Record Setting Attendance Highlights Annual Seminar

Harding College BULLETIN

Vol. 48      July, 1972      No. 1

A record 506 high school students from six states attended Harding's 17th annual Youth Citizenship Seminar held June 11-17. Participants came from as far away as Panama City, Fla., and Columbus, Ohio, to share in the program designed to motivate a more forceful expression of pride in American ideals. Joining the Florida and Ohio participants were students from Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee and Texas. The program is sponsored by Harding's American Studies Program, Civitan Clubs and the Arkansas Farm Bureau.

Nationally known speakers for the event included Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach (pictured above), Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi of Bradley University, former Congressman Dr. Walter Judd, and Augusto Villalon, former general manager of the American Sugar Company in Havana. Commenting on the program, American Studies director Billy Ray Cox noted, "This year's seminar was not only a conference of great quantity, but I also felt that it had the highest calibre of students to attend a Youth Citizenship Seminar. They were more honest, more intelligent, and more energetic than any group I have ever seen. These students are my hope for a greater America in which there is equality and justice for all."

Physical Education Professor Dies

Thirty-five years of service to Harding ended May 30 with the sudden death of M. E. "Pinky" Berryhill, professor of physical education.

During his more than three decades at Harding he had witnessed the growth of the institution from an enrollment of less than 200 to its present size of more than 2,000 students.

He served as both teacher and coach. His philosophy of Christian education could best be summarized in his own words. "We are here to provide a good secular education in a Christian environment. Our commitment is to Christ and His Word."

Berryhill, aged 61, a native of Knox City, Tex., was well-known for his activities in education, athletics, and youth development.

A 1934 graduate of Harding, he earned his Master's degree in 1937 at George Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. From 1935 to 1937 he taught at David Lipscomb College, but returned to Harding in 1937.

In 1951 he was responsible for developing in Searcy the first Little League Baseball program in Arkansas. The current city-wide program is the outgrowth of Berryhill's endeavors. An avid sportsman in many areas, he also developed the junior golf program in Searcy.

Record Number Enrolls For First Summer Session

A record number of students enrolled in courses for Harding's first five-week summer session. A total of 485 students have registered for courses on the Searcy campus.

Dr. James F. Carr, director of the summer sessions, pointed out that the enrollment tally does not include participants in the International Studies Program or 15 students on a work-study tour to French speaking countries of Europe.

The 78 members of the International Studies Program are participating in a four-week study in seven European countries.

"If we add the number of participants in these two programs to the enrollment on campus, we have already surpassed the enrollment for both summer sessions last year," Dr. Carr explained.

Included in the campus enrollment were 28 participants in the Reading Workshop, 17 students in the Mathematics Workshop, 22 students in the Developmental Program for freshmen and 14 students in the Advanced Studies Program for High School Juniors.

M. E. Berryhill

Berryhill was a veteran of World War II, serving in the United States Navy from 1944-46. He was a member of the American Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, Phi Delta Kappa, Phi Gamma Mu and the Arkansas Education Association.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, Richard Ervin of Little Rock and Don O'Neal and John David of Searcy; a daughter, Mrs. Naita Jean Tate of Columbia, S. C.; two brothers, Everett Berryhill of Rochester, Tex., and J. E. Berryhill of Searcy; a sister, Mrs. V. F. Thomas of Knox City, Tex.; and five grandchildren.

Professor's Articles Listed in Publication

Dr. Edmond Wilson, assistant professor of chemistry, was a contributing author to the April issue of the publication, Inorganic Chemistry.

The publication included Wilson's article concerning "Properties of Palladium (II) Complexes of Peptides and Histidines in Basic Solution." Associated with Dr. Wilson in the study were T. Phil Ritner and R. Bruce Martin.

Since joining the Harding faculty in 1970, Wilson has had six articles published in scholarly journals. The publications include the Journal of Physical Chemistry, Analytical Chemistry, Journal of the American Chemical Society, and Archives of Biochemistry and Biophysics.

Dr. Edmond Wilson

Wilson is a native of Selma, Ala. and received his master's and doctorate degrees from the University of Alabama. From 1968-70 he served as a research associate at the University of Virginia.

He is a member of the American Chemical Society, Sigma Xi, Delta Upsilon Social Fraternity and the Virginia Academy of Science. His wife, the former Elizabeth Kennemer of Athens, Ala., also is a member of the Harding faculty, serving as an instructor in the home economics department.

Financial Aid for '72-73 School Year Totals $1.5 Million

More than $1.5 million in assistance will be available in financial aid to Harding College students during the 1972-73 academic year, Russell Showalter, director of student financial aid, announced.

"Several areas of assistance, loans, scholarships, grants and work programs make up the entire college program," he said, "and we want to be of help to as many students as we possibly can."

Showalter indicated loan programs at Harding include: National Defense Student Loans (NDSL), the Guaranteed Student Loan Program and the Harding College Loan Program. Educational Opportunity Grants (EOG) and Harding College grants are also available to students who qualify.

All students are eligible for the Guaranteed Student Loans, a federal program which provides up to $1,500 a regular school year. No interest is charged while the student is in school provided the family's adjusted gross income is less than $15,000. Repayment is not required until a student has completed school and has had time to secure employment.

EOG grants are made to students from low income families and NDSL loans have cancellation advantages for those who become teachers. Up to 10 years are allowed for repayment of the NDSL loan and portions of the loan can be forgiven, depending upon where a person does his teaching.

Harding scholarship funds amount to $295,000 in student aid, made up of academic, departmental and special subject area scholarships. Also, $91,000 will be available in the federally-assisted work-study program and $184,000 in the Harding College work program.

Students needing more information concerning financial assistance should write Showalter at Harding College, Station A, Searcy, Arkansas 72143.

Swaid Swaid

Swaid Swaid Awarded Memorial Scholarship

Swaid Swaid, a senior biology major from Eilaboun, Israel, has been named the recipient of the 1972 Duane E. Priest Pre-Medical Memorial Scholarship.

The native of Israel is a member of the Knights social club. He has compiled an outstanding academic record during his first three years at Harding with a 3.929 grade-point average on 99 semester hours. He has been listed on the Dean's List five of the six semesters he has attended Harding.

Based on a criteria of Christian character, financial need, and academic ability, the fund was established in memory of Duane E. Priest, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Earl Priest of Memphis. Duane was a pre-medical student at Harding from 1967-69. He and his wife, Cecilia Phillips, were involved in a tragic accident in which Duane was fatally injured.

The 1971 recipient of the memorial scholarship, Miss Ellen Kramar, was recently accepted at Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

To Will or Not to Will . . . ?

that is the question. Various sources estimate that from 50% to 85% of all Americans die intestate — that is, without a will. Millions of dollars pile up in probate court weekly. Additional expenses and taxes erode estate values unnecessarily as helpless heirs vainly deplore the situation.

Harding recently published a booklet that details reasons why people fail to write a will. The booklet entitled, "Questions and Answers About Your Will," answers most often asked questions about writing a will. The answers further outline why a will is needed and what can be accomplished with a will, as well as what happens when there is no will.

If you wish a complimentary copy of the booklet, just complete and mail the attached order blank. A will must be tailored to meet individual needs, and to help fill this need, Harding now offers free assistance in estate planning, which includes writing a will. If such a service would benefit you, just mark the appropriate blank before mailing the order blank.

Isom, Hollaway Awarded Doctorates

Allan Isom, assistant professor of Bible, and William Hollaway, assistant professor of music, completed requirements for doctorates and received their degrees during spring commencement exercises.

Isom received the Ed.D. degree in psychology and counseling from the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary during exercises May 11.

The native of Louisiana received the B.A. degree from Harding and the M.R.E. and M.Th. degrees from Harding's Graduate School of Religion. He was selected as the College's Outstanding Young Teacher in 1968.

His doctoral work was a study of the financial conditions of Church of Christ ministers. Isom joined the Harding faculty in 1963.

Hollaway was awarded a Ph.D. degree in music theory by North Texas State University of Denton in commencement exercises May 16.

A 1957 graduate of Henderson State College, Hollaway joined the Harding faculty in 1966. He received his Master's degree in music education from North Texas in 1959.

In his doctoral study, Hollaway translated the book "Musica Instrumentalis Deudsch," written in 1528 by Martin Agricola, a contemporary of Martin Luther. His dissertation compared Agricola's work with other books on musical instruments written in the 16th century.

Memphis Graduate School Presents 45 Degrees

A record 45 students received graduate degrees from the Harding Graduate School of Religion at commencement exercises May 20. Six received Master of Theology degrees and 39 the Master of Arts degrees. The Master of Arts degree represents the completion of a one-year curriculum; the Master of Theology, a three-year program.

Since the first graduating class in 1959, 379 students have received graduate degrees from Harding in Memphis. The Master of Arts has been earned by 254 students, the Master of Religious Education by 58, and the Master of Theology by 67.

Dr. F. W. Mattox, President of Lubbock Christian College, presented a challenging address to the graduating class. He stressed the importance of devotion and dedication to God and of courageous service by men of God.

Academic awards were given to three students with the highest academic grade averages — Tom Eddins, Bill Collins, and Pat McGee. Eddins received the M.Th. Academic Award. McGee and Collins each received the M.A. Academic Award. Each of these students also received a Dickson Bible donated by an alumnus, Dan Ottinger, of Nashville, Tenn.

During commencement week, Dr. W. B. West, Jr., Dean, received a presentation from the student body in the form of a plaque. The plaque read, "Hoe Your Row to the End, Preached and Practiced by Dr. W. B. West, Jr., Dean, Harding Graduate School of Religion, 1955-1972." During his tenure as Dean Dr. West made this statement quite often to encourage students to complete their work.

Six Teachers Honored

Six Harding teachers have been chosen Outstanding Educators of America for 1972. Nominated earlier this year, they were selected for the honor on the basis of their civic and professional achievements.

Selected for recognition were President Clifton L. Ganus; Dr. Don England, professor of chemistry; Dr. Ray Muncy, associate professor of history; Mrs. Betty Watson, assistant professor of elementary education; Murrey Wilson, assistant professor of education; and Dr. Winfred Wright, associate professor of French.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education.

Each year those chosen outstanding educators are featured in a national awards volume, Outstanding Educators of America. Nominations for the program are made by officials of colleges and universities including presidents, deans, and department chairmen.

Martin Assumes Position

Gary Martin, a 1971 Harding graduate, has assumed the duties of special representative for the college. His activities will include speaking at youth rallies, church gatherings and general student recruitment work.

He first joined the Harding staff following his graduation from college. He served during the past academic year as a teacher in the Harding Academy of Searcy and as a student recruiter for the college.

The new special representative was a secondary education major at Harding. He was selected to appear in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. He served as manager of the campus radio station and as a member of the Student Association.

In making the announcement of the appointment, Billy Ray Cox, vice president, pointed out that Martin's services are available to any group. The only expense that is assumed by the host are arrangements for food and lodging. The college assumes all travel costs.

Anyone desiring more information should write Office of the Vice President, Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas 72143.

Bison Track Coach Holds National Office

Ted Lloyd, track and cross country coach at Harding, was elected secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Track and Field Coaches Association during the national track meet in Billings, Mont. June 2.

Roger Huffman of Dickinson State College (N. D.) is the new president. Other officers are Hoover Wright of Prairie View A&M College (Tex.), first vice-president, and George Glass of Taylor University (Ind.), second vice president.

Lloyd, also an assistant professor of physical education, joined the Harding faculty in 1964 after serving as football and track coach at Harding Academy from 1957-64. He is a 1957 graduate of Harding and earned his M.S. degree in 1964 from the University of Mississippi.

A native of Spring Hill, Kans., the 38-year-old Lloyd is currently serving as president of the Arkansas Track Coaches Association and as a vice-president of the Arkansas-AAU organization. In 1969-70, he served as the national coach of Panama and was nominated for a coaching position with the 1972 U. S. Olympic team. He was named in the "Outstanding Young Men of America" honors volume of 1970.

Lloyd has directed Harding's track and cross country teams to four Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference championships, including the 1971 cross country title. In that time he has coached two All-Americans, Cliff Clark and Jim Crawford, both of whom are candidates for the 1972 U. S. Olympic team.

Homecoming '72

Make your plans now to spend Oct. 26-28 on the Harding campus enjoying the Homecoming '72 activities. Tickets for the Black and Gold Alumni Banquet, the Harding-Mississippi College gridiron game, and the Homecoming musical "Man of La Mancha" may be ordered from Harding's Alumni Office. Don't miss this opportunity to visit with former classmates and participate in a weekend of festivities.

Dixon and Gooden Slated for Key Roles in Gridiron Attack

Outstanding offensive backs and an improved overall defense could spell trouble for Harding College opponents this fall. Returning for Bison coach John Prock are 195-pound all-district tailback Alan Dixon, a junior from Fitzgerald, Ga., and triple-threat quarterback Tom Ed Gooden of Carlisle, who together accounted for 2156 total yards gained in 1971. For the second consecutive year Dixon rushed for more than 800 yards while Gooden passed and ran for 1271 yards after taking over at quarterback in the fourth game of the season.

The Bisons lost two NAIA all-Americans in first team guard Jerry Cook and honorable mention split end Ronnie Peacock.

"There's no way you lose boys of that caliber and not get hurt," Prock said. "We've got some good athletes on hand and they'll just have to step in and do the job."

In addition to Dixon and Gooden, McGehee's Harry Starnes will carry a heavy offensive lead at the flanker spot. After missing the first four games, Starnes caught 29 passes for 312 yards last year and is as fine a receiver as the conference has. He could pick up where the record-setting Peacock left off.

Along with Dixon, sophomore Jack Barber of Fort Myers, Fla., will see heavy running duty as will fullback Ted Walters, a spring semester transfer. Roger Collins of Columbus, Miss., and Terry Welch of McGehee should insure depth and experience in the man-under spot. Welch is the strongest passer of the three quarterbacks.

Five starters return to key the offensive forward wall. Ed Eason (6-4, 230) of Fort Worth, Tex., and Neil Thompson (6-1, 214) of Tucker, Ga., will man the tackle spots and tough Rick Brown of Ocilla, Ga., is back at left guard. Lepanto's Mike Clem (6-4, 240) appears set for another good year at center. During spring drills tight end Rance Reagan of Memphis and David Williams of Little Rock challenged for Cook's vacated guard spot. It could go either way.

Steve Clary of Carbondale, Ill., a two-year letterman who caught 13 for 198 yards last year, returns at tight end.

Defensively, things are also looking up, at least in finding a top eleven. The Bisons' NAIA nationally ranked defensive secondary returns intact. Back are halfbacks David Lumpkin of Alma and Rodney Echols of Forrest City and safeties Gary Hunter of Searcy and Gary Gregg of Columbiana, O. Lumpkin led the AIC last year in interceptions with five. Steve Hinds of Pacifica, Calif., a starter until injured, is also back.

Up front lettermen James Pigg of New Concord, Ky., and Larry Richmond of West Memphis have a year's experience behind them at the end spots. Mountain Home sophomore Barney Crawford (6-5, 230) and Newport senior Dale Payne had great spring practices at the tackle spots. Both could be outstanding. All-AIC defensive noseguard Clarence Hicks (5-7, 207) of Forrest City is counted on heavily but he must come back from knee surgery.

"Last year we had enough injuries to last us two or three years," Prock stated. "With us depth is always a problem and '72 will be no exception."

Unless something unforeseen occurs, 16 seniors are expected back in the fall, a large number for an AIC school. If serious injuries can be avoided, it could be a good omen.

N. E. Missouri Bulldogs Added to Grid Schedule

A new opponent, Northeast Missouri State College of Kirksville, Mo., has been added to the 1972 Harding football schedule, athletic director Hugh Groover announced.

Champions of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association in 1971 with an impressive 9-1 record, the Bulldogs will be directed by first-year coach Randy Lukehart. The contest, set for September 23, will be the first meeting of the two schools.

"We know the Missouri schools play a good brand of football," Bison head coach John Prock said, "and we're looking forward to the competition."

In a revamped schedule, Harding will host Austin College Sept. 9 in the season opener; Henderson State, Sept. 30, Arkansas Tech, Oct. 14; Mississippi College, Oct. 28; and State College of Arkansas, Nov. 18.

Road games will find the Bisons playing Millsaps College Sept. 16; Northeast Missouri, Sept. 23; Ouachita Baptist, Oct. 7; Southern State, Nov. 4; and the University of Arkansas at Monticello, Nov. 11.

Junior tailback Alan Dixon [45] will again lead a host of Bison runners.
