Student Expenses To Be Increased For Coming Year

Slight increases in all student costs will be necessary beginning in September, according to President Clifton L. Ganus Jr.

Tuition, the biggest cost, will be increased from $26 per semester hour to $28.50. Along with other increases, this will mean that a boarding student carrying 16 hours per semester will be able to meet basic expenses for $1,747 for the year.

Room rates will be increased by $4 for all dormitories, bringing the typical cost to $28 per four weeks. Air-conditioned dormitories and private rooms will cost $35, while rooms in West Hall for men will cost $25 per four weeks.

Meal prices also are being increased, but in an attempt to encourage more students to eat in the American Heritage Cafeteria its rate will be raised by only $2.50 per four weeks while Pattie Cobb Cafeteria's will go up $5. The totals will be $62.50 in the American Heritage and $55 in Pattie Cobb.

The registration fee will be increased by $1.50 per semester to $44.

Only the rental charges for Married Students Apartments and the trailer court will not be raised. They remain at $50 for single bedroom and $57.50 for two-bedroom apartments and $15 per month for trailer space.

Some changes will be made in special fees not affecting all students.

Dr. Evan Ulrey

Billy Ray Cox

Distinguished Teachers Honored

Two department chairmen and an administrator-teacher have been named Harding's Distinguished Teachers for 1968-69. Presentation of the $1,000 awards was at the spring commencement ceremony June 5.

The winners were Dr. Evan Ulrey, professor of speech and chairman of the department; Dr. Bill Williams, professor of chemistry and chairman of the department of physical science; and Billy Ray Cox, assistant professor of business administration and assistant to the president for development and public relations.

The selections are made annually from information collected on nominated teachers from their students and departmental colleagues, with consideration also given to scholarly activities and service to the college.

Dean Joseph E. Pryor pointed to the success of former students of the honored teachers as evidence of their instructional skills. He cited the motivation of many speech students to pursue graduate study, the number of chemistry majors who have achieved the doctorate and the demonstrated ability of accountants and junior executives who have studied at Harding.

Dr. Ulrey, who holds the Ph.D. from Louisiana State University, is recognized widely in his field through his scholarship and work in various speech associations. The 1946 graduate of Harding has held high offices in the Southern Speech Association, the Arkansas Speech Association and the regional province of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensics fraternity.

Dean Pryor added, "He takes a special interest in each student and has the ability to involve students in the learning process through research and discussion. He challenges his students to think and to defend their positions."

Dr. Ulrey has been chairman of the department since 1950 and is coach of the Debate Team.

Dr. Williams was described by Dean Pryor as "enthusiastic" and "genuinely interested" in students. He has been with Harding, his alma mater of 1950, since 1954, the same year he received the Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Williams also is active in professional societies, including the American Chemical Society and the Arkansas Academy of Science. Several summers he has worked in industry to broaden and update his knowledge of his field.

Dean Pryor said he "makes very thorough preparation before each class, prepares supplementary teaching 'hand-outs' for students and has the ability to explain complex concepts of chemistry so that students can understand."

Billy Ray Cox does not let a busy schedule of development work and direction of the American Studies Program interfere with effectiveness in the classroom. Dean Pryor stated:

"Mr. Cox has an excellent background of experience in business management and auditing which enables him to make his business and accounting classes very meaningful for his students. His enthusiasm for his field and his dynamic method of teaching stimulate their interest."

Cox joined the faculty in 1964 after completing the Master of Business Administration degree at Southern Methodist University, where he had attended while working in business. He holds the B.A. from Harding and the C.P.A. from the state of Texas and has been a lecturer for the American Management Association.

294 Graduates Receive 'Formula for Life'

The largest graduating class in the college's history, 294 students, were given a "formula for life" by Dr. James E. Anthony, a Texas dentist and businessman, in commencement exercises June 5.

Dr. James E. Anthony

Receiving degrees were 215 candidates for the Bachelor of Arts, 72 for the Bachelor of Science and seven for the Master of Arts in Teaching.

Dr. Anthony, of Ft. Worth, provided a mock chemical equation as a basis for his address. "The equation," he said, "reads: Two parts determination, plus talent, plus opportunity, plus four parts dedication, yields achievement plus happiness raised to the infinite power."

He stressed that "the ingredients must be kept in proportion," with the catalysts of love and a sense of humor "helping the formula to progress at proper speed."

"If you mix these improperly or substitute inferior elements, your formula for life can blow up in your face," he warned.

He added, "If you dedicate yourself to a type of life that lives for a preconceived future and your place in that future and will work for it, your goals are in reach. However, if you depreciate your talents and your opportunities and are inconstant in your purposes and try to live with no noble or well-defined goals, failures are going to outnumber your triumphs."

Four days earlier the candidates for degrees had heard evangelist John Allen Chalk of Atlanta, Ga., in the baccalaureate address describe several "stations on the road to Christian freedom," citing discipline, action, suffering and liberation from death as such stations in a Christian's life.

Student awards announced at graduation were the following:

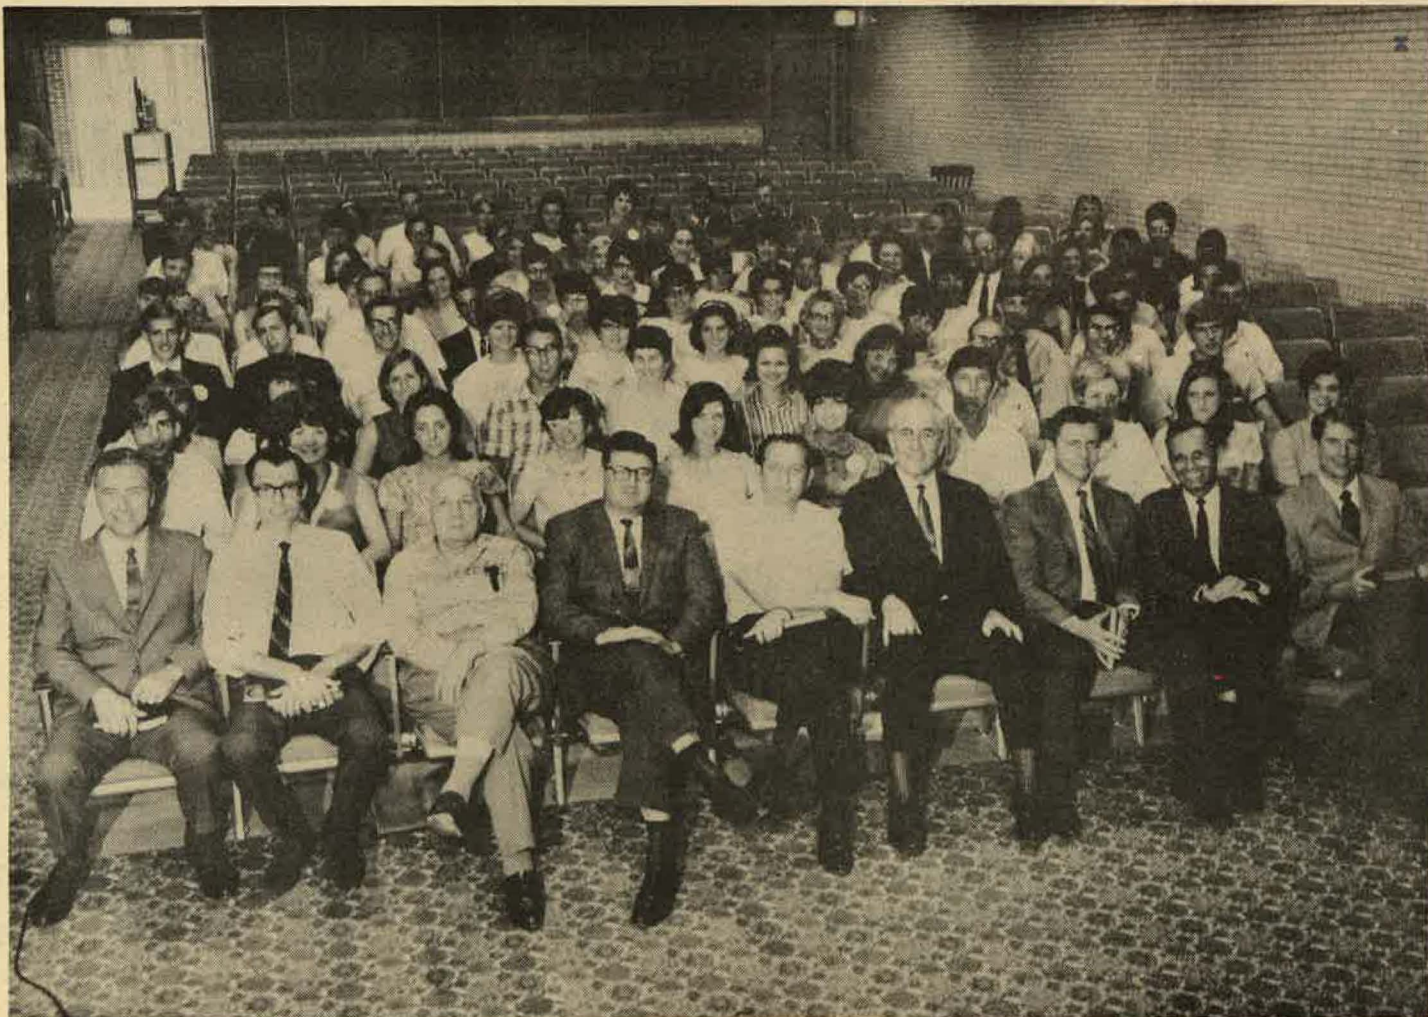

Mark Woodward of Ft. Worth, Tex., was named the top member of the graduating class with a 3.96 grade average and received the key of Alpha Chi, national honor scholarship society.

Judy Worth of Richardson, Tex., received a $25 prize for the best paper presented by a Harding student at the national Alpha Chi meeting.

Mrs. Susan Rubio of Memphis and Dale Pauls of Meaford, Ontario, Canada, won the $100 Ganus Awards for the highest grades this school year.

Edna Wright of Oxford, Miss., and Jim Crawford of West Millington, N. J., won the Morton Utley Awards for making the most personal progress during the year. The awards consist of one-half tuition for next semester.

This is part of the group of 120 who attended the Campaign and Personal Workers Workshop June 5-6.

145 Enroll in Evangelism Seminar

The 7th annual World Evangelism Seminar closed June 28 with a record enrollment of 145 in various phases of its academic program and special three-day workshops.

Director of the seminar, Dr. Joe Hacker Jr., said he was very happy with the response to this year's program, especially the Campaign and Personal Workers Workshop June 5-7 which drew 120 persons who are working this summer in campaigns at home and abroad.

Included in that workshop, the opening part of the three-week seminar, were campaigners to Germany, Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines, India, Africa, the Northeast United States, Iowa, New Mexico and Texas. Others who plan to work later in Brazil and Okinawa also were enrolled.

In the intensive academic program were three courses: missionary principles and methods, anthropology and seminar in missions. This part of the program, Dr. Hacker said, is designed not only for potential missionaries but also as a continuing education offering for returned workers from the mission field.

Teachers for the academic courses were Otis Gatewood, George Benson and Joe Cannon. Gatewood and Benson are former missionaries and Cannon served Harding last year as visiting professor of missions while on leave from Okinawa.

Present for all or part of the program were visiting missionaries O. F. Blackburn of Germany, Charles Davis of the Philippines and P. T. Menefee of Africa and former missionaries J. D. Merritt of Africa and Barney Morehead of Japan.

One reaction from the Campaign and Personal Workers Workshop came from Wilson Meek, an elder of the 12th and Drexel congregation in Oklahoma City and a director of Project Germany '69. He said:

"The motivation and inspiration were well worth bringing Project Germany workers to the workshop in preparation for our efforts. I feel this was one of the best prepared groups we have taken to Germany."

Attending the workshop and also the academic program were the Far East Campaigners, a group of 25 who are working with Cannon this summer.

A smaller group who are living in India with tentative plans to remain longer than the summer months also attended. They are led by Harding student Gary Walker, son of former Austrian missionaries.

The other three-day workshop was a seminar for American youth on June 10-12, during which time high school young people were engaged in a program to motivate them to become mission-minded.

Taking part were students from Shreveport, La., Ft. Worth, Tex., and the Arkansas cities of Newport, Clarksville, Bentonville, Little Rock and Searcy.

The sponsor of a group from the Richland Hills church in Ft. Worth, Paul Learned, said, "The workshop made a real impact on the thinking of our young people who attended, and this impact has radiated to the other young people in the congregation."

Chorus Wins 'Triumphant Welcome' in Europe

Tremendously enthusiastic receptions greeted Harding's A Cappella Chorus on the first part of their two-month tour of Europe.

Information pieced together from traveling members and overseas personnel indicate that in terms of audience response the tour directed by Dr. Kenneth Davis Jr. began as a rousing success.

Two large audiences in Belfast, Ireland, and Turin, Italy, apparently provided the highlights of the first ten days of travel.

Approximately 1,000 Irish crowded Grosvenor Hall, the largest auditorium in Belfast, on June 13 to hear the first program of the tour and delivered a standing ovation at its conclusion.

On June 22 the chorus drew another warm reception in Turin with about 500 in attendance. This report was sent to President Clifton L. Ganus Jr., by the office of the U. S. Consul General:

"It takes a chorus from Arkansas to warm up the traditionally cool and reserved Torinesi; of course, the Harding College A Cappella Chorus is an exceptionally good one and the triumphant welcome received was fully deserved.

"The program, under the auspices of the office of the City Commissioner for Education and Youth, took place in the stately hall of the Subalpine Senate at Palazzo Madama, the official reception hall of the City of Turin.

"In spite of the Sunday—furthermore preceding an extralong weekend (Tuesday being St. John's Day, the Patron Saint of Turin), the turnout was above our rosiest expectations.

"By 9:15 the 400 seats were taken, with people already standing all around.

"They were mostly students, young people, members of local choral groups and music fans.

"From the very first songs it was clear that the talent of the Arkansas group had conquered the Torinesi; they seldom call for encores after the third piece and keep clapping for several minutes, as they did in this case from the very beginning.

"Besides the impeccable performance, the program, too, was well-chosen

Five Physicians Conduct Seminar On Mission Work

Five former medical missionaries shared experiences and plans on May 17 with conferees at the first Medical Men for Missions seminar, part of the MISSION/PREPARE Program.

The five represented a group of nine physician members of the Church of Christ in modern history who have served or are serving in mission areas.

They were Drs. Henry Farrar and A. R. Brown of Searcy, Tom Drinnen of Knoxville, Tenn., Jerry Mays of Lake Jackson, Tex., and Ron Huddleston of San Antonio, Tex.

Attending the seminar by invitation were 35 physicians or medical students who have shown interest in medical missions. Out of the conference came three recommendations, including one to make the seminar an annual event.

Another suggestion was that Harding serve as a clearinghouse for all medical missions information, including the publication of a quarterly information organ. In this regard the college is seeking names and addresses of members of the medical professions who would like to receive such a pub-

A recommendation also was made that would help prevent what the doctors called a high attrition rate among medical students who originally plan to enter the mission field. They suggested a program of "sponsorship" of medical students by a doctor in each medical school to encourage their commitment to become missionaries.

Other speakers on the day's program were Dr. Joe Hacker Jr., Bible department chairman; Dr. Jack Wood Sears, biology department chairman; Jody Crumbliss, a medical student at the University of Tennessee Medical School in Memphis; Dr. Winfred Wright, assistant professor of French; and Joe Cannon, visiting professor of missions.

to offer ample opportunity to show the high quality of the group (65 well-knit voices) and the range of their repertoire; in fact, it included religious songs, folk tunes and Broadway medleys with a roaring performance of the celebrated 'Seventy-six Trombones' from 'The Music Man' and a charming rendition of 'The Impossible Dream' from 'The Man of La Mancha.'

"During the interval special certificates from the Governor of Arkansas, making both the Commissioner and Consul General Parsons honorary Arkansas Travelers, were presented.

"After the concert the entire group moved to a reception given by the City of Turin during which Director Davis was presented with a beautiful volume on Turin and a rampant bull, the symbol of the City."

The performances in Belfast and Turin were arranged with the help of C. E. Eckman and Joe Gibbs, respectively, who are missionaries of the churches of Christ.

A primary purpose of the tour is to provide assistance for missionary efforts in Europe.

Jule Miller -- Distinguished Alumnus

"You could call him 'Mr. Cottage Meetings' or 'Mr. Audio-Visuals' of the churches of Christ with equal accuracy and facility, this Jule Miller of Houston, Texas."

That is a brief and imposing tribute, but the friend who wrote it a few months ago was not exaggerating in his description of Harding's Distinguished Alumnus of 1969.

Jule Miller's name has become linked inseparably with the word "filmstrips" because, as the above-quoted biographical sketch continues, "he was one of the first in this generation not only to see the potential in cottage Bible class work but to produce the effective materials necessary to motivate Christians to use this opportunity."

Today Miller's audio-visual sets are the standard material for "house-to-house" evangelism throughout the world, with more than 18,000 sets of the "Cottage Meeting Filmstrips" in use. More than 100,000 kits of the printed version of the filmstrips, the "Visualized Bible Correspondence Course," have been purchased.

Miller first produced the filmstrip series in 1956 and since has devoted full-time work to the business of creating evangelistic materials as president of Gospel Services Inc., of Houston.

The young man who came to Harding College from Okolona, Ky., in 1945 already had embarked, although only gradually, on his special ministry through audio-visuals. While in high school he had collected filmstrips on the life of Christ and had a complete set by the time he was 16, when he was asked to teach a primary class of boys.

At Harding, where he took a B.A. in history in 1949, he became further interested in visualized sermons, being encouraged by various workshop visitors, and produced several such sermons for his preaching work with a small community between Judsonia and Bald Knob.

The Miller family before baby Susan was born included (back row) Mark, Robin and Julia, (second row) Jule, Judy Todd, Patty and Laura and (front) Tammy, Scott and Wendy.

It was there he met his wife, Judy Hogan ('50) of Little Rock. They were married Sept. 7, 1947, and the two have built a home that is truly the center of their life, not only because of their 10 children, but also because of the philosophy they bring to their family.

Jule wrote: "The greatest blessings in our lives have been the births of our 10 children. With each little one sent to us from God we have felt a closer relationship to our Heavenly Father and a greater sense of His all-abiding presence.

"Having been blessed with this tremendous responsibility and privilege, we feel more keenly the Fatherhood of God and His abiding care over all His children. We feel that no home is a real home unless it is a Christian home — one in which the presence of Christ is known and acknowledged by each one.

"We believe strongly that the home is the teaching center for Christ; that here is the place where love of God and mankind is founded and strengthened, and that it is the parents' responsibility to nurture that love and growth and set each member of the family firmly on the pathway to Heaven, to meet our Savior."

The Millers' oldest child, Mark, 19, has just completed his freshman year at Harding.

The other children are Robin (a son), 16; Julia, 13; Laura, 11; Patty, 9; Tammy 8; Scott, 6; Wendy, 5; Todd, 3; and Susan, 19 months.

With such a populous family the result of a Harding romance, it is only natural that Jule Miller has strong ties to his alma mater. But certainly there were other deep impressions made during his four years as a student which have helped guide the course of his life.

Miller says three men at Harding had a "particular impact" on his life: Andy T. Ritchie Jr., Leslie Burke and John Lee Dykes.

He recalled, "Brother Dykes once told me that any project that would be worth while must first be a dream. We must take time to develop that dream and make it come true."

As Miller's dream was developing during his college years, he participated in the normal extracurricular activities, with perhaps more success than most. He was an officer of Lambda Sigma social club, president three years of the "K" (Kentucky and Kansas) Club and president of the junior class of 1948.

Following his graduation from Harding Miller worked as educational director with the Downtown Church in Searcy. In 1951 he moved to Texas and since has worked with the Ayers Street church in Corpus Christi, the Green Lawn church in Lubbock and the Central, Southwest and MacGregor Park churches in Houston. He currently is associate minister at the Southeast congregation in Houston.

President Clifton L. Ganus Jr. said he was "delighted in the selection of Jule Miller as the outstanding alumnus of Harding College in 1969. His deep faith, great ability and Christian character have led to unusual accomplishments."

Further praise for the honoree came from his biographer, Tex Stevens, who said, "Those who work with Miller admire him for his intense desire to produce nothing but the best for use by his brethren. He has never let quality or perfection suffer merely because of a deadline. With this standard of excellence, the corporation still keeps a steady stream of helpful productions flowing into the hands of workers in the Kingdom."

Pioneer — dreamer — creative worker — Christian father. These are Jule Miller, Distinguished Alumnus of 1969.

Art Center Awaiting Dedication

A second-story view from the college's new $200,000 Art Center displays its attractive architecture. The complex, two classrooms of which are in use during the summer session, will be officially dedicated sometime in the early fall.

Berryhill Completes Doctorate in P. E., Returns From Leave

Don O. Berryhill, instructor in physical education and health, received his Ed.D. degree at the University of New Mexico June 6 after a two-year leave of absence from the college.

He has returned to the faculty for the summer session.

His degree was awarded in physical education and architectural design, his dissertation topic being "Indoor Space Guidelines for Senior High School Physical Education and Athletic Programs."

Dr. Berryhill holds the B.A. from Harding and the M.A. from Memphis State University.

Dr. Pryor Named Secretary Of National Honor Society

Dean Joseph Pryor has been elected national secretary-treasurer of Alpha Chi, national honor scholarship society, and will assume his duties Jan. 1, 1970.

Dean Pryor currently holds the same office in Region II of the society. In his new office he will succeed Dr. Alfred H. Nolle of Southwest Texas State College, who has served since 1928.

19 Faculty Involved in Summer Study

Four Harding faculty members are attending summer institutes and twelve others are working toward advanced degrees this summer. In addition, James Mackey, Jerome Barnes and George Baggett are working on their doctoral dissertations while in Searcy.

Maurice Lawson, associate professor of physics, is attending an institute in quantum physics at the University of Kansas under a National Science Foundation grant. Norman Merritt, assistant professor of business administration, is enrolled in an institute in accounting for college teachers at the University of Arkansas.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Sewell, professor of education and assistant professor of music, respectively, attended sessions at the University of Iowa. Dr. Sewell attended a North Central Association workshop, and Mrs. Sewell attended an institute for elementary music teachers.

Those doing graduate study and the degree sought are as follows:

Ted Altman, doctorate in physical education, North Texas State University; Harding Burton, master's in music, Memphis State University; Terry Eyman, master's in speech, North Texas State University; Jim Howard, doctorate in religion, Baylor University; Alan Isom, doctorate in religion, New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary; Mona Moore, master's in music, Arkansas State University; Bill Oldham, doctorate in mathematics, Colorado State College; Charles Pittman, doctorate in English, University of Tennessee; Jack Ryan, doctorate in speech, University of Missouri; Joe Segraves, doctorate in history, University of Kentucky; Bill Verkler, doctorate in sociology, Mississippi State University; and Betty Work, master's in education, Michigan State University.

Altman, Isom, Pittman and Verkler will be on leave next year as well as this summer.

Director of Deferred Gifts

Daniel Takes Development Position

Director of Deferred Gifts, a new title in Harding's development program, is being filled by James H. Daniel Jr., formerly of Albany, Ga.

Daniel, who began work at the college in June, previously was assistant vice president of Home Federal Savings and Loan Association in Albany.

He said that his new job will be working with wills, bequests and all kinds of deferred gifts.

"Many tax advantages can be gained both now and at the death of the donor through the deferred gifts program of wills and trusts," he said.

Daniel attended both Freed-Hardeman and David Lipscomb colleges and has a B.S. degree in business administration.

He and his wife Evelyn have three children: Ginny, 11; David, 9; and Jeff, 8.

Two Professors Produce Books

Two faculty members, Dr. Jack Wood Sears and Joe Cannon, have recently had books published by Baker Book House of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Dr. Sears' work is "Conflict and Harmony in Science and the Bible," a paperback edition which the publisher says concludes "with a clear ringing answer: there is perfect harmony between science and Scripture."

Dr. Sears is professor of biology and chairman of the department. He also assists in the Bible department and is widely known as a speaker on science and the Bible.

"For Missionaries Only" is the title of Cannon's book, a compilation of thoughts and speeches the Far East missionary has shared over the years with practicing and prospective mission workers.

The publisher describes the book as "a carousel of impressions, opinions and views of a veteran foreign missionary." Cannon himself says it contains humorous as well as inspirational material to assist and enlighten not only the missionary but anyone interested in missions.

Sample titles of Cannon's chapters are "Comings and Goings," "Successes and Failures," and "Indigeneity and Paternalism." The manuscript was used this year as a text for some of the courses the author taught as a visiting professor of missions.

State Designer Craftsmen Elect Watson to Top Office

Tom Watson, instructor in art, has been elected president of the Designer Craftsmen of Arkansas, a statewide guild of artists.

The organization consists of weavers, jewelers, ceramicists and other craftsmen, both teachers and professional artists. Next year a major project of the group will be a traveling craft show for exhibit throughout the state.

Watson, a faculty member since 1966, said the group also plans two major meetings with presentations by a professional glassblower and a photographer.

"The WORD We TEACH"

Seventh Annual

CHRISTIAN WORKERS' WORKSHOP

August 4-7, 1969 - Harding College - Searcy, Arkansas

Hazelip to Keynote Workers' Workshop

An expected 2,000 persons will convene on campus for the seventh annual Christian Workers' Workshop August 4-7, workshop coordinator Bill Patterson announced. "The Word We Teach" is the workshop theme.

Keynote speaker for the workshop will be Dr. Harold Hazelip of Memphis, Tenn. An associate professor at the Harding Graduate School of Religion, he will speak each evening on "Phillipians: The Word at Work."

The program will consist of three simultaneous divisions of study for Bible teachers, church leaders and Christian youth. Group discussions and question periods will follow lectures.

The workshop for teachers will include lessons for leaders of nursery through adult classes. Tuesday's classes will be "The Bible Message in Audio Visuals," Wednesday's will be "Putting the Message Into Words" and Thursday's will be "The Word in Creative Activities." Teachers will be Lynn England, nursery; Betty Dollar, kindergarten; Karnese Trevathan, primary; Shirley Brumley, junior; Brad Brumley, youth; and Paul Learned, adult.

Others included in the faculty who will conduct the 100 classes during the three days are Jack Lewis, E. H. Ijams, Neale Pryor, Mrs. Ralph Hitt, Jim Cannon, Rex Moorer, B. B. Stevens, Ken Smithson and Richard Baggett.

The Leadership Forum is intended to provide instruction in vital areas of training for elders, deacons, preachers, educational directors and Bible class supervisors. Lectures dealing with the basic principles of church leadership will be conducted by Chuck Chance, Patterson, Paul Forshey, Stevens, Bruce Sinclair, Rhoden Presnell and Harold Bowie.

Youth Forum activities will be conducted at the College Church, two blocks north of the campus.

GENERAL INFORMATION

REGISTRATION AND RESERVATIONS

The registration fee for the workshop is $7.50 per person. The fee is the same whether one registers for one class or for the entire workshop. Each person attending must register and pay the fee. Registration is at the American Heritage Center. We expect only to pay expenses involved in providing this opportunity for training to you.

Congregational groups may register under the following arrangements:

20 - 30 .....	$100
31 - 40 .....	150
41 - 50 .....	200
51 - more .....	250

If congregations more than 200 miles from Searcy go together and charter a bus they register at the rates indicated for a single congregation.

Teenagers will register as a part of the workshop in the same manner as other adults. They may be included in the group to qualify for group rates.

Dormitory rooms are available. Bring your own linens, towels and fans.

CLASSES

Classes meet in several buildings on the campus. Most are within the campus' compact quadrangle and are conveniently accessible. All are in air-conditioned facilities. See campus map on page eight. All Youth Forum classes will meet in the College Church Building, two blocks north of the campus.

Board Members Serve Harding, Christian Education

Cogburn Leads Rigorous Life As a Physician

Getting a bite of breakfast on his way to the office, delivering babies, checking on church business and antiquing a piece of furniture — these and other activities may be included in the busy daily schedule of Dr. Harold Cogburn of Forrest City, a member of the Harding Board of Trustees.

A Texan by birth, Dr. Cogburn grew up at Lubbock and attended college at Texas Tech. His first acquaintance with east-central Arkansas came when he entered medical school at the University of Tennessee in Memphis.

Dr. Cogburn did his internship in the Navy V-12 program. He married Virginia House in 1945, and they have two children, Jeanne Claire (now Mrs. James Leslie Wyatt), 22, and John House, 17.

With his tour of duty with the Navy completed in 1946, Dr. Cogburn was working for the Mississippi State Board of Health awaiting residency in Philadelphia, Miss., when a friend in Forrest City asked him to help out in medicine there. He has been there ever since.

Harding's president, Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., preached in Sardis, Miss., Mrs. Cogburn's hometown, and after performing their wedding ceremony became a close friend of the Cogburns. Through this friendship and that of the Virgil Lawyers, the Cogburns became interested in Harding College.

Dr. Cogburn has been affiliated with Harding for several years and has served as a member of the Board for about six years.

A regular contributor to Harding's financial campaigns, Dr. Cogburn believes that being on the Board "has provided a closer insight into the school and its needs." He added, "It is very rewarding to be closely associated with people who are so deeply committed and involved."

Dr. Harold Cogburn

A director of the First National Bank in Forrest City, he has been used regularly as a reference by hometown students who attend Harding.

Dr. Cogburn is "completely sold on Christian education and in fact cannot see how Christian parents can send their children to schools other than Christian." Although both Dr. and Mrs. Cogburn attended state colleges, their daughter is a graduate of Abilene Christian College and their son will probably attend ACC or Harding, Dr. Cogburn hopes.

"Much has been said about the so-called 'sheltering' of a Christian college," he said, "but a certain amount of avoiding the exposure of children to things before they are able to handle them is both justified and desirable. The influence and education obtained in a Christian atmosphere cannot be surpassed."

"The purpose of a Christian school should be to give the highest quality of education in a Christian setting insofar as possible. This," he said, "is what Harding has striven so hard to do."

D. P. Burton Is Modern Farmer

What a golf lover wouldn't give for a golf course in his own back yard! And yet one member of the Harding College Board of Trustees has just that. But there's one problem — he doesn't play golf.

David Paul Burton, settled down for good in a lakeside home in Newport, enjoys woodworking and wishing instead of playing golf at the Country Club which sprawls along his backyard patio.

Born in Auvergne, a little community about six miles south of Newport, this 51-year-old farmer of several thousand acres of land holds a B.S. degree in chemical engineering from the University of Arkansas.

Following his college graduation during the depression years, Burton learned that jobs in his field of study were quite difficult to find. So he settled down to the farming and general mercantile businesses, little knowing what a success he could become in the world of business.

Burton, having moved to Newport at age 6, was graduated from Newport High School and met his wife, Ruth Elaine Riggs, while in school at Fayetteville. They were married in 1939 and now have four sons — Bruce, 29; James David, 27; Richard, 25; and Steve, 16 — and three grandchildren.

Shortly after their marriage, the Burtons moved to Tupelo where he worked in the mercantile store for about a year before moving onto a farm near Tupelo.

Burton was first acquainted with Harding through students and faculty members who preached for the Tupelo Church of Christ, his home congregation.

His first real association with the college came about two years after he moved back to Newport in 1956 when Dr. George S. Benson, then president of the college, asked him to serve on a committee to raise support for Harding College among Christians in Arkansas.

Burton served as a member of the

David Paul Burton

President's Development Council for two years before becoming a member of the Board of Trustees in 1967.

"I have always been impressed with the Christian attitude of both faculty and students of Harding College. The Christianity displayed in the lives of the faculty with whom I have been associated made me want to have a part in Christian education."

A regular contributor to Harding's financial campaigns, Burton also gives moral support to the school. "I believe in the principles of New Testament Christianity," he said, "and I am convinced that Harding College is one of few schools that is fostering these principles and beliefs."

In addition to farm interests, Burton owns interest in allied farm businesses: a bulk oil company, a farm machinery dealership, a feed and farm supply store, two gins and grain elevators. Other members of this family corporation are his brother, sister and father.

He served as an elder of the Holden Avenue Church of Christ in Newport for about four years but resigned his position because of personal convictions. He was building chairman of the present meeting place of that congregation.

Burton believes that "one of the greatest things about a Christian school is that it affords a meeting place for young people of similar outlooks and ideals, a beginning of relationships that lead to marriage and a Christian home."

He and Mrs. Burton readily agree that one of the greatest joys of their married life has been their association with Christian men and women, particularly those affiliated with Harding.

Having never pursued the line of work for which he prepared himself in college, Burton nevertheless put his education to use in his farming operation. He believes that "education in most any field is helpful in any occupation because the educational process disciplines the mind to think."

A member of Kappa Kappa Psi, an honorary music fraternity in college, and Alpha Chi Sigma, a professional chemical fraternity, Burton enjoys music and can play various band instruments.

Though golf is absent from their schedule, David Paul and Elaine Burton would not trade the Country Club's beautiful blanket of grass for any other back yard in the world. They like it there!

Honor Roll Names Record Total: 296

40 Straight 'A' Students Lead Dean's List

Another record number of students attained the Dean's List last semester, and 40 of the 296 on the honor roll made straight "A" averages. Last fall's Dean's List had 252 names.

Twelve students won an extra distinction by completing the entire year with perfect grades.

They were Sandra Green Barron, Newark, Del.; Jan Chesshir, Magnolia; David Elliott, Nashville; David Fant, Glasgow, Ky.; Tom Howard, Rockford, Ill.; Janice McCluggage, Douglas, Kan.; Dale Pauls, Meaford, Ontario; Linda Pillow, Paragould; Susan Benson Rubio, Memphis; Sonny Shearin, Bolivar, Tenn.; Vonda Thomley, Dothan, Ala.; and Leland Vickers, Sharptown, Md.

In order to make the Dean's List a student must carry at least 12 hours, have no grade below "C" and have no incomplete hours. Freshman must have at least a 3.25 average and upperclassmen at least a 3.50 average.

Others making straight "A" averages for the spring were:

Charles Anderson, Huntsville, Ala.; Barbara Arnell, Black Creek, Wisc.; Harrell Austin, Paragould; Lawrence Barr, Dale Douglas, Pat Lyon and James Mays, Memphis; Charles Black, Dallas; Earl Cobill, Worcester, Mass.; Calvin Crim, Raytown, Mo.; Barbara Cross, DeSoto, Tex.; Lana DeLong and Ronald Pruitt, Searcy; Diana Dooley, Bartlesville, Okla.; LeAnn Egle, Oak, Neb.; John Gibson, Abilene, Tex.; Howard Holmes and Mark Woodward, Ft. Worth, Tex.; Joe Horton, Mountain Home; Beverly Karr, Ft. Smith; Ellen Kramar, Lima, Peru; Nancy McCluggage, Tulsa, Okla.; Danny McCorkle, North Little Rock;

Sue Meeker, Hot Springs; Cynthia Patchell, Harrisburg; Rodney Waller, Shreveport, La.; Louis Watts, Sumerco, W. Va.; and Kenneth Whitelaw, Royal Oak, Mich.

Seven New Members Chosen For Belles and Beaux Roles

Seven new members have been accepted by audition into Belles and Beaux, Harding's musical variety entertainment group.

They are: sopranos Karen French of Ft. Worth, Tex., and Kaye Jones of Middletown, Ohio; basses Dale Hardman of Yakima, Wash., Bill Whittington of Canton, Ohio, Bruce Mayhall of Florence, Ala., and Sonny Shearin of Bolivar, Tenn.; and accompanist Carol Mannen of Stuttgart.

David Crouch, Miss Katherine Julian Will Edit, Manage Student Weekly

The editor and business manager for Harding's student newspaper have been selected for the 1969-70 school year.

David Crouch of Oxford, Ala., will be editor of The Bison, and Katherine Julian of Sanford, Fla., will serve as business manager.

A senior biology major, Crouch has been on The Bison staff since his freshman year, serving as sports editor in '68-'69. He is president of Alpha Phi Gamma, honorary journalism society, and president of Lambda Sigma social club. From 1964-66 Crouch was one of ten teenagers on the advisory council for the Teenage Christian magazine.

Miss Julian was assistant business manager on the '68-'69 Bison staff, working with circulation and accounts. She is a past secretary of Delta Chi Omega social club. A senior, she is a member of the Women's Dormitory Council and Alpha Phi Gamma journalism fraternity.

A business administration major, Miss Julian gained experience in journalism as business manager of the Mt. Dora Bible School student newspaper while in high school.

Enrollment Totals 416 In First Summer Term

Enrollment for the first five-week session of summer school reached 416, the third highest total in the college's history.

The total compares with 438 last year and 458 in 1966.

The junior class has the largest enrollment with 120 members. There are 99 seniors, 88 freshmen, 49 sophomores, 44 graduate students and 16 special and post-graduate students.

As usual, Arkansas contributes the largest group of students, a total of 168. The next largest group is 28 from Missouri. Fifty-six elementary education majors comprise by far the largest field of study.

Mathematics Award Established In Memory of Charles G. Pitner

The family of Charles G. Pitner, the late chairman of Harding's mathematics department, has begun offering an annual award in his memory to an outstanding junior or senior mathematics student.

A $100 prize and a permanent plaque bearing the names of the recipients are being provided by Mrs. Mary Pitner, his wife, of Tipton, Ind., and by his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Gooden of Montgomery City, Mo. Mr. Pitner died in 1961.

The first recipient was Granville Sewell of Searcy, a senior who will be graduated in August.

Tahkodah Music Camp Still Taking Students For Aug. 25-Sept. 3

Reservations are still being taken for the 8th annual Tahkodah Music Camp scheduled Aug. 25-Sept. 3.

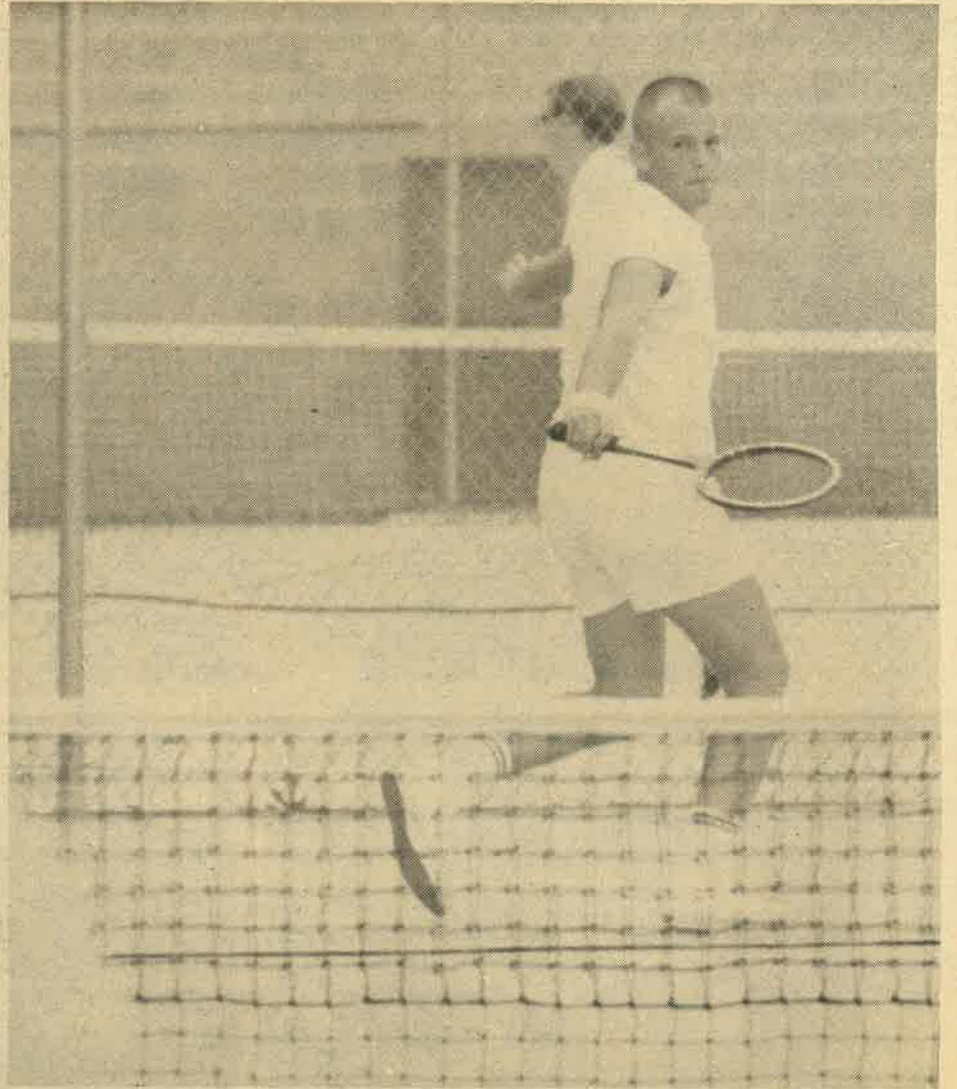

Three members of the Harding music faculty will conduct the camp, which again this year will offer courses in music fundamentals, vocal methods, song leading, sight-singing, music appreciation, conducting and Bible.

The faculty will be headed by camp manager Dr. Kenneth Davis Jr., associate professor of music and director of the A Cappella Chorus. He will be assisted by George Baggett, assistant professor of music and director of the Band, and Cliff Ganus III, instructor in music and director of the Chorale.

Harding's music groups will attend the camp to prepare for their year's activities, but others who have completed at least the sophomore year in high school are welcome.

Dr. Davis said, "In years past the camp has proved useful not only for our groups but also for those preparing for college music work and for church songleaders."

Camp Tahkodah is located near Huff, Ark., about 40 miles north of Searcy. The cost of $40.50 includes room, board, insurance and bed linens.

Scholar-athlete David Elliott gets set for a backhand return.

Bisons Dominate AIC Prize

Elliott Is Scholar-Athlete

For the eighth time in thirteen years and for the sixth year in a row, a Harding athlete has been named the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference scholar-athlete of the year.

David Elliott of Nashville is the 1969 winner of the Clifford H. Shaw Scholar-Athlete Award, named in honor of the AIC's commissioner.

Elliott, a four-year letterman in tennis, compiled a 3.867 grade average and was graduated summa cum laude in June with a B.A. in physical education.

The award is made each year to the graduating senior in the conference who has earned at least two varsity letters and compiled the highest grade point average during his four years of college.

In the last two years Elliott paced

Harding netters to conference championships, teaming with Dean Bawcom in 1968 to win the doubles title and placing second to Bawcom in singles play.

At this year's sports banquet he was named Harding's Outstanding Senior Athlete. He also was included in the 1969 editions of "Outstanding College Athletes of America" and "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." He served as sports editor of the 1969 Harding yearbook and was a member of Lambda Sigma social club and Alpha Chi honor society.

New Faces to Appear In Coaching Positions

New faces will prevail in 1969-70 as seven new coaches will join the athletic department in September, including four graduate assistants.

Head football coach John Prock, who is now the dean of the coaches in point of service, adds line coach Cliff Sharp ('61) and Dick Johnson ('60) to his staff. Sharp moves up from Harding Academy and Johnson returns to his alma mater after a highly successful prep career in Atlanta and Jefferson, Ga.

Five will take over head coaching spots. Jess Bucy of Rector replaces newly appointed athletic director Hugh Groover in basketball with former All-AIC and Bison great Ned Boaz to assist as graduate assistant.

Johnson, who was named Georgia's "Baseball Coach of the Year" in 1965, will also direct Bison baseballers in addition to his football duties. Assistant golf coach Norman Merritt will move up to direct golf activities next year. Swimming will be coached by graduate assistant Mike Clark, a 1962 graduate of David Lipscomb.

Stepping in for cross-country coach Ted Lloyd, who is on a year's leave of absence coaching in Panama, will be Dean of Students Virgil Lawyer. He will bring a perfect record with him, having directed the '66 and '67 harrier teams to conference championships. Two graduate assistants, Gordon Scoles of the University of Northern Iowa and Harding All-American Jim Crawford, will serve as assistants.
