Workmen pour concrete at the site of the new athletic field. In the background can be seen part of the completed curb which rings the eight-lane quarter-of-a-mile track.

Work progresses on Alumni Field

On the sunny days of the last two weeks a crew of workmen have been busy building the forms and pouring the concrete curbs for the eight-lane quarter-of-a-mile cinder track that is being built on Alumni Field. This track will provide straightaways for the 100-yard dash and the 120-yard high hurdles to finish in front of the bleachers. Inside the track will be located a football field which will be used currently for intramural rag-tag football and eight-man tackle football.

Just east of the track two tennis courts concreted from fence to fence will be constructed and bleachers will be provided for contests. When these courts are not in use by the tennis team, they will be available for intramural or open play use.

The baseball field has been leveled and 14 loads of river sand have been mixed with the clay on the infield. After the dirt has settled through the winter months, a few days' work will put the baseball field in good shape. The right field fence is 350 feet from home plate while left field and center field extend more than 450 feet from the plate. Batting cages will be provided along the two side lines to facilitate practice and warm-up periods for a game.

Alumni Field is being constructed about two blocks from Armstrong Hall behind the location of the former Harding College Concrete Industries. The building for the block plant can be converted quite easily into dressing rooms for the above-mentioned sports.

Alumni Field is being constructed with funds raised from alumni for this purpose and matched by the Board of Trustees. At the spring meeting the members of the Board agreed to match up to $5,000 funds raised by alumni. At the time of this writing, approximately $3,000 has been received from alumni. Additional appeals have been made. Alumni who have not yet contributed to this project should do so at

Formby receives '58-60 nomination

The Nominating Committee composed of Beulah Moudy (BA '49), Ordis Copeland (BA '46), Dale Larsen (BA '45), Rex Westerfield (BA '49) and Annie Mae Alston (BA '39), chairman, have nominated Dr. Thomas Adrian Formby ('44) for president of the Harding College Alumni Association for 1958-60. For the three vice-presidential offices they have nominated Glenn Boyd (BA '52, MA '53), Virgil Bentley (BA '43) and Wyatt Sawyer (BA '47).

Each member of the Association is urged to submit one additional nomination for president and two additional nominations for vice-president. The name of the alumnus with the largest number of nominations from the field and the names of the two alumni nominated the largest number of times will appear on the election ballot with the names of those candidates nominated by the committee. Nominations must be made by Feb. 1, 1958, and forms will be mailed to each alumnus for this purpose.

Dr. Formby is associated with Hawkins Clinic Hospital in Searcy and takes an active part in the work of the college church. He is currently serving as second vice-president of the Association. Mrs. Formby is the former Mary McCullough ('44). Glenn Boyd is preaching for the church in South Point, Ohio, and Mrs. Boyd, nee Shirley Pegan (BA '52) is an elementary teacher. Virgil Bentley is preaching for the Culbertson Heights Church in Oklahoma City, and his wife is the former Ann French (BS '42). Wyatt Sawyer is preaching for the Pecan Park congregation in Houston, Texas. Mrs. Sawyer is the former Christine Neal (BS '45).

President Corner

By Dr. Joseph E. Pryor (BA, BS '37)

This fall more than three million students enrolled in the colleges and universities of our nation. In 1900 the total college population was only 238,000. By 1965, only eight years hence, it has been estimated that more than five million students will be attending college. More and more professions are requiring a college education as the minimum requirement for entrance and the amount of material that must be assimilated by a young person entering the "learned" professions like medicine and engineering is increasing.

The enrollment at Harding for the fall semester has passed the thousand mark for college students for the first time in the history of the college. Approximately half of these students are new to the Harding campus. The majority of these new students are freshmen, but a large number of juniors have entered Harding after graduating from one of the junior colleges operated by our brethren. We are deeply thankful for the increased interest in Christian education and for the growing spirit of co-operation that exists among "our" schools. We are truly engaged in a common cause and the job that we have to do is tremendous.

During the past week George Gurganus (BA '39, MA '54) spoke three days in chapel on carrying the gospel to other nations. George recently returned from Japan and on his return trip visited missionaries in various parts of Asia, Africa, and Europe. A number of these attended Harding, and other alumni are currently making preparation to sail. Several current students are planning to do mission work. Some of these plan to give full time to evangelization while others plan to support themselves as engineers, doctors, teachers or in some other professional capacity while they evangelize.

Let me take this opportunity to thank each one of you who has contributed to the fund for Alumni Field. As for me and my house, we shall be glad in future years to realize that we had a part making this facility possible. If you have forgotten to send in your contribution, please do so at once so that we can reach our goal of $5,000 by Nov. 20. Remember that the Board is matching what we raise up to this amount. Checks have been received for $25, $200, $5, $50, $1, $10 and $100. Several have pledged $50 or more and are making payments of $5 a month for ten months. If you have not already had a part in this undertaking, don't you want to do so now?

I appreciate very much the work of the Nominating Committee and I think they have nominated an excellent slate of candidates. According to our constitution nominations are to be made from the field. I hope that you will take an active interest in making additional nominations.

This year the annual lectureship is being held during the week of Thanksgiving. An excellent series of lectures has been planned and a special barbecue dinner is planned for noon on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 28. A Coffee Hour for alumni will be held in the Emerald Room of Ganus Student Center on Thursday from 8:00 a.m. until time for the first lectures to begin. I hope to see a large number of you at this time.

Huddleston serves God and country

Hardingites of the mid-thirties will recall a tall, dignified, athletic boy named Clifford Huddleston (BA '36) who hailed from Nashville, Tenn., and a quiet, charming, blonde by the name of Evelyn Williams ('39) of Alamo, Tenn.

Clifford and Evelyn were married in San Diego, Calif. in September of 1939 and presently live in Boston, Mass., where he is now a Commander in the U. S. Naval Air Force and is a Chief Staff Officer of the Atlantic Reserve Fleet on board the USS Colleton and is Commanding Officer of Enlisted Personnel.

Clifford's service career has taken the Huddlestons to Hawaii and the Philippines as well as several different states, and their four children were born in three different states and a foreign country.

During the twenty years that Commander Huddleston has been in the USNAF, he has been active as a Christian, helping to establish congregations in some of the Pacific islands, strengthening weak congregations, serving as a deacon in more than one congregation, and encouraging young men in the service to live faithful Christian lives.

He has been associated with missionaries in Tokyo, Manila, Honolulu, Baguio City in Luzon, and Zamboango. The Huddlestons recently moved from Colorado Springs, Colo., where Clifford was a deacon in the Central Church of Christ.

When he retires from the service, they plan to locate near a Christian college so that their children can receive a Christian education.

School mates will remember Clifford as president of the 1936 senior class and as an outstanding swimmer. In recent years he became adept at skin diving during duty in the Pacific. He also participated in wrestling and track as a Harding student.

After receiving his B.A. in business administration, Clifford taught one year and then became an aviation cadet at Pensacola, Fla., receiving his wings in 1938. He served on various aircraft carriers such as the Enterprise, Long Island, and Yorktown. After World War II he was Commanding Officer of Carrier Aircraft Service Unit Twenty-Seven until 1948, Commanding Officer for two years of the Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron Two, in the office of the Chief of Naval Operations at Washington, D. C., for two years, and then Executive Officer in the U. S. Naval Station in the Philippines for two and a half years before being transferred back to the states.

In Colorado Springs he was on the joint staff of Gen. Earle Partridge, Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Air Defense Command.

Kay Moser writes of prison ordeal

"Be A Man, Son" is a book by William Kay Moser (BA '57) that recently came from the press. The book is biographical in nature and describes the various ordeals that Kay underwent because of his conscientious objections to military service. On a technicality of law he was indicted and sentenced to serve a year in the federal prison at Seagoville, Tex. Most of the book was written during the latter weeks at Seagoville, and it merely presents the events that happened and the author's reaction to them rather than proposing arguments in favor of the stand that he took.

Kay enrolled as a freshman Bible major in the fall of 1949 with the ambition of becoming a preacher. His childhood and youth was spent in north Arkansas around Melbourne and Salem where he was influenced by Brother Joe Blue and other preachers of that region. At Harding Kay met Annabelle Johnson ('55) and they were married Sept. 4, 1953. They have a three-year-old daughter, Rebecca Kay.

During the summer of 1957 Kay returned to Harding to complete requirements for his BA degree. Following the summer commencement, Kay, Annabelle and Rebecca moved to York, Pa., where Kay is working hard at preaching the gospel.

He recently submitted another book to the publishers, a religious novel.

Kay Moser and family.

Groover readies Bisons for season

Coach Hugh Groover (BA '50) is working hard to round the Harding basketball team into shape for its opening game with Southern Baptist College of Walnut Ridge on Saturday, Nov. 23, in Rhodes Memorial Field House. This will be the first activity for the Bisons since intercollegiate sports were discontinued in 1939.

Although the team will be lacking in height and experience, it will be a team well-drilled in fundamentals and characterized by good ball-handling, accurate shooting, strong defense and lots of hustle.

Groover is known as a builder of men as well as trainer of athletes. His exemplary life and his insistence upon clean living and good sportsmanship make a tremendous impact upon the lives of the boys he works with.

Row 4: Joe Hightower, Jim Harding, Frank Underwood, Wallace Colson, Bill O'Daniel, Joel Gardner, Bob Schales, Durden Pierce, Bob Jones, J. R. Bailey.

Homecoming set during Lectures

Full-scale Homecoming activities, including a free Thanksgiving Barbecue on the Athletic Field, are scheduled for Lectureship Week Nov. 25-28.

Cleon Lyles, minister of the Sixth and Iazard Church of Christ, Little Rock, will open the 4-day series of lectures on "The New Life in Christ" with his address, "The Meaning of the New Life in Christ."

The Lectureship will feature 50 outstanding speakers, daily classes by members of Harding's Bible faculty and visiting teachers, and musical programs by the college's famed choral groups.

Evening speakers besides Brother Lyles are George W. Bailey, Reuel Lemmons, President Benson, and Marshall Keeble.

Thanksgiving Day an Alumni Coffee Hour will be held in the Emerald Room of Ganus Student Center, and at noon a free barbecue dinner will be served on the Athletic Field.

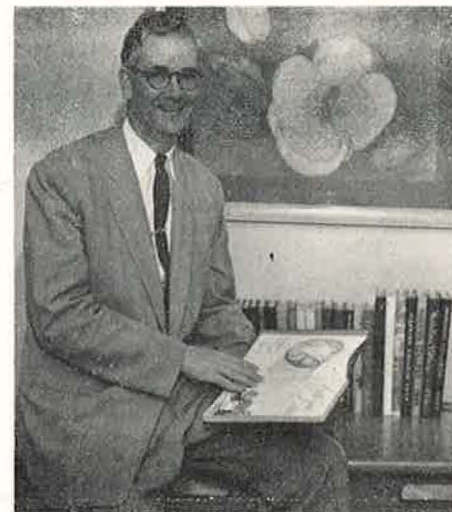

Placement News

The Placement Office has information on positions listed below. Details may be obtained from Dr. Roy Wellborne, director.

Horton, Kans. — English teacher, vocal music teacher, and business teacher. Salary for a beginning teacher is $3,000.

Vanndale, Ark. — High school mathematics teacher and high school principal. Salary is above state scale.

Memphis, Tenn. — Fifth grade teacher for Memphis Christian School.

While on campus recently George Gurganus (BA '39) renewed memories of 18 years ago by looking at the newly acquired copy of the '39 Petit Jean. George delivered a 3-day series of lectures to Harding students on mission work.

PJ file complete thanks to Alumni

Thanks to alumni Gene Koken and William Stokes, the Alumni Office now has a complete file on Petit Jeans.

Both read in the last Bulletin that the Office had received a copy of the '33 Petit Jean, leaving only the '39 annual missing from the files. Within a few days of one another Gene came by the campus and donated a copy of the '39 annual, and William sent one.

This gives the Office a complete file dating back to the first edition in 1925. Alumni are invited to drop by the Office when on campus and examine the Petit Jeans, which give an accurate chronicle of Harding's history.

Ben Niblock (BA '56) is business manager of the Gold Sox Baseball Club in Amarillo, Tex. A note from their score card reads, "Mr. Niblock is in charge of the many business and administrative duties entailed in running a baseball team. This is his first year and he is doing well."

Oscar Drake (BS '40) received his master of education degree in August from Central Washington College of Education, Ellensburg, Wash. He is now living in Port Orchard, Wash.

Gene (BA '40) and Gwendolyn Farmer (BA '46) Koken were in the office a few weeks ago, while on their annual trip to Arkansas to visit with Gwen's family. The purpose of their visit this time was to present the Alumni Office with a copy of the '39 Petit Jean.

Richardson Lynn ('51) is the Arkansas-Missouri representative for the Gordon Bernard Company (Cincinnati), publishers of the Community Birthday Calendar fund-raising plan. A quote from his recent letter, "I have been with this company since February '56 only shortly after the death of my first wife, LaVanda Fielder ('51) Lynn. On July 11, 1957, Myra R. Warren (a member of the Lepanto church of Christ, and a widow with 3 children) and I were married. With my 4 children, we have what could aptly be described as a 'houseful.'"

Frank ('59) and Joy Womack ('58) Gatlin are living in Paragould. Frank is working for Arrow Auto Parts and Joy is teaching at Crowley's Ridge Academy.

Nannie Joe Webb ('51) Meixner is in Grove City, Ohio. Her husband, Clovis, is an accountant with General Motors. They have two boys, Gary, 3, and Timmy, 18 months.

Windle (MA '53) and Barbara McFarland ('54) Kee have two children, Paul, three years, and Carl, 16 months. Carl was adopted in 1956. Windle is working with a new congregation now in Salisbury, Md.

A recent news item in the Arkansas Gazette announced the publication of a book by Helen Holland Graham ('43). Her first, it is a children's book about Mexican youngsters and a sleepy burro. Entitled "Taca, the Snoring Burro," it was selected by the Junior Literary Guild as an outstanding book for readers in the third and fourth grades. Helen and her husband and four children — two sons and two daughters — live near Portland, Ore.
