JAMES ACTON HEDRICK, EdD

To a man who has given more than a decade of dedicated service to Harding College, to a man who is admired and respected by the community as well as by the college, to a man who is recognized as an outstanding teacher in his academic field and whose counsel is frequently sought, to a man who has a keen interest in the entire program at Harding College, to a man who has inspired his students to achieve high professional goals early in their careers, to a man whose humble life of service has demonstrated true Christianity, we, the senior class of Harding College, respectfully dedicate the 1965 PETIT JEAN — to Dr. James A. Hedrick.

James Acton Hedrick was born in Howe, Texas, May 13, 1917. After graduating from the Howe High School he enrolled at North Texas State University where he received the B.A. degree in 1940, the M.A. degree in 1947 and the Ed.D. degree in 1954. Dr. Hedrick became a Certified Public Accountant in 1961. During World War II Dr. Hedrick was commissioned an officer in the Signal Corps and was promoted to the rank of Captain.

Dr. Hedrick joined the faculty at Harding in 1952 after four years of teaching at Arkansas Tech. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, the American Accounting Association, and other COUNSELING students — whether involving personal problems, class work, or a professional matter — was always an area in which Dr. Hedrick excelled.

DEDICATION

Humble heart, great service, Mark the man of dedication learned societies. He has also contributed several articles to scholarly journals.

He is a strong supporter of the Harding athletic teams and does cross-country running as a hobby. The Hedrick's four children are enrolled from nursery school to college at Harding. Dr. Hedrick is an elder in the college church of Christ and serves as treasurer.

BECAUSE of his interest in running, as a hobby, Dr. Hedrick served as the assistant Cross Country Coach.

OUR PRICELESS HERITAGE

Tradition, Heritage are Fundamental to Harding

Alma Mater

Near the foothills of the Ozarks,
Midst of hill and plain;
Stands our glorious Alma Mater
Harding is her name.

Christian standard is her motto;
Christian life is stressed;
And in every branch of learning,
Each one does his best.

Harding opens wide her portals,
Thus inviting all
Who would tread the path to knowledge;
Heed then to her call.

Refrain

Sing the chorus! Shout it loudly!
Echoing through the vale.
Hail to thee, beloved Harding!
Alma Mater. Hail!

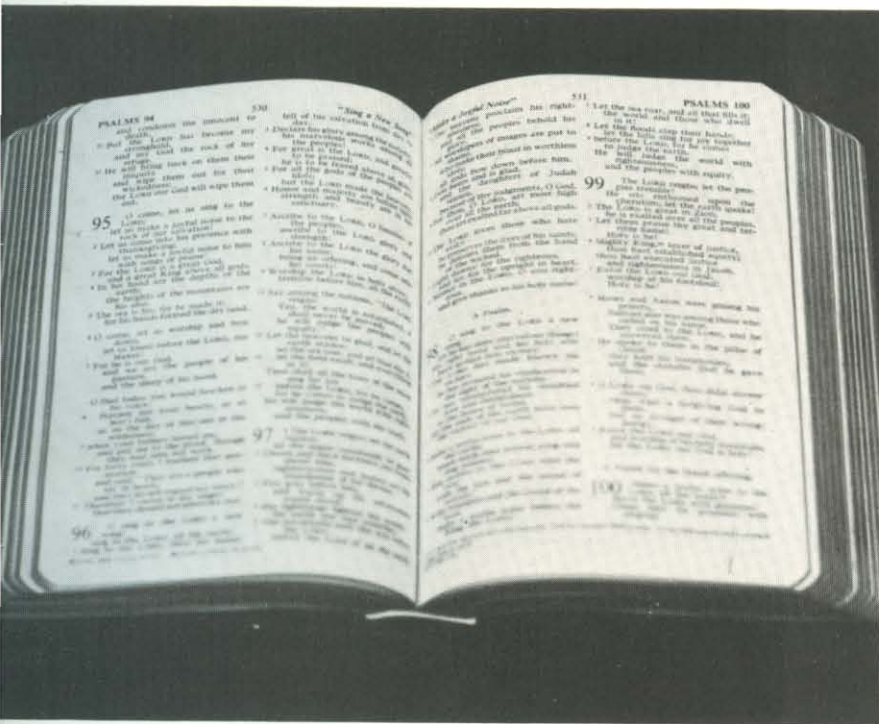

THE Administration Building, symbolizing the physical center of Harding, forms a background for the Alma Mater expressing the spiritual and emotional heart of our college.

AMERICA has indeed found "its place in the sun" when its citizens successfully live according to the word of God as found in the Bible and to the traditions of freedom embodied in our Old Glory.

OUR PRICELESS HERITAGE! It is the birthright each receives in being created in God's image, the freedom to choose the pathway of eternal destiny, the challenge to subdue the earth, to harness the forces of nature and to broaden our intellectual horizons. It is the traditions, accomplishments, goals and knowledge bequeathed to us by our forefathers. This great heritage includes the religious foundation of faith in God with respect for the personality of man. It includes the basic freedoms of our American way of life and the innumerable benefits received from our parents, our school, our teachers and our friends. In essence, life itself is our priceless heritage.

Religion is dedicated people worshipping GOD

YE shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free — inherent in our religion is a confined search for knowledge through Bible study and daily meditation.

“My Jesus as thou wilt,” is a primary facet of our religion — a religion based upon a rich heritage of history from the creation of mankind, through the life and death of Christ to the present structure of the church.

Our religion should permeate every phase of our lives as students, friends, and citizens. It should be seen in our lives readily. The now trite phrase, “make your life an open book — a shining example to all” holds much food for thought.

Believing and obeying a supreme being is the fundamental way in which we find the peace and tranquility of mind necessary for living in the frenzied world of today. Prayer, our direct communication with God, becomes a soothing balm.

As students, our religion manifests itself through daily Bible study, traditional chapel services, regular church attendance, nightly vespers, spontaneous devotionals, private meditation and prayer plus active work in mission organizations for some.

Our religion is our very purpose for — our mission — for life. Striving to uphold our beliefs, but studying constantly to find reason for these beliefs so they will not become static, is a responsibility we must take as Christians.

REVERENCING the Almighty through heartfelt acts of worship — church attendance, singing, praying, listening and communing — Joy Woolard is exemplary of Harding students experiencing our religion.

MEETING in a colonial-style building, the Downtown church of Christ works with evangelist Glen Pace to preach Christ to an expanding Searcy.

MINISTER Joe Black works with the college congregation where Harding students and faculty members worship during the school year.

Worship to God is a primary part of life at Harding. Most students attend the College church of Christ for regular worship and Bible study. An annual fall and spring meeting is also a tradition of our religious life. Some also attend services at the Downtown congregation and others at West Side in Searcy. Approximately 80 Harding students and faculty preach weekly at congregations in surrounding communities.

SERVING West Side, this congregation strives under the work of Carl Mick, minister, to carry out Christ's mission to teach His word.

DAILY Bible study for all students is a privilege of Christian education.

OUR AMERICAN WAY

Past, Present, and Future Form Basis for Harding's Education

America . . . the beautiful! How great it is to be an American today! Our way of life, as preceded by the fathers of America, is something to be appreciated, envied, studied and carefully guarded by each citizen.

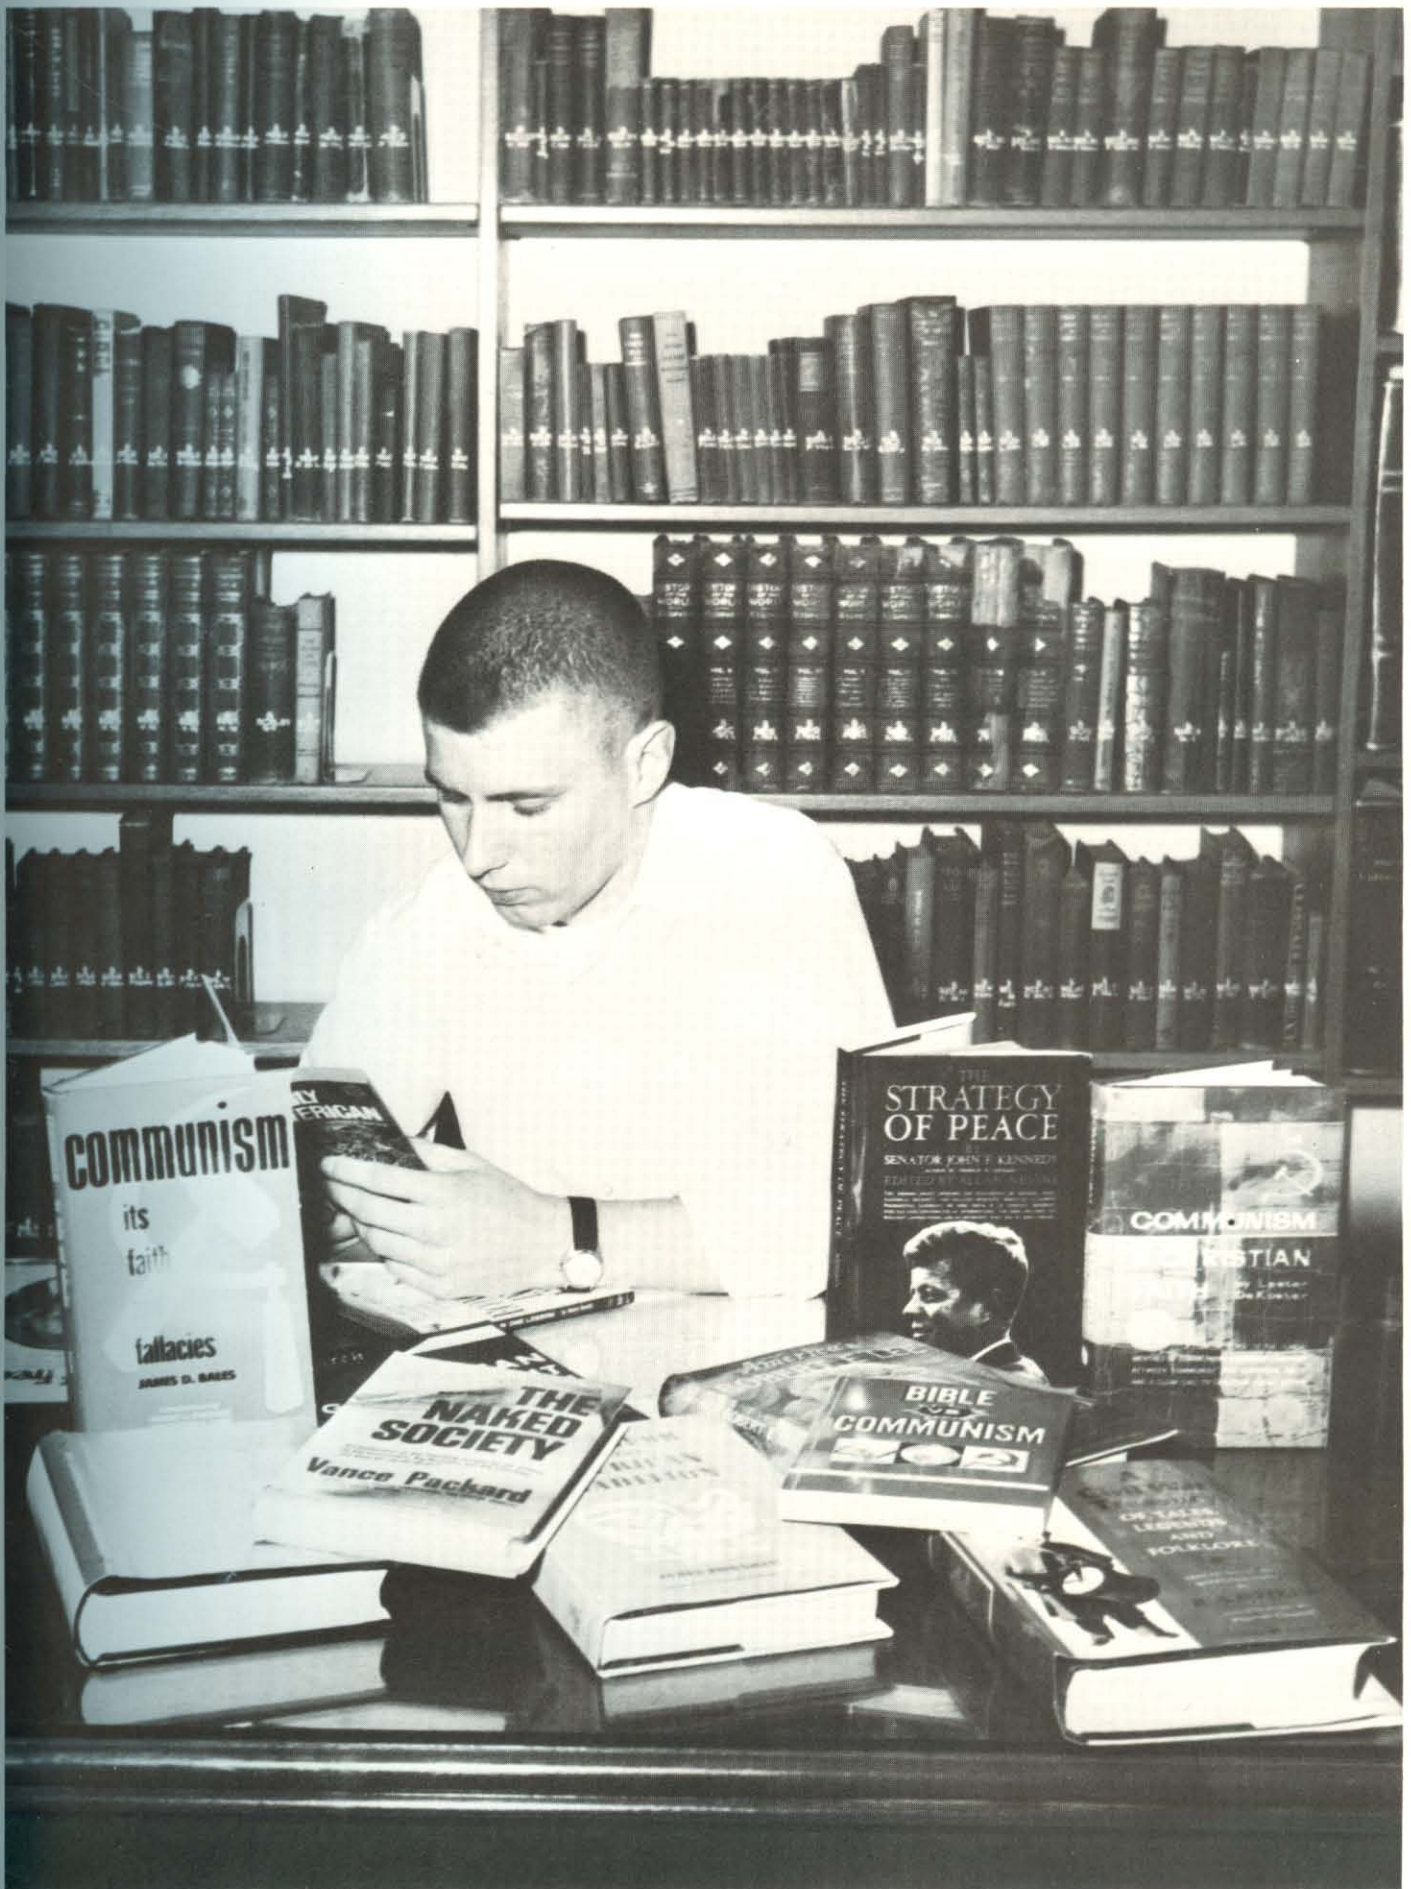

"Where American and Christian ideals go hand in hand" is a vital role which Harding strives to fulfill in training students to take their place as adult Christians and citizens in the community.

Preservation of our basic American freedoms will only be achieved through the work of interested students, well-informed about our heritage. Study in the political and historical realms fortifies us in the continuing struggle against the ideologies which would destroy our freedom — our very life.

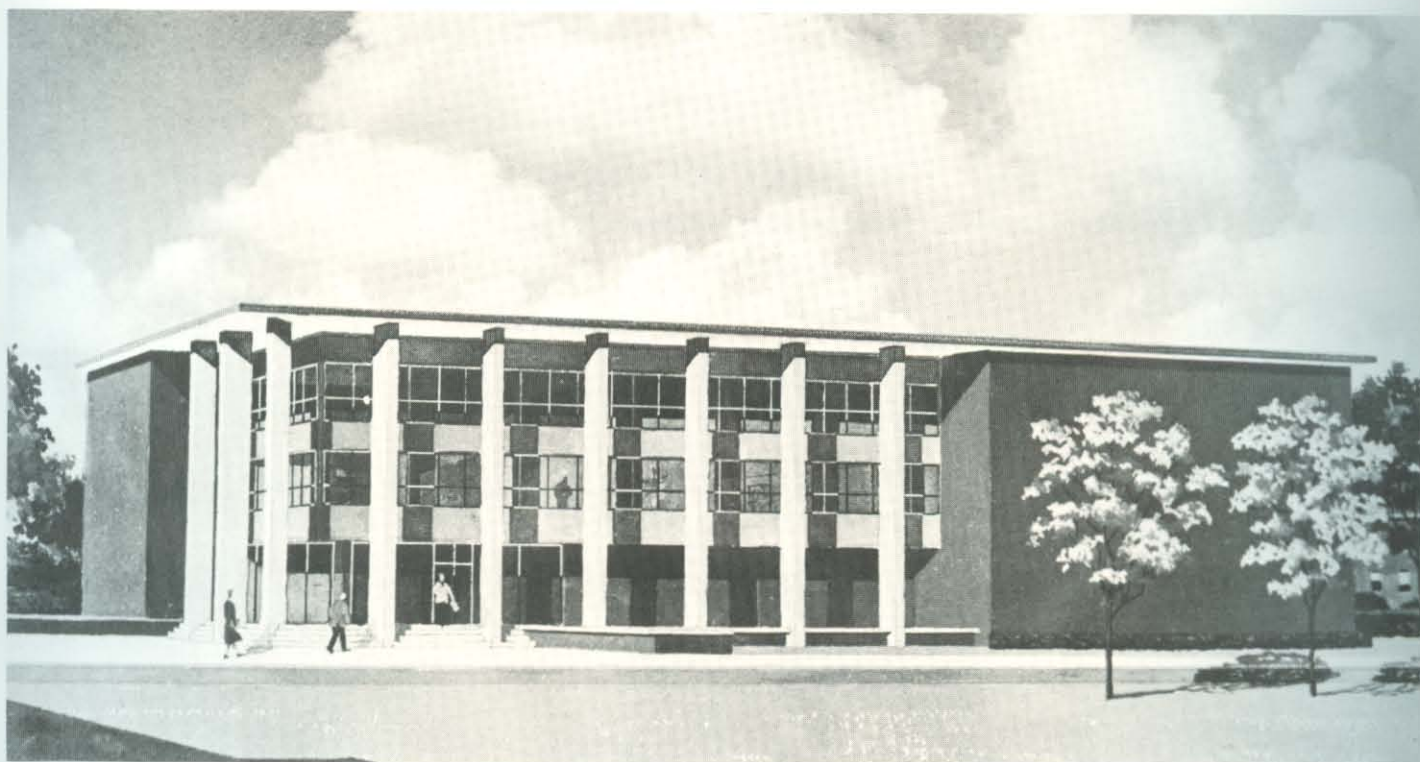

THE hand of freedom marks the future course of America as in this presidential election year, a Harding student helps our country choose our new leaders.

FREEDOM, like our flag, means many things. As the flag is free in the windy sky, so are we all free — to live, to work, to dream and to plan for our future.

SURROUNDED by the past, yet facing the future, Bob Rader utilizes the storehouse of knowledge that has been accumulated concerning the American way of life.

PRELIMINARY architectural drawings for a new science building with laboratories and lecture rooms reveal dreams for the future of our school in the Greater Harding program.

OUR SCHOOL

Tradition, service, dedication manifest heritage

RHODES Memorial Fieldhouse, named after a faculty member, is part of our school open for use by students in physical development.

GENTLY rolling in, the fog dissolves the beautiful Harding campus into shimmering, misty moonlight with merely a hint of a building visible.

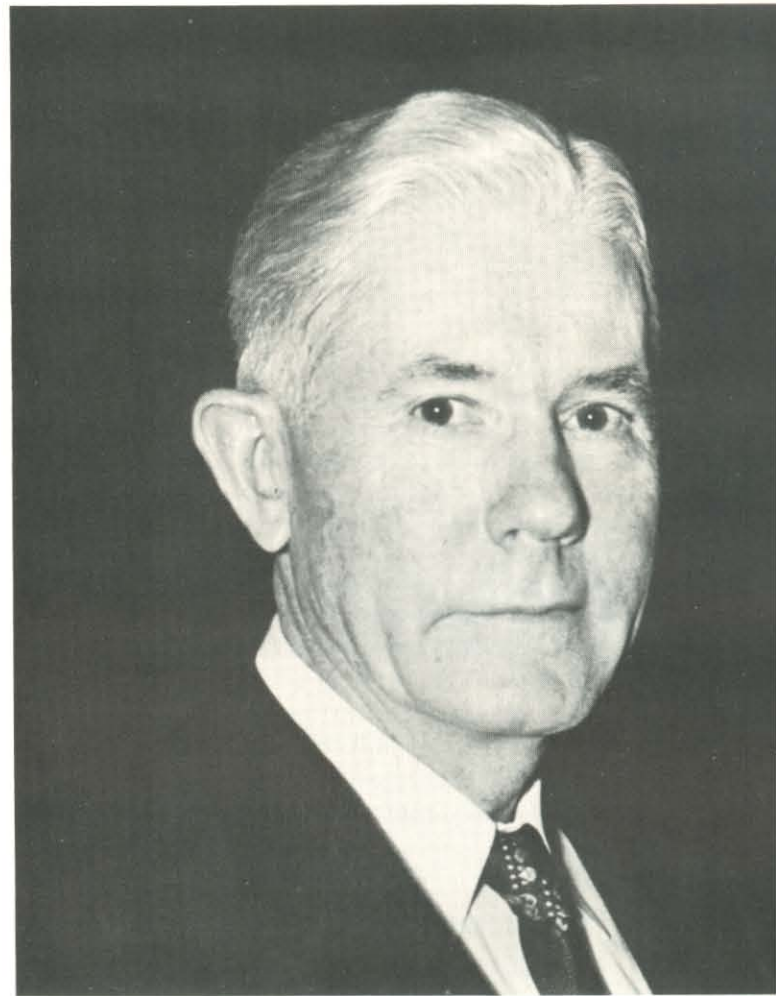

Our school — that part of our priceless heritage which was definitely made possible by the sacrifices of alumni and friends of Harding — has a physical plant valued at approximately 12 million dollars. The beautiful campus serves this institution of learning well. However, it is not static. A two million dollar campaign for a “Greater Harding” is in its second year. Construction is well along on a multi-purpose Alumni-American Heritage Center and plans are being made for the building of a new science hall. The music department is expanding into a new, well-equipped recording studio. Harding is moving forward.

Scenes of the past which enrich Harding’s history include the move from Morrilton to Searcy in 1934 to the Galloway College campus. The heritage has moved forward until the present — 1965. It is growing and will continue to grow only as long as it is supported by those who realize the good that Harding does, can, and will accomplish in the development of Christians and citizens. It is our responsibility to use this heritage and then to continue it for the generations to come — to build a “Greater Harding.”

IN MEMORIAM

SCHOOL history tells of Arkansas Christian College as Harding's parent-college; its original administration building is located at Morrilton, Arkansas.

Dr. L. M. Graves

1895-1964 .

Dr. Lloyd Myers Graves, M.D., served 23 years on the Board of Trustees of Harding College, the last 10 years as Chairman of the Board. During his time of leadership the College has made significant advances in physical facilities and academic standing.

Born in Copiah County, Mississippi, in 1895, he attended Burritt College before enrolling in Vanderbilt University from which he received the M.D. degree. He became the first full-time health officer of Shelby County, Tennessee, in 1926, and was named superintendent of health for Memphis in 1928. The city and county health departments merged in 1942 and Dr. Graves, as the first and only director, lead Memphis to national recognition as a clean and healthy city. He died of a heart attack in Nashville on December 3, 1964, at the age of 69 while attending a meeting of the Tennessee Public Health Association.

REFLECTING the timeless beauty of the Harding campus, the lily pool mirrors an image which will remain etched in the memory of all her students.

OUR SCHOOL

Key Buildings Hold Heritage for Future Success

To provide superior facilities for presenting the great spiritual heritage in Christianity, the Bible Building, constructed in 1960, is the most extensively used classroom building.

Beaumont Memorial Library, built in 1950, presents to the Harding community the great intellectual heritage of modern man through 75,000 carefully selected volumes and various supplementary materials.

Representative of the excellent dormitory facilities that are the heritage of Harding students is Kendall Hall, a dormitory for women built in 1961 with funds contributed largely by Arkansas patrons.

The W. R. Coe American Studies Building, a modern classroom building constructed in 1953, houses several academic units of the college, including the School of American Studies which admits superior students from many departments for an intensive study of our American heritage.

CONVERSING with visiting parents, Don Taylor experiences one of the joys of seeing loved ones after a long period of separation.

OUR PARENTS

Sacrifice, dedication and love depict parents

Life, as our priceless heritage, is a God-given gift which comes through the love and desire of two people for each other and for children. These two people are the ones we affectionately call "mom" and "dad."

Our parents, not only bring us into the world, but also provide the opportunities for us to live, to grow, to learn, to succeed and eventually to be parents ourselves.

They form the basis of thought by which our lives are governed — the foundations by which we choose our pathway of life.*

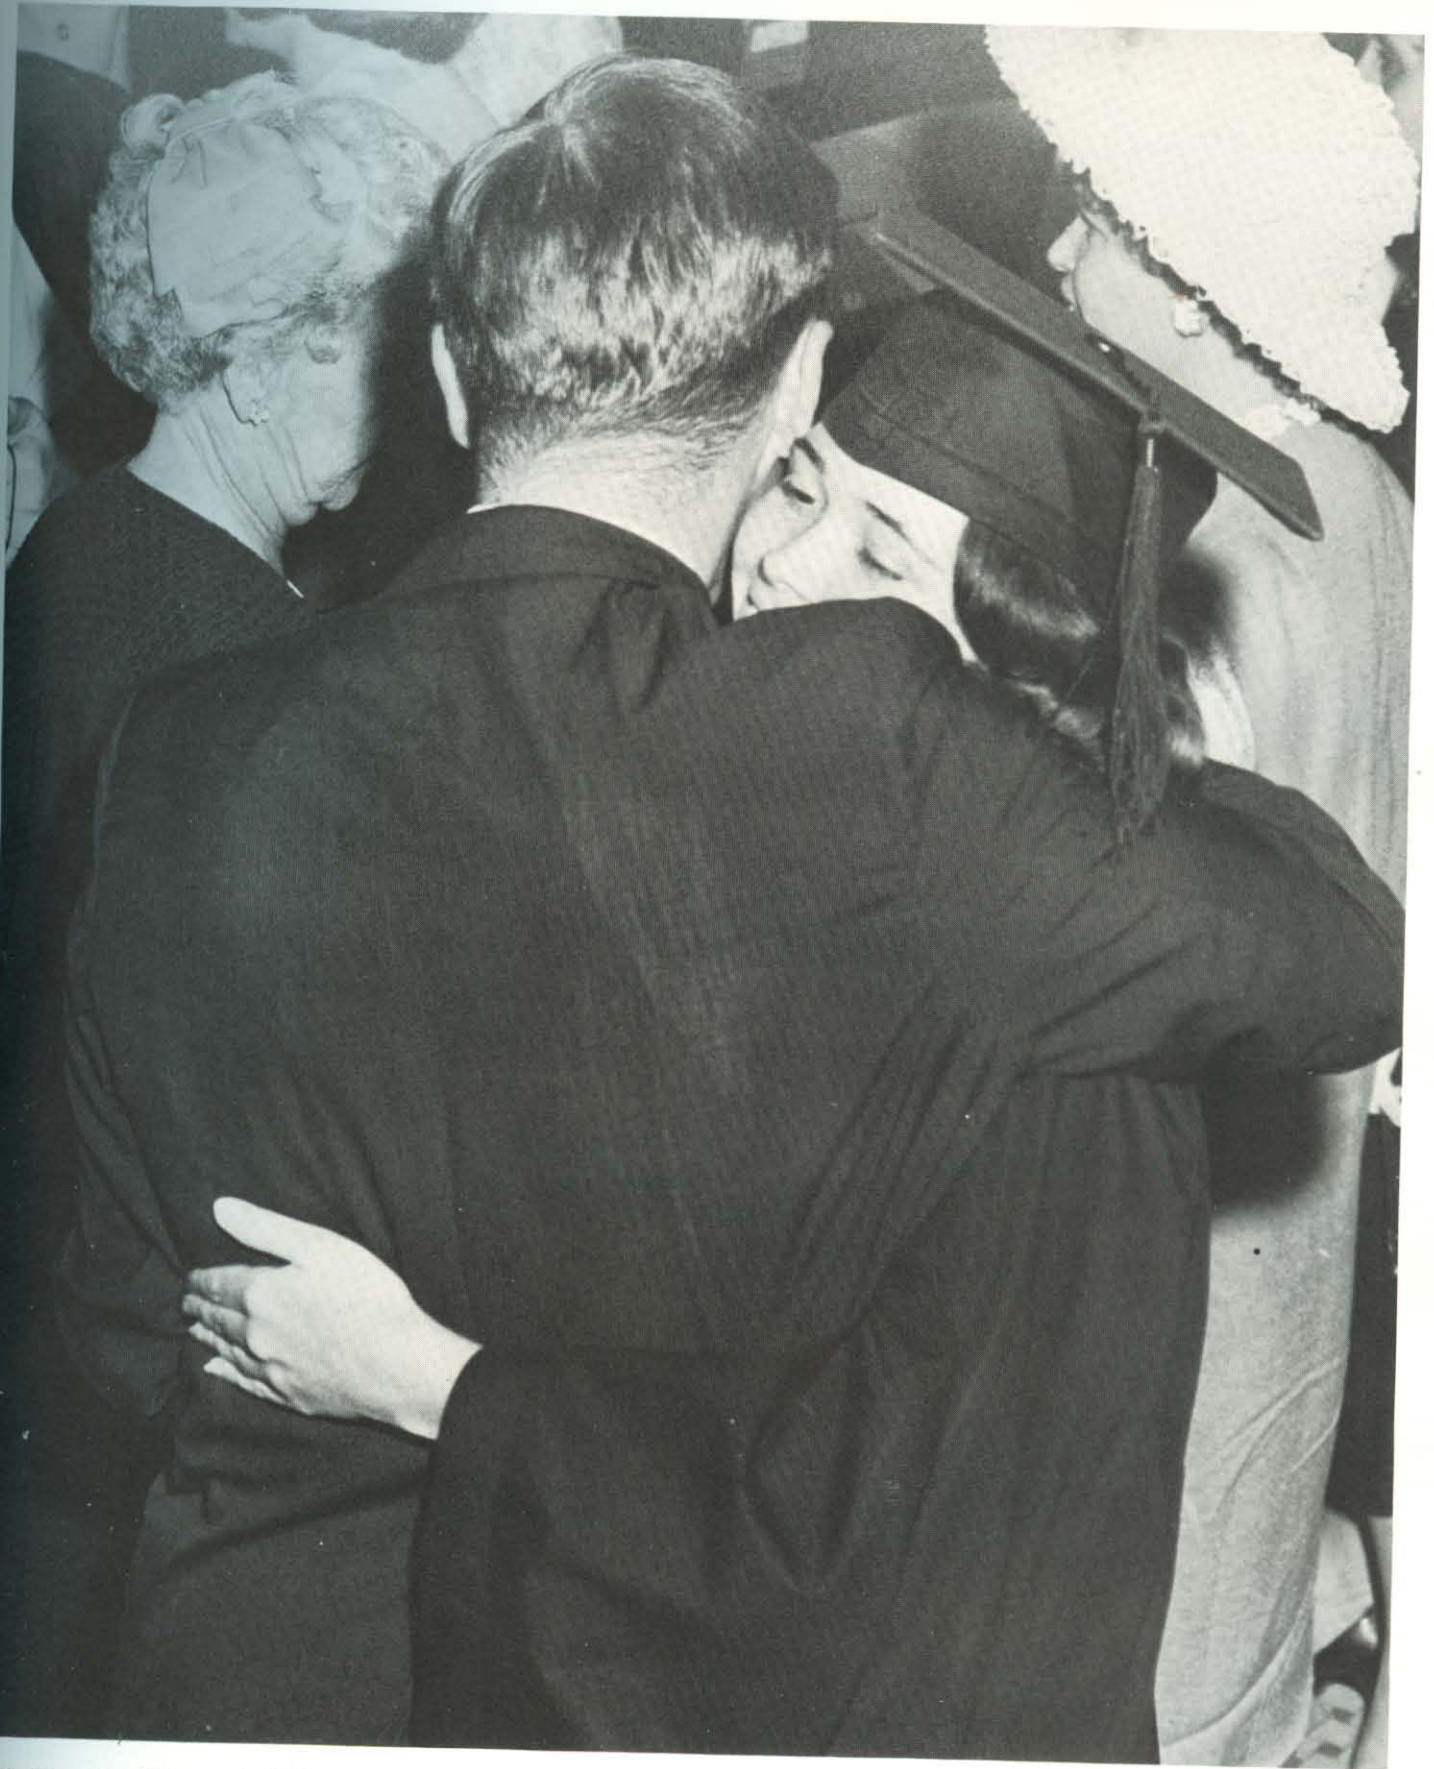

Appreciation, as defined by Webster, includes grateful recognition, sensitive awareness, and discriminating perception or enjoyment. Our parents should always be able to see in our perception an awareness of their encouragement, the opportunities they have given us, the sacrifices they have made and are making.

REPRESENTATIVE of our working mothers is Mrs. Ben Gray, as she counsels with students in a Jonesboro, Arkansas, classroom.

TUITION, money paid for education, is symbolic of sacrifices of our parents for the continuing search for knowledge today's world demands.

PRIDE, joy, accomplishment, thankfulness — these are feelings of both parent and student after that long-sought-for diploma has been awarded.

ADMINISTRATION

Energy and calm characterize Harding's leader

DR. GEORGE S. BENSON is recognized first and foremost as a Christian leader. Students and faculty are often amazed at his ability to develop and to direct personally the intricate operations that make Harding an outstanding academic institution.

Energy, hard work, and intent dedication to God are some of the dynamic characteristics that have made Dr. Benson eminently successful.

The "Greater Harding" program is fast becoming a reality, and Dr. Benson's fine business judgment and excellent planning have been the driving forces behind the success of the two million dollar campaign.

Dr. and Mrs. Benson gain spiritual strength by studying the scriptures together each morning. Their rich experiences in Chinese mission work have been valuable and meaningful in local church work and in training young people for the mission field.

For 29 years Dr. Benson has guided the destiny of Harding College. He has imparted zeal and enthusiasm to thousands of students who have observed his exciting and purposeful Christian life.

ASTRIDE one of his horses, Dr. George S. Benson epitomizes the poise, strength, and dignity he exudes as President of Harding.

SERVING ably as secretary for the president of Harding College, Miss Marguerite O'Banion proves a hard, efficient, tireless worker.

CATCHING the college plane, Dr. Benson and school pilot Harry Risinger leave, on one of the many trips they take throughout the year on behalf of Harding.

ADMINISTRATION

Vision and planning mark our administration

DR. CLIFTON L. GANUS, JR. is a powerfully built man with the knowledge and experience necessary to perform the varied responsibilities of a busy college vice-president.

An excellent teacher and advisor, Dr. Ganus sets a rapid pace as he directs the School of American Studies and serves as Chairman of the Department of History and Social Science. He is able to relay his knowledge of American history to the public through lectures and publications and to impress upon his audiences the priceless heritage American citizens enjoy.

Active in civic affairs, Dr. Ganus is a member of the Searcy Chamber of Commerce and the Lions club. His work as director of youth seminars on Americanism is an important factor in developing well-informed leaders for the future.

Dr. Ganus takes a keen interest in every facet of the Harding program and ably assists President Benson in administrative responsibilities.

R. T. CLARK, JR., PhD

CLIFTON L. GANUS, JR., PhD

DR. R. T. CLARK is an outstanding athlete, a successful coach, a challenging professor, a capable administrator, and an internationally-recognized scientist. He is completing his second year as Vice-president in charge of Research at Harding College. Chapel audiences will long remember Dr. Clark's wit, wisdom, and thought-provoking lectures. Just the sight of his pose as he addresses the student body gives promise of vital lessons that he is certain to present. Dr. Clark can still give any man a good race — whether on the track field, in the research laboratory or on the speaker's podium. His hard work as a campus leader and his ability to produce under pressure have brought national recognition to Harding College. His consistent and sincere enthusiasm is often just the tonic needed to cure a flustered freshman, a discouraged athlete, or a somber upperclassman.

LOTT TUCKER, BA

LOTT TUCKER, Harding's capable Business Manager, is a leader in church and civic affairs. A member of the Southern Association of College and University Business Officers, Mr. Tucker is a capable and efficient financial leader. In addition to his duties in administering the college budget, he is responsible for maintenance of the school plant and for the investment of the endowment funds of the college. He also is supervising the construction of the new buildings in the "Greater Harding" project.

As immediate past president of the Searcy Kiwanis Club, secretary of the Municipal Planning Commission and a leader in the Little League baseball program, Mr. Tucker enjoys a prominent and influential position in the Searcy community.

Formulating the policies of Harding College is the responsibility of the BOARD OF TRUSTEES, a self-perpetuating body of capable business men, professional men and educators dedicated to the promotion of Christian education. These men serve without salary contributing their time, wisdom, energies and even financial resources to the advancement of Harding College.

Dr. L. M. Graves, M.D., Memphis, Tennessee, a member of the Board since 1941, served as chairman from 1954 until his sudden death from a heart attack on December 3, 1964. The Vice-Chairman, Dr. Houston T. Karnes, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, succeeded Dr. Graves as Chairman of the Board.

Administrators generate student achievement

VIRGIL H. LAWYER, MA

The talents and disposition needed by a dean of students are effectively portrayed by Harding's Dean of Students and Director of Admissions, VIRGIL LAWYER.

Dean Lawyer's first contact with students frequently begins when the students are sophomores or juniors in high school as he speaks to high school "college day" programs, for youth meetings at congregations throughout the state or at "prospective student" meetings of alumni chapters. He also corresponds with thousands of students to inform them of the excellent program at Harding College.

As coordinator of the student orientation program at the beginning of the fall semester, Dean Lawyer has the exciting responsibility of meeting students and helping them feel at home on campus. His wit, keen insight into the psychology of youth and genuine interest in young people enable him in an effective manner to make students aware of the great opportunities available at Harding for them to have an enjoyable time while they develop physically, intellectually and spiritually. His office is open to students for help with their problems.

Ably and amiably tackling any task before him, JOSEPH E. PRYOR, known to most students as "Dr. Joe," discharges the responsibilities of the Dean of the College. He also serves as a coordinator for the North Central Association Liberal Arts Study program, Secretary-Treasurer of Region II of Alpha Chi, second Vice-president of the AEA Department of Higher Education and Councilor for the Central Arkansas Section of the American Chemical Society.

Since assuming the deanship in 1960, he has continued some classroom teaching each semester in his major field of physical science. Dean Pryor inspires many faltering students with his vivid descriptions of today's physical world.

A graduate of Harding College, Dean Pryor draws upon his collegiate background as editor of both the Bison and Petit Jean to provide invaluable assistance to each Petit Jean staff as faculty advisor. He also serves as Harding's faculty representative to the Arkansas Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, drawing upon his intercollegiate experience in basketball and track. He serves as a deacon at the College Church of Christ.

JOSEPH E. PRYOR, PhD

INEZ PICKENS, BA

INEZ PICKENS has served very ably as Harding's Dean of Women since 1955. Her interest in developing mature Christian women has made many friends among both students and faculty.

Mrs. Pickens also serves as director of Pattie Cobb Hall which houses nearly one hundred Harding women. As a teacher of English at the Harding Academy, Mrs. Pickens instills in her students an appreciation for great literature through her classes in English and American literature.

Her thoughtfulness and genuine concern for others are major reasons why the Dean of Women still corresponds with hundreds of Harding alumnae who are now homemakers and career women.

Mrs. Pickens is an avid sports fan, an intriguing teacher, and a faithful Christian worker. She is a active member of the Harding Business and Professional Women and the Searcy chapter of A. A. U. W.

VIRGIL BECKETT, BA

Efficient and reliable, VIRGIL BECKETT is responsible for registering students, recording grades, preparing transcripts, checking graduation requirements and making various academic studies.

An alumnus of Harding College, Mr. Beckett is an able counselor and advisor. Seniors appreciate and trust his advice and knowledge when checking on graduation requirements or making important decisions about graduate study. His friendly smile and pleasing disposition add a note of pleasure to some of the long and tedious tasks involved in matriculation and other routine academic procedures.

A vital part of the Harding campus, Mr. Beckett enjoys all of the Bison performances on the gridiron, court, and diamond. He also enjoys a game of golf with his colleagues or working in his yard. A member of the college church of Christ, he and his family enjoy the fellowship and the opportunities to serve that are so much a part of this active congregation. His dedication to the church and to the community is exemplary of his work as registrar.

BIBLE

Hearts, minds of students influenced by words, actions

The Bible, the hub around which the college revolves, is ably taught to all students by a dedicated faculty. Work is administered in the Biblical, doctrinal, historical, and practical areas, but the impact of this department does not end in the classroom. Bible majors and others students likewise benefit from the Thanksgiving lectureship, an inspirational and instructional weekly Monday night meeting, numerous special interest meetings, and four annual seminars featuring outstanding ministers from throughout the brotherhood. The Timothy Club offers practical advice from ministers, elders, and church workers each week to Bible majors. The department has made a special effort this year to work through various organizations, including the Student Association, to foster a keener interest in the Bible and in religious activities among all Harding's students. W. Joe Hacker, department chairman, is currently on leave of absence completing a doctorate in religious education at Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Ft. Worth.

EDUCATION AND RESEARCH

High standards, wide background achieve certification

The preparation of elementary and secondary teachers is a major function of Harding College since approximately sixty per cent of the recent graduates have completed certification requirements. The undergraduate teacher education program is NCATE-approved. Dr. Harry D. Olree serves as Chairman of the Education Division and also assists in directing the research program on a scientific evaluation of physical fitness levels. Dr. W. K. Summitt serves on the Board of the AEA Department of Higher Education and Dr. Edward G. Sewell is president of the Arkansas Association for Student Teaching. Mr. Ted Lloyd and Mr. Ted Altman, both in physical education, are new members of the division.

Beaumont Memorial Library contains more than 73,500 carefully-selected volumes. During the past summer the library was made a depository for selected government documents.

JACKIE King, student teacher candidate, experiences pre-lab training while several others observe her actions prior to their turn at teaching.

HUMANITIES AND FINE ARTS

Basic appreciation for life found in humanities and arts

Primary objectives of the academic program at Harding College are to help students develop the ability to communicate their ideas effectively, and to acquaint students with the great art, literature and music that is the heritage of twentieth century man. Formal academic work in this area is supported in an outstanding way through co-curricular activities in dramatics, forensics, student publications, band, a cappella and special interests groups. National recognition has been achieved in these activities for the superior quality of student performance.

Dr. James L. Atteberry is serving as Chairman of the Humanities Division and Professor Elizabeth Mason is Chairman of the Fine Arts Division. In August, 1964, Dr. Kenneth Davis completed all requirements for the Ph.D. degree in music at the University of Indiana. Mr. Earl Wilcox returned in July from a two-year leave of absence at Vanderbilt University where he completed all requirements for the Ph.D. degree in American literature except for the dissertation. Mr. Doyle Ward is on leave of absence this year working toward the Ph.D. degree in speech at the University of Missouri. Mr. Ben Holland was on leave during the fall semester writing an M.A. thesis in drama for the University of Southern California. New teachers this year are Robert Privitt in art, Sandra Williams in English and Van Alessandro in speech.

NATURAL SCIENCE

Expansion, research key to secrets of natural sciences

Preparing outstanding students for graduate and professional study is a major objective of the Division of Natural Science. The strong academic program is re-enforced by the team research program in life sciences under the direction of Dr. R. T. Clark who was invited to Tokyo, Japan, in September to present a paper before the International Congress of Sports Medicine. Dr. Jack Wood Sears, chairman of the division, was an American Chemical Society tour speaker in November. Mr. Don England in chemistry, Mr. Kenneth Perrin in mathematics and Mr. William Rushton in biology have been on leave this year working on the doctorate in the respective areas. New faculty members are Mr. Bryce Roberson in biology and Mr. Robert Smith in chemistry. A major project of the division this year has been the preparation of plans for the projected million-dollar science building to be constructed next year.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

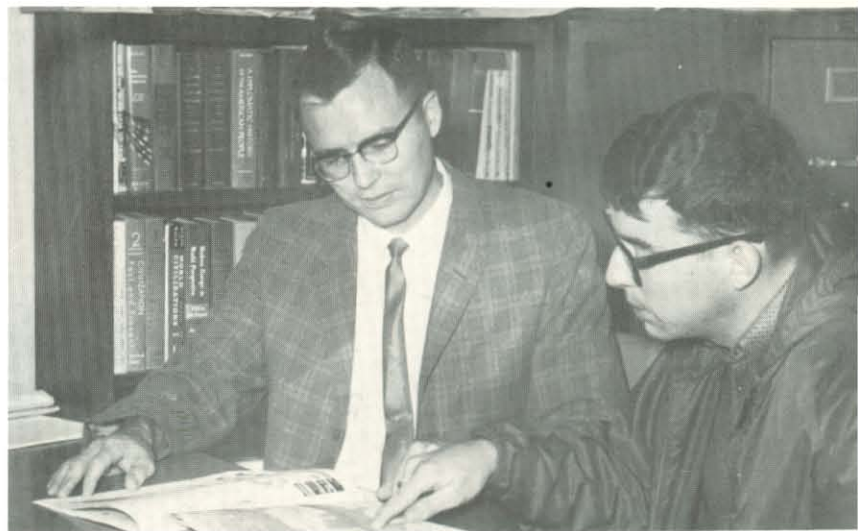

Much of the American way seen in energetic division

Preparing outstanding students in social science, business and education for leadership positions through the American Studies Program is a major activity of the Division of Social Science. The general education program in this area consists of a political, economic and historical study of the United States, a survey of European history and a study of international relations. Advanced courses are offered in history, accounting, business, economics, political science, secretarial science, sociology, and social science.

The theme for the American Studies Program this year was "America's Future." Trips were made to St. Louis in the fall and to Cincinnati in the spring to study business, industrial, and government activities. Visiting speakers and members of the faculty present semi-monthly seminars on some facet of the theme.

Dr. Roy Wellborne serves as Chairman of the Division of Social Science; Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., is the Director of the American Studies Program. Billy Ray Cox in accounting and business, Mac Angel in accounting, and Raymond Muncy in history are new members of the faculty.

HISTORY, as taught here by Professor Segraves to Ron Young, means something because it is presented as an interesting commentary on life.

Thomas Nelson, BS, Research Center Associate

ACTIVELY engaged in helping students find jobs after graduation, Mrs. McCoy of the Placement Office shows Bob Percy some information on a possible job.

Indispensable to the operation of Harding College are a number of non-teaching employees who perform a variety of services and who are referred to as the Staff. Many staff members have given years of service to the college and they are genuinely dedicated to the aims and objectives of the college. Without the capable and unselfish service of these people the excellent academic program could not be maintained. Although students frequently do not recognize the importance of the activities of these people, their services directly affect the daily life of each student. They render many essential services that often go unrecognized.

Academic life encourages students to excellence

We learn, we understand, we broaden our sight — these are forward-moving steps in the process for which we came to school — academic growth. Throughout the year, classroom life continues, teachers lecture, students search for knowledge. Collegiate life is academic achievement plus social and extra-curricular activities.

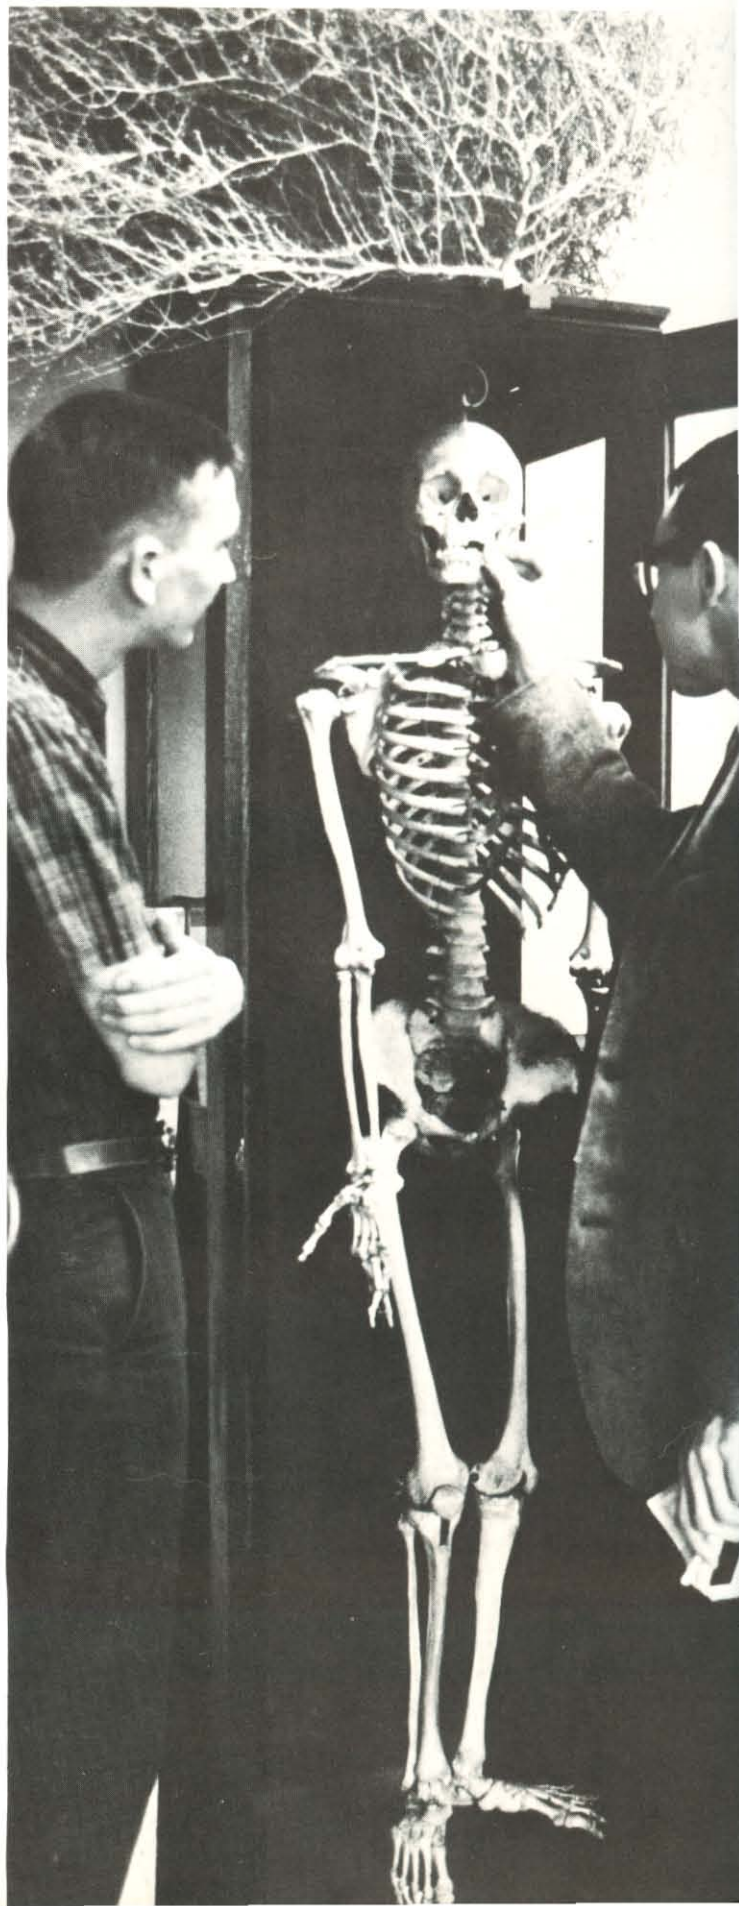

The learning process takes place daily through the various departments of the institution. At Harding these departments include Art, Bible and Religion, Biological Science, Business and Economics, Education and Psychology, English Language, Foreign Languages, General Science, History and Social Science, Home Economics, Journalism, Mathematics, Music, Physical Education, Physical Science and Speech. Classes are planned on a semester basis.

Searching for the unknown; studying, or as the case may be, "cramming" for finals; closing another year — these are all parts of the school year which make it a profitable season of learning and enjoyment for those who come to apply themselves to the situation at hand.

EXPERIMENTATION doesn't bother Tommy Carter, as he prepares to run a series of tests on several chemicals in a lab.

EXPLANATION of various skeletal structures involves Mr. Roberson and Dwight Boggs in an interesting biological conversation.

PRACTICAL experiences of the great men of the past, such as are recorded in the library's Brewer Room, are a great help and inspiration to today's Biblical students.

AS the Director of Testing and Counseling, Dr. Bob Gilliam confers with senior Bryan Jacobs about GRE percentiles.

SCIENTIFIC research in Harding's physical fitness program resulted in an outstanding display at the NASA exhibit in Little Rock's Barton Coliseum.

EXPRESSING herself creatively through study and work in art, Dale Philbrick demonstrates her artistic abilities through the media of oil painting.

INSTRUMENTAL instruction for Sue Bixler is a very important phase of her individual music study in the humanities and fine arts division.

UTILIZING the speech laboratory facilities to obtain some individual training in speaking, Butch Kent works with one of the tape recorders.

FORMULATING their plan of attack in preparation for a series of business games at Michigan State, Harding's team consults with Mr. Bill Cox.

RAPT attention from elementary level students enables practice teacher Marilyn Finley to direct young minds in a new learning experience which comes in education.

BUSINESS administration major, Joe Belew, finds that machines skill will aid him in study as well as in future work.

*Striving for academic excellence,
Preparing for vocational future,
Unifying their search for knowledge,
Accepting learning's challenges,
Associating with others of similar interests,
Students work through class and study
To learn what our heritage has willed.*

Hard work and awards culminate the senior year

REGINA SPIRIT AWARD

TERRY SMITH

A Christian man, a good example, a sparkling personality, a hard worker, a student leader, a valued friend — all are characteristics of the Regina Spirit Award recipient. Terry Smith, this year's honoree, was a nearly unanimous selection, and rightly so. Terry, a Bible major from Clarksdale, Mississippi, transferred from the University of Mississippi to Harding in his freshman year. Terry, business manager of the Bison, has been junior class president and favorite, Religious Chairman for the Student Association and a member of the Timothy Club and intercollegiate tennis team.

Junior - Senior festivities highlight exciting year

FUN, food, and fellowship were the components of an enjoyable junior-senior banquet at Little Rock's Hotel Lafayette during the spring semester.

DARKHORSE candidate, Roy McGee, furiously attacks his slice of watermelon in his effort to gain the title of champion watermelon eater.

ENTERTAINING with stories galore, Dr. Glen Cunningham, featured speaker at last spring's junior-senior banquet, gave stimulation for thought.

FRESHMEN

Participation initiates freshmen into collegiate life

EXERCISING their privilege to vote, Van Ristau and a fellow classmate aid in the selection of officers for the forthcoming freshman year.

CHI SIG initiates have a rather pale, pasty look as they pause for a minute from a night of fun sponsored by their own happy-go-lucky pledgemasters.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Graduate school furthers interest in education

Preparation of superior elementary and secondary teachers is the objective of the graduate program in Searcy leading to the Master of Arts in Teaching degree. Emphasis is placed on strengthening the student's knowledge in his teaching field since those entering the program must meet certification requirements or meet these requirements through undergraduate make-up. English and humanities, social studies, and natural science are the three areas besides education in which graduate work is currently offered. Dr. W. K. Summitt, Chairman of the Department of Education and Psychology, serves as Chairman of the Graduate Council.

Three years of graduate study in Bible, religion, and religious education are offered at the Harding College Graduate School of Bible and Religion, 1000 Cherry Road at Park Avenue, Memphis, Tennessee. Degrees offered are the Master of Arts, the Master of Religious Education and the Master of Theology. Emphasis is placed upon teaching the Bible and closely related subjects at an advanced academic level. An outstanding faculty has been assembled, a new library building was dedicated December 1, 1964, and two modern apartment buildings have been completed this year. Dr. W. B. West, Jr. serves as the capable Dean of the Graduate School of Bible and Religion.

PUTTING experience into application is one of the excellent characteristics found by Cledic Jackson and Francis Whiteman in Harding's graduate study.

ALPHA CHI

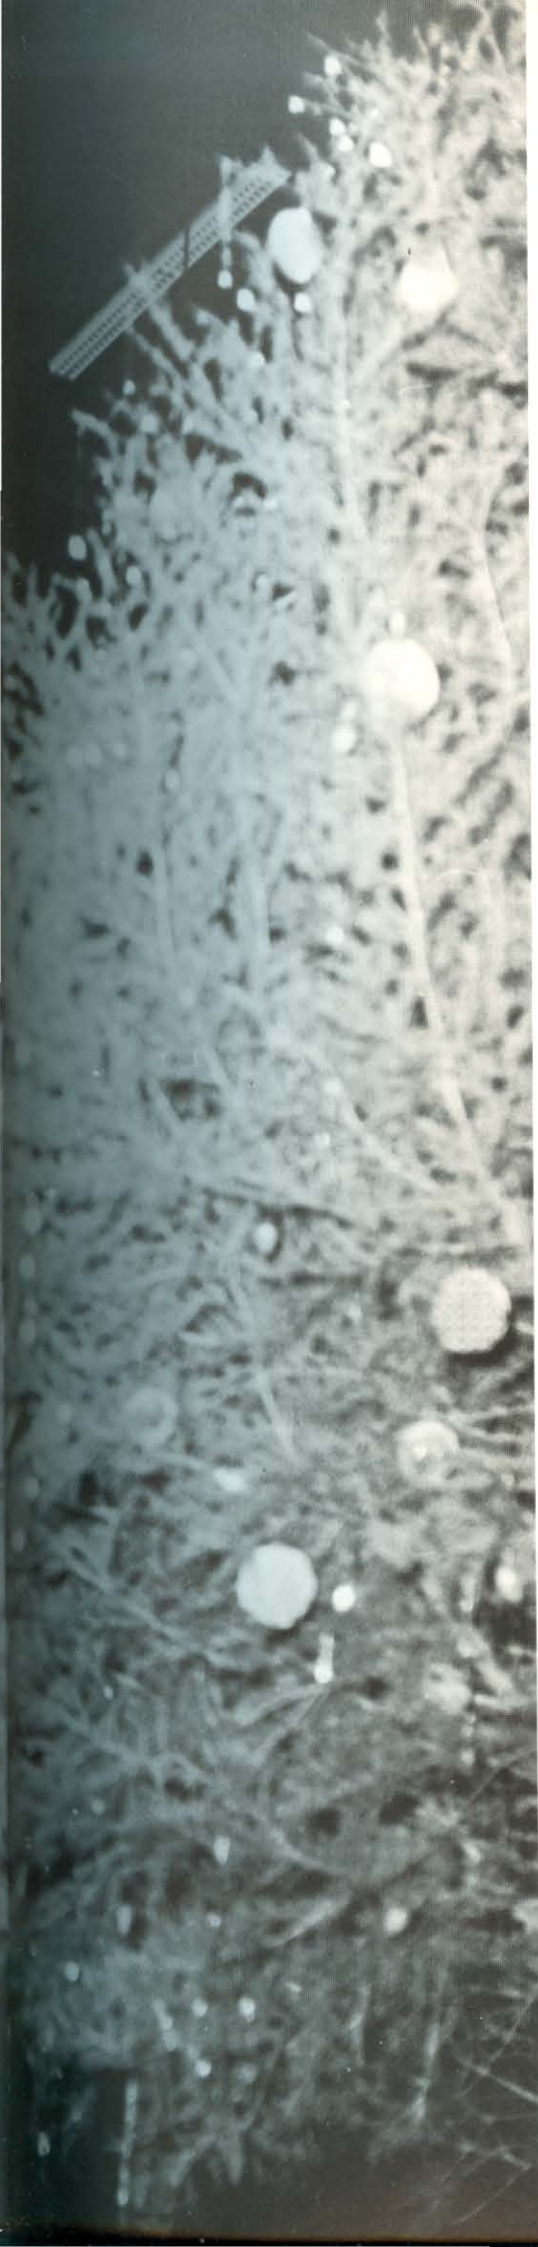

Society recognizes excellent grade achievement

CEREMONIALLY being inducted as new Alpha Chi officers, Jimmy Arnold, Ken O'Neal, and Regina Dunn accept the responsibility of leadership.

Stimulating the achievement of superior scholarship on the part of her students is a vital function of a college. The Arkansas Eta Chapter of Alpha Chi, a national honor scholarship society, was chartered on the Harding campus in the spring of 1957 to assist the faculty in achieving this goal. The chapter of a national honor society was petitioned by the Alpha Honor Society, a local honor society organized in the winter of 1935. Membership in Alpha Chi is limited to not more than ten per cent of the junior and senior classes. Membership as a junior further requires the attainment of at least 3.70 scholarship average on not fewer than 80 semester hours and membership as a senior further requires at least a 3.50 average on not fewer than 104 semester hours. New members are inducted near the beginning of each semester with an impressive ceremony followed by a dinner. At commencement each spring the chapter presents a key to the graduating senior who has achieved the highest academic average.

Adjusting to school life,

Worshiping together,

Engaging in special activities,

Studying for lessons,

Achieving our goals,

Are a part of the memories we

Will have of our life at Harding.

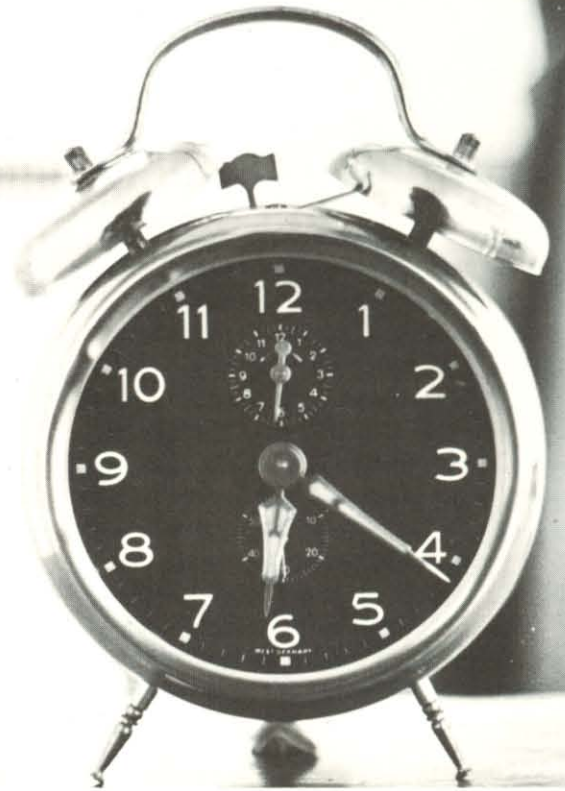

Student Life

Morning calls sleepy scholars from sweet slumber

Responding to the challenges of the new day — a day that is dawning with increased opportunities and increased responsibilities for the educated Christian — Harding's students rise from their night of rest and prepare for the activities of the coming day.

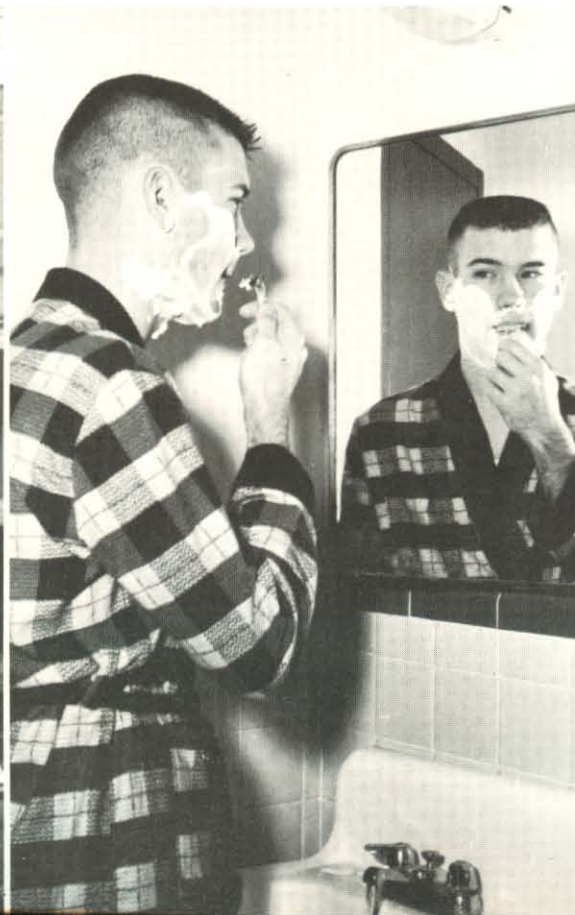

The day itself starts as soon as the forever-ringing alarm is finally turned off, and the "picking up of the pieces" begins. Some go to breakfast and then head for class, while others prefer to wait until the last minute before heading toward learning. However, sooner or later, the challenges of education must be met by college students.

Stretching from a hand on the alarm to chapel, the morning seems to be broken up into several units that involve getting started into the day. Chapel itself is a thought-provoking period early in the morning that is designed for worship of the Creator and the presentation of stimulating programs of student and educational interest. After chapel, a rush to the mail box and then to class involves all in a madhouse of confusion. Classes fill the rest of the morning and then noon arrives and the morning ends.

SOUNDING the alarm early in the morning, Harding clocks must ring long and loud in order to pry drowsy students from the arms of Morpheus.

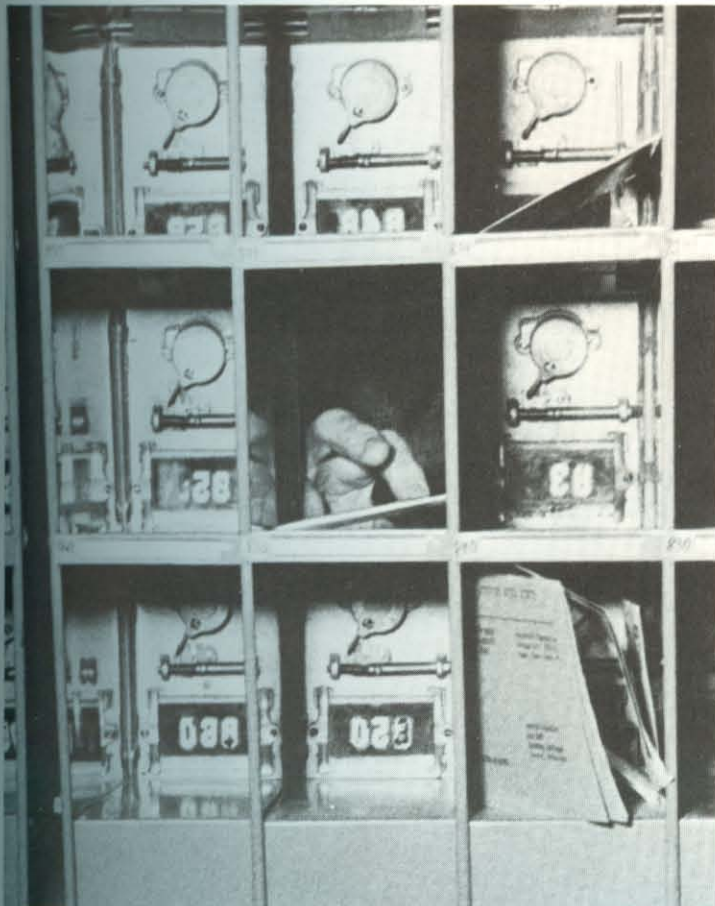

RUDELY awakened by an alarm clock, David Smith proceeds to shave, and then go to the cafeteria for breakfast in order to get ready for class.

WHILE standing in the lunch line waiting to eat, many students talk with their friends, worry about the next class, or plan for later in the evening.

MID-MORNING delights for everyone include receiving a letter from home, from that special someone or sometimes even an advertising circular or drop slip.

EVERY morning during class days, the entire student body assembles to worship the Creator and learn from different programs.

SPENDING a major portion of his time in class, freshman Ken Ellingwood learns quickly that class attendance is a necessary evil of college life.

AFTERNOON LIFE

Classes and assignments occupy afternoon time

Developing into a whole person is one of the main activities of the afternoon at Harding. Classes continue the task that was begun in the morning, and the thought-creations of the past geniuses come to life again to vividly impress learning and its values upon the students.

However, as the afternoon wears on and the classes draw to a close one by one, many other events begin to take their place in the development of the entire person. Sometimes this development is a quiet, refreshing moment with a coke and a friend, a time to relax and let the day's activities sink in, or it could be an animated discussion on the large course assignment.

Beyond being concerned with only the accumulated knowledge of the ages, the afternoon provides a chance to work off steam in a variety of intramural sports. Also, many of the Harding students work at various campus jobs to help offset the expenses of a college education. The afternoon lends itself as a convenient time to participate in co-curricular activities.

CHECKING their watches in order to see if they are still on schedule for the afternoon's many activities, is a custom most Hardingites follow every day.

SOFTBALL action between the Mohicans and Galaxy finds Mike Plummer easing into third base after a long drive to the outfield which scored two Mohicans.

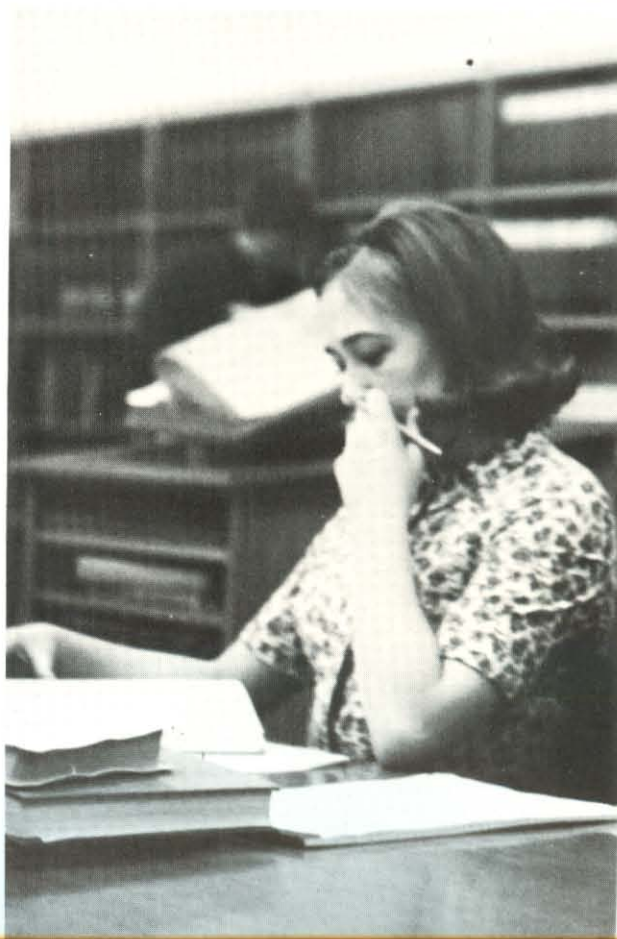

STUDENT worker, Maria Carter, spends part of each day cleaning glass to offset costs as many Harding coeds do.

PAUSING for a coke in the student center, Linda Risinger and Jim Stanley enjoy the association of their friends and of each other in the afternoon hours.

NANCY Allmon uses the library for a quiet sanctuary during the long, busy afternoon, in order to shut out the noises of the day.

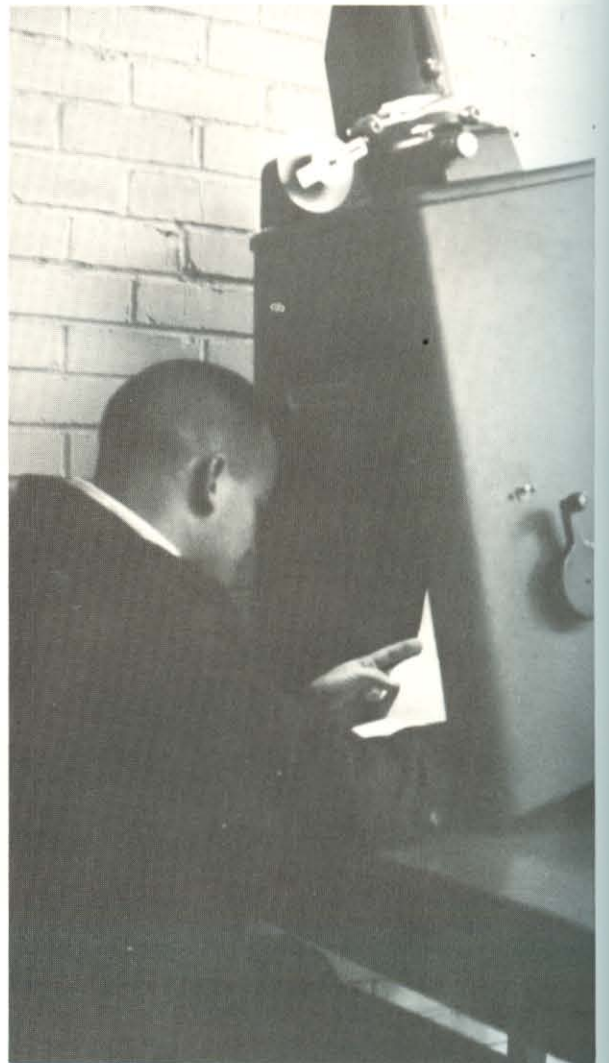

INVOLVED in the rapture of a good close basketball game, Harding fans are drawn to the action, and their cheers hang on each and every play.

ICE and sleet come together to coat the branches of the campus trees with a shimmering film of crystal prisms, as winter's blasts hit Harding late at night.

MICROFILMING much of the educational material in the library allows Virgil Knox to research much more information than before.

NIGHT LIFE

Many activities seen at night on Harding campus

Tradition — a word that involves many of the phases of Harding life — carries over after the classes have become silent — after they have become silent only to blossom with the night life of the campus.

The night life involves all of the students, all of the activities, and all of the elements that together make up and make meaningful a major portion of college life.

Whether these traditions involve having to study for tomorrow's assignment and tomorrow's future or taking time to relax with favorite companions at the theater, the fact that night life at Harding involves everyone is inescapable.

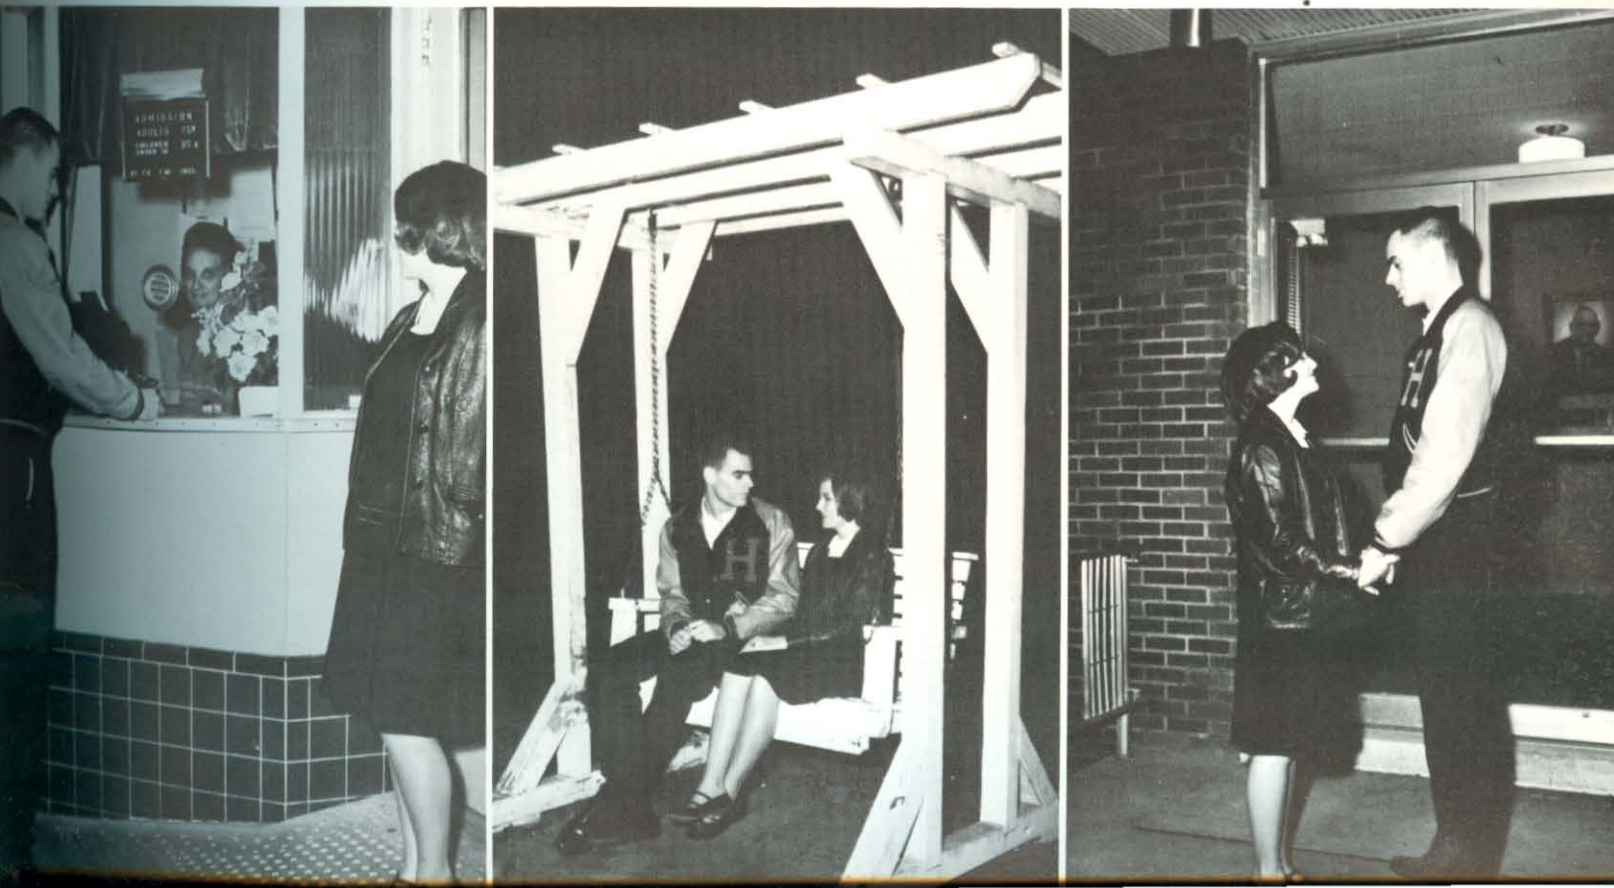

For some the sudden sweep of cold, wet rain that turns to ice and coats the campus in sparkling prisms, remains as much of a campus tradition as the social clubs having meetings to plan for exciting future events.

Sounding the signal for night life at Harding to come to a close, the bell, which calls the coeds to the dorm at 10 o'clock, rings out over the campus to remind us that tradition follows us even into the night.

CAMPUS night life pivots around clocks — cafeteria timepiece, library hour glass, personal wrist watch and finally around dormitory clocks tolling 10:00.

GOING to the show, sitting in the swings, and then walking to the dorm at 10 o'clock, Francene Spaulding and Gary Goss typify dating couples.

MAY DAY

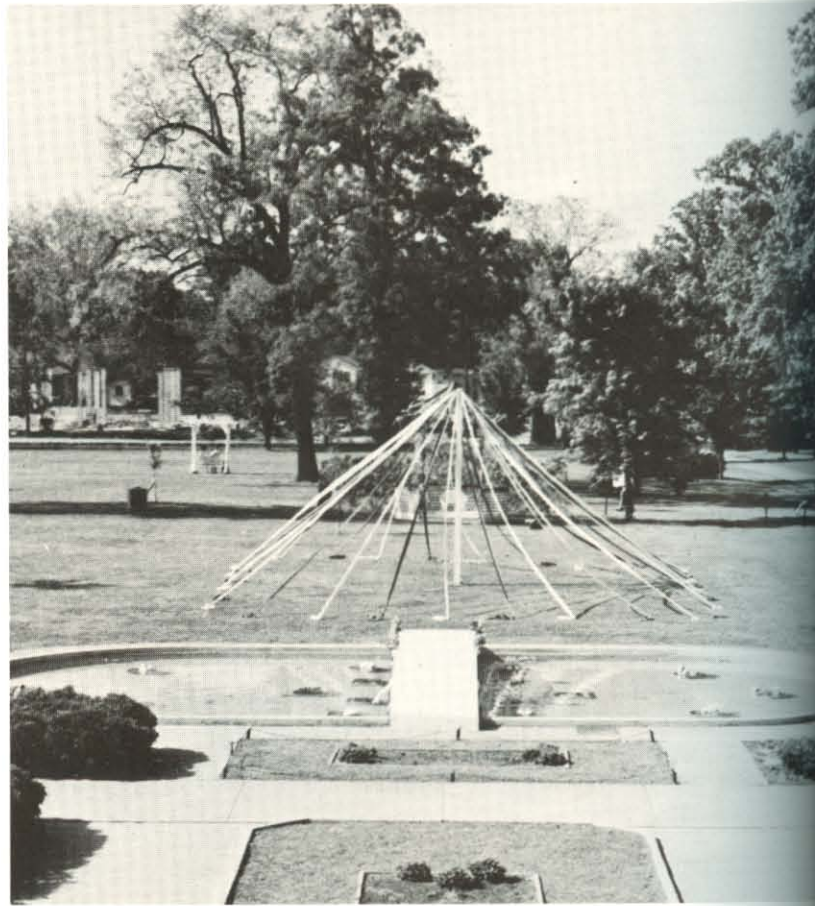

Color, pageant, and beauty welcome in spring

Beauty, pageantry, tradition are inherent in the annual May Fete sponsored by Ju Go Ju women's social club in the spring.

The selection of a queen begins in the fall semester when an array of 20 lovely ladies are presented to the student body in a chapel program which centered this year around the theme of "My Fair Lady." Kay Darter was the director. The student body chose three as finalists, then elected a queen.

Excitement runs high on that spring afternoon when the revelation of queen is made as she is crowned and her lovely court is presented to the student body and senior day visitors. A select group of young ladies entertain her majesty and her court with the colorful winding of the May pole. Tripping lightly across the lawn, the ladies wind colorful streamers into various patterns to strains from Tchaikovsky's "Waltz of the Flowers." It is indeed a fete for spring.

Flowers, green grass, spring weather, colorful dresses, and beautiful music are all a part of that memorable afternoon which has long been a tradition carried out by the Ju Go Ju Club and Harding College.

THE stage is set for the queen and her court to reign over the May Day event.

PETIT JEAN DAY

Tradition and dedication reveal annual surprises

Secrets and surprises — those nice things of life that someone is always trying to keep while someone is always trying to find out — are happy revelations of Petit Jean day when the year's annual is presented to the student body for their enjoyment and approval. This day is the culmination of a year's hard work — it is the editor's, the business manager's, the staff's, the queen's day. Honor for a job well done is bestowed upon school personalities, a select teacher of the year, and upon yearbook staff members who have completed a long, but rewarding job.

The '64 book, edited by Sandy Childers, was revealed in its gold brilliance during the month of May. Recipient of the dedication by the 1964 senior class was Dr. James L. Atteberry. Leighton Waters was business manager.

Following the lovely ceremony in the large auditorium ensues a mad rush for various stations on campus where each student receives his copy of the book which becomes a favorite keepsake for the years ahead.

Enjoying the page-by-page scrutiny of the year's pictorial diary, the students also enjoy the annual sack lunches while staff members attend a banquet closing an exciting year.

PETIT JEAN Queen, Sheila Mitchell, proudly and graciously accepts her bouquet of roses presented by Student Association President Joel Anderson.

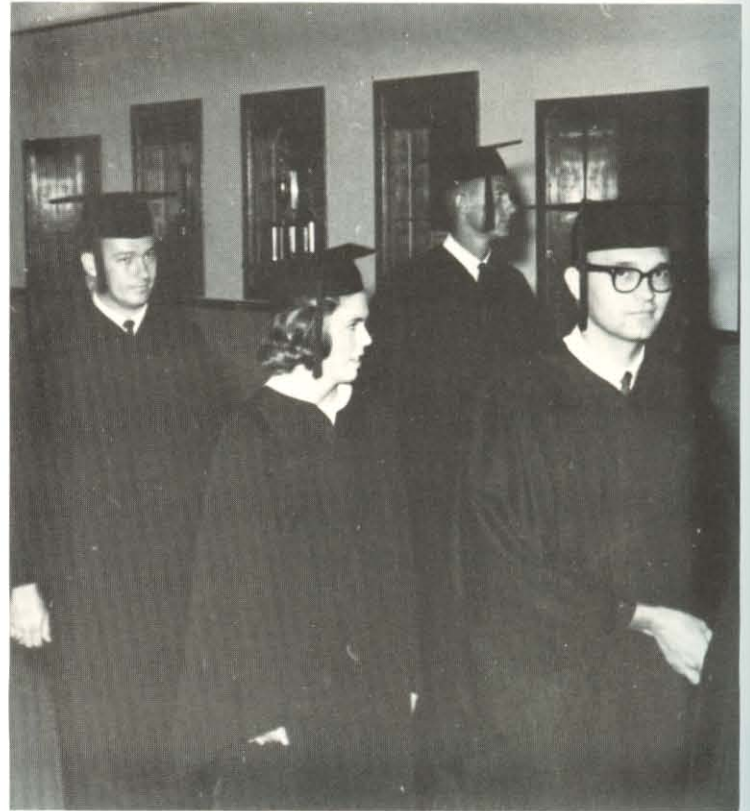

GRADUATION

Progress writes 'finis' to dreams of the past years

Climaxing their collegiate years, 166 seniors received Harding College degrees at commencement exercises May 28, 1964. In addressing the graduating seniors, the late Dr. L. M. Graves, chairman of Harding's Board of Trustees, emphasized the vast problems and opportunities of the day. He reminded the students of what they had accomplished up to now and revealed many of the unfavorable things such as treaty breaking, international unrest and other disturbing factors while advising them on "Contemplating Today's World."

"With the possible exception of the Civil War period," Dr. Graves stated, "our country has never experienced more widely divergent and conflicting philosophies than at present." But he was quick to emphasize the positive nature of prevailing opportunities. "The future of our country," he said, "is dependent on those who are willing to stand on the foundation which made our country great, and which gave us as individuals the freedoms and liberties which we enjoy today."

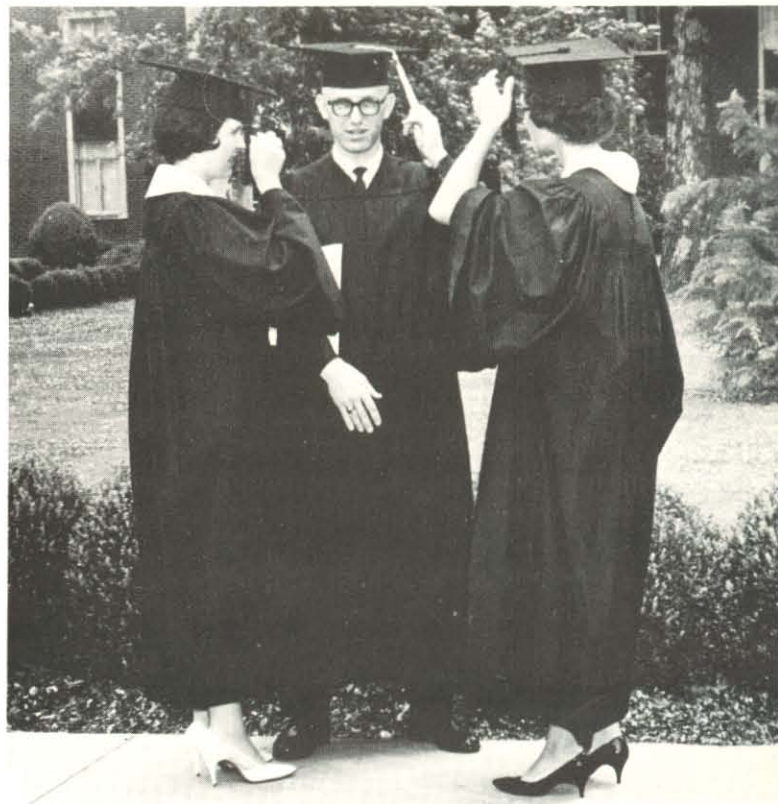

Congressman Oren Harris was awarded the LLD degree and Jim Bill McInteer was named alumnus of the year.

WITH the world and the rest of their life before them, Harding's seniors walk out of commencement exercises and into a challenging and exciting future.

INTENSELY interested in baccalaureate admonitions given by Cleon Lyles, Joel Anderson typifies the well-prepared graduates of Harding College.

WONDERING about the future and how it will affect their lives, Don and Pat Bowman talk to Barbara Barnes about plans for future years.

REALIZING a dream, Janie Miller and Naita Jean Berryhill experience their happiest moments with their friends after graduation. GRADUATION means the key to the future and a march into life for seniors entering the auditorium and commencement exercises.

ANDY Saunders and Brent Graves happily unpack their belongings in anticipation of the new, challenging year which lies ahead for them.

WHILE Otis Edge looks on, Dormitory Director Jerome Barnes fulfills one of his many duties as he assigns James Dockery his room in Grad Dorm.

BEGINNING OF SCHOOL

Excitement pervades campus as school reopens

A unique combination of frustration and anticipation invaded the Harding campus for the annual beginning of school rush, which is exciting to freshmen and new students, while the older ones view it with sort of despair and resignation. Returning to a campus where many friends and memories have originated is a thrill for students of previous years. Meeting countless new friends, learning about dormitory life, attending mixers and receptions of all kinds, standing in endless lines and taking a battery of brain-racking tests are strange, memorable events for freshmen.

That first week of September with its divers activities ends with the start of the search for academic knowledge as classes begin and the myriads of reading and writing assignments are made by seemingly cruel and harsh professors who "think their class is the only one." The week which passes so quickly closes after a short introduction to many aspects of college life has been made to those who come to learn.

WELCOMING his new roommate, sophomore Larry Harris steps aside to direct freshman Ron Barner's moving in. Both are from Little Rock, Arkansas.

REGISTRATION, which seems to be one long, unending line for everyone, causes the people in the line and at the desk to look for the end of it.

TYPICAL of the attitude of pledges during all of pledge week, the sign of one pledge really speaks for all, "I'm an insignificant pledge."

KOINONIA pledge Ken Carpenter works at a minute task assigned by one of his pledgemasters, who always have his interest at heart.

APPEARING before their pledgemistresses, the Beta Tau Gamma pledges, wearing their bows and other pledgeweek attire, introduce their Thermostrockamortimers to the amusement of passing upperclassmen.

PLEADING for help in getting her pledge book full of signatures, Gloria Maddox frantically tries hard to please the hardhearted pledgemasters.

THE APK girls do their best to look as if they're really enjoying a party given by their pledgemasters, as they flash a smile of happiness.

PLEDGEWEEK

Excitement and frustration face harried pledges

"Green, lowly" freshmen and new students endure a week of being insignificant rats, ostriches, worms, and finites plus being subordinate to those who were once considered equals only to find themselves again fully accepted as club members and friends at the week's end.

Pledge week, a period of orientation, comes during the seventh week of school. After each student has stated club preferences, bids are eagerly awaited to find out which club they are bearing invitation to join.

Included in the week's activities are good deeds for pledgemasters, hours spent in required study, practical jokes and menial tasks such as measuring the sidewalks, counting the "moons," and collecting endless signatures. Some clubs turned the week to good advantage for getting campus jobs done such as cleaning out the lily pool.

Countless numbers of required dates, major and minor, gave opportunity for many people to get acquainted.

Rough initiations and impressive, candlelight ceremonies where club vows were read brought an end to a long week for tired pledges — and pledgemasters.

PLEDGE Midge Pitman is given a helping hand with her club attire from upperclassman Dwayne Van Rheenen as she goes about pledge week task.

HOMECOMING

A multiplicity of exciting events delight avid fans

Crisp, cool fall weather; falling autumn leaves and returning alumni lent atmosphere to the gala Homecoming weekend early in October when the Bisons met the ASTC Bears in the annual pigskin clash.

Weekend activities began Friday with a chili supper at Camp Wyldewood and a spirited pep rally following around the freshman bonfire at the base of Bee Rock. The evening concluded with singing of hymns of devotion while a wooden cross suspended from the cliff above was set aflame.

Shortly after noon on October 10, Bison fans piled into decorated cars which ranged in model from a Cadillac to an old hearse, carrying a banner, "Bear Bearer: Post game car for ASTC," to form a caravan throughout the town of Searcy to Alumni Field.

Queen candidates Karen Warren, Doris Morris and Marian Yingling and other ladies of the '64 court were introduced to the fans in pre-game ceremonies. Tommy Carter, 1963 co-captain, crowned Doris Morris as queen at halftime prior to a Bison Band performance.

ESCORTING senior representative Mary Ellen Baskin onto the field in pre-game ceremonies is co-captain Lovard Peacock. Vickie Mitchell and Ray Richie follow.

CORONATION of the Harding Homecoming queen, sweet and feminine Doris Morris, is a half-time privilege of 1963 co-captain, Tommy Carter.

ALUMNI, friends, and students gather on the campus during Homecoming to renew acquaintances and to watch the Bison football team.

Entertainment fills '65 with laughter and song

Entertainment — performances intended to entertain, amuse, divert, etc. — comes in many forms on the Harding campus. It is provided by students, faculty and professionals in a wide range of programs from dramatic productions such as "Camelot" to the mere joke in the classroom or dormitory. Typical everyday fun is even found in current fads such as "surfing" on sidewalk skate boards.

BELLE of the dining hall, Corinne Hart sings to accompaniment of Mr. Grover Goyne and J. D. Rickett and amuses students with her talent.

IMPISH elf Bob Helsten reads letters to Santa Claus during the SA's annual Christmas Party just prior to the long awaited Christmas break.

UNDER the lights at a football game, Harding's marching band entertained the crowds with music and formations during the half-time intermission.

VITAL displays concerning the missionary efforts of the Church of Christ are of profound interest to the many visitors at the annual fall Lectureship.

PREPARING the minds of the lectureship guests for a speaker, Eddie Baggett leads the Chorale in a program of religious hymns.

LECTURESHIP

Christian edification enlightens our Thanksgiving

INDIVIDUAL instruction and ideas are characteristic of the many small seminars and classes that bring together the great minds of the brotherhood.

Intense Bible study fills Harding's Thanksgiving week as Christians from all over the world gather to benefit from the fellowship, ideas and admonitions of other brethren at this well-planned lectureship which is a rich heritage of Harding College.

"My God and I" was the guiding theme for the 41st annual November program in 1964. Guests came from 29 states and four foreign countries: Germany, Canada, Israel and Japan.

Forty outstanding Bible scholars were featured for the daily lectures, forums, classes, luncheons and dinners during the four-day session. The Harding concert band, a cappella chorus, chorale, men's quartet, ladies' ensemble and the Academy chorus performed throughout the week.

Evening speakers for the lectureship were Cleon Lyles, Little Rock; Hugo McCord, Oklahoma City, Okla.; E. W. McMillan, Santa Ana, Calif.; and Ira North, Madison, Tenn. Nightly meetings were held simultaneously in the college auditorium and in the college church of Christ building.

Traveling entertainers tour area of Caribbean

"This is the end of a fairy tale that I wish could have lasted longer," was typical of the comments of fourteen Belles and Beaux returning to Arkansas at the close of their third USO-National Music Council-sponsored overseas tour in October. This Caribbean tour covered United States bases in Panama, Puerto Rico, Grand Turk, Eleuthera, Cuba and San Salvador.

The Belles and Beaux covered over 22,000 miles on a five-week tour of bases in the Far East in 1960. They spent nine weeks in Europe in 1962. Also, countless programs have been given in Arkansas and throughout the nation for various civic organizations and schools.

Variety is synonymous with their show which is complete with novelty acts, patriotic and secular songs and Broadway hit presentations. Surprising to some was the fact that the most popular part of every program was the religious section when such numbers as "My God and I" and "Just a Closer Walk With Thee" are sung.

The Belles and Beaux carry more than $4,000 worth of stereophonic sound equipment, musical instruments, costumes and properties with them.

Kenneth Davis Jr., assistant professor of music and director of the A Cappella Chorus, is director of this seasoned travel group.

JOURNEY into the tropically beautiful Caribbean for the Belles and Beaux began with boarding a bus on the Harding campus in Searcy, Arkansas.

SOCIAL CLUBS

Clubs enhance Harding's friendliness tradition

Fear of a tyrannical pledgemaster, laughter among the pledges, association in pleasant surroundings and the quiet oneness that throbs through the group as a candle is lit and traditional words are spoken are the emotions that envelope the Harding student who is a member of a social club. Fierce loyalty pounds through the brain at an exciting inter-club basketball game. Quiet sympathy is expressed through flowers sent to a sick club member. Laughter abounds at a club outing as a mountain climb in the spring clears the brain of tests, differential equations and overdue library books.

The togetherness of the Harding social club satisfies the social desires of man. The spirit of doing things for others and with others is the glimmering reward found by all social club members.

SPRUNG up her date, Perry DeGraw, for the Theta Psi banquet, Jill Graddy puts on the boutonniere and the finishing touches before leaving.

FORMAL initiation for the WHC social club is a very impressive ceremony as new pledges kneel in front of officers to repeat their vows of loyalty.

HAPPILY going about her pledge business, Kappa Kappa Kappa initiate Sheryl Deay carries a key for collection of signatures.

GAIIETY characterizes the atmosphere of the WHC's "Country Supper" as beau Roger McCown enjoys talking to two club members.

ENGAGED in an enjoyable and pleasant conversation with their club queen, Ruth Ann Selby, are Pat Hile, Anthony Bryant, and Earl Powell.

ALPHA EPSILON CHI

Leaving mark on campus, AEX cleans windows

"Clean car windshields" compliments of the AEX social club was one of the many services which the club performed on campus this year.

"Winter Wonderland" decorations created a Christmas atmosphere for AEX members and their dates. Special entertainer Dan Smith led the group in the singing of Christmas carols after an enjoyable meal. Billy Ray Cox completed the evening with a humorous speech, keeping in the Yuletide spirit.

Throughout the entire pledge week activities the campus was dotted with AEX umbrellas. Carrying an open umbrella regardless of weather conditions was one of the pledge duties enforced by strict pledgemasters.

Second semester activities were highlighted by a skating party and a weiner roast.

Ruth Ann Selby reigned as club queen for her second year. She kept AEX meetings enjoyable by providing plenty of cookies and candy for her members.

Beginning early in the year, APK got off to an active start on the year's activities. Among the early events enjoyed by the club members was a hamburger fry at Camp Wyldewood, when even the rainy weather failed to dampen club spirit. As the weather drove the club to shelter, they found the Sub T's already there, and ended up having a good time together, playing games, having contests and singing songs.

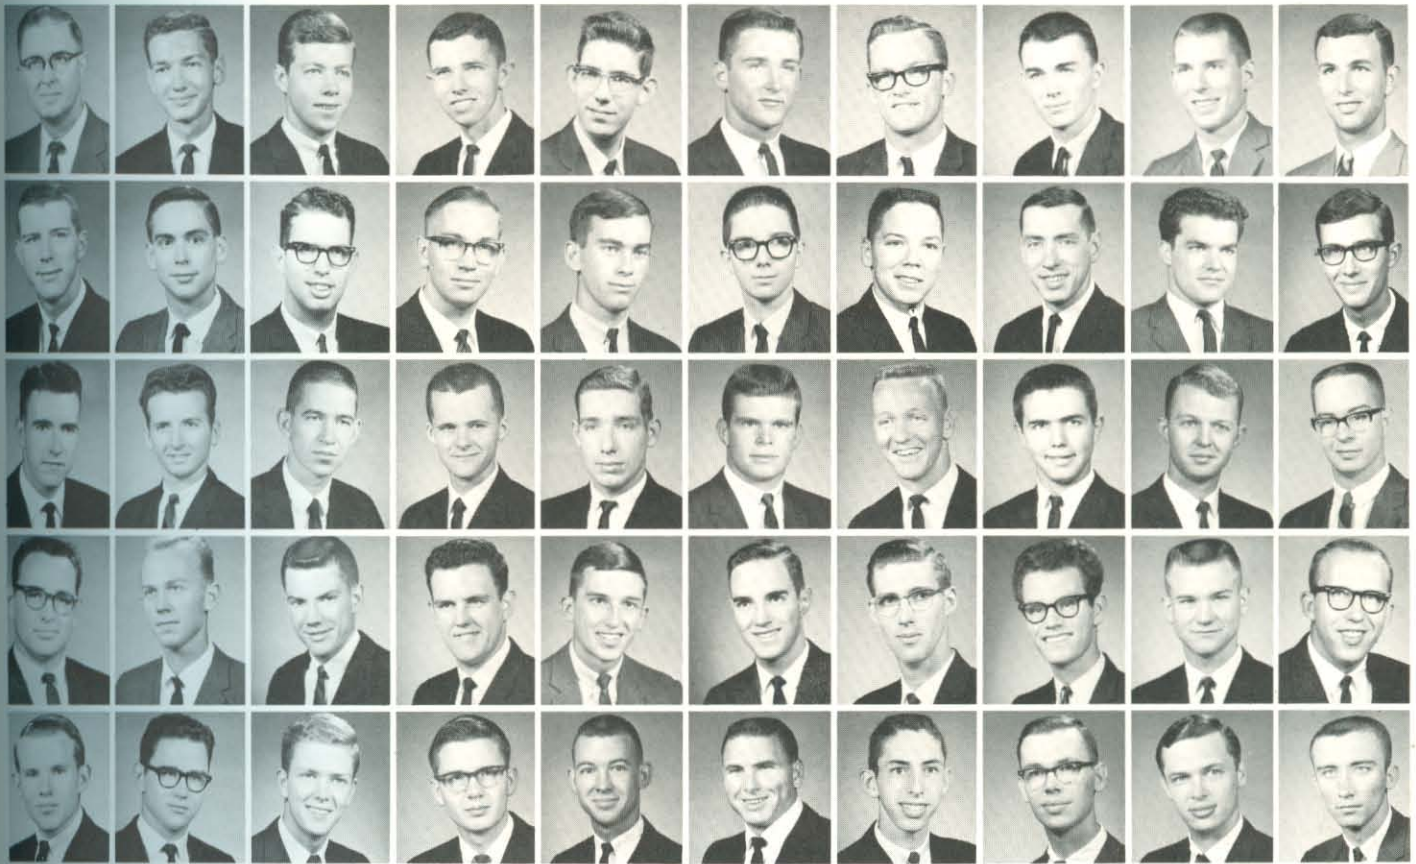

Special interest during the year came to the club members as they actively participated in all of the inter-club sporting activities. Even though the club did not produce championships in every sport, the teams that did represent APK were always exciting to watch and drew large crowds for whatever they happened to be playing.

BETA PHI KAPPA

Ancient Rome sets mood for Beta Phi festivity

A Roman theme set the atmosphere for Beta Phi's spring banquet at Bill's Restaurant on March 5. Queen Leah Gentry was an honored guest of the club. Thanks was expressed to her for many favors and for loyal support given throughout the year.

A close-knit group, Beta Phi Kappa moved from small club classification during the last two years to a record membership of 49, to be the second largest men's club on campus. Nineteen new members joined the triple ten ranks to achieve this number. Doing well in large club competition, Beta Phi was runner-up to the ragtag champions.

CHRISTMAS is made more fun for Beta Phi Kappa members as their queen, Leah Gentry, cuts the cake for the party given before the holidays.

WISHING he hadn't gotten up on this Monday morning, Chi Sigma ball carrier Ellis Hagewood can't seem to get going against the opposition.

Contributing time and materials to campus improvement, Chi Sigma Alpha members marked off the dormitory parking areas with paint brush in hand for their annual club project. Another task for the year included the keeping of an activity bulletin board in the student center, announcing off-campus entertainment in surrounding cities, Memphis and Little Rock.

Sharing the Pi Kappa Delta forensics trophy with Lambda Sigma was an added feature of Chi Sigma action.

The first of the year found old members enjoying a stag outing to Heber Springs. Peggy Grandi was elected as club queen. Later fun included a halloween tacky party with folksinging by Jim Ed Williams, Bob Adams and Bonnie Hoffman.

DI club banquet has 'Rhapsody in Blue' theme

The formal banquet, "Rhapsody in Blue," was the highlight of the year for the Delta Iota's. Dr. Clifton L. Ganus presented a delightful speech and the club queen, JoAnn Kelly, was honored by being asked to entertain with the New Folk Singers for the occasion.

Delta Iota's club hut, Bales' Resort, located about fifteen miles north of Searcy, was the site of the initiation of six new members. The new members joined the veteran members for a year of varied activities.

Camp Wyldewood provided a picturesque setting for the Delta Iota's and their dates in the fall. The informal function was a hamburger fry at which they all enjoyed playing games.

Queen JoAnn Kelly showed her capability and made the year more enjoyable for the club members with her gifts of cakes and cookies.

The Delta Iota's brought the years activity to a close with an outing held at a nearby resort area.

'The Great Society' entertains Fraters at banquet

Satirizing the "Great Society" was a chore ably performed by Professor Jerry Starr at the Frater Sodalis banquet centered around that idea. The January event was held at Kelley's Bald Knob restaurant with a smorgasbord serving. Entertaining with delightful singing was Anita Smith. She was accompanied by Mary Ethel Bales.

A year of close fellowship among the members led to the adaptation of a special project of meeting all new boys to show them to their rooms and to help them "break the ice" in making new friends on campus. Another club project led to the purchase of new bulletin boards for the cafeteria entranceway for college announcements of activities and other items of interest.

Club queen Susie Romero was active throughout the year in cooking for "her club" and the guys didn't fail to express their appreciation to her.

GALAXY

Football championship added to Galaxy honors

The Davis home, on the outskirts of Searcy, was the locale for the initiation of fifteen new Galaxys. After this the new members joined the veteran members to build club spirit and enthusiasm and together they worked to capture the small club rag tag championship.

"Holiday in Snow" was a perfect time for Santa Claus to visit the Galaxys and their guests at Buck Powers Restaurant in Beebe. This formal event took place in December. Santa, Eddie McClellan, presented the club members' dates with gifts which were purchased by the members. Dan Smith sang Christmas songs to round out the evening of entertainment.

The Galaxys added money to their scholarship fund as part of the annual club project.

Queen Charlotte Burkett kept the club members well supplied with cakes, cookies, and other good things to eat. The year was climaxed with an informal function and outing in the spring.

Centering many of their activities around a secret cave, the Koinonia club had a very active year. Early during the year sixteen new members were initiated in a rigorous induction ceremony. At selected intervals in the school year, all of the members met at the cave for stag outings.

During the semester break the club's new off-gold blazers arrived and were proudly worn by the club members as symbols of being a Koinonia.

In keeping with the tradition of having club functions, a beatnik party was held at the Pumping Station during the first semester. To round out the year, the club held a banquet at which their queen was honored. Also during the second semester, an outing was held on a beautiful spring day.

To keep the members happy and also well-fed, Queen Linda Robinson baked many cakes and other tasty foods for the club meetings. This little luxury was one that was greatly appreciated by the members.

LAMBDA SIGMA

Members give toys in SA sponsored 'Dolly Drive'

In October, sixteen pledges were informally initiated into Lambda Sigma at the Starr's farm. They officially became members of the club at formal initiation held in the Bible Building.

A stag outing was held at Bluff Hole in order that the club members could become better acquainted and discuss plans for the year.

An oriental theme was the setting for the unique third function on December 7. The Pumping Station was decorated with oriental decor in an attempt to bring a far eastern atmosphere to Searcy. Chef Dick Covalinski prepared tasty oriental dishes for the enjoyment of club members and their companions. Jo Ann Kelly, Jo Byrd, and Cecil Ethridge furnished the entertainment.

MOHICAN

New challenges, old rivalries typify the Mohicans

PRECIOUS moments of planning take place during a time out in a hard inter-club basketball game, as the Mohicans use the break to map strategy.

Triumphing again, the Mohicans were sweepstakes victors for the fifth consecutive year in Harding's annual Intramural Speech Arts Tournament. Gaining permanent possession of the sweepstakes trophy and the Alpha Psi Omega dramatics award was an added honor of the contest.

An undefeated Mohican ragtag team took large club football championship while they were loyally supported by their club brothers at the games. Each touchdown brought a rousing rendition of a new Indian fight song.

Outing at Wyldewood is one of Pioneer events

KEEPING up to date on Pioneer activities, members John Sunderland and Garry Heath check the all clubs' bulletin board in the student inn.

Pioneers in keeping with their frontier spirit planned a third function excursion to Camp Wyldewood. Members and their dates enjoyed roasting weiners, eating, singing, and talking around the campfire. Mark Miller and Ellen McCauley, special entertainers for the evening, added a musical note to the occasion.

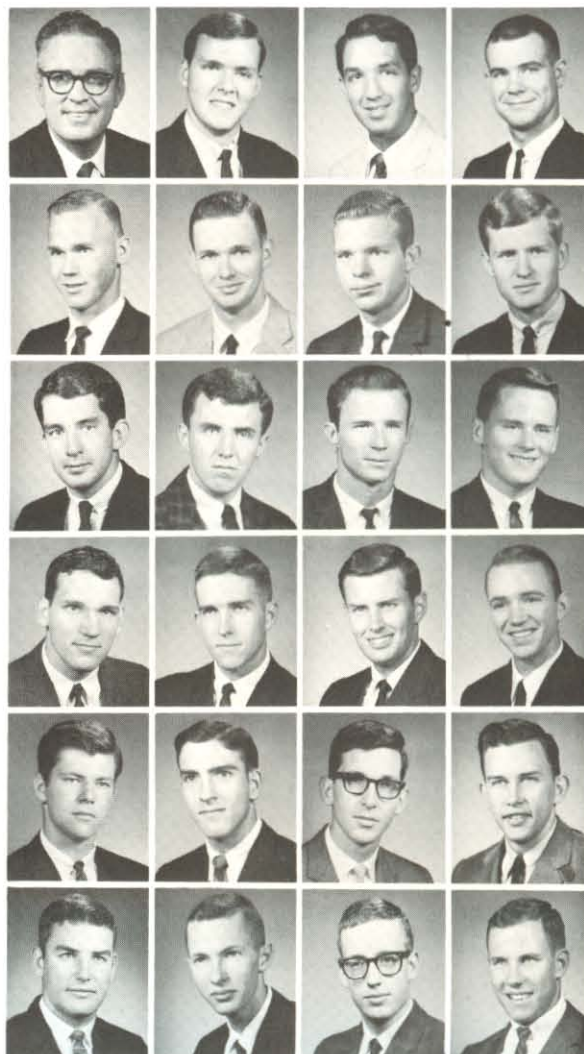

Enthusiasm and ability gave Pioneers success in club athletic events for the year. In small club competition Pioneers finished as one of the top three clubs in ragtag football, softball, volleyball, and bowling.

Lowly pledges assisted their exalted pledge-masters in fine fashion throughout pledge week by performing specified duties. Pledge week was brought to a climax by the feared rough initiation. Pioneer pledges were not disappointed; veteran members prepared an evening that would try even the bravest pledge, but all came through with flying colors.

An active year was begun by Sigma Taus with a party at the home of the sponsor, Dr. Jack Wood Sears. This party was in honor of the new men on campus to give them an opportunity to become acquainted with club members.

After a hectic week of pledging and after a rigorous informal initiation, fourteen pledges joined the veteran members in planning the activities of the year.

On December 5, the club brothers and their dates enjoyed a delightful evening at the pumping station. The occasion for this gathering was the third function. Ellen McCauley sang to her own guitar accompaniment for the enjoyment of those present.

The annual banquet was held at Anderson's Restaurant in Beebe, March 13.

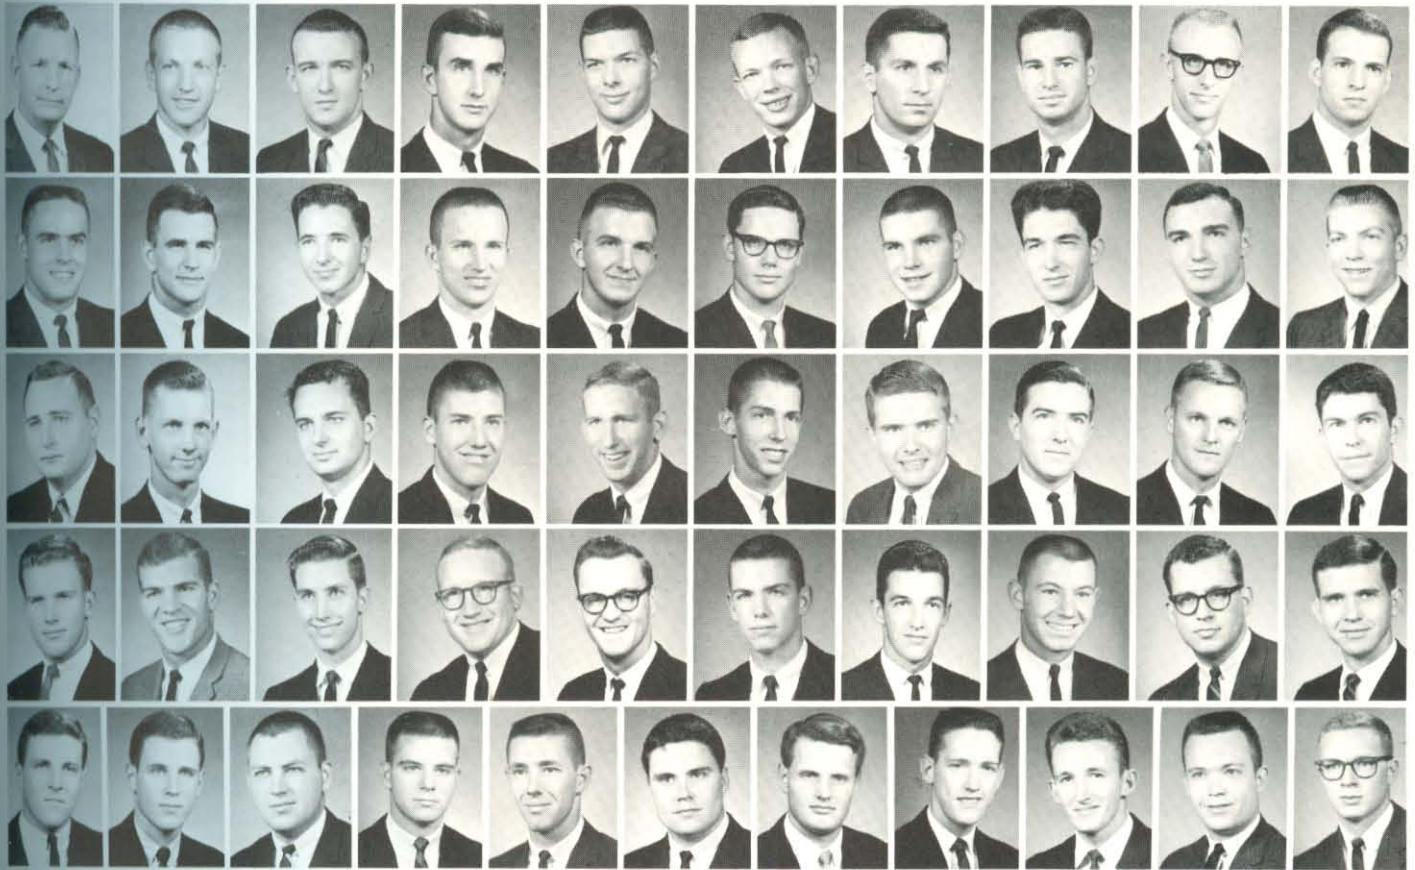

Throughout the year, the members competed in various intramural sports contests and also enjoyed many other types of activities together. The spring outing gave an opportunity to enjoy fellowship with one another and to enjoy outdoor activities including hiking, playing games, and picnicking.

Function guest of Sub T's and dates is 'Yunkin'

Varied activities kept the Sub T 16 members busy. After initiation of pledges, the club made plans for their social functions and project.

A stag outing was held at Camp Wyldewood in the fall. The Alpha Phi Kappa social club members were the guests of the Sub T's. The third function was also at the Searcy campground for the club brothers and their dates. The dates were given the privilege of meeting "Yunkin" and family. "Yunkin" is a very special coconuthead member of the club.

The Sub T's informal sea-theme banquet was a spring event, as was an outing to a mountain resort area.

Combined Christmas caroling puts club in spirit

Caroling with their club sisters, the TNT's helped to bring Christmas cheer to Searcy hospitals and rest homes. Afterwards the Zeta Rho's treated them to refreshments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Muncy.

Delicious pizza topped off a delightful evening at the pumping station recreation room after an enjoyable hayride. Second helpings of pizza in large proportions were characteristics of the evening's fun.

Contributions toward the construction of the intramural bulletin board was continued as project of the year for the club.

"Space," a limitless topic, was the basis for TNT's banquet activities on March 20. Lovely ladies, flowers, good food and an interesting speech completed a night of formal entertainment for the club. Springtime brought about the annual outing.

FIRECRACKERS and suits are the order of the day for the TNT pledges as they cheer their club on to victory as they vie for the softball championship.

Halloween party highlights year of togetherness

This year's active TAG members transformed the Emerald room into a haunted house complete with skeletons and coffins to celebrate the October Halloween night.

Striving to keep the meaning of their Greek title Theta Alpha Gamma — God, Husband, and Wife — foremost in their activities, is the participation of all residents of the married students apartments in a weekly devotional.

Athletic participation reached an all time high for TAG with the introduction of a new athletic program for the married students. Both men and women participated enthusiastically in Harding's club and intramural sports competition.

That "special someone" for social clubs comes in the form of a good looking guy or gal to represent and aid the club in group activities. Guys coach intramural sports teams and do all sorts of odd jobs for their favorite group of ladies while the gals bake cookies galore for club meetings and special occasions. Representing the men's clubs as their Petit Jean queen nominee is a privilege for the ladies.

Christmas, birthdays, Valentine's day — all give perfect "excuses" for clubs to do something nice for their favorite. Beaux and queens are always able to find a good deed to do, also. While the ladies are not adept at coaching male intramural sports they are loyal supporters of the teams by regular game attendance. By the same right, guys excell in directing athletic activity and usually leave the "kitchen department" to their favorite ladies.

Each club reserves the right to claim that its choice is the best and reveals this to others by the various ways they select to honor him or her — with a gift of appreciation and by giving them that "red carpet" treatment daily.

Reaching the finals of the Petit Jean queen selection is an achievement toward which each "sweetheart" strives as the ultimate honor she can bestow on "her guys."

'Thermostrockamortimer' rules during pledging

Twelve Beta Tau Gamma "clods" went through a week of being inferior creatures and introducing their black stuffed "Thermostrockamortimers" to many, many people only to complete the period as equals and club sisters after a beautiful, candlelight formal initiation at their sponsor's home. Their sponsor is Mrs. Ruth Bearden. Other "cloddy" activities of the week included writing descriptive poems about pledge-mistresses and entertaining them with a pizza supper featuring Pat Richey singing "Shenandoah."

Pancake supper highlights pledges' hardships

Ten industrious Gata pledges prepared a luscious pancake supper for their pledge-mistresses to celebrate the longed-for end of pledge week. The pledges formally became members of Gata after an impressive ceremony in the home of their sponsor, Mrs. George E. Baggett.

In the later fall the Gatas held a weiner roast at Searcy's Camp Wyldewood. After playing games and singing around the campfire, the memorable evening was brought to a close with a devotional around the dying embers of the fire.

Club participation in sports was good, and the members especially enjoyed the competition in basketball.

New members and veteran Gatas found enjoyment at bunking parties and meetings throughout the year. At these informal meetings, they made plans for a spring banquet and outing.

Hawaiian Luau sets scene for traditional function

Twelve lowly pledges were informally initiated at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. Puckett. A new tradition of a candle lighting ceremony was started by the Kappa Delta's this year. It was held at Bill's Restaurant. After this impressive ceremony the newly initiated members and the active members enjoyed a special catering service.

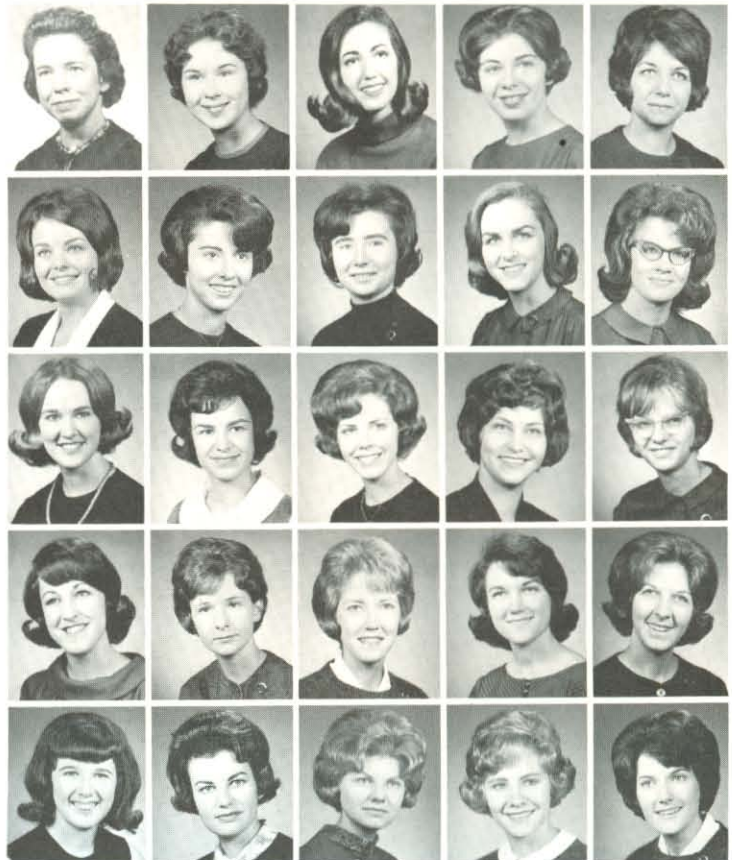

"Silver Bells" chimed for the Kappa Delta's and their guests at a formal banquet held at Bill's Restaurant in December. Wayne Puckett read "letters to Santa" from the club members and Raymond Muncy spoke for the eventful occasion. To round out the evening of entertainment, Harding Burton accompanied Anita Smith while she sang songs centered around the Christmas theme. The mistress of ceremonies, Martha Koger, presented gifts to the club sponsor, Mrs. Puckett, and the club beau, Gary Simpson.

The traditional Hawaiian Luau, complete with muu muus, bright flowered shirts and leis, was held in April. The club members chose to make packages for needy people as their club project.

A night out under the evening stars was enjoyed by the Kojies and their dates in October. A hayride ending at Bee Rock was the event of the evening. At the chosen site, the group enjoyed a weiner roast and playing games. To conclude the event, an inspiring devotional was held.

Brilliant red Ko Jo Kai blazers made their eight pledges easily recognizable on campus during pledge week. They officially became members of the club after a formal initiation ceremony held in Kendall Hall which was climaxed with a bunking party at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Tucker.

Bill's Restaurant was decorated in Japanese fashion for the formal banquet, February 15. The theme, "This Is My Night," was carried out by songs sung by Shirley Johnson as she was accompanied by Martha Koger.

Eleven new members were welcomed into the LC Club after an informal initiation at the College Park and a memorable formal candle light ceremony at the home of the fall semester sponsor, Mrs. Russ Simmons. To end their pledge duties, the "roaches" prepared a supper for the appreciative active members.

A "Spanish Fiesta" was held November 20 at the Pumping Station. Dressed in Spanish costumes, the LC's and their dates enjoyed eating chili, playing games, and singing group songs.

"Love Makes the World Go Round" was the February 20 banquet at Buck Powers Restaurant in Beebe. An entertainment speech was presented by Raymond Muncy and Anita Smith sang songs to set the mood for the occasion.

Once a month, the LC's enjoy swimming, bunking parties, weiner roasts, and seasonal parties together. Their annual project is doing composites of classes. This year they chose a special project of helping support an African missionary.

OFFICERS. FALL: Kinard, Pres.; Terry, Vice-Pres.; Jackson, Sec.; Argo, Treas. SPRING: Terry, Pres.; Maxwell, Vice-Pres.; Moore, Sec.; Jackson, Treas.; Mrs. Charles Pittman, Sponsor.

Club spirit gives incentive for sports competition

FIERCE competitiveness is exemplified by Cathy Shannon as she steps in and blocks a possible two point play before it really gets off the ground.

After being formally initiated early on an October Sunday morning, the new members enjoyed breakfast with their new club sisters. They then joined forces for an active year of participation in club sports and other club activities.

A hayride to Camp Wyldewood provided a night of fun for the MEA's and their dates. The events of the evening were brought to a close with a devotional around the campfire.

A style show in which the MEA's modeled fashions from Kroh's for their guests the Regina's was held at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. Ryan. After the style show, a reception was held. Many other activities were enjoyed by the MEA's throughout the year.

OFFICERS. FALL: Eades, Pres.; C. Bonnell, Vice-Pres.; Cleveland, Sec.; B. Bonnell, Treas. SPRING: C. Bonnell, Pres.; Wisener, Vice-Pres.; Griffin, Sec.; Ward, Treas.; Marge Ryan, Sponsor.

WITH a mighty heave, MEA's Mary Shannon displays the form she has acquired through long hours of practice with the shot put.

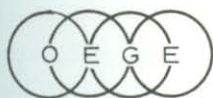

Informal party takes Oege's 'South of Border'

Mexico was echoed in the Oege third function where hot chili and Spanish music created a "downsouth" atmosphere to the mid-winter festivity. The couples dressed in Mexican costumes to add color and festivity to the occasion.

Enthusiastic Gaylon Lamb sparked the club to many athletic victories by performing his role as Oege coach to a perfection. Gaylon was rewarded for his efforts with a new navy blue club blazer complete with the Oege emblem. New club members kept the club beau supplied with cakes, brownies, and cookies throughout the eventful pledge week.

A "Blue Moon" shined over Bill's Restaurant to climax the year with a March banquet. The Freed-Hardeman trio traveled all the way from Tennessee, to help set the mood for the event.

"White elephant" gifts and Christmas carols highlighted a Yuletide party at the home of the club sponsor, Barbara Barnes.

OFFICERS. FALL: Simpson, Pres.; Wakefield, Vice-Pres.; Deacon, Sec.; Archer, Treas. SPRING: Kelton, Pres.; Benson, Vice-Pres.; Turney, Sec.; Stagner, Treas.; Barbara Barnes, Sponsor.

OEGE'S Karen Kelton, Janet Hamaker, and Janie Simpson say hello to greet and meet many new girls under their club emblem.

Western attire creates atmosphere for function

An early spring informal function was enjoyed by the Omega Phi's and their dates on March 6. Dressed in western attire, the "cowboys" enjoyed their adventures into the "wild and woolly" west. Eating hot dogs and playing games were the main events of the evening.

Eleven pledges were formally initiated at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. James Atteberry. They joined forces with the veteran members to complete a year of active participation in club sports and activities.

"Vieux Carre" took the Omega Phi's and their guests to the old French quarters in New Orleans for the formal banquet. Kelly's Grill in Bald Knob was very effectively decorated with floating candles and a mural which gave the impression of sitting on a balcony out under the stars. Charlotte Humphreys was mistress of ceremonies and JoAnn Kelly and Beth Smith entertained for the group.

OFFICERS. FALL: Humphreys, Pres.; Rachel, Vice-Pres.; Sexson, Sec.; Hobby, Treas. SPRING: Rachel, Pres.; Bearden, Vice-Pres.; Chambers, Sec.; Dasher, Treas.; Ruth Atteberry, Sponsor.

MEETING time is an enjoyable time for the Phi Delta's as they discuss plans for the future events which are to take place during the spring semester.

PHI DELTA

Campus invaded by Delta 'Rats' during pledging

Fourteen "rats" were informally initiated at the College Park and afterwards they enjoyed a bunking party with their new club sisters at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. Treva Pryor. The new members were taught the club motto, "others before ourselves" at the formal initiation.

December 5 provided a perfect time for the formal banquet, "Fantasy in Frost," held at Bill's Restaurant. Neale Pryor filled the memorable evening with humor and thought to provide an entertainment speech, after which Ken O'Neal, club beau, led the group in the singing of familiar songs.

The club enjoyed an active year of participating in club sports and the years activities were climaxed with the third function and an outing.

'Feast of the Gods' provides food for Regina event

The "Feast of the Gods" proved a perfect setting of the Regina's February 1 banquet. Entertainment featured Regina's own Anita Smith singing and Joe Black speaking on Greek tradition. The scene was transformed into a Greek garden. Each place card renamed the ladies and their guests as Greek gods and goddesses.

Climaxing Regina pledge week was the annual fall outing to Petit Jean. Dr. Joe Pryor accompanied the members on a hike to Cedar Falls while others preferred to try out the water bicycles. In the midst of nature's loveliness the tired queens ate their traditional menu consisting of "sloppy joes" and "smores."

In addition to these activities, the club presents the Regina Spirit Award to the student selected by the seniors to best typify the true Harding spirit.

SCENIC, center-of-the-earth type of beauty entrances Regina Shirley Herndon and her date Ron Boilla at their fall outing to Petit Jean.

ROMANESQUE atmosphere of the Regina's formal banquet doesn't keep the guests, like Mike Frampton, from acting casual and talkative.

Keen participation earns volleyball championship

Ten "rabbits" officially became Theta Psi's when they were instructed in the traditions of the club at the formal initiation held at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. John Prock. The pledges quickly joined forces with the active members and the clubs eager spirit led them to the winning of the volleyball championship.

A hayride to Bee Rock in late November was the club's third function. The "hobo" couples all huddled near the fire as they ate hot stew. The evening was brought to close with a devotional.

Jo Lee Thayer sang "blues" for the Theta Psi's and their dates at the formal banquet. The theme "Paris Blues" was carried out with a silhouette of Paris as the main decoration.

OFFICERS. FALL: Phillips, Pres.; F. Bush, Vice-Pres.; Eckerberg, Sec.; Ballard, Treas. SPRING: Laird, Pres.; Steckler, Vice-Pres.; Kee, Sec.; Lewis, Treas.; Charlene Prock, Sponsor.

THETA PSI. TOP ROW: Prock (sponsor), Ballard, Bell, Bradford. SECOND ROW: D. Bush, F. Bush, Cutshall, Eckerberg. THIRD ROW: Eddy, Graddy, Hayes, Kee. FOURTH ROW: Kiser, Laird, Lewis, Mayhall. FIFTH ROW: Phillips, Robbins, Stanley, Steckler. SIXTH ROW: Stokes, Thompson, Vann, Ward.

ENGAGED in a rugged battle to maintain control of the basketball, Sandy Ward and Barbara Thompson fight for the Theta Psi club's right to the ball.

LEAPING out in front of her competitors during track and field day, Theta Psi high jumper Sandy Ward displays good form in the event.

MARCHING in step to their club loyalty song, these Tofebt "toads" wonder if their seemingly endless pledge requirements can ever be completed.

TOFEBT

Tofebts and dates enjoy a 'Winter Wonderland'

After rough initiation at the College Park the eleven "toads" had a more solemn and serious formal initiation. This was held at Echo Haven and the girls were admonished to remember the club slogan, "To our Father ever be true."

December brought a "Winter Wonderland" to the Tofebts and their guests. Bill's Restaurant was decorated in a Christmas atmosphere to carry out the theme of the banquet. Raymond Muncy filled the eventful evening with humor by his speech after which Ken O'Neal and Roy Deaver gave a gala musical contribution.

March weather provided the atmosphere for a hayride to the Pumping Station. A hootenanny kept the Tofebts and their dates busy on the way to the site of the function. After arriving, the group enjoyed "Country Capers."

OFFICERS. FALL: Trotter, Pres.; Ramsey, Vice-Pres.; Moore, Sec.; Hendrix, Treas. SPRING: Davis, Pres.; McCloud, Vice-Pres.; Coyne, Sec.; A. Brown, Treas.; Geneva Combs, Sponsor.

WHC

Traditional country supper party observed again

One of the oldest clubs on campus also continued one of the oldest traditions of third functions on campus by having their annual "Country Supper" at the Pumping Station. In this supper, which is carried out with the trappings of the farm several decades ago, the guests and members enjoyed good country food and games.

Early in the year, nine pledges were added to the membership ranks and Roger McCown was selected as club beau. During the year, the new members as well as the old worked on various projects including the "Winter Wonderland" banquet at Buck Powers. Honored at the banquet as well as at many intervals during the year, which included a surprise birthday party, was club beau Roger McCown.

'Necking Party' provides unusual function theme

The unusual "Necking Party" theme for Zeta Phi Zeta's third function at the Pumping Station recreation room came from a series of party activities which included paying pennies per inch for the measurement of their dates' necks, the orange relay and the life saver game.

Eleven pledges vowed "to Zeta Phi we will be true" at initiation in October.

Contributing money to the SA-sponsored student lounge was a club project. Navy blue club blazers added a measure of unity to the group as they proudly wore them on campus.

Zeta Phi's enjoyed preparing treats for club beau David Day often. He gave the ladies a valentine box of candy to express his appreciation.

OFFICERS. FALL: Spears, Pres.; Rowland, Vice-Pres.; Woolard, Sec.; Jetton, Treas. SPRING: Spears, Pres.; Donley, Vice-Pres.; Martin, Sec.; L. Williams, Treas.; Winnie Bell, Sponsor.

Fall outing to mountain begins Zeta Rho activity

The scenic beauty of Petit Jean State Park added the finishing touch to a day of fun shared by Zeta Rho's and their dates in a fall outing. Appetites whetted by various activities such as hiking and boating were satisfied with huge helpings of chili accessorized with cheddar cheese, crackers, and carrots topped off with delicious "smores."

Visiting the hospitals and rest homes at Christmas time with club brothers, the TNT's, gave Zeta Rho's an unusual opportunity to have fun but also provide a little cheer for the lives of less fortunate persons than themselves.

Club projects to help the needy included the collection of clothes in good repair for the Arkansas State School for the Colored Deaf and Blind in Little Rock and the purchase of Bibles and instructional materials for the West Pleasure Street church of Christ in Searcy.

Student Leaders are recognized for their merits

Selection to membership in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges is one of the top honors that a junior or senior can receive. Criteria used in selecting students include the student's scholarship, his participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, his citizenship and services to the college and his promise of future usefulness. Faculty members review a list of nominees submitted by the Student Council and make additional nominations before they make the final selection. To be eligible at Harding College for this honor, a student must have a 2.40 cumulative average. Preference is given to seniors but three juniors — Clifton Ganus III, Dennis Organ and Jim Wilson — merited recognition. Jimmy Arnold, Mary Ethel Bales and Tom Reppart were selected as juniors in 1963-64.

The names of the twenty-three students selected will appear in the 1964-65 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. These students also receive special placement service through this organization. They receive a certificate of membership and they are eligible to purchase a membership key.

Organizations

Organization, planning mark student association

SERVING punch to weary freshmen, Eileen Mazurin, Junior Representative, helps relieve the sultry atmosphere of the registration line.

One of the most active organizations of Harding College is the Student Association which serves as a communications link between the students and the administration. The SA has had multi-facet functions in providing for various student programs and activities which have required the coordinated efforts of both students and faculty.

The year began for the SA with a pre-school conference to make plans and arrangements for the year's activities. Orientation for new students was facilitated by their efforts. The new student mixers and the all-school watermelon party aided many in getting acquainted.

The SA was especially active in planning the events for Homecoming. The November elections stimulated the SA to hold a straw election for President, Governor, and concerning the amendment legalizing gambling in Arkansas. Christmas brought plans for the annual party, the toy and dolly drive for certain children's homes. Throughout the year, the student body enjoyed the use of the new Cinema-scope screen and lens at the campus movies on Saturday night.

TIMELY editorials, articles of student interest, and the responsibility of assisting the editor keep Martha Tooke and Don Johnson at their typewriters.

Fresh approach transfuses life into the BISON

Keeping the student and faculty informed of campus happenings is the main function of the Bison. It also gives an opportunity to students for exercising their journalistic abilities. Near the end of each week the assignments are posted and the volunteer student writers begin collecting their news. Countless hours are spent in interviewing, writing stories, editing copy, proof-reading copy, writing headlines, and meeting deadlines. All of this is carried out under the capable leadership of Dennis Organ, editor, and Terry Smith, business manager. Faculty advisor Neil Cope aids the Bison staff with his vast experience in the newspaper and the journalistic fields.

At the 1964 spring meeting of the Arkansas College Publication Association at Hot Springs, Ark., the Bison rated an impressive first place in the General Excellence Contest for 1963-64 and achieved second place in the Sweepstakes Contest for individual contest points.

The year was highlighted by the staff banquet near the end of the school year at which deserving students were given recognition and awards.

PETIT JEAN

Zestful attitude helps lift staff to excellence

SUCCESSFULLY combining all aspects of editing a yearbook, Judy Evans guided the 1965 Petit Jean in a tireless manner to a rewarding climax.

Fun-filled hours of hard work, writing copy, captions, cropping pictures, organizing and re-organizing, scrutinizing type for errors, laughing, and crying went into the production of the '65 Petit Jean. The yearbook — a picture-filled diary of a memorable year — required sacrifices of time and energy from many people including student, staff, faculty, and administration.

Student interest and a rich tradition of five consecutive All-American annuals pushed the staff to strive for excellence in quality.

Planning and overseeing production were the primary functions of editor Judy Lee Evans. Business manager Mike Waters took in a record amount of cash from ad sales as a contribution to successful editing.

Deadlines, necessary evils in annual work, provided stimulation for accomplishing what was to be done. The seemingly unending pressure faded away as the final pages were completed and key staff members were off to Oklahoma City to proofread the final copy before it was sent to the publishers at Topeka, Kansas.

A year's dream was fulfilled and climaxed when the '65 Petit Jean was dedicated and presented to the students in a beautiful, impressive, May ceremony.

The hope for tomorrow's Christianity throughout the world is based upon the efforts of today's generation in evangelizing the world. Furthering the cause of Christ has been an united goal of all the mission groups.

Preparation for the mission field is emphasized through the study of customs, languages and basic problems concerning certain areas.

Giving encouragement to missionaries already established on the field is a part of the program undertaken by the clubs. This is done through correspondence and through financial contributions to missionaries in the field. Campaigns, such as are planned for Puerto Rico and Australia, are also emphasized.

Attractive displays were set up during Lecture-ship week to arouse interest in mission efforts. Bulletin boards on campus are a further aid in educating the public concerning missions areas, methods and needs. The clubs also sponsored speeches by visiting Christian educators.

MUSIC GROUPS

Interest, talent, work make chorus successful

PERFORMING his duties as the Lord High Executioner, Jim Chester attempts to behead his first victim in the Music Department's production, the Mikado.

Efficient preparation is characteristic of the endeavors of the A Cappella Chorus. Following the programs presented at the fall Lectureship, the Chorus toured the States of Arkansas, Missouri, Nebraska, and Iowa. Supplementing the programs given, the ensembles, made up of A Cappella members, sang additional choral pieces. In the spring, efforts were coordinated with the Drama department to produce Camelot and an opera.

The performances of the chorus have become renowned by their recordings which are available in stereo as well as high fidelity. Construction has begun on a new recording studio which will enable the production of even higher quality "Hymns from Harding" than the present high-fidelity tapes which are presented weekly on radio station in over 30 states.

The purpose of the Student Music Educators National Conference (Chapter name — A Tempo) is to promote music events on campus. Each year the SMENC gives an award to the outstanding music student.

MUSIC GROUPS

Music is joy, beauty in search of expression

Under the capable leadership of G. E. Baggett, the Chorale gives any student interested in music an opportunity to participate in its activities. The Chorale is the largest musical group on campus. Ensembles are formed for further group work. The Chorale annually participates in the fall lectureship, presents a Christmas program — "Twas the Night Before Christmas," — and takes a spring tour. The 1965 tours included the states of Arkansas, Tennessee, and Mississippi.

Another music group serving the Harding campus is the Bison Band. Touring the United States Third Army bases in December under Special Services sponsorship was a thrill for selected band members. They were accompanied by W. P. Campbell, USA Brig. Gen. (Ret.) and their director, G. E. Baggett. The five-state tour covered 2,400 miles and included ten performances. Special groups were formed within the band for variety numbers. These included a concert band, stage band, pep band, two ladies' quartets and a male quartet.

In the fall, drum major Jerry Bolls led the band in precision marching at half-time football shows. Martha Pitner was Harding's feature twirler.

JERRY Bolls plays Pied Piper of Harding as he leads the pep band and many Harding student to a pep rally in the gym for the football players.

Campus Players, the local dramatics organization, provides an opportunity for students to participate in acting, play production, directing, make-up, costuming, and scene construction. New members are admitted by contributing 25 hours working on plays.

The Harding audience was delighted with the two major productions of the year, Antigone and Camelot. Also a series of one-act plays were presented in the Little Theatre. The highlight of the drama season came when these productions were presented on tour to the Fifth Army by the American Collegiate Players during February.

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity, is composed of students and faculty who have made outstanding contributions to dramatic activities at Harding College. Individual achievement is recognized at the Annual Spotlight when drama awards and certificates are presented.

The highlight of the year for Pi Kappa Delta was the workshop attended in Oklahoma City to promote interest in speech and debate.

HISTORY AND POLITICAL GROUPS

History clubs promote interest in current affairs

Trips to Saint Louis and Cincinnati were made by students in the American Studies group in their gaining knowledge of our nation through first hand experience with business, industry and government. The topic chosen for discussion this year was "America's Future." Outstanding speakers from the campus, the business world, and other colleges and universities addressed the group concerning the American way of life. Selection for membership in the School of American Studies is based upon academic achievement of individuals in the fields of history, social science, and business.

Making their appearance for the first time on campus this year were two student organizations: the Young Republicans and the Young Democrats. Being election year, both clubs were quite active in striving to promote the interests of both parties.

The Organization for Conservative, Academic and Political Action is mainly concerned with informing the student body about major current issues of political, economic or social nature.

Phi Alpha Theta is a national honorary history society composed of members with a high academic record.

Colhecon is organized for all women, both home economics majors and non-majors, to help them in becoming better qualified in the many areas of a woman's life. Colhecon activities strive for the development of more efficient homemakers and more well-rounded women. Homemaking, such a vital part of a woman's life, is emphasized in several programs and projects. Programs of interest included a panel of fellows discussing the "Attractiveness of a Woman," a hairstylist with suggestions and demonstrations concerning becoming hair-dos, and a talk from a banker. The members served a brunch for seniors.

The PEMM Club is of special interest to physical education majors and minors. Members also belong to the American Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. Activities for the year included plans for attending the state convention in Little Rock and the national convention in Dallas, Tex. and also the Gymnastic Championships in Nashville, Tenn., at David Lipscomb College.

Sponsoring the Bison All-Star games, the PEMM Club stimulates an interest in the intramural program. Trophies are given to the most valuable player in each event.

Accounting majors enjoy the activities of Pi Gamma Psi as they meet to discuss developments in their field and to hear speakers in related areas of interest. The members take field trips to Memphis and Little Rock to investigate the offices of Certified Public Accountants and to discover how they are operated. They publish a newsletter for Harding graduates and they honor members who later become Certified Public Accountants by engraving their names on an honor plaque. A banquet with the Accounting Club from Arkansas Tech highlighted the evening of the Bison-Wonder Boy basketball game.

Highlighting the fall semester activities for the Science Club was a field trip to Benton, Arkansas, to the Alcoa aluminum plant. Promoting interest in the sciences among non-science majors as well as stimulating further study among those majoring in a scientific field is the general objective for the club's organization. Programs presented by faculty speakers, local physicians and others are typical of the bi-weekly meetings. A spring project of the Science Club was sponsoring the high school Regional Science Fair.

Bijitsu, the Japanese word for "thing of beauty," is also the name of a group on the Harding campus of those interested in the field of art, organized to promote interest in the visual arts. Members of Bijitsu take frequent trips to art shows in the area, take trips to find subject matter for their paintings and they enter individual art work in various showings. A piece of sculpture by Bob Privitt, sponsor, was accepted for showing in Little Rock's Delta Show.

Mu Sigma Gamma, a mathematics organization open for membership to junior and senior mathematics majors, was set up at Harding in the fall of 1964. These students meet for additional study in the field of math — study which could not possibly be covered otherwise in their undergraduate courses. A project of the group was to start a file of material from selected graduate schools to provide interesting information concerning upper-level work in mathematics with possible financial assistance available. Dr. Arthur Bernhart from the Mathematics Department of the University of Oklahoma was a guest lecturer in the spring.

KHCA, Harding's radio station, began broadcasting in the spring of 1965 under the direction of members of the Radio Broadcasting Club sponsored by Evan Ulrey. The technical equipment has been set up in the basement of the Bible building. The activities of the Radio Club serve to provide experience for its members in the various phases of broadcasting and technical work.

Philougeia has been organized for pre-med majors to stimulate their interest in the field and to promote further study. Under the sponsorship of Dr. Norman Hughes the members perform services on campus in the medical science field.

The Harding chapter of the Student National Education Association, a professional organization for students who plan to teach, has a busy yearly program. An early drive for membership resulted in a record-breaking 207 members. During American Education Week in November the members set up a very successful display in a local store window. Representatives attended a Drive-In Conference at Southern State in Magnolia and also an SAEA luncheon in Little Rock in October. Filling stockings with candy to take to colored deaf children in Little Rock was a Christmas project. The state convention was held on the Harding campus in March. Regularly monthly meetings gave the students an opportunity to hear professional educators' lecture and to hear other programs of interest to future teachers. Gaylon Lamb, chapter head, was also 1964-65 state president.

BISON BOOSTERS

Baby Benny Bison adopted as Harding symbol

BENNY, Harding's new Bison mascot, who was acquired this summer, waits for the Bison football team to come back on the field after halftime.

A new mascot and a record membership of over three hundred students aided the Bison Boosters in boosting school spirit and backing the Bisons in all their endeavors. The baby bison attended several of the football games and entertained the fans with his antics of stubbornness.

The Bison Boosters planned periodic pep rallies throughout the year and also made favors for the team members before contests and sent telegrams of encouragement to the boys in out-of-town games. The club received special permission to attend certain away games that are not designated for all-school attendance.

The members were active in decorating goal posts and stands for football games and in bedecking the student center before homecoming ceremonies. During football season they selected an offensive "Player of the Week" to be recognized after each game. They also sponsored the cheerleading squad and supplied their needs.

SPECIAL INTERESTS

Our interest in others expressed through service

One of the most active of Harding's groups is the Dactylology Club in which interested students can learn to speak fluently with their hands in work with the deaf. Every week several of the members travel to Little Rock to teach Sunday school classes at the Arkansas State Deaf School for colored people and to help interpret worship services for the deaf at the Central Church of Christ. Several former members have become preachers for the deaf.

Harding Business Women, the full-time women members of Harding's faculty and staff, meet together once every month to enjoy a meal in the Empire Room and to hear a program presentation on an aspect of personal betterment. They also plan a project each year.

FELLOWSHIP is enjoyed by Mexican bandit Jim Randolph and Eastern potentate Dick Covalinski along with others at the Dactylology costume party.

HARDING BUSINESS WOMEN. FRONT ROW: Betts, B. Smith, Swink, Goodwin, Dykes, Rowe, Wilkerson, Claud, House. SECOND ROW: McCoy, Janes, Tucker, Combs, Bell, Hart, Howell, Pickens. THIRD ROW: Birdsall, S. Thomas, Kail, O'Banion, Browning, W. Thomas, Pace, Hughes, Young.

College life varied by active club participation

The girls' Interclub Council is very active in promoting good will and cooperation between the social clubs and in promoting club participation in school functions. Composed of the president, sponsor, and one other representative from each of the women's social clubs, the Interclub Council meets once a month during the first semester and at called times during the second semester. At times the members discuss and clarify rules applying to the social clubs and make plans for such activities as Open House to acquaint new girls with the various clubs and club participation in the expansion program of the college.

Another service organization, the Circle K is the college branch of the local Kiwanis Club. A civic club, the Circle K is the only group allowed to sponsor money-raising activities which it uses to raise necessary funds for projects of benefit to the campus and the community. The members undertake various activities to develop leadership abilities. They attend weekly meetings.

Big Sisters, a select group of upperclass women, correspond regularly with new students during the summer months trying to give them a warm welcome to Harding; answering questions about campus rules, customs, and accommodations; and giving helpful hints about such items as Arkansas weather. The beginning of school is made more pleasant by the helpful attitude and friendly spirit demonstrated by members of this group. New women are given much assistance in adjusting to their new surroundings. Wing parties in the dorms help them in making new acquaintances. Presenting a program depicting school life on the Harding campus for women is a first-week-of-school project for this organization. The Big Sisters also sponsor dormitory Christmas parties just before the holidays.

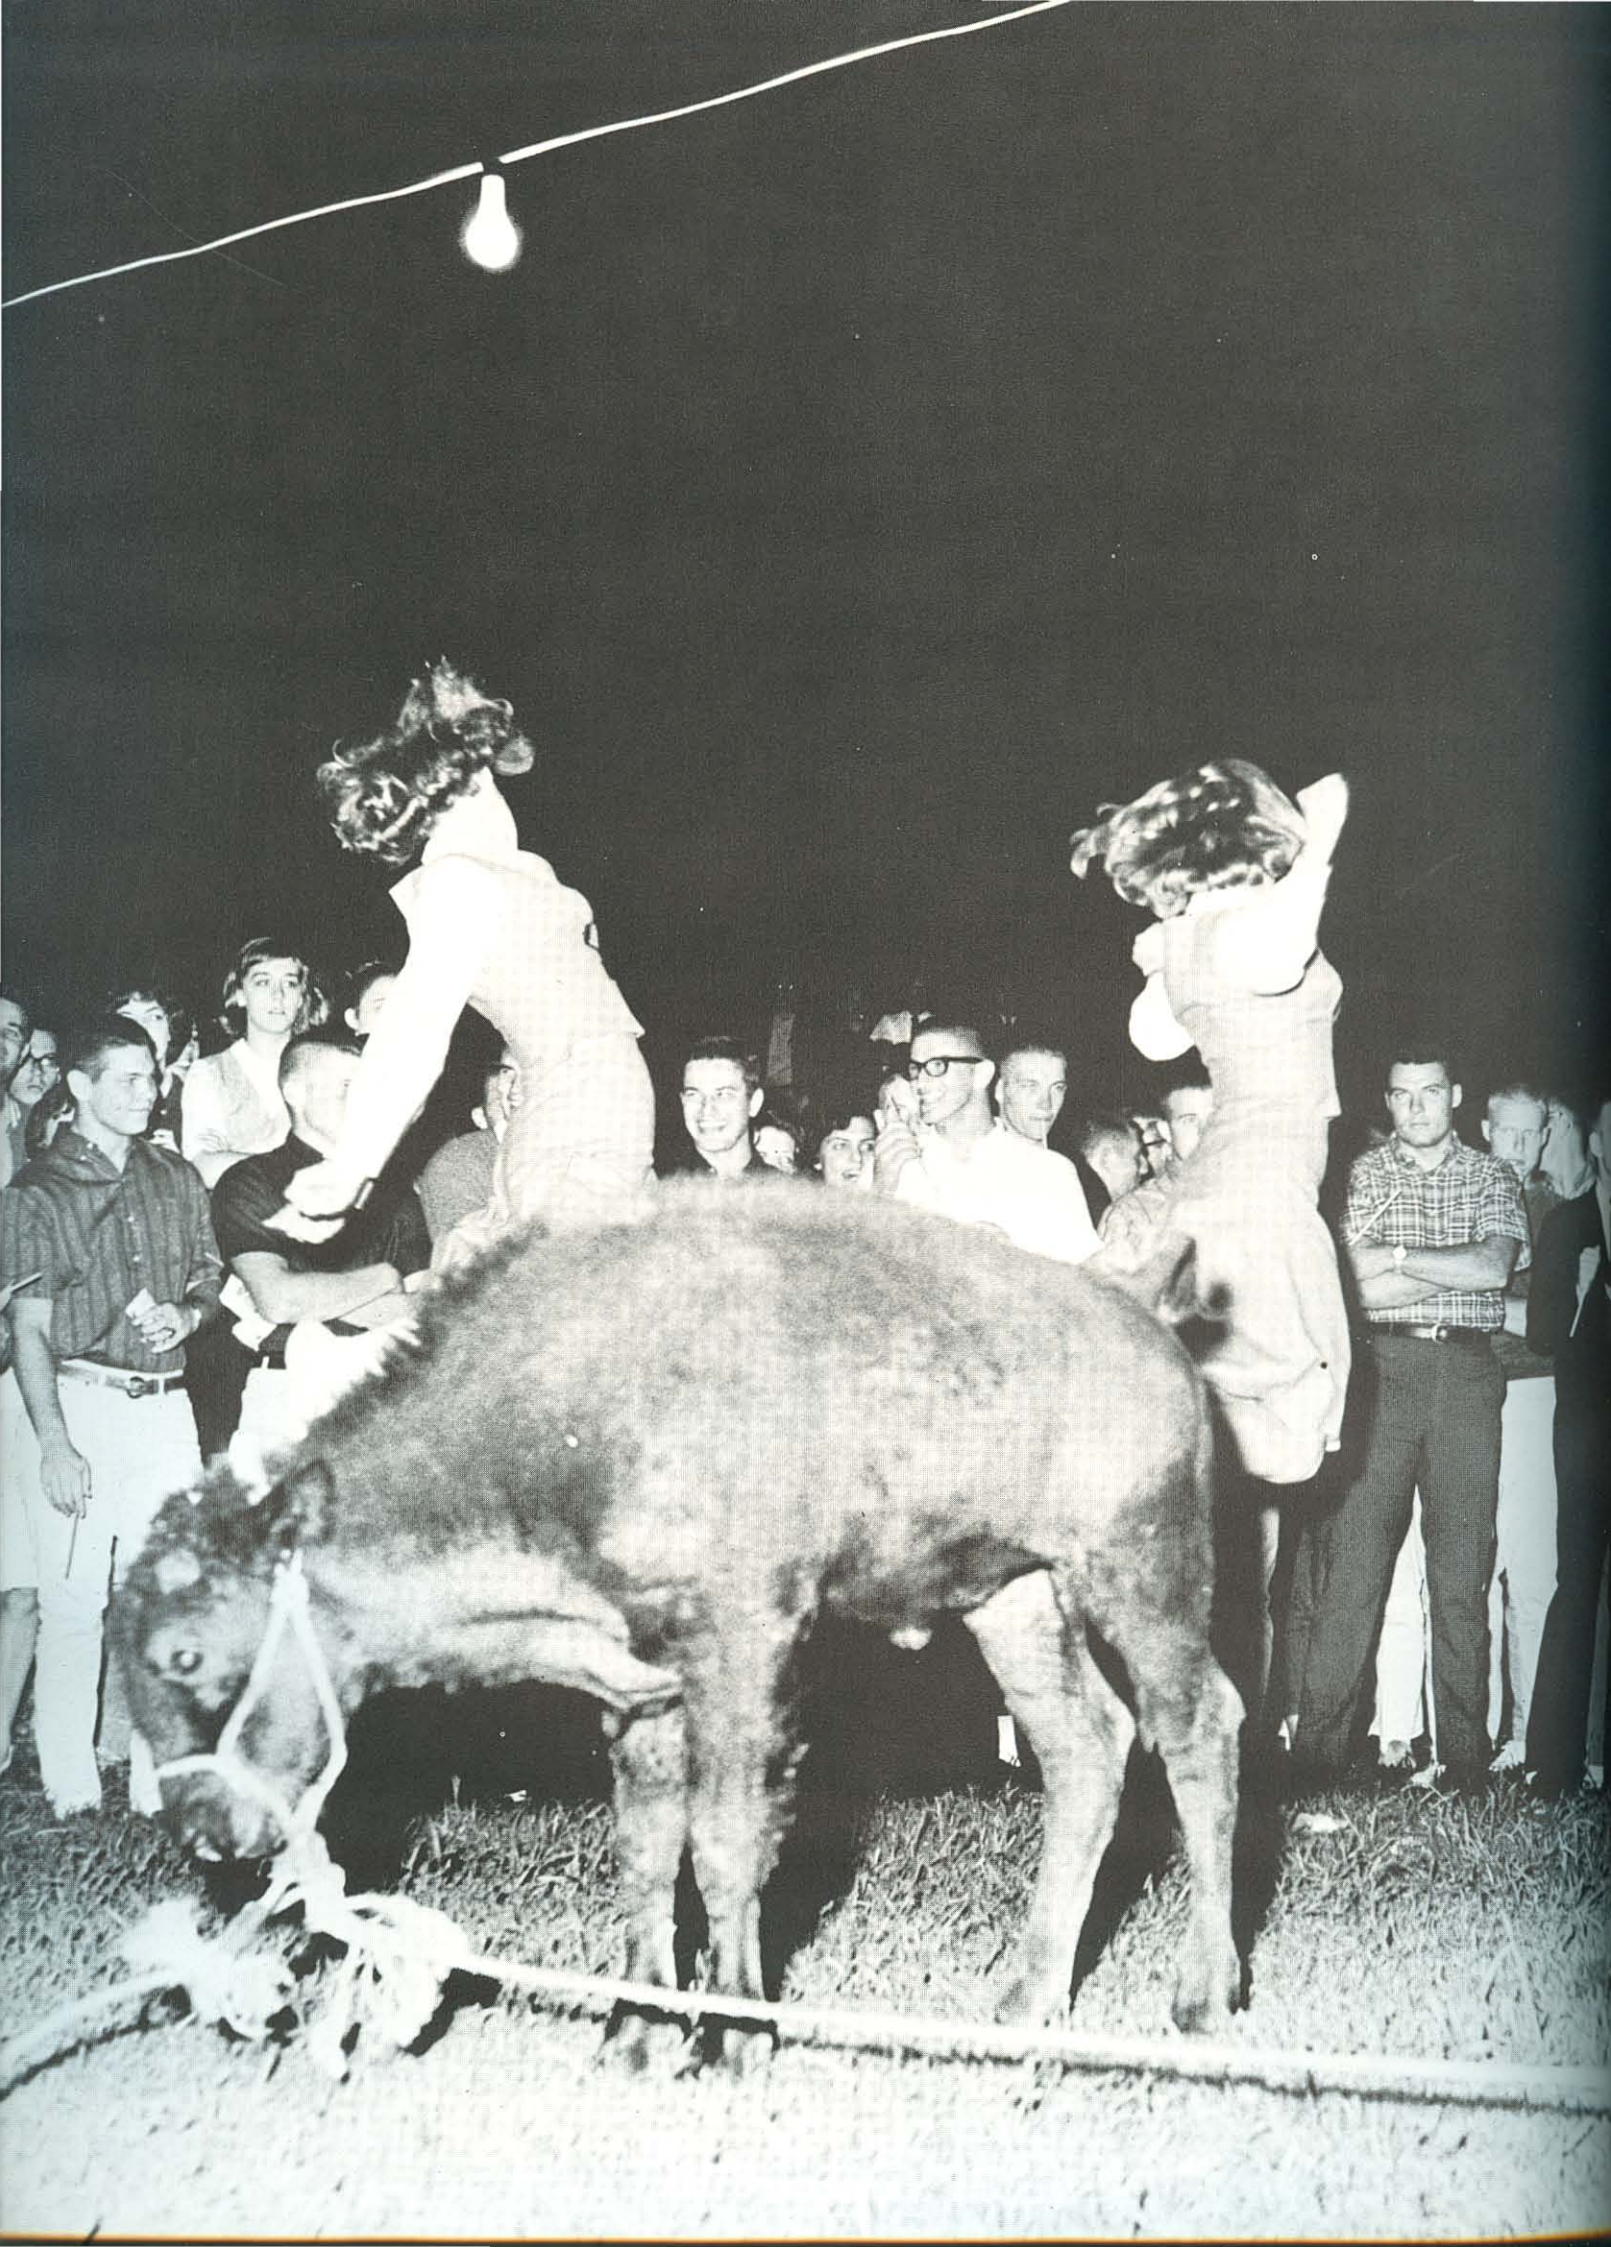

INCOMING freshmen, Jeannette Heid and Jean Lewis, are given a warm welcome and made to feel at home by big sister, Marilyn Cobb.

The Grace Wells Club was organized in the honor of Miss Grace Wells, a former student of Galloway Female College which preceded Harding on the Searcy campus. Miss Wells, a resident of Berkeley, California, endowed Harding College with scholarship funds to be given to worthy girls who need financial help in attending school. The club members correspond regularly with Miss Wells and keep a scrapbook recording biographical information about her and about each girl who has received aid since the endowment was presented in 1961.

FOOTBALL

Determination and team effort highlight season

Since only six seniors and seven juniors reported for football practice, Coach John Prock and his assistants, Ted Lloyd, Ted Altman and Hugh Groover, faced a formidable rebuilding job. The finest group of freshmen since Harding resumed intercollegiate football gave the Bisons bright hopes for future years. Although the team lacked the overall strength that had characterized the "black-and-gold" in recent years, it possessed greater speed and an enthusiastic spirit.

The season opened at home against the powerful University of Tennessee Martin Branch. Although the Bisons played a valiant game, they were unable to mount an offense and yielded the game 28-0. Morgan Outlaw played an outstanding defensive game. The following week the Bisons traveled to Lawton, Okla., to play the veteran Fort Sill service team. They played gallantly though suffering a 33-0 loss.

CHECKING to see that the helmets are in good shape for practice, head coach John Prock makes plans with Ted Lloyd and Ted Altman.

PUSHING an Arkansas Tech halfback away from the Bison goal in a fine team effort, Harding holds the line.

CAUGHT in a trap, Lovard Peacock is hit hard by two Cannoneers.

MORGAN Outlaw takes aim on a A & M tackler during a drive up the middle in order to free Halfback John Skinner for a good gain for Harding.

FOOTBALL

Season evolves into a series of crucial plays

The first AIC game was at Magnolia with Southern State College. The Muleriders, the conference dark horse, downed the Bisons 20-7. Don Samanie and Roger Maddox were defensive standouts. The following week the Bisons met Ouachita Baptist College in a tightly-contested game in Arkadelphia. An intercepted pass and a recovered fumble set up the two Tiger touchdowns in their 13-0 victory. Maddox again played an outstanding defensive game.

The perennially-strong ASTC Bears ground out a 14-0 victory over the Bisons in Harding's Homecoming game. Porter Ragsdale was the defensive player of the game. The following week the veteran team of Arkansas A & M downed the Bisons 27-13. Outlaw was outstanding on defense and Jim Howard displayed great offensive power.

The Bisons' first victory of the year was a 7-0 defeat of Millsaps College. Returning to conference competition, the Bisons downed College of the Ozarks 28-0. Gail Mote was the outstanding defensive player and Howard used his passing and running ability effectively.

SHOWING both the mental and physical strain of playing quarterback for the Bisons, Bernie Cox welcomes a chance to regroup his thoughts and strategy.

CO-CAPTAIN Morgan Outlaw demonstrates his outstanding defensive ability with a fine tackle on Fort Sill's quarterback in Bison's second game.

DETERMINED defensive play by Robin Algee halts a potential gain.

HOLDING a short conference with head coach John Prock, Harding linebacker Morgan Outlaw discusses the team's defensive strategy.

CHARGING into the line, Gail Mote hits for good yardage off tackle.

DEFENSIVE end Don Samanie really puts the rush on the Ouachita quarterback in an all-out effort to keep the pass from being completed.

HARDING defensemen, Jim Howard and Robin Algee, have the situation well under control in educating a Fort Sill runner to the Bison treatment.

BEHIND a protective screen of blockers, Richard Davis heads for a good gain.

REACHING over his shoulder in order to catch the football, fullback Steve McAfee keeps the Bison offense in good position to sustain their scoring drive.

FOOTBALL

Bison gridders rely on spirit, speed, and desire

Henderson State stopped the Bison's winning streak by a 20-6 score. Mike Plummer played outstandingly on defense. Loverd Peacock scored the Bisons only touchdown on a 63-yard run. Arkansas Tech, 1964 AIC football champions, defeated the Bisons 27-6 in the final game of the season. Maddox, Outlaw and Ragsdale were outstanding on defense. Jerome Prince scored the only Bison touchtown. Outlaw, Ragsdale, Peacock, Ray Richie, Roy McGee and Hugh Campbell ended their collegiate football careers.

Johnny Jeter and Gail Mote received honorable mention for the 1964 All-AIC football team. Howard ranked second in the AIC in both punt returns and kick-off returns. Plummer ranked high in pass interceptions.

The outstanding performance of several freshmen and sophomores, Howard, Plummer, Jeter, Maddox, Jim Davis, Pete Henry, Jerry Cherry, James Street, Ronnie Killen, Donnie Cox, John Broderhausen and Phil New gave encouragement for the future. Juniors Mote, Prince, Samanie, Bernie Cox, Robin Algee and Dickie Dean will be key men on the 1965 Bison eleven.

OUTLAW, Algee, and Ragsdale stop a Fort Sill back for a short gain.

RAGSDALE and Maddox stop Fort Sill ballcarrier trying for extra yardage.

POISED for a running pass, quarterback Bernie Cox rolls out with the ball held high for either a long throw downfield or a short toss to Howard.

BASKETBALL

Roundballers utilize fast break, full-court press

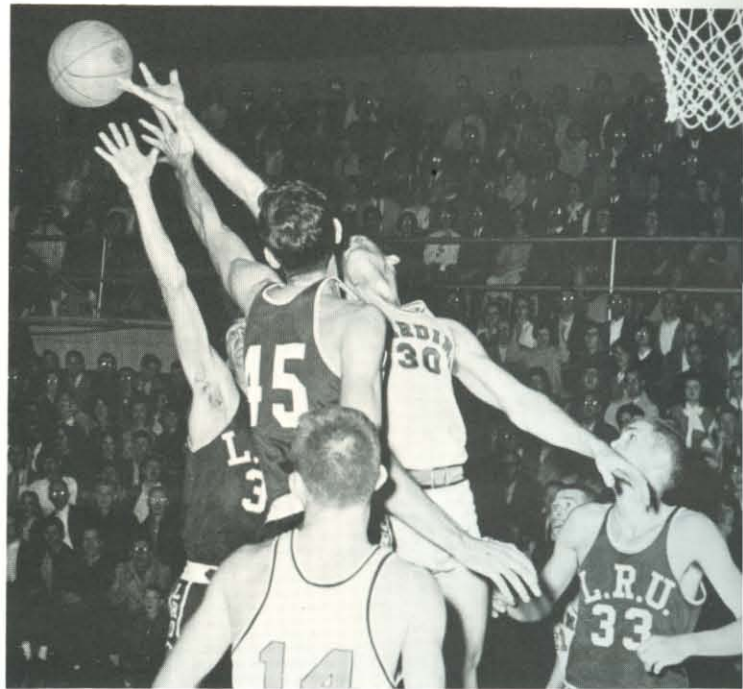

AROUSSED by some action that is taking place on the gym floor, Coach Hugh Groover anxiously awaits the decision by the officials on the call.

Playing an exciting game featuring a fast-break offense and a full-court-press defense, the Bison basketball team kept fans on their toes throughout the season. The 11-17 season record, 7-11 in conference play, does not reveal the fact that eight games were lost by one or two points or in overtime play. Ned Boaz, 5'8" guard, and Gary Goss 6'3" forward, co-captains and the two seniors on the squad, ranked among the top five in conference scoring and showed All-AIC form throughout the season. Boaz was the top Bison rebounder and consistently ranked among the conference leaders in this department. The dazzling floor game, spectacular shooting and amazing rebounding ability of Boaz coupled with the consistent inside shooting and stellar defensive play of Goss led the Bisons to several new team and individual records. Juniors Don Medley, Dwight Robb and Glen Whitaker each turned in some excellent games. Harold Alexander, a regular starter, and Ronnie Brown displayed great ability for freshmen. The junior varsity team achieved a 7-3 record for the season. The Bisons finished among the top six teams in the conference.

REACHING beyond the basket, Bison Glen Whitaker assisted by Ronnie Brown, attempts to tip errant shot into the basket.

VAINLY stretching for a rebound that caroms inches away from his fingers, Glen Whitaker tries hard to gain control of the ball.

BOUNDLESS effort put out by senior Gary Goss provided for many openings to drive inside for a shot like this crip.

Tumultuous action draws fans to Bison basketball

FAST MOVING guard Ronnie Brown drives through the middle of the key against LRU to set up his lay up and a possible two points.

AFTER successfully dribbling around his man and up the baseline to the basket, quick guard Harold Alexander climaxes his play with a short shot from under the net and two more points.

SUSPENDED in mid-air, Ned Boaz fires in another of his unstoppable jump shots. A senior guard, Boaz constantly amazed the Harding fans with his uncanny speed and jumping ability.

HIGH above his defender, Don Medley pushes the ball toward the goal in a sharp offensive maneuver that finds him alone enough to shoot.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Cross-Country team wins second championship

Harding College harriers captured the AIC crown with Cliff Clark of Harding and Bobby Richardson of ASTC finishing in a dead heat for the co-individual championship. Clark was AIC champion last year, also.

Winning four of six meets, the Searcy team finished twelfth in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship meet at Omaha, Nebraska. Out of the 35 teams represented, Howard Payne College took the championship honors. The outstanding teams competing were from small colleges and universities across the nation. As winners of District 17 of the NAIA, the Bison team earned the right to enter competition at Omaha.

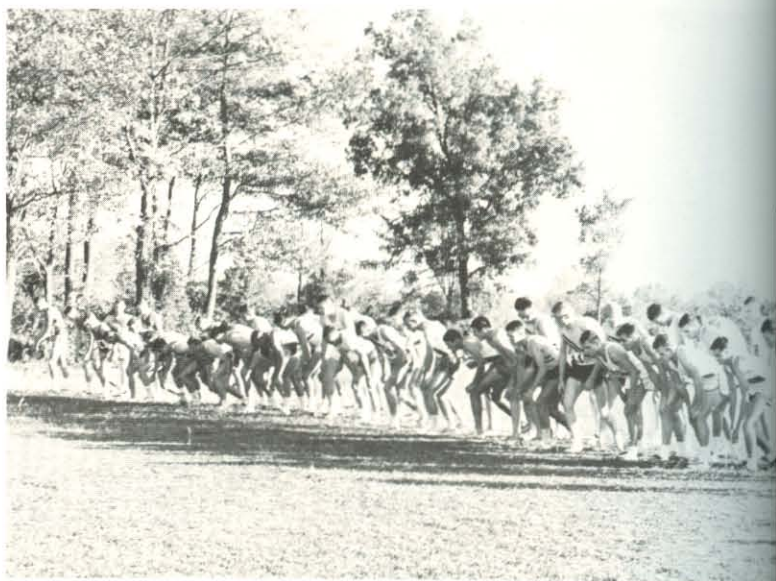

Determination, practice, and hard work paid off as the team was able to look back on a successful season — Harding's third.

That often needed word of encouragement or extra little prod came from R. T. Clark, Jr., Harding's Vice President in Charge of Research who doubled as cross-country and track coach. Working closely with him was Dr. James A. Hedrick, Professor of Accounting.

LEADING all the others, Cliff Clark sprints for record finish.

PHILIP MERRELL, struggling to maintain a grueling pace, strides for a finish.

TENSION mounts as A.I.C. runners prepare for another grueling race.

CROSSING the finish line, Cliff Clark climaxes a competitive race.

EXHIBITING a smooth stride, Bobby Smith runs his 3 1/2 mile route.

TRACK

Diligence and all-out effort typify tracksters

Two first places, three seconds, and two thirds put Harding thinclads in third place in 1964 AIC track competition. Bob Camp, never beaten in AIC contests, took first in the shot put, while Harding's mile medley relay team composed of Loverd Peacock, Berkeley Hackett, Dwight Robb, and Gerald Clark took the crown. Jerry Baker, Tommy Bateman, and R. T. Clark took second places in the mile run, high jump, and 880-yard run, respectively. Wendell Harrison won third in the 880-yard run, while Donnie Cox tied with Voss of ASTC for third in the pole vault. ASTC took the all-conference meet with a total score of 48 points. A & M had 32 and Harding had 22½.

The Bisons also tied for fifth place with Hendrix in the nine-team Harding Invitational. Oklahoma City University finished first.

Gaining some needed depth the Harding tracksters made an impressive showing over the '63 season under the guidance of Coach R. T. Clark, Jr.

Assistant football coach, Ted Lloyd took over as assistant coach in the '64 season. He was Academy head coach until September of the 1964 school year.

WINNER becomes loser as Bison miler Cliff Clark breaks the tape only to be disqualified after fall ending record breaking race.

WITH head up, Robert Clark starts the second half of his 880 yard run.

VICTORY is within reach as Bison Gerald Clark clears last hurdle.

SPRINTING out of the blocks in an explosive start in the 880 yard run, Wendell Harrison determines to beat the opposition by giving his best.

DEMONSTRATING perfect form as he clears the crossbar, Tom Bateman establishes a new Harding record of 6 feet 7 1/2 inches high jumping.

EXECUTION of a well-practiced exchange between Gerald Clark and Lanny Casey pays off in the 880 yard relay as the Bisons come on to win.

PREPARING for a mighty heave, AIC champion shot-putter Bob Camp gets off another of his winning throws. He was never beaten in AIC competition.

SWIMMING

First swimming team looms as pleasant surprise

PROPELLING himself into the water in a long, low, powerful racing dive, Jim Horner launches out into the pool to begin a practice series of laps.

National interest in swimming as a competitive sport was greatly enhanced by the success of the youthful United States swimming team in the 1964 Olympic games in Tokyo. Swimming was added last year as the ninth sport in AIC competition. Participation in all "minor" sports on the part of colleges in the conference was greatly stimulated last year when the AIC began giving an All-Sports Trophy. Swimming has played an important role in the intramural program at Harding since Harding has an indoor, heated pool; however, it will take time to build an intercollegiate swimming team. In the first AIC swimming meet last year, Hendrix won most of the events because of the avid interest of their coach in swimming. Dr. Harry Olree and Coach John Prock shared the responsibility this year of coaching Harding's first swimming team. At the time that the yearbook was going to press, the team was preparing for the AIC meet to be held at Hendrix.

SWIMMING TEAM. Hamilton, Pearce, Horner (Student Coach), Bales, Robertson.

ALL is well as Steve McAfee makes turn at third and strides safely home.

ACTION abounds from first base as Don Samanie sprints across bag.

TURNING the corner at third base runner Gary Simpson takes instructions to play it safe from Coach Ted Altman as play is made at home.

STEPPING into the pitch, Dave Taylor slams one into the outfield.

BISON catcher Steve McAfee goes into action as the ball is pitched.

BASEBALL TEAM. FRONT ROW: Cox, Barber, Fouss, J. Miller, Paul. SECOND ROW: Bailey, E. Miller, Henry, Simpson, Plummer, McAfee. THIRD ROW: J. Berryhill, (Asst. Coach), Statom, (Mgr.), Green, Jeter, Samanie, Elkins, Harris, Coach Altman.

BASEBALL

Hardballers pit determination against opposition

In his first year at Harding College Coach Ted Altman found himself faced with the task of rebuilding a baseball team largely from freshman and sophomore aspirants who reported for practice in February. Gone from the 1963 team were such outstanding hard ballers as Steve Smith, twice All-AIC catcher, pitchers Joe Spaulding, Jim Watson and Kim Pate, infielders Hommy Carter and Billy Ray Barden, and outfielders Jerry Mote, Ken Spillman, Joe Burlison and Terry Burton.

The 1964 team was built around four returning lettermen: pitcher Richard Green, short-stop Eddie Miller, first baseman Bernie Cox and infielder Don Samanie. Freshman Mike Plummer rapidly developed into the Bison's most effective pitcher and freshman Steve McAfee's catching ability reminded fans of All-AIC Steve Smith. Other newcomers to the team showing real promise for future years were Pete Henry, Johnny Jeter, Gary Simpson, Jimmy Miller, Rob Barber and Dave Fouss. What the team lacked in pose and finesse was compensated for by enthusiasm and hustle.

Lacking power at the plate, the 1964 Bison nine relied heavily on welcomed walks, daring base running, and dangerous squeeze plays to push runs across. In conference games the team split double headers with Henderson State, Arkansas A & M and Ouachita and lost double headers to ASTC, Tech and Southern State.

BOWLING

Bison bowlers strive for NAIA tournament spot

In their second year of AIC bowling, the Bison keglers ranked third in the conference. Larry Yurcho and Dennis Organ ranked among the top ten bowlers in the AIC. Competition is held on a "mail-o-graphic" basis until the conference "roll-off" is held in April. The top two teams go to Kansas City for the NAIA Tournament. The 1965 team shows promise of being much stronger than the two previous teams. In a "mail-o-graphic" match with David Lipscomb College, the Harding team won with a 2704 series which set a new school record. Ten men comprise the team, but only the top five scores each Monday count in competition. Coach M. E. Berryhill ably directs the activities of Harding's keglers.

BASIC to any good bowler is his approach to the game. Here Rob Barber demonstrates his approach, as he prepares to launch the ball.

INTENT on the progress of his fellow bowlers, Larry Yurcho waits for his turn and also keeps the score sheets tabulated for his teammates.

TENNIS

Harding's first tennis team posts winning mark

PREPARING to slam home his serve, Terry Smith puts his ball into orbit.

STRAINING to maintain a volley, Tony Webb stretches to make the return.

Coach Hugh Groover and his tennis squad entered the 1964 season without any intercollegiate experience and came out fourth in the conference. Ouachita, Hendrix, and Henderson held the first three berths, respectively.

Harding's first-year netmen included Tony Webb, Terry Smith, Jim Ed Williams, Roger Johnson, Louis Stepter, and Mel Gambrell. Five of the original six returned for the 1965 season.

GOLF

Beginning links season has Bisons as dark horse

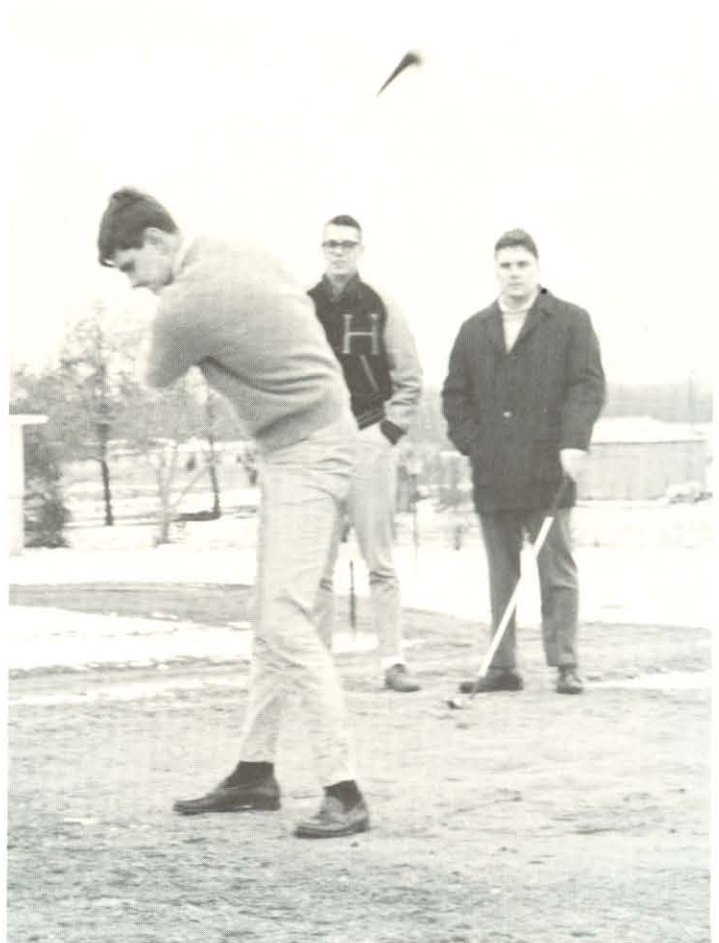

Eight of the ten colleges in the AIC entered four-man teams in the 36-hole contest in 1964. Harding placed eighth and picked up three points in the AIC All-Sports contest. Dr. Bob J. Gilliam, Director of Testing and Counselling, who had participated in intercollegiate golf, accepted the assignment of coaching the 1965 golf team. Early in February he began work with ten men who reported. Instructing the men in the fine points of driving and putting, "Dr. Bob" pointed his golfers toward the AIC meet to be held in Magnolia May 10-11 with Southern State College as host. Lacking an outstanding golfer, the team had to rely on team balance to earn as high a position as possible in conference standings.

GOLF TEAM. Gilliam (coach), Jones, Chandler, Tucker, Lowe, Brock.

OVERCOMING the golfer's nightmare, putting, Mickey Jones starts the ball on its way while Winston Chandler holds the pin.

POWER in the initial drive off the tee by sophomore George Lowe is observed by fellow golfers and teammates, William Tucker and Gary Brock.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Year long participation encourages athletes

STEVE McAFEE tries in vain for first base in a sudden burst of speed in a determined effort to beat the hard, fast throw from the infield for a hit.

TAKING a healthy cut at the ball, Bill Dye, sends one flying into the outfield in a effort to bring his team from behind in a contest in intramural softball.

ANCHOR man Roy McGee drives sharply into the tape at the successful finish of the 440 yard relay during the closing moments of a day of activity.

Earning awards is not the only reason or even the most profitable reason for participating in the intramural sports program at Harding College. The values one receives stretch from increasing skills in games and sports one already knows to learning totally new and different athletic abilities in a variety of contests and organized sports.

The variety of sports extends throughout the seasons of the entire year to include softball and football in the fall, volleyball and basketball during the winter, and baseball along with track and field events in the spring of the year.

Concurrent with the regular activities of seasonal sports are the various individual sports skills contests. In this area of participation, the individual person is rated on his aptitude in personal events such as the rope climb and baseball throw.

While all of the areas are open to all of the students, the valuable assets acquired in the all-inclusive program are self-control, timing, coordination, discipline and planning. These areas of development help not only while the student is on the court or track or diamond, but also in the other endeavors of academic life as well as in the post college days.

VAULTING high into the air, William Tucker, clears the bar for first place in the annual track and field day activities.

LEADING the field, Ned Boaz, strides effortlessly toward the finish line of the 880 yard run. Boaz also won the 440-yard run, mile run, and the high jump for his club.

HOPES, desires, and aspirations for victory are more often than not disrupted with unforeseen disappointments during track and field day's interclub competition and rivalry.

ENGAGED in the very strenuous and demanding sport of shot putting, Cliff Ganus tries with all of his might to win the annual track and field day event for his club.

AMID the stares of fellow players and opponents, guard Gail Mote collects and controls the loose ball in an intramural basketball game.

CONCENTRATION appears etched on the face of Dr. Ganus as he prepares to defend for the faculty in a vigorous student-faculty volleyball game.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Sportsmanship is emphasized by spirited clubs

Providing spice to the intramural program throughout the entire sports year, the renewing of rugged club rivalries continuously brings out the best in spirit and competition in all the clubs — both large and small.

In many ways the club program is the icing on the intramural cake. For when an ancient and tough rivalry is renewed, no matter what the sport, large crowds composed of club members as well as just interested students come and crowd the sidelines or stands. This boom in spectators carries over to the teams and produces some of the best efforts and games ever seen by the fans.

The club program begins early in the year with softball starting even before new pledges are inducted into the various clubs. Closely following softball, football brings the program on to the winter in-door program. Volleyball and basketball move intramurals into spring. From there the outdoors takes over in the form of a gigantic all-school, all-club track and field day. On this annual Thursday in the spring, school is suspended for the day and everyone participates in the events which last from early morning to late evening.

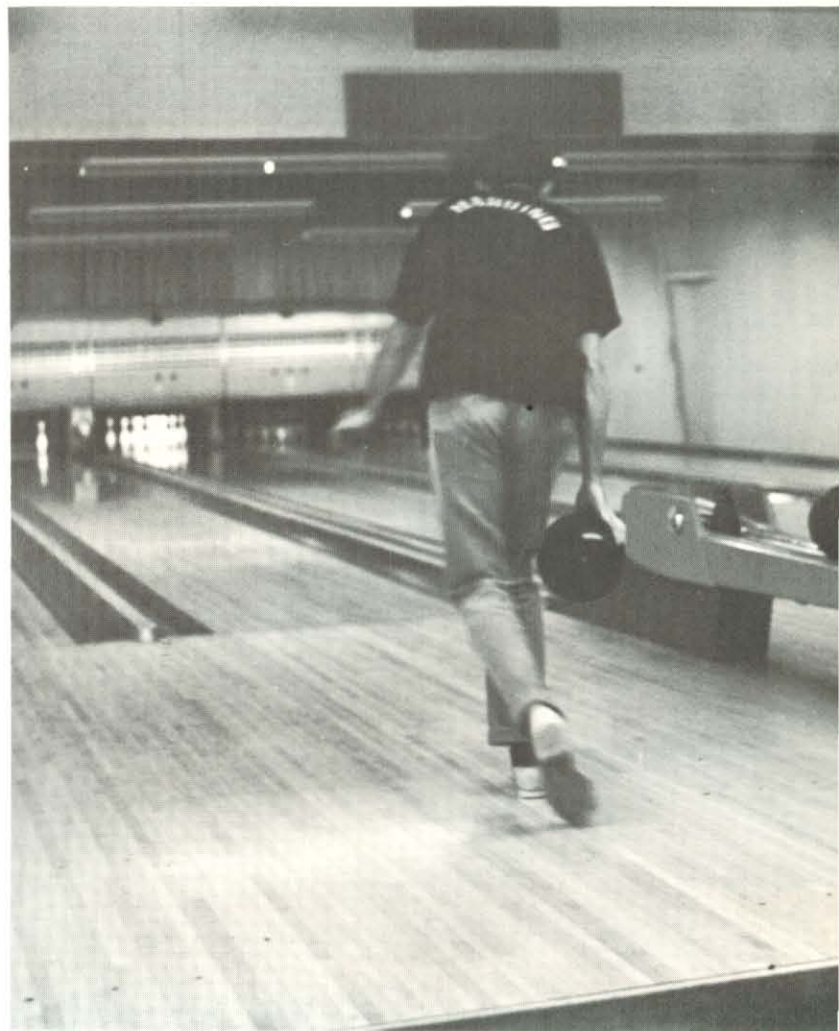

EXTENDING their bodies in a leap for the rebound, Walter Cunningham and James Penrod compete fiercely for the right to control the basketball.

CLUB football championships are won on such plays as this, as halfback Bob Percy circles end behind his brother's blocking for a touchdown.

INITIAL contact by defender Bill Womac, which jarred the football loose from the intended receiver, resulted in an interference penalty.

THE Harding intramural program is widely varied; among the various competitive sports, bowling has become an increasingly popular sport.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

Competition is the key to women's intramurals

EYES CLOSED, body erect for impact, mouth agape; Ann Haynes flies through the air with the greatest of ease in the girls' intramural broad jump.

The Harding women's program, which centers around the three major activities of volleyball, basketball and track, is directed by Marge Ryan. She cheerfully organizes the play for the interested girls and even participates in many of the contests in order to sharpen the competition.

Competition, which is the key to any good intramural program, was intense as members of the women's social clubs vied for annual sports awards. Marie Laird was selected as the Intramural Athlete of the Year. Her selection was a real honor, as the women's intramural program had many good choices for the annual award.

Individual contests vary from tennis matches to basketball free throws. The women who amass the greatest amount of points for the contests are awarded jackets and trophies at the climax of the sporting year in a chapel program.

Continuous expansion of the range of activities that the women can participate in, always assures the program of a yearly growth in contestants. The spirit and activity of the program, which cannot be found or surpassed anywhere else, is a prime reason for the success of women's intramurals.

CAUGHT in the middle, the volleyball doesn't have much chance but to do the bidding of Barbara Williams and Mary Rogers and go over the net.

FIRING up a shot from in close, Barbara Thompson closes the scoring gap for her team during a fast struggle between two women's basketball teams.

DISCUS instead of a dish in her hands, Naita Jean Berryhill gets set to see how far she can throw this unfamiliar object of masculinity.

AHEAD of the field by a large margin in the 100 yard dash, Sharon Wisener sets a school record for the event in women's club action.

GROUP participation and enthusiasm stimulate tension-filled contests, which highlighted the intramural program provided for women's recreation.

BAREFOOTED and showing unusual form, Jill Graddy manages to clear the high jump bar, which qualifies her to remain in the competition.

VARSITY CLUB

Honorary lettermen's society promotes athletics

The Varsity Club at Harding, an honorary organization, is composed of the Bison athletes who have lettered in one of the nine intercollegiate sports in which the college participates. The club's purpose is to encourage high standards for the lettermen and to promote athletics.

HONORED guest at the first football pep rally, Benny, Harding's new Bison mascot, looks on with obvious pleasure at the rooters.

EYEING the letterjackets for which they will be measured, freshman Jerry Cherry holds an old jacket for John Broderhausen and Phil New.

CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleading squad sparks school's enthusiasm

Excellence in representing the school and leading the students in cheering for each of the Bison teams was the main characteristic of the 1964-65 cheerleaders.

However, excellence in anything is not easily found and cheerleading is no exception. The measure of precision and timing achieved by this year's cheerleaders was the result of many long hours of practice with sessions each afternoon.

Memphian Vickie Mitchell led this year's squad with charm and dedication in getting the most out of the other willing cheerleaders. The often demanding schedule left the cheerleaders breathless and behind in studies, but they were always at the Bison games stimulating spirit with cheers for a victory.

Tragedy almost struck once during the year for the squad and sponsor Dr. Pryor in the form of a highway accident en route to an out-of-town ball game. Fortunately no one was injured in the mishap.

SCHOOL SPIRIT rallies around the various members of the cheerleaders as sports come into their season, like this football rally in early September.

LEADING the crowds in their cheers for the Bisons, Vickie Mitchell leaps to climax a yell.

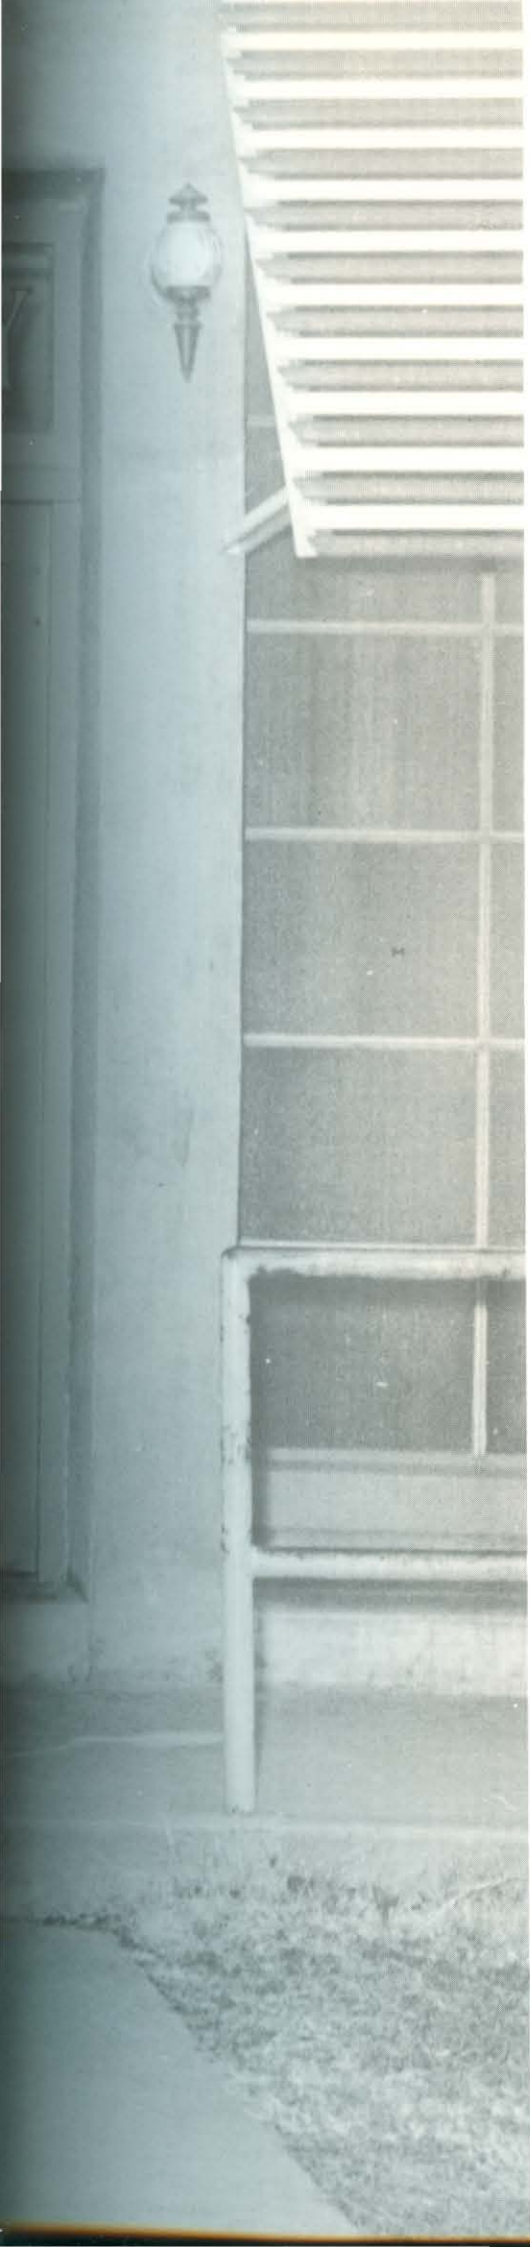

CHEERLEADERS. Karen Hardy, Sherry Balthrop, Vickie Mitchell, Sharon Burris, Karen Warren, Kathy Balthrop.

SYMMETRICALLY arranged in perfect precision, the exuberant Bison cheerleaders bring the crowd to life with an exhilarating cheer.

FACULTY

Sacrifice and patience germinate learning skills

Endeavoring to maintain the high standards of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Harding Academy provides an excellent faculty to guide the elementary students as well as the students in high school.

Striving to bring the reality of Christian education to all who desire it, the busy faculty members help to sponsor many extracurricular activities, bringing their sterling examples of Christian life to the students in and out of the classroom.

TEACHING several classes as well as administrating, are but two of the many jobs handled well by Academy Principal J. E. Berryhill in a day.

DEDICATION

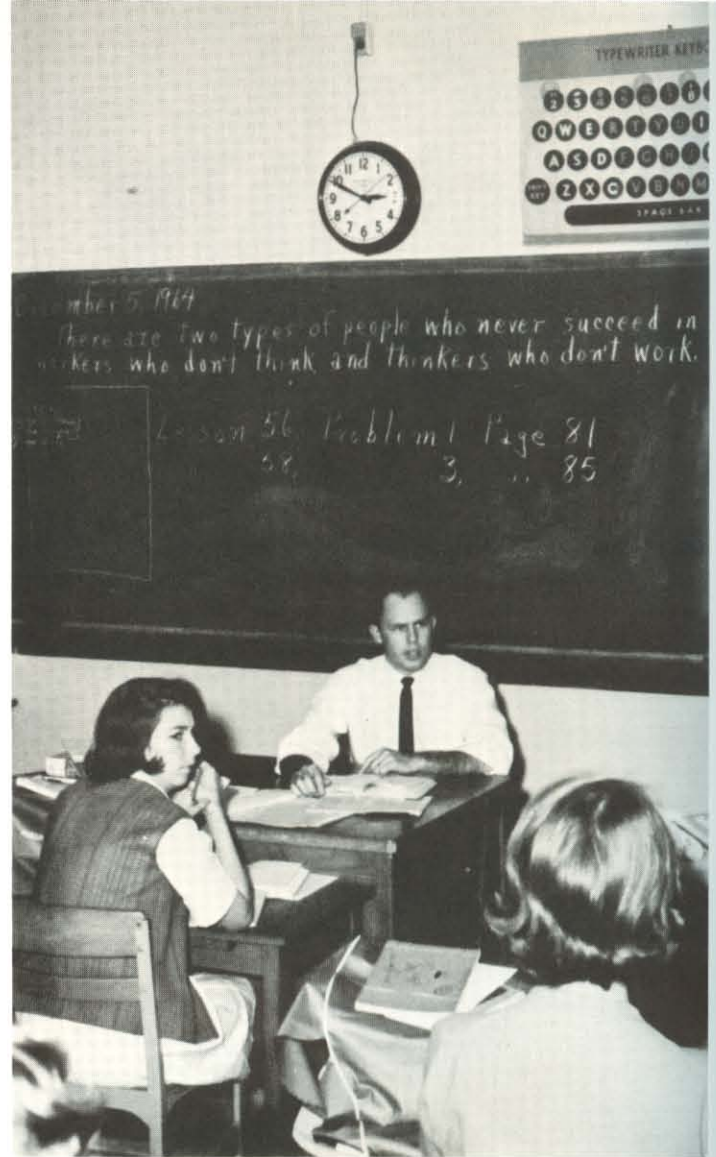

Winning smile speaks well for class-honored instructor

Many of us gained a better understanding of the business world in his classes. Under his guidance we not only learned the mechanics of typing and shorthand, but we also found a clearer understanding of the Christian way of life. Because his cheery attitude has done so much for the Academy, and because of his deep interest in each of us as individuals, we, the senior class of 1965, dedicate our portion of the Petit Jean to Mr. Bill Diles.

Having taught in the Academy for several years, Mr. Diles joined the regular faculty in the fall of 1963. A 1956 graduate of Harding College, Mr. Diles previously taught in the schools at Williford, Ark., his high school alma mater.

In August of 1964 he was married to the former Billie LaFerney, a receptionist at the Research Center.

MR. BILL DILES, MA

CLASSES under Mr. Diles are enjoyable as well as instructive because of his natural teaching ability and his cheerful attitude and Christian ideals.

RECENTLY married to the former Billie LaFerney, Mr. Diles is affectionately fed a piece of the never-to-be-forgotten wedding cake by his smiling bride.

DEVELOPING creative skills in the homemaking arts, Academy girls are shown sewing for a class assignment under the direction of Miss Berryhill.

ACADEMIC LIFE

Students recognize challenges and opportunities

The Harding Academy offers an academic life that presents countless opportunities to the broadening of the mind.

The Academy student is able to explore all the phases of life that might interest him as a craving for knowledge is satisfied through basic courses in many phases of math, science, literature and art. The door to the business world can be opened through courses in shorthand, typing, and office practice.

The musical talent of Academy students is tapped through the inspiring chorus and its activities. Academic and special interest clubs are available to students who wish to further a special interest.

The academic life of the Academy provides a rich diet of study for the student who hungers for knowledge.

OFFERED a variety of subjects and activities in the Academy, Bruce Henson chooses a course furthering his skills on the drawing board.

The Academy offers growth through experience

PROVIDED with the opportunity of gaining valuable experience in public speaking, Gary Martin delivers a chapel speech before the student body.

Maintaining a wealth of well trained, experienced teachers and administrative personnel, the Academy produces an outstanding senior class of students each spring. Having been given the opportunity to participate in student leadership, athletic events, social activities, and academic challenges, each student can be well prepared to enter college with a creditable transcript.

The spiritual aspect of the Academy is seen in every day's activities, daily Bible classes, chapel devotionals, and chorus programs of hymns and spiritual songs. Thus this priceless heritage each Academy student is privileged to encounter prepares him for his role in life.

PRACTICAL application of principles demonstrated in class is an essential part of the learning process stressed in Mrs. Davis' chemistry class.

STUDENT LIFE

Extra - curricular activities mark student life

ATTRACTIVE Diane Stevens efficiently utilizes the card catalog in the Academy library, while checking references for a coming report.

Traditions play a very important role in the Harding Academy student's life. Daily chapel programs, Christmas and spring drama presentations, Homecoming, snack break, chorus trips and seven-thirty morning rehearsals, decorating the halls before a ballgame, pledge week, and Awards Day are just a few of the occurrences Academy students have experienced each year for several decades.

Student life at the Academy offers many clubs and organizations for student participation. Organizations meet twice a week, offering many valuable experiences in special interests and services, and social clubs provide an outlet for healthy fun.

ENTHUSIASTICALLY supporting their team, the Wildcat's boosters show spirited participation as they do a cheer after another Cat touchdown.

ANSWERING questions and getting books signed while wearing colorful attire is a part of a pledge week day, as Margaret Formby is finding out.

SUB-DEB

Sub-Debs have pleasant evening at 'Moon River'

The activities of pledge week came to an end with the initiation of nine new members. The candlelight ceremony was held at the home of Marian McClaren.

The Sub-Debs selected for their junior and senior beaux Phillip Elliott and Bruce Henson, respectively, and Bill Diles was honored as "Teacher of the Year."

MUSIC GROUPS

Music, an integral part of Academy activities

ENTHUSIASTIC A Cappella members receive valuable musical training in rehearsals under the able direction of their conductor, Professor Larry Bills.

The Academy A Cappella chorus, under the direction of Mr. Larry Bills, furthered the fine traditions of music the Academy has maintained in the past. Admittance into the chorus is through tryouts. The chorus took two tours this year into Missouri and other bordering states.

The District Choral Festival was under the direction of Mr. Bills this year and was held on the Harding College campus. The A Cappella was given a rating of "1" by all three judges.

The Large Chorus is designed for all Academy students interested in chorus work. No tryouts are necessary for participation.

The Junior Chorus gives junior high school students the opportunity for experience in choral work in preparation for later work in high school. Several programs were presented by this group through the year.

The Beta Club stands for achievement, character, and leadership. In order to be a member a student must maintain a "90" average or above for two consecutive six-week periods. Buying a frame for the senior composite and a club breakfast at the end of the year for all members are projects of the Beta Club.

A really good newspaper was the reward received by the Wildcat staff for their hard work and perservance. Under the capable editorship of Jenene Hart, the Wildcat has been a source of pride to the entire school. Time and effort was spent by editor Pattie Sue Sears and assistant editor Kittena Puckett, with assistance from the college staff, in planning and organizing the Academy section of the Petit Jean.

Industry and diligence rewarded in achievement

The duties of the Library Club members are working in the Academy library under the supervision of Mrs. Irma Welch. The Science Club explores scientific interests outside of the classroom work.

The Junior Beta Club is open to junior high school students maintaining a high scholastic average, and organizes programs and activities during the year.

The Future Homemakers of America, under the sponsorship of Naita Berryhill, engaged in projects, district and state meetings, and their annual banquet. Thespians helped in the production of drama activities during the year.

Two new organizations formed at the beginning of this year were the Future Business Leaders of America, sponsored by Mr. Bill Diles, and the Junior Civitan Club, operating for many of the same purposes as the boys' Key Club.

The Pep Club's main goal is to arouse the school spirit and support the teams. The junior and senior cheerleaders were an active part in the network of school life. Among the duties of the Pep Club, under the leadership of Juanita Cain, was the decoration of the halls for each football game and preparation of the homecoming activities including the victory feast. Pep rallies before the ballgames were another section of activities sponsored by the Pep Club.

The Junior and Senior Key Clubs are dedicated to serving the school. Each year they work to raise money for different projects for the Academy. Their supervisor is Mr. Mason, the superintendent of the school.

The Citizenship Club, organized as a type of student government, strives hard to promote a better student-teacher relationship.

Bruce Henson

Bruce Henson is active in many phases of Academy life. He is president of the senior class, active in the A Cappella chorus and has participated in football, basketball, and track. He is truly an asset to Harding Academy.

Quiet, unassuming Sandra Green has well earned the respect of the students. She is a class officer, president of her social club, a member of the A Cappella chorus and a favorite of her class and the entire student body.

ACADEMY FOOTBALL

Tough schedule seasons players for future games

COACH Ed Higginbotham shouts encouragement in instruction to his team on the field as the boys on the sideline profit through observation.

Under the leadership of Coach Ed Higginbotham in his first year as head coach, the Wildcats were hurt by the lack of depth and experience, and the record dropped considerably from last year's 10-0. The first game showed six boys starting that had never played high school football. However, from the start of the season the team showed a great determination and a will to win.

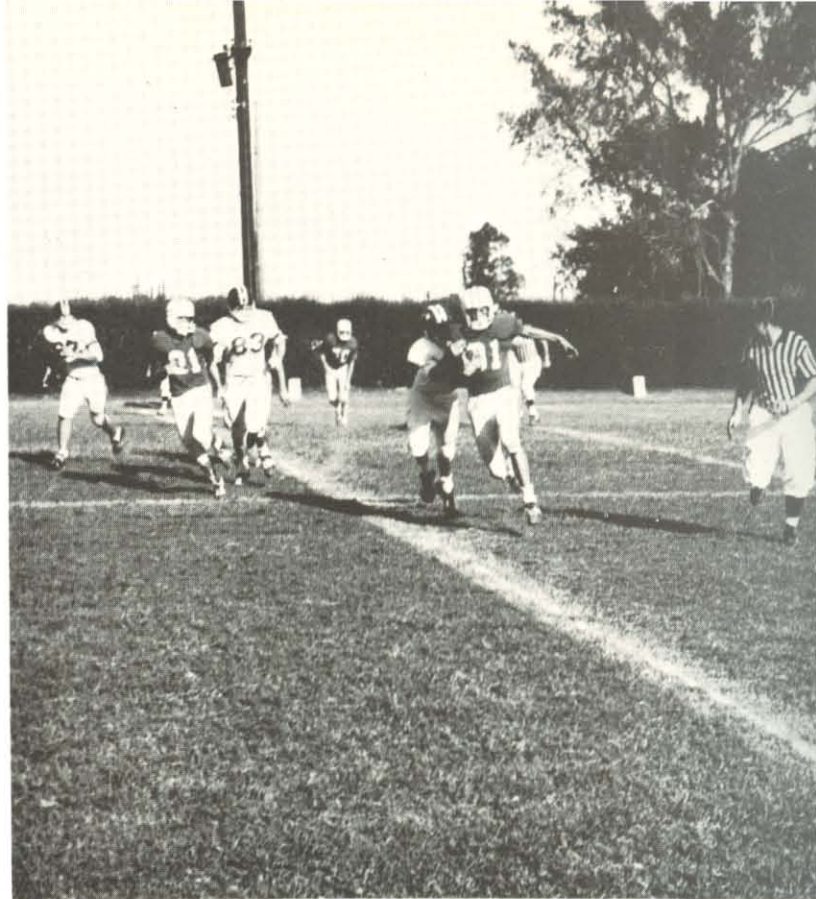

The highlight of the season was the Wildcats' hard fought 7-6 homecoming victory over Clinton which constituted their only victory of the year.

Although this year's record was not an impressive one, the fans showed great school spirit and their never say die attitude by filling the stands at every game.

Three of the Wildcats were placed on the All-District Squad. They were Jerry Moore, James Bixler, and Dick Berryhill. James Bixler and Dick Berryhill both received All-State honorable mention.

ATTEMPTING to circle his own left end, Bruce Henson runs into a little more interference from the opposing team than he had bargained for.

AIR POWER in the Wildcats' attack is provided by halfback Bruce Henson as he breaks into the open to pull down a short, high pass.

BRUTAL defense by Harding Academy defenders Bruce Henson and James Bixler punish the opposing runner from Harding's Academy in Memphis.

PURSUIT and gang tackling were two of the major strong points of the 1964 edition of the Wildcats, as they demonstrate their skill on opponents.

POINTING out the needed adjustments in the academy attack to Center Dick Berryhill, Coach Ed Higginbotham utilizes all his time out.

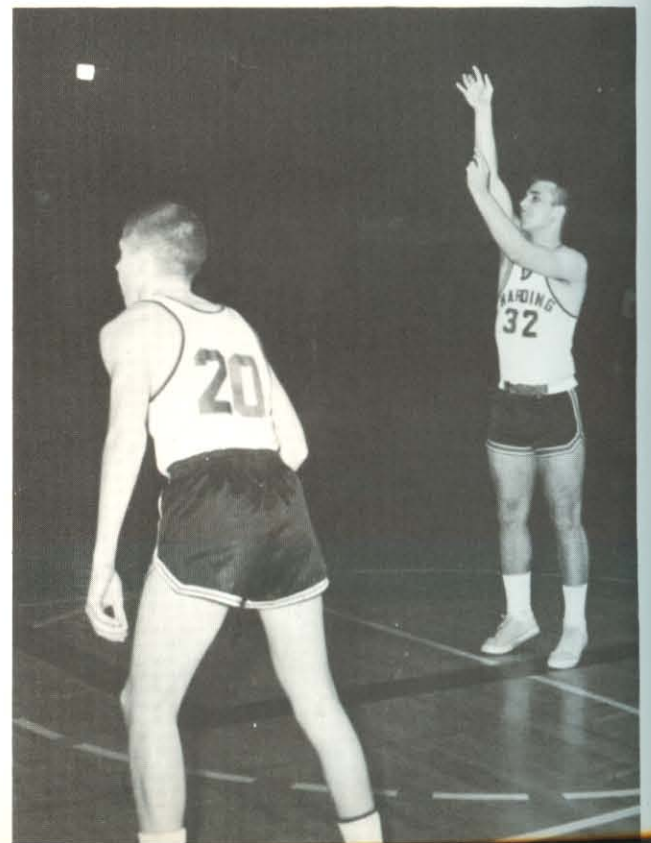

JUMPING high above their opponents, Harding Academy's big men, Dick Berryhill and Phil Elliott, along with unidentified teammate, control the ball.

BASKETBALL

Academy basketball provides fans many thrills

The Wildcats, after losing their head basketball coach, Ted Lloyd, to the college last spring, came through with another winning season under the able supervision and leadership of their new coach, Ed Higginbotham. The over-all spirit and cooperation of the team members were major factors in achieving victory.

The Wildcats did well in the County Tournaments but were put down by Pangburn in the first game of the District Tournament by a two point margin in an overtime.

The Cats were spurred on to victory by their many fans who attended every game. The spirited fans encouraged hustle and team effort as well as fair play until the final buzzer.

Senior Dick Berryhill and junior Phillip Elliott of the Wildcat squad were named to the All-County team.

The only senior on the team was Dick Berryhill, and fans have high hopes of an even better record for the Academy in the 1965-66 season.

STRUGGLING for rebound Harding Academy's David Rheinbolt tries to gain possession of the ball from Pangburn's high jumping forward.

TRACK

Outstanding tracksters produce state champions

OBLIVIOUS to the strain on his body, Kent Smith gives all of his energy to speeding over the hurdles in an effort to win the state in class B.

1964 TRACK TEAM. FRONT ROW: Smith. SECOND ROW: Coach Lloyd, Henson, King, Pulley, Lawyer. THIRD ROW: Sears, Bridgeman, Pace, Risinger. FOURTH ROW: Street, Berryhill, Ely.

The Harding Academy trackmen, under the new coaching staff of Ed Higginbotham and Cliff Sharp, face the coming season with determination and their usual will to win.

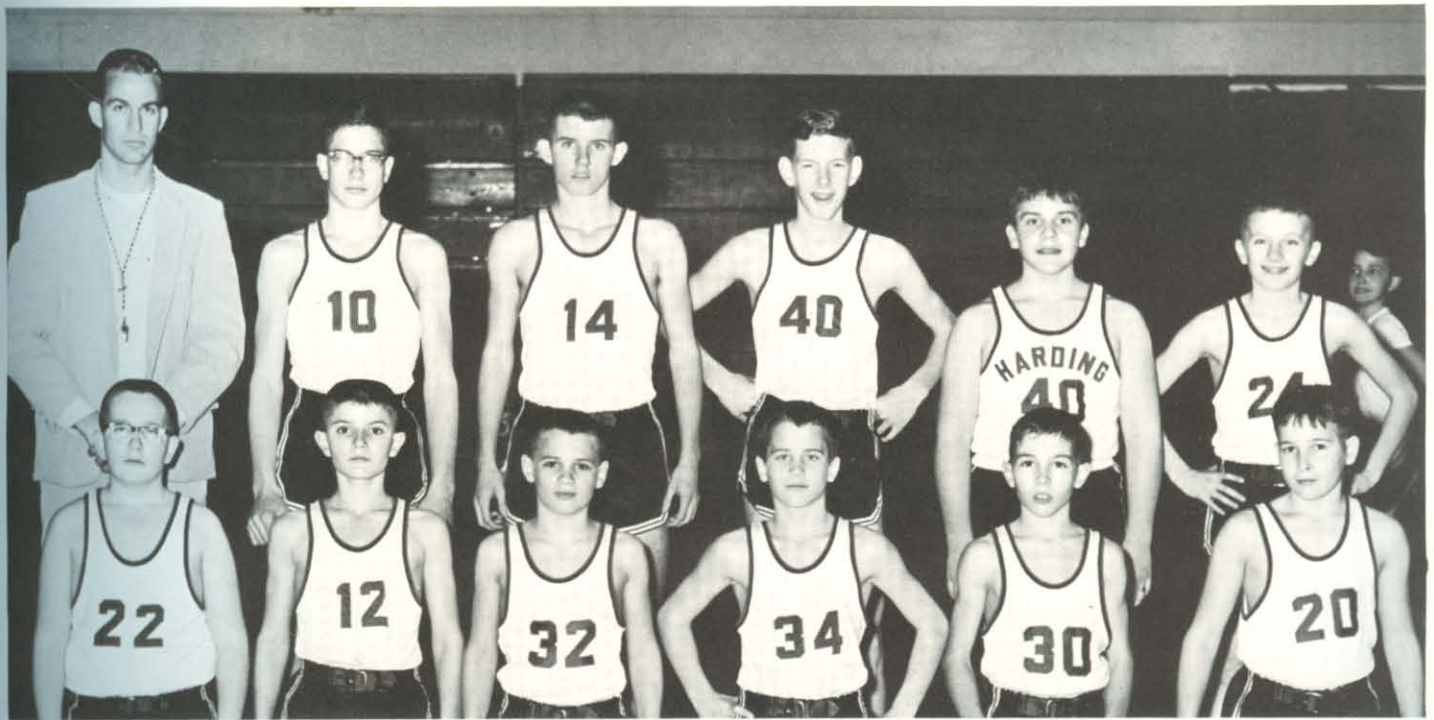

The Wildcats' high hopes rest on last year's returning lettermen. They are Dick Berryhill, Bruce Henson, Jerry Moore, Cesar Leal, Mike Hedrick, James Bixler, and Freddie King.

Miler Bruce Henson is back to run his last year for Harding, and many feel he will be more outstanding this year than last year. Bruce last year was a star attraction after he broke the state record for the mile, only to finish a close second in a photo finish at the State meet in Conway.

During the 1964 season, the Wildcats won both the County and District track meets with ease, and then took the State B meet with a large margin. The Wildcats set a state record in the mile relay, and last year's senior, Kent Smith, broke the state 440-yard dash record.

EDGED out by a scant hair, Harding's Bruce Henson still turns in a record time and piles up valuable points.

Seniors of 1965 exemplify leadership and spirit

SUB-DEB SPIRIT AWARD

DICK BERRYHILL

Excelling in many areas, Dick Berryhill has been chosen by his classmates as the student who best typifies the true spirit of Harding Academy. Dick, through his expert leadership, personality and conduct is the example of the type of sincere Christian who is the ideal Academy student. Dick, an outstanding athlete, was named to the 1964 2-B All-District football team, and attained the rank of honorable mention of the Class "B" All-State team. He has been active in the A Cappella Chorus, and has been a member of the boy's quartet. A class officer for three years, Dick is a natural leader in all phases of his school life. Whether on a basketball court or in the classroom, Dick shows the alertness that has made him a favorite among his classmates.

THESE hands are representative of the hands of seniors that carry the responsibilities of the Academy, upholding their priceless heritage.

DEDICATING their part of the Petit Jean to the teacher of their choice is one of the many activities each senior class engages in every year.

Remembering the events of the past year .

which have led to the production of the 1965 Petit Jean, one thought stands out over all the rest — that a wholesale sacrifice of time, energy, and ingenuity are required of many more people than you can believe are willing. However, people are willing — willing to give up weekend trips, precious study hours, sleep, holidays and most important of all, themselves! It is indeed gratifying to the regular staff members, when events crowd together too closely as they are prone to do on occasion, to be able to find friends who are always ready and willing to shoulder any part of the burden they can.

Friends come in many sizes and shapes — there doesn't seem to be any particular physical characteristic that distinguishes them. However, one thing is common to all of them, and that is that they are willing to face a challenging job without flinching. Some are members of the official staff, some are members of a sort of unofficial staff, and others are interested friends who have volunteered to work when things got desperate, but all have done a very demanding and often tedious job with a smile and a spirit and a zest that has amazed and brightened the task of those of us who work more or less full time on the annual. We owe our thanks to all, from Dr. Joe to the youngest member of the staff, to our friends who have all made our last year the best and most rewarding ever.

The last final,
The bell's last toll,
The last step on campus,
Details drift away,
Petit Jean pages alone
Jog memories we have
As symbols of '65.
