FOREWORD

We arrived on the Harding campus in September from thirty-eight states and six foreign countries. Some of us came from large metropolitan centers and some of us came from ranches and farms. Our cultural backgrounds and our academic interests were as diverse as the types of communities from which we had come. After the exciting activities associated with the opening of the fall semester, we began to evaluate the various factors that would help us in our physical, intellectual, social and spiritual development. As the days passed by we began to appreciate more and more the spirit of our alma mater and to understand more clearly how important the principle of love is in our relationships with each other. As we turn these pages we see pictured many events of the year which reveal in how many ways the principle of love affects our lives.

Love is many things . . .

ALL-STAR intramural games characterize the enthusiasm and fellowship among players who use this means of self-development.

DORMITORY living is conducive to becoming close to others and deepening friendships by intimate relationships distinctive of friends and roommates.

FRIENDLINESS and thoughtfulness are demonstrated by the college students as they greet each other in the rush between their classes.

Living and playing together

*"When one loves, no service seems too hard,
For, in doing unto others we receive of our reward,
Love lightens every burden; turns darkness into day;
Love leads us upward, bids us hope;
Love guards our lives away."*

— Carleton Everett Knox

"True love is the highest form of friendship, because it is a completion of the whole being; the body, the soul and the spirit," said George Clemenceau. In the close association on a college campus, love for one another is reflected in the consideration shown to a roommate in the dormitory, or in the sportsmanship displayed in an athletic contest. Through living and playing together during college days, love like that between Jonathan and David frequently develops between students and this love enriches their lives thereafter. Love is the eternal principle that enables students to live together harmoniously and to find joy and happiness in their associations with each other.

PLAYING parts in drama productions presents challenge to combine talents and pleasure in co-curricular events.

JOY-FILLED interludes around the lily pool, give colleagues opportunities to relax and associate during busy school days

CONSIDERATION of others is stressed as students feel the close companionship from dormitory experiences which provide opportunities toward social maturity.

Worshiping and serving together

*"O Love, that wilt not let me go,
I rest my weary soul on Thee;
I give Thee back the life I owe,
That in Thine ocean depths its flow
May richer, fuller be."*

— George Matheson

God is love and man reaches the mountain peaks of human experience when he reflects God's love for him in worship to his Creator or in service to his fellowman. In the daily chapel devotionals students and faculty join together in singing praises to God. In regular Bible classes and in voluntary study groups, students learn more of God and His will for them. On Sunday afternoon many students bring joy and love to others by visiting the aged and the sick. The inspirational periods of worship at the college church help students realize something of the grandeur of God's love for man. These great spiritual experiences help students to radiate God's love in their lives during the years that follow.

REWARDING experience is gained by Harding women as they help keep the children in the nurse during worship services.

SINGING hymns of praise to God during the devotional periods in chapel reflects to Him a portion of the love given to humanity by the Deity as personal cares and study are put aside.

COMBINING efforts, students from various mission groups work toward a common goal of serving in the Scotland campaign.

USING prayer as a personal link with God, Janice and Paul Touchton communicate with Him during a silent meditation period.

ENTERING the College Church with reverence and a desire to worship in spirit and truth, students quietly come through the glass doors of the building.

EXTENSIVE hours of study are spent in the Beaumont library by the average college student in seeking knowledge by doing research and through the academic atmosphere which is conducive to learning.

CONGENIAL relationships between faculty and students motivate the educational experiences which continue after formal class is over.

ASSISTANCE and constructive criticism are given to students by interested teachers as they work and learn together.

Studying and learning together

*"Give me the gift of loving! I will claim
No other blessing from the Lord of Birth,
For he who loves needs no high-sounding name,
Nor power nor treasure to proclaim his worth;
His soul has lit at Life's immortal flame
A lamp that may illumine all the earth."*

— Elsa Barker

"Study to show thyself approved unto God" is an inspired exhortation that indicates that love for God embraces studying and learning together. Intellectual curiosity leads students to spend many hours in study and research in a fearless investigation of important issues, problems and themes. Love for truth commits students to the truth which they have learned — to be guided by the principles which can be obtained by study. Love for the beautiful and the harmonious finds expression in many ways but especially in art, literature and music. Love is the great principle that undergirds intellectual activity and gives meaning to the academic process.

TESTING fabrics in a clothing lab proves to be an interesting and enjoyable learning situation in a stimulating class where incentive is encouraged.

INVESTIGATING the unknown, unfolds many mysteries and leads to the confirmation of previous studies.

DEDICATION

1963 Petit Jean dedicated to Dr. Jack W. Sears

SERVING on the Physical Plant Committee of the college enables Dr. Sears to apply his botanical knowledge to beautify the campus with flowers and shrubs.

Many of us gained a better understanding of the living world in our freshman year through his lectures on biological science. Others gained a clearer understanding of the Christian life and became more dedicated to Christ and His kingdom in our sophomore year through the inspiration of his Bible teaching. All of us have profited from his chapel talks that have dealt frankly with some of our problems and faults. A few have been closely associated with him through advanced study of biology.

To a man who has given many years of dedicated, effective service at Harding College the senior class dedicates the 1963 Petit Jean — to Dr. Jack Wood Sears.

Jack Wood Sears was born in Cordell, Oklahoma, August 12, 1918. His father, Dr. L. C. Sears, served as Dean of Harding College for more than thirty-five years. His maternal grandfather, Dr. J. N. Armstrong, was the first president of the college and his maternal great grandfather, James A. Harding, was an outstanding preacher and teacher for whom the college was named.

With the exception of one year in grade school, he attended Harding College from the first grade through college. He achieved an outstanding academic record, receiving in 1940 the Alpha Honor Society honor graduate award.

Following his graduation from Harding, he received a graduate assistantship in zoology at the University of Texas. He completed the Ph.D. degree in 1944 with a major in genetics and cytology and was elected to membership in Sigma Xi, a national honor research society. Since 1944 he has been Professor of Biological Science and chairman of the department at Harding.

Dr. Sears is active in civic, educational and scientific activities. He is an elder in the downtown church, serves as educational director of this congregation and preaches frequently. He is a fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a member of the Arkansas Healing Arts Board and the Genetic Society of America and a member of the staff of the 20th Century Christian.

DR. JACK Wood Sears helps two of his botany students, seniors Ray Griffin and Marcus Walker, study conditions that will expedite plant growth.

DR. SEARS and his wife, nee Mattie Sue Speck, provide an ideal Christian home for their three children — James David, Pattie Sue (on the right) and Martha Ann — who attend the Academy.

"But thou, O man of God, . . . follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness. — I TIMOTHY 6:11.

ADMINISTRATION

Because of their love for truth and their love for young people, the administration, faculty and staff at Harding give unselfishly of their time, their knowledge and their wisdom to provide for students both facilities and an environment that will enable them to develop intellectually and spiritually. The example set by these men and women has a profound impact on the student body and challenges many students to rise to heights of greatness in their chosen professions and in service to God and their fellow man.

RELAXING for a game of Scrabble with Mrs. Benson, Dr. Benson tries to decide which word will count more. Maybe xyster, or how about zygoosis, that one sounds like it'll be a winner for sure.

ADMINISTRATION

Dynamic president works for Christian education

DR. GEORGE S. BENSON, President of Harding College, has dedicated most of his life to Christian education. In addition to his duties at Harding he serves as Chancellor of Oklahoma Christian College and Chairman of the Board of the proposed Hong Kong Christian College. While a missionary in China he founded the Canton Bible School and taught at Sun Yat Sen University. Dr. Benson has been president of Harding since the fall of 1936 and he is largely responsible for the excellent physical plant and the high standards of the institution. Presently he is devoting a large portion of his time to the two million dollar fund-raising campaign for money to build a continuation center and a modern science building in Searcy and a library and student apartments at the Graduate School in Memphis. His hobbies include Camp Tahkodah, a summer camp for boys, raising horses and horseback riding.

EXECUTIVE Secretary Marguerite O'Banion works efficiently to arrange Dr. Benson's appointments, handle his correspondence and keep records in order.

DR. GEORGE STUART BENSON, LLD, PRESIDENT

Devotion to duty characterizes administrators

Excellence as a teacher, as a preacher, as an athlete and as a Christian, is the outstanding characteristic in the life of DR. CLIFTON L. GANUS, JR., Vice-President of Harding College. In addition he is chairman of the Department of History and Social Science, Dean of the School of American Studies and chairman of the Graduate Council. Besides serving in these capacities he finds time to serve the community through membership in the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and the Board of the Quapaw area Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Dr. Ganus still finds time for social life with students through his avid interest in Harding's athletic programs. Nation-wide speaking engagements on topics of Christianity and Americanism bring wide acclaim to this man of varied talents.

AMIABLE Dr. Ganus is well liked for his friendly smile and willingness to chat with the students.

AMERICANISM and the threat of communism are stressed by Dr. Ganus in history classes and in the work which he does with the American Studies Group and the National Education Program.

The BOARD OF TRUSTEES serves with dedication to direct the activities and services of Harding College. As businessmen, doctors and educators they give wise counsel and advice, which, influenced by their Christian ideals, promotes not only material but also spiritual growth.

Supervising the financial system of a college such as Harding entails the acceptance of much responsibility. This job falls under the capable direction of LOTT R. TUCKER, JR., Harding's Business Manager. He also supervises campus construction projects and the auxiliary enterprises which include the bookstore, laundry, dairy, print shop and student inn. His Christian spirit is exemplified through his service, not only to the college, but also to the community. In the summer months he helps with the Searcy Little League program. Mr. Tucker is a member of the Searcy Kiwanis Club and is Secretary of the Municipal Planning Commission.

SKILL and business acumen are exhibited by Business Manager Lott Tucker as he handles the financial affairs of Harding College, its auxiliary enterprises, construction and student loans and grants.

Harding's deans direct campus life of students

JOSEPH E. PRYOR, PhD

DR. JOSEPH E. PRYOR, Dean of the College, works closely with the students, advising and helping them plan their college work. "Dr. Joe" is also chairman of the Department of Physical Science and a professor of mathematics. He takes an active part in national and regional organizations and holds the office of Secretary-Treasurer of Region II of Alpha Chi. During the past year he served as president of the Arkansas Deans' Association. He is Harding's faculty representative to the Arkansas Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. His interest in the activities of students is shown by his serving as sponsor of the Arkansas Eta Chapter of Alpha Chi, co-sponsor of the TNT club and as faculty advisor of the Petit Jean staff. He began teaching at Harding in 1944 after completing the doctorate in physical chemistry. His hobbies include sports, photography and reading.

VIRGIL H. LAWYER, MA

VIRGIL H. LAWYER has found that his second year at Harding has been a busy one. As Dean of Students he is responsible for co-ordinating all student activities and administering the student personnel program. He also holds the office of Director of Admissions and is responsible for corresponding with all prospective students of the college. He also attends many high school career days throughout the area. Dean Lawyer is a former missionary to Japan and, while in Japan, he was the principal of the Ibaraki Christian High School for five years. All the students appreciate him for his sincere interest in young people and for his helpful advice in the solution of their problems. When not attending to the duties of the college, Dean Lawyer enjoys being with his family and participating in various sports, especially golf.

INEZ PICKENS, Dean of Women, supervises the campus life of the women students of Harding. In addition she is dormitory director of Patti Cobb Hall, where she works closely with the girls. Also, she is sponsor of the Women's Interclub Council and a member of the Harding Business Women's Club. Through teaching English in the Harding Academy since 1947, she has helped many students develop a genuine interest in literature.

Mrs. Pickens takes a keen interest in the co-curricular activities of the college and is a loyal supporter of the Bisons and the Wildcats. Her chief hobbies are collecting cups and saucers, reading and corresponding with her grandchildren. She receives many letters each year from former students who appreciate the guidance and counsel she gave them.

INEZ PICKENS, BA

VIRGIL M. BECKETT, BA

VIRGIL BECKETT, Harding's courteous, capable Registrar, receives and answers questions from prospective students concerning admission, registration and transcripts and from enrolled students about graduation requirements. As Chairman of the Academic Scholarship Committee, he is concerned with administering the academic policies of Harding. In order to keep abreast of developments in his field Mr. Beckett is a member of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, and is currently serving as President of the Arkansas Association of Collegiate Registrars.

When not busy with his duties at the College, Mr. Beckett relaxes by watching a game of baseball, football or basketball, working in his yard, or getting away for a fishing trip.

SEARCHING the scriptures for silhouettes to guide them in their daily lives students often stop in the evenings to meditate on the ideals in the Holy Book.

OTHER FOUNDATION CAN NO MAN LAY
 THAN THAT WHICH IS LAID
 WHICH IS JESUS CHRIST

FOUNDATIONS for Christian living are laid in the classes of Bible and religion which are conducted in this modern building.

BIBLE

Broadening the concept of knowledge of spiritual need

Harding College has as one of its foremost objectives that of developing in each student a strong and meaningful faith in God. The scholarship and dedication of the Bible faculty challenges the attention of the students and many of the great truths of the Bible for the first time take on real significance.

Weekly meetings of the Personal Evangelism class, the Timothy Club and the various mission clubs draw students closer to God and help them to realize more fully the true meaning of Christianity. The 1962 fall Biblical lectureship had as its theme "Authority of the Holy Scriptures" and enabled students to hear vital messages from capable gospel preachers and educators.

W. Joe Hacker, Jr., served his first full year as chairman of the Bible Department during 1962-63 and effectively promoted a program to give all students, but especially Bible majors and young men planning to preach, better preparation for Christian service. Neale Pryor, who received the B.S.L. degree from the Harding Graduate School of Bible and Religion, joined the Bible faculty this year.

EDUCATION AND RESEARCH

Teaching students in the arts of instruction and guidance

Guidance, instruction and research form the basis of today's educational techniques. Many Harding students, realizing the importance of preparing themselves to teach and guide tomorrow's youth, avail themselves of the resources of the Department of Education and Psychology.

The physical development of individuals is a major concern of the Department of Physical Education, which also embraces such areas as camp counseling, scouting leadership and physical health. Bob Knight is a new instructor in the Department of Physical Education and Health this year, coming from George Peabody College with an M.A. degree.

The library and the audio-visual center contribute much to the effectiveness of all academic programs and provide research facilities. Shirley Ann Birdsall, editor of the 1954 Petit Jean, became head librarian this year. Miss Birdsall holds the M.S. degree in library science from Louisiana State University where she later served as senior librarian in the law school.

NATURAL SCIENCE

Preparing for the professions through scientific knowledge

In a rapidly changing world where the emphasis is placed on science, technology and the elimination of the sickness and pain which have plagued the earth since the beginning of time, the Division of Natural Science assumes a position of importance, with courses offered in biology, physics, chemistry and mathematics. Special programs of study for pre-medical and pre-engineering students offer an excellent background for advanced work in these fields. Henry James, who has completed the M.S. degree in biology at Oregon State University, is new in the Biology Department. Dean Priest, a Harding graduate, has joined the faculty as a mathematics instructor after completing the M.S. degree at the University of Mississippi.

The Home Economics Department works closely with the science departments to train women for vocational home economics, dietetics, home demonstration and similar professions. An important part of their program is general instruction in running a well-organized home.

HUMANITIES AND FINE ARTS

Learning to understand and appreciate cultural heritage

In a nation which is often accused of having no interest in cultural activities the departments of humanities and fine arts play a vital role in preparing each student to take his place in society. Classes are provided in English, music, art and speech for this purpose.

Special interest in these fields are encouraged by organizations in the departments. A literary club, debate team and dramatics club challenge students to participate in those fields. An art club is available for students whose talents are in that area. The Chorale, A Cappella, Belles and Beaux and Band attract from all departments students who have an interest in music.

Don Robinson is a new instructor in the Art Department this year. He has been doing graduate study at Colorado State Teachers College the past two summers. In the English Department Charles Pittman, who completed the M.A. degree at Memphis State University, joined the faculty this year.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Becoming improved citizens increases our responsibilities

To understand the world's present problems, such as the Cuban crisis and the invasion of India, one must be acquainted with the problems of the past. Courses in history are offered to acquaint students with the past and courses in economics, political science and business to present the problems facing the world today. Dr. Roy Wellborne is Chairman of the Division of Social Science and Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., is Dean of the School of American Studies. Joining the division this year as instructors are Jerome Barnes and Geneva Combs. Students in the School of American Studies had for their study topic this year "The Art of Management and Leadership." In the fall, they made a trip to St. Louis where they studied some of the large corporations. This year a new major in American Studies was added to the curriculum and the major in social science was expanded to a broad area major.

STAFF

Aiding in better operation of various campus facilities

A vital part of the efficient operation of Harding College is played by the many staff workers. Among the first people we meet when we arrive in the fall are the dormitory directors. Soon afterward we become acquainted with the ladies in the Post Office as they distribute mail to the eagerly waiting students. A cure for aches and pains is sought in the infirmary. The Public Relations office works hard to make the story of Harding known to people in our home towns and other places where there are those interested in attending college here. The Maintenance Department sees that the campus is kept neat and that the heat and air conditioning are in order.

CLASSES

Students assemble at Harding College from many states and several foreign countries to obtain a college education. Although there are many educational objectives which students have, the common objective is to obtain a Christian education in preparation for a life of service. In four short years packed with a multitude of varied experiences, the green but eager freshman becomes a humble yet enlightened graduating senior who has a love for truth and a love for God and his fellow man.

WITTY observations by Senior Pres. Carroll Osburn add sparkle to class plans. Other officers are Vice-Pres. Rodney Rickard, Sec.-Treas. Charlot Root and sponsors Bill Rushton and Carl Allison.

REGINA SPIRIT AWARD STEVE SMITH

Exemplifying the real spirit of Harding College in every facet of his busy life, Steve Smith has been selected by his classmates to receive the Regina Spirit Award. Throughout the state he is recognized in three major sports as an outstanding athlete who always exhibits the highest type sportsmanship and gives maximum effort at all times. He is recognized by the faculty as an excellent student who has achieved a superior academic record while completing a double major in chemistry and mathematics. Among the students he is recognized as a leader. His sterling Christian character, friendly personality, exemplary conduct and outstanding record have been an inspiration to the students at Harding. Regardless of how heavy his responsibilities have been, he has always had time for Bible study and worship and for helping fellow students with their problems. He is the epitomy of Christian manhood.

IN MEMORY

John Paul Hobby impressed his fellow students with his serious purpose in life and his friendly attitude toward others for the three years that he was a student at Harding. He had achieved a good academic record in a pre-engineering program and had long range plans to return to Northern Rhodesia, Africa, where his parents have served effectively as missionaries for many years, after completing his engineering degree at the University of Arkansas.

While attending a speech clinic in northern Michigan during the summer of 1962 to help overcome a speech defect, he became critically ill and died on August 10, 1962. He apparently had an attack of acute infectious mononucleosis with complications.

Paul was born in Livingston, Northern Rhodesia, on June 8, 1941. His elementary and secondary education was obtained in Africa and he enrolled at Harding in the fall of 1959. His father, mother and older brother, David, are graduates of Harding, and a younger brother, George, and his sister, Anita Joyce, are enrolled at Harding this year.

CLASS projects were discussed at a meeting of the junior officers. They are sponsor Bob Gilliam, Sec.-Treas. Linda Stafford, Pres. Vernon Rogers, Vice-Pres. Louise Tucker and sponsor Jack Ryan.

Achievement offered through graduate work

Graduate work leading to the Master of Arts in Teaching degree is offered on the college campus in Searcy. This program has as its objective the preparation of superior elementary and secondary teachers and is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The graduate curriculum places emphasis upon strengthening the student's background in his teaching field and providing capstone professional knowledge needed for effective teaching. The three teaching fields in which graduate work is offered are English and humanities, social science and natural science. During the first five weeks of each summer session an American Studies workshop is held for qualified graduate students.

Three years of graduate study are offered at the Graduate School of Bible and Religion in Memphis, Tennessee. The following degrees may be obtained: Master of Arts, Master of Religious Education and Bachelor of Sacred Literature. Dr. W. B. West, Jr., is Dean of this school which was started on the Searcy campus in 1955 and moved to Memphis in 1958. This program has as its chief objectives the education of effective gospel preachers, capable educational directors and qualified Bible chair directors.

IDENTIFYING the various ways in which plays are staged, Dean Sears points out differences to graduate students Bill Smith and Venita Bridger.

Organization encourages superior scholarship

LIGHTING her candle of learning, initiate Linda Graff accepts membership into Alpha Chi and pledges to uphold the high standards of the honor society.

Superior scholarship among Harding students is promoted and recognized by the Arkansas Eta Chapter of Alpha Chi, a national honor scholarship society.

Membership in Alpha Chi is limited to juniors and seniors who have attended Harding College for at least one year prior to election to membership. Juniors must have achieved not less than a 3.70 scholarship average on at least 80 semester hours and seniors not less than a 3.50 average on at least 104 semester hours.

During the 1935-36 school year the Alpha Honor Society was organized on the Harding campus as a local honor society. In the fall of 1956 the Alpha Honor Society petitioned the National Council of Alpha Chi for membership and the Arkansas Eta Chapter was installed on March 1, 1957, by Dr. Paul C. Witt.

Representatives of the chapter attended the national meeting of Alpha Chi held on the campus of Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, Texas, March 29-30, 1963. Dean Joseph E. Pryor, sponsor of the chapter, serves as Secretary-Treasurer of Region II and Associate Editor of The Recorder, journal of the Society.

Each spring at commencement the chapter presents a key to the graduating member who has achieved the highest cumulative grade average in college.

*"For the whole law is fulfilled in one word, even in this:

STUDENT LIFE

Although great principles can be learned in the classroom and real inspiration to live unselfishly can be gained from association with the faculty, the crucible of campus life provides the daily test as to how well the eternal principle of love has been mastered. The "give-and-take" of dormitory life, the fellowship of other students in a social club, the hard works expended in some activity and the integrity displayed in meeting all responsibilities are only some of the facets of campus life which make a lasting imprint on students.

STOIC patience is needed as students file through the long registration line which begins the year. Sighs of relief come as they near the student typist, an indication that the tiring wait is almost over.

BEGINNING OF SCHOOL

September brings flurry of excitement to campus

Pleasant and unpleasant activities of the initial school week are always unique experiences for students, especially the new ones. Moving into dormitory rooms and standing in registration lines are some of the more unpleasant activities. Watermelon parties, get-acquainted socials and nightly church services are among the pleasantly memorable events.

"Rain, rain go away" became the school slogan in September, 1962, as precipitation seemed endless. Get-acquainted programs did not seem to be hampered, however, by the inclement weather.

A highlight of the watermelon party in Harding Park came when a greased pig was released to be captured. Other events of the evening were a watermelon-eating contest between faculty and students, music by the Travelairs and an all-school devotional. Over-abundance of melon created the necessity of a sale of whole melons.

The week quickly came to a close as the last registrant filed through the library, prepared with schedules for the semester.

RUSTIC kettles are the center of attraction at the all-school chili supper held at the college park where students gathered for the fall event.

AMUSED spectators watch as lowly Regina pledges attend to the difficult business of watering the flagpole with a spoon. Any spilled water is the cue for them to begin once more at the lily pool.

PLEDGE WEEK

Initiates have mixed emotions during pledge week

NEW acquaintances are made as prospective club members exchange signatures and experiences as they gather for dates and sign pledge books in the College Inn.

A trend toward a more dignified pledge week swept the campus this year as only four days were spent in unusual activities for new students. Some clubs concentrated on giving pledges instructions which led to more studying, even though the chief aim of all social clubs was to promote get-acquainted activities for their initiates. The club season of social functions begins with this period, the seventh week of the school year. The cafeteria became exceedingly popular at breakfast time because pledges were assigned to go and pledgemasters were forced to attend to check-up on their charges.

Dates were easily accessible for everyone, as not only the males but the females were pledged to ask for dates. This memorable week came to an end with informal initiations at various out-of-the-way locations and candlelight ceremonies at which club vows were recited. Once again pledges and pledgemasters became equal as club brothers and sisters. Thus began a year of work and play designated to create and deepen new friendships and to bring about good deeds.

ADJUSTING a picture, Leah Gentry puts final touches on the Zeta Rho poster which was hung on display for women students preceding pledging.

Fun, beauty, victory mark festive Homecoming

OVERCOME with joy is Queen Sheila Mitchell as she holds her bronze mums and as maids Marcia Geisler and Dorothy Christmas congratulate her.

“Hickory, dickory, dock, the Tigers ran up the clock; the clock struck one; the Bisons won, hickory, dickory, dock” displayed Pioneer, LC, Omega Phi and Tofebt ingenuity in float-making to capture the first place trophy in the 1962 Homecoming parade. Mother Goose, constructed by the sophomore class, led the parade which was centered around the theme, “Mother Goose Rides Again.” Dr. Benson was Grand Marshall.

A radiant Sheila Mitchell reigned for the October 27 activities after being crowned queen by co-captains Jerry Mote and Steve Smith in a pre-game ceremony. Dorothy Christmas and Marcia Geisler were her attendants. Class representatives were Sharon Berry, senior; Carmon Alexander, junior; and Jannie Crawford, freshman. Judy Daniel and Karen Spain were elected sophomore co-representatives.

The Bisons completed a perfect day by walking over the Livingston State Tigers 17 to 7.

ORGANIZING the Homecoming parade, Bob Brewer hurriedly checks his clipboard to see that the various floats are present and in order before their journey through the streets of Searcy.

TAKING the honor of first place in the Homecoming parade, “Hickory Dickory Dock” float optimistically predicts a victory for the Bisons which became a reality.

EXUBERANTLY ringing the college victory bell, cheerleader Sylvia City exemplifies the spirit of the crowd after the Homecoming win.

LECTURESHIP

Crowds gather to hear inspirational messages

"The Authority of the Holy Scriptures" was an interesting, inspirational and educational subject for the 39th annual Harding lectureship. To those present, there could be no doubt as to the evidence about the inspiration of the scriptures.

Among the evening lecturers were Batsell Barrett Baxter, H. A. Dixon, Gus Nichols and Frank Pack. Dr. George S. Benson and Cleon Lyles were the main speakers on Thanksgiving Day.

Daily classes included instruction in congregational singing, teaching methods, preaching methods and studies in various Biblical books.

Chapel speeches dealt with the topics of "Presenting the Bible to a Non-Believing World," and "The Authority of the Holy Scriptures as expressed in the Christian Life." Don Gardner, president of Ohio Valley College, and M. Norvel Young, president of George Pepperdine, presented these speeches. Other activities of the week included luncheons, musical presentations by college groups, a Thanksgiving barbecue for everyone present and the season basketball opener for the Bisons against Little Rock University.

ATTENDING the Harding lectureship from various sections of the country, individuals enjoy making new friends and renewing former acquaintances.

INSPIRATIONAL hymn sings are more than a tradition at Harding. Students are uplifted by the fellowship which gives a sense of inward peace and sincere dedication of their lives in service.

RELIGIOUS LIFE

Life objectives structured on spiritual foundation

Religion should come to be the motivating force in a person's life. Harding purposes to center itself around spiritual ideals and Christian principles. Christian teachers and Christian students develop a wholesome atmosphere which tends to encourage the right spirit.

Daily chapel devotionals, dormitory vespers and spontaneous hymn-sings around the lily pool deepens fellowship of brethren in Christ. An extensive program at the College Church induces participation from the students. Bible seminars, held quarterly at the college, give willing persons the opportunity to gain from the experience of well-known evangelists and Bible teachers. Religious culture and knowledge abound on campus.

Campus traveling groups are bid wishes of God-speed by the students as songs and prayers are raised to the Heavenly Father for their safety and success.

ENDEAVORING to promote greater interest in the Bible school program among students, J. L. Dykes supervises a committee publication, the Reflector.

RADIATING a depth of Christian spirit, Charles R. Brewer preaches at the September meeting.

SINGLENESS of mind and purpose characterize Rees Bryant in his faith-filled presentations to the college congregation through the school year.

Tradition and honor constitute Harding profile

STANDING as a backdrop, a beautiful statue in Wartsburg, Germany, sets the scene for Belles and Beaux as they take time out to view magnificent and impressive places on their European USO tour.

BOUNDING for a basket, faculty member Jerome Barnes rises from the floor in an attempt to score. Faculty teams participate regularly in intramural activities with students.

Every school year has a new set of events which almost everyone retains in his memory. Some characteristics are carried over from year to year to become traditions. Connotations of the 1962-63 year included the Belles and Beaux European trip, the filming of the Harding story, a faculty active in intramural sports and Dr. Benson's gesture for chapel dismissal.

Eight weeks in Germany and France to entertain at U. S. military bases under the sponsorship of the USO and the Defense Department was a highlight for twenty college performers.

Jerry Fairbank's Hollywood movie company spent two weeks on campus taking shots to be compiled into a school film with Herb Philbrick as narrator.

Faculty participation in intramural sports is becoming traditional. The participants strengthen friendships while competing in such contests as tag football and basketball.

The characteristic wave by Dr. Benson sets off a chain reaction in chapel daily. At this cue students file from the auditorium and rush for mailboxes or slowly ambulate to their classes.

Pleasure found in working and playing together

CO-CAPTAIN JERRY MOTE talks to students who turned out to participate in the Homecoming game pep rally around the freshman class bonfire.

“Campusology” is a phrase coined to express an idea to college students. Other than the usual connotations which connect the word with dating, it carries memories of sitting in the swings, conversing in the student center, attending lyceums, joining dormitory “bull sessions” and, of course, studying.

School spirit manifests itself in various ways; pep rallies and bonfires are among these. Students who yell at games until hoarse are typical of those with the real Harding spirit. Freshmen strive each year to outdo the previous class with a bigger and better bonfire.

Sports, in which almost everyone participates, play an important role. Ping pong, tennis, softball and track and field events are popular as a stimulant for a wholesome spirit of competition.

Winter is an exciting time. Those students from warmer places revel in their initial experience with the novelty of snow and ice.

Participation in activities, as such, is campus life.

RELAXING from duties are Galaxy pledges, Ron Lambert and Bill Willingham, as they are served their noonday salads by Harriet Herrington.

WALKING on water proves to be a novelty for Mary Ethel Bales, Holly Brannon and Barbara Boaz during the extreme cold wave that kept the lily pool frozen for two weeks.

CAROL RHINE exemplifies enthusiastic spectators which are the participant complements of the intramural and intercollegiate sports at Harding College.

RETURNING a fast serve, Duke Jennings enjoys a game of ping pong as he finds time away from studies for recreation in the gym.

Talented personalities featured throughout year

BLUSTERING Horace Vandergelder, Floyd Lord, rises in outrage at the insinuation made by the scheming matchmaker, Cathy Patella, that he has become incapable of managing his own affairs.

FOUR encores and standing ovation—Harding's "thanks" to organist Richard Ellsasser for a wonderful evening of music entertainment.

PORTRAYING the "devoted queen," Jim Pebworth stands by the king, Don Stillinger, who holds his scepter during the "Fatal Quest."

TERMINATING a separation of several months, the Cavaliers, the former Freed-Hardeman quartet, met at Harding and performed for the chapel audience.

THREATENING his servant, Jacque, with torture, the Miser employs every method of exacting clues to his missing money.

AMONG the many outstanding guests featured on "Salute to Harding Day" was five-time Governor of Arkansas, Orval Faubus.

SALUTING Harding, senior Senator John L. McClellan, chairman of the Senate Investigating Committee, speaks to the capacity crowd.

INTERPRETING music as a flowing and smooth language, Dr. John F. Williamson, founder of the Westminster Choir College, stresses the importance of correct singing as he works with choruses on campus.

BOBBY MORROW, guest speaker at graduation exercises, registers with secretary Jean Kelly for the alumni luncheon honoring seniors.

Students benefit from efforts of famous visitors

Harding graduates of 1962 were honored by the presence of Bobby Morrow, Olympic Champion, for their commencement address. Morrow, a graduate of Abilene Christian College, won three gold medals as a member of the 1956 US Olympic track team.

Among the distinguished guests from Arkansas on campus for the "Salute to Harding" day were Governor Orval E. Faubus, Senator John McClellan and Congressman Wilbur D. Mills.

Musical interest on campus was increased by the presence of Dr. John Finley Williamson for a week during the spring semester. He founded the Westminster Choir College and was director of its famed choir for 37 years.

Dr. George Lynn, a contemporary composer, spent a day here with the Arkansas Intercollegiate Choral Association. He has dedicated several of his works, including a choral symphony, to the Harding Chorus.

CONTEMPORARY composer George Lynn conducted a musical festival on campus for the Arkansas Intercollegiate Choral Association.

MAY DAY

Campus beauties on parade in May Day pageant

April showers end and May flowers appear as May Day dawns. Harding students traditionally honor May's yearly debut with the presentation of the May Court and the winding of a May pole.

Three queen candidates eagerly await the moment when one will be crowned "queen for a day" — May Day. Her court, comprised of women's club representatives and escorts from the men's clubs surround her throne on the front campus to watch the brilliantly clad pole winders plait the multi-colored streamers in and out, back and forth, and around until the pole is finally covered with a colorful pattern. Spring music fills the air as hundreds of students and guests gather to witness the program.

Now forgotten are all the early morning practices and all the headaches of planning. Plan and practice, converted into performance, have created something lovely.

TERMINATING the day's activities, Queen Loleta Higginbotham surveys her lovely court as she is escorted by APK Ray Griffin.

PETIT JEAN DAY

Veil of mystery lifted, Petit Jean secrets revealed

FASCINATED by the viewing audience are attendants Lydia Goins and Sylvia City seated around the 1962 Petit Jean Queen, Beverly Gatlin.

Revelation of yearbook secrets — its style, its color, its personalities and the recipient of its dedication — is traditionally an event for which there is keen anticipation. The annual staff finally realizes the fruition of long hours of hard work. Suspense, increased by periods of waiting, is diminished completely. The final product is in hand. An editor, a business manager, a photographer, a staff and an advisor finally receive due commendation.

After the dedication program, a mad rush takes place for the distributing tables and students, armed with sack lunches prepared for the occasion, pens and Petit Jeans, scatter across the campus to thoroughly examine their copies to find familiar scenes and faces and to have friends write words in their books about memorable events of a wonderful year.

REVEALING "her" book to the students is Doris Barrett, Editor of the 1962 Petit Jean.

GRACIOUSLY her majesty Beverly Gatlin accepts the crown which proclaims her Petit Jean Queen as SA President Don Berryhill places it on her head during the Petit Jean presentation.

RECEIVING the dedication of the 1962 Petit Jean from Doris Barrett is Dr. James D. Bales.

EXPLORING faces, sack lunches and an infinite number of gatherings of old and new friends are typical student activities on the annual Petit Jean Day at Harding College.

Dreams become reality for graduating seniors

College life, a combination of study and fun, is culminated after four years by graduation ceremonies. A diploma and a repertoire of pleasant memories are part of the tangible and intangible benefits of education.

On May 26, 1962, Dr. Jack P. Lewis of the Graduate School of Bible and Religion in Memphis added to the pleasant memories of school and graduation with a timely baccalaureate address centered around an Old Testament theme. Olympic track star Bobby Morrow also gave an inspiring address to graduating seniors at the 1962 spring commencement exercises on May 29.

The thrill of accomplishing a goal — walking across a stage in cap and gown to receive a diploma — brings joy and tears. Tears seem to emphasize the joy, yet are perhaps a realization of the unachieved goals and the uncertainty of life which is to come. Graduation activities end as graduates become alumni and attend a luncheon given in their honor by the Alumni Association.

BEING awarded with a Handbook of Chemistry and Physics, Jimmie Lawson is congratulated by his father M. L. Lawson as top physics student.

ASPIRING toward even higher goals in the future, Don Berryhill receives his diploma and a hand shake from Dr. Benson as Registrar Virgil Beckett intently watches.

GRADUATES wait with diversified expressions for the procession which marks the ending of one phase in life and the beginning of another for anxious seniors.

"And if I have the gift of prophecy, and know all mysteries and all knowledge; and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing." — I CORINTHIANS 13:2.

PERSONALITIES

Among his peers a student is able to find those who excel in various desirable personal qualities — beauty, friendliness, intelligence, versatility. There are students who possess one or more of these qualities to such a degree that they stand out and are readily discernible. Such students are honored by their fellow students not so much to give personal glory to the individual as to recognize the fine quality which he possesses. True greatness is achieved through love for and service to others.

Petit Jean Queen and Attendants

Each men's social club chooses a girl as its queen for the year. In the fall the Petit Jean sponsors a pageant in which these girls are presented as candidates for Petit Jean queen. The student body then reviews the candidates and chooses three finalists. From these a queen is elected. When the Petit Jean is presented near the end of the year the Petit Jean queen is revealed to the students and is crowned by the President of the Student Association. She is attended by the two finalists.

Marcia Geisler

ALPHA PHI KAPPA

Marcia Geisler, a junior history major from Blackrock, Connecticut, has a sparkling personality and winning smile. She is active in the Bison Boosters and the American Studies program. This fall she served as an attendant to the Homecoming Queen. Marcia maintains a high academic average.

Sheila Mitchell

SUB-T 16

Sheila Mitchell, a junior elementary education major from Cullman, Alabama, exemplifies the beauty and charm of a true southern belle. She takes an active interest in dramatics and is serving her second year as a cheerleader. Sheila is a Regina and participates in the women's intramural athletic program.

Carmon Alexander

TNT

Petite Carmon Alexander, a transfer from Little Rock University, was chosen Junior class representative to the Homecoming Court. Planning to become a medical missionary, Carmon is a pre-medical technology major and a member of the Pre-Med Club. Her vivacious smile is well-known and appreciated by all around her.

Pat Bowman

KAPPA DELTA

Pat Bowman, a junior elementary education major from Leachville, Arkansas, has a charming personality and enthusiastic spirit which enabled her to be a capable cheerleader for two years. Since her marriage last summer, she has made practical application of her home economics minor. Last year Pat was sophomore class favorite.

May Queen and Attendants

In the fall each women's social club chooses the girl which it wants to represent it in the May Fete. These girls are presented to the students in a special assembly, and votes are cast for the three favorites. From the three finalists thus chosen the Queen of May is elected. She is the one who reigns over the May Fete and who is attended by the other two finalists and by a court composed of all the candidates, each escorted by representatives from the men's social clubs. May pole winders from the women's clubs perform for them.

Jeffrey Rorex

ZETA PHI ZETA

Jeffrey Rorex, a junior who transferred from the University of Illinois last year, is from Palatine, Illinois. Her major is home economics. Jeff's extracurricular interests include the Bison Boosters and intramural sports. Her sweet disposition is praised by those who know her well.

Louise Tucker

GATA

Louise Tucker, a junior elementary education major from Waynetown, Indiana, is a versatile person with a special interest in music. She sings soprano in the A Cappella chorus and the women's ensemble and was an alternate in the Belles and Beaux. She is secretary-treasurer of the junior class.

MARCIA GEISLER

Football Homecoming Royalty

Members of the football team select three girls as candidates for Homecoming Queen. These are voted upon by the students. This year "Mother Goose Rides Again" was the theme of the parade in which the queen was first revealed. In a ceremony immediately preceding the homecoming game, the class representatives and finalists which make up the court are presented; then the queen is crowned and is presented a bouquet of chrysanthemums by the co-captains of the football team. The finalists this year were Marcia Geisler, a history major from Bridgeport, Connecticut, and Dorothy Christmas, a biology major from Brownsville, Tennessee.

Twenty-two students chosen for national honor

HARMON BROWN . . . Student Association President, Debate Team, Pi Kappa Delta President, Beta Phi Kappa, Science Club President.

Twenty-two students, eighteen seniors and four juniors, were chosen for inclusion in Who's Who this year. The names of these students will appear in the 1962-63 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, to be published during the summer. They were chosen for this honor from a list of forty-six students which was presented to the faculty by the Student Association. Selection was based on scholarship, participation in extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the college and promise of future usefulness. Each student receives a certificate of recognition from the organization, benefit of its Student Placement Service and the privilege of wearing the emblem signifying membership in the group. Included among the students selected for this recognition are outstanding debaters, star athletes, leading actors, key members of the band and chorus, editors of student publications, Students Association officers, leaders in mission study groups and academic honor students.

ORGANIZATIONS

A wide variety of academic interests characterize the Harding student body; likewise, a wide variety of avocation or co-curricular activities are needed to fulfill the needs of students. These special interest organizations provide for some a laboratory for applying principles learned in the classroom, for others an opportunity to explore professional interests and for others a medium for cultural broadening or creative expression. The high level of performance achieved in these organizations reflects a spirit of dedication, cooperation and service.

Leadership and achievement are ambitions of SA

CAPABLY serving as head of the Student Association, President Harmon Brown sets the pace for many student-activities and campus life improvements.

The Student Association, composed of four elected officers and two representatives from each class, acts as a connecting link between the student body, faculty and administration.

This year, during the opening week of school, the SA ushered in a promising year on the Harding campus with a series of parties and other activities which kindled enthusiasm and friendliness among students, both old and new. Throughout the year the SA scheduled movies, talent shows, all-school parties and other functions.

Emphasizing "Progress Through Service," SA members worked with the Arkansas legislature to promote interest in obtaining voting machines for Arkansas elections. Plans were studied for improvement of the cafeteria meal ticket situation. In December, the annual pantry shelf project was promoted and the traditional all-school Christmas party was sponsored. A student lectureship was conducted in chapel the week preceding the annual college lectureship.

Students volunteered their journalistic talents to produce the Harding Bison, weekly student newspaper, under the capable leadership of Editor Marilyn Horvath and Business Manager Larry Scroggs.

Compiling the six-page tabloid is a never-ending task beginning near the end of each week when assignments are posted on the Bison office door. Monday morning the Bison office hums with activity as students exercise their abilities to gather and report the news. Foremost in their minds are the journalistic trade-marks of simplicity, accuracy and objectivity.

Last April in Hot Springs at the Arkansas College Publications Association's annual spring meeting, the Bison was acclaimed the outstanding newspaper among the colleges in Arkansas for the 1961-62 school year and was awarded the General Excellence Award of the Association.

Anxieties, disappointments and achievements of the year merged into a worthwhile experience at the close of the year when deserving journalists were recognized at the annual Bison banquet for their contributions to college journalism.

Staff works hard for another superior yearbook

ENJOYING looking through another All-American PETIT JEAN, Dr. Joe Pryor, advisor, is a calming influence and encouragement to the yearbook staff.

An eager staff of forty students began work on the 1963 Petit Jean early in the fall. For the past three years the Petit Jean has received All-American recognition and the staff labored diligently to uphold the high standards achieved in previous years. Editor Anna Belle Climer, aided by assistant editor Sandy Childers, organized the staff into a smoothly-functioning unit, made specific assignments and worked hard to meet production schedules.

Business Manager Travis Stewart, aided by assistant business manager Leighton Waters, planned the budget and directed the business staff in selling advertisements to businesses in the Searcy area.

After a frenzied effort to meet the final deadline, the last pages were sent to the publisher by the middle of March. Key staff members went to Oklahoma City to make a final check on the copy. Many hours of hard work were richly rewarded with the dedication and presentation of books on Petit Jean Day.

PERSONAL initiative combined with a persuasive spirit is portrayed by Anna Belle Climer as she aims toward a fourth All-American yearbook.

REACHING an outstanding goal in advertisements, Business Manager Travis Stewart ably coordinated selling ads and balancing the budget.

RELIGIOUS GROUPS

Teaching the Gospel is aim of mission groups

In every vocation, in every area of the world, even here at home, there are opportunities for Christians to serve and teach others. The various religious groups on campus provide occasions for students to learn of the mission work throughout the world. They provide many opportunities for spiritual growth.

The mission clubs gave a combined chapel program with the members dressing in clothing typical of the countries to which they plan to go. The program emphasized the need for workers to go to some mission field with the gospel of Christ.

Members of the Dactylology Club taught weekly Bible classes on Sunday at the Negro School for the Deaf in Little Rock.

Panel discussions by ministers and ministers' wives were a part of the Timothy Club's activities. As one of their projects, the club constructed the lighted map that is located in the foyer of the Bible building. This map designates the congregations where students and members of the faculty preach.

MUSIC GROUPS

Musical personalities are aid to year's success

PLEASANT memories of teacher-student relationship at Westminster College are shared by the renowned J. F. Williamson and ex-student Kenneth Davis.

Highlighting the activities of the year for members of the A Cappella Chorus was the privilege of working for a week under Dr. John Finley Williamson, founder and director for 38 years of the famous Westminster Choir. The Arkansas Intercollegiate Choral Association festival gave opportunity for study under a great contemporary composer, Dr. George Lynn, who has dedicated several choral compositions to Director Kenneth Davis, Jr., and the chorus.

During the fall lectureship, the A Cappella Chorus presented the "Life of Christ," a selection of hymns and readings, under the direction of Dr. Erle T. Moore. Other activities included a trip to Montgomery, Alabama, to sing for the Alabama Christian College Lectureship, a spring tour to the mid-west, weekly recording of the "Hymns From Harding" program and participation in the spring opera, "Martha."

The Belles and Beaux spent nine weeks in Europe under the sponsorship of the USO and the United States Defense Department, presenting programs to service men and civilian audiences. The 20-member group returned home on Christmas day.

Musical accomplishments result in much pride

Chorale membership gives students an opportunity to sing with an organized group and to give their voices further training. "Twas the Night Before Christmas" was the theme of their annual Christmas chapel program. G. E. Baggett is the director of this chorus which is the largest campus musical organization.

Plans to develop the Bison Band into an outstanding marching band will be expedited by the new uniforms for which members of the band are working. Some of the objectives of the band are to create and sustain school spirit, to provide a musical outlet for those talented in playing an instrument and to represent the college. G. E. Baggett is also director of the band. Eleven Bison Band members were selected as members of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Band and participated in the state band clinic at Conway.

The Travelairs have been singing throughout the state for various high school activities, including senior and career days. This quartet toured Europe as part of the Belles and Beaux and has also provided background music for Dot Beck as she appeared regularly on the Little Rock television program, "Eye on Arkansas."

TRAVELING hundreds of miles each week, the Travelairs favorably publicize the college to prospective students at high schools and social functions.

UNWAVERING attention is captured by congenial Chorale director George Baggett as he conducts his musicmakers through their paces.

SPEECH GROUPS

Debate and drama clubs develop self-expression

PAINSTAKING hours of intensive research and preparation brought rewards to Joel Anderson and Jimmy Arnold in forensic tournaments throughout the season.

Dramatic ability among Harding students is recognized and stimulated by Campus Players, an organization designed to stimulate interest in dramatic activities and an appreciation of the best in drama. Members of this group produced eight one-act plays during the year and supplied most of the talent for the three-act plays presented by the Department of Speech. Major productions this year were Moliere's The Miser, Wilder's The Matchmaker and Sophocles' Oedipus the King.

Membership in Alpha Psi Omega, a national honorary drama fraternity, is reserved for those students who have demonstrated outstanding ability in dramatics. Requirements for membership include loyalty in back-stage work and directing a play as well as demonstrated acting ability. This club stimulates an interest in dramatic activities on the Harding campus.

Pi Kappa Delta, a national honorary forensic fraternity, undertakes to stimulate interest and progress in intercollegiate speech activities. The club chose the topic for the intramural speech tournament and presented a chapel program of winning orations and speeches given by members at various intercollegiate tournaments in the south and mid-west.

Current events provide topics for study groups

CANDIDATE Jimmy Jones is formally initiated into the national honorary history society as Bill Smith and Sharon Scott describe the club emblem.

The School of American Studies prepares students for leadership careers in business, education and public life and emphasizes an understanding of the American way of life. Study trips to St. Louis in the fall and to Cincinnati in the spring were highlights of the year's activities. The theme around which special group discussions were centered was "the art of management and leadership." Several outstanding visiting speakers addressed the American Studies group.

The Organization for Conservative Academic and Political Action made its appearance on the Harding campus for the first time this year. Organized to encourage the acquiring of information concerning the political, economic and social situations in the United States and the world, O.C.A.P.A. stressed individual study among its members.

Phi Alpha Theta, a National Honorary History Society, attempts to give students of history an opportunity for independent study and expression. The club subscribed this year to the official publication, The Historian, for the college library. The Harding chapter hosted the district meeting on April 20.

The Bijitsu Club exists to promote the appreciation and enjoyment of beauty, especially in the visual arts. A program designed to carry out the idea of the club's name, a Japanese word meaning "a thing of beauty," was among the many enjoyed by the club during the year in its effort to study what has been done by others and to help each member express the beautiful in some creative work.

Colhecon, derived from college home economics, presents to many Harding women an emphasis on better living in a changing world. Composed primarily of home economics majors and minors, the club captures the interest of its members with varied, informative and colorful monthly programs. For its annual project, the club furnished tuition to a woman student at Ibaraki Christian College in Japan.

Established to create and stimulate interest in health, physical education and recreation among Harding students, the PEMM Club is composed of physical education majors and minors. It also serves to increase the professional knowledge of its members and to develop group solidarity. The club this year has worked on the design of a uniform that will be required in physical education recreation classes.

A noteworthy accomplishment of Pi Gamma Psi this year was the purchasing of a plaque to honor Harding alumni who have passed their C. P. A. examinations. Designed to help create an active interest in the accounting profession among Harding students, the club makes annual trips to observe the accounting business in action in various cities.

Pre-med was organized this year under the sponsorship of Mrs. Mabel French, College Nurse, for the purpose of intensifying interest, promoting study and performing services on campus in the realm of medical science. Throughout the year various films were shown and speakers were presented to the club to inform members of things of interest in the field of medicine. Visits were also made to the University of Arkansas School of Medicine in Little Rock.

For those interested in journalism the Press Club offers opportunities to explore all fields of journalism and stimulate interest in good journalism. The group had various people to speak at their meetings concerning things of interest to the members. Russell Simmons, their sponsor, gave a demonstration of lettering. Other speakers included Neil Cope, Tom Loney and Perrin Jones of the Searcy Citizen.

CAREFUL attention is given to medical responsibility by Pre-Med Club member and registered nurse Chris Holloway at the college infirmary.

SCIENCE CLUB. FRONT ROW: Brown, Kim, Miller, Selby, Mason, M. Lawson (sponsor). SECOND ROW: Dalton, Teufert, Stevens, Mills, Farrar. THIRD ROW: Colvett, J. Lawson, Akers, Arnett.

"Drugs of the Old Testament" was the topic discussed by Dr. W. A. Strickland, Jr., professor of pharmacy at the University of Arkansas, at the Science Club banquet held in the fall at the Rendezvous. This group, sponsored by Professor Maurice Lawson, made field trips to the University of Arkansas Medical Center and the Westinghouse plant in Little Rock. Also among their activities was the sending of several members to a state-wide conference on nuclear energy held in Russellville at Arkansas Tech.

Being the largest SNEA chapter in the state, and having Cliff Bennett serving as state college member-at-large were two of the important accomplishments of the Florence Cathcart Chapter of the Student National Education Association. The enthusiasm of the members was shown in their participation in a chapel program depicting the three levels of education. Other activities of the chapter included an annual banquet, a visit to the Children's Colony at Conway and participation in the SNEA state convention in Little Rock.

SERVICE CLUBS

Leadership through serving is desire of groups

A Big Sister on the Harding campus has an obligation to show genuine interest in new students, to be helpful and to get along with others, to make a good academic record and, in general, to be a good example on the campus. During the summer, the girls selected for Big Sisters write letters to girls who plan to enter Harding in the fall, trying to answer their questions about college life at Harding. In September the Big Sisters arrive on campus before the opening of the fall semester to welcome the new girls and to help them adjust to college life.

Financial assistance from Miss Grace Wells has enabled several women at Harding to continue their education. In gratitude for her assistance, they formed the Grace Wells Club. Miss Wells, an alumna of Galloway College, is now a retired teacher in California. Compiling a scrapbook containing a pictorial biography of Miss Wells and an autobiography of each member has been a project of this club.

Circle K is a service club established by the Kiwanis Clubs of America. During the year the Harding chapter sponsored a "Get Out the Vote" campaign to emphasize the need for participation in school elections. Other projects included compiling a list of blood donors for the infirmary and displaying a wrecked car on campus to stress safety during the spring holidays.

The Interclub Council, made up of two delegates from each women's social club, the sponsors and the Dean of Women, functions throughout the year to coordinate the activities for women's groups. Pledging, open house and banquets are criteria for council discussions to decide policy. A new procedure, sponsored by the council, involved using posters to replace the usual open house to introduce the social clubs to the women.

SOCIAL CLUBS

No individual is an island unto himself in the complex civilization of the twentieth century and the social clubs provide excellent opportunity for students to develop socially and to learn how to work with others. Each student at Harding has the opportunity to become a member of some social club. Although the social clubs have spirited competition with each other in intramural sports, have social functions such as banquets and outings, present chapel programs and participate in other activities, the interaction of members within a club provides a wonderful opportunity for club members to exemplify the true spirit of love.

Valentine's Day brings a sweet surprise for beau

A formal initiation for new members at the home of their sponsor ushered in a new and active year for the Beta Tau Gamma's. Dogpatch, U.S.A., was the site of their third function, where the couples engaged in the traditional fake marriage ceremonies.

A club supper was enjoyed on Valentine's Day when Lee Goatley, the Beta Tau Gamma club beau, was suprised with a Valentine cake. The club members chose to contribute to the band uniform fund for their annual project. A spring banquet and outing completed the year of activities for the Beta Tau Gamma's.

DELTA CHI OMEGA

Missionary in New Zealand aided by Delta Chi's

Mrs. Russell Simmons, sponsor for the first semester, held several meetings at her home, including a refreshment party after informal initiation and a club birthday party in November. Later the same month, a weiner roast was held at Wyldehood. At the end of the first semester, money was contributed to Gerald Starling, missionary to Wellington, New Zealand. Mrs. Kenneth Davis, club sponsor, held a get-acquainted tea at her home early in the second semester for the Delta Chi's and their club beau. The guests enjoyed seeing some of the items brought from Europe after the tour of the Belles and Beaux. The girls also discussed their March 23 banquet, which was at the Rendezvous with the theme "Three Coins in a Fountain."

The industrious Gata pledges prepared an appealing "spagata" supper for their mistresses to celebrate the longed for end of pledge week. In the later fall the Gatas entered into the Thanksgiving festivities with a November weiner roast at colorful Camp Wyldewood. The memorable evening was brought to a close with a devotional around the dying embers of a campfire, where the Gatas and their dates had enjoyed group singing.

As their annual project the Gatas contributed to the band uniform fund. Norman Tubb, the Gata club beau, was an honored guest at their banquet in March with the theme "Wonder Land By Night." A spring outing climaxed a busy Gata year.

'Moonlight Serenade' presents queen nominees

The beautiful May Fete held each spring is the annual project of the Ju Go Ju social club. The girls supervise 6:00 a.m. pole-winding rehearsals and afternoon run-through activities in preparation for the pageant.

A December 1 banquet, "Twelve Days of Christmas," high-lighted the club's fall semester. Dr. Gilliam was the speaker for the event held at Kelly's and Synette Hubbard provided the musical entertainment.

Thirteen new girls were officially and formally initiated into the club after a vigorous week of pledging. The home of Mrs. L. C. Sears was the scene of the initiation ceremony.

Traditional Luau adds color to KD club functions

A bunking party climaxed informal initiation activities for the Kappa Delta's. Formal initiation for the six new members was held at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Dot Gilliam. A spaghetti supper in the fall was also held at the Gilliams' when Mrs. Doris Lemmons was honored as their guest. The club members and their beaux enjoyed a Christmas party in December.

Their banquet on February 4, held at Kelley's, had an appropriate Valentine theme. The Kappa Delta's traditional Hawaiian Luau, complete with muu muus, bright flowered shirts and leis, was held in the spring as was their club outing.

The "Gopher Girls" were introduced to their pledge masters at a get-acquainted party at the Ganus home. For formal initiation at the end of pledge week, the old and new members were again guests of their sponsor.

A Christmas party with games and carols made the third function a festive gathering. A game called "take-away" provided entertainment and gifts for all.

A touch of the classic was viewed at the banquet held in March at the Rendezvous. Grecian columns and statues set the scene for the evening. Robert Helsten was speaker for the event. Songs by Dot Beck concluded the entertainment.

After a chapel program and the annual spring outing, the Tri-Kappa's had their final meeting and election of officers at Camp Wyldewood.

Red blazers inaugurated as Ko Jo Kai tradition

Brilliant red Ko Jo Kai blazers made their pledges easily recognizable on campus during initiation week. The blazers, which have become a tradition, aided the Kojies to have a more dignified pledge period.

The traditional fall banquet, centered around a travel theme, took the title of "Around the World with Ko Jo Kai" for the enjoyment of Kojies and their dates. The Impressionists made their debut with songs from foreign countries. In the spring, a "County Fair" took place at the Searcy Community Center, preceding an all-day outing.

Club beau Del Brock was surprised with a Valentine cake and other remembrances. Bison football was supported strongly by the Kojies who sent telegrams, signed by the members to out-of-town games and put up posters to help boost team pride and spirit.

Eleven new members complete LC roster for 1963

Eleven new members were welcomed into the LC Club after an informal initiation at camp Wyldewood and a memorable formal initiation at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. Earnhart.

LC's were tired, but happy because of the work they had done on the winning float for the annual Homecoming parade.

On December 7, couples dressed as children for a Christmas party as their third function at the Legion Hut. A banquet and an outing were both held in the spring. This year, as in past years, the LC's service projects included making a senior class composite picture to be displayed in the Science Building and assisting the Leon Clymores, missionaries to Africa.

MU ETA ADELPHIAN

Cowboys and Indians appear at MEA function

A hectic week of pledging for the ten somewhat "bewildered and bedraggled" new MEA's was climaxed by an informal initiation at Wyldewood and a formal candlelight ceremony at the home of Mrs. Ryan, club sponsor.

Enthusiastic support was shown by the MEA's this year in the intramural sports program. There was good club participation in all sports.

On January 7, "Cowboys and Indians" took over the Legion Hut for an evening of fun. A highlight was the parade of fashions — dresses designed and made out of newspapers for the MEA's by their dates. A formal banquet and spring outing rounded out the MEA social calendar for the year.

The highlight of Oege's functions this year was their "Sweetheart" banquet which was a smorgasbord held at Kelley's Grill on February 16. Dot Beck entertained the group. Club beau David Simpson was presented with a gift in appreciation for his efforts in guiding the club's competitive sports. An informal pie supper was the basis for the third function at the Pumping Station. Apple and cherry pie and ice cream were served, and games were played.

The Oege members were proud of Mrs. Jerome Barnes, their new sponsor, who frequently invited the girls and the club beau to her home.

The Oege's divided their project money this year, giving both to the fund for the women's intramural bulletin board and to the fund for Monica Steiniger, missionary in Africa.

Clubs vie for Omega Phi scholarship award

A "Mardi Gras" costume party found couples dressed in a variety of attire. The Pumping Station was the site of this third function on November 30. Refreshments were sandwiches and cakes. The setting was changed for the banquet, "An Evening in Rome." This event was held March 9 at Kelley's.

Activities earlier in the year included initiation of six pledges at the Atteberry home and assistance on the winning Homecoming float. The club project again was the presentation of a scholarship award for the social club with the highest grade point average.

A Valentine cake was presented to Vernon Rogers, club beau, followed with a party in the Student Center. A spring outing completed the year.

Hobos and dates invade Wyldewood in the fall

Eleven "Rats" were informally initiated at a chili supper and bunking party at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Joe Spaulding. Formal initiation took place in Kendall Hall. The girls were taught the club motto, "Others before Ourselves."

Camp Wyldewood, a popular spot for informal functions, was the site for a hobo party on November 23. The formal banquet took place at Kelley's on April 20 with the theme "Dinner at Tiffany's."

The Phi Delta's decided to contribute money to two different projects. A contribution was made to Monica Steiniger, who is planning to set up a hospital in Africa. Also, the Phi Delta's helped pay the expenses of Alma Turner at Southwest Christian College.

At the close of each school year a senior chosen as deserving by his classmates is presented the Regina Spirit Award as the project of the club. The recipient is selected because of the manner in which his life typifies the true Harding spirit.

The Reginas and their dates enjoyed the club's annual hobo party held at the Legion Hut in January. The traditional menu included "sloppy joes" and "smors."

The site for their informal initiation was the grave yard and formal ceremonies were held at the home of Bessie Mae Pryor, club sponsor. Six pledges were taken into the club.

"Vive la Fiesta" was the theme for their Mexican banquet at the El Charro in March. A May outing wound up the year's activities.

Silver bells chimed for Theta Psi's and their dates at their Christmas banquet at which Terry Smith, the club beau, was presented a silver key chain. Dr. G. W. Bond filled the memorable evening with humor and thought with an entertaining speech, after which Synette Hubbard gave her gala musical contribution.

Mexico was echoed in their third function where hot chili and Spanish music created a "downsouth" atmosphere to the mid-winter festivity.

A spring outing climaxed the year of activity for the Theta Psi's. The three functions were interspersed with a series of basketball and volleyball victories. The club chose to contribute to the band uniform fund as their annual project.

OFFICERS: Mooney, Pres.; Graddy, Vice-Pres.; Ward, Sec.; Stanley, Treas.; Charlene Prock, Sponsor.

Pledge week climaxed by first place float honors

After rough initiation at Wyldewood the eleven pledges to Tofebt had a more solemn and serious formal initiation. This was held at the home of Miss Geneva Combs, and the girls were admonished to remember the club slogan, "To Our Father Ever Be True." Tofebt members helped several other clubs build the winning Homecoming float, and thus the parade and award made a climax for the busy pledge week.

Good food, a long hike and much fun were enjoyed at a weiner roast at Camp Wyldewood on December 1. Kelley's was the setting of the oriental garden for the March 2 banquet. Jo Byrd sang appropriate songs and Robert Helsten was the speaker.

For a service project the club donated money for the school expenses of Alma Turner, a Negro student at Southwest Christian College.

Several former WHC's joined with the returning members to celebrate the club's birthday on October 7. The ladies told entertaining stories of past events. Later in October, the pledges joined the group to accomplish the many duties of pledge week. The week ended with the pledges serving dinner for informal initiation. A candlelight ceremony at the Ulrey home was held when the girls were formally initiated.

The club went "Oriental" for the December 6 banquet at Kelly's. On February 16 the traditional country supper was enjoyed at the Pumping Station.

Highlight of the year was a chapel program produced with the Frater Sodalis club. Stage settings and costumes set the atmosphere for the songs of Stephen Foster.

Traditionally, the Zeta Phi Zeta pledges were required during pledge week to obtain the autographs of the football boys. At the end of the "fun-filled" week, the club initiated nine new members at a bunking party at Wyldewood, followed by formal induction in the Emerald Room the next evening.

The third function was a November event at the Pumping Station. "Sloppy joes" were the center of refreshments and games provided entertainment.

A Christmas party was given in sponsor Barbara Allison's home at which the members exchanged gifts. The spring banquet was held at Anderson's in April with a theme of "Rainbow Melody" and the annual outing was planned for early May.

Zeta Rho zugs, undoubtedly the lowest of pledges, improved immensely during one week to find their pledge mistresses not only willing but happy to accept them as club sisters. The Kangaroo Court, combined with an impressive initiation ceremony, served to welcome the new sisters into the club.

The traditional third function took a new turn as the Zeta Rho's worked with their club brothers, the TNT's to have a western affair at the Searcy Community Center.

A spring banquet at Anderson's in Beebe featured the entertainment of Martha Reeder and her ukulele. Again, the Zeta's worked and planned with the TNT's to present a chapel program based on an adaptation of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Various awards highlight AEX's winter banquet

Informal gatherings and suppers at the Hedrick and Earnhart homes helped make the AEX year an active and enjoyable one. At Kiwanis Park the ten pledges ended a week of obeying orders by becoming regular members.

On November 29 the AEX's and their dates journeyed to Camp Wyldewood to enjoy their third function in the fall scenery. "The Last Annual AEX Awards Banquet" was held at Anderson's Grill in Beebe on February 12. Tom Hawkins, master of ceremonies, presented various awards to the club members.

In the spring, the AEX's enjoyed several stag outings and strawberry parties. Other activities included participation in track and field day and an all day outing.

FINISHING touches are gradually added to the Alpha Phi Kappa homecoming float by anxious members as the parade deadline date draws much closer.

Twenty energetic APK pledges fulfilled their requirements to be accepted and initiated into the club. Combined efforts of the old and new members produced a float for the Homecoming parade. In November, a fall informal function was enjoyed at Camp Wyldewood. Kelly's Grill was the locale for the formal banquet on March 1.

Under the guidance of their two sponsors, the boys enjoyed a year of varied activities. Of special interest was the competition in sports. The APK's enthusiastically participated in football, volleyball, basketball and track and field day events.

Queen honored at Beta Phi's Valentine banquet

The Beta Phi Kappa's chose Kiwanis Park as the site for the informal initiation of their ten pledges as a climax of their memorable pledge week.

November will be remembered by the club for the third function they enjoyed at Camp Wyldewood. The late fall evening was made gay and warm around the campfire where hamburgers and hot dogs sizzled invitingly.

At their Valentine banquet in February, Donna Shipman, the Beta Phi Kappa club queen, was the special sweetheart. Bob Helsten was the guest speaker for the event which was held at Kelley's Grill. An invigorating spring outing was the last major entry in the Beta Phi Kappa book of activities for the year.

Delta Iota, with its ranks reinforced by eleven freshmen, began an active year with a "get acquainted" outing at Bee Rock. The overnight outing at the club hut appeased the rugged outdoor nature of all who went.

The annual banquet, held at Kelly's Grill, had a seasonal theme, "March Winds." Old time silent movies brought out laughter in everyone.

Sharon Berry, club queen, was represented at club meetings by her cookies, cupcakes and pies.

OFFICERS: Bumpass, Pres.; Grissom, Vice-Pres.; Alexander, Sec. Treas.; Ron Butterfield, Sponsor.

'Songs of Stephen Foster' feature talented Fraters

Frater Sodalitas activities began this year with the election of Sandra Tanner as club queen. Nine new members were inducted into the club through the informal initiation at Wyldewood followed by the formal initiation in the Emerald Room.

The Fraters and their dates enjoyed a hilarious evening at the Pumping Station for their third function. Entertainment was supplied by Jerry Selvidge, Bill Laird and Stan Combs.

With the WHC women's social club, the Fraters presented a chapel program featuring songs by Stephen Foster. The program was so successful that the Frater Sodalitas and the WHC clubs were asked to present it to the Harding Academy chapel assembly.

EXPLORING exciting views and good food are the highlights of club outings held at various parks in the Arkansas area as all day events.

REMEMBERING "good ole times," women students and club sponsors enjoy informal fun at bunking parties where relaxed atmospheres pervade.

SOCIAL CLUBS

Clubs promote close fellowship among students

Varied activities are offered by every social club. Each has three main functions to which dates are invited—a formal banquet, an all day spring outing and an informal party or cook-out. In addition, each club has numerous suppers, meetings, bunking parties and work sessions.

Club spirit and cooperation is raised by competition in various sports throughout the year, climaxed by track and field day. Clubs compete for trophies and recognition in the speech meet held in the spring, and the club with the highest grade point average is awarded a scholarship trophy. Almost every club has a constructive project of making improvements on campus or of donating money to a cause such as mission work.

All clubs owe much to the sponsors who volunteer time, food, advice and space for meetings and parties.

FORMAL club banquets, held at various restaurants around Searcy, provide a glamorous touch to the year's activities.

"And every man that striveth in the games exerciseth self-control in all things." — I CORINTHIANS 9:25.

ATHLETICS

Physical fitness receives emphasis at Harding College in order that students may develop strong bodies to meet the responsibilities of the future. Harding is a member of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and fields teams in football, basketball, baseball, track and bowling. An excellent program of intramural sports for both men and women is provided to meet the varying needs and interests of students. In all these activities strong emphasis is placed upon developing real sportsmanship along with skill in the given sport.

FOOTBALL

Bisons record best season in intercollegiate ball

COACHES Groover, Prock and Allison look over some of the results of the year's events. Allison is baseball and football coach while Prock and Groover coach track and basketball, respectively, and assist with football.

Enjoying their best season since the resumption of intercollegiate football at Harding in the fall of 1960, the Bisons posted six wins against three losses. Luther Honey, Walt Mays and Ray Griffin were named to the coaches' All-AIC teams with Steve Smith receiving honorable mention. An Arkansas Democrat All-AIC selection listed Jerry Mote on the offensive team, Luther Honey on the defensive team and Tommy Carter and Ray Griffin as honorable mentions.

The Bisons traveled to Jackson, Mississippi, for their first game, against Millsaps College, and returned home with a 13-0 victory. Next they met the conference champions, Arkansas Tech, and dropped the close-fought game 7-0. The next two games provided the offense with plenty of playing time as the Bisons beat Southern State 20-7 and Ouachita 30-19. The next game was exactly the opposite, however, as the State Teachers Bears humbled the Bisons 26-0.

SHOWING the tenseness of the game, Hendrix, Percy, Tucker, Gahr and Brock closely observe the action on the field during the Bison's Homecoming victory against Livingston State's Tigers

STOPPED after a short gain, fullback Norman Tubb stretches across a pile of Harding and A&M linemen during the close-fought game in which both teams were slowed down because of a soggy field.

DESPITE an on-charging Bear lineman, Bison quarterback Tommy Carter still manages to throw during a tense moment of the Bison-ASTC game.

CUTTING back into the line, Bison Tommy Carter meets head-on with several Wonder Boys. The Bisons dropped a thriller to Tech 7 to 0.

FOOTBALL

Bisons prove powerful adversaries on the gridiron

QUARTERBACK Hugo Campbell tries desperately to free himself from three Tiger linemen during Bison's Homecoming against Livingston State.

A muddy game with Arkansas A&M saw the Bisons break for a quick score and extra point and then hold a determined Aggie team to only six points late in the game.

A happy homecoming crowd saw the Bisons score 17 points in the first quarter and hold on to beat the Livingston State Tigers 17-7. The Bisons proved too much for Ozarks and a 20-0 victory was tallied for Harding. The last game, against the Henderson Reddies, was close all the way, but the Reddies took the nod 6-0.

Co-captain Jerry Mote, a senior, was the offensive leader for the Bisons and Luther Honey, a junior, was the defensive leader for the third straight year. Co-captain Steve Smith, a senior, saw duty both as fullback and linebacker although he was hampered by a pulled muscle during most of the season. Seniors Ray Griffin, AIC leading pass receiver with 21 receptions for 272 yards, tackle Larry Lambert and guard Walt Mays were stalwarts in the Bison forward wall.

TRYING desperately to block the field goal, Livingston State watches Bison Kenny Gahr toe the ball directly through the uprights. The Bisons struck quickly to hand the Tigers a 17-7 defeat.

CO-CAPTAINS Steve Smith and Jerry Mote lead the charge as the Bisons take the field prior to their encounter with arch-rival Arkansas Tech. Feeling was high for this game because the Wonder Boys were conference favorites.

BASKETBALL

Early victories indicate promising cage season

BASKETBALL TEAM: Spears (manager), Patton, Jacobs, Casey, Crow, Rogers, Medley, Atchison, Watson, Touchton, Simpson, Robb, Smith, Johnson, Bradsher.

LEAPING high amid Ozark competition, forward Larry Brakefield eyes the basket for an easy jump shot adding another two points to the Bisons' victory.

Getting off to a good start, the Harding basketball team defeated Drury College in the opening game. Then the Bisons were narrowly beaten by Little Rock University before a large Lectureship crowd on Thanksgiving Day.

For a while it looked as though Harding might have its best basketball season in recent years. The cagers won six of their first eleven starts and were staying right with the league leaders. With an outstanding performance the Bisons upset Arkansas Tech who later won the AIC tournament. Out of the last twelve games, however, Harding won only two. Throughout the season Harding stayed within winning distance in almost every game, but was unable to keep up sustained scoring drives.

This year only four men are being lost by graduation. Since only one of these was a consistent starter, prospects look good for next year.

JUMPING high in an effort to score another goal for the Bisons, Vernon Rogers defies two Scots for a graceful lay-up shot.

SCRAMBLING for the elusive ball, Ernie Patton and several Tigers find it hard to handle as the Bisons battle against Ouachita.

DESPITE the efforts of two LRU players, Tom Watson, senior post man, goes up for another two-pointer during the Bisons Thanksgiving Day game.

LEAPING high off the floor, Bison Tom Watson prepares to sink another two-pointer as several Arkansas A&M players try to stop him; the Aggies tripped Harding 71-63.

TWO Mountaineers move in to stop junior Ryan Touchton during one of the Bison's fast breaks down the court.

BASKETBALL

Bisons inject spirit and enthusiasm into games

SENIOR guard Steve Smith is in the middle of a wild scramble for a rebound during the Harding-Arkansas College game. The visiting Scots were deadly from the outside and went on to defeat the Bisons in a close one.

Captain Vernon Rogers, leading scorer this year for the Bisons, earned a berth on the All-AIC second team. The 6'5" junior from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, hit 47 per cent from the field and 77.5 per cent from the free-throw line for a total of 411 points. On the backboard he collected 166 rebounds. Ernie Patton received honorable mention on the All-AIC team. A 5' 11" junior transfer from York College in Nebraska, Ernie was the second-place scorer for the Bisons. Patton, whose home is Pittsfield, Illinois, collected 42 per cent from the field and 62.5 per cent from the free-throw line for a total of 378 points. Rogers averaged 17.8 points per game, second highest in recent Bison history, and Patton averaged 11.8.

Tom Watson and Larry Brakefield grabbed a large share of rebounds in addition to pumping the basket with points for the Bisons. Steve Smith, who has been a favorite with the Harding audience for four years, provided hustle and spark all through the season.

BISON guard Steve Smith finds himself on the floor dribbling as two astonished Ozark players look on, Harding's offense ran smoothly all night as they outclassed the visitors.

LEAPING toward the goal, Ernie Patton flips in another bucket as the Bisons beat Ozarks for their seventh win.

TRACK

Emphasis on effort produces efficient track team

STRAINING every ounce of muscle within his command, broad-jumper Jim Pratt blasts into the air. He combines timing and effort in pursuit of a record.

Individual performances were the highlights of the 1962 track season because of a lack of total team depth. Lewis Walker and Wendell Harrison provided most of the outstanding showings as they excelled, respectively, in the hurdles and the distance events. Walker was consistently a winner in the high hurdles and almost always won a place in the lows. Harrison gave his best performances when running the 880-yard run — 1962 saw him set a new school record in this event.

A highlight in every year's program is the Harding Invitational to which ten colleges and twenty-three high schools came in 1962. Henderson edged out A&M to win the meet by a score of 47-46.

Stan Miller, Jerome Prince and James Ruble handled most of the sprinting chores for the Bisoas while Wendell Harrison lent a helping hand from time to time in the relays.

The season was characterized by outstanding individual accomplishments, but because of the lack of depth little team achievement was registered.

BOUNCING into the air in his follow-through, shot-putter Eugene Dilbeck releases a mighty heave in AIC competition as viewers observe with interest.

DESPITE a leg injury, Lewis Walker performs in champion style clearing the first low hurdle with barely an inch separating him and his OCC opponent.

SINGLENESS of mind and body characterize Wendell Harrison as he nears the finish line of another of his many successful races. Wendell's adherence to rigorous conditioning led to many victories.

STRAINING for those all-important inches, Harding's Stan Miller surges forward to win in the 100 yard dash over his Henderson opponent. Stan was the outstanding sprinter of the year.

WITH head up, eyes alert and highly toned muscles under command, Wendell Harrison takes the second stride of the grueling 880 yard run in which he consistently excelled.

BREAKING the string, Stanley Miller piles up five more first place points for the Bisons as he takes first place in the 220 in a dual meet with the Arkansas State College Indians.

High-stepping cindermen exhibit true team spirit

SPLASHING through a puddle of water, freshman Jerome Prince sprints with determination toward the tape in the 220 yard dash.

TAKING the baton from James Ruble, Wendell Harrison starts on his leg of the mile medley in the Bisons' dual meet with Henderson Reddies.

DEMONSTRATING his characteristic smooth form, Jay Lancello begins the first of the gruelling four-lap mile run.

GLIDING gracefully over the high hurdles, Bison trackman, Lewis Walker finishes in front of the field to give Harding a victory in this exciting event at Alumni Field.

BASEBALL

Sluggers show spirit in perennial American sport

STEPPING into the pitch, Herman Jenkins, Bison pitcher, lofts a high fly ball that drops for a triple in front of the hedge in deep right field.

Employing the steal as a major offensive weapon the Harding baseballers tallied a season consisting of eleven wins, fourteen losses and one tie. The base-stealing strategy adopted by Coach Allison was necessary to make up for the lack of pitching and hitting strength on the 1962 team.

The season was begun with absolutely no pitching experience although a couple of good hurlers developed later in the season. Richard Green, a freshman, posted a 4-1 record and Kim Pate registered a 4-3 season record.

Steve Smith led the team in hitting with a .343 batting average and was selected to a first team berth on the All-AIC team. Jerry Mote, hustling outfielder for the Bisons, was selected for a second team spot on the All-AIC squad. N. J. Wilson, also an outfielder, provided many exciting moments with his one-handed catches and his spirited base running.

"STRIKE one" is called by the umpire as determined catcher Steve Smith prepares to throw a man out as he steals to second.

SNAPPING off a curve, Kim Pate, one of the Bison's leading moundsmen, chalks up another one of his many strikeouts.

"SAFE at home" is the call as Steve Smith slides across the plate to score another of his many runs. Pitcher Joe Spaulding watches the action.

POISED in readiness to plunge into water, Tom Finley illustrates the form that helped him become champion intramural swimmer.

WINNER of the baseball base run, Stanley Miller rounds second base on the fly as he sprints to victory in record time.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

High participation indicates value of intramurals

STRETCHING to reach the tape, George Hobby of Frater Sodalit finishes first in the 880 with Johnny Toms of Sigma Tau Sigma close on his heels.

With one of the highest student-participation percentages in the nation, the intramural sports program is a bright spot in the Harding picture. Cecil Beck, the intramural director, is constantly striving to keep the sports program active and interesting at all times throughout the school year.

To keep the interest in intramural sports at a high level, jackets are given in the spring of each year to the fifteen men who have earned the highest number of points in the various events during the school year. In addition to the letter jackets, three special awards are made. These go to the Intramural Athlete of the Year, the Sports Skill Champion and the Best Sportsman. In 1962, these awards went to Tom Finley, Lanny Casey and Jack Orr, respectively.

Among the numerous sports events offered during the school year are softball, softball distance throw, rag tag football, football distance kick and throw, extra point kick, rope climb, cross country run, horseshoes, volleyball, basketball, bowling, rope jump and track and field.

BURSTING through the tape, Wendell Harrison outlasts all competitors to capture another first place for APK on track and field day.

LEADING the pack after the first lap of the mile run, Denton Kernodle of Frater Sodalis sets a fast pace in this grueling race on track and field day.

ALL-STAR competitor Norman Preston has in mind the successful completion of this shot for another score and a Big Ten victory.

MAJOR League moundsman Jim Keeth fires another pitch as the intramural baseball season swings into full view with the advent of balmy spring weather.

INTRAMURAL athlete of the year Tom Finley accepts his trophy from Harold Norwood during the 1962 annual Intramural Awards Day program.

AEX sprinter Jerome Prince displays determined effort which helped his club to place third in Big Club competition despite its small size.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Keen competition characterizes intramural sports

PIVOTING into position for his hook shot All-Star player Jerry Watson goes for two points as the Big Ten makes an effort to contain the Southwest.

The intramural sports program began with class softball in which the Junior class won the championship. In club softball Sub T-16 took the National League while Galaxy took the American League. The faculty won the class competition in rag tag football while APK and TAG won the National League and American League championships, respectively, in this fall sport.

With the advent of winter and club basketball, APK took over again and won the National League while TNT won the American League. The seniors managed to capture the class championship in volleyball along with APK in the National League and Sigma Tau Sigma in the American League.

The annual track and field day rounds out the year of sports competition. In the spring of 1962, Sub T-16 won the National League track competition and Frater Sodalis won the American League. A faculty bicycle race was an interesting addition to the track and field schedule. Tom Loney won with ease while Dr. Bob Gilliam added comedy by riding a 20-inch bicycle.

PULLING with all their might, Larry Ruckman, Morgan Outlaw and the rest of the varsity football team try to defeat the faculty in a tug-o-war that was one of the highlights of track and field day, especially since the faculty won the contest.

ATTEMPTING to block Owen Moseley's jump shot, James Ruble goes high in the Southwest versus Big Ten Bison All-Star game.

STRUGGLING under the backboards, Robin Algee and Paul Gardner are right in the thick of action during this Freshman-Sophomore thriller. Competition was really keen among the various classes.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

Competition vitalizes women's intramural sports

OVERCOME with joy watching the proceedings of a women's intramural basketball game June Hamby takes time out to rest between games.

The women's intramural program this year, under the capable direction of Mrs. Jack Ryan, was strongly supported. Keen competition and excellent sportsmanship was exhibited throughout the year. The different social clubs enthusiastically participated in the volleyball and the basketball tournaments. Oege won the volleyball championship with Theta Psi coming in close for second place.

Individual participation was displayed in the table tennis, badminton, speedball and softball tournaments. Kay Herd won the table tennis singles, and Jane Eubanks and Carol Bissett took the doubles tournament.

The highlight of this year's women's intramural program, besides the annual track and field day, was the basketball all-star game, consisting of talent from each club. This year for the first time a trophy was presented to the "most valuable player." The player selected by the committee for the trophy was Marie Laird.

CLOSE guarding by TAG's Esther Kile prohibits Sandy Phillips, Zeta Phi, from scoring for her team.

GOING in for a lay-up shot for Beta Tau Gamma, Lavone Leroux is effectively guarded by Tri Kappa's Ann Griffin while vigorously battling for the social club championship.

INTENSELY watching the proceedings of this fast-moving action, these clubs' beaux make mental notes of helpful hints and coaching advice to offer the girls between games.

CROSSING the finish line with a final burst of speed, Margie Lentz wins in the women's division of the 220.

SEEKING an opening in the arm-waving motions of defender Karen Darnell, forward Marie Laird attempts a throw across court to an awaiting teammate.

WALKING on air and pulling with the torso is the style employed by Regina Hadley to take top honors in the women's broad jump.

BISON BOOSTERS

Teams receive strong support throughout the year

Support is something for which the Harding Bisons seldom lacked, mainly because of the efforts of two organizations: the Cheerleaders and the Bison Boosters. The cheerleaders kept the school spirit buoyed up by pep rallies and lively yells which were the results of long hours of personal practice.

Special gifts were given to each player by the Bison Boosters to encourage him to do his best. These included toy planes to "dust the Weevils" and toy knives to "skin the Bears." The Boosters wore similar clothing and always sat in the same section so that they could be most effective in their yells. Over one hundred Bison Booster members made leading yells an easy task for the six cheerleaders.

The Varsity Club, exclusive in that only varsity lettermen are eligible for membership, helps to promote intercollegiate athletics by encouraging still higher standards among its members.

STRAINING to see the official's signal, Dr. Joe fulfills another responsibility as score board operator at Alumni Field.

"And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and all discernment." — PHILIPPIANS 1:9.

ACADEMY

Realizing that "the child is father to the man" and that the lessons learned in childhood and adolescence form the basis for adult life, the Board of Trustees of Harding College maintain an elementary school and high school in connection with the College. The Harding Academy provides a full program of activities and the curriculum and instruction are oriented to give students a good preparation for college. The emphasis given to Christian principles enables the students to develop a genuine love for God and their fellowman as they advance in stature, knowledge and wisdom.

DEDICATION

Seniors dedicate 1963 book to Mr. Berryhill, principal

We know you as an outstanding administrator a challenging teacher, an understanding counselor and an enthusiastic sportsman. You are respected and loved for your charming personality and wonderful sense of humor. So we . . . the Senior Class of 1963 . . . to show our appreciation for your unselfish spirit, your desire to better the school, your interest in each student and his problems, your sincerity and especially your fine Christian example dedicate our portion of the Petit Jean to you — Mr. J. E. Berryhill.

Mr. Berryhill, who is from Knox City, Texas, has been teaching at the Harding Academy since 1952 and has been principal for the last nine years. He and his lovely wife, Joanne, have three children, Johnny, Rheba Jo and Jimmy. Johnny and Rheba Joe graduated from the Academy and are now married, and Jimmy is in the elementary school. The Berryhills have five grandchildren.

In addition to the pleasure he finds in his work, he enjoys all types of sports, especially football and archery. It is a familiar sight for Academy students to see Mr. Berryhill in the concession stand selling popcorn and candy at all the football and basketball games.

TEACHING his students the importance of studying God's Word daily is the goal Mr. Berryhill aims for in his Old Testament survey class.

INTERESTED in each student and his problems, Principal, Mr. Berryhill, spends much of his time counseling and encouraging anyone.

ADMINISTRATION

Our capable administration encourages maturity in us

PERRY S. MASON, MA, Superintendent of the Harding Academy has developed the Academy into an outstanding college preparatory school accredited by the North Central Association. He is sponsor of the Key Club and the Citizenship Club. Mr. Mason is active in civic affairs and preaches regularly for the church in Plummerville. His counsel is frequently sought on high school administration and he receives many requests to speak on Americanism.

J. E. BERRYHILL, MA, is principal of the Academy and has direct supervision of grades seven through twelve. He is a stimulating social science teacher and an understanding counselor. A versatile athlete in college, he is a staunch supporter of the Wildcats.

MAUDE MONTGOMERY, MA, is supervisor of the Harding Elementary School. In this capacity she coordinates the activities of the first six grades and supervises the observation experiences of all college students in the teacher education program.

FACULTY

Teachers assist all students to develop an understanding

The Academy faculty has grown considerably this year with the addition of several new teachers. Added to the English Department was Pat Pitre, who taught both English and speech classes. Margaret Bonnell taught junior and senior high school physical education classes. Pat Pitre and Margaret Bonnell reorganized the Debate Club this year and Pat Pitre also started the Thespian Club. Mattie Sue Sears taught the second grade in the elementary school. Other new teachers in the Academy this year were Helmut Petrich, who taught junior high school music, Robert Colvett, who taught algebra, Donald Robinson, who taught art, and Farrell Till, who taught French. With the aid of these new faculty members, Harding Academy has again this year strived to maintain the standards of better education set up by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

STUDENT LIFE

Social life reflects a genuine desire to excel

CLASSES are out, but this is not the end of the day for many students as all look forward to the varied extracurricular activities of the afternoon.

Life at Harding Academy is inspirational as well as educational. Each day is started by studying God's word in Bible classes and worshipping Him in daily chapel services.

Each student can enter into the numerous activities because all organizations are designed with Christian principles in mind. Musical groups play an important part of the Academy's life. Organizations, meeting twice a week, offer a variety of opportunities for development in different fields as science, scholarship, citizenship, school spirit and service.

Social life is provided by the different clubs as well as sports activities. Social clubs hold banquets and a picnic or outing each year. Before the new students can enjoy the experiences that social clubs offer, they are run through the mill during Pledge Week.

Education in all phases of life is provided at Harding. Pledge week, homecoming, chorus trips, ball games, banquets and class parties are all a part of the Academy's way of life.

"STUDY to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." This is the goal of daily Bible classes.

"YUM-M-M that pizza's delicious!" Football players and fans enjoy a pizza party after the homecoming game.

AMAZED at the knowledge of music they have gained, A Cappella members sing under the direction of world famous Dr. J. F. Williamson.

SCREAMS and cheers of what's the good word, let's win and victory fill the atmosphere at one of the Academy football pep rallies.

INSPIRATIONAL hymn singing in chapel gives every Academy student a good beginning for the rest of the day's many activities.

The Beta Club is an organization encouraging scholarship among the students. Membership for a student is obtained by a ninety or above average for two successive six weeks. Their annual project is to present the school with a framed picture of the senior class. The club planned a breakfast in the spring when they elected officers for the following year.

The purpose of the Citizenship Club is to help bring the administration and the students closer together. The members of the club work with Mr. Mason, their sponsor, to enforce school rules and suggest new ones. They sponsor the school paper each year. There are ten members in the club every year, a new member from each class being added each year.

The Thespian Club, in its first year at Harding Academy, is a branch of the National Thespian Society. The aim of this society is to establish and advance standards of excellence in all phases of dramatic arts. They hold an initiation each semester to install new members meeting the qualifications of the club.

Academy a cappella chorus sings with purpose

Membership in the Academy A Cappella Chorus is determined by vocal tryouts, but a desire to sing is very important. Members of the chorus are picked also on their character and scholastic standing. Every person in the chorus must have a real zeal for singing because of the hard practicing that goes into the chorus work. Their efforts are rewarded each year by a spring tour. The tour this year took the chorus through Louisiana to New Orleans and then into Southeastern Texas. Besides receiving valuable training in music, the chorus members are inspired daily by the life of their director, Brother Eddie Baggett. The association and knowledge each student receives from chorus work is well worth the time and effort he puts into it each year.

The sextet and quartet are chosen by competitive tryouts. They give a variety of programs and attend the All-State Chorus each year. The Large Chorus is a musical organization, meeting once a week, that is designed to help anyone who enjoys singing.

ENTHUSIASTIC A Cappella members receive valuable musical training in rehearsals under the able direction of their conductor, Brother Eddie Baggett.

Character and school spirit reflect in activities

Arousing school spirit for the team is the goal of the Pep Club. The enthusiastic members help to attain this goal by decorating the halls in the school building, supervising homecoming activities, planning all-school parties and supporting the team at all the games.

Under the expert leadership of sponsor Dale Gould, the Academy Science Club students made their plans for the Regional Science Fair, which was held in March.

The Harding Academy Key Club is a service club dedicated to helping school and community. The club conducted several projects this year including a fruit cake sale, a candy sale and a car wash. The money which the club earned was used to obtain facilities to benefit the school. Mr. Perry Mason, Superintendent of the Academy, sponsors this service club.

The future Homemakers of America this year had a membership of approximately twenty-five girls in grades ten through twelve. At Christmas time, with the aid of one of their chapter mothers, Mrs. Holder, the girls took gifts and a turkey to two families here in Searcy that deserved what little they could do for them. Their annual banquet was held in the spring with "A Tropical Island" as the theme. The second year for the FHA in the Academy has proved very beneficial for the members.

The Debate Club was one of two new clubs organized this year. Guided by sponsors Margaret Bonnell and Pat Pitre, the members were interested in learning the techniques of debating and reaching logical conclusions.

A really good newspaper was the reward received by the Wildcat staff for their hard work and perseverance. Under the capable editorship of Faye Bush, the Wildcat has been a source of pride to the entire school. Much time and effort was spent by Editor Ruth Anne Brown, assistant editor Mary Ann Sewell, and the staff of the Petit Jean this year in organizing the year-book.

Attitude of KAT pledges adds brightness to year

Before pledge week, the KAT social club members had several work parties and two bunking parties to prepare for the pledging and initiating of thirteen new club members. Informal initiation was held at Joan Ritchie's house and formal initiation at the home of sponsor, Pat Pitre.

The next event on the calendar for the KAT's was their banquet. The girls and their dates enjoyed an exotic evening on "A South Sea Island."

The project for this year was helping with the expenses of Brother Ritchie's trip to the Holy Lands next fall.

KAT. TOP ROW: Pitre (sponsor), Bales, Barrett, Bixler, Buffington. SECOND ROW: Cannon, Clyburn, Dupuy, Hedrick, Holloway. THIRD ROW: Lane, Lasley, Meurer, Ritchie, L. Wilson. FOURTH ROW: J. Wilson.

ENJOYING a buffet dinner in a South Sea Island setting, KAT's and their dates ponder over the selection of tempting dishes. For them it was the reward for many hours spent in its preparation.

PARTICIPATING in one of the social club banquets, K-9's and their dates enjoy a real western supper. Every year each club looks forward to planning their own banquet theme and decorations.

K-9

'Wanted dead or alive' is K-9's western theme

Starting their fifteenth year as a club in the Academy the K-9's had a swimming party in the college pool, where they played a friendly game of water polo.

The pledgemasters, under the supervision of sponsor Ed Higginbotham, initiated their nine new pledges into the club by feeding them several little "delicacies" at their informal initiation.

The theme for the annual western banquet was "Wanted Dead or Alive." The traditional smothered steak and beans filled the cowboys and cowgirls. Dr. J. D. Bales spoke on "Foods of the World" and the Travelairs sang several western songs for entertainment.

OFFICERS: Woodward, Pres.; Risinger, Vice-Pres.; Arnett, Rep.; Evans, Treas.; Ed Higginbotham, Sponsor.

"RHAPSODY in Blue" theme was carried out in decorations with a shower of blue streamers, as the STARS, their dates and guests enjoyed a delightful evening of good food and entertainment.

STAR

Candlelight initiation inspires STAR pledges

The climax of the STAR social club's informal initiation came when the eight blindfolded pledges fed each other chocolate coated marshmallows. This initiation was held at a bunking party at Mary Ruth Gibbon's house and the formal initiation was a candlelight ceremony at the home of Nena Hays.

"Rhapsody in Blue" was the theme for a most enjoyable banquet at Roberson's Rendezvous. At this time the senior girls presented their sponsor, Ruth Browning, with a corsage of white carnations.

Capable officers provide leadership for Vikings

The Viking initiation was a day of shining shoes, carrying books and picking up paper for the pledges. At the end of the day, after a final test of worthiness which included eating several dishes prepared by the pledgemasters, the seven pledges were made official club members.

On February 25, the Vikings had a pizza party at president Bobby Thompson's house. Each member had a part in the preparation of the meal and as a result the feast started well before the party officially began.

The Vikings held their annual banquet at Bill's Grill on March 18. The theme was planned in connection with St. Patrick's day.

OFFICERS. SPRING: Thompson, Pres.; Smith, Vice-Pres.; Hillis, Sec.-Treas. FALL: Thompson, Pres.; Smith, Vice-Pres.; Pace, Sec.-Treas.

"PIZZA tastes good like pizza should" is the statement made by a group of hungry boys at a Viking party. After the pizza was gone the Vikings decided to try their skill at the game of shuffleboard.

DURING Pledge Week Sub-Deb pledgemasters enjoy teaching their new pledges the correct way to propose to a tree. Their hoods prevented them from recognizing the originator of the tree's voice.

SUB-DEB

Energetic members participate in varied activities

The main event at the Sub-Deb informal initiation was the pledges' proposing to a tree with a mysterious voice. The formal initiation was a flower ceremony at Mary Ann Sewell's house.

Just before the Christmas holidays the Sub-Debs went caroling and then enjoyed hot chocolate at the home of their sponsor, Margaret Bonnell.

A gala evening was enjoyed by all at the annual banquet. The theme was "The Roaring Twenties." Pictures of the Sub-Debs and their dates were taken beside a "model A" car. The "Deb-of-Honor" for this year was presented a corsage of white mums.

OFFICERS. FALL: Sapp, Pres.; Thompson, Vice-Pres.; Holder, Sec.-Treas.; Baines, Rep.; Bush, Hist.; Atteberry, Deb-at-Arms. SPRING: Thompson, Pres.; Sapp, Vice-Pres.; Holder, Sec.-Treas.; Baines, Rep.; Bush, Hist.; Atteberry, Deb-at-Arms; Margaret Bonnell, Sponsor.

Cooperation of old and new ZKT's is rewarding

With an informal initiation of pledges at sponsor Eddie Baggett's home, new members were added to the ZKT social club. The club banquet, held at Roberson's Rendezvous, was enjoyed by the members and their dates. Entertainment included songs by Dot Beck and a speech by John Prock. His subject was "In whatever you do, be the best." Several other club get-togethers were held including stag parties at Kelley's Grill in Bald Knob where a "smorgasborg" was enjoyed by members and sponsor. Fellowship, laughs and many wonderful times were had by the ZKT's.

ZKT. TOP ROW: Baggett (sponsor), Anderson, Berryhill, Bridger, Hagler. SECOND ROW: Hughes, Jones, Lundy, Morris, Roberts. THIRD ROW: Wyatt.

FORMAL club banquet held at the Rendezvous provides a glamorous touch to the year's activities as the ZKT's, their dates and guests enjoyed a delightful evening of good food and entertainment.

Wildcats display eagerness and a desire to win

The Wildcats, depending on sophomores and juniors for power with only two seniors on the team, pushed ahead and ended the season with a 6-4 record. Although hampered by injuries, the Cats proved they had plenty of strength. The captains of the team were Kent Smith, Bobby Thompson and Jere Woodward.

The team lost the two district games this year, but two Wildcats worked hard enough to reserve a slot on the All-District 2B team. They were Bobby Thompson and Dale Ely. Honorable mention All-State end was Dale Ely.

STRETCHING for every yard he can gain, Mike Arnett, one of the Wildcats' leading rushers, heads for a long gainer against McCrory.

LAST minute instructions are given to End James Street as expert coach Ted Lloyd prepares to send him on the field for the next play.

GOING over the goal line for the winning touchdown against McCrory is fullback Bobby Thompson. With over six hundred yards to his credit, Thompson was the leading rusher for the Wildcats.

SENIOR BASKETBALL TEAM. Coach Lloyd, Lawyer, B. Smith, Lawson, Berryhill, Ely, Bell, Street, K. Smith, Martin, Risinger, Henson, Pulley (manager).

BASKETBALL

Sportsmanship, teamwork typify Wildcat team

HITTING a high percentage of his shots was one of the factors which helped place forward Dick Berryhill on the All-County team.

The Wildcats with a 14-9 record showed much improvement over last year. Under the excellent leadership of Coach Ted Lloyd, the cats won the first game of the county tournament from Griffithville only to lose to Judsonia by two points. Sophomore Dickie Berryhill, who scored 43 points in the tournament, was named to the All-County team. The team won the County Sportsmanship Award for the first time.

The Cats got to the quarter-finals in the district tournament by winning over Pleasant Plains in the first game. The second game with South Side of Batesville went into three overtimes with the Cats finally winning by one point. In the third game Heber Spring overpowered the Cats ending their hopes for a district championship.

Losing no one by graduation, the Wildcats are looking forward to an excellent season next year and should be competitors in both the county and district tournaments.

AIMING straight, shooting properly and making the basket is the goal forward Dale Ely works toward every time he goes up to shoot.

ACCURATE shooting of guard Kent Smith against the Swifton Pirates enabled him to help lead the Wildcats to a 14-9 record this year.

HUSTLING Cats go up for the ball as they press hard toward a victory. Sportsmanship was a great factor in the Wildcats' fine season.

Cindermen enjoy much honor and satisfaction

HURDLER Bill Smith realizes how important those hard daily practice sessions are when the real competition comes at track meets.

Under leadership of Coach Ted Lloyd the Academy track team, fielding the largest team in several years, viewed the coming season with great determination and a desire to win.

The returning letermen were Jere Woodward and Kent Smith who ran the sprints and relays; Bill Smith, who ran the hurdles; James Street, who threw the discus; Harry Risinger, who ran the mile; Dale Ely, who ran the 880; James Sears, who put the shot; and Mike Arnett, who ran the sprints. The performances of these letermen made the season successful.

During the 1962 season the Cats won the County and District meets scoring 105¼ points in the County and 87½ points in the District. They broke five relay records in both meets.

TRACK TEAM. FRONT ROW: Leal, F. Arrotta, Morris, Sapp, Martin, B. Arrotta, Winnett, Glenn. SECOND ROW: Berryhill, Thompson, Cope, Roger Bell, Fraizer, Lawson, Ronny Bell, Clyburn, Hartley, Lawyer. THIRD ROW: Coach Lloyd, K. Smith, Woodward, B. Smith, Arnett, Sears, Ely, Street, Risinger, Pulley (manager).

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

Wildcats' junior cage team was small but fast

The junior basketball team ended their season with a 14-6 record. Coach Ed Higginbotham led the Wildcats to this good season.

The team was knocked out of the first rounds of the White County Tournament, but went to the semi-finals of the District Tournament. There they lost to Oil Trough.

Jerry Moore was named to the All-County team and Marty Thompson was placed on the All-District team.

The Wildcats will have to work next year to beat this season's record since four of the starters will be lost to the senior team.

ACCURATE aiming in shooting and excellent balance is displayed by the junior team's All District player, Marty Thompson.

BUYERS' GUIDE

Although it is proverbial for a big gulf to exist between the "gown and town," a close relationship exists between Harding College and the city of Searcy. The faculty and students of the college contribute much to the economic status of the city and assist with many civic projects. The business and professional men of Searcy express their interest in the college in many ways and their advertising in the Petit Jean is one significant participation in student activities. Students should express their appreciation to those who advertise herein by patronizing their places of business.

Students always enjoy the fine barbering service of the CENTRAL BARBER SHOP at 310 North Spring Street.

"But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three and the greatest of these is love." — I CORINTHIANS 13:13.

Within a few days the 1962-63 school year will be concluded and we shall return to our homes in many states. We are not the same people who enrolled in September because our lives have been changed by the things we have learned and the associations we have enjoyed. Our knowledge has increased, our goals have been sharpened and our souls have been challenged and stimulated. We have seen how effectively the principle of love serves as a motivating influence on the Harding campus.
