Campaign, Building Progress Reported Recently

Dr. George S. Benson told the student body January 21 that 65 percent, or $1,350,000, of the original goal of $2,000,000 had already been pledged for the Greater Harding Program for new buildings.

Alumni have given or pledged over half of their original goal. In the first year of the campaign over 1,700 alumni contributed, or about 30 percent, of the total membership.

Construction is progressing on the new American Heritage and Alumni Center. The target date for completion is slated for August, 1964. Seventy-five percent of the great beams and all of the piers have been put in for the foundation of the building.

The campaign is not over. Won't you help by filling in the blank on page 4.

The vast space pictured above doesn't quite show all of the area undergoing revision in an effort to complete Harding's $700,000 American Heritage and Alumni Center. More work is there than appears: To date, 220 bell-shaped piers have been poured about 15 feet underground and 75 percent of the great beams or foundation wall has been laid.

President Reviews Year

I suppose that among the signs of one's age is the fact that time passes too rapidly. On the campus, classes have hardly started until the Thanksgiving Lectureship is upon us. Christmas holidays follow hard upon Thanksgiving and returning from the holidays we find first semester finals and the opening of the new semester. And, of course, all of you know how the pace seems to be accelerated during the second semester until all we are able to do is barely keep up by running as fast as possible.

Some events of 1963-64 have been especially disconcerting to campus routine. There was profound shock because of the seemingly unmotivated and yet unsolved murder of Ruby Lowery Stapleton. Then the senseless murder of the president of the nation. These events coupled with routine personal and private problems seemed rather to unsettle academic pursuits. All of us have settled down a bit now that 1964 has a good start.

There is evidence of sound growth and of worthwhile activities among us. Ben Holland took one play on tour and has scheduled another. The basketball team is at present tied for first place in the conference. After several "practice" tournaments the debaters got down to brass tacks at Millsaps and three teams went to quarter finals — one to semi-finals. Many seniors are making their plans for entering graduate schools next year.

These blooming, bustling, buzzing, activities help us to keep our perspective in the midst of affairs that might otherwise baffle us or throw us off balance.

Among the students this year as always, we have those of high promise as preachers, at home and abroad; teachers for the Christian schools and public schools; accountants, Bible teachers, homemakers, businessmen. . . in short a cross-section of the American community.

Alumni Ask To Help Recognize 1964 Distinguished Member

This will be the fifth year in which the Distinguished Alumnus Award has been given. It is our way of recognizing and honoring an alumnus or alumna for distinguished service in his or her respective field of endeavor.

We ask your help in calling to the attention of the Awards Committee, the names of those whom you feel should be considered. Awards previously have been given to L. O. Sanderson (BA'28), Dr. R. T. Clark (BS'39), Dow Merritt, and Dr. George S. Benson (BA'25)

The committee making the selection will consider such things as interest manifested in Harding, any honor or recognition that has been achieved, how well the ideals of Harding are exemplified, or other qualifications that would have an influence in making a choice. It would be helpful therefore if you would give a brief resume of his or her accomplishments with any comments you think appropriate.

Suggestions should reach us by May 1 or before so the award can be ordered and the one selected can be notified.

Reunions Scheduled For '64

Classes of '29-'34-'39-'44-'49-'54- and '59 are having reunions next spring. The class of '39 will celebrate its 25th anniversary and will be honored at Alumni chapel. Members of all these five year classes are invited to share this special occasion. Alumni from all classes are invited to be back for homecoming next May. More about the reunions in the next bulletin.

NOTICE

Keep these dates in mind for the closing days of school next May. ALUMNI DAY is May 27 and GRADUATION is May 28. Begin now to make plans to be present. More information will be given in the next bulletin.

We all hope that at Harding the students are being helped to develop qualities of mind and qualities of spirit, that will cause them to realize a fuller degree of their potential for service to their community than they might otherwise attain. This is our job as a college; it is therefore our work as alumni to do what we can to assist the college in achieving her student-centered goals.

1960 Graduate Accepted For Indian Ocean Expedition

Bob Wallace, B.S. 1960, has been accepted for an expedition to the Indian Ocean which will last from January through April. Wallace leaves the United States January 21.

The expedition under the direction of Vanderbilt University where Wallace is doing graduate work this year, will first visit Hawaii, Japan, Phillipines, Singapore, Saigon and India and will stop for a short time in Columbo, Ceylon. February 1 they will leave Columbo and explore the shallow water around the Chagos and Maldives Archipelagos for two months. They will spend April exploring the waters between Mauritius and Madagascar and will fly home by Africa and Europe. Ten hours of college credit are given for those on the expedition. Wallace was recommended for the expedition by Dr. Jack Wood Sears of Harding.

Wallace majored in biology and minored in art at Harding. His activities included Science Club, Varsity Club, Sub-T-16 social club, Bijitsu, intramural sports, and the Bison and Petit Jean staffs. He was vice-president of his senior class.

Vernon and Frances Watley ('57) Russell in the death of her father, Wilson W. Watley, on Aug. 15 in Kansas City, Mo.

American Studies Program Reports Effectiveness

In the last ten years, scores of universities and colleges have added American Studies Programs to their curricula. These programs are designed to develop a better understanding of our American economic, political, cultural and social system.

One of the earliest and most complete programs was developed at Harding in 1952 with the establishment of its School of American Studies. Every student regardless of his major field is required to take two years in the area of American history, economics, political science, European history and international relations. In addition, students in the field of history, social science, business or economics may, if they have a B average, be admitted to a fuller program designed for leadership training. These students participate in seminars, hear outstanding visiting speakers and make tours to major cities to visit with outstanding business and political leaders.

In the fall, Dr. Clifton Ganus Jr., Mrs. Buford Tucker and a group of students went to Chicago where they visited with Swift and Company, IBM, Chicago Board of Trade, American Farm Bureau Federation, Santa Fe Railroad, Mayor Richard Daley and other organizations. In the spring, the group will tour Vicksburg, Mississippi, and New Orleans, Louisiana. A one day trip is also planned to Memphis, Tennessee.

Harding has been exceptionally well pleased with the progress of students who graduate from this program. Although it is still comparatively young many of the graduates have been given positions of responsibility. The following is by no means a complete list but indicates some of the areas in which some of the graduates are working. Dr. Ganus would appreciate it if all American Studies students would write him as to their present location, employment position, achievements, and other interesting information.
