Alumni entertain freshmen

Class of '55 gets acquainted with Association at opening party

Members of the class of '55 were welcomed to their new Alma Mater by the Alumni Association at a party held in the Emerald Room of the Student Center on the evening of September 14. The room was decorated with bouquets of fall flowers. Above a large basket of golden rod was a placard saying "Welcome Class of '55." An arrangement of multi-colored zinnias was used for the centerpiece on the table where punch and cookies were served.

The new students were greeted by officers of the Association: Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., '43, Joe Pryor, '37, Annie May Alston, '39, and Sallie Ellis Hockaday Benson, '25. Assisting in the entertaining were Louise Nicholas Ganus, '42, Bessie Mae Ledbetter Pryor, '46, Pearl Latham, '30, Patsy Burch, '49, and several students, including the "Big Sisters" of freshman girls. Refreshments were served by Betty Kell Cook and Jeanette Norris Baggett, '50.

A musical program was arranged by Erle T. Moore, associate professor of music. He was assisted by Bill Cook, '49, Glenn Fulbright, Bob Morris and Andy T. Ritchie. Mrs. Erle Moore was accompanist for the vocal numbers. The program closed with Andy Ritchie leading the new Hardingites in singing their favorite songs and learning the Alma Mater.

This party was a part of orientation week activities for the 225 freshmen who enrolled in Harding College on September 20. Also, it was a part of the Alumni Association's expanding program of greater service. Believing that good alumni relations begin the day a student enters school, the Association plans to cooperate and help student activities throughout each year.

Professor Ritchie helped freshmen learn to sing the Alma Mater.

Honorary alumni

Harding College awarded the honorary LL.D. degree to John Price Jones, president of the John Price Jones Company, New York, at chapel exercises Sept. 20. He is the twenty-first person to become an honorary alumnus of Harding College.

One of the nation's foremost public relations counselors, Jones was honored in recognition of his service to education, especially in the field of organized fund raising. He is credited with the development of a sound program of giving used by many American philanthropic institutions.

Through the years Harding, as a liberal arts college, has sought out for such honor men whose public service, personal achievements, and contributions to some phase of American life merit special recognition.

Honorary alumni of Harding College include:

Eldon A. Hutchinson, '30, Robert C. Bell, '31, O. E. Hatcher, '33, Jesse P. Sewell, '34, William P. Strait, '34, G. C. Brewer, '35, E. H. Ijams, '36, Sterling Morton, '39, Batsell Barrett Baxter, Sr., '39, Samuel B. Pettengill, '42, G. H. P. Showalter, '42, William E. Street, '47, Thomas H. Barton, '48, Lamar Fleming, '48, Charles R. Hook, '49, and Harry R. Kendall, '51.

President's Corner

By Clifton L. Ganus, Jr.

ANOTHER SCHOOL YEAR HAS BEGUN and it is good to be back on the Harding campus. An absence of two years has made me appreciate it more than ever, and it is good to be back in the harness again.

May I spend just a few minutes telling you some of the things we accomplished in 1950-51 and a few of the things we hope to do this year?

We spent more time finding "lost" alumni than in any other activity last year. It was a profitable undertaking. Names in the "active" file were increased from 2400 to 3,167, but there are still many names in the "inactive" file far too many. If you know of a former student who is not receiving the Alumni News and other communications from the Alumni Office, why not write his name and address on a card and mail it to us? During the past year many of you helped us find the "lost" and we appreciate your assistance.

The Alumni Office carried on several valuable studies during the year. A survey revealed that a very large per cent (29.5) of Harding graduates have received advanced degrees from 36 colleges and universities in 20 states. There were 140 graduates with Master's degrees; 13 with Doctor of Philosophy degrees; two lawyers; five medical doctors; and two dentists. Graduates of Harding, at the time of the study were employed in 67 different occupations, with 34.4 per cent in the teaching profession; 15.2 per cent housewives; 12.3 per cent ministers; and 3.6 per cent missionaries. Similar studies are planned for former students who did not graduate, so if questionnaires come your way, please fill them out and return them. This information is useful to the college in many ways.

Through your generosity the project to raise money to buy furniture for the Alumni Office was completely successful. You who've been on the campus recently have seen how well your money was spent, and all of you know that you are welcome to make this office your headquarters every time you visit the college. Please come often.

Last year was successful in chapter organization activities. Nine new chapters were set up and officers elected. They are: Wichita, Memphis, Tulsa, Dallas-Fort Worth, Fort Smith, Florence, Birmingham, and Oklahoma City. We hope to do much more of this sort of work this year.

The chapter organizations and many other alumni did a commendable job in directing new students to Harding. Alumni cooperation with the college in student recruitment is one reason why Harding was able to keep up its enrollment at a time when the majority of schools are having decreases of 10 per cent or more. In the college there are 614 students—only one less than last year. Keep up the good work!

Be sure to read the financial report in this issue of the News. You will notice that 455 alumni gave a total of $6,323.83. This is a decided increase over past years and I hope it is the beginning of generous, annual giving to Harding College. Now that the new buildings are becoming a reality all our efforts must go toward making available to Harding the funds needed to operate this fine new plant for maximum service. The responsibility for helping Harding grow and develop rests upon our shoulders as alumni. This is not just a responsibility, but an opportunity for service to Harding and the students attending now; service to Harding and the generations yet to come. We have experienced the joy of Christian education and we must be sure that the ideals and goals of Harding College are passed on to our children and our children's children.

It is wonderful to receive the Alumni News and read of the doings of people I knew when I was at Harding. . . . We have 375 students of our own. . . . Results from our efforts have been good. Baptisms have steadily increased over previous years. . . . The Africans are rapidly developing into the White man's ways in this district. It is our prayer that the few we are able to influence will rapidly develop into thinking Christians. . . .

Our second son, John Douglas, was born on August 10. Robert, our other son, is nearing three years old.

Like most others, I would like to get back to Arkansas, and home, if only for a short time. . . . If you have any material that you'd like to send, it will be appreciated, as Christian literature is somewhat scarce here.

Among your lost alumni (Alumni News, August) I noticed the name of A. D. Gardner. Perhaps this is David Gardner of Dove Creek, Colorado. His wife was Marilyn Colley who taught at Harding in 1931-32. She is teaching in the Dove Creek schools and Dave runs a garage and machine shop there. This is the same Dave Gardner who was in Harding when I was in 1926-27. . . . I am office manager for the Abilene City Water Department.

I don't know whether I am considered an alumnus of Harding or not, but now I'm stuck in this place called Korea and I'd like to know what is going on around the old school. I never quite realized what Harding College meant to me until I couldn't come back in September.

I was no model student but I really did absorb a lot of the attitudes and ideals of the place. Just how many is becoming more apparent every day.

If someone there would write occasionally I would appreciate it very much.

Please change my address from Quantico, Virginia to the above. My husband was transferred to the Marine Air Base at El Tore in August and we bought a home here soon after we arrived. This will be my address for a while, at least, since I plan to remain in Santa Ana after my husband goes over seas. I have Myrene in kindergarten this year.

Please tell all the GATA's I enjoyed the GATA letter so much. My regards to everyone and I am so happy that Harding is expanding and progressing so rapidly.

Alumni-to-be raze building

A crew of 50 students, volunteer workers recruited by the Student Association, razed the one-story brick building which housed the Elementary Training School in a week's time. Their work saved the college approximately $1,000.

Now that the Training School building has been razed, new Cathcart Hall, girls' dormitory, is visible from the front campus.

Biennial election announced

Nominations are open for the offices of president and vice president of the Harding College Alumni Association for the 1952-53 term. Names of four candidates have been submitted by the Nominating Committee for these positions.

Each alumnus may nominate one person for president and two for vice president. Name of the person receiving the largest number of nominations for president and the two persons receiving the largest number of nominations for vice president will appear on the ballot (provided they are willing to serve if elected) with those submitted by the Nominating Committee. The deadline for nominations from the membership is February 1, 1952.

Candidates nominated by the Nominating Committee are: Jack Wood Sears, '40, for president; and Rex Westerfield, Jr., '49, Billy Norris, '35, and Charles Cranford, '51, for vice president.

The official ballot will be distributed to members by May 1, 1952, and voting ends at noon Commencement Day.

Members of the Nominating Committee are: Esther Marie Clay Yingling, '42, James B. Kinney, '49, and J. Clifford Huddleston, '36.
