REFLECTED beauty is symbolic of the spiritual truths taught within the Bible building as student and faculty strive toward more Christ-like lives.

Harding College — a dynamic liberal arts Christian college — moves onward, growing, and improving in every aspect. Students are inspired to seek truth in all areas, to render service to all people, and to develop social and emotional maturity. The physical plant is being expanded, the curriculum undergoes continuing study, and the faculty is being strengthened. The new research program in the natural sciences, NCATE approval of the undergraduate teacher education program, and the two-million dollar campaign for the American Heritage-Alumni building and a new science building are major developments of the current year. This growth stimulates loyalty of students, alumni, and faculty and implements the achievement of institutional objectives. The attainment of high goals are WITHIN OUR REACH through the providence of God if we only apply ourselves diligently.

CONSTRUCTION in elemental forms is seen as a solitary worker continues to labor for the "Greater Harding" program.

INQUISITIVE young minds seek the helpful assistance of a willing student teacher, Jan Hughes, who accentuates her instructions with the warmth of a smile.

VALUABLE pulpit experience is gained by Tom Hooten, student preacher, as he applies his acquired knowledge.

SPEAKING softly only to twilight, the gentle ripples shatter the mirrored campus.

INSTILLING the desire to "think," Dr. Atteberry motivates his students toward greater creativity by fulfilling their needs as inquisitive young people.

ENJOYING each other at home Dr. Atteberry, his wife Ruth, and children Jim and Jan exemplify the ideal Christian family.

*Honor is given where honor is due —
1964 Petit Jean is dedicated to
Dr. James L. Atteberry*

When we arrived on the Harding campus as freshmen in the fall of 1960, he had just returned from a two-year leave of absence completing requirements for the Ph.D. degree. Because of the high esteem in which he was held by upperclassmen, we looked forward to being in one of his composition classes. Many of us developed a deeper appreciation of literature in his sophomore humanities class and were amazed at the breadth and depth of his knowledge. Many of us also had our faith deepened through his Bible class on Sunday morning. Many of us have profited from his wise counsel and have been encouraged by his friendly smile.

To a man who has given a decade of dedicated service at Harding College and has encouraged us to achieve excellence in all our undertakings we, the senior class, respectfully dedicate the 1964 PETIT JEAN — to Dr. James L. Atteberry, Jr.

James L. Atteberry, Jr., was born in Rogersville, Missouri, September 30, 1923. His college education began when he enrolled in Abilene Christian College in 1941 but was interrupted by a term in the U. S. Air Force.

He completed the B.A. degree with a major in English at A.C.C. in 1946 and immediately enrolled in the University of Texas for graduate study, completing the M.A. degree in 1948. He served as Assistant Professor of English at the Colorado School of Mines from 1948 to 1953 when he joined the faculty at Harding. He returned to the University of Texas in 1958 to work toward the doctorate holding first a Danforth Faculty Fellowship and then a Southern Fellowship. Dr. Atteberry received the Ph.D. degree in June, 1961, with a major in English Renaissance Literature and a minor in philosophy. He returned to Harding in the fall of 1960 and was promoted to chairman of the Department of English in 1963.

Dr. Atteberry married his undergraduate sweetheart, Ruth Drum of Forth Worth, Texas, in 1943. The Atteberrys have two children who attend the Harding Academy. With the assistance of his wife and children, Dr. Atteberry constructed their lovely brick house.

Learned societies in which Dr. Atteberry holds membership are the Modern Language Association, National Council of Teachers of English and Arkansas Council of Teachers of English. Dr. Atteberry serves on several college committees and as a deacon in the college church.

WHOLESOME exercise and relaxation aid in making Dr. Atteberry a more challenging personality.

Within Our Reach

"Intellectual power awakened by stimulating atmosphere"

INTELLECTUAL pursuits are stimulated by the accessibility of the open stacks — within the reach of every student.

FINDING an outlet for their musical talents, Betty Ely and Earl Davidson perform with the Belles and Beaux.

EFFERVESCENT in personality, Jimmy Allen easily captures attentive ears with his vivid presentation of the Word.

The intellectual capacity of man — his ability to reason abstractly, his spiritual capacity to comprehend God, and his aesthetic sense to appreciate the beautiful — distinguishes him from all other creatures on earth. The great scientific and technological achievements of the twentieth century are a testimony to the power of the human mind. With the development of atomic and nuclear energy has come a realization of man's need to develop his spiritual resources. Since each man is what he has been taught to be, education is becoming increasingly important not only for vocational ends but also for cultural, aesthetic, social, and spiritual development. Opportunities almost beyond comprehension await the person who takes advantage of the educational opportunities afforded at Harding. WITHIN THE REACH of each student are great vistas of knowledge, wonder, service, and achievement that can be realized through the proper development and use of his intellect.

PATIENTLY waiting for the graduation ceremonies to begin, seniors view the close of one phase of their lives.

"Spiritual experiences create deeper understanding of the true meaning of Christianity"

Recognition of God as the creator of the universe and as the Supreme Being to whom man owes first allegiance is the basic principle upon which Harding College is built. Christ is accepted as "the way, the truth, and the life" and the Bible is revered as God's revealed will to man. Love of God and man is daily demonstrated through periods of worship and various acts of Christian service. Students will never forget the beautiful singing, the earnest prayers, and the moving messages that characterize the worship services. By ministering to the needs of the aged and the sick, by teaching children's Bible classes and doing personal work, and by other means the joy, peace, and happiness of the dedicated Christian life is experienced. Many students learn for the first time the real meaning of Christianity and that Christ and His way are WITHIN THEIR REACH.

SILHOUETTED by natural light, students remain to nurture spiritual thoughts and for retrospection as "Be still and know that I am God" is illuminated.

HAPPINESS scintillated in those who made Christmas a joyful event for homeless children with gifts from the Dolly Drive.

DAYLIGHT fades into evening's shadows, but Carole Humphreys finds a fadeless light in the peaceful solitude of personal meditation.

CRISP autumn weather accented by a sprinkling of the fallen leaves is conducive to casual moments in the swings for Jerry Baker and Clarita Bartley.

GRUELING practice into the early evening under the close scrutiny of Dr. R. T. Clark produced a championship cross-country unit.

"Opportunities encourage social life and physical development"

Essential to the education of every student is his growth and development as a member of society. As important as intellectual development is, man is more than an intellect and there is a need for physical and social development. Each student is challenged to find the proper balance in these facets of his being. Organized sports give students an opportunity to release tension, to develop physical vigor, and to improve muscular co-ordination and agility. These activities also aid in social development since students must learn to work together as a team and good sportsmanship is emphasized as a major goal. Social clubs and various other organizations have as a major objective the social development of students. A well-adjusted personality is WITHIN THE REACH of each student at Harding.

HOOTENANY, Harding style, is initiated by APK social club with the spirits of gaiety and excitement on a brisk fall night.

Administration

As important as good physical facilities, an excellent library, and a strong curriculum are to a college, the real status of a college as an institution of higher learning is determined by the strength of its faculty. Not only is the teacher important for purveying information, elucidating abstract truth, and maintaining academic standards, but he is also important — perhaps most important — as an exemplar of the man the student seeks to become. High ideals and the spirit of inquiry can be “caught” much easier than they can be “taught.” The knowledge, wisdom, and friendship of the academically prepared and genuinely dedicated faculty at Harding enables the faculty to guide, counsel, instruct, and inspire the students to achieve great goals in life. The attainment of these great goals is WITHIN OUR REACH.

1904 Ruby Lowery Stapleton 1963

In Memoriam

For more than thirty years Ruby Lowery Stapleton gave dedicated and unselfish service to Harding College. The only graduate of the class of 1926, she was a leader in campus activities and a superior student academically. After completing the M.A. degree at the University of Oklahoma, she returned to Harding in 1932 to teach English and journalism and to sponsor the student publications. When the college moved from Morrilton to Searcy in the summer of 1934, she supervised the moving of furniture and other facilities. Mrs. Stapleton was dedicated to the cause of Christ and to Christian education. Her friendly smile and genuine interest in students influenced for good thousands of young lives. A memorial service was held in the College Auditorium on October 23. She is survived by her husband, Dr. E. R. Stapleton, a son, Glen Dewey, and a daughter, Mary Claire, a senior home economics major.

DURING the pre-session faculty conference at which time the philosophies and objectives of the college are discussed, various faculty members suggest ways to make 1963-64 a more effective year for all.

INTRODUCTION

Cooperation characterizes attitude of leaders

Cooperation between administration, faculty, and students is very important to an effective school year. A renewed Student Association organizational program has served as a go-between for students and administration. Problems, questions, and suggestions have been received and discussed with a friendly and helpful spirit. Harding's instructors work hard to build a greater school. A pre-school conference held annually at Camp Tahkodah serves as a basis for each year's planning. Regular faculty meetings help to carry out the direction of these plans.

The dedication of these teachers to their work is an inspiration to the students. Their dedication is shown through such things as the giving of the first $80,000 toward the Greater Harding program at its outset a year ago, their willingness to spend extra time counselling with students, and sponsoring social and special interest clubs.

STRIVING toward better student-administration relationships, Joel Anderson and Dr. Benson discuss some future activities of the S.A.'s executive council.

Dedication and enthusiasm motivate Dr. Benson

DR. GEORGE S. BENSON's world is filled with Christian principles, high ideals for the American way of life, and the advancement of Harding College. It is the kind of world which has a never-ending stream of work to be done and one which demands continual vigorous activity.

For the past year he has been engrossed in the "Greater Harding" program and by December 1, 1963, he had raised more than one and one-fourth million dollars for the planned buildings on the Searcy and Memphis campuses. The proposed goal of two million dollars is becoming a reality.

Another vital role which Dr. Benson fills is that of being an elder in the College Church of Christ in Searcy. Dr. and Mrs. Benson should always be an inspiration to students because of the dedication and devotion they have for Christ and His kingdom.

Serving ably as secretary for the president, Miss Marguerite O'Banion works diligently to aid Dr. Benson and Harding College.

TIRELESSLY performing her duties as executive secretary, Miss Marguerite O'Banion proves invaluable to Dr. Benson.

STRIKING a pensive pose, Dr. Benson seems to contemplate the futures of the 1962 graduates before the ceremonies begin, realizing that he has an initial part in molding the lives of many students.

DR. GEORGE STUART BENSON, LLD, PRESIDENT

Versatile, energetic, dedicated, and dynamic are descriptive words which are synonymous with the personality of DR. GEORGE S. BENSON, Harding's president who is a nationally known figure.

CAREFULLY studying the scriptures together daily, Dr. and Mrs. Benson live the truths they discover.

ADMINISTRATION

Administrators exhibit energy and competence

DR. CLIFTON L. GANUS, JR. capably holds several positions at Harding. Other than being vice-president of the school, he is chairman of the Department of History and Social Science, Dean of the School of American Studies and chairman of the Graduate Council. He holds membership in Alpha Chi, national honor society. He is a participant in the Lion's Club, Searcy Chamber of Commerce and serves on the Board for the Quapaw area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Dr. Ganus is known nationally for his advocacy of Americanism in speeches before various civic, industrial, and educational groups. Each summer he directs a youth seminar on Americanism at Harding for high school students.

In spite of his busy schedule, he always works with students. He is sponsor of the Sub-T men's club and he avidly supports all Bison sports.

TRAVELING across the nation and lecturing widely, Dr. Ganus ably presents Harding's strong belief in basic American ideals.

DR. R. T. CLARK has brought a new era to Harding. As vice-president in charge of research, he has set up a complete physical fitness program which includes fitness testing, conditioning classes, and physiology research.

Dr. Clark's coaching aptness has been demonstrated by the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference championship won by his cross-country team, which also racked up honors by placing eleventh in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics meet at Omaha, Nebraska, in the fall of 1963.

His kindly humor and friendly smile have made him a favorite of juniors as they selected him for a co-sponsor of their class. With the entire student body he is popular as a speaker, coach, instructor, and friend.

Dr. Clark has been a loyal alumnus of Harding College since his graduation. He received the Distinguished Alumnus Award at the 1962 commencement. Members of the Alumni Association elect the recipient. The announcement of his joining the faculty was a welcome one.

NATIONALLY known for his work in the field of scientific research, Dr. Robert T. Clark takes a brief time out from his taxing schedule.

Directing the policies of Harding College is the monumental task of the BOARD OF TRUSTEES. This organization serves the school by meeting biannually to make decisions concerning the goals and the development of Harding. Serving without salary is exemplary of their dedication and devotion to Christian education.

Dr. L. M. Graves, M.D., a member of the Board since 1941, has served as Chairman since 1954. Other officers are Dr. Houston T. Karnes, Vice-Chairman; W. D. Beeman, Treasurer; and R. D. Fuller, Secretary. New members of the Board are John D. Baldwin, James T. Cone, and Olen Hendrix.

Balancing Harding's budget is only one phase of LOTT TUCKER's work as business manager. Besides supervising the financial affairs, Mr. Tucker is in charge of maintenance for the school's multi-million dollar plant, supervising Harding's auxiliary enterprises, and supervising construction on the campus. He is also responsible for investment of the school's endowment funds. Mr. Tucker is a member of the Southern Association of College and University Business Officers. He is active in Searcy affairs as secretary of the Municipal Planning Commission and as a past officer in the Searcy Kiwanis Club. Little League boys benefit from his coaching each summer.

POSSESSING wise judgment and an alert mind, Business Manager Lott Tucker, the epitome of efficiency, handles Harding's financial responsibilities.

Leadership provided by capable administrators

JOSEPH E. PRYOR, PhD

Wise counsel from experienced teachers is an important phase of education. Harding's deans serve the student body and faculty in innumerable ways. Guidance is actually the most valuable of the student aids they offer — guidance, not only for program and career planning, but also for personal and spiritual growth. They always find time to be of service. Saying "no" to a student who needs help is out of their realm as Christian servants.

DR. JOSEPH E. PRYOR, Dean of the College, works closely with the students, advising, and helping them plan their college work. "Dr. Joe," as he is known to all, continues to teach certain courses in chemistry and mathematics. He takes an active part in national and regional organizations and holds the office of Secretary-Treasurer of Region II of Alpha Chi. Last summer he was appointed a Coordinator for the Liberal Arts Study Program of the North Central Association. He is Harding's faculty representative to the Arkansas Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. His interest in the activities of students is shown by his serving as sponsor of the Arkansas Eta Chapter of Alpha Chi, co-sponsor of the TNT Club, and as faculty advisor of the Petit Jean Staff. He began teaching at Harding in 1944 after completing his doctorate in physical chemistry. His hobbies include sports, photography, and reading.

VIRGIL H. LAWYER, MA

VIRGIL H. LAWYER's third year at Harding College has proven as equally challenging as the previous two in his positions of Dean of Students and Director of Admissions. The addition of Ken Dunn as field representative to the Dean's office has alleviated some of the need of his being away from the school so much during the year to contact prospective students.

Mr. Lawyer is well-known among students for his friendly smile, encouraging words, and daily chapel announcements to which he often adds a bit of humor. His kindly counsel is welcomed by students who need help with either academic or personal problems. Usually, when absent from the office, he will be found with his family or perhaps playing golf.

Combining grade reports, analyzing academic records, and counseling with students about graduation requirements are all in a day's work for VIRGIL BECKETT, Registrar. As chairman of the Academic Scholarship Committee, he has the responsibility of supervising the setting up of college academic probation policies and seeing that these are actuated. Keeping up with current developments in his field is accomplished by his membership in the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and in the Arkansas Association of Collegiate Registrars.

Mr. Beckett is an active Kiwanian. His off-hours pleasure is often spent in watching a game of football, basketball, or baseball.

VIRGIL M. BECKETT, BA

INEZ PICKENS, BA

INEZ PICKENS, Dean of Women, has the responsibility of guiding Harding's women students in their campus lives. Her influence is one which should help them to grow into mature Christian women. Other than this position, Mrs. Pickens supervises Pattie Cobb Hall and teaches junior and senior English classes at Harding Academy. Students long remember her interesting presentations of English and American literature. Exemplary of her interest in Harding students is her continued attendance at Bison and Wildcat sports events. Her continued interest is shown through correspondence with former students and friends.

FRIENDLINESS is characteristic of Dean Lawyer as he talks with freshman Gary Sizemore concerning necessary absences.

BIBLE

Goals and values are guided by inspiration and instruction

The principle upon which Harding College was founded is that the Bible is the most important subject that can be taught. To see that this truth is given concrete reality in the lives of the students, each student enrolls in a Bible course each semester. The Department of Biblical Language reinforces the Bible Department. In addition to the college curriculum, the Bible program includes such activities as religious seminars conducted by outstanding spiritual leaders, special mission interest and evangelism groups, and an annual fall Bible lectureship.

The Bible Department is staffed by a group of dedicated men who are genuinely interested in the spiritual development of each student. W. Joe Hacker, Jr., serves as chairman of the department and co-ordinator of campus religious activities. During the fall semester Andy T. Ritchie visited the Holy Land and missionaries in Europe and Africa while John McRay completed residence work at the University of Chicago on the Ph.D. degree in New Testament. During the spring semester Jimmy Allen visited the Holy Land for special study.

EDUCATION AND RESEARCH

Varied program, facilities provide learning situations

In today's highly specialized world, education has assumed a dominant role and is becoming one of the most important activities of our society. For this reason, the training of teachers and continuing educational research are emphasized in the college program. Approximately sixty per cent of recent Harding graduates have certified in the teacher education program. The undergraduate teacher education program was approved by the National Council for Accreditation of Teachers Education in May, 1963, for the preparation of elementary and secondary teachers. Dr. W. K. Summitt was elected to the Board of Directors of the Higher Education Department of the Arkansas Educational Association and Dr. Edward G. Sewell is serving as president of the Arkansas Association for Student Teaching.

Beaumont Memorial Library contains 71,000 carefully-selected and well-screened volumes in addition to pamphlets, records, and microfilm. The collection is being increased at the rate of approximately 2,500 volumes per year. Classroom instruction is enhanced by the services of the Audio-Visual Center.

HUMANITIES AND FINE ARTS

Study of fine arts arouses appreciation and creativity

In a technical and industrial society, there is a strong tendency to relegate the humanities and fine arts to a secondary position. Harding College realizes, however, the importance of the liberal arts tradition in producing men who know something of the culture and literature of the past and who have the ability to communicate their ideas effectively to others. The general education program includes courses in art and music appreciation, composition, basic speech, and world literature. Major programs are offered in art, English, journalism, music, and speech. The objectives of this division are implemented by several of the student organizations—chorale, A Cappella, band, debating, dramatics, and student publications.

Mr. Neil B. Cope, professor of journalism, is serving as divisional chairman. Dr. James L. Atteberry, Jr. became chairman of the Department of English in the spring of 1963. New teachers in the Department of English are Venita Bridger and Grover C. Goynes. Faculty members in art, music, and journalism fill many requests from the community for their special services.

LITERATURE comes to life as Dr. L. C. Sears stresses the importance of the Shakespearean era by providing much extraneous information of the period.

NATURAL SCIENCE

Practical instruction received with lecture and experience

Meeting the challenge of excellence in its various academic programs is a guiding policy at Harding College. Nowhere is this better exemplified than in the Division of Natural Science where a team research program in the life sciences has been launched in the recently purchased Harding College Health Center. Dr. R. T. Clark, an internationally recognized physiologist and formerly director of research in space medicine for the U. S. Air Force, is director of the research program and professor of biology. Other new members of the science faculty are Robert Claunch in chemistry and Dr. Norman Hughes in biology. Dr. W. Clark Stevens re-joined the faculty after a year's leave for post-doctoral research on an NIH Fellowship in marine microbiology at the University of Miami. Dr. W. D. Williams, promoted this year to Chairman of the Department of Physical Science, served as chairman of the Central Arkansas Section of the American Chemical Society.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Recognizing the importance of our government problems

As the need for each citizen to become well informed on major national and international issues increases because improved transportation and communication shrinks the world, Harding College feels a responsibility to provide each student basic information in the social sciences through general education courses in history, economics, and political science.

Because of the growing need for trained leadership in business, education, and government, the American Studies Program was organized which provides special seminars, lectures, and study trips for interested superior students in these areas. The program seeks to provide a better understanding of the factors contributing to the American way of life. Trips were made to Chicago in the fall to New Orleans in the spring to study various business, industrial, and governmental operations. This program is directed by Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr.

New faculty members in the division this year are Ted M. Altman and Joe T. Segraves in history and Jerry D. Starr in economics and business administration.

PLEASANTLY greeting Rudy Cantu as he goes through the cafeteria line, dietitian and manager Mrs. Hart efficiently sees that every student is served.

Campus facilities efficiently operated by dedicated staff

In any organization as large as Harding College, it is necessary that a behind-the-scenes cooperative effort on the part of many people exist to keep the various phases of operation working smoothly at all times. Students frequently do not recognize the importance of the activity of the team of staff members. These people with their personal supervision, interest, and devotion render services daily that directly affect the life of each student. They plan and prepare meals in the cafeteria and student center, place the mail in the sub-station boxes, maintain the buildings, beautify the campus, do the secretarial work in campus offices, pilot the college plane, or perform one of many other services.

Student Life

Opportunities for a student to develop all facets of his personality are presented on the Harding campus. Not only are college days a time of preparation for future responsibilities but they are also a time for dynamic living. The wide range of extra-curricular activities, the varied interests of visiting speakers and performers, the numerous opportunities for Christian service, and the cosmopolitan nature of the student body make the campus a little cosmos of society. Leadership and teamwork are developed in student activities whether sponsored by social clubs, special interest groups, or the student council. The interaction of student with student in dormitory and campus life is a major factor in developing the Harding spirit. WITHIN THE REACH of each student are the rewarding experiences of college life.

SEEKING a reverence and a nearness to God, students enter into the College Church and prepare their minds for the inspirational lessons to be received from the worship services.

RELIGIOUS LIFE

Living devotion and spirituality reflected in lives

Bowed heads . . . a cool breeze . . . moonlight . . . quietness — young people in prayer typify religious life at Harding College. Prayer and worship to the Father find their way into college Bible classes, the dining hall, athletic events, and the thoughts of many students throughout the day. Daily chapel, lily pond devotionals, dormitory evening vespers, and Monday night meetings are held expressly for that purpose. Academic instruction in Bible is offered each semester and through quarterly Bible seminars more information can be gained. The annual Bible lectureship and a vigorous program of instruction by the College congregation further minister to the students' spiritual needs. To enable students to focus religious fervor into particular channels, special interest groups cater to specific needs. A consecrated faculty; serious, dedicated students; and programs rich in spiritual instruction and inspiration compose the core from which emanates all phases of religious life present at Harding College.

NIGHTLY vesper services provide an opportunity for girls to participate in leadership training as well as inspirational devotionals.

SEMINAR speaker Ira North holds his audience spell-bound as he emphasizes in a dramatic manner the possibilities of acquainting the world with Christ.

IMAGES of students are mirrored in the lily pond as they pause for a Friday night devotional. The hymns reflect their spirits which exemplify a respect for God.

Varied experiences provide for individual growth

Living on a college campus allows for many and varied experiences. Harding campus is no different. Social development ranks high as the students become aware of their surroundings. Pep rallies, gab sessions in the student center, eating in the cafeteria, studying in a solitary room, realizing the impact of American traditions . . . all of these are integrated with Christian ideals to make the lives of students more well-rounded.

Campus life includes the everyday things from hitching a ride under a friend's umbrella to the enjoyment of a period of worship in chapel. Time is found for tennis and softball, and many students are active in the intramural program.

Everyday activities, although they may seem trivial at the time, result in the formation of the ideal individual. The proper setting is provided. From the first stroll across campus as a freshman to the last walk down the aisle at graduation, the senses are awakened in work and play to the reality of life as a student.

AMID the day's busy activities, Bob Johnson, Sharon Wisener, and Sandy Fields pause to enjoy the more amiable aspects of college life.

ROUSING pep rallies led by Bison cheerleaders in front of the Administration building before the games prove to be an integral aspect in boosting the team as school spirit rises to a feverish peak.

SYMBOLIC of the sorrow felt after the assassination of President Kennedy, the flag at half-mast is viewed by students bringing his death to a reality.

STUDYING in the solitude of his room away from the hustle and bustle of the campus, junior Otis Edge prepares for an examination that is coming all too soon.

BUSILY engaged in a service project for the school, several members of the Mohican social club "cheerfully" clean out the Lily pool.

CAUGHT in a driving rain storm, an unidentified couple share an umbrella as they make a hurried dash toward the nearest shelter.

STRESSING the necessity of student support in a general all-school SA meeting, Bob Brewer addresses the group concerning student projects.

DREAMING of the completion of the newest construction on campus, seniors point out various foundations of the alumni building with pride.

"FOR WHOM the Bell Tolls" signals the close of another day as students, returning from the library, linger for a brief minute to bid a last goodnight.

TENNIS is an enjoyable means of recreation and exercise as Sandie Smith and Joe Belew discover, while teaming up for a vigorous game of doubles.

Companionships add vital sparkle to campus life

EXPERT manipulation of Reba Wood and Pat McMackin's "essential" clothing by Wilmer Rikard speeds the inevitable task of packing for a week-end trip.

MAKING new acquaintances and engaging in invigorating conversation helps to develop social graces during mealtime in the cafeteria.

PROVIDING food and a pleasant place for student associations, the college inn is filled with activity as classmates seek diversions from studies which help fulfill the social aspect of their lives.

MAY DAY

Festive ceremony welcomes spring with beauty

The coming of Spring brought many activities typical of the season to the Harding campus. One such activity, characteristic only of the Harding campus, was the early morning rehearsals for the May Fete. Early in the month of April, girls began to emerge from their dorms at 6:00 a.m. to practice winding the May pole. As May Day approached their steps became surer and their anticipation grew.

On May 1 all early rehearsal hours were forgotten in the presentation of the May Fete. The three queen candidates were introduced and the May Queen was crowned. Following the crowning ceremonies, the queen and her court, composed of representatives from the women's social clubs and escorts from the men's social clubs, watched as the May pole was skillfully wound by girls in pastel dresses. The multi-colored streamers were woven into intricate patterns as the music of the Nutcracker Suite played.

The pageant, a project of the Ju Go Ju women's social club, has been held annually for the past thirty years on the front of the campus. Each year it is enjoyed by many Harding students and visitors to the school.

REFLECTING the majesty of May Day, the lily pool doubles the effectiveness of the occasion.

VIEWING the activities from above, one sees the May pole winders performing the intricate routines as they weave the streamers for the queen and her court.

AFTER being crowned May Queen, Pat Bowman displays the poise and charm that bespeaks the title.

CLIMAXING a festive day, Dr. Joe Pryor, with an obvious expression of delight, crowns lovely Pat Bowman Queen of May as her loyal court, Louise Tucker and Jeff Rorex, look admiringly on.

DELIGHTED at being crowned the Petit Jean Queen, Carmen Alexander shows poise and elegance as runners-up Marcia Phillips and Sheila Mitchell look on.

CLIMAXING a year of work, Anna Belle Climer, editor of the 1963 Petit Jean, presents "her" annual to the students.

SMILING Carmen Alexander radiates happiness as SA President Harmon Brown crowns her 1963 Petit Jean Queen at the dedication ceremonies.

EDITOR Anna Belle Climer presents Dr. Jack Wood Sears with the first copy of the Petit Jean dedicated to him for his service to Harding.

Recognition, honor given at annual presentation

An excited editor and staff, an anticipating student body, and three especially thrilled ladies are all components of that special day when the secrets of the year's Petit Jean are revealed. For the editor and staff, it means the culmination of a year of hard work. For the students, it holds connotations that range from guesses as to who the personalities are and what the cover looks like to ideas of which page will be reserved for that special someone. For the lovely ladies, it means the revelation of which one shall reign as queen of the annual. After the impressive dedication program, a mad rush ensues to the distribution points, where the students grab their annuals and sit down on campus to hurriedly glance through them before eating their sack lunches which are also specialties of the day. Later as they take time to look more carefully, there are excited screams as pictures of themselves and of friends are found among the pages of the year's history review.

RELAXING on the campus, students eagerly look through the newly-presented Petit Jean to find pictures of the year's various activities.

PETIT JEAN QUEEN NOMINEES. Sheila Mitchell, Mary Ellen Baskin, Karen Parsons, Dorothy Christmas, Charolette Chitty, Anita Smith, Pat Watson, Doris Morris, Linda Chisam, Connie Kennison, Leah Gentry, Judy Daniel, Janie Miller, Charlotte Burkett, Ruth Ann Selby.

GRADUATION is a time of mixed emotions as Seniors reflect on the many exciting events that have occurred over the past several years and look with uncertainty and wonder to the future.

GRADUATION

Achievements rewarded as year reaches climax

DISTINGUISHED Senator John McClellan of Arkansas views our beautiful campus before delivering a stirring address to the 1963 Harding graduates.

As the end of the year approached, seniors began to participate in their final activities as Harding students. On May 30, 1963, one hundred seventy seniors became graduates, realizing the goal of their years of study. The diploma they received represented their preparation for meeting the challenges of the future. In the Commencement address, the senior senator of Arkansas, Honorable John L. McClellan, described the world in which they would find their future as one of "clashing doctrines of ideologies that are irreconcilable." The graduates were urged by the senator to assume the obligations that were theirs as adult citizens in creating a better world.

In the Baccalaureate services Sunday night, May 26, Dr. Clark Stevens, professor of biological science at Harding, advised the graduating students to seek after godly wisdom, a quality that is certainly a requisite to the individual attempting to promote a better future. Dr. Stevens stated that godly wisdom is composed of three component parts — knowledge, sound judgment, and application.

DURING his leave for further graduate study, Dr. Clark Stevens delivers an inspirational Baccalaureate address.

PARTICIPATION plus desire earns Zeta Rho the Sportmanship Award which is presented to president Leah Gentry by Marge Ryan, women's intramural director.

SENIORS march down the aisle cherishing pleasant memories and exit as graduates of Harding College holding the diplomas which represent four years of diligent work.

RECEIVING the Phi Alpha Theta History Award for his top average, Jimmy Jones is given the medal by Dr. Spaulding.

BEGINNING OF SCHOOL

New way of life begins for many in September

HAPPY to be back at school, senior Jane Eubanks does not seem to mind the drudgery of moving in. The thrill of seeing her friends offsets this task.

EXERCISING their privileges to vote, students make their selections for frosh class officers in elections which prove an experience in political maneuvering.

Hectic, busy, strange, and memorable is that first week of school. Perhaps to freshmen it is the most memorable of all the events of the year. There are seemingly endless tests to take, cards to fill out, lines to stand in, and people to meet. Social events of the week included the annual Alumni reception for new students, Student Association-sponsored mixers and an all-school watermelon party where entertainment abounded in the form of speeches, jokes, group singing, a pep rally for the first Bison football encounter of the year, and a watermelon eating contest from which sophomore Tom Blucker emerged as the undisputed victor.

The fall meeting with Dr. F. W. Mattox as the speaker gave new students an insight into the inspirational religious life that was to be found at Harding.

On Friday, however, an even stranger facet of the new college life began — classes — with seemingly formidable teachers, assignments, and tests to be mastered.

ABLY serving along side of Paula Peacock, Dave Lawyer can not resist the temptation of a bite of watermelon at the all-school event.

ANTICIPATING a complete year of activity, freshman Peggi Grandi and her parents exchange friendly greetings with Dean Virgil Lawyer.

DISCUSSING schedules for the fall term, several upperclassmen patiently wait in the long, seemingly unending registration line. Slight sunburns, tired feet, and weary fingers are all results of the day.

DISHEVELED and exhausted, Norma Clary and Pat Corbett take time out from the tough physical fitness tests to catch their breath.

Adventure, antagonism pursue harassed pledges

Indians, gophers, rats, ostriches, and Thermo-strockamortimers plague Harding's campus during that perennial week when upperclassmen enjoy demanding trivial tasks of freshmen and new students as they try to prove themselves "worthy" of club membership. Young ladies do not have to wait until leap year to ask for dates. That seventh week of school provides opportunities galore for dating and enjoying unusual antics such as watering the flagpole, going to breakfast every morning, shining shoes, writing love letters, measuring the sidewalks, and counting the Harding moons. The term sandwich takes on a new meaning as it is connected with the word date, to mean a social event at which one lady entertains two men or vice versa. Black books are used frequently by pledgemasters for recording demerits and merits to be remembered at initiation time. The week, however, ends with a more dignified air, as the organizations accept new members at impressive ceremonies.

VARIOUS types of unusual paraphernalia can be seen as students file out of chapel during pledge week as they attempt to avoid meeting their new "masters."

APPEARING before the dreaded lineup, Ju Go Ju pledges face their "kind" pledgemasters as a crowd of curious students view the spectacle as the "week that was" began in its usual fashion.

DICTATOR Anthony Gadberry takes advantage of pledging as he orders Ellis Haguewood and Wayne Arnold to tidy up his room as they experience the protracted drudgery of that fateful week.

STICKING together, one pledge helps another as Andy Whiddon signs a pledgebook for Phyllis Naylor.

PERCHED high, Beta Phi Kappa pledge, Jim Brown, "tidys up" the swings as Mary Ann Eddy is undisturbed.

NAMES, officers, and clubs are necessary for the completion of Betty Rathbun's Tri Kappa key, as Sam Sewell helps her master this task by signing the pledging emblem.

GLEEFULLY ringing the victory bell, members of the Homecoming Court rejoice with the crowd as the Bisons take a 39-0 win over Millsaps.

STANDING beside the freshmen bonfire, several Bison football players register mixed reactions as fans cheer for a Homecoming victory.

HIGHLIGHTING the student car-parade on the night preceding the Homecoming game and crowning, nominees display poise and charm.

ONE look at the scoreboard indicates a decisive victory for the Harding Bisons which provides ample incentive for the joyous Homecoming celebration.

HOMECOMING

Gaity, reunion, victory highlight a perfect day

The first Bison football victory of 1963, with a record-breaking score, thrilled fans as they spent an afternoon away from classes to celebrate Harding's Homecoming. Peals of the victory bell resounded across the field as cheerleaders, members of the court, and other spectators cheered each time the Bisons made a good move toward that all-important goal line. Cheerleader Charlotte Burkett, revealed as queen in half-time coronation ceremonies, was crowned by the 1962 Bison co-captains, Steve Smith and Jerry Mote. Delighted spectators rose to a standing ovation as Queen Charlotte and her court were presented and as the Bison Band marched onto the field in their new, long-awaited uniforms. Dress-up supper and the lyceum production by the Burke Family Singers ended the busy Homecoming weekend.

APPEARING for the first time in their new marching uniforms, the Bison Band proudly performs precision formations during the Homecoming half-time show.

Visitors benefit from instruction and diversion

Over 3,000 Christians from 27 states and two foreign countries invaded the campus Thanksgiving week for the 40th annual Harding College Lectureship, one of the largest on record. Focusing in on the theme, "Christ — the Way," were the featured evening speakers, Alonzo Welch, Raymond Kelcy, George Stevenson and Cleon Lyles. Thirty-six other outstanding Bible scholars were featured on daily forums, classes, and luncheons dealing with subjects ranging from church music to benevolent work. Aside from the academic emphasis, visitors thrilled to Harding's basketball victory over Little Rock University on Thanksgiving Day, 92-81, and were entertained by the campus music groups. No less a highlight was the annual Thanksgiving barbecue dinner which catered to practically all 3,000 registrants. The lectureship which was directed by Dr. W. B. West, Dean of the Harding School of Bible and Religion, and W. Joe Hacker, Jr., Chairman of the Department of Bible, was heralded by Hacker as one of the best ever.

LECTURESHIP registration offers various services such as lodging arrangements and class enrollment to visiting alumni and friends of Harding.

VISITORS at the annual Harding fall lectureship view the attractive Herald of Truth display which illustrates the various localities throughout the United States and Canada where the program is heard.

CAPACITY crowds attended Harding's lectureship to benefit from the study and knowledge of scholarly men as they lectured on "Christ — the Way."

AVENUES of new thought are opened at the Harding fall lectureship as outstanding speakers such as Alonzo Welch bring timely messages.

FELLOWSHIP during the informal dinner is found by all — alumni, students, and future students—as these guests enjoy the traditional barbeque dinner.

STRUGGLING to retrieve the loose ball, Bryan Jacobs competes against three L R U players to the delight of the overflowing Thanksgiving day crowd.

UNMARRED and deserted, the Harding campus reveals its beauty under a blanket of Christmas snow and quietly awaits the return of students who left to spend the holidays in various parts of the United States.

WINTER SCENES

Chilling winds, snow announce it's winter time

INGENUITY, talent, and kindness are evident in the array of playthings made for orphan children by Harding women and displayed at the SA Yule Party.

Winter on a college campus is more than a season of the year. The winter comes bringing cold and snow, but on campus a weather change signifies more than a difference in thermometer readings. The cold warrants mad dashes from warm dormitories to warm classrooms to a warm student center. And the snow means more than frozen beauty; it gives a respite from monotony to exuberant snowball fights, wet feet, and stiff red fingers.

And with the winter also comes the shorter days and longer darkness when nights at the books seem to be just a little slower and when students welcome the chance to escape to a basketball game.

Winter also brings that time of the year when students hear those annual songs and carols on the radio and look at the lighted trees and colored decorations in a certain way and pack the cars and buses and trains and wave good-bye to enjoy those precious few days at home.

BUSILY decorating her dormitory door, Carol Starr muses happily about the coming Christmas holidays she will be spending at home.

PLOTTING one of his devilish schemes, Cliff Ganus mesmerizes Ann Crawford and Jack Colvin amid winter magic of swirling snowflakes.

BUNDLED up with warm clothing to fend off the chilling winter wind, three students cheerfully accept the challenge to get to their classes without getting cold.

SCORING the clinching basket causes the overflow Harding throng to come to its feet as they sense the nearness of victory over Tech's Wonder Boys.

STRONG-ARM tactics of Porter Ragsdale prove ineffective as he tries to persuade Dalton Eddleman there is no six-foot rabbit named Harvey. Susan Haslam and Jon Farris try to restrain the forceful efforts of the orderly.

Students and guests entertain during Lyceums

Lyceums plus student productions provided varied entertainment for the students, administration, and guests. This year guest performers included Elec Hartman, a puppeteer, the Burke Family Singers, John Sebastian, a harmonica player, and the Cleveland Playhouse presenting The Rivalry.

Students and faculty combined efforts to present the spring talent show featuring a number of variety acts, singers, acrobats, and comedians. The Harding Band donned their concert uniforms for their spring program under the direction of Eddie Baggett.

The dramatic organization turned their efforts toward the production of Harvey, My Three Angels, and St. Joan. The A Cappella Chorus members and the drama department collaborated in the production of The Mikado for the annual opera.

GRAND finale performance of the variety show featured the cast in a patriotic number of a reading and a medley of songs.

"THAT'S what it's all about" is demonstrated by the unique Hokey-Pokey dancers when they put their right hip in at the variety show.

DEPICTING the Lincoln-Douglas debates, the superb actors of the Cleveland Playhouse Company brought the historical event to the Harding stage.

Personalities

Each student at Harding College not only has a personality of his own but he is a personality — a being created in the image of God — and is so recognized from the “greenest” freshman to the most erudite senior or graduate student. The personality of an individual is as unique and distinct as are his fingerprints. In any segment of society there are always those who stand out from the group because of their outstanding personal qualities. In each society there are also certain qualities of personality that are considered of prime importance and recognition is given to those who possess these in large measure. The recognition is given not so much for the personal glory of the individual chosen as for the exaltation of the desirable quality. Friendliness, kindness, integrity, courage, intelligence, leadership, and queenliness are qualities that have long been admired and acknowledged. WITHIN OUR REACH are peers who possess many outstanding qualities and we have chosen them as our personalities.

Petit Jean Queen

Each men's social club selects a club sweetheart from among the junior and senior women to add a feminine touch to meetings and to represent the club as its nominee for Petit Jean Queen. These club queens are presented to the student body in a formal ceremony. Three finalists are chosen from among the beautiful young women by the students. One is chosen to reign as queen during the dedication ceremonies when the Petit Jean is first revealed to the students and faculty. She is attended by the two finalists.

Sheila Mitchell

Nominee

Alpha Phi Kappa

"Bubbling" is a word which must have been especially coined for the personality of Sheila Mitchell, Harding's head cheerleader. Sheila was 1962 Homecoming Queen and was an attendant to the 1963 Petit Jean Queen. As a freshman she was class representative to the Homecoming Court and this year fulfilled the role of senior class favorite. Three men's social clubs have honored Sheila by selecting her as their queen — Cavalier, Sub T-16, and APK. Students and faculty alike honored her by selecting her to "Who's Who." She has also been active in the Regina social club.

CHEERLEADING lends Sheila Mitchell the opportunity of representing Harding and of sharing her vivacious personality with her friends.

Attendants

Judy Daniel

Nominee

Lambda Sigma

"Striking" is a word to be used in the description of Judy Daniel. Judy, a junior elementary education major, is from Dallas, Texas. As an active member of the Dactylology Club, she goes to Little Rock each Sunday to teach a Bible class for colored deaf children. Her other activities include serving as counselor for the Academy girls who live in Pattie Cobb and membership in Ko Jo Kai women's social club. Being selected as sophomore class representative to the Bison Homecoming court was a previous honor for Judy.

Doris Morris

Nominee

Pioneer

Junior home economics major Doris Morris is from Bay, Arkansas. Her major study is being utilized effectively as she sews to expand her wardrobe. Doris transferred to Harding in her sophomore year from Jonesboro's Arkansas State. She has served her club sisters in Kappa Delta social club as secretary. Her sweet smile and quietness have been apparent factors of her likable personality.

Attendants

Doris Bush

Nominee

Theta Psi

As junior class secretary, Doris Bush has demonstrated to her peers efficiency and organization. Graceful movement and friendliness are two of her outstanding traits. Doris, an art major, spends much of her outside time working in the ceramics lab. She was chairman of this year's Big Sister's organization and has worked on the Petit Jean staff. She is also vice president of the Student National Education Association and is active in Theta Psi women's social club.

Betty Garretson Tubb

Nominee

Ju Go Ju

An active member of Campus Players, Betty Garretson, has had leading roles in Harding's dramatic productions and has been an energetic back-stage worker as well. During the Christmas holidays, she combined her psychology-sociology major with the new responsibility of being Mrs. Norman Tubb. In addition she is a member of Ju Go Ju women's social club and is director of the 1964 May Fete. She is a past member of the A Cappella Chorus. Betty's sense of fashion has enabled her to design many of her own clothes.

May Queen

May Queen candidates are selected by the women's social clubs each fall to represent their clubs in the May Fete activities. The nominees are presented to the students in a beautiful ceremony during a special assembly. The student body selects three queen candidates from among the lovely ladies, one of whom is chosen to be May Queen. Her Majesty is crowned during the gala ceremony to add suspense to beauty. She has the pleasure of watching the intricate designs of the May pole winders as they perform and of being attended by representatives from the women's clubs.

Ann Crawford

Nominee
GATA

Ann Crawford, a senior elementary education major, is talented in music and drawing. To utilize her musical ability, she sings with the Harding A Cappella Chorus and with the Belles and Beaux. She is also active in the GATA women's social club. Neatness, poise, and a charming smile are components of her personality which are apparent to all who know her. Also inherent in the portrait she presents are a soft-spoken voice and eyes that twinkle with friendliness and humor.

SKETCHING animals, a favorite pastime for attractive Ann Crawford is a relaxing hobby and is helpful in her elementary education major.

Homecoming Queen and Attendants

Each fall the football team selects three coeds to be their nominees for Homecoming Queen. The three candidates are presented to the Student Body who vote by secret ballot to select their Homecoming Queen. The beauty chosen is crowned during half-time ceremonies at the Homecoming football game to reign over the festivities of the day along with the two finalists and the class representatives. The finalists this year were Mary Ellen Baskin, an art major from Stilwell, Oklahoma, and Karen Parsons, a sociology-psychology major from Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Charlotte Burkett

Perky Charlotte Burkett, Harding's 1963 Homecoming Queen, transferred this year from Lubbock Christian College. Last year she reigned as Miss LCC and was quite active in student affairs. At Harding she is continuing her learning role as an elementary education major. Galaxy men's social club elected her as their queen, and she was selected as a Bison cheerleader by the student body. Her smiling countenance and friendliness have also merited her the honor of being junior class favorite.

PROVING herself useful to both students and faculty, Charlotte Burkett works in the library to help finance her educational expenses.

BOUNCY, blond Mary Ellen Baskin serves the school as a Bison cheerleader. A favorite with everyone, she is always cheerful.

PERT, pretty Karen Parsons, active in many campus organizations, proves her efficiency by serving in the Student Association Cabinet.

Best All Round

As one of the leading basketball scorers in the AIC, Vernon Rogers displays his prowess as an athlete and sportsman. Vernon, more often called "Vernie," is a member of the Sub-T 16 men's club. He is a senior physical education major from Little Rock. Words describing his personality might simply be "Christian" and "gentleman."

Organizational ability and an abundance of talent are characteristics of Sandy Childers, editor of the '64 Petit Jean. Her cheerfulness and friendliness which are displayed through a sweet smile are twin attributes inherent in her personality. Sandy an English major, from Memphis, Tennessee, is a member of Tri-Kappa.

LANKY, likable Vernon Rogers presides over senior class meetings with the same ease and friendly disposition that makes him a favorite.

EDITING the '64 Petit Jean efficiently has come to be a full-time "hobby" for cheerful Sandy Childers during her senior year.

Vernon Rogers Sandy Childers

Honor Students

Sandra Tanner, a senior, attained membership this year in Alpha Chi on the basis of superior scholarship throughout her four years in college. At the beginning of her junior term, she transferred to Harding from South Texas Junior College. Sandra, a history major, is from Houston, Texas.

As a National Merit Scholarship winner, Donald Hall Johnson has capably put his intellect and time to use to tally a 4.0 average for his first semester of college work. Special talent in news writing has enabled Don to work as sports reporter for the Publicity and Publications Office and for the Bison. He is from Shreveport, Louisiana.

Sandra Tanner

Donald Johnson

Class Favorites

Personable students are honored every year by being chosen as class favorites by their peers. Each class makes nominations by balloting and from the top nominees a man and a woman are selected to represent their class. Favorites are characterized by a warm smile and a friendly outgoing nature.

Bob Adams

Sherry Balthrop

WISHING for successful college years, Bob Adams and Sherry Balthrop display friendliness and smiles characteristic of freshmen. Bob's straight-forwardness and wit have made him a favorite while Sherry's popularity has centered on her kindness and sweet disposition.

Mary Flippin

Robert Clark

WARM, outgoing personalities distinguish Robert T. Clark and Mary Flippin as favorites who are known for their sincere attempts to better campus spirit. Mary, an elementary education major, is a Regina. Robert, vice-president of his class, is an outstanding cross-country and track man.

OUTSTANDING qualities have made Vernon Rogers and Sheila Mitchell favorites among their classmates during their college years. Vernon is well-known for his leadership ability and has served as class president for two years. Sheila, a natural beauty, is personable and has aided her friends and the college in many varied capacities.

Vernon Rogers
Sheila Mitchell

Terry Smith
Charlotte Burkett

PREPARING for life by using their leadership abilities, Terry Smith and Charlotte Burkett are examples of Harding's character training program. Terry finds a valuable outlet for his energy and drive by preaching each Sunday in a nearby city. Charlotte spreads school spirit in her role as a vivacious Bison cheerleader.

National honor given to outstanding students

MARCIA GEISLER PHILLIPS Homecoming Queen Attendant, Petit Jean Queen Attendant, APK Queen, American Studies, Phi Alpha Theta.

Students are selected to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges on the basis of scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and co-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the college, and promise of future usefulness. The Executive Council of the Student Association submits to the faculty a list of forty students nominated according to these qualifications along with a list of their activities. Senior students are given preference but outstanding juniors are also considered. The faculty members review the list adding nominations of their own and then they select those students which are to be included in Who's Who.

This year twenty-two students were recognized by the organization. The names of the students will appear in the 1963-64 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. The students also have the honor of wearing a key signifying membership in the group and have the benefits of the Student Placement Service.

Athletics

The aspiration to win an athletic contest and to develop excellent physical co-ordination is common to students who enjoy participation in intercollegiate athletics, intramural sports, or individual skill activities. Strong and healthy bodies support good minds and vigorous physical activity promotes good health. The college's program of research on physical fitness emphasizes the importance of a planned program of physical exercise. Harding College is a member of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. Teams participate in football, basketball, baseball, track, cross-country, and bowling. An outstanding program in intramural sports is provided for both men and women and an extensive schedule of minor skill activities is arranged. Strong emphasis is placed on the display of good sportsmanship at all times. This broad program brings physical activity WITHIN THE REACH of every student at Harding College both as participant and spectator.

PURSUED by several Bison defensive men, a College of the Ozarks' back finds the going gets rough trying to cross the unfriendly line of scrimmage. Aggressive defensive play is a Harding trademark.

ZESTFUL cheerleading directs fan interest and exuberance toward the court during the athletic games. Large crowds watching the Bisons play are often drawn to their feet during exciting moments.

INTRODUCTION

Enthusiastic participation is Bison key to success

Harding's over-all athletic program provides some activity for everyone who wishes to participate. The intercollegiate program has grown from a weak three-sport beginning to a strong six-sport program in seven years. Harding now enters AIC competition in football, basketball, cross-country, bowling, track, and baseball. This year Harding won its first AIC championship. The Bison harriers placed first in the AIC Cross-Country meet and finished eleventh in the national NAIA meet.

Harding has a fine coaching staff consisting of John Prock, head football coach effective at the beginning of the spring semester, Hugh Groover, head basketball coach and assistant football coach, Dr. R. T. Clark, head track and cross-country coach, Ted Altman, head baseball coach and assistant coach in football and basketball, and Ted Lloyd, assistant coach in football and track. Carl Allison, head football and baseball coach, became assistant football coach at Oklahoma University effective February 1.

The outstanding intramural program for men is still growing stronger. Special attention was given this year to strengthening the program in women's intramurals. Cecil Beck, director of the men's program, and Majorie Ryan, director of the women's program, work diligently to provide varied activities for the students.

ARRANGING the schedule for next year's athletic contests, coaches John Prock, Hugh Groover, and Ted Altman devise the strategy for a new season.

FOOTBALL

Bisons show spirit and desire in rugged play

BISON cornerback Bob Pearcy is finally stopped by several Majors after intercepting a Millsaps' pass. Harding won the Homecoming thriller 39-0.

With high hopes and good prospects, Harding began its 1963 grid campaign, but due to injuries and other disappointments the Bisons fell to last place in the AIC.

In the first game with University of Tennessee Martin Branch, Harding faced a much bigger and more polished team and was defeated 19-7 by two long passes. Conference play began with a 23-7 loss to a young, fired-up Tech team. In this game injuries began to mount up. The next two games were home games which the Bisons lost to Southern State and Ouachita. The Ouachita game proved very costly to the Bisons because there were many injuries to key players. The next two games the Bisons faced two of the top teams in the conference without the services of eleven of the first twenty-two players. For most of the remainder of the season the coaches had to rely heavily upon freshmen and sophomores who gained valuable experience.

Scoring twice in the second quarter and twice in the fourth quarter the Arkansas State Teachers Bears defeated Harding 28-0. Then Arkansas A&M ran away with the next game 35-7.

SURROUNDED by three Wonder Boys, Bison fullback Gail Mote prepares to lower his head and ram his way through for a few more precious yards.

BISON halfback Richard Davis grinds out yardage against Ouachita as Tucker and Carter lead interference.

SCRAMBLING for a loose ball, Bison defenders Outlaw, Maddox, and Honey lead the charge to recover and set up Harding's first Homecoming touchdown. This type play typified the afternoon.

Homecoming win proves delight to faithful fans

CLOSING in to make the tackle, Ruckman and Ford stop a Ouachita back after a short gain as Prince and Honey hurry to offer assistance. The Bisons dropped one to the visiting Baptists 21-6.

CLUTCHING the ball tightly, Jerome Prince crosses the goal line to score against Henderson after taking a beautifully thrown TD pass from Bernie Cox.

Homecoming proved to be the bright spot in Harding's otherwise disastrous season. Millsaps came to Searcy with a winless record also, and the fired up Bisons kept it that way. Hitting quickly the Bisons jumped to a 27-0 halftime lead. Then they continued in the second half to set a new Harding scoring record as the third team scored the final touchdown to make the score 39-0.

The last game of the season was a statistical victory over Henderson State Teachers, but two fumbles and pass interceptions gave Henderson four touchdowns for a 24-7 defeat of Harding.

Luther Honey, Bison middle guard, was named to the all AIC team for the fourth consecutive year. Nine seniors lettered for the Bisons, eight of whom received their fourth letter. The eight, who have played outstanding ball since their freshman year, are quarterback Tommy Carter, halfback Del Brock, fullback Norman Tubb, defensive back Bob Percy, tackle Ray Phillips, guards Bill Percy and Larry Ruckman, and Luther Honey. Others who were outstanding this year for the Bisons were defensive end Morgan Outlaw, tackle Porter Ragsdale, fullback Gail Mote, and halfback Richard Davis.

*Games played in AIC Tournament

Hustle paves way for many Bison cage victories

Off to a slow start with two defeats at the hands of John Brown University, Harding rebounded with a win on Thanksgiving Day over LRU. However, a much stronger Christian Brothers team dropped the Bisons to a 1-3 record with which to enter conference play.

In the first conference game Harding used a full-court press and fast-break play led by little Ned Boaz to upset AIC champion Ouachita. Losing the following game to Hendrix, the Bisons came back to sweep through the first half of the conference with only a loss to Hendrix to mar their record. Harding delighted the home crowds with a defeat over Arkansas Tech and for the first time ever defeated Arkansas State Teachers while on their way to setting a school record for the greatest number of wins in a season.

Trade marks of the season became the fast break and the full-court press. The rebounding and scoring of Rogers, All-AIC center, was a constant delight to the fans. Another source of enjoyment for the audiences was found in the play of Goss under the boards, Patton shooting from the corner, and the stellar defensive play of Jacobs.

CLUTCHING the ball tightly to protect it from opposing players, Sam Casey clears the boards against Henderson State Teachers.

JUMPING to shoot over the outstretched hand of a Mulerider, All-Conference center Vernon Rogers adds two more points as Harding defeats Southern State.

SOARING high in the air, Danny Crow fights for a rebound during the Bisons' Thanksgiving Day victory over Little Rock University.

SWASHBUCKLING Ned Boaz streaks in for a lay-up against John Brown, showing the smooth style that makes him one of the top guards in the AIC.

BASKETBALL

Arch-rivals fall as cagers end up fourth in AIC

DRAWING a bead on the basket. Bison captain, Vernon Rogers prepares to fire in two more points on his way to becoming the highest scorer in Harding's history.

Playing on the road during the second half, the Bisons fell from a first-place tie with Ouachita to a fourth-place tie with Hendrix. The season was completed with a 11-7 record in conference play and a 14-12 overall tabulation. Drawing a bye in the first round of the AIC tournament, the Bisons defeated Arkansas College in the quarter-finals before falling to Ouachita, the tournament champions, in the semi-finals. Vernon Rogers, a leading scorer in the AIC, was duly honored by the conference in being selected as center on the All-AIC first team. Ned Boaz merited a place as guard on the AIC second team. Rogers, a senior, made new patterns in the scoring and rebounding records of Harding. His average ranked above the 20-point mark. Boaz was the spark-plug of the team and he never seemed to run down.

The Bisons will have to fill some big gaps next year after losing seniors Vernon Rogers, Ernie Patton, Bryan Jacobs, Sam Casey, and Ryan Touchton, but juniors Ned Boaz and Gary Goss, plus a good junior varsity team, promise a bright future.

DETERMINATION shows on the faces of Bison cagers, Ernie Patton and Gary Goss, as they hustle after a loose ball in an overtime game against A & M.

STRAINING for every inch, Bryan Jacobs is poised to shoot above the outstretched hands of Ouachita's forward, Bill Heaton.

CAT-LIKE guard, Ernie Patton, leaves three Arkansas Tech defenders flat-footed as he shoots a short jumper for another Harding two-pointer.

FLASHING the often unbelievable form that made him a crowd favorite all season, Ned Boaz dribbles between two LRU opponents for a quick two points.

Harding harriers produce first AIC championship

EFFECTS of heat, hills, and distance show on Phil Merrill's face as he completes the grueling and demanding AIC cross-country race for a second place finish.

Harding College has reason to be proud of its second year of competition in the cross-country realm. Not only did the harriers win the AIC championship, but they swept a tri-state championship invitational meet at Union University in Jackson, Tennessee.

As champions of District 17 of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, the team had earned the right to go to Omaha, Nebraska, to compete in the NAIA cross-country championship meet. At this meet were represented twenty-three outstanding teams from small universities and colleges. Harding finished eleventh, an exceptional record for the second year of cross-country participation.

Coaching this championship team to victory was Dr. R. T. Clark, Jr., assisted by Goran Agnevik from Sweden. Those members of the team showing outstanding ability were Cliff Clark, who consistently finished first, and pressing close behind were Phil Merrill and Jerry Baker. Ably assisting were Lanny Casey, Gerald Clark, R. T. Clark, III, and Jim Lawson.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM. C. Clark, Baker, G. Clark, Lawson, Casey, Merrill, R. Clark.

STRIDING effortlessly, Cliff Clark lengthens his lead over the rest of the field to place first in the AIC cross-country championship.

INTENTLY watching the cross-country runners' form and style during a rigorous training session, Cliff Clark, Goran Agnevik, and R. T. Clark time the harriers.

MAKING his move to overtake two opposing runners, Robert Clark stretches forward to give Harding the valuable low score points for the AIC championship.

SPRINTING away from the line, Bison harriers prepare to pit their endurance and stamina against the rough competition offered by the other AIC competitors.

GETTING a fast start out of the blocks, Eoff and Robb challenge an Arkansas Tech Wonder Boy in the 100 yard dash at Alumni Field.

BEGINNING his roll, Harding's Tommy Bateman displays his skill and ability as he clears the high-jump bar at 6' 1" for the Bisons.

PREPARING to start his follow through, Harding's Bob Camp gets off another one of his winning throws. He was never beaten in the AIC.

EXECUTING a perfect exchange, Dwight Robb and Wendell Harrison bring Harding a victory over Tech and Ozarks in the mile medley relay.

TRACK

Hard working team breaks many Harding records

Several outstanding individuals composed the 1963 Harding College thinclads. However, a lack of depth prevented Harding from being one of the powers in the AIC.

Individual performances by shot-putter Bob Camp and 880 yard runner Wendell Harrison kept Harding in close competition with its opponents. Camp was never beaten in AIC meets and Harrison always placed high in the 880 yard run. Gerald Clark, the team's most versatile player, was outstanding in several areas. He ran the high hurdles and on the mile medley relay. He was also Harding's entry in the broad jump. Clark showed his versatility by gaining high honors in the decathlon on track and field day. Other thinclads, Robert Clark, Dwight Robb, Gary Brock, Tom Bateman, and Larry Eoff, worked hard to provide the spectators with many close and exciting events.

Although the team never broke any conference record, they broke many home records: shot-put, high jump, 880 yard run, 440 yard dash, 880 yard relay, mile relay, and the 440 yard relay, which may serve to stimulate future Harding track men.

DASHING toward the finish line, Eoff, Robb, Prince and Jones finish 1, 2, 3, 4 respectively in the 100 yard dash against Fort Smith JC.

SURGING ahead near the finish line, Bison trackman R. T. Clark anchors the last 440 as Harding defeats Arkansas Tech in the grueling mile relay.

TRYING to get that extra "push" into his jump, versatile Gerald Clark performs equally well in several areas of track.

EDGING his way ahead of a Fort Smith runner, freshman Larry Eoff, the Bison anchor man, breaks the tape for a Harding victory in the 880 relay.

BOWLING

Optimism and potential mark Harding keglers

Showing much promise during the early practice sessions, the Bison keglers spent many hours in developing skills and approaches. Preparation for the bowling tournaments began early in the year. At semester the intercollegiate team was selected from the highest scorers of the intramural teams. From the accumulative week by week records kept and the results of the AIC tournament to be held in April, two teams will be selected to attend the NAIA championship in Kansas City.

Last year the AIC bowling championship was decided when Arkansas Tech and Harding took the first two places in the tournament. With this honor, they were eligible for a spot in the NAIA tournament. The top Bison bowler of the contest was Larry Yurcho who had a total of 2366 pins in twelve games for a 197 game average giving him the third highest individual total of the national event.

CONCENTRATING on his approach, Robley Barber starts the ball down the alley with deliberate ease.

WATCHING the pins fall, Bison keglers Jerry Bolls hopes for good ball action to pick up a few more valuable pins to make it less difficult to get a spare on his second roll.

STEPPING into the pitch, Harding shortstop Eddie Miller slaps one through the middle for a solid base knock as the Bisons again threaten.

STRETCHING to take the throw from the catcher, Bison infielder Tommy Carter cannot put the tag on the runner sliding safely in with a three-bagger.

GIVING that final burst of speed, second-baseman Ronnie Smith reaches first base just ahead of the fast throw from the infield for a hit.

Spirit and desire help to overcome lack of power

Lack of power at the plate coupled with a key injury slowed up the 1963 Harding baseball nine. However, as in the Bison trademark, they made up for this with that "little bit extra." They won games with stolen bases, sacrifice bunts, and the ever dangerous squeeze play. Daring antics on the basepaths kept the opposing team on edge, and caused many errors by rival players.

Leading the Bisons in hitting was senior Ken Spillman with a 0.314 average, while Steve Smith's twelve runs batted in was tops in that department. The top pitcher of the year was Joe Spaulding who posted four wins against only one loss. Spaulding along with the rest of the mound corps had to shoulder an even greater load when the top pitcher of 1962, Richard Green, broke his ankle.

Making all AIC first team for the second year was senior-catcher Steve Smith. Freshman-outfielder Kenny Gahr, a fireball, was named on the second team. His good spirit and hustle proved contagious toward inspiring teamwork.

SPEEDING around third, Bison catcher-rightfielder Kenny Gahr heads for home to score for Harding. Ken was one of last year's leading batsmen.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Intramurals provide year-long sports competition

TAKING a healthy cut at the ball, Roger Johnson helps the seniors to victory as they decisively defeat the faculty and win the class softball championship.

"A man for every sport and a sport for every man" is seemingly the motto of Cecil Beck, Harding's intramural director. Largely through his efforts, Harding is able to boast one of the top intramural programs in the nation. Featured in this program are several team events including softball, "ragtag" football, basketball, volleyball, and baseball with many individual events also playing a large role. Team competition is scheduled by social clubs, by classes, and by intramural teams.

To encourage participation in intramurals, jackets are awarded each year to the fifteen top point leaders. The boy amassing the greatest number of points for the year is awarded the "athlete of the year" trophy. Circle K presents a "spirit award" trophy to the boy selected by all participants as having demonstrated the best sportsmanship. Mr. Beck awards a trophy to the sports skills champion. The 1963 intramural athlete of the year was Charles Thompson who also captured the sports skills trophy. Don Meredith was awarded the Circle K spirit trophy.

ABRUPTLY halting his lateral motion, Ken Johnson looks for running room as Cecil Beck and visiting alumnus Phil Watson close in for the faculty.

KEEPING his eye on the ball, Tom Brown prepares to slam his first serve to his opponent, giving the juniors a chance for the class title.

FACING the ground, William Tucker prepares to release the pole and clear the bar for the top vault, capturing another first place for Sub T-16.

CONCENTRATING on his form, James Dockery releases the ball with high hopes of a strike to further his team's chances in club bowling competition.

EFFECTIVELY using a screen set by a teammate, Johnny Berryhill lofts a short jump shot to keep the faculty ahead in one of their hard-fought intramural games.

GALAXY member, Paul Gardner, utilizes his speed and ability to provide the necessary momentum in the broad jump.

RECEIVING the baton from Robley Barber, Tom Finley begins his leg of the grueling mile relay for the Pioneers, with a slender margin over TNT's Jerry Baker and Galaxy's Wheeler Pounds.

BREAKING the tape, Morgan Outlaw gives the Mohicans their second consecutive victory in the fat man's relay.

LOOKING for a hole, Billy Jones shows the running form which contributed much to the Lions in their drive to an undefeated season and intramural flag football championship.

PUTTING that last burst of power into his throw, David Simpson proves helpful as Sub T-16 again takes the first place honors track and field day.

DISPLAYING good form, Jon Farris clears a barrier on his way to a second place finish in the high hurdles, gaining valuable points for APK.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Intramurals see renewal of rugged club rivalries

Club sports began with a few surprises as two normally small clubs moved into the large club bracket and took the championship in the first two sports. Galaxy turned the trick in softball by surprising perennial champs Sub-T in the semi-finals and defeating Lambda Sigma in the finals behind the pitching of Joe Burleson. In the small clubs, TNT took top honors with a win over TAG. TNT then moved into the big club category for "ragtag" football and defeated Mohicans in the finals by a score of 16-12 after losing once to them in a preliminary game. Beta Phi Kappa swept through their "ragtag" season undefeated, downing Frater Sodalis in the small club finals. In volleyball, Mohicans defeated Sub-T in large club competition while Chi Sigma Alpha, came through the loser's bracket to defeat Pioneer twice and take the small club championship. In the 1962-63 swimming meet, Mohicans took first ahead of Sub T in large club competition and Pioneer took small club honors over Frater Sodalis. Track and field day provides a fitting spring climax to intramural sports. In the 1962-63 spring meet, Sub T easily captured the large club crown and Frater Sodalis edged out Pioneer for small club honors.

SUSPENDED in mid-air, high jumper Duke Jennings' fate appears in doubt as he seems unwilling to go on over the bar in the track and field day event.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

Sharp competition describes women's program

STRIVING to gain additional points for her club in the all-day track and field events, Mary Flippin displays a grim determination as she puts the shot.

Competition, which is the key to any good intramural program, was intense as members of the women's social clubs vied for annual sports awards. Top individual honors last year were taken by June Hamby who received the Intramural Athlete of the Year and Carol Bissett who was recipient of the Circle K Sportsmanship award. Zeta Rho took club honors by winning the sportsmanship trophy; while OEGE took the all-round sports trophy.

The Harding women's program, which centers around the three major activities of volleyball, basketball, and track, is directed by Marge Ryan. Individual contests vary from tennis matches to basketball free throws. Women are given the opportunity to compile points for trophies and jacket awards. A new event initiated this year was "two-man" basketball.

Track and field day proves to be fun and work for the ladies as they try their skill at relays, tug-of-wars, broad jumps, and other such track events.

LAUGHTER accompanies the annual track and field day tug-of-war as Regina's Linda Risinger, Marilyn Graff, and Priscilla Baker do their part.

PARTICIPATING in a women's intramural volleyball game, WHC's Annette Tucker stretches to return a serve as her teammates stand by to aid.

SKILLFULLY releasing the horseshoe, Marie Laird displays the smiling confidence that comes from long hours of diligent practice.

MAKING a fast break as the 50 yard dash begins, Margie Lentz soon pulls ahead of her opponents to finish first and bring her club the trophy for the day.

STRETCHING after a free ball, Salena Cogdell and Marilyn Dixon show the spirit and enthusiasm which characterizes the women's intramural program.

VAINLY, Tofebt's Nina Moore tries to steal the rebound from MEA's guard, Mary Shannon, as they compete in an exciting interclub game.

CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders, lettermen head morale boosters

ANTICIPATING their final cheer, aspirants for the Bison's 63-64 cheering squad strike varied poses realizing just a few will be selected from the many.

"Go — fight — win" is an oft-heard phrase at Bison sports events as Harding's cheerleaders vibrantly lead fans in yells to encourage the team on to victory.

Working hand in hand with Bison Boosters the cheerleaders helped plan pre-game rallies to boost school spirit and pep. Unusual favors were given to the players before each game.

Petite Kelli Perrin, three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Perrin, stole the show at home basketball games as the cheerleaders' mascot. Her bouncy personality matched that of her college friends while she jumped and yelled alongside them.

New black sweaters were purchased by the Bison Boosters for the football season. Basketball season brought new gold wool culotte outfits which were more appropriate for indoor cheering.

A privilege for the cheerleaders was attending away-from-school games with Dr. Joe Pryor. Even when other Harding fans could not attend, the cheerleaders were on hand to help boost team spirit.

AGILE Cheryl Kinman radiates enthusiasm as she transmits her contagious smile to the Bison stands, where fans are inspired to rousing support for an aggressive team.

PRECIOUS Kelli Perrin epitomizes the spirit of the "littlest" Bison amid the exhilarating confusion of cheerleaders.

The wide variety of academic interests which characterize the Harding student body demand an equally wide variety of extra-curricular activities. At the undergraduate level these organizations play an important role in providing students vocational outlets as well as in developing special skills and talents.

In debating, dramatics, student publications, chorus, band, and special interest clubs, the activity greatly enriches the academic program in fields related to the activity. The development of leadership, learning how to work with other people, and seeing a difficult job to completion are valuable by-products. The close association of student with student and student with faculty advisor, coach, or director are frequently most meaningful. The great values to be gained from extra-curricular activities are WITHIN OUR REACH if we only have the desire, initiative, and wisdom to participate effectively.

STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Student body leaders show their ability in action

Achieving the most harmonious academic and social environment possible on the Harding campus is the function of the Student Association. Advising, coordinating, integrating, SA is a channel of expression for student opinion and is an official connecting link between the student body and the faculty and administration.

The Student Council began the year with a pre-school conference in September at which time plans were made for the year. Attention was concentrated on providing freshmen and transfer students with an effective orientation to Harding.

Initiating the year's activities, the SA began the first week of school with mixers for new students, an information booth, and a series of parties. The climax of the week was a watermelon feast. A carefully selected program of films was presented in the auditorium on Saturday nights when there were no other activities on campus. FM music was provided in the dining hall and in the college inn. An all-school Christmas party proved very successful and dolls were contributed in the Dolly Drive for children in various orphan homes. An impressive program culminating in the crowning of the Queen added color to the Homecoming football game.

Talented reporters produce noteworthy paper

Keeping the college community informed of campus news and activities is the function of the weekly Bison. News is reported by volunteer students who spend Monday mornings in the Bison office exercising their journalistic abilities. Countless hours are spent in interviewing, writing stories, editing copy, proof-reading copy, writing headlines and meeting various deadlines. Phil Sturm, the capable editor, and Peggie Baker, the efficient business manager, were ably assisted by Martha Tooke, associate editor, and Dennis Organ, assistant editor.

At the 1963 spring meeting of the Arkansas College Publications Association in Hot Springs, the Bison received the Sweepstakes Award of the Association for the 1962-63 school year and rated high in the General Excellence Contest. The Sweepstakes Award is given to the publication compiling the highest number of points in individual and general contests. The Bison served as president of the 1963 spring ACPA meeting. Prof. Neil B. Cope, faculty advisor of the Bison, serves as sponsor of ACPA.

The year was highlighted by the staff banquet near the end of the school year. At this banquet, deserving students were given recognition and awards for their efforts.

SUPERVISING and publishing the weekly Bison becomes a full-time task for Phil Sturm as he gathers, compiles, and edits the news of the campus events.

OFFERING assistance with special problems, faculty advisor Neil Cope aids the Bison staff with his vast experience in the newspaper and the journalistic fields.

SELLING advertisements to the businesses in the Searcy area is the chief concern of Peggie Baker as she contacts patrons.

ENTHUSIASM, interest, and constant encouragement are hallmarks of Dr. Joe Pryor as he bestows a quiet power and calming influence on the staff.

AFTER having sold a record amount of advertisements, Business Manager Leighton Waters balanced the year's budget and assisted the editor.

PETIT JEAN

Diligence rewarded by outstanding yearbook

CHEERFULLY undertaking the many tasks required of her, Editor Sandra Childers efficiently plans the yearbook and stimulates the staff to high quality workmanship.

Depicting in a picturesque mode the myriad events that make up an academic year on the Harding College campus is the objective of the 1964 Petit Jean. Recording the year's events involved hours, days, nights, weeks, and months of drawing layouts, taking pictures, selecting and cropping negatives, writing copy and captions, and typing. Staff members sacrificed both time and energy to help produce the annual.

Stimulated by four consecutive All-American yearbooks and by knowledge gained from the past editors, Sandra Childers made assignments, organized the staff into a smooth running organization, and worked hard to meet pressing deadlines. Business manager Leighton Waters exceeded past years' advertising sales records and managed the financial affairs of the organization.

The Petit Jean staff assisted by the Bison staff served as host to the 1963 fall meeting of the Arkansas College Publications Association on the Harding campus. Leighton Waters served as ACPA president.

The dedication of the 1964 Petit Jean and delivery of the books richly rewarded the staff for hours of hard work and climaxed a year of frenzied effort.

“The world to Christ we bring,” a line from a hymn, could well be the motto of several mission groups on campus, organized to create an interest in evangelizing the world and to acquaint students with the information needed to take the gospel to mission fields. Cooperation of the various mission groups, the Monday Night Meeting, the Timothy Club, and Les Bonnes du Christ has laid the foundation for an enlarged and unified emphasis on world evangelism in coming years.

The various mission groups spend time learning about customs, methods of doing mission work, problems encountered, and study of the languages. Everything studied and discussed is for the benefit of themselves as prospective missionaries to the different areas.

Several projects have been undertaken by the mission groups. Each one corresponds with missionaries in the area to give encouragement and support. Montreal Mission Club helped raise money for equipment for use in Quebec. The Oriental Mission Club has contributed books and clothing to mission points in Korea.

A Cappella Chorus members throughout the year led a busy life consisting of trips, programs, recordings and rehearsals, beginning with a program presented at the annual fall Lecture-ship. Their two major trips included a fall and spring excursion to Texas, by way of Carlsbad Caverns in the spring. During the spring semester there was an exchange choral program with Hendrix College and rehearsals were conducted for the opera Mikado which was presented at the end of the school year.

During the Arkansas Intercollegiate Choral Association Convention which was held at Ouachita with Miss Margaret Hillis, Director Kenneth Davis was elected president of the Association for the coming year.

Chorus members were also seen sporting new tan blazers with choral emblems.

The Belles and Beaux entertained two evenings in Little Rock at the Arkansas Arts Center. Several trips were taken to Shreveport, Houston, Bartlesville, and various cities in Arkansas. Immediately preceding the Christmas holidays, the Belles and Beaux presented a program on the 1963-64 Harding College Lyceum series.

MUSIC GROUPS

Good musicians, new uniforms give band top spirit

Any student who finds pleasure in singing can become a member of the Chorale, the largest musical organization on campus. Several ensemble and quartets are formed within the group to perform specialty numbers. Under the direction of G. E. Baggett, this group has taken a spring tour, given a Christmas program, participated in the annual lectureship, and has taken part in a "Campaign for Christ" in Shreveport, Louisiana, where they sang on three consecutive nights and gave programs for nearby high schools during the day.

The Bison Band opened the school year with new uniforms purchased through the efforts of student projects. Band members provided music and precision drills at many football and basketball games during the year. Annual fall and spring concerts were presented and a tour was made through Louisiana. An ensemble from the band accompanied the Belles and Beaux when they performed at the Arkansas Arts Center in Little Rock.

Traveling throughout Arkansas and neighboring states, the "Travelaires" gave many performances publicizing Harding College. The quartet also appeared on television several times during the year.

SPEECH GROUPS

Talented groups organize for drama, debates

FEUDING mountaineers, Jeff and Judd, are portrayed by actors Milton Reed and Clark Johnson in the Little Theatre production "Quiet Please."

The initial year of activity for the American Collegiate Players proved to be an eventful one for the group. Tours of the Third and Fifth Army districts sponsored by the Army Entertainment Divisions provided the spice. Plays which were presented on tour were Harvey and My Three Angels. The second tour, which was in March, also included two singing groups which did folk songs for a hootenany-style program. Ben Holland and General W. P. Campbell, vice president of the National Education Program, accompanied the group.

Campus Players is a local organization of those involved in campus dramatic productions. Membership is granted after a certain number of work hours and an apprenticeship period are completed.

Stimulating interest in dramatic activities and recognition of superior dramatic ability is the aim of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary drama fraternity.

HISTORY GROUPS

Students enjoy first-hand look at Americanism

Membership in the School of American Studies is on an academic and career basis. Students are prepared for leadership in the fields of business, education, and public life. Trips are taken whereby members get a firsthand view of democracy in action. This year's docket included trips to Chicago, with stops in Springfield and New Salem, Ill., and to New Orleans, with stops in Memphis and Vicksburg. Several qualified speakers also addressed the group on topics concerning the American way of life.

Each Monday night during this school year, the Organization for Conservative, Academic, and Political Action has sponsored films dealing with current political problems. Speakers have also been presented from time to time. This group, organized only last year, provides information to the public on major current issues — political, economic, and social.

Phi Alpha Theta, a National Honorary History Society, takes its membership from history majors with a high academic record. Current and historical issues are discussed at meetings.

DISCUSSING pleasures of their educational trip to International Harvester in Memphis, Lynn Reeves and Tamara Tanner come to the end of a full day.

Encouraging all girls interested in becoming more efficient homemakers to join Colhecon, the club members strive to develop knowledge, abilities, and skills which will aid them in professional, social, and cultural aspects of life.

Colhecon members prepared Christmas boxes for the people at the White County Home and Frazier Nursing Home. A chapel program was given in October.

During the spring semester several interesting programs were given by visiting speakers. An interior decorator gave helpful hints in planning household decorations and a bridal consultant made suggestions for making a wedding less expensive.

The promotion of interest and study in the visual arts is a major objection of BIJITSU. The recently-dedicated arts center in Little Rock has been but one of the outstanding places visited by interested members of this group.

An art exhibit at the Delta Show in the state Capitol was of special interest to many of BIJITSU's members who entered works in quest of prizes and recognition.

The club recently announced plans to help redecorate the college art department.

Business and accounting students find the projects and programs of Pi Gamma Psi especially interesting and helpful as they pursue their fields of specialization.

Club members take several tours and enjoy the lectures of many visitors outstanding in the area of business and related vocations. Those members who subsequently complete C.P.A. requirements are given a place of honor on a plaque purchased this year.

Striving to reach professional standards of achievement in their work, the Camera Club members spend their spare time in individual and group participation of the study of photography.

Activities of the club this year have included sponsorship of an all-school contest and several field trips in the Searcy area.

DEPARTMENTAL

Enthusiastic members plan projects and banquet

Activity keyed this year's schedule of the Florence Cathcart chapter of SNEA sponsored by Mrs. Maude Montgomery. Boasting the largest and most active chapter in the state, Harding students have elected a member to the state executive board, supplied entertainment at the state Arkansas Education Association convention, given a tea for the faculty, and presented a chapel program acquainting students with the purposes and goals of SNEA. Various campus projects have also been initiated.

The year was highlighted by the visit of Dr. W. A. Brownell, internationally known educator and author in the field of teaching mathematics to elementary children. Dr. Brownell also spoke at the annual SNEA banquet.

The group participated in a spring outing and sent a number of delegates to regional and state conventions. In the spring, the students published an issue of the Student Arkansas Education Association Newsletter. The purpose of SNEA is to help prepare better teachers by providing students opportunities to develop leadership ability and professional attitudes regarding the teaching profession.

Organizations give stimulus to further growth

PRE-MED CLUB. FRONT ROW: Stanford, Blucker, Townsend, Alexander, Geurin, Mazuran. SECOND ROW: Hornbuckle, Brown, Golleher, Keichline, Edge, Gray.

The Pre-Med Club was organized last year for the purpose of intensifying interest, promoting study and performing services in the realm of medical science. This year members of the club assisted with the distribution of Sabin oral polio vaccine and helped administer the physical examinations given at the beginning of the fall semester. Throughout the year medical films were shown and speakers discussed topics of interest in the field of medicine.

The Science Club welcomes anyone interested in any phase of science. At meetings, films, demonstrations, and speeches by professional men are presented. In February a field trip was taken to the Arkansas Power and Light Company electrical generating plant in North Little Rock. Members of the club assist in sponsoring the regional Science Fair on the Harding campus. Some of the members are active in the Arkansas Collegiate Academy of Science.

Communication with the deaf is the main object of the Dactylology Club. Two projects were carried on. One was weekly lessons in sign language on campus, taught by experienced students. The second was Sunday school classes for deaf children at the Arkansas State School for the Negro Deaf and Blind at Little Rock. Five classes were held for a total of fifty students.

“Working Together for Greater Efficiency” has been the theme for this year of service of the Harding Business Women. Purposes of this campus organization for full-time employees of the school include the promotion of self-study among the staff and faculty women, the provision of opportunities for closer personal relationships and the rendering of service to the school.

BISON BOOSTERS

Pep club provides spirit and backing for teams

A peak enrollment of 250 aided the Bison Boosters in achieving a good spirit in the development of school and team pride. This, in turn, fulfilled the purpose of the organization, which is to promote more school spirit and to back all intercollegiate Bison teams.

Attainments of the year included a series of unique pep rallies, the purchase of new cheerleader sweaters, decoration of football goal posts at home games, and the selection of a "Player of the Week," who was pictured each week on the honor board in the foyer of the Administration building. A poster was also displayed in the Student Center with individual shots of all the football players so that students could become acquainted with their team.

Benefits derived from membership varied from a Bison Booster pin and pennant to permission to attend very special out-of-town games which were not all-school functions.

SELLING a ribbon which reads "Wreck Tech" to Jim Brown, Mary Ann Eddy does her part in boosting the Bisons toward a victorious game.

PLEDGING to give a blood donation, Charles Baird helps a Circle K project.

Important services are rendered to both the college and the community through the active program of the Kiwanis-sponsored Circle K club. The club offers an opportunity to each member to develop leadership and to gain knowledge through club meetings and through actual participation in civic programs.

This year a drive to encourage the donation of blood for the local Red Cross chapter was of special interest to Harding.

Being composed of two delegates from each women's social club, the Interclub Council function throughout the year to coordinate the activities for the women's groups. Discussion of matters pertaining to all clubs, singularly and collectively, are brought before the council. Plans concerning Open House, bids, pledging, and club functions are subject matter. Policies concerning the social club regulations are expanding for the benefit of all women students.

Freshmen women find adjusting to a new environment much less difficult due to the friendliness and effort put forth by a group of congenial upperclassmen known as Big Sisters. Freshmen girls will especially remember the wing parties and the dorm Christmas party. Throughout the year the Big Sisters take an active part in the organization of parties, programs, and discussions that will make college meaningful and exciting for all dormitory women.

Miss Grace Wells of California offers a $600 scholarship each year to qualified girls selected from the junior and senior classes. This year there are four girls who are recipients of this honor.

Members send copies of the Bison to Miss Wells and keep a scrapbook with items of interest about club members and club activities.

LOOKING up to her "big sister" for guidance, Cheryl Buck gets welcomed assistance and counseling from helpful Tomie Courtney.

Social Clubs

Man is a social being who needs the fellowship and companionship of others. The social clubs at Harding provide students — both men and women — opportunities for fellowship and for working together as a small unit. Participation as an active member of a club aids greatly in developing social graces and leadership qualities. Perhaps the greatest service rendered by social clubs is that of helping students — especially freshmen — develop a sense of belonging through identification with a closely-knit group.

Although there is spirited competition between clubs in intramural sports and the speech arts tournament, the cooperation of clubs in various endeavors diffuses club boundaries and welds club members into one harmonious student body. Since each student has an opportunity for membership in a social club, the benefits of club membership are WITHIN THE REACH of every student.

"Thermostrockamortimer," the Beta Tau mascot, reigned once again during pledge week. Pledges carried the black-stocking doll with them during the day, and introduced him to other pledges. The new Beta Tau Gamma members were initiated after being instructed in the history and ideals of the club.

The members used imagination to work up costumes to wear to their November informal function, "Roaring Twenties." A formal banquet was held in the spring, and the outing was planned for early May.

At Christmas, the club had a combined meeting-party. They sang carols and presented a gift to their sponsor.

Collecting and mending clothes to send to Korea was the service project. The members worked with several congregations on this project.

Attendance at the ball games was good, and the members enjoyed the competition.

'Santa's Workshop' sets scene for informal party

"Say the poem — with feeling!" was an often repeated challenge to the eleven Delta Chi pledges. The girls accepted this and other tasks throughout the week, and they exhibited a good sense of humor at informal initiation when they were surprised by a thunderstorm. Solemn formal ceremonies at the Davis home concluded pledge activities.

Christmas vacation was preceded by a party centered around the holiday. Informal games, a casserole, and cupcakes were enjoyed.

"Midnight in Paris" enchanted the couples at the March formal banquet. Decorations produced a French setting in the Rendezvous banquet room.

Petit Jean State Park was chosen for the spring outing.

Many meetings and bunking parties were held at the sponsor's home. Between semesters a surprise party was held for one of the members who was leaving school.

"Girls Aim Toward Achievement" is the slogan from which the GATA club receives its name. Nine new members were instructed in these and other traditions at formal ceremonies at the home of Mrs. Baggett, the sponsor.

A Christmas party on December 12 at the Legion Hut was the group's informal function. Fun and food filled the evening.

"Mardi Gras" set the scene for a March banquet at Buck Powers Restaurant at Beebe. Sandy Calcote was mistress of ceremonies.

An all-day outing and picnic was planned for a Monday in early May.

New blue and white symbols made from felt adorned the dormitory doors of the members. An original touch was added by the construction of a felt alligator for each sign, in keeping with the club mascot.

Club participation in sports was good, and the members especially enjoyed the competition in basketball.

JU GO JU

30th anniversary year continues many traditions

One of the oldest traditions for the Ju Go Ju's is May Fete, an elaborate and picturesque pageant of spring beauty. Work on this project begins early in the fall, with plans for the May Fete presentation in chapel. A representative of each girls' club is a nominee for the queen, and the student body votes. In the spring, the Maypole winding, the queen's court, and the crowning are a lovely combination.

Formal initiation ceremonies for the club's nine pledges were held at the home of Mrs. L. C. Sears, former Ju Go Ju sponsor. The many traditions of the club were related to the new members.

'Kappa Kamera' presentation delights audience

A look at campus life was presented by the Tri-Kappas for chapel. The members wrote a humorous script to accompany candid photographs of various Harding personalities and scenes. New students were thus introduced to student life at Harding, and upperclassmen were highly entertained.

"It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas" set the mood for the formal banquet on December 16. Snowflakes, angels, a Christmas tree, and colorful lights decorated the Buck Powers Restaurant for the event. Robert Helsten delivered an entertaining speech and Ben Stewart performed. Jerry Bolls led group caroling.

March 17 was chosen for an informal party boosting a St. Patrick's day theme. An all-day outing was planned for the spring semester.

Nine pledges completed pledging activities previous to initiation ceremonies. The Ely home in Searcy was the location of informal initiation. Formal ceremonies were held at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Perrin.

Before pledge week, the actives held a bunking party on October 6 to make pledge books, fill out invitations, and plan the initiations.

A hay ride at Camp Wyldewood in late November was the club's third function. The couples enjoyed the fall weather and beautiful scenery.

April 11 was chosen for a spring formal banquet. The members planned ahead for this social event, and worked hard on favors, decorations, and programs. They also planned ahead for the spring outing.

Sports competition was enjoyed by the club. Informal gatherings and committee meetings throughout the year helped the girls become acquainted.

KO JO KAI

Kelley's decorated in Swedish style at banquet

Eleven girls donned red blazers to become Ko Jo Kai pledges. After a week of hard work and fun, initiations were held. Informal activities were at Wyldewood, and formal ceremonies were in Pattie Cobb Hall.

In preparation for pledge week, a bunking party-work party was held at Mrs. Tucker's home. Here the girls made pledge books and formulated plans for the week.

"Christmas in Sweden" was the first major social event. Barbara Williams presided over the festivities held at Kelley's Grill.

On February 14, a "Sadie Hawkins Day" was held as an appropriate leap year party. The pumping station's recreation hall was used for the informal function.

Plans were made for an outing in the spring. Other get-togethers were also enjoyed by the members.

"Sweetheart Serenade" was the OEGE banquet held in February at the Rendezvous. Valentine decorations set the mood. Dr. Gilliam was the speaker. Many of the couples attended the Lyceum immediately after the banquet.

Christmas was the occasion for a semi-formal party at the pumping station's recreation hall. Decorating a tree with home-made ornaments was the appropriate entertainment.

Petit Jean Park was chosen for the April outing. Informal parties, such as the bunking party at Wyldewood in October, were enjoyed by the members.

The Emerald Room in the Student Center was used for formal initiation of the eleven pledges. Wyldewood provided a suitable location for informal ceremonies.

For their club project, the girls donated thirty dollars to the women's intramural bulletin board. The girls showed much interest in sports, and eagerly participated in the competition.

Paintings and toy animals borrowed from the nursery school decorated the Legion Hut for Omega Phi's December informal function. "The Farmer in the Dell," "Drop the Handkerchief," and other games were played by the couples, who were dressed in kiddy style.

The club went "Strictly Modern" for their formal banquet at Buck Powers Restaurant on February 24.

The annual Omega Phi Scholarship Award for the club with the highest cumulative grade point average was one project. A second project was a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family.

A bunking party at Wyldewood, a devotional at Bee Rock, and supper by flashlight constituted informal initiation for four pledges. Formal ceremonies were held in the sponsor's home.

'Treasure Island' holds surprise at formal banquet

Viewing baby pictures of themselves proved to be the surprise entertainment for the Reginas and their dates at the formal banquet. These pictures were secretly obtained from the mothers of those present at the banquet. Favors were handmade treasure chests containing the menu and program, disguised as old parchment.

This February banquet was preceded by an all-day outing in November to Petit Jean. The crisp fall weather and beautiful scenery made the day pleasant. Rowboats and bicycles were available for energetic couples. Hikers who travelled the long footpath down to Cedar Falls viewed a lovely sight. Others visited spacious Winrock Farm. A delicious picnic lunch was served and enjoyed.

Throughout the year, bunking parties and other get-togethers helped the members become well acquainted with one another. The sponsor's home was always available for gatherings and meetings.

MOHICAN

New blazers, emblems represent members' spirit

FOUR Mohican participants in the Speech Arts Tournament check the schedule of competition as they prepare to retain the high honors won in previous years.

Handsome new gold-colored blazers with black and red emblems were purchased and proudly worn by Mohicans. The members exhibited a high club spirit not only by these blazers, but by their activities together throughout the year.

Seventeen new Indians were added to the tribe at secret ceremonies at the lower dam. These initiates were deemed worthy as a result of their meritorious works, such as cleaning the lily pond.

Teamwork was in evidence as the Mohicans won the big club volleyball championship. They also won second place in big club football.

In November, in an appropriate western setting, the group held a third function at the pumping station's recreation hall.

Queen Dorothy Christmas baked cakes and cookies for the members. The club appreciated her support and representation, and they honored her at the spring formal banquet.

OFFICERS. M. Waters, Big Chief; Ruckman, Little Chief; Paullin, Scribe; Bill Percy, Wampum Man; Ken Perrin, John Prock, Sponsors.

Swimming, volleyball, and other sports competition urged the Pioneer club members to try for the championship awards. As defending swimming champions, they endeavored to hold this title.

Six pledges were inducted into the club in ceremonies at Camp Wyldewood. The third function was also held at Wyldewood and nearby Bee Rock. Fall scenery enhanced the enjoyment of this November event.

A February banquet and a spring outing were on the social calendar. The group welcomed back their sponsor, Dr. Stevens, who was absent for a year.

In addition to providing Christmas baskets to needy families, a second club project was completed. This was the donation of church supplies to the Negro congregation in Searcy.

Gum Springs provided a suitable location for informal initiation of eleven Sigma Tau pledges. After this experience in endurance and patience, the new members contributed their ideas and abilities to club activities.

At Halloween, the members received small individual boxes of black and orange candy from their club queen. In November, an informal party was held at the pumping station.

A Valentine banquet provided the opportunity to honor the club queen as well as the members' dates. A gift was presented to the queen in appreciation for her support of the club.

The members competed in various sports and enjoyed other activities together. The spring outing was an opportunity to enjoy fellowship and outdoor activities including hiking, games, and picnicking.

OFFICERS. S. Keichline, Pres.; Toms, Vice-Pres.; Bradburn, Sec.; Jones, Treas.; Jack Wood Sears, Sponsor.

BOOSTING school and team spirit, Sigma Tau's Sam Keichline, John Toms, and Cliff Clark hang a colorful sign in the fieldhouse beside their club emblem.

Valentine, Watson, Woodard, Woodward.

SUB-T 16

Mardi Gras celebration attended by members

A trip to Mardi Gras was the highlight of the year of approximately fifteen Sub-T's who made the trip together. They also enjoyed relating their New Orleans experiences to their club brothers.

Bowling captured the interest of the club. In a close game against a team from TAG, the Sub-T's won the bowling championship.

Social functions consisted of an outing to Bee Rock in the fall, and an informal banquet in March. The sea was used as the theme of the banquet, in keeping with the club motif. The banquet was held at the Legion Hut.

An all-day outing was planned for the spring, and the members looked forward to hiking and boating.

The club spirit and morale was boosted by the active interest shown by the sponsors and queen. In appreciation of this support, the members made these the honored guests at the banquet.

MENACINGLY, Ken Spillman aims for a strike as his team members cheer him on during the bowling competition. Sub-T 16 won the bowling tournament.

TNT

Plans for year made at stag outing in September

TNT. TOP ROW: Lawyer (sponsor), Pryor (sponsor), C. Babb, D. Babb, Belew. SECOND ROW: Blucker, Brock, Brown, Davidson, Dixon. THIRD ROW: Foster, Fouss, Gaskins, Hollis, Johnson. FOURTH ROW: McFarland, Miller, Moore, Moorer, Muir. FIFTH ROW: Odell, Pierce, Smock, Tipton, West.

Excellence in two sports won acclaim for TNT members this year. The small club softball championship and the large club rag tag award went to the club.

Two service projects also contributed to the sports department. Payment on the intramural bulletin board was the main project. A sportsmanship plaque for the men's social clubs was given to Cecil Beck for presentation to a deserving club.

The TNT campsite at Steprock was a favorite spot for stag outings. Camping equipment was purchased for use by the club. Informal initiation for the eight pledges was held there at the end of pledge week.

Christmas carols and refreshments were shared with the Zeta Rho members as a third function before the holidays. The TNT's attended their sister club's games during the volleyball and basketball season, and cheered for the girls.

OFFICERS. Moorer, Pres.; Brock, Vice-Pres.; Gaskins, Sec.; Hollis, Treas.; Virgil Lawyer, Joe Pryor, Sponsors.

Members enjoy caroling, gifts, fun at Yule party

A potluck supper for all married students and their families began an active year for TAG. This event was an open invitation for couples to become members. Thirty-five couples completed the final membership list.

Early in the fall, a submarine sandwich party was held. The next important activity was the Christmas party in the Emerald Room of the student center. The men's quartet of the club, group singing, and exchanging gifts provided entertainment for the group. The club project of the year was helping a needy family at Christmas, thus enabling them to share their joy.

Several skating parties were held in the spring. The club provided social activity and wholesome fun for the families, and the events were well attended. The children and adults welcomed the opportunity to become well acquainted.

SEEKING recreation, TAG's enjoy a skating party, but one husband is interrupted with a request for money.

Classes

Classes serve as a unifying medium for students as they seek knowledge in the world of their peers. Competent teachers unveil new vistas of knowledge as they guide students in the search for truth. The educational opportunities are vast and challenging. Of prime importance at Harding is the Christian environment — association with other students who have similar ideals and goals — in helping students prepare for lives of service in various professions. To make all the development possible in four short years is the challenge presented each student. Although the pathway of learning is often rugged, the rewards of knowledge and wisdom are great and lie WITHIN THE REACH of each student who applies himself diligently.

AGREEMENT among class officers is evident as Senior Pres. Vernon Rogers makes suggestions to Vice-Pres. Phil Sturm, Sec.-Treas. Ann Crawford, and sponsors Bob Gilliam and Jack Ryan.

REGINA SPIRIT AWARD

NAITA JEAN BERRYHILL

Excelling in many areas, Naita Jean Berryhill has been selected by her classmates as the student who evidenced most clearly the true spirit of Harding College. Naita Jean, through her attitudes, personality, and conduct, typifies the sincere Christian which is the ideal Harding student. A warm personality, a friendly smile, and a devotion to God and His service won her this honor. "Missy," as she is known by many of her friends, attended Harding Academy for twelve years. She is a vocational home economics major and is very active in Colhecon. Naita Jean has been an energetic member of the A Cappella Chorus and was in the Belles and Beaux group which toured Europe in 1962 under USO auspices. She was selected to Who's Who this year. A class favorite her freshman year, Naita Jean has remained a favorite throughout her years at Harding.

Specialized study characteristic of graduates

A graduate program leading to the Master of Arts in Teaching degree, fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, is available on the Searcy campus of Harding College. The graduate curriculum is designed to strengthen background knowledge in the student's major teaching field and to provide additional professional knowledge that is needed for effective student instruction. Advanced study is offered in the teaching areas of English and humanities, social science and natural science. Each summer an American Studies workshop is conducted for qualified graduate students in social science. The objective of the graduate program is the preparation of superior elementary and secondary teachers.

The Master of Arts, Master of Religious Education, and Master of Theology degrees are granted upon satisfactory completion of one, two, and three years, respectively, of advanced study at the Harding Graduate School of Bible and Religion at Memphis. The education of effective gospel preachers, capable educational directors, and qualified Bible chair administrators is the primary goal of this division of Harding which was started in Searcy in 1955 and moved to Memphis in 1958. Dr. W. B. West, Jr. is dean.

GIVING instruction and advice is one of the many ways graduate school professors like Dr. Spaulding come in contact with students in their work.

Society recognizes excellent grade averages

CONGRATULATIONS for being accepted into the Alpha Chi honor society are given to new member Sandra Teufert by Jimmie Lawson and Janie Miller.

The Alpha Honor Society, Harding's local honor society founded in 1936 petitioned the National Council of Alpha Chi for membership in the fall of 1956 and the Arkansas Eta Chapter of Alpha Chi was installed on March 1, 1957. The purpose of Alpha Chi is the promotion and recognition of superior scholarship and the elements of character that make scholarship effective for service. Membership in Alpha Chi is limited to juniors and seniors who have attended Harding College for at least one year and who rank in the upper ten per cent of their class. Juniors must have achieved not less than a 3.70 scholarship average on at least 80 semester hours and seniors not less than a 3.50 average on at least 104 semester hours. Each spring at Commencement the graduating member with the highest academic average is awarded an honor key.

Jimmie Lawson, president of the local chapter, received the Region II Alpha Chi Scholarship for 1963-64. Dean Joseph E. Pryor, sponsor of the Arkansas Eta Chapter, serves as Secretary-Treasurer of Region II and Associate Editor of The Recorder, the Society's journal. Dr. James L. Atteberry and Robert Helsten served this year as faculty advisors to the local chapter.

Academy

Providing assistance to parents to "train up a child in the way he should go" in every facet of life, the Harding Academy and Elementary School afford each student the opportunity to obtain excellent academic preparation with a Christian emphasis. This college preparatory school prepares students for their individual roles in life and sends approximately ninety per cent of its graduates to college. The close association between teacher and student contributes much to achieving the goals of the Academy and to making the curriculum vital. The association of students with each other in various activities draws them together in Christian brotherhood and helps each student develop his personality and character. The Harding Academy brings a strong academic program and a Christian environment WITHIN THE REACH of young people.

OPENING

Academy puts values within the reach of all students

The Academy way of life suggests something very special to each of its students as individuals, and to every student body that passes through its doors each year. Every student realizes his potentials through the guidance of capable, conscientious, Christian teachers.

In helping others learn as well as himself, he explores the many phases of science, and masters the fundamentals in math, grammar, literature, and other basic courses. He gains skills for later use in business and art. His history classes give him a better knowledge of past events in order to face the future with more understanding.

But the Academy offers more than classroom learning. Social and service clubs give each student a chance to work with his fellow classmates in service for others. A strong athletic program offers opportunity for each to develop physically as well as mentally and socially. It also affords an outlet for strong school spirit. A love of music by students inspires the chorus to sing with their hearts as well as their voices.

So all of this provides to the Academy students a means of putting the fullness of life within the reach of all.

STUDYING life points Bruce Henson on the road toward knowledge.

SMILING people hurrying down the hallway seem to say its lunch time.

GUIDED by her teacher, Diane Stevens learns the use of homemaking skills.

THEIR motto: "... singing with grace in their hearts to the Lord."

DILIGENCE in her work is reflected on Lea McNeely's face.

STRICT attention to teachers gives Debbie Janes a good background for study.

"TRAIN up a child in the way he should go . . ." is a basic principle.

REACHING for spirit before a football game, Harding Academy cheerleaders stand for the kickoff.

Coach gains recognition and respect from seniors

Mr. Ted Lloyd, BA

NAMED "Coach of the Year" in football for Arkansas "B" schools, Coach Lloyd anxiously watches his boys carry out a play against rival Augusta.

We know you first as a Christian. Your outstanding example in the classroom and on the athletic field has inspired us all to strive for better things. Your knowledge of science and your help in making us, as students, understand it awed us. Your patient coaching not only helped give us an outstanding year in sports, but also made us realize your keen interest in each person as an individual. So we, the seniors of 1964 . . . because of your dedication to the Academy way of life, your encouragement of school spirit, your wisdom and knowledge, and because we like you . . . dedicate our portion of the Petit Jean to you, Coach Ted Lloyd.

These words spoken by a very famous coach, Amos Alonzo Stagg, seem to typify our coach: "To me the coaching profession is one of the noblest and most far-reaching in building manhood. No man is too good to be the athletic coach for youth. Not to drink, not to gamble, not to smoke, nor to swear . . . to be fair-minded. . . to deal justly . . . to be honest in thinking and square in dealing . . . not to bear personal malice or harbor hatred against rivals . . . not to be swell-headed in victory or over-alibi in defeat . . . to be the sportsman and gentleman at all times . . . those should be the ideals of the coach."

DEDICATED to his family, Coach Lloyd lives in Searcy with his wife Marcelene and son Rees, who are also ardent Wildcat fans.

ADMINISTRATION

Able administration gives students incentive to work

PERRY S. MASON, MA, is the superintendent of Harding Academy. He has helped the Academy develop a more Christian standard and takes pride in what the Academy is trying to build. Among his widely varied duties is sponsorship of both the Key Club and the Citizenship Club. He is constantly at work to improve the community as well as the school. Mr. Mason is a member of the Kiwanis Club. He is very well known for his work in promoting Americanism.

J. E. BERRYHILL, MA, the principal of the Academy, is responsible for the seventh through the twelfth grades. He is most familiarly seen busy in the operations of the school. Mr. Berryhill teaches social science and is an ardent fan of the Wildcats.

MAUDE MONTGOMERY, MA, has for the past five years been principal of the Harding Elementary School. In this capacity she has helped to promote the activities of the first six grades. Among her varied responsibilities, Mrs. Montgomery has supervision over the student teachers from the College.

FACULTY

New teachers add to effectiveness of curriculum

Endeavoring to maintain the high standards of education set up by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Harding Academy increased its effectiveness by adding eight young and conscientious faculty members. Mrs. Ted Maple, the new sponsor of the KAT social club and the Future Homemakers of America, was added to the Home Economics Department. Mr. Bill Diles taught a number of business courses and a Bible class. Mr. Larry Bills was the chorus director for both high school and junior high, and an instructor in music and Bible.

Miss Frances Mayer, the new Sub-Deb sponsor, was the physical education teacher for both junior and senior high girls. Mrs. W. C. Welsh taught speech and drama. Mr. Carlton Burke taught math during the first semester while Mrs. Ritchie was in Europe on a campaign with her husband. Miss Ruth Browning, who had been teaching in junior high, also taught freshman and sophomore English. Mrs. Larry Bills was the challenging seventh grade teacher.

Each teacher willingly exerted his effort and talents to aid in the growth of the students in all phases of daily life.

DEVELOPING skills in the various business fields, Academy students take advantage of classes taught by Mr. Diles to prepare for industrial jobs.

REALIZING the importance of learning Christian principles early in life, interested parents send their children to the Harding elementary school.

TAKING advantage of their morning snack break, most students stop for a moment between classes to relax as they refresh themselves.

PRESENTING the annual Christmas play, Lee Clyburn and Ann Clark enact in chapel one of the scenes from the "Gift of the Magi" by O'Henry.

AFTER having waited all morning, Granville Sewell and Paulette Wilson are greeted at the registration desk to be enrolled for another challenging semester at the Academy.

DISCUSSING the new values and knowledge they have gained, students leave chapel ready for their daily activities.

Pride in accomplishment permeates atmosphere

The many phases of Harding Academy life offer intriguing activities of all types to everyone. The beginning of a semester gives a chance to the old students to renew friendships of past years and make friends of those new students registering for the first time.

Sports life involves boys and girls alike. School spirit flourished under a team of well-trained athletes backed by the student body's full support.

The spiritual aspect has its place in the student's life, too. Daily Bible classes are followed by chapel devotionals. Several chorus groups develop in students an appreciation for the avenue of voices in praise to God as well as for personal enjoyment.

Dramatics is an outlet for students having acting talent and wishing to develop it. Toward this end, two big dramatic productions have become a traditional part of every school year.

The anticipated ten minute break from studies came at snack time as students had the opportunity to discuss school activities.

GIVING one of their many programs all year, chorus members present the fruits of hard daily practice and depth of feeling in their music.

DISPLAYING practical application of the Academy school spirit held by all, Molly Mason and Ann Clark decorate halls before a football game.

RADIATING anticipation and eagerness, the members of the 1963 Homecoming Court are seated by their escorts around queen Carla Bell to await the kickoff of the last game of a successful season.

STUDENT LIFE

Co-operation is strengthened through fellowship

MUTUAL enjoyment is evident as dormitory students Mike Lawyer, Johnny Jordan, and Gary Bolen gleefully devour a cake marking Mike's eighteenth birthday.

Homecoming Day at the Academy was a day of anticipation for all students. The crowning of the queen, the exciting football game, and the Halloween victory-party were highlights of the day.

Living in the dorm at Harding was a unique experience for most students. Many students developed spiritually, academically, and socially during their months in the Academy dorm. A number of students spent their study hours in the library doing research which would prepare them for college, a goal which is set by most students in the Academy. Social clubs gave girls a chance to know one another better. Girls in the clubs learned to organize work, choose worth-while projects, and accept responsibilities. Pledge week, banquets, and the second functions were exciting for everyone.

The members of the Junior basketball team eagerly learned the basic skills of the game, and developed co-ordination in executing these skills.

As the school year drew to a close, the students looked forward with anticipation to the future, yet each felt compelled to look back on his years in the Academy and to consider the uplifting activities in which he had participated while at Harding.

ALL-DISTRICT player Marty Thompson goes up for a shot against McCrary for the Junior Cats, and makes those important two points.

UTILIZING study hall periods gives students more free time and also helps everyone keep his grade average at the very highest possible level.

TYPICAL of the efforts made by the social club members to encourage new girls to pledge their club, these Sub-Debs set up a display in the library picturing the activities they enjoy together.

Cats complete first perfect season with honors

QUICK defense proves good as the Wildcats swamp a Beebe player. Hard defensive practices helped the Cats to hold the Badgers scoreless.

The 1963 Wildcats were the first undefeated, untied team in the history of Harding Academy. Against a fired-up Carlisle, James Street booted the winning points, the first field goal Harding has ever kicked. The Cats came from behind to defeat a strong, fast Pocahontas team 19-18. They beat Heber Springs 27-0 for the first District win. The Cats completed the season with a 40-0 win over arch-rival Augusta, making them District 2-B champions. Of the twelve seniors leading the squad, Ely, Street, Sears, Glenn, Hartley, Risinger, and Bill and Kent Smith were named to the All-District team. Ely, and Wildcat Captains Kent Smith and Street were named to the All-State team, with Bill Smith given Honorable Mention. Other seniors were Lawson, Lawyer, Ponder, and Martin.

TIMING plays to improve their offense, Wildcat seniors Bill Smith, Hartley, Lawson, Risinger, and Martin block for Kent Smith on an off-tackle play which gained important yards and touchdowns.

SCORING the first touchdown of the season against Des Arc, Harry Risinger lands under the pile-up but over the goal line for the Wildcats.

TANGLED arms and fleeting glances are pictured as Lawyer and Berryhill scramble with several McCrory boys for possession of a loose basketball.

Wildcat 'hustle' sparks drive for good season

Losing no one on last year's basketball team by graduation, this year's team improved their previous record of 14-9 to 17-10. Hit by a mid-season slump, the Wildcats came back for strong showings in the County and District tournaments. Drawing a bye the first round of the County games, the Cats came up with a strong win over Griffithville in the second round. Facing a strong contender the next evening, the Cats upset Kensett in a last-second thriller by one point, but could not cope with Judsonia in the finals. Easy defeats were handed the first three teams to meet Harding in the District tournament before meeting a very strong Southside. The graduating Cats are: Ely, Lawson, Lawyer, Martin, Street, and Smith.

ALL-DISTRICT Mike Lawyer and All-County Phillip Elliott and Kent Smith demonstrate their own form in adding points to the team's basketball scores.

DRIBBLING in for a layup against a close guarding McCrory Jaguar, Dennis Martin demonstrates the origin of his nickname, "Shifty."

REALIZING rebounding is an essential part of a well played game, Ely and Lawyer jump for possession of a Rosebud boy's missed shot.

TRACK

Strong cinder team aims for state championship

BRUCE Henson and Harry Risinger, working to break records, run several miles every day. Another record breaker, Kent Smith, won the State 440 in '63.

The traditionally fine track record at the Academy was continued this year with Coach Ted Lloyd's last Academy team giving their best for him and for the school. After losing only one letterman from last year's team by graduation, the Wildcats were strong in almost every event. Returning lettermen are Smith in relays, sprints, and hurdles, Lawyer in the high jump and broad jump, Street and Berryhill in the discus, Sears in the shot, Henson in relays, mile, and 880 run, Risinger in the mile and 880 run, and Ely in relays, sprints, and broad jump.

During the 1963 season the Wildcats swept the County and District track meets by overwhelming margins, and ran a close second to Hughes in the State meet, losing by only $\frac{1}{2}$ point. They had the honor of becoming the first team to place two men in any of the sprints in State competition, with Woodward and Smith both placing in the 100 yard dash and the 180 yard low hurdles.

Several boys from last year's junior team gave the senior group added depth. The over-all spirit and cooperation of the team members made for many satisfying moments on the cinders.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL

Junior Cats are spurred by strong team spirit

Finishing their third year of football, the Junior High Wildcats lost to only one of four opponents. After losing their opener on home territory to Augusta 26-7, the Wildcat spirit brought them out of it, and they went on to victories over Morris, Bald Knob, and Heber Springs by large margins.

Serving as co-captains of this year's fourteen man squad were quarterback David Lawson and halfback Marty Thompson. Leading ground gainers for the Junior Cats were Thompson and Watts.

The senior members of this year's squad were Thompson, Lawson, Stafford, Berryhill, Rheinbolt, and watts. Ed Higginbotham coached the Junior Wildcats in football, basketball, and track.

HALFBACK Marty Thompson gets a block from tackle Joel Harris and goes for several yards on a play which gained much yardage all season.

The Beta Club is an honor organization which requires character, leadership, and maintenance of a "90" or above scholastic average for two consecutive six weeks for membership. Each year the Beta Club purchases a frame for the senior pictures in the hallway of the Academy, and has a breakfast for the members.

Once again the Academy Citizenship Club helped to make another year a success by setting as its main objective the promoting of a better relationship among the students and their teachers. The members are devoted to making decisions concerning the school. The club is under the able supervision of Mr. Mason, the school superintendent.

Working to maintain the high standards set up by the National Beta Club, the Junior Beta Club members attempted to encourage others to attain the grades necessary for membership in the society. After a formal initiation, all members began a project of self-improvement.

• The National Thespian Society is an educational honor and service organization for students for the advancement of dramatic arts in the secondary schools. This year the Thespians' projects were the production of a one act Christmas play and a three act spring play.

The Key Club is dedicated to serving Harding Academy by raising money for various facilities to improve the school building. Supervised by Mr. Mason, the Key Club is sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club. The club started the year with several new members and plans for the purchase of a new trophy case, and worked hard all year to attain their goal.

During the 1963-64 school year the Harding Academy Junior Key Club took an active part in fund raising projects to better the school. Some of their projects included selling soap and distributing circulars. The Junior Key Club is also sponsored by the Searcy Kiwanis Club and supervised by Mr. Mason.

The Pep Club's main goal is to arouse the school spirit and support the team. This year the junior and senior cheerleaders helped lead the student body toward this goal. The spirit was attained by decorating the halls before every game, supervising Homecoming activities, and supporting the team at all games. The high point of the year was the Homecoming party held at the skating rink in the gym after the final football game.

Loyalty encouraged by widespread participation

The Academy newspaper, the Wildcat, was published several times during the year. Hard work and effort went into the production by the staff, but the results were rewarding.

The 1964 Petit Jean staff spent many productive hours putting out the annual this year. Writing captions and copy, proofreading, cropping, and various other tasks took time and effort but the finished product was worth it.

The Library Club was a working club made up of about eight members, who met with their sponsor, Mrs. Welsh, the third Friday of each month. Their duties ranged from checking in books and arranging the shelves to decorating the bulletin boards.

This year the Future Homemakers of America was under the leadership of capable officers and their sponsor, Mrs. Maple. The Key Club and the FHA combined forces at Christmas time, and went caroling at a home for the aged. The club ended another wonderful year with a Spanish banquet entitled "Evening in Acapulco."

MUSIC GROUPS

Dedication to their work motivates music groups

According to the tradition at the Academy, music played an important part in the curriculum. With so many musical organizations on campus, it was hard not to participate in at least one. Almost everyone joined the Large Chorus and enjoyed it thoroughly. The only requirement for membership in this organization was a desire to sing. Some of the other groups on the campus were A Cappella, Junior High Chorus, and the two ensembles, sextet and quartet. Music class taught by Mr. Larry Bills, the new chorus director from Terrell, Texas, was a regular part of each day for many. Mr. Bills, a graduate of Harding College, was in charge of all the musical activities on the Academy campus and taught a Bible class in addition.

In the fall the A Cappella took its first tour. For four days they toured the western half of Arkansas and central Oklahoma. In the late winter they took off again to north central Oklahoma, southern Kansas, and southern Missouri. In the spring the chorus left for the last time for the year to tour in the general area of south eastern and central Texas. All three tours were highly successful and proved to be an experience well worth the remembrance of all those concerned. Musical memories are not easily forgotten.

SEXTET. Brady, Smith, Bixler, Clark, Bales, Atteberry.

PARTICIPATING in one of the social club banquets, KAT's and their dates enjoy a meal in the mood of "Shangrila." Each club looks forward to planning its own gala social events each year.

STAR. TOP ROW: Browning (sponsor), Barger, Brown, Coffey, Dalton, Halk, Harris, M. Hays, N. Hays SECOND ROW: Manning, Morris, Paine, Puckett, Reeder, Stafford, Staggs, Stevens, Taylor, White.

STAR

STAR's spend a beautiful 'Evening in Morocco'

Eleven new pledges came home very tired and weary after a day of hard pledging. The pledges also were exhausted after "rough initiation" held at Carol Ann Brown's home. But after the beautiful ceremony of formal initiation, both new and old members were eager to fulfill the responsibilities afforded them through their club.

The sound of laughter and the smell of all kinds of things to eat brings back wonderful memories of the many slumber parties that were held in the home of Miss Ruth Browning, the sponsor, as well as several of the members' homes. The STAR's worked very hard at these parties on their banquet and projects for the year.

The STAR's had their annual banquet at the home of Sara Reeder. They enjoyed an evening of "Stars Over Morocco." The colors black, white, and silver were carried out in the program and tables with flowers used at vantage points in the room.

In keeping with the tradition of helping others, the STAR's aided some unfortunate people in Searcy at several different times of the year.

STARS over Morocco twinkle behind graceful streamers as members and dates enjoy the romantic atmosphere and fine food of a French restaurant.

KAT's work side by side for an outstanding year

CONDUCTING one of many called meetings during the year, K.A.T. president Loretta Lasley consults members concerning plans for their latest project.

The fate of the eight new pledges of the Kappa Alpha Theta social club was decided at a bunking party held in the early fall. Mrs. Ted Maple was chosen the new sponsor and plans for an early banquet were drawn.

Pledging and informal initiation were held in the homes of Linda Cannon and Barbara Bales. The formal initiation was held in the home of president Sue Bixler.

December 9 served as the date for the K.A.T. annual banquet entitled "An Evening in Shangri-la." K.A.T.'s and their dates enjoyed a memorable evening at the Robertson Rendezvous, decorated with a miniature Japanese tea garden and hanging Japanese lanterns.

Another bunking party was held at the home of member Sonja Buffington, at which time the club planned its second function, which was held in the late spring.

KAT. TOP ROW: Maple (sponsor), Bales, Barnhart, Bixler, Black, Brewer, Bryson, Buffington, Cannon, Clothier. SECOND ROW: Clyburn, Eden, Fisher, Hardy, Henderson, Langholz, Lasley, Weakley, L. Wilson, P. Wilson.

SUB-DEB

Attitude of togetherness, loyalty enhances year

The Sub-Debs began their busy school year by the initiation of nine pledges. The informal initiation was an all-night party at the home of their sponsor, Miss Frances Mayer. The pledges, among many other varied activities, wandered blindfolded on the high school football field and were "branded" with a piece of ice. The formal initiation was a solemn candlelight ceremony at Jan Atteberry's home.

The Sub-Debs selected for their junior and senior beaux Phillip Elliott and Dennis Martin. Coach Ted Lloyd was honored with the title of "Honor Teacher of the Year." For their club flower the Sub-Debs chose the white orchid to symbolize purity and beauty, and for the club hymn they selected "My Task."

Once again the Sub-Debs enjoyed their traditional Christmas caroling and slumber party at the home of their sponsor.

On March 2 the Sub-Debs and their dates attended their banquet at the Rendezvous Restaurant. "Tonight," their theme, was depicted by a balcony, flowing fountains, and a hazy, blue atmosphere. The "Deb-of-Honor" award was presented to the Sub-Deb who best typified the spirit of the club.

OFFICERS. Thompson, Pres.; Smith, Vice-Pres.; Holder, Sec.-Treas.; Sewell, Rep.; Atteberry, Songleader; Mason, Deb-at-Arms; Frances Mayer, Sponsor.

CLUB beaux Dennis Martin and Phillip Elliott enjoy the recreation of a scene in a New York park with several Sub-Deb members at their banquet.

WORKING together for a more enjoyable senior year are Pres. Kent Smith, Sec. Barbara Thompson, Sponsor Ted Lloyd, Treas. Carla Bell, Sponsor Frances Mayer, and Vice-Pres. James Sears.

A college campus is a very busy place. College life includes numerous excitements and thrills — ball games, banquets, lyceums, parties, and outings. There is also the excitement and thrill of study, research, and learning. College days are filled with memorable moments — many joyous but some sad — and with hopes and dreams for the future. This book keeps the experiences of the past year WITHIN THE REACH of our memory.

As we enjoy turning the pages of this book, let us remember those who advertised in our student publications. This cooperation manifested by the merchants and professional men of the community should be reciprocated. This can best be done by patronizing those who have helped us so much. Their businesses, offices and services are WITHIN OUR REACH.

May 20, 1964

Dear Friends:

I want to express my appreciation for your cooperation when I was taking pictures for your PETIT JEAN. I wish to congratulate you for being the fine people you are.

Let me urge you to order pictures from your proofs at any time, for we keep your negatives indefinitely. We want to serve you by supplying the kind of photographic work you may desire.

When you are in Little Rock and need photographic work done, be sure to call at our studio. We are proud of the record we have made in Arkansas; we have modern equipment; and we want most of all to continue serving you.

Thanks again, and I hope to see you soon.

Sincerely,

BEN RED

As the final pages of the book . . .

were being completed, and the Petit Jean was drawing to a close, we felt it necessary to express our appreciation for the efforts on the parts of many individuals. Especially do we wish to express sincere thanks to Dr. Joe Pryor for his calming influence and constant encouragement; to Bob Brewer for expressive captions; to Rosalie Burks for many and varied tasks necessary; to Russell Simmons, Regina Stevens, and the Publications staff for additional pictures and kind words; to Herman West and the Harding Press staff for their patience and interest; to Roger and Ben Red for printing pictures, the class portraits and the color photos; to Dr. T. A. Formby for his contribution to the dedication; to the Student Personnel staff for helping us find information; to Mrs. Oran Vaughan, Mrs. Guy Thompson, and Mrs. Lewis Ely for the use of their beautiful homes in taking the personality pictures; to John Clark of American Yearbooks for his guidance and services in producing the yearbook; to the advertisers for their continued support; and to the 1964 staff members for their work and sacrifices. Thank you.

Within a few days the 1963-64 school year will be ended. Throughout the period we have spent at Harding College, we have grown and developed in many areas. Our classes, our associations, and our activities have each made their distinct contributions. Our aspirations, our objectives, and our dreams have been enlarged and elevated, and we must press on toward these higher goals with all the strength, courage, wisdom, and determination we can muster. The education we have received at Harding has placed upon us much greater responsibilities as well as given us enhanced rights and privileges. An enlightened mind, social responsibility, and spiritual discernment provide a foundation and a hope for the future which is WITHIN OUR REACH.
