Mission Clubs Active On Home Campus

European Mission Club

The European Mission Club is attempting to foster a greater interest in the restoration movement in that continent and to encourage students to plan for lives of Christian service there.

Semi-weekly meetings are one of the basic means to that end. During the spring semester, the 25-member group heard such speakers as Mrs. George Benson on the role of the woman in the mission field, Virgil Lawyer on preparation of the missionary, Hugu Tinsley on the restoration movement in Ireland, and sponsor, Bob Helsten, on the Germany that calls.

Already this semester Andy Ritchie, back from a trip to Europe and the Holy Land, and Andrew Gardner from Glasgow, Scotland have talked to the club. Other programs planned include films on Europe, panel discussions, lectures, work meetings, and a year-end party honoring the Harding group leaving for the Glasgow campaign this summer.

The club has adopted a major project this semester of erecting a European Mission display in the student center showing the names and pictures of all Harding graduates currently preaching in Europe along with their location on the map. Up-to-date newsletters from various ones will also be attached. It is hoped this will be a permanent project that will be both informative and interesting.

The next meeting has been planned for March 3, when members will write for pictures of those missionaries and their wives.

Oriental Mission Club

The Oriental Mission Club has two special projects this year. One is to collect clothing and books to be sent to Korean Christian College located at Kimpo Area Station near Seoul. Plans are nearly complete and the items will probably be shipped this month. The second project is to raise $25 in support of the college in training a young preacher to work in Korea. Elders of the Downtown congregation in Searcy have been contacted by the club and are considering the work.

Programs this year have included Sam Belo of the Philippine Islands and Sam Miao of Singapore, Malaya. Other programs will include studies of other areas in the Orient. This will entail the use of reports, films and bulletins.

The Oriental Club bulletin board is being reinstalled in the student center to be used primarily to keep information about the work in the Orient before the student body. Besides a map of the Orient, the board will have space for "bulletin" material.

The club is working to get a world missions map made and hung in the Bible Building. This has been recommended as a combined mission groups project.

African Mission Club

The committee for bulletin board displays and the program committee work together in presenting a regular sequence of informative and inspirational programs on African Mission work.

The club as a whole helps in preparing displays and undertaking projects. For example, the club has purchased a Bible for a young Nigerian who wrote Baptist missionaries in Little Rock asking for a Bible and anything else he might read to be saved. The letter was passed from hand

President's Corner

By Evan L. Ulrey
BA '46

You have had the advantages of attending a Christian College. The advantages are not the same, of course, for all who attended. We brought to college with us different backgrounds, different needs, attitudes, and goals. What we were able to gain was therefore largely dependent upon what we brought with us.

Over a period of one, or two or perhaps four years many of us added to our educational concepts, established more satisfying cultural patterns, built upon religious ideas and ideals, and even changed, radically in some cases, the attitudes which we brought with us to college. All of these are indications of the tangible results of an educational situation which deliberately challenges those who enter into it. In short most of us felt the upward pull to the achievement of a better life academically, religiously and culturally.

Most alumni realize that the word Christian in the context, Christian college, states our ideal rather than any feeling of one-hundred percent achievement of academic goals in a Christian environment. Just how Christian a college is depends directly upon how thoroughly imbued with Christ's spirit are the students, the faculty, the administration, the board, the alumni and even the parents of students.

Many young people of high character and Christian purpose are needed on our Christian college campuses. We at Harding want Christians, the best and most dedicated ones, to be students here because it is from among these able students that the faculty, administration, and board, should eventually be selected if a Christian college is kept Christian.

Encourage your own children, and other Christian young people to choose a Christian college. Encourage them to think of what they can give as well as what they can expect to get at a Christian college.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It has been a matter of concern to me to see the attacks which are leveled at Harding College by certain newspapers, magazines, etc., from time to time. These attacks vary from charges that Harding is a wildly fanatic propaganda vehicle for the "right wing" to insinuations that she is not a high caliber, fully recognized and accredited institution.

In recent months these attacks have grown in viciousness and intensity. It should be strongly emphasized that every Harding alumnus is hurt not only psychologically but also financially, when one of these attacks appears. In areas where such stories are published and believed, Harding graduates could conceivably even be denied job opportunities.

Those of us who have attended Harding recognize at a glance the many inaccuracies and distortions in such articles. However, the general public does not have first hand knowledge as we do. The administration at Harding is justifiably anxious that false information tending to damage the excellent public image and reputation which Harding deserves should be nipped before it is allowed to spread. But it can do this only if it knows just as soon as possible when and where such an attack has been made.

For this reason I am suggesting that all Harding alumni throughout the United States watch for such material. Whenever you see anything in your local paper, a magazine, newsletter, etc., which is harmful to Harding's reputation, please clip it out and send it immediately to the college so that proper measures can be taken to correct it. Remember that when such misinformation is allowed free course — YOU are the loser!

Sincerely,

John F. Wilson, '59

Encourage them to think of Harding when they think of college. Don't wait until they are high school seniors. Start when they enter the first grade, picture it for them until they are ready for college. They will then assume that they will go to Harding. Some colleges may be as good — none is better.

to hand, unanswered, until it reached the African Club at Harding.

The five programs planned by the club since February are as follows: February 25 — two 20-minute movies on Kabanga mission, where the Ken Elders and Dow Merritts are working; March 3 — a panel of African Club members will review respective books on missionary preparation and methods; March 17 — movie, "Munakanyemba," depicting a village preaching trip taken in the late '40's; April 14 — graduate student, Carroll Osbourne, will speak on his intention of doing mission work in Africa; April 21 — another film on Africa.

Mission Montreal

Mission Montreal is composed of 11 students who are planning to do mission work in Montreal, Quebec.

The purpose of Mission Montreal is to better prepare its members for effective mission work in Quebec. They study the history, customs and language of Quebec in the weekly meetings.

Since 80 percent of the people in Quebec are of French descent, particular attention is given to the learning of the French language. Roman Catholicism, the dominant religion in the province, is also studied.

Along with the study of the French language and Roman Catholicism, the club is currently writing to people interested in the work in Quebec. Each week they write to Jerry Davidson, preacher for the small congregation in Lachine, Quebec; S. F. Timmerman Jr., a missionary now in Belgium who will be in Montreal to be with the French people in June, 1964; and Johnny Faulkner, a student at Abilene Christian College who is planning to teach French in Quebec and do mission work there.

Club projects for this year include a possible trip to the Roman Catholic Church in Little Rock for a first hand study of their worship, and raising money to send a needed piece of equipment to Quebec to help the church advertise and to teach more effectively.

Timothy Club

The Timothy Club was first organized for preaching students, those who plan to preach, and any others interested in evangelistic work.

The purposes of the club as stated in the constitution are to encourage and maintain an intellectual, practical and spiritual attitude for all those interested in teaching the word of God more effectively, to deal especially with the problems that young ministers of the gospel are now facing and will face in their future work, and to provide programs which will be interesting, educational and will facilitate the foregoing purposes.

The club's main objectives are learning the proper techniques of "— going into all the world, teaching the Word of God, and baptizing the lost into Christ." Throughout the year, the emphasis is upon going, teaching, baptizing and also upon learning how to instill this spirit in the people with whom they come in contact.

These objectives are achieved in several ways. The Bible Department provides four religious seminars annually, primarily for preaching students. All of these seminars relate to the preacher and his work, but one seminar deals specifically with missionary work.

In times past missionary groups have been formed in the Timothy Club which have carried out successful work on foreign fields. Each year bonds of love and faith are formed among the club members which encourage such group activities. These bonds carry over in later life from which comes encouragement and assistance in local work or missionary work in foreign lands.

Club.
The most important accomplishment is the encouragement and motivation which each member receives through the various programs.

Australian Club

The Australian Club is actively working for a campaign in Brisbane, Australia in June of 1965.

Recent club programs have featured Sandra Shaw, a native of Brisbane; Hugh Tensley, a missionary from Belfast, Ireland; and a report by the club sponsor, J. F. Layton, on C. B. Smith and the background of the Wynnum congregation in Brisbane.

Future programs include color slides of students who participated in the Edinburgh, Scotland campaign; meetings with Andy Ritchie on campaign work and mission needs; reports from letters on language and other differences between Australia and the United States.

Alumni Chapter News

Southeast Missouri

The Southeast Missouri Chapter had its first meeting Monday night, February 24, at the church of Christ building in Sikeston.

Don Glover (BA'60) of Sikeston was chosen as president of the group and Mrs. Kenneth Bill (Joyce Blackburn, BA'44) of Lilbourn, secretary-treasurer.

The group made plans for another area-wide alumni meeting to be held in Sikeston on April 4 at 7 p.m. with a guest speaker and entertainment from Harding College.

Representatives were in attendance from Sikeston, Lilbourn, East Prairie, Dexter, Bloomfield, and Bernie.

Northeastern USA

The Northeastern USA alumni chapter of Harding met in January following the Shiloh Lectureship for an organizational meeting. Officers elected were Jerry Martin (BA'57) president; Ken Noland (BA'55) vice-president; and Sally Rogers (BA'61) secretary-treasurer. A committee was asked to meet to discuss the possibility of organizing two chapters because of the wide area involved. Approximately 25 were present.

Middle Tennesseè

"Keeping the Christian College Christian," was Dean L. C. Sears' topic as he spoke to the Middle Tennessee alumni chapter at the Brentwood Hills Church of Christ, November 9. About 35 attended.

New officers elected included Dennie Hall (BA'56) president; Glenn Johnson ('38) president elect; Bob Neil (BA'32) vice president; Mrs. Clifford Huddleston (Evelyn Williams '39), secretary-treasurer and Judy Parks (BA'60), secretary-treasurer elect.
