuous spirit transmitted enthusiasm to the students at intercollegiate and academy athletic events and to audiences at music festivals and other college and civic functions.

A Cappella Chorus

To many people the A CAPPELLA CHORUS is a goal. First of all, it is a goal in itself to become a member of this highly-reputed organization which is known all over the nation by its weekly radio program, "Hymns from Harding" and its two extensive tours each year. Once a member of the chorus, it is a goal not only to learn the music and meet the chorus' many engagements but to constantly strive for higher inspiration for others and for self.

This year the chorus traveled to Chicago and Cleveland during the fall tour and through parts of Texas on the spring trip. It also appeared on chapel, lectureship and television programs, in community concerts and various weddings, and before numerous organizations. The chorus is directed by Kenneth Davis who by his example disseminates a love for singing.

Receptions are always fun for the chorus.

Even though bus rides are long and tiresome, they provide a lot of fun.

Ken Davis directs the chorus.

Men's Quartette . . . Morgan Richardson, Bob Scott, Pat Teague, Ed Ritchie.

Lots of work and many hours — the fellows in the college quartets will verify this. But it was well worth it all! Selected by audition, the men made many trips, including a program with Bobby Morrow in Oklahoma City, singing for youth rallies, high schools, lectureship program and with the chorus on tour. These activities were just a part of the quartets' busy year, but the excellent training such work gave can never be equaled and will always be remembered.

An exciting year of entertainment and service in public relations by representing Harding lay ahead for the eleven coeds of the women's ENSEMBLE. Beautiful voices — and equally pleasing looks — were apparent to all; but the ensemble's performances were the result of countless rehearsals, both regular ones in the music building and informal ones in some member's dorm room.

Entire College Is Delighted By The Return Of Basketball

Harding took the basketball court once again after an absence of nearly eighteen long years. Coach Hugh Groover inherited the job of piloting the new Bisons after his successful tenure with the Harding Academy. It took him and his men two months of grueling practice to prepare for the new entry to Arkansas Intercollegiate basketball. New suits of white and gold were issued to the eager basketball boys before their first contest against Southern Baptist College. Preliminary bouts were played against the Beebe Junior College to sharpen the eyes of the smart, hard working herd. While the team was perspiring on the court, fans were busy selling season tickets, selecting cheerleaders, staging pep rallies, and working up anticipation over the forth-coming opportunity to support a basketball five of their very own. How could we help but have a successful year with this team work whether win or draw, because success at Harding is always measured in units of effort.

This is what it looks like from way up. Dwight goes to the foul line in the Herd's victory over A and M.

If he makes this one it will be a miracle. Fred shows his deadly hook shot as the Bisons fall to Southern Baptist in heart-breaker 64-61.

The season closed with the Bisons journeying to Little Rock for the NAIA tournament. Harding lost to one of the two best teams in the state, but not before giving them a scare before an overflow crowd in Barton Memorial Colosseum. Here are the words of Coach Berryhill that very well summarize our first year on the varnished floor: "Only a man's best is good enough . . . even then it will not be enough to win sometimes . . . but it is still essential."

Harding athletic teams perform under the careful surveillance of the athletic committee composed of Dr. Pryor, Dr. Ganus, and Coach Berryhill.

Little Pete Stone prepares to hook one against Ozarks as defenders look on. The Bisons lost a close one 55-44.

Fred Massey drives for the rebound as Pete Stone pops one from outside the circle.

It appears as if Gerald Casey is going to make an easy layup. Don't goof, Gerald! The Bisons lost this one in two overtimes to Beebe 77-67.

Coach Groover gives those last minute tips to his boys before they take the court.

One outstanding feature about our team is that while they didn't have a winning season, they were in every ball game. Never was the score overwhelmingly lopsided and many times only the mistake of too many fouls or a hasty miscue separated them from their opponents. Remember the night all but four of the team fouled out against Beebe in that thrilling double over-time. Remember how sweet that first win was against Ouachita when Keith Boler was carried off the court for producing the two winning field goals. These victorious moments will always be remembered more than the defeats as time flows on.

Walton Weaver stretches his lengthy form over an opponent to capture a rebound as Harding defeated Arkansas A and M 75-66.

Baseball Provided The Spring's Delight

Harding athletes looked forward to spring with warm anticipation as they aspired to be on that baseball squad that was predicted to have a very successful season. Twenty years before "Preacher" Roe had led another well-known Harding team to the state championship under the guidance of Coach Berryhill. Now after a period of inactivity, the same coach was around with a team just as "raring" to take the field. Competition was keen for every position as some forty-five aspirants reported to the practice field. The first game was against Southern Baptist on April fifth, and this started a twenty game agenda that provided the fans with many anxious moments and the team with growth under pressure. Bright red, blue, and gray uniforms were the pride of the Harding diamond, and constant determination was the greatest trait of each individual player.

The fresh smell of clover, the return of the robin, and the warm spring weather found a group of twenty boys burning up the cinders behind Rhodes Field House. The Harding intercollegiate team began workouts in the gymnasium long before the weather was warm enough to practice outside. Mainstay of the Bison track squad was Roger "Banister" Brown who thrives on the longer races. His aids were Fred Massey and John Van Winkle in the distance runs. Dash men were Ed Hightower and Bubba Davis, and the field events were handled by the Vanderpool twins along with Jim Citty and Jack Rhodes. What the cindermen from Harding lacked in ability and depth, they made up for in determination and drive.

Cheerleaders -- Our Spirit Boosters

Regardless of how polished a team is on the basketball floor, the baseball diamond, or the track, they need that indispensable support from the fans. The Harding athletic teams can always count on this kind of backing with the help from its ever-loyal and hard-working cheerleaders. These six girls were elected by the whole student body on the basis of their all-round ability and personality both in or in front of the crowd. Always the life of the spectators, they were constantly working up new yells and planning better ways to raise the spirit of Harding fans whether the Bisons were winning or losing. The sextette could be seen serving as hosts to visiting teams and their cheerleaders in true Christian sportsmanship.

Allstars. FRONT ROW: O. Hilburn, D. Johnston, G. Shriver, D. Flaxbeard, G. Treadway, H. Evans, C. Sexton. BACK ROW: J. VanWinkle, G. Gurganus, E. Gurley, J. Ebker, P. Huff, R. Knight, J. Hazelip, C. Downs, K. Vanderpool, NOT PICTURED: G. Timmerman.

Volleyball And Ragball

Downs and Knight match spikes at the net in rigorous contest.

Volleyball stimulated the intense interest of many eager netmen. Well-matched teams fought vigorously as the ball was volleyed back and forth in hotly contested matches. When every team had played its course of games, however, Harvard held the trump card and won the school crown. To terminate intramural competition the Western all stars fought off the serging men from the Ivy League to preserve victory. The regenerated Faculty made the younger underclassmen look like men of yesteryear with superb setups and spikes and walked off with the class tourney; and by fighting off determined opposition, the dauntless Sigma Taus earned the coveted club championship to bring to an end another thrill-packed volleyball campaign. The Sub-Ts won the club ragball tournament after surviving a hectic schedule.

Softball And Other Minor

Softball started almost with the opening doors of the fresh fall term as the "never say die" faculty of Harding College captured the class tournament behind the fireball slants of Professor Bob Meyers. With the beginning of the regular intramural league, the crack of ball against leather could really be heard. No one went undefeated during the multi-team tussle, but the Chicks and the Cats had the fewest reversals and won their respective leagues. In the school playoff the Chicks proved equal to the occasion to rap the Cats.

An all-star game ended the season which was inaugurated with moments of spectacular play. The Texas league belted the Southern league 5-1. Big names repeatedly on the field or at the bat were Dick Johnson, Cliff Ganus, Joe Hightower, Tom Eaves, and Don Johnston. In the popular club tournament the Sub-T 16 team barely edged out a determined bunch of Frater Sodalis softballers 7-5 to win the meet.

Eight-man tackle football, in its third year, produced some of the greatest thrills ever. Some fifty young and eager gridiron aspirants answered intramural director Cecil Beck's call. Harding's ironmen, made up primarily of freshmen, were divided up into four squads of pigskin fury. The regular season commenced after a three week training period with a single round-robin. Arkansas gathered early season glory as they applied, the stopper to Oklahoma's challenging Sooners in a 12-7 victory. Galloping Bob Fletcher looked to be a walkaway for the season's outstanding back until Huel Evans and company put a halt to the title bound Hogs in the postseason playoffs, 13-0 and 20-0. The campaign produced some top stars such as John McCoy, Jim Borden, Jerry Mitchell, Bob Fletcher, Huel Evans, Paul Huff, and Tom Jenkins. The Bison All-Star classic, which has been the traditional contest everyone eagerly awaits since its beginning back in 1955, held every fan welded to his seat to the final whistle. The West defeated the stubborn Eastern squad 7-0 with Huel Evans scoring the only touchdown. Evans and McCoy were awarded the outstanding player trophies for their efforts. Ann Thompson, who was elected by the players, was crowned queen by Dr. Joe Pryor to bring to an end another exciting page in Harding's football history.

Major League Champs. WILDCATS: Jimmy Adkins, Glen Shriver, Ralph Austin, Roy Vanderpool, John Hazelip, Jim Lewis, J. R. Bailey.

Instructor Cecil Beck never divided up some worthy participants so equally for an intramural tournament. Twenty teams composed two leagues who adopted the names of Southeastern and Southwestern conference. With the sound of the first referee's whistle it was a scorching race to the final school championship struggle between the winners of each respective conference. The Longhorns were denoted as owners of the school title by virtue of their sound trouncing of the Southern league's Wildcats by the score of 53-43. All-Star teams were chosen from the two conferences to be represented in Harding's annual Bison All-Star classic that rolls around each year as the climax of the dribble campaign. The Southwestern league proved the more well-balanced and succumbed the Southern league by the narrow margin of 81-69. Rayburn Knight was awarded the outstanding player award for his night's brilliant efforts as he sank 20 points.

Baseball And Track End

It happens every spring! The men of the diamond highlighted the spring athletic agenda. The slap of leather and the crack of bats drew enough hardy participants to compose two leagues — a major and a minor circuit. Both leagues sported five well-matched nines of unusual caliber and poise. The Cards of captain Marsh Goodson finished in the driver's seat with a 4-1 record, followed by the Braves who posted a 3-2 mark. In the lower league the Harding Academy was almost invulnerable in their march to the pennant. An all-star game followed the regular season and featured such names as Joe Hightower, Don Johnston, Dick Johnson, Bill Stafford and Keith Boler. Hightower captured a 1-0 pitchers' duel from Garrett Timmerman to climax the season.

Thrill Of Intramural Sports

Track and Field Day provided a grand climax to the year's intramural sports program. Nine school records fell before the keen competition offered by a record number of participants. Roger Brown, who has established himself as Harding's "Iron Man of the Cinders," won the individual scoring trophy with twenty-two points. Roger lowered the century mark to a creditable 10.0 seconds and won his specialities — the 440- and 880-yard dashes and the one-mile run. The Sub T-16 social club, paced by Harold Vanderpool and Ed Hightower, placed first in team standings with a total of 61 points.

Interest High

An innovation of the women's intramural program was the formation of the Women's Recreation Association with 85 charter members. The WRA has assisted in promoting and conducting the intramural activities.

A fall program of softball and tennis was carried on in spite of the rain and the "flu." The Jets under the guidance of Ruthie Anderson and Louella Wilson defeated the Rockets, Sputniks and Comets to round out a perfect record as Jeanne Hockett added to the "Jet-age" by collecting a homerun each game. Edna Lamberson edged out Virginia Borden to reign victorious in the tennis tournament.

In WRA

received a jolt when an Independent team composed of 2 students, 2 secretaries and 3 teachers defeated four opponents including the powerful KKK and Kappa Phi teams to win the tournament.

The basketball season brought forth an undefeated team composed of Hockett, McKay, Anderson, Prysock, Gaskill, Fry, Bowman, Betts and Sweet. Members of the WRA officiated all the basketball games including the All-Star game.

The individual events were well contested. Calvert defeated Anderson in the finals of shuffleboard, and from the 42 students in ping-pong singles, Asako Kakehi outlasted Carol Robertson to emerge as champion. Excitement ran high on Track and Field day as the WHCs tried to keep their first place in club events won in '57.

Student Council-Spirit and Activity

Spirit and Activity — these two words characterize the 1957-58 Student Council. The year started off with high speed even before the opening of school with the early arrival of the officers, the setting up of the information booth, supplying guides for new students, and giving out name tags previously prepared for each student.

Activity was constant throughout the year beginning with the get-acquainted parties for new students and the watermelon feast for all during the first week, and continuing with class elections, regular Saturday night movies, guides for visitors on campus and various intercollegiate sports' activities.

Spirit was evidenced in the planning of and participating in many all-school events, such as the Tacky Halloween Party, the Christmas caroling, the Spring Party, and Twirp Week. The Council organized the student body vespers held outside each Thursday night and the first pep club at Harding in many years.

Student NEA Provides Professional Preparation

Always one of the most active organizations, the Student NEA sought to channel student interest toward the teaching profession. Activities were initiated by a membership drive, climaxed with an adaptation of the TV program, "This Is Your Life." The result of the drive was 130 members, composing the state's largest chapter. The NEA met twice each month for programs that included visiting speakers, panels, and films. Under the capable guidance of Sponsor Ed Sewell, the varied programs showed the careful planning designed to create a professional interest. The highlights of the year were the fall luncheon and spring convention in Little Rock.

The Petit Jean -- A Panorama Of Memories

To express the panorama of life on our campus, the 1958 Petit Jean intricately wove a pattern of coveted memories, telling vividly a year's story of Harding College.

The nature of our college led us to choose the theme: "Christian Education is Complete Education" . . . and out of the Petit Jean office came the layouts, the copy and the photographs . . . molded to show a year different from all the other years.

Out of our warehouse of memories came a record of change, new ideas and new leadership . . . a record of Harding's entrance into a new era of growth.

The Bison -- Our Weekly Recorder.

The sudden rush to the Student Center on Thursday . . . the looks of satisfaction . . . were a rich reward for the hours spent in publishing the weekly Bison. Each week had its periods of doubt . . . frustration . . . and even horror . . . but finally there was a sense of achievement on Thursday.

Working on the Bison was just as interesting and educational as class work; it includes writing, copy reading, proofing, meeting deadlines, and selling advertisements.

Not only does the Bison inform and entertain the students and faculty but each year the staff also sponsor an All-Star Football game and an All-Star Basketball game. This year was closed with a banquet at Camp Wyldewood.

This club has as its aim the promotion of interest and study in the visual arts on the campus. Other activities range from sketching trips to a "white elephant" Christmas party.

To promote greater social relations among Harding veterans . . . to help freshmen or transfer veterans adjust to college life . . . these are the objectives of the VETERAN'S ASSOCIATION founded at the close of the 1956-57 school year. In serving the school, this club has provided a list of blood donors and blood types of their members to the Student Association for use in emergency cases.

After corresponding with the freshmen girls all summer and answering their questions about life at Harding, the BIG SISTERS were indispensable at the beginning of a busy school year. Before the rest of the students arrived, they were already on hand to greet the new girls and make them feel at home. Sponsoring the dormitory Christmas parties was another of their activities.

Doing benevolent work at Christmas . . . acting as hostesses at college-sponsored events . . . The HARDING BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB was organized in the fall of 1956 among women of the

Personal Development, Activities

The NORTHERN LIGHTS CLUB has as its aim the promotion of evangelistic work in the northern United States and in Canada. Each week the members meet to gain an insight into the life of the section, to discuss its particular problems, and to co-operate in formulating plans and methods to be used in their campaign.

The SCIENCE CLUB heightened interest in that field by interesting field-trips, bringing professional speakers to the campus, and giving programs to neighboring schools. The club sponsored the annual science fair for high schools and made a trip to the Aluminum Company at Bauxite, Arkansas. It also presented several chapel and radio programs.

Personal Evangelism And

“Lord, lay some soul upon my heart,
And love that soul through me
And help me nobly do my part
To win that soul for Thee.”

This simple prayer expresses the aim of our PERSONAL EVANGELISM groups. The traditional Monday Night meetings, periods of singing, praying, and praising God, serves as the focal point for evangelization. Students support summer campaigns in Arkansas and in the Northeast . . . teach prisoners in jail . . . visit the sick . . . and completely support a Chinese orphan. Through these groups, spiritual activities at Harding are strengthened.

Students conduct worship services for the aged at the county farm.

Walt Gilfilen typifies the student preacher at a congregation in Cabot.

Preachers Demonstrate Devotion

“Let no man despise thy youth . . .” More than 100 young men at Harding are taking the advice of the apostle Paul and are spreading the gospel. Between 75 and 100 congregations in Arkansas are served by these young men who are studying to become preachers, missionaries, Bible teachers and Christian workers. Other student preachers travel into the neighboring states of Texas, Missouri, and Tennessee.

There are more students majoring in Bible than any other subject at Harding. There are 109 undergraduates and 34 graduates majoring in Bible. Many others minor in Bible so that they can serve small congregations.

These students prepare to go into all the world and preach the message most vital to men.

Harding Originates First Christian College Conference

Sallie chats with visiting delegates at the Council Conference.

A First for Harding . . . a first for all the Christian Colleges . . . that was the Student Council Conference to be held among all the Christian Colleges. Harding acted as host to twenty-three delegates from Abilene, Alabama, Central, David Lipscomb, Florida, Freed-Hardeman, and Pepperdine College. The delegates began arriving early February 13 to register for the conference which lasted through noon February 15.

After the first day of discussions, a special banquet was given in honor of the delegates, and the day ended with a social hour following the basketball game with Freed-Hardeman.

Discussions of school and community relationships and integration in the Christian colleges were held on February 15. The conference was concluded with enthusiastic response from all colleges represented who voted to continue these conferences each year, alternating the host college.

Even the mild snowstorm couldn't chill the spirit and purpose of the conference.

Food, fun, and fellowship were the order for the second night of the conference.

Students Earn While Learning

To most of us the student center is a gay place where we may happily spend our leisure time. But after the girls are safely tucked away in their dorms for the night, students are busily waxing the floor and preparing for another day. Not only do they wax our floors and clean our lawns, but they prepare our meals, print our newspaper, clean our clothes, and work on the college farm.

A Christian's education is far from complete unless it is bolstered by hard, honest labor, and approximately 40 per cent of the student body find an opportunity to learn by doing in the efficient employment program headed by J. C. Moore.

Joyce finds books fascinating as she works in the library.

Academy Life---

Like the college the Christian education offered by Harding Academy is complete in instruction, in recreation, in physical development, and in service to others. Whether it was history, science, or French, our classes were always first as we coveted higher learning. Daily Bible classes increased our appreciation of God. Chapel with its varied programs offered an opportunity for intellectual and spiritual growth. Social clubs with their outings, banquets, and pledge week initiated the major social events. Pranks of all kinds, popcorn parties, "bull" sessions, and always the "unexpected" characterized our life in the dorm. To provide our physical development there were assorted activities in physical education classes and a sports program of football, basketball, and track. Our pep club and cheerleaders provided strong backing for the team. We learned to serve others through the many projects in which we participated and such organizations as the Key and Library Clubs. These were supplemented by special interest organizations. Music was an integral part of each of our lives. Singing in our large and small choruses was fun while providing entertainment for others. Our life in the Academy was fun and educational.

Beta Club Encourages Scholarship

After every six weeks a small group of students gather around the bulletin board to find out their average in BETA CLUB. To be eligible for membership a student must maintain a ninety average or above for two consecutive six-week periods. Mrs. Eloise Johnson is the sponsor of the club with Timmy Rhodes as president, Bill Williams as vice-president, and Bettye Ritchie as secretary-treasurer. The project was the purchasing of a frame for the senior group picture. The most notable event for this group was an annual breakfast on Baccalaureate morning. It is a real honor to be a member of this club and a fight to stay in it. It helps the ones who are in it to keep their average high and encourages the ones who aren't to study harder. From the Beta Club two honor students are taken each year.

Air Raid: Hit The Dust

Some of the nine Kappa Alpha Theta pledges seemed to think that the "Air Raid" call was amusing; but after a week of obeying the pledge-master, they changed their minds. Nevertheless, all were happy again at the formal initiation. February 24 was the date of the formal banquet held at the "Terrace Room" of the Mayfair Hotel.

The theme, "Fun and Fancy," was well-portrayed with the color scheme of blue and silver. During the year a basket of food was given to a needy family in Searcy. Among the many social activities of the school year were two slumber parties, a spaghetti dinner, and many informal bull-sessions.

Tenth Anniversary Celebration

K-9 pledgemasters went around with spotless shoes during pledge week. Initiation was completed with a feast of raw eggs and oysters. Originally called the Nine Knights, the K-9 club is the oldest and the largest one in the Academy. In order to celebrate its tenth anniversary, the club entertained guests in the "Bulldog Saloon" at the traditional cowboy banquet. Come spring Camp Tahkodah was chosen as the site for their outing. As a project, the K-9s contributed to the fund for purchasing new song books for the auditorium.

Slumber Party for All Girls

After a week of hectic pledging, eleven new members were initiated into the STAR club in the traditional candlelight ceremony at the home of Miss Andee King, the new club sponsor. Before the Thanksgiving holidays the STARS took a basket of food to a needy family. Another project was being first to present the school with ten dollars to help pay for the new hymnals. The year was highlighted when the members went back to Dixieland days proclaiming that "The South's Gonna Rise Again" for the banquet at the Rendezvous. Added to the many other memories of the STAR club were the slumber parties, pizza party, and outing.

Simplicity In The Blue Room

The Viking Club was formed three years ago; today it is outstanding for the Christian fellowship it affords. Ten new members were initiated into the club after a hectic week of pledging and were entertained at a hot dog party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thompson. The club's banquet was held at the Rendezvous on the evening of February 25. Mr. Joe Spaulding delivered the address. One of the highlights of the year was the election of Dee Vonne Clark as club sweetheart. She was presented with a club jacket.

Slumber Party For All Girls

The Sub-Debs started the year off with a slumber party in which the members of all three girls' social clubs attended. Next came pledge week with nine pledges. The pledges had it rough for the initiation at Sonja McDougald's house. The evening turned into a full-fledged slumber party. The new members were then initiated at a candlelight ceremony at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. Marcie Lloyd. A formal banquet was held the last week of March. To climax one of the best years the club had ever experienced an Italian dinner was served. The year closed with the lingering of many unforgettable memories.

Informal Initiation At Park

The Zeta Kappa Tau Club started off the year with a big bang. An informal initiation was held in the college park after a week of very rough pledging for the twenty new members. As their project, the club presented Harding Academy with a medicine chest to be used at all school functions such as outings and sports events. The main highlight of the year, the annual formal banquet, was held March 1 at the Rendezvous. As spring came on the campus and all eyes turned toward the outdoors, the members planned an all day outing. The outing climaxed one of the club's most successful years.

Everybody Sings In The Academy

At the Academy we sang for the fun of singing . . . for inspiration . . . and in worship to God. The LARGE CHORUS was open to anyone who liked and wanted to sing with the group. The main goal was to improve the congregational singing — its success was evident in chapel. Composed of approximately fifty members, the large chorus served as preparatory training for the small chorus.

Special features of the small chorus were the SEXTET and QUARTET. Selected by competitive tryouts, these groups spent many long hours in practice. They were rewarded with an eager acceptance wherever they traveled.

And Music Fills Our Soul

Membership in the SMALL CHORUS is based on competitive tryouts plus considerations of character and scholarship. Director Eddie Baggett holds three practice sessions each week. Planted deeply in the minds of the members are the memories of chorus trips. For ten days, the chorus toured Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, giving programs at schools and churches. These trips provided much fun and Christian fellowship through the visits in Christian homes. Chosen to sing with the All-State Chorus were Bettye Ritchie, Pat Street, Jim Howard, Timmy Rhodes, and Jere Yates.

Wow! What a big ship . . . but, of course, it's from Texas!

See you after ten days of fun and singing.

Debate Club. Joe Spaulding, Ben Harding, Jim Howard, Larry Ford, NOT PICTURED: Bill Cannon.

Many Varied Organizations

Drink and be merry for tomorrow we present this play.

The DEBATE CLUB, sponsored by Mrs. Vanderpool, acquainted its members with the uses of parliamentary procedure, debate, and extemporaneous speaking procedures to be used both in and out of the classroom. The topic for discussion was: Resolve that Direct Economic Aid Should Be Substantially Increased. The five members attended the State Debate convention and all received high ratings.

Pantomimes . . . dramatic scenes . . . and a three act play were the forte of the DRAMATICS CLUB. The club's activities began with a masquerade Halloween party. Shortly before Christmas, dramatics students presented cuttings from Dicken's "Christmas Carol." For the final production, Mrs. Vanderpool directed a three act play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." These students gained experience in writing scenes as well as acting.

Promote Development

The KEY CLUB, affiliated with the national Kiwanis Club, is primarily a service organization. This year the club performed such services as helping raise money to pay for the band uniforms by operating a concession stand at the ball games, and sponsoring a car wash to help pay for new song books purchased for chapel. An annual project of the club is sponsoring the Athletic Banquet. Officers of the club are: Don Berryhill, President; Timmy Rhodes, Vice-President; Bob Holmquist, Secretary; and Pete Williams, Treasurer.

Mediation between the student body and faculty is the purpose of the CITIZENSHIP CLUB. It is a very select group composed of one freshman, two sophomores, three juniors, and four seniors. One new member is chosen from each class at the end of each year. Under the capable leadership of President Don Berryhill and Sponsor Perry Mason, the club added a new snack bar to the school as its annual project. The snack bar provided a welcome break for everyone.

Of Character, Citizenship, And Scholarship

Service is the purpose of the LIBRARY CLUB. Members aid the librarian, Mrs. Johnson, by checking books and straightening the shelves. Each year the club chooses the person who has been the best librarian. Of special importance was National Library Week during which time a display featured the slogan, "Wake up and Read."

Future scientists . . . potential travelers to the moon . . . seekers for new medicinal wonders . . . these are the students in the SCIENCE CLUB. Each member worked on projects to enter in the Science Fair, a compilation of projects from many schools over the state. President Larry Ford worked hard to maintain a high interest in the advanced sciences.

Gridiron Season Brought Thrills And Spills

The sweat and energy it took to practice under the hot sun . . . the perseverance necessary to play in torrents of rain . . . the thrill of receiving a letter and jacket . . . football memories are made of this. Win or lose, neither the players nor the fans lost their spirit. Even in a season characterized by more losses than wins, the Wildcats managed to place Rhodes, Kersh, Williams, Lacy, and Smith on the All-District team.

ABOVE: Those wind sprints come in handy and the "cats" prevent a touchdown for our opponents. LEFT: Animal? Vegetable? or Mineral? It's just an enthusiastic fan who braves all kinds of weather. BELOW: Timmy grimaces as the leather "pops" in this timely tackle.

The Cats Were Small But Fast

Plagued by a flu epidemic early in the season and a shortage of height, the Wildcats managed only a 8-14 record. The brightest part of the season was the county tournament in which the Wildcats defeated West Point and Kensett to reach the finals.

A larger McRae team edged them out for first place. Timmy Rhodes and Bob Holmquist earned berths on the All-County team. In the district tournament the "cats" were eliminated early by Oil Trough in a real thriller.

Junior Basketball

Coach Goodson gives his juniors a few points of encouragement.

Through the inspiration of Coach Goodson, the junior team played so skillfully that they assimilated their best record yet, winning 16 while losing only 4. Judsonia eliminated them in the county tournament, but Casey and Sims were named to the All-County team. Three of the four losses were in tournament play.

With spring comes the end of the 1957-58 school year. We leave to march onward to achievements for which the ideals and accomplishments pictured on these pages have prepared us.

We — the staff of the 1958 PETIT JEAN — have presented you with this volume of memories of your life and growth at Harding with the hope that it will inspire you and the wish that you may have a world at peace in which to labor.
