May Graduation Rites Honor More than 300 in '77 Class

More than 320 seniors were graduated in commencement exercises May 15 at the college's year-old athletic-physical education center.

James Moffett, minister of the Raleigh Church of Christ in Memphis, spoke to a crowd of more than 3,000, and Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., president of the college, presented the diplomas.

In his address, Moffett pointed out that while a few of the graduates would be outstanding leaders with well-known names, many of them would be like those mentioned in Luke 24:9: the "and others."

"Outside of Searcy, Harding College might be known to many through perhaps ten well-known names," Moffett said. "But these ten men cannot operate the school by themselves . . . it takes those who teach, those who strive day by day, those who toil in obscurity to make it the institution it is."

"Our task in life is to always keep God's Word before us, to pray for godliness and to have a hope that is as bright as the majesty of God."

Dr. Winfred Wright, professor of French, Dr. Ed Sewell, professor of education, and Dr. Dennis Organ, assistant professor of English, received the Distinguished Teacher awards.

Accompanying the awards were checks for $1,000 each. It was the second time Dr. Wright and Dr. Sewell, chairmen of their respective departments, had received the honor.

Named as honor graduates were James Robert Lackie of Baton Rouge and Larry Logan Lane of Warner Robins, Ga. The two accounting majors

Family Day Planned In Lectureship Week

A special day of interest to parents and families of Harding students has been added to the annual Harding College Bible Lectureship. Saturday, Oct. 8, has been designated "Family Day" with a number of special events planned.

The Lectureship, "Facing the Issues," will conclude on Friday, Oct. 7. Serving as director for the Family Day, Dr. James Carr, assistant to the president, said, "Each year a number of parents who come to the Lectureship stay over the weekend to be with their children. We are planning activities for them as well as for prospective students, parents of prospective students and other friends who can stay over the weekend."

The day will begin with special tours of the campus, conferences with faculty members and informal receptions. A free barbecue lunch will be served at noon.

Performances by Harding musical groups and a football game between the Bisons and Ouachita Baptist University will complete the day's events.

recorded 4.0 grade averages in their four years of undergraduate study. There have been only six previous 4.0 graduates in the college's history.

Also receiving mention were John Michael O'Keefe, a social science major from St. Louis, and Ronald Brimberry, a biology major from Rapid City, S.D., who posted 3.97 and 3.96 averages respectively.

Calvin Dale Cherry of Phoenix, Ariz., who was graduated in winter commencement rites, was selected winner of the Charles G. Pitner Mathematics Award. The Ray Kinslow Science Award and a check for $100 went to Robert Walker of Maryville, Tenn.

The Ganus Awards and $100 checks for the highest grades recorded for the past year were awarded to Miss Karyn Jordan of Denver and Bruce Nunnally of Memphis.

Recipients of the Utley Awards for improvement were Miss Susan Lynn Miller of Marietta, Ga. and Clifford Morris Seawel of Birmingham, Ala. Named for Mort Utley, the honor is presented annually to two freshmen, sophomores or juniors and covers one-half tuition for the following term.

James Moffett, minister of Raleigh Church of Christ in Memphis, addresses the graduating seniors at Harding's May 15 commencement exercises in the spacious athletic-physical education complex.

Antebellum Mansion Donated to College

A stately antebellum estate, now known as the "Great Oaks" in Greenwood, Fla. and valued at $250,000, has been donated to Harding College by its owners and restorers, Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Reese, according to Vice President Bill Cox.

The site is listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

"Making this valuable property available is a beautiful example of Christian stewardship on the part of the Reese family," Cox said. "Not only have they assisted Harding College, but they will enjoy the fruits of their labors during their remaining years through a remainder trust agreement."

Reese, an elder in the Marianna, Fla. Church of Christ congregation, purchased the house in 1961 from the descendants of the original owner. Great Oaks, at one time known as the Bryan Plantation, was built in 1860 by Hamilton Bryan, a planter. When bought by Reese, the structure was in a state of disrepair, having twice been used as a school.

As a result of the attention of Reese, the owner of a construction firm, and his wife Frances, the home now stands as Jackson County's (Fla.) most elegant and faithful restoration of an antebellum mansion. Restoration was completed in 1966. It is constructed entirely of yellow heart pine except for the cherry stair rail. The original smoke house still stands near the main dwelling.

The downstairs level, with its 12-foot ceilings, encompasses 2,560 square feet of living space. Upstairs, four bedrooms, a library, a family sitting room and two full baths total 2,420 square feet. The house, centrally heated and air-conditioned, is fully insulated and totally electric.

With regard to the gift, Cox said, "More and more individuals are making decisions to leave their homes to the work of the Lord. Many of them do so through remainder interest gifts. They retain the right to own, use, possess and enjoy the property for as long as they live. At the time of their passing, it automatically belongs to Harding."

"In addition to lifetime use and enjoyment, they obtain an immediate income tax deduction, and the property is free from estate taxes and probate expenses. It is a great arrangement and fully approved by the U.S. Government."

The historic Great Oaks estate, donated to Harding by Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Reese, stands as an elegant restoration of an antebellum mansion.

International Campaigners To Work in Seven Countries

More than 90 International Campaign team members left from Harding College May 18 to work in seven different countries.

Under the direction of the College Church of Christ, the campaigners are participating in five different groups assigned to cities in Brazil, Germany and Austria, Italy, England and Holland and Belgium.

L.V. Pfeifer, assistant professor of Bible, is Harding's campus coordinator.

The Harding students will be joined by a number of other students from sister colleges in cooperative efforts to the two continents of Europe and South America for campaigns that will range from six to eight weeks.

Each of the International Campaign groups has at least one adult sponsor. The teams are involved in doorknocking, passing out literature, singing in public squares and extending invitations to gospel meetings.

Twenty-five of the group are headed for campaigns in Germany and Austria. They are supervised by Harding faculty members Jerry Jones, Kenneth Davis Jr. and Jack McKinney.

Pfeifer and Van Tate of the college sociology department are accompanying the 14 going to England.

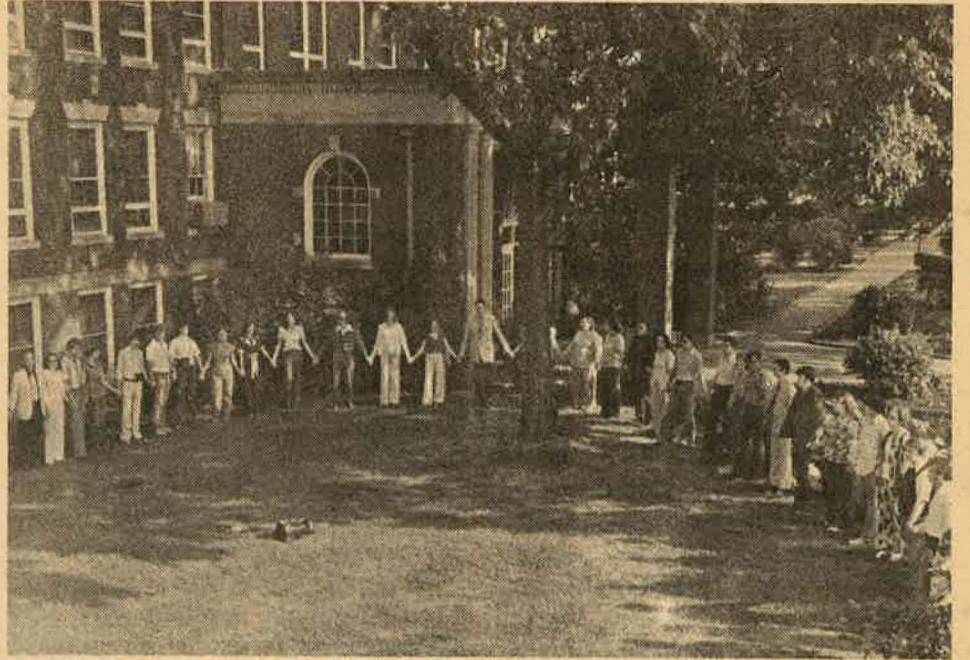

This past year's visiting professor of missions, Earl Edwards, will take a group of 14 to work in his former mission home, Italy.

The group of 20 who will campaign in Brazil will be under the direction of Darrell Davis, a former missionary.

The Holland and Belgium-bound team of 12 will work under Robin Moss.

Another group, composed of 10 Harding students and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conley as sponsors, will leave for Argentina in July.

International Campaigns is in its 11th year.

Before leaving for seven countries in Europe and South America, the 90-plus International Campaigners from Harding join hands and hearts in prayer.

Three-in-One Workshops to Host Preachers, Elders, Leaders' Wives

Three Bible workshops will simultaneously offer a full schedule of three-day programs for preachers, elders and preachers' and elders' wives on the Harding campus Aug. 2-4.

In an effort to provide opportunities of spiritual strengthening and encouragement to the three groups, the workshops will highlight various preachers and church leaders who will speak at the sessions.

Preachers attending the workshop will hear Ed Sanders speaking on "Biblical Interpretation" and Carey Looney on "Husband-Wife Relationships," in daily sessions. Other presentations will be made by Jim Woodroof, Bill Cox, Will Ed Warren, Jerry Jones and Jack Wood Sears.

Those attending the workshop for elders will be addressed in daily meetings by Allan Isom, "Building Soul-Saving Educational Programs," and Jack Thomas, "The Christian Counselor." Also planned for the elders' group are presentations by Woodroof, Sears, George S. Benson, Jim Woodell and Eddie Lewis.

The wives will hear daily presentations by Carey Looney talking on "Building Emotionally Stable Lives," Mrs. Jane McWhorter on "The Supportive Wife" and Avon Malone on "Ephesians, Philippians and Colossians." Mrs. John Vaught will also speak to the wives.

The three groups will combine each evening to hear keynote lectures by Neale Pryor, "Lessons from the Books of History and Poetry;" Malone, "All-Sufficient Christ;" and John Gipson, "The Challenge of Following Christ."

Further information and brochure material about any of these workshops is available through the Harding Bible department.

Robert E. Forcum, a Miami, Fla. businessman, is interviewed by President Clifton L. Ganus Jr. in a taping session for the Harding College Oral History Association library. The college, as a member of the national association, is active in oral history's unique method of preserving records that might otherwise be lost to future generations.

June 28-30 Preachers' Workshop Announces Available Openings

Approximately 35 openings are still available for ministers wishing to attend the special Preachers' Workshop at Harding College June 28-30, according to Dr. Jerry Jones, chairman of the Bible department.

"We want to limit our quota to 100 for this program," Dr. Jones said. "The program, now in its third year, is at its best when the maximum of personalized attention is possible. But we want to fill our quota so that as many as possible can take advantage of the Workshop."

The concentrated three-day Workshop offers in-depth instruction in sermon content and delivery taught by members of the Harding Bible faculty.

The daily sessions will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at 9 p.m. The Workshop attendants will have access to the extensive Bible program facilities at Harding, including the latest in audio and video equipment. A syllabus will be provided.

Morning classes on the three-day program are "Improving Sermon Structure" taught by Dr. Jones and "Preaching from John" with James Woodroof, minister of Searcy's College Church of Christ.

In the afternoon sessions Tom Eddins will direct a class in "Preaching Values of the Greek and Hebrew Texts," Dr. Jones in "Preaching Persuasive Sermons," and Dr. Neale Pryor in "Preaching from the Prophets."

From 7 to 7:50 p.m. each evening the ministers will participate in an open group sharing session.

Scheduled for 8-9 p.m. are a presentation on "Use of Transparencies in Preaching" with Louis Butterfield for Tuesday and choices of hearing taped presentations on "Gospel Meeting Preparation" by Jack Gray, "Four C's of Evangelism" by Jimmy Allen and "Preaching from the Prison Epistles" by Avon Malone the next two evenings.

For additional information or reservations contact Dr. Jones at Box 939, Harding College, Searcy, AR 72143.

Campus Notes

Cooperative Education Program Expands to Include Parallel Plan

The Harding faculty has approved an expansion of the Cooperative Education Program to include what is commonly called the parallel plan.

Since the beginning of Harding's Cooperative Education Program in the spring of 1975, more than 30 students have been placed in work assignments under the alternating plan whereby they alternate semesters of academic study on campus with semesters of full-time professional or business work off campus.

The response of participating students has been overwhelmingly in favor of the Cooperative Education experience. Yet, most Harding students are reluctant to give up a semester of campus activities for this valuable career preparation. After all, most of them have chosen Harding because of the social and spiritual advantages of campus life in a Christian environment.

Two important changes are being implemented, therefore, to meet more realistically the needs of the Harding student — and also the needs of many business and professional organizations. First, increased emphasis will be given to full-time placements during the summer for the students who prefer the alternate plan and for employers whose needs for summer personnel are greater.

The more significant change, however, is the implementation of the parallel program whereby students will be assigned to part-time work positions while being regularly enrolled in academic courses on campus.

The same guidelines applied to students under the alternate plan will apply to students participating in the parallel program with the exception that the approved work assignment may be only a half-time position. The positions will have to be in Searcy or in commuting distance of the Searcy campus to permit the student to be regularly enrolled in the campus academic program.

Early Orientation II Slated for July 18-20

Incoming freshmen who were unable to attend the first Early Orientation session, June 9-11, may still take advantage of the preregistration program in the second session, July 18-20.

The two three-day sessions are planned to help acquaint the new students with college campus life. The students are given time and opportunity to meet and make friends with other incoming students who will be their classmates in the fall.

The students are also provided with a clearer picture of Harding College and further explanation of its goals and purposes. By staying in the college dormitories, they will also be able to experience more of the day-to-day activities of a typical Harding student.

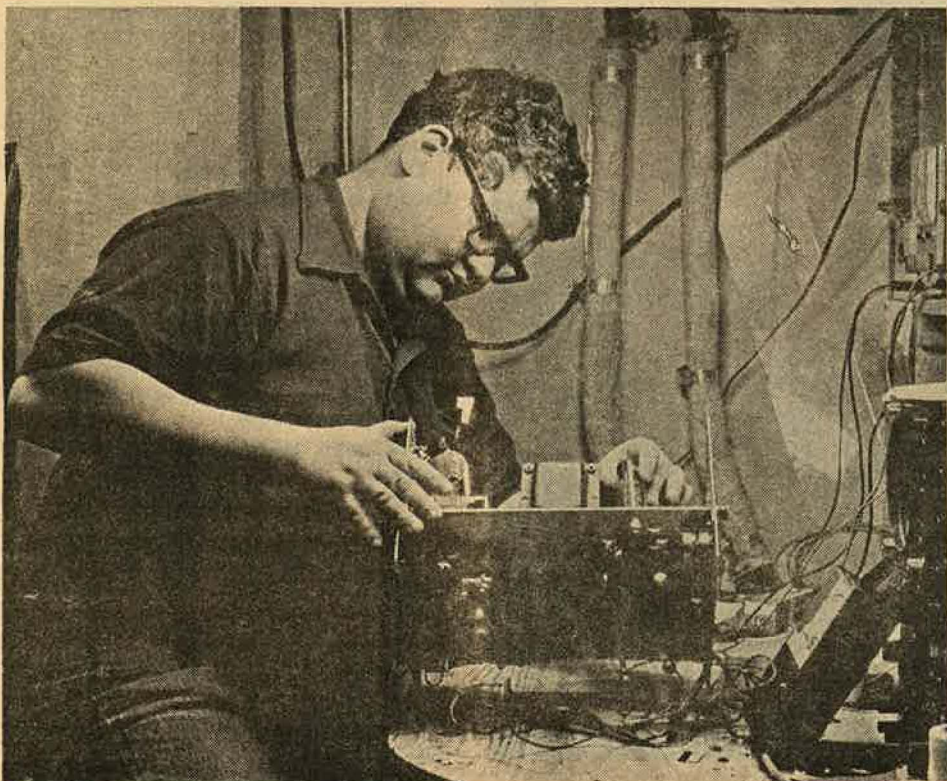

The Early Orientation will also allow the newcomers to take physical fitness examinations which they would otherwise have to take later in the opening days of the fall semester.

Campus Red Cross Blood Draw Sets State Participation Record

A state Red Cross record fell when the Harding student body reached some self-set goals for a Blood Draw on campus in April.

Students, faculty and staff joined forces to donate 1,004 pints of blood, reaching their goal of 1,000 units and participating at a percentage higher than ever before.

The Draw produced the largest number of units of blood ever donated at a college or university in Arkansas. Also, the 300-plus units per day topped the previous best daily output for a three-day draw.

"It was a fantastic achievement for the student body," Richard Hall, director of Arkansas Red Cross donor recruitment and information, stated. "Our people always look forward to coming to Harding, and this effort sums up the reasons why."

More than 38 on-campus organizations, spearheaded by the Student Association, cooperated in the effort. Social clubs with the highest percentage participation were Kappa Sigma Kappa and Oege. Chi Sigma Alpha and Regina donated the highest number of units.

Ed White, assistant professor of English, not only lent his organizational expertise, but also turned out to donate the final unit for his seventh gallon.

Plummer Authors Herpetology Articles

Dr. Michael V. Plummer, assistant professor of biology, has written several articles which have been published or are to be published in various professional science journals.

Also, he presented a research paper recently at the annual meeting of the Southwestern Association of Naturalists at Northwestern University in Natchitoches, La. and is scheduled to speak at the University of Kansas for the Society for the Study of Amphibians and Reptiles and The Herpetologists' League in August.

"Some Aspects of Nesting Success in the Turtle, Trionyx muticus" was published as the lead article in the December 1976 issue of Herpetologica, the quarterly publication of The Herpetologists' League.

In the February issue of Journal of Herpetology, a quarterly publication of the SSAR, was "Notes on the Courtship and Mating Behavior of the Softshell Turtle, Trionyx muticus (Reptilia, Testudines, Trionychidae)."

"Predation by Black Rat Snakes in Bank Swallow Colonies" was published in the March issue of The Southwestern Naturalist, quarterly publication of Southwestern Association of Naturalists.

Three papers will be published in the June issue of Herpetological Review, quarterly publication of the SSAR, and two have been accepted for printing in the August issue of Copeia, quarterly publication of the American Society of Ichthyologists and Herpetologists.

Freshman Receives Top Symphony Honor

Phil Baker, a freshman Bible major from Lancaster, Ohio, received the top award of the Harding Symphony Orchestra for outstanding service and musicianship. Travis Cox, director, presented the award at the recent banquet of the Orchestra.

Baker, a cellist, has performed several times in prominent roles this year with the Harding String Quartet and the Strauss Orchestra. He played the cello solo "The Swan" from the Carnival of the Animals in three performances.

Other awards were presented by Cox to Miss Karen Arnold, principal flutist and president of the Orchestra; Miss Anne Hamilton, concertmistress; and Susan Morris, secretary-treasurer of the Orchestra.

Wanted: Interest in Blooming Campus

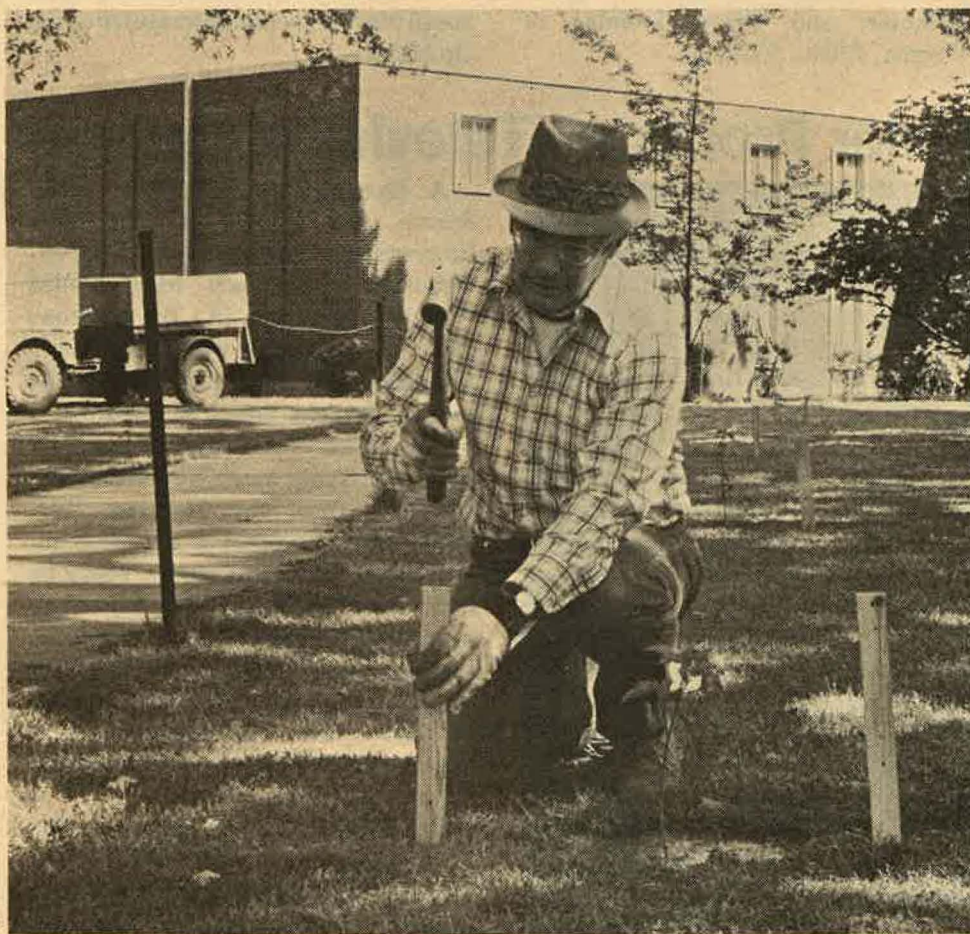

WANTED: Alumni who are interested in making our campus bloom.

A garden club in Little Rock recently made a generous contribution of money for the purchase of azaleas for the Harding campus. With added funds from the college, 290 azalea bushes have been set out on the inner campus.

It is our hope that this is just the beginning of Project Flowers. We can well use 3,000 azaleas, 300-400 dogwoods, 50 camelias, and flowering shrubs of other kinds.

Are there other garden clubs or individuals who will send us donations, large or small, to help make our campus bloom? You might wish to express a preference for the flowering shrub or tree that you want your money to purchase. Our efforts will be directed toward the purchase of perennial plants that do not require a great deal of pruning.

Virgil Lawyer has overseen the purchase and planting of the azaleas and will continue to give his services as long as needed. Make your checks to Harding College and designate the funds for Project Flowers.

Virgil Lawyer of the social sciences faculty adds his touch to a new solution for a non-growing problem, planting dogwood seedlings and marking their presence.

Unique Challenge Provides New Service Opportunity

A unique matching fund, Challenge '77, now offers segments of the Harding Alumni Association an opportunity never before offered.

Through the generosity of a donor who wishes to remain anonymous, Harding has available a fund to match, dollar for dollar, certain gifts or portions of gifts from alumni during 1977.

The Challenge '77 gift will match the amount of an alumnus' 1977 contribution if that alumnus has no current pledge or has never given before. And, if an alumnus did not contribute during 1976, the Challenge '77 gift will match the entire gift of his contribution to the 1977 annual fund campaign.

"Never before in the history of Harding College have our alumni received such a challenge," David Crouch, director of alumni relations, said. "The donor who provided the Challenge '77 matching gift has sought to give alumni the opportunity to increase the magnitude and effectiveness of their gifts to Harding.

"By participating in the Challenge '77 project, alumni will be able to generate additional funds to support Christian education at Harding."

The contributions Harding receives during the annual fund campaign are used to supplement the operating budget, since tuition does not cover the full cost of a student's education.

During 1977 Harding will need approximately $450,000 in gifts to meet its operating budget. The funds contributed during the Challenge '77 project will provide the "extra" required to maintain Harding's academic program.

Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., president, and the executive committee of the Alumni Association have designated two special areas to benefit from the additional funds raised in the Challenge '77 project.

"Harding's division of natural sciences is in need of new laboratory equipment," Ganus noted. "Equipment currently being used by the science department is more than ten years old. Advances in scientific teaching and research require modern instruments."

A second special area which will benefit from alumni response to the Challenge '77 project is the Christian Communications Program. The CCP is Harding's two-year preacher training program for men 21 or older.

Since most of the men who enroll in the program have families, there is a constant need for scholarship and loan funds to help these individuals defray some of the expenses involved in their education. Each year many men are not able to enroll in the Christian Communications Program because financial assistance is not available.

Mrs. Rowe Recognized for Service Dedicated to Christian Education

Mrs. Myrtle L. Rowe, retired missionary-teacher and a charter member of the Searcy Associated Women for Harding, was presented an honorary membership in AWH at the group's general meeting on the Searcy campus in May.

Mrs. C. L. Ganus Jr., retiring president of the Searcy chapter, made the presentation in recognition of "... service to Christian Education and a life exemplary of the Christian woman."

Mrs. Rowe, widowed three months before the birth of her son Don, taught at Harding in the training school until 1938 when she made a decision to go to Africa. She worked in the mission field in Kalomo and Namwianga until 1957 when she returned to Searcy, where she had maintained a residence. Again she taught sixth grade at Harding Elementary School until her retirement in 1963.

She wrote Silhouettes of Life relating her experiences of life after her retirement. Currently she resides in Searcy. She has maintained an active working membership in AWH through the years.

"The executive board had an easy decision in naming Mrs. Rowe for this honorary membership," Mrs. Ganus said. "Her example of making a beautiful and useful life when all odds seemed against her is truly an inspiration for all women."

Charles W. Fall (BA) has been in the Woolco manager's program for two years and has just received a promotion to a division manager in the Texas City Woolco Department Store.

He is married to the former Virginia Davis (BA'72).

Michael H. Murrie (BA) completed requirements in January for the M.A. degree in journalism at the University of Missouri, Columbia. He was also named news producer for KOCO-TV in Oklahoma City.

Murrie is married to the former Jacquelyn Dunsworth (BA'72). The couple has a son, Daniel.

Hal Wilson (BA) was graduated Jan. 30 from White's Ferry Road School of Preaching. He is currently serving as assistant minister for the church in Escanaba, Mich.

His wife is the former Mary Grove (BA). The couple has two children, John Charles and Ginny Carisse.

Class of 1974

Since leaving Searcy, Jerry Whitworth and his wife, the former Susan Dildine (BA'73), have worked with the deaf at the church in Olathe, Kan., where Jerry interpreted and wrote a Bible correspondence course for the deaf.

He also published a magazine for the deaf called "The Gift of God." During that time Jerry completed his B.S. degree in English from the University of Kansas, May 1975.

They then moved to the Hays, Kan. area. Jerry worked with project SCORE in Russell, Kan. for the 1975-76 school year. This was a federally funded experiment with learning disabled children.

For the 1976-77 school year Jerry began the secondary learning disability program in Plainville, Kan. He is one of the few teachers in northwest Kansas certified in secondary learning disabilities. While in the Hays area, Jerry has preached part-time for congregations in Hays, Agra and Russell.

Mrs. Robert Hollabaugh, the former Alice Arrington (BA), is teaching kindergarten while her husband serves with the U.S. Navy in Hampton, Va.

Mike Westerfield (BA) has been selected for the second time "Teacher of the Year" at York College in York, Neb.

He has also been named to the 1977 edition of Outstanding Young Men in America.

Westerfield is currently in his third year of teaching at York College and next year will also serve in the capacity of Assistant to the Academic Dean.

Education Program Adds New Course

Beginning next year, education students planning to teach on the elementary level will gain early classroom experience through a new course offered by the Department of Education.

The new course, coded Education 250 and titled Directed Experiences, will be offered as a Tuesday-Thursday course next fall and will be offered for three hours of credit. Additional hours will be required with the student serving as tutor, teacher aide and observer.

"The criticism has been made that some students go through four years preparing to teach only to discover while practice teaching that teaching is not for them," Dr. Ed Sewell, chairman of the education department, explained.

"This new course will not eliminate this problem, because the lab experiences are not as complete a test as student teaching," he added.

If an elementary education student takes Directed Experiences he will not be required to take Education 320, Audio-Visual Aids, a two-hour course.

Tennis Team Takes Second In Conference Title Match

Winning three singles brackets and one doubles, the Bison tennis team won runner-up honors in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference championships at Conway April 29-30.

The AIC's defending champs, the Bisons scored a total 28 points to take second behind Ouachita Baptist University, who tallied 30 points. Behind the top two runaway teams were Southern Arkansas University, 19; College of the Ozarks, 17; University of Central Arkansas, 12; Hendrix College, 10; Arkansas Tech University, 8; Henderson State University, 8; University of Arkansas-Monticello, 2; and Arkansas College, 1.

Competing with five freshmen and one junior, the Bisons, coached by David Elliott, were tied with champion Ouachita, 18-18, at the end of the first-day matches. All of Harding's entries had won in the opening brackets and advanced to the league's semi-final matches.

Junior Kyle Asbill of Jackson, Miss. captured the number two bracket singles championship by winning a default match from Ron Bush of College of the Ozarks.

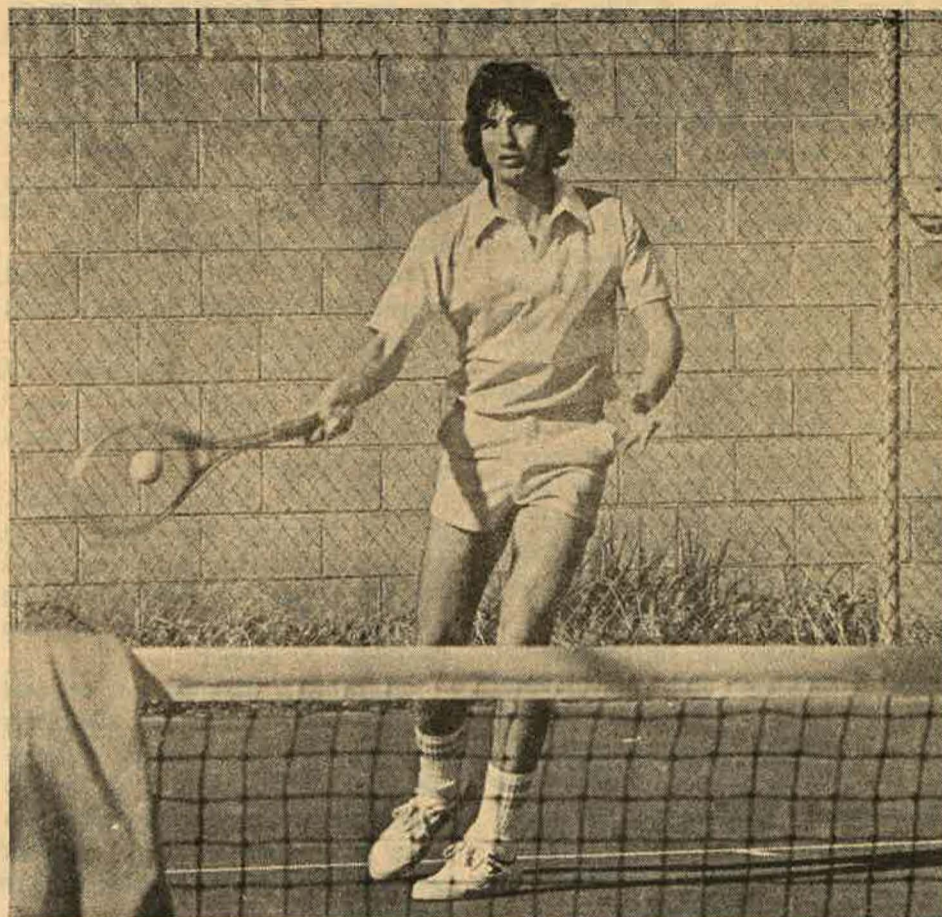

Freshman Don Wood of Columbus, Miss. handily defeated Olga Palafox 6-3, 6-2 to claim the number four singles title. Another Harding freshman, Tom Lindsey of Cleveland, Miss., upended Ouachita's Roy Jones 6-4, 6-1 in the number six singles finals.

Harding's doubles entry of Lindsey and Chris Jackson, a freshman from Brownsville, Tex., swept the number three bracket competition, climaxed by a 7-5, 7-5 win over Ross Grant and Don Phillips of Ouachita.

Rounding out the Bisons' singles entries were freshman Lindy Woods of Seminole, Tex., who narrowly lost a 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 decision to Cliff Vogel of College of the Ozarks in the number one position; freshman Dennis Sanders of Baytown, Tex., who went down 6-4, 6-3 to Ouachita's George Vega in the number three semi-finals; and Jackson, who went to the finals before being eliminated 6-0, 6-4 by Grant.

In doubles, the top Bison duo of Asbill-Woods dropped a close 6-3, 1-6, 6-3 match to the number one position Ozarks team. The Bisons' Wood-Sanders combination reached the finals of number two doubles before falling 6-1, 6-3 to Ouachita.

Lindy Woods, a freshman from Seminole, Tex., plays in the position one competition at the 1977 AIC tennis championships.

Athletes Finish Third in All-Sports Race

In a race determined by spring sports competition, Harding College finished third in the 1976-77 Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference All-Sports Trophy competition.

The University of Central Arkansas, with 73½ points, was the winner with Ouachita Baptist University second with 72 points. Harding was third with 66½

In winning the trophy, UCA did not claim an outright championship, but tied with Harding for the football title. The Bisons, in addition to football, won the cross country and bowling championships.

Ouachita was also the winner of three championships, all coming in the spring sports of tennis, golf and track. Southern Arkansas University finished fourth while winning the baseball championship. Henderson, winner of the basketball title, finished fifth; Arkansas Tech was sixth; Hendrix won the swimming championship and finished seventh and was followed by UA-Monticello, College of the Ozarks and Arkansas College in the standings.

Scoring for the All-Sports Trophy is computed on a basis of 11 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, 7 for fourth, 6 for fifth, 5 for sixth, 4 for seventh, 3 for eighth, 2 for ninth and 1 for tenth.

Last year the Bison athletic teams won the AIC's prestigious All-Sports trophy for the first time with 76 points, five points ahead of runner-up Ouachita. In 1975, Harding took runner-up honors, missing the top spot by two points.

Basketball Brochure Judged All-American

A Harding College sports publication, "Harding '76-'77," has been named the recipient of an All-America citation by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The announcement was made by Dr. Harry Fritz, executive secretary of the NAIA. Harding's brochure entry covered the basketball program of the college.

Records Fall in AIC Track Meet; League Converts to Metric System

Records fell in almost every event of the recent Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference track and field championship hosted by Harding in May.

Behind three second-place finishes Harding landed a fifth-place showing in the nine-team competition, with Ouachita Baptist University emerging as champs.

Run on Harding's new all-weather composition track, the meet was the first AIC title contest ever to be converted to the metric system of measurement. Thus, competitors needed only to surpass performances in the preliminaries to claim a league record.

The first record to fall was the shot put standard set by Harding's Jim Duncan in 1970. Arkansas Tech's Paul White heaved the shot 61-2½ to eclipse Duncan's seven year standing level of 57-5¾.

Bison pole vaulter Perry Fraley of Scottsdale, Ariz. captured second place in his event, bettered only by Ouachita's Jim Rankin who broke the existing conference record with a 15-5 vault. Fraley, a freshman, set a record of his own with a personal best 15-0, also good for the top spot in Harding track recordbooks.

Another Harding freshman pole vaulter, Tom Jones of Atkins, cleared 14-0 to claim fourth-place points.

A height of 6-6 by Darrell Seward of Southern Arkansas University won the high jump competition, followed in second place by Harding's Bruce Gaither, a freshman from Conway, who also jumped 6-6. Seward won by token of fewer misses at the winning height. The AIC record of 6-10 was set by four-time champ Steve Celsor of Harding.

The Bisons, perennially strong in the long distance races, held true to form and produced their finest showing in the 5,000-meter run. Although Central Arkansas ace Mark Segovis won the meet's longest event in a record time of 15:06.72, Bisons Mark Williams, Phil Hostetler and Marshall Grate were right on his heels, winning second, third and fourth respectively.

Williams is a freshman from Wichita, Kan., Hostetler a sophomore from Topeka, Ind. and Grate a junior from Waterloo, Ind. All three were members of Harding's AIC champion cross country team in the fall.

Also scoring for Harding was hefty weight specialist Steve Flatt of Memphis, the defending AIC shot put champion. A junior, Flatt registered third-place points in the shot and fifth-place points in the discus.

Sophomore Bob Graham of Dallas posted a fifth-place finish in the shot put, and Searcy sophomore Ricky Stegall sprinted to a fifth in the 400-meter dash.

Quarter-milers Stegall, Daryl Bassett of Sylvan Hills, John Reece of Exton, Pa. and Cliff Parker of Dimmitt, Tex. teamed up to win an impressive third in the 1600-meter relay in a 3:14.46 time.

Bison pole vaulter Perry Fraley of Scottsdale, Ariz. breaks the college record, clearing 15 feet at the recent conference title meet.

Bison Sluggers Headline Regional All-Stars

Two Harding athletes were honored on regional all-star teams after leading the Bison baseballers through the 1976-77 diamond campaign.

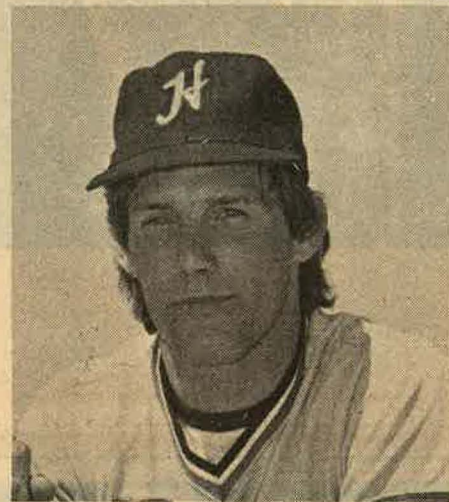

Freshman Mike Beam, a pitcher-outfielder from Waxahachie, Tex., earned all-conference honors after pacing the Bison hitters with a school single season record .416 batting average. The 6-0, 170-lb. righthander slugged four home runs and collected 12 RBI's.

As a pitcher, Beam gave up only one earned run in 28 2/3 innings of mound duty, good for a 0.31 ERA.

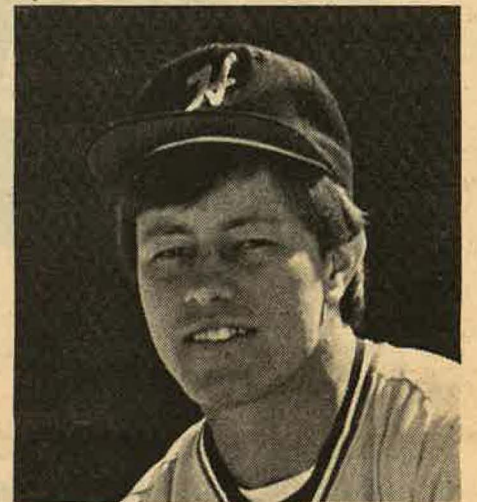

Senior Vince Adams of East St. Louis, who was named to the NAIA All-America honorable mention team last year, was selected for the first team of the All-NAIA District 17 squad.

A three-year all-star first-baseman, Adams was moved to the outfield as a defensive measure his senior year. Despite a mid-season injury to his leg which inhibited his ability to run or follow through on a batting swing, he still managed a .261 average at the plate, including four homers.

Described by head baseball coach Dick Johnson as "one of the finest athletes ever to play in Arkansas," Adams wound up his four-year career at Harding with some impressive statistics. Among other things, the 6-0, 190-pounder holds six school records.

A four-time all-district performer, a three-time all-AIC and last year an All-American, Adams has compiled a career .330 batting average as a Bison. Half of all his 102 hits have gone for extra bases, including 27 home runs, four triples and 20 doubles.

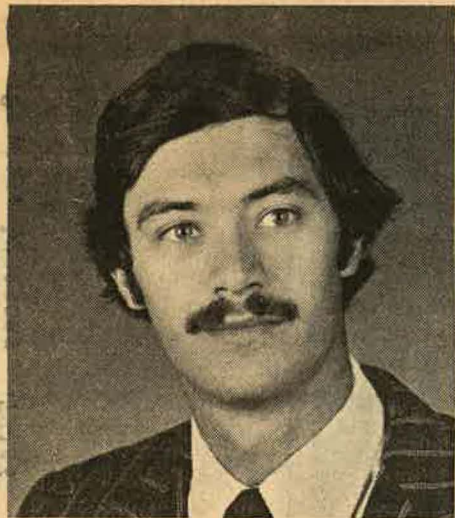

Also a pitcher, he compiled a four-year record of 13-5, highlighted by his 1975 mark of 7-1. His career ERA, including a 1.91 for 1977, stands at 3.49.

Harding's top pitcher for the 1976-77 season was freshman David Smith of West Helena. A powerful 6-2, 225-lb. fast-baller, Smith posted a 3-2 mark, throwing in 35 innings and limiting opposing teams to 1.80 earned runs per contest. He also belted a pair of home runs as a designated hitter.

Others receiving post-season recognition were shortstop Steve Ulrich of Hanford, Calif., honorable mention all-district, and Ordis Copeland, honorable mention All-AIC.

Harding finished the season with a 10-18 overall record and a 5-9 mark in the AIC standings.

Thurl Noonkester

Noonkester Is Year's Intramural Athlete

Thurl D. Noonkester of Campbell, Calif. was named Intramural Athlete of the Year in a special intramural awards chapel program in April. Intramural director Cecil Beck presented the awards.

A senior physical education and social science major, Noonkester was also honored as Sports Skills Champion.

First-place Points Winner was Allen Ladd Jones, a senior physical education major from Wynne.

Senior Leonard Cannon of Lae, New Guinea was honored with the annual Spirit Award for participation and sportsmanship.

The intramural sports program at Harding is designed to give all students an opportunity to participate in a variety of recreational activities, many of which they can carry over into later life.
