Kinsey, Clymer Honored; 335 Degrees Conferred

Two nationally known businessmen, California contractor Kersey Kinsey and L. M. Clymer, president of Holiday Inns, Inc., were awarded honorary doctorates at the Harding College graduation exercises held May 14.

Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., president of the college, conferred degrees on 335 seniors and announced honor graduates at the annual ceremonies.

Kinsey is president of the Kersey Kinsey Company Builders in Studio City, a company recognized for architectural and industrial installations and office buildings. He is a native of Nebraska.

Clymer became president of Holiday Inns, Inc. in 1973 and chief executive officer of the organization in 1976. A North Carolina native, he directs the operations of the company, which includes institutional furnishings and products, intercity bus transportation

Computer to Combat Rising Energy Costs

To combat escalating costs of utilities, the college will install an energy-saving system this summer. Called the Johnson Control 80 Computerized Program, the plan is expected to pay for itself within two years and save the college thousands of dollars in utility costs.

Utility bills have more than doubled in the past two years, according to Lott R. Tucker Jr., vice-president for finance. Last year the college paid $750,000 in utility bills alone.

Administrators investigated the system, which has already been installed in at least one other college in the state, and agreed on the implementation. The new system will cost $92,000.

Tucker explained the setup for the new system, which will go into effect with the fall semester.

The system will operate on a "duty cycle," which shuts off completely for 12 minutes of every hour of operation. Tucker said the purpose of the project is "to save money and not to disrupt the life of the college." The system can be programmed for a longer or shorter period of shutdown as function necessitated. Experiments have proved that the method will not effect room temperatures essentially.

In addition the plan will include shutting down of power in buildings and ocean-going vessel operations.

Special awards presented by President Ganus included:

Three faculty members, Lois Brown, assistant professor of special education; Kenneth Davis, professor of music; and Harry Olree, professor of physical education, were named Distinguished Teachers and each received a $1,000 cash award. Teachers were evaluated throughout the year by their students for the awards.

Mrs. Brown, who holds the master's from San Diego State College, joined the faculty in 1973. She is known throughout the Searcy area and Arkansas for her work with children in special education, with learning disabilities and with emotional disturbances. She has also worked with exceptional children. In addition to writing numerous newspaper articles, she instituted a program in a Searcy school for children with learning disabilities. She also helped write a master plan for special education in Arkansas.

Davis is a graduate of the University of Indiana who attended Harding Academy and College also. He joined the faculty in 1953. Dr. Davis is director of the A Cappella Chorus and Campus Singers. He organized the Harding Belles and Beaux in 1958 and directed

Nurses Transport Vaccine to Africa

A cargo of 3,000 doses of measles vaccine traveled to the African country of Nigeria May 16 as a result of the cooperative efforts of the Arkansas Immunization Task Force, Merck Sharp & Dohme Pharmaceutical Company, and Harding and its nursing department.

Valued at approximately $27,000, the vaccine was a gift to Harding from Merck Sharp & Dohme made possible through the work of Mrs. Nell Balkman, coordinator of the Arkansas Immunization Task Force; Dr. Luther DeWeese, Public Health Advisor of HEW Region VI and Don Stenhouse of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Mrs. Cathleen Smith, chairman of the Harding Nursing Department, said, "We are delighted to be the recipient of such a gift. The Africa setting is in much need of the vaccine and the nursing department is pleased to be of assistance to the Nigerian government in this immunization program."

A group of student nurses from Harding and nursing instructor Janice Bingham departed for a five-week stay at the Nigerian Christian Hospital and hand-carried the vaccine on the plane. The medicine, which required refrigeration, was packaged in five individual containers.

"All student nurses at Harding are required to serve a preceptorship in a health care situation," said Miss Bingham. "Six members of the class interested in medical missions chose to go to the Nigerian Christian Hospital." Miss Bingham also accompanied a group to the hospital last year.

Student nurses making the trip include Beverly Thompson of Davenport, Nebraska; Lola Bowen of Atlanta, Georgia; Carol Huey of Marysville, Ohio; Patty Woods of McRae; Jeffrey Jackson of Williston, South Carolina and Diana Flowers of Santa Clara, California. Each student was required to pay his trip expense of $1,700.

During their five-week stay, the nursing majors will serve on the staff of the 70-bed hospital. They will rotate responsibilities on ward duty, in the outpatient clinic, which serves 150 persons a day, and in surgery.

Full-time work will also be done at the preventive clinic for children under five years of age. The clinic will be the base for the immunization campaign.

Hammon Scholars Named From Four Areas of Study

Four Charles Hammon scholarships have been awarded for the spring semester according to Dr. Bill Cox, vice-president of Harding.

Those chosen from four areas of study were Deborah Graddy, American studies; Randy Kemp, journalism; Bruce Nunnally, accounting and Robert Wise, history and social science.

Miss Graddy, a junior, is from North Little Rock. A dean's list student, she is also a member of Kappa Kappa Kappa social club.

A former editor of the Bison newspaper, Kemp is a senior from Marcella. He was included in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1978 and is a member of Lambda Sigma social club.

Nunnally is a dean's list student from Memphis. He is a senior and was selected for the 1978 Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He holds membership in the American Studies program and Galaxy Social club.

The president of the Barristers law club, Wise is a senior from Belleville, Illinois. He is active in the American Studies Program and Theta Tau social club in addition to being a dean's list student.

The Hammon scholarship fund was established by Mrs. Charles Hammon of Gainesville, Florida, in memory of her husband. The recipients are chosen on the basis of scholastic attainments, attitudes and potential for good works.

New Student Association officers at Harding for 1978-79 are [front] Ross Cochran of Hobbs, New Mexico, president; Sara Beth Fitzgerald of Memphis, secretary; [standing] Kenny Stamatis of Dalhart, Texas, vice president and Bruce Nunnally of Memphis, treasurer. Cochran replaces Miss Susan Brady of Conway who served the 1977-78 term.

Cochran Elected Head Of Executive Council

Ross Cochran, a senior Bible major from Hobbs, New Mexico, has been elected to head the 1978-79 executive council of the Student Association.

Cochran outlined one basic theme for the coming year by saying that the objective is to keep the emphasis in the right place. "My goals are to re-emphasize things of a spiritual nature. As much of a turnover as we have and as busy as we are, we need to keep things of a spiritual nature in front of us. Students need to see Christian values at a Christian College," stated Cochran. He stressed that the theme for the year, Ecclesiastes 12:1, "Remember thy Creator," would be integrated throughout the school year into different activities including the leadership retreat and the World Evangelism Forum.

The new president has served as treasurer of his social club, Chi Sigma Alpha and is a beau of the Zeta Rho women's club. He has also played on the varsity tennis team.

Serving as vice-president will be Ken Stamatis. He is a junior psychology and elementary education major from Dalhart, Texas. Stamatis served as freshman representative on the Student Association and is a member of TNT men's club.

The secretarial post will be filled by Sarah Beth Fitzgerald of Memphis. A junior accounting major, she is a member of Shantih social club and is currently serving her class as representative on the Student Association.

Bruce Nunnally, a senior accounting major from Memphis, was elected to the treasurer position. A dean's list student, Nunnally is in the American Studies Program and Galaxy men's club. He was chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Seven members were elected to representative positions. The two freshmen slots will be filled in the fall.

Herby Peck, a senior accounting major from Maryville, Tennessee, will represent the married students.

Senior representatives are Charles Posey, a history major from Searcy and Martha Moore, accounting major from Sharon, Pennsylvania.

Representing the juniors will be Andrea Faulkner, an elementary education major from Little Rock, and Stephen Bible, a public relations major from Stone Mountain, Georgia.

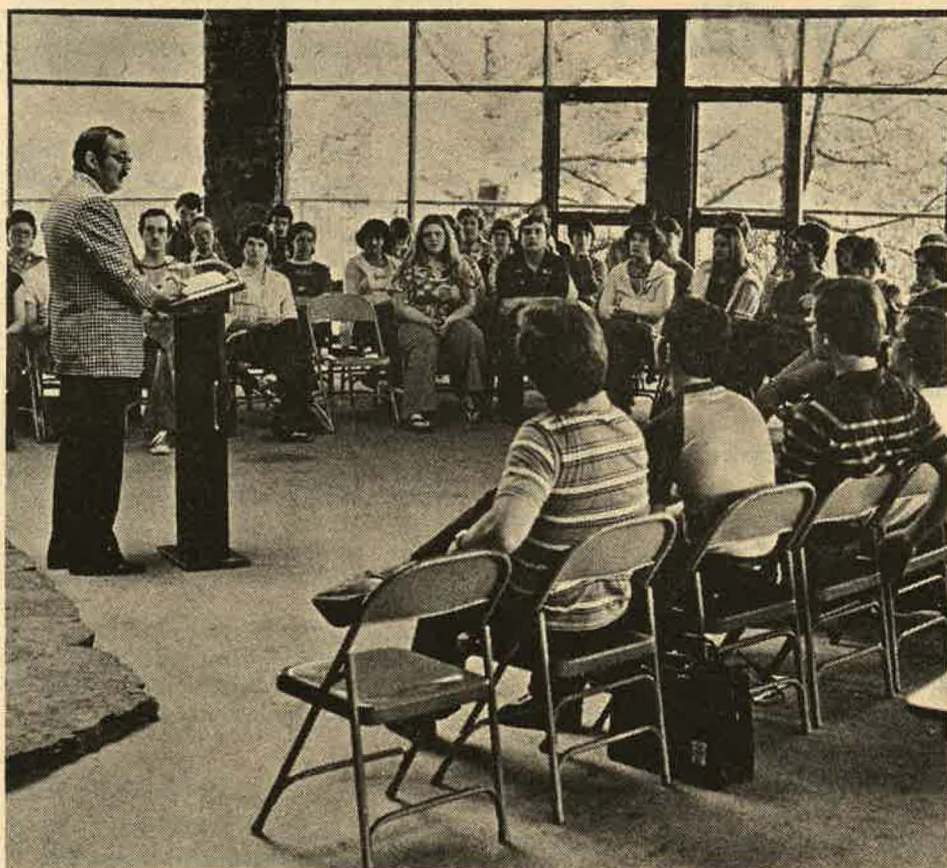

The sophomores elected LaDonna England, an English major from DeSoto, Texas, and David Sparks, a management major from Mablevale.

Kappa Delta Pi Elects Officers

New officers have been chosen for the Kappa Delta Pi honor society in education for 1978-79.

Officials will be: president, Diane Trombly, an art and education major from Warren, Michigan; vice president, Anne Waller, a special education major from Canton, Ohio; secretary, Kay Williams, a special education major from Birmingham, Alabama; treasurer, David McDonald, a secondary education major from Doctors Inlet, Florida; and historian/reporter, Bob Yoakum, an elementary education major from Adriane, Michigan. All will be seniors next year.

Sponsors for Kappa Delta Pi are Dr. Bobby Coker and Dr. Ed Sewell.

International campaigners listen to Dr. Ray Muncy in preparation for their summer work at a two day retreat at Camp Wyldewood before departing May 17. The campaigners will be in seven foreign countries this summer.

A Visit From the Senator

Two Harding Cookbooks Available From AWH Group

Both Volume I and Volume II of the cookbooks published by Associated Women for Harding are available from chapters of the organization or by direct order from the campus.

The books continue to be one of the more popular gift items of the AWH projects, as indicated by the number sold.

Volume I, published in 1965 with Elaine Thompson and Pat McRee as editors, is currently in its fourth printing, having sold more than 6,000 copies.

The second book, issued in 1973 and now in its second printing, has sold almost 3,000 copies. Volume II was edited by Lynn England.

The contents include favorite recipes submitted by members of Associated Women for Harding with virtually no duplications in the two publications. More than 800 recipes are listed in each of the volumes.

The books may be ordered at $6.95 each from Edwina Pace, Box 926, Harding College.

United States Senator Dale Bumpers took time on his May 30 visit to Searcy to come by the Harding campus and tour points of interest. [Top] Bumpers talks with nursing students in the Olen Hendrix Nursing Center. During his governorship, Bumpers was instrumental in helping to obtain funds from the Kellogg foundation for the nursing department. Student nurses with their "patient" include Mark McWhorter of Marion, Illinois; Emily Chism of Cullman, Alabama and Arlene Morris of Searcy. [Center] In front of the construction site, Dr. Bill Cox, vice-president of the college, along with board member James Cone of Little Rock [right], tell Bumpers about the many features of the new George S. Benson Auditorium. [Bottom] Nursing instructor Linda Brown greets the Senator in her office.

Outstanding Staff Awards Made at Spring Banquet

Three outstanding staff members were recognized at the annual Faculty-Staff dinner at Harding April 14.

Receiving $1,000 cash awards and citations were Winnie Bell, librarian; Greg Rhodes, transportation officer and Heritage Center Supervisor and Georgia DuBois, PBX operator.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee Dykes, managers of the Harding bookstore, received 40-year recognition pins. The couple retired this year. Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr. made the presentation.

Others recognized included Dr. J. E. Pryor, vice president for academic affairs, who has been with the college 35 years.

Twenty-five year awards went to Cecil Beck, Kenneth Davis Jr., Conard Hays, Richard Walker and Herman West.

Recognized for 20 years of service were Virgil Beckett, Clifford Bodiford, Harold Bowie, Carol Caughron, Raymond French, Robert Helsten and Lyle Poindexter.

Those receiving 15-year awards were Bob Alley, Ted Altman, Betty Bates, Eddie Campbell, Bill Diles, Latina Dykes, Merle Elliott, Ruby Janes, Jerry Mote, Dimple Preslar, Darrell Ridings, Joe Segraves and Carol Wolfe.

Ten-year pins went to Fred Alexander, Geraldine Blair, Lucille Bohannon, Ruth Burt, Kathryn Campbell, Julie Chester, Bobby Coker, Sharen Crockett, Ronald Doran, Ruth French, Clifton Ganus III, Rodger Gilliam, Betty Green, Alice Jewell, Fred Jewell, Pearl Kays, Helen Kearby, Jean Kelly, Nita Lashley, James Mackey, Don Meredith, Katy Moore, Oscar Moore, Paul Pitt, Art Roberts, Carroll Smith, Mae Anne Tucker, Betty Watson, Rosemary Wilson, Ann Wright, Dorothy Wright, and Ray Wright.

Second Intersession Increases Enrollment

"The success of the program indicates the need for classes to be offered between the closing of the spring semester and the beginning of summer school," said Dr. James Carr, director of summer programs. "The students have found Intersession to be advantageous because it can help them to graduate early, take a course they normally would not have had room for, or get four hours of summer credit and still be available to have a summer job by June 1."

The fast-paced, two-week short course was held May 15-31 this year. It was the second time for Intersession to be offered.

Lloyd Named President Of NAIA Track Coaches

Ted Lloyd, track and cross country coach at Harding College, became president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Track and Field Coaches Association at the NAIA national meet in Abilene, Texas May 18-20.

Lloyd, who succeeded George Glass of Taylor University (Ind.), also served as the head referee at the national championship event. He previously served as meet referee at two NAIA national championships.

An associate professor of physical education, Lloyd joined the Harding faculty in 1964 after serving as football and track coach at Harding Academy from 1957-64. He is a 1957 graduate of Harding and earned his M.S. degree in 1964 from the University of Mississippi.

A native of Spring Hill, Kansas, the 43-year-old Lloyd has served as president of the Arkansas Track Coaches Association and as vice-president of the Arkansas-AAU organization. In 1969-70, he served as the national coach of Panama and in 1972 was nominated for a coaching position with the U.S. Olympic team. He was named in the "Outstanding Young Men of America" honors volume of 1970.

Lloyd has guided the Bison cross country teams to 14 championships in the last 16 years the event has been held. In track his teams have won two championships, one second place and two positions of third place. In that time he has coached seven NAIA All-Americans in cross country, the steeplechase, the three-mile and the high jump and the mile relay.

Lloyd is married to the former Marcie Crawford of Mountain Home and the couple has two children, Rees and Melissa.

July Sports Camps Set for Grades 7-12

Summer sports camps will be offered at Harding for boys, grades 7-12, interested in track, cross country, football and basketball.

The camps offer instruction in fundamentals and provide each participant with the opportunity to improve his ability, according to Coach Wilt Martin, director of the '78 camps. Instruction is given in every phase of the sport and each boy receives individual attention. In addition to working on skills, video tape, films and other teaching techniques are used.

Camp dates are: track, July 23-28; cross country, July 16-21; junior high football, July 16-21; senior high football, July 23-28; junior high basketball, July 9-14; senior high basketball, July 16-21.

Instruction will take place on the Harding Campus. The modern physical education-athletic complex provides a pro turf floor with two regulation size cross courts, an indoor track, swimming pool, gymnastics area, handball courts and weight room.

For more information, write Harding College Sports Camps, Box 703, Station A, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

Harding Places Third in All-Sports Action

Harding College finished in third place in the 1977-78 Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference All-Sports competition, according to the league commissioner, Leroy Nix.

Ouachita Baptist University was the winner with 73 points, followed by Central Arkansas with 70 and Harding with 61-1/2.

OBU is only the second private institution ever to win the All-Sports competition. Harding was the first when the Bisons won the 1975-76 championship.

Harding won two conference championships this year with victories coming in cross country and bowling. A second place finish was recorded in swimming, a third in tennis, fourth in track and fifth in golf.

Football finished in a tie for fifth, eighth in baseball and a tie for ninth in basketball.

Henderson State was fourth in overall standings with 53-1/2, Arkansas Tech 53, Southern Arkansas 50, Hendrix, 46, UA-Monticello 31, College of the Ozarks 61-1/2 and Arkansas College 14.

Dad's Night Sept. 9; Bisons to Host Lane

Annual Dad's Night activities will be celebrated September 9 when Harding College plays host to Lane College to open the 1978 football season.

The program, which honors the parents of the Bison footballers, will be highlighted with a reception prior to the game, which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Additional information will be mailed to families of the Bison athletes during the summer months.

Other home games include Southwest Missouri State, September 23; Henderson State University, October 24; Southern Arkansas University, November 5; and the University of Central Arkansas, November 18.

Four Teams to Clash In Holiday Classic

A four-team Holiday Classic highlights the 1978-79 basketball schedule released by Harding College coach Jess Bucy.

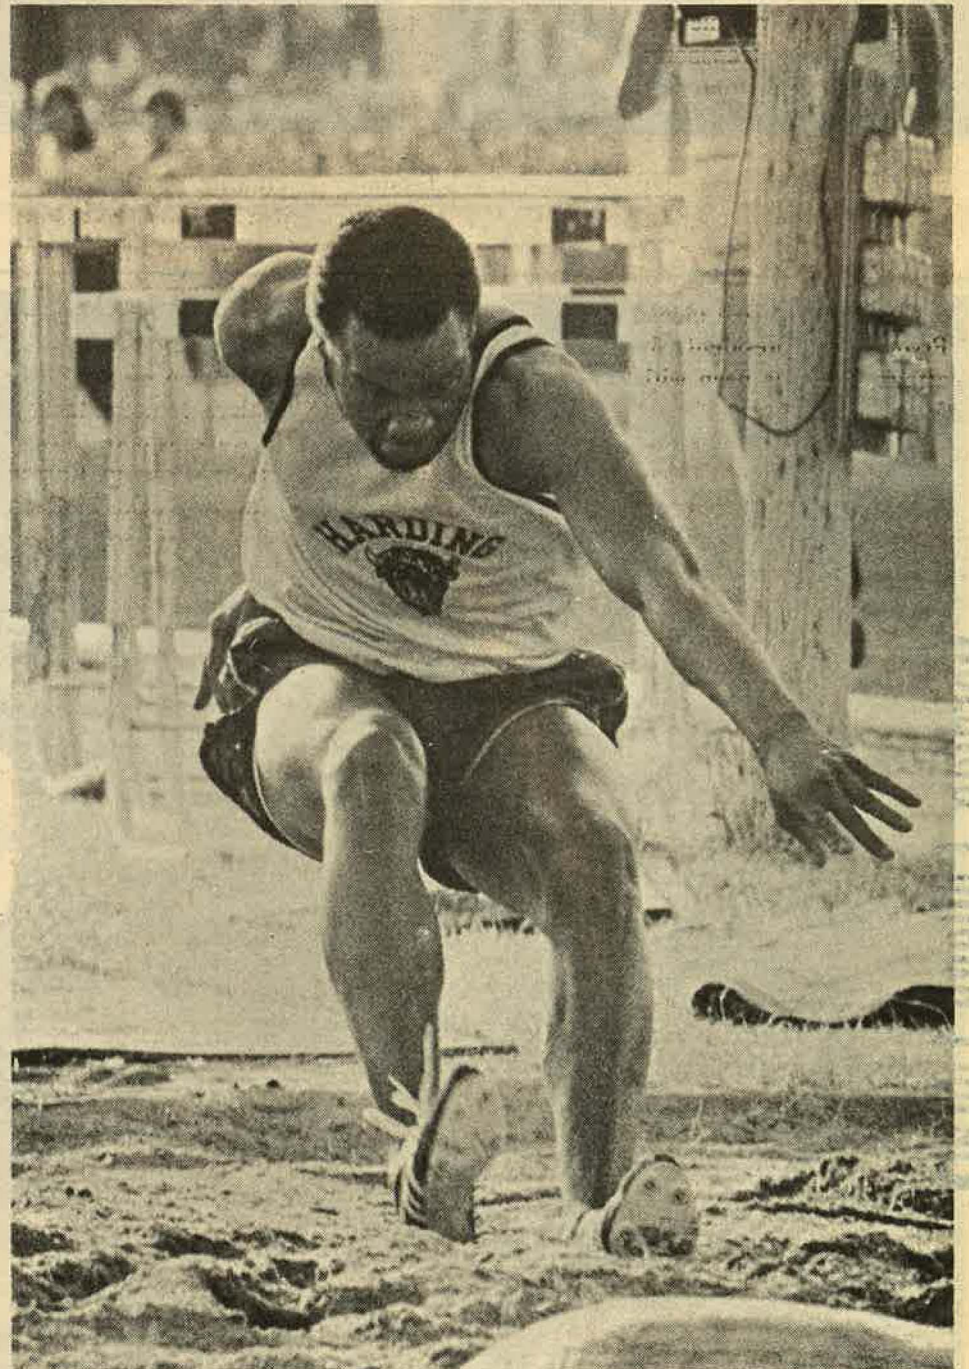

For the first time, Harding will host Belmont College of Nashville, Tennessee, Evangel College of Springfield, Missouri and the University of Arkansas at Monticello in a tournament November 24-25.

In addition to the tournament, John Brown University of Siloam Springs is a new addition to the schedule. Harding will host the Eagles on November 21 and will meet them on the road December 16.
