Former President Honored At Dedication Ceremony

The dedication ceremony of the George S. Benson Auditorium on March 27 was not only a day for the unveiling of a new facility but was also a time to pay honor to a man who has played a major role in the building of Harding.

Harding President Clifton L. Ganus Jr. officially named the new $2.6 million building with the statement: "By the authority of the Harding University Board of Trustees and on their behalf and that of the faculty, staff and student body and a host of friends and supporters, I now dedicate this building, the George S. Benson Auditorium, to the glory of God and to the education of young men and women for life and for eternity."

"I'm greatly honored today, and far more than I deserve," responded President Emeritus Benson, "with my name going on this delightful auditorium on the campus of Harding University. I'm indebted to Dr. Ganus, the board, to those who have served in fund-raising activities and to the alumni. These and others deserve far more credit than I," said the President of 29 years.

A special dedicatory musical composition written by Dr. William Hollaway and performed by the Harding Brass Choir, A Cappella Chorus, Chorale and University Singers was premiered at the ceremony.

The individual musical groups performed and were conducted by Dr. Kenneth Davis, Dr. Clifton Ganus III, and Dr. G. E. Baggett.

Dr. Benson and his wife, Sallie, were further honored by being named the recipients of the 1980 Trustee Award. Board Chairman Roy Sawyer presented the framed award and Board Member Dr. Richard Burt then made special recognition of Mrs. Benson. In presenting her a solid gold medallion necklace engraved with a likeness of the auditorium, Burt said, "To see you in your daily activities is to gain a fuller appreciation for the Psalmist's interpretation of a worthy woman. near you is to sense a strength of spiritual virtues that comes from those that love the Lord."

Platform guests giving ceremonial comments were Searcy Mayor Jack Wiseman; Dr. Michael Elliott, director of the Arkansas Department of Higher Education; Dr. M. K. Patterson, vice president of the Samuel Roberts Noble Foundation; Dr. C. F. Myer Jr., dean of Northeastern Christian Junior College; Harding Student Association President Ken Stamatis; Dr. Joseph Pryor, vice president for academics, and Dr. Winfred Wright, president of the Alumni Association.

Others on the program included Floyd Daniel, vice president for development, Lott Tucker, vice president for finance, and L. O. Sanderson, composer of the Harding Alma Mater.

Festivities completing the day were a special dinner held in the American Heritage Cafeteria, which featured a giant "Auditorium Cake," and Dr. Milton Friedman's lecture for the American Studies Program.

Oil Executive to Deliver Commencement Address

Dr. William J. Teague, administrative vice president of the Kerr-McGee Corporation, will speak for Harding's spring graduation exercises on May 11.

The 52-year-old Teague oversees industrial and employee relations, purchasing, transportation, compensation and benefits program, real estate, communications, public relations, and administrative services of the $2.1 billion corporation, based in Oklahoma.

Before joining Kerr-McGee in 1978, Teague had worked for Purex Industries as an administrative vice president. He also had his own management service, William J. Teague Associates.

In education, he served as executive assistant to the president of Abilene Christian College 1952-57, as vice president for development at Harding 1957-59, and as vice president of Pepperdine University 1959-70.

A graduate of Abilene, Teague received the master of arts degree in administration from Columbia University and the doctorate in administration and labor law from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Teague is a member of many civic and service organizations including the United Fund, Boy Scouts of America, and he is chairman of the Oklahoma United Savings Bond Campaign.

He has been a judge at the Tournament of Roses Parade, recipient of three George Washington Honor Medals from Freedoms Foundation, and recipient of the Industrial War College Award. The Texas native has traveled extensively in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central America and the United States.

The commencement ceremony will begin at 2:30 p.m. and, for the first time, will be held in the George S. Benson Auditorium. A total of 390 candidates will receive degrees.

Friedman Exalts Capitalist System Despite Faults

by Linda Hilbun of the Searcy Daily Citizen

The capitalist system, says Dr. Milton Friedman, former Nobel Prize winning economist, is the best society in the world, despite its many faults and so-called "inhumanities."

Speaking to a large gathering at the George S. Benson auditorium March 27, the 68-year-old economic analyst, stated, "The only countries in the world where the ordinary people have been able to live a life of something other than miserable have been those of capitalism that believe in a free market."

Friedman, the producer and featured speaker on the TV show, "Free to Choose," which is partially aimed at showing how disheartening the social security system is, told the audience that those who are opposed to his program, and therefore, to the capitalistic system, feel it is heartless and materialistic.

"It's not," he continued. "The most materialistic societies in the world are the Communist totalitarian societies."

Friedman discussed the nation's "do-good" programs which he stated are organized with noble intentions, but produce ignoble results.

"Nobody has been able to call them a success," he said. "Our standard answer for an unsuccessful program is to get a bigger program."

He then used the social security system as an example stating that while it was organized to relieve poverty, more people are now in poverty than ever before.

"What it is," he added, "is that the middle class cons the lower class into providing their subsidies."

The lower class, he stated, goes to work before the upper class and usually dies at an earlier age. Therefore, those of the lower class pay the taxes for more years and receive less of their benefits.

"Most of us enter into social security in good faith. We're told that if we pay taxes, we'll get their benefits later. We've been sold a bill of goods. That's not the way it works," he analyzed in saying he is in favor of terminating the system.

Another program which Friedman feels has not produced its desired effect is government support of higher education. That, he said, is the "greatest scandal."

"Those taxes are paid in part by those who do not go to college and will never go to college," he added. And scholarships, he feels, should be given only if the recipient is required to pay back the cost after graduation.

"That (scholarships) leads to lousy education. "If people get something for nothing, then they value it at nothing. There's a lot of difference between schooling and education. College, for many has become just a nice, pleasant interlude between high school and working. And class," he continued, "is the price you pay for being at college, rather than the reason for being there."

In referring to the welfare system, Friedman stated it is inhumane and "induces people to become wards of the state." It creates a trap, he said, whose only benefit is that the money does indeed go from the higher to lower class.

Two questions, he posed, face those trying to analyze the present situation. Why are the results far different from those that are intended? And why is there such strong opposition to capitalism among those who are enjoying its benefits?

Capitalism, he defined, is "voluntary cooperation among responsible individuals."

"It's the only system where the ultimate end is the individual," he stated. "The individual is an end in himself, not an object to an end."

That, he said, is the basis of all capitalism, while the basic principle behind socialism is people telling other people what to do.

However the results of capitalism are a carrying out of its own logic, while socialism results in using bad means to obtain a good end.

Capitalism, he expanded, is "individuals pursuing their own objectives in circumstances where they can do something which produces grand achievements."

Criticism from the system, Friedman explained, stems from the fact that it is hard for good people to do good in a capitalistic society. This, he felt, is because of no one concentration of power.

"Every system has its faults, but I believe that the kind of society those of us believe in, free enterprise, is far more humane than any of its alternatives," he concluded.

When asked from the audience who he supports in this year's Presidential race, Dr. Milton Friedman unhesitatingly replied, "Reagan."

His support of the former California governor, he stated, is based on his track record as governor and his stand on governmental spending.

"He inherited a large deficit from Pat Brown and when he left the governor's office, he left Jerry Brown with a large surplus. Now that's not your standard governmental practice," he said.

"I have greater expectations for his economic performance than for most of the other candidates," he continued.

"But we have to realize," Friedman continued, "that the problems of this country will not be solved by putting the right man in the White House. We don't need a man on a white horse."

Friedman was brought to the Harding University campus as part of the school's American Studies Program. He is the author or co-author of 26 books and is currently a senior research fellow at the Hoover Institute of Stanford University. He was the Nobel Prize recipient for economics in 1976.

Prior to his speech in Searcy for the American Studies Lecture Series, Dr. Milton Friedman, well-known economist, answers questions at a Little Rock news conference.

For Dedication Ceremony:

Hollaway Creates Musical Tribute

A patriotic musical composition by Dr. William Hollaway, professor of music at Harding University, was written especially for the dedication ceremonies of the George S. Benson Auditorium on March 27. The work was written to be performed by about 200 musicians of the A Cappella, Chorale and University Singers choruses and a brass choir from the Harding Band.

The patriotic work is in three parts, "An American Creed," "Great Men of Old" and "The True Face of America."

Hollaway, who has composed other special music for Harding ceremonies, developed the work around the patriotic theme as a tribute to Dr. Benson's interest in American ideals.

Lyrics for the piece involve lines from the "Pledge of Allegiance" and quotes by Thomas Jefferson, Grover Cleveland, John Marshall, Woodrow Wilson, Adlai Stevenson and Abraham Lincoln, plus originals by Hollaway. The second movement, "Great Men of Old," was written especially with Dr. Benson in mind, the professor said.

Hollaway spent last summer composing. He had researched in libraries at Harding, Memphis and St. Louis. Student groups began learning the music at music camp in August.

The composer, who joined the Harding faculty in 1966, has received the Distinguished Teacher Award twice, 1974 and 1977. His other works include music for the pageant

"To Walk Upon A Rainbow" performed at Homecoming as a part of the 50th anniversary celebration in 1974, "Symphony for Band" performed by the Harding band in 1974, choral numbers "My Peace I Leave With You," "Let the Nations Rejoice," "Hosanna" and "Rejoice," used in the repertoires of both university and Academy groups, and a piece for clarinet and piano premiered by Hollaway and Steve Campbell last spring.

A bachelor, Hollaway holds the bachelor of music education from Henderson State University and the master's and doctoral degrees from North Texas State University in Denton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hollaway of Alexander, Ark.

Combining the voices of the A Cappella Chorus, Chorale and University Singers with the music of the Harding Band's Brass Choir, Dr. William Hollaway conducts the premiere performance of his three-movement composition at the Benson Auditorium

Summer Class Focuses On 'Children in Crisis'

A "Children in Crisis" workshop will be included in a session agenda July 14-23 along with six others previously announced.

The workshop, Social Work 401, will emphasize the development of skills needed in working with children with unique problems who may be from unstable homes or who have been removed from their natural parents. Particular attention will be given to the cause and effect of overt behaviors that are manifestations of their inner turmoil.

Two hours of credit will be granted for attendance July 14-18 and three hours credit is available for the entire session.

Other workshops are Diagnosis and Correction of Reading Difficulties, June 9-15; Clinical Reading, June 26-July 11; Kindergarten Curriculum, June 26-July 11; Kindergarten Methods and Materials, July 14-30; Seminar in Youth Ministry, May 12-16; and Biology Field Studies, May 12-30.

Further details may be obtained through Dr. Jimmy Carr, Summer Sessions Director, Harding University, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

Church Leaders' Seminar Planned for June 17-19

The Harding University Bible Department will sponsor a Church Leadership Development Seminar June 17-19 with David B. Burks, dean of the school of business, and Bobby Coker, dean of the school of education, serving as seminar leaders.

The seminar is for elders, deacons, ministers, teachers, bus captains, committee chairmen and others who hold leadership positions.

Participants will be involved with simulations, case studies and individual exercises to provide learning experiences.

Registration is $50 per person for the program and manual and reservations should be made in advance through Dr. Jerry Jones, Bible Department chairman. Housing information and other details will be furnished.

Participants will be instructed in motivation of others, setting goal-oriented objectives, initiating change, making effective decisions and involving others in meaningful participation.

Burks has been a member of the Harding faculty since 1967. He was appointed dean of the business school with the reorganization of Harding to university status last fall. He conducts management and computer seminars in Arkansas and other states and has written a textbook on Christian ethics entitled The Christian Alternative for Business.

Coker joined the faculty in 1968 and was appointed chairman of the department of education in 1977. He is a former school superintendent and full time preacher, and he continues to preach and conduct workshops.

Both are Harding alumni and both have received Distinguished Teacher awards.

Topics Announced for 13-in-1 Workshop

Workshops on Primary and Junior Bible classes will be offered at the 1980 Harding 13-In-1 Workshop August 4-7.

For the Primary program, topics and speakers will include "Spiritual Life of the Teacher" and "Space, Equipment and Learning Environment" by Pat Malone of Garland, Texas; "Facts or Attitudes" by Geraldine Woodell of Searcy; "Characteristics of Primaries" by Betty Alston of Searcy; "What Our Teachers Need" by Oleta Lovell of Hurst, Texas; "Good Discipline" by Claudette Alexander of Searcy; "Church-Home Relationships" and "Challenging the Stronger Bible Student" by Charlotte Mize of Ft. Worth, Texas; "Tell Me a Story" by Dot Beck and Mary Lou Daughety of Searcy; "Team Teaching" by Leah Burks and Carolyn Priest of Searcy; "Discerning Literature" by Mac Lynn of Memphis, Tenn., and "Teaching Through Son and Prayer" by Mona Lee Garner of Searcy. Mrs. Alexander will serve as hostess for the sessions, which will be located in Bible 207.

For the Workshop in the Junior Division, which will be in Bible 206, the host will be John Paul Blankenship. The program includes: "Using Games to Teach the Word," "Using Visuals With Juniors" and "Studying Obedience During a Crucial Age" by Charles and Betty Whitmire of Longview, Texas; "Using Learning Centers," "The Junior Department" and "How to Supervise a Junior Department" by Karen Barnhill of Lubbock, Texas; "How to Tell Stories Effectively" by Larry Calvin of Ft. Worth, Texas; "How a Man Can Be Effective in the Elementary Classes" by Mrs. Frances Breeson, consumer affairs officer with the New Orleans office of the Food and Drug Administration, speaks to Mrs. Beth Wilson's home economics classes on the Harding campus in April. Her subjects covered nutrition labeling, the role of the FDA and consumer education on contraceptives.

Pat Malone; "Discipline in the Junior Department" by Oleta Lovell; "The Use of Puppets with Juniors," "Teaching Juniors Through Devotionals" and "Ministering to Juniors Outside the Classroom" by Blankenship of Lubbock, Texas.

The remaining workshops are The Christian Home, Singles, Church Growth, Preschool, Christian Schools, Biblical Studies, Christian Evidences, Nursery, Youth Ministry, Adults, and Educational Directors and Supervisors.

Altogether programs will feature devotionals by Joe Beam of Evansville, Ind., and lectures with Wayne Kilpatrick of Birmingham, Gary Beauchamp of Dallas, Batsell Barrett Baxter of Nashville, Tenn., and Landon Saunders of Houston. Nick Boone of Madison, Tenn., will lead singing for the altogether programs.

Further details may be obtained from the Harding University Bible Department, Box 393, Searcy, Ark.

School Gets Federal Grant For Energy Conservation

Harding University's energy-conscious efforts will be extended even further through two grants received from the Federal Energy department.

The $92,375 matching grant funds will be used for modification to the central heating plant and insulation of steam distribution pipes around the campus.

An additional $22,000 matching fund grant will be used for completely insulating the Rhodes Memorial Field House, one of the major energy wasters of the campus, according to officials.

All steam pipes on the campus will be covered, beginning as soon as the semester is completed.

The field house will have a new covering with a four-inch insulation. No changes are scheduled for the inside of the gymnasium, a metal quonset building erected from Army surplus materials in 1949.

The University installed a total energy-saving system last summer, which has reduced electrical costs by $60,000. "That's significant in that costs have risen sharply during the time," one official noted.

In the matter of gas, costs have remained the same while usage has decreased. The price of gas has been increased to such extent that no actual costs reductions have been realized. However, administrators have predicted that without the computer equipment, costs would have doubled.

Installation of the equipment has enabled engineers to keep control of all buildings on campus, including alarm systems. "I don't know how we ever got along without it," Herman Spurlock, chief engineer, said. "It's more than an energy saver — it's a tool. And we have plans for upgrading the system to a further extent."

Neale Pryor (Bible) spoke for the Ohio Valley College Lectureship April 9-10 . . . Harmon Brown (Mathematics) was the local director for the state finals of a contest sponsored by the Arkansas Teachers of Mathematics and held on the Harding campus April 1 . . . Ed Sanders (Bible) was the keynote speaker for a Family Life Seminar held in Gulfport, Miss., April 18-20. Afterwards, he spoke for a Youth Rally in Gulfport. On April 14-16, he taught a class at the Pepperdine University Lectureship . . . Mike Roden, a writer for the student newspaper, had an article published in the March issue of The Arkansan, a Little Rock-headquartered state newspaper. Roden's work, "Papa at Piggott," is an interview with men who knew Ernest Hemingway during his stay in Piggott, Arkansas. Hemingway's book A Farewell to Arms was written while he was in the small north Arkansas town.

One's man junk is another man's treasure at the gigantic garage sale conducted by Harding students to benefit needy children in Brazil. More than $5000 was raised.

Benefit Rummage Sale Aids South American Children

Harding University students were clearing their closets and dorm rooms in April, not to avoid carrying their belongings home for the summer, but rather to share with needy children in South America.

The Harding Student Association, in a campus-wide effort, sponsored a gigantic Garage Sale in Rhodes Memorial Field House on April 18-19, with proceeds going to the children cared for by Dona Maria in Brazil.

About 30-50 small children are cared for by the woman, who receives aid only through contributions.

"We were given stereos, clock radios, hair dryers and other small appliances, and mountains of clothing and other items for the sale," Monte Cox, project chairman, said. "We are so pleased with the response, and we believe we will be able to help many needy children in this way.

More than $5,000 was raised.

Alpha Chi Honor Society Inducts 40 New Members

Forty scholars were inducted into the Arkansas Eta chapter of Alpha Chi national honor society this semester.

They are Robin Cynthia Atkins, Corvallis, Ore.; Patricia Barrett, Searcy; Gwynne Bormann, Springfield, Ill.; Mark R. Clement, North Little Rock, Ark.; Joann Cornett, Searcy; Pamela Farmer, St. Louis; Nancy Faxon, Medway, Mass.; Terri Futrell, Pocahontas, Ark.; Sharon Goetting, Mammoth Spring, Ark.; William Keith Goree, Pensacola, Fla.; James T. Grady, Elba, Ala.; Glenita Kay Hale, Searcy; Pamela Harmon, Batesville, Ark.;

Bible Professor Talks On Indiana TV Show

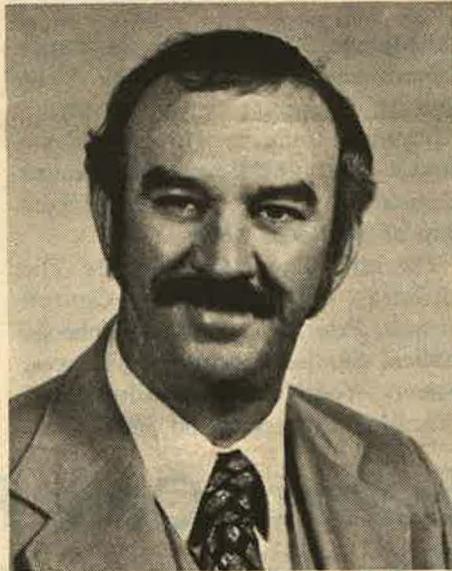

Dr. Jerry Jones, chairman of the Harding Bible Department, was the keynote speaker for a prime-time television program, aired in Evansville, Ind., April 4-6.

The Tri-State Evangelism Seminar, sponsored by the Evansville Church of Christ, featured Jones speaking on "Authority in the New Testament," "Conversions in the New Testament" and "Restoration of the New Testament Church." After speaking, Jones answered call-in questions from an estimated 100,000 listeners in the television audience.

A professor of Bible, Jones has also had recent speaking engagements at the Rocky Mountain Evangelism Seminar in Estes Park, Colo., and at the Pepperdine University Lectureships in Los Angeles, Calif.

Doctoral Work Completed By Henderson and Moore

Two Harding University professors have completed doctoral degrees which will be conferred at spring commencement at their respective universities.

Jim Henderson, assistant professor of business and economics, will receive the doctorate from Texas A & M University at College Station, and Lew L. Moore, assistant professor of psychology and assistant director of counseling, will receive the doctorate in marriage and family counseling from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. Both are Harding alumni.

Henderson received the master's at Memphis State in 1976 and worked toward the doctorate two years in College Station before joining Harding's business faculty in 1978. He is married to the former Rennie Willis and the couple has three children, Beth, Matthew David and Julia. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Henderson of Searcy.

Moore joined the faculty in 1971. A full-time counselor at the university, he was granted a year's leave in 1978 to study in Lincoln. Last fall he was granted clinical status with the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapy. In May he will be a speaker at the National Symposium on the Family in Lincoln.

He and his wife, the former Sue Jackson, have two sons, Michael and Justin. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moore of Little Rock.

Students' Art Added To School Collection

Works by 15 Harding art students have been added to the permanent collection of the University.

Students recognized were Greg Clayton of Troy, Mich., "Still Life With Flag"; Chris Davis of Searcy, "Still Life With Green Bottle"; Jim Grady of Enterprise, Ala., "Figure in Mirror" and "Chick in Space"; Doug Hudson of Waynesboro, Va., "Dimensional Barn," and Pam Laferney of Springfield, Va., "Still Life With Flower Pots";

Terri Hughes of Caruthersville, Mo., "Dragon Flies"; Diane McQueen of Southfield, Mich., "Landscape" and "Boot"; Scott Johnson of Lubbock, Texas, "Still Life"; and Ron Crooks of Flat Rock, Mich., "Pork and Beans";

Mike Ingram of Crossville, Tenn., "Mug"; Dan Dacus of Memphis, Tenn., "Vase"; Denise Davenport of Flippin, Ark., "Mug"; Kent Pate of Jonesboro, Ga., "Speak Softly"; Katharina Reichel of Munich, Germany, "Eureka Springs House," and Ronda Wisenbaker of Valdosta, Ga., "Repeating Squares."

Forensics Squad Takes Sweepstakes Win

Harding University's forensics squad completed the year with a first place sweepstakes win at the Pi Kappa Delta provincial convention and tournament at Louisiana State University in Shreveport March 22-23.

Twenty-two colleges and universities from Oklahoma, Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas participated.

In individual events, Greg York of Louisville, Ky., won superior ranking for oratory and extemporaneous speaking; Bob Chandler of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., also received a superior in extemporaneous speaking.

Excellent ratings went to David Satterfield, Marietta, Ga., speech to entertain; Rhea Enloe, Doniphan, Mo., oral interpretation; Carolyn Wright, Searcy, dramatic interpretation, and Philip Gould, Searcy, discussion.

In debate, Jeff Hobbs and Bob Chandler went undefeated in the six-round tournament, the only team to do so. The two received a superior award.

The junior team of Anita Eagan, Mt. Vernon, Tex., and Johnny Miller of Milton, Fla., went unbeaten in their competition and, along with the team of Rhea Enloe and Anthony Parham, received superior ratings.

The squad was accompanied by Dr. Evan Ulrey and Karl Wendt.

The senior team of Chandler and Hobbs won fourth place at the North Texas State tournament in Denton in February and represented Harding at the American Forensic Association District 3 National Debate tournament.

Dr. Patrick Garner, director of forensics, was elected secretary-treasurer of Pi Kappa Delta province of the Lower Mississippi for a two-year term.

New Financial Aid Information Available

Complete information on financial aid is now available in a new booklet from the Harding Financial Aid Office.

All aspects of grants and loans are discussed, including eligibility, status, application and processing.

Grant money, that which does not require repayment, is available from several sources.

Both government and private institutional loans are also allowed for those meeting qualifications.

The brochure gives details of academic, athletic and departmental scholarships and work opportunities on campus.

To obtain a copy of "Harding Financial Aid Opportunities," write Russell Showalter, Director of Financial Aid, Box 940, Harding University, Searcy, AR 72143.

Diffine Attends Private Enterprise Meeting

Dr. Don P. Diffine, associate professor of economics at Harding University, has returned from Phoenix, Ariz. where he participated in the 5th annual Chair of Private Enterprise conference. Diffine, director of the Center for Private Enterprise Education at Harding, addressed the group on "The Economic Enlightenment Role of a Private University," relative to the conference theme, "Accomplishing the Task."

Campus Hosts Record Crowd For Youth Forum, Spring Sing

More visitors than ever before in Harding's history were on campus April 4-5 for the annual Youth Forum and Spring Sing musical festivity.

The 16th annual Forum, with featured speaker Ben Zickefoose, drew more than 3,500 high school students and sponsors from 27 states. Zickefoose captured the audience with his presentation "Gymnastics to the Glory of God."

In conjunction with the Forum, the 7th annual Spring Sing played to a record crowd of 10,000. For the first time, the Benson Auditorium was the setting for the spectacular, allowing more spectators to view the show at three performances.

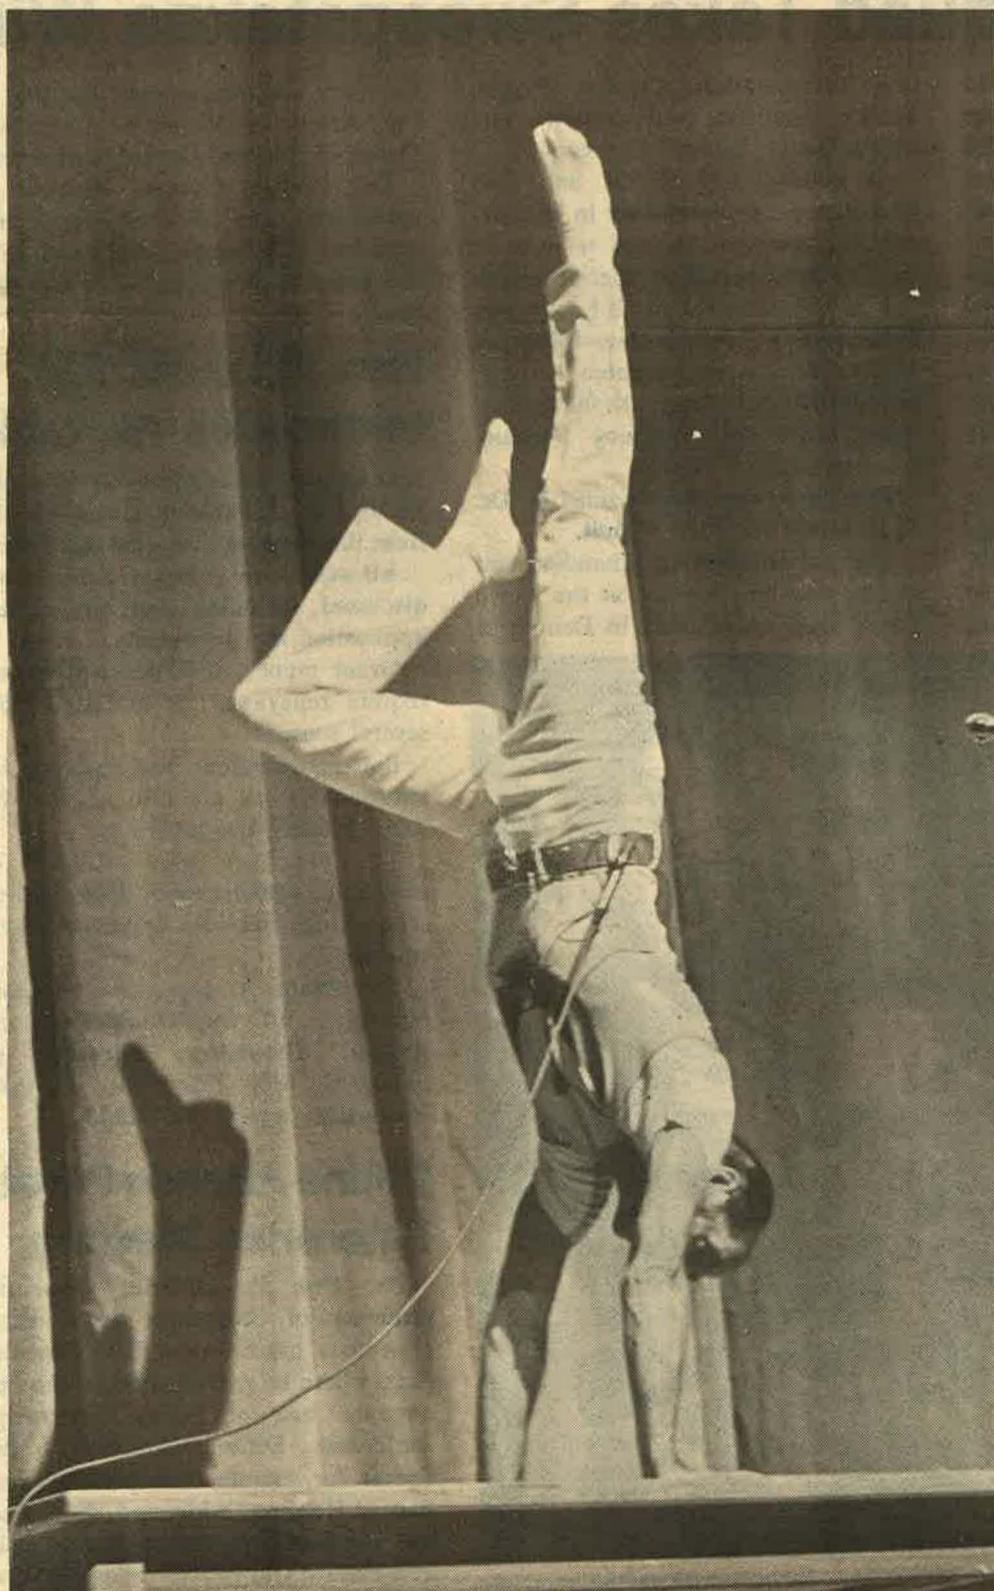

This year's Spring Sing was a production by 570 costumed performers from Harding social clubs, 20 members of the stage band and a 25-member production crew. A total of 14 acts, each performing a 5-minute original show with original costumes, competed for cash prizes of $1,550. Winning clubs were TNT and Zeta Rho, announced on the Monday following the performances after an error was found in the original judging tabulations. Their entry, "The Main Event," was a fast moving show centered on the theme of boxing.

Runners-up were (from second to fifth place) Chi Sigma Alpha and Regina for "Rhythm Revue," Sub-T and Ko Jo Kai for "The Gong Show," Ju Go Ju and Galaxy for "Bug Fever," and Beta Tau Gamma and Kirei Na Ai for "Hot Dog."

Other acts participating included Chi Lambda Chi and Alpha Gamma Omega in "Think Pink," GATA and Alpha Tau in "Tooth Each His Own," Kappa Delta Kappa and Kappa Sigma Kappa in "Commercial Message," Kappa Kappa Kappa and Kappa Sigma Kappa in "Hot Stuff," Omega Phi in "I'm a Believer," Phi Delta and Knights in "California Dreamin'," Shantih and Titans in "Manhunt," Tofebt and Frater Sodalit in "Livin' for Saturday," and Zeta Phi Zeta and Mohicans in "Tribute to the King."

Hosts and Hostesses performed between acts with a variety of music. The group this year included Chris Dell of Freeport, Ill.; Tonya Hesselrode of Sikeston, Mo.; Laurie Robinson of King of Prussia, Pa., and Ricky Qualls of Camden.

Ben Zickefoose, assistant professor of physical education at Abilene Christian University, gives keynote Forum lectures to the crowd of 3,500 high school students.

Laurie Robinson entertains in the Host and Hostess number "Personality."

Everyone stays on the beat in Chi Sigma Alpha and Regina's second place production, "Rhythm Revue."

The technique of pantomime is carried out by Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Dykes, former Harding faculty members, in their 1930's number "WMBS."

Sweepstakes winner "The Main Event" features action-packed moves by Zeta Rho's Kim Adams and TNT's Kenny Stamatis.

Donning familiar-faced costumes, Chi Lambda and Alpha Gamma Omega urge the crowd to "Think Pink."

Tonya Hesselrode and Chris Dell, sing "United We Stand." Also participating in the Sub-T member Clark Wood takes the audience to the Far East for "The Gong Show," the third place winner.

Winners of the costume award, Ju Go Ju and Galaxy, light up the stage with "Bug Fever." The act took fourth place overall.

Alumni Asked to Help Distribute Radio Program

by Debbie McCabe
Harding Journalism Student

Hymns from Harding is a weekly 15-minute program of a cappella choral music sent from Harding since 1949 to radio stations throughout the United States. Over the years thousands of listeners have enjoyed the program, which has grown without promotion and is currently being carried by about 100 stations.

However, the University would like the help of alumni in extending the program. You are in a unique position to contact your local radio station. If the station is not already carrying the program, and would like to try it as a public service, we will send an audition tape with all postage paid.

"The Hymns From Harding program has a wider appeal than other religious type programs since it only contains hymns and scripture readings. It is more acceptable to more radio stations because it is non-denominational," said Jimmy Jones, director of recording services. "It's a fine way, not only to give exposure to various areas at Harding, such as the music department, but it also gives radio the opportunity to present a quality program that fills a need that the station may have as a public service.

"Many congregations in cities where the program is broadcast can get time adjacent to time of their program. Or if longer time is required, they can use it as part of the radio program, and use it along with their own programs," he explained.

The audition tape can be sent either to the individual who has made the contact, or to the radio station for evaluation. Since this program is not dated, it can be played anytime. Tapes are mailed to regular recipients 10 days prior to scheduled play dates. For further information, write to Recording Center, Box 757, Station A, Harding University, Searcy, AR 72143.

Nominations Open For Alumnus Award

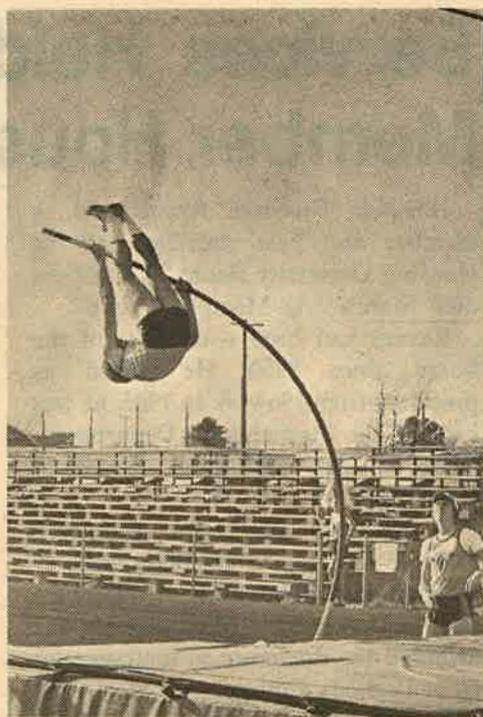

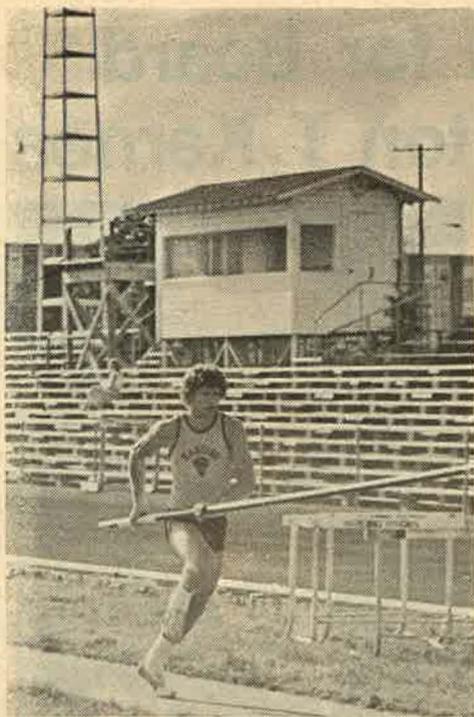

Nominations for the 1980 Distinguished Alumnus Award have been requested by the Harding Alumni Association Executive Committee. Nominations must be submitted by September 1, 1980.

The Distinguished Alumnus will be honored during Homecoming '80 festivities in November. The Executive Committee of the Association will select the honoree from submitted nominations.

Last November 9, Gottfried Reichel was honored as the 1979 Distinguished Alumnus. Reichel is a speaker on World Radio Germany and a gospel minister in Munich.

Candidates must meet the following qualifications: (1) Must be an active supporter of Harding (2) Life must be consistent with the ideals of Harding (3) Must have achieved a degree of excellence and recognition in his or her chosen field of activity and (4) Must strive to advance academically and spiritually to serve God.

Nominations should include as much information as possible about the nominee and should be mailed to the Harding Alumni Association, Box 768, Harding University, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

For junior Mike Lynch of Bivins, Texas, new records are as easy as one . . . two . . . three.

Lynch Sets New School Vaulting Record

Harding junior Mike Lynch is a record-setting pole vaulter. On April 9 he vaulted higher than any Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference athlete has ever gone to establish a new school and Alumni Stadium record of 16-9.

An NAIA track all-American, Lynch has improved his performance with practically every competition. During the winter indoor season he won the prestigious Mason-Dixon games with a 16-foot jump.

On April 1 the Bivins, Texas, trackster upped his record holdings with a 16-0 leap in the Ouachita Baptist University Invitational and followed that with the 16-9 effort in a triangular meet. "Mike improves every time he competes," Bison coach Ted Lloyd said. "He has outstanding physical skills and the concentration and dedication necessary to be a champion."

Lynch has accumulated an impressive list of achievements. He is the current Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference record holder at 16-0, set last year in Searcy. (AIC records must be set in the conference meet.) He earned All-America recognition with a 15-6 vault in the 1979 NAIA Indoor Championships.

To culminate the 1979 outdoor competition, Lynch was selected to the NAIA District 17 All-Star team, which competed in Mexico City against the Mexican National team. He was the pole vault winner with a 15-0 vault.

With the 1980 season in full swing and based on previous experience it is safe to say the only way Lynch can go is up.

After winning the Arkansas State Track Classic on April 12, Lynch was admitted to White County Hospital for surgery to remove an intestinal blockage. He has now been released from intensive care and is expected to be hospitalized for at least 10 days.

Harding Pulls Ahead In All-Sports Contest

With five championships already decided, Harding University leads the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference All-Sports trophy standings, according to commissioner Harry Hall.

With 38 points, Harding holds the top spot with Arkansas Tech in second place with 35. The Bisons hold two championships, bowling and cross country.

In swimming, Harding picked up second to go along with a football tie for 5-6 and a 9-10 tie in basketball.

Rounding out the team standings are Ouachita Baptist, 34.5; Hendrix College, 28; Henderson State, 26; UA-Monticello, 23.5; Southern Arkansas, 18.5; Central Arkansas, 15.5; Arkansas College, 11; College of the Ozarks, 6.

Football, Basketball Signees Announced

Seven high school athletes have signed athletic letters-of-intent with Harding University, according to Athletic Director Harry Olree.

Committing to play football for the Bisons are wide receiver James Holybee of Weatherford, Texas; tight end David Hall of Greenville, Texas; cornerback Danny Cowling of Merritt Island, Fla., and tight end Greg Poston of Memphis, Tenn.

Basketball signees thus far include 6-3 all-stater Lawrence McNutt of Forrest City, Ark.; 6-9 center Allen Gibbons of North Little Rock and 6-4 forward James Robinson of Erlanger, Ky.

Ski Vacation Highlights Spring Break for PEMM Club

When PEMM Club sponsor Karyl Bailey first started talking about sending students to "Purgatory," he probably had some inquisitive glances.

But despite the dubious destination, 60 students signed up to spend spring break vacation at the well-known Colorado ski resort, located in the San Juan National Forest.

"This was the first year for the PEMM (Physical Education Majors and Minors) Club to sponsor a trip to Purgatory, although we had previously been to Colorado, as well as Arkansas and New Mexico," explained Bailey.

"The trip started eight years ago in order to give the students an opportunity to develop another skill in physical education," he continued. Since then, the one-week expedition has also been open to alumni, faculty and friends.

On March 9, the group departed Searcy on a chartered bus. "Even the drive up was worth it," commented Paul Morris, a senior from Albuquerque, N. M. "I was really impressed with the beauty." Morris, Posing in front of the beautiful Colorado Rockies, the skiers of the PEMM Club ski trip take a break from the morning on the slopes of the Purgatory resort area.

a veteran skier who has also lived and skied in Europe, concluded that Purgatory was superior to other places that he had skied in the states, although initially he had reservations. "Our first day out it snowed, and conditions were not the best, especially for the 35 beginners in our group. But the next day was perfect, with sunshine and powder on top of packed snow. The rest of the week was beautiful and I was surprised to see how fast the beginners picked it up." The neophytes, however, did not begin on the more difficult slopes, some of which were named "Styx," "Pandemonium," "Snag" and "Catharsis."

Rodney Burke, a senior from Marianna, Ark., has made the excursion for the past three years. He now considers himself a "permanent skier." Besides the skiing, Burke said, "The fellowship was unbelievable. Most of us didn't know each other before the trip, but by the end of the week, we were all friends. The more experienced people were great to help the newcomers."

An added bonus, Burke related, was meeting a group of Christians from Texas A & M. The combined groups had a devotional on Thursday night.

Closer fellowship was possible when students shared condominiums at the Brimstone Inn on Sheol Street. They also split the cost of groceries and the cooking responsibilities. In this way, Bailey explained, the trip could be made more economically.

According to Bailey, those making the trip felt that it was worth the cost, and many expressed a desire to go next year. Perhaps, Bailey said, it is because they discovered that Purgatory was really "God's country."

A spring break ski trip is already being planned for March 8-15, 1981. If you are interested in joining the PEMM club for a week of skiing or learning to ski, please contact Karyl Bailey at Box 765, Harding University, Searcy, AR 72143.

BISONS CLOSE AIC Play With 15th Championship

Harding University won its 15th Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference bowling championship with a decisive 1,956 pin victory in the final rounds of league competition at the Professor Bowl in Little Rock March 28.

With three-time All-AIC junior Mike Bedwell overcoming a back injury to capture the singles championship, the Bisons placed all eight team members in the top ten finishers.

Bedwell, the individual leader since the third round of play, put together series of 566-491 to take the title with a 4,784 pinfall and a 199 plus average over the 24-game season.

Coach Ed Burt's keglers registered 2,720 for the seventh round of play and 2,604 for the final round to finish with a 22,674 total pinfall. Ouachita Baptist University was second with 20,718 and Arkansas Tech University was third with 19,946 pins.

For the Bisons the victory was especially meaningful, as all team members were conscious of the absence of Jonathan Bedwell, a teammate who died March 3 from injuries sustained in an automobile accident. At the time of his death, Jonathan was in second place in the singles competition behind his brother, Mike.

Mike Bedwell, who was attempting to become the second bowler in AIC history to average 200 or better for the conference play, was severely hampered by the back injury and was not up to his usual form. The Charleston, Mo., athlete had compiled a 207 average through the first six rounds.

Searcy sophomore Danny Campbell had series of 534 and 583 to move into second place in the AIC standings with 4,467. He had high games of 208 and 211 and a conference average of 186.1. In third place was Bob Lee of Jacksonville, N.C., with 4,445 and a 185.3 average. He had the high game for the Bisons with a 228 in the eighth round.

Freshman Taro Fujisawa of Okayama, Japan was fourth with 4,289 pins and a 178.7 average. Dale McCarthy of Royal Oak, Mich. moved up two places from round six to finish in fifth place with 4,258 and a 177.4 average.

Sixth and seventh positions went to Larry Root and Frank Tabler, respectively, of OBU. Root had a 4,249 total and Tabler a 4,222.

Harding senior Jason Davis of Miami, Fla. placed eighth with a 4,196 pinfall and had series of 497-523 for the final two rounds. He had a high game of 213 in the final round.

Richard Hiley, with 495-441, finished eighth with a 4,176 total. The Randolph, Wis., junior average 174 in conference play. Ken Dorsey of Nederland, Texas, with scores of 459-497, finished tenth in the competition with a 173.8 average on a total pinfall of 4,170.

By virtue of their AIC finish, all of the Bison bowlers will be designated as All-AIC athletes. For Mike Bedwell it is the third consecutive year to be honored and for Dorsey, it is a second all-

Sports Camps Offered For 7-12 Grade Boys

Summer sports camps will be offered at Harding for boys, grades 7-12, interested in track, cross country, football and basketball.

The camps offer intensive instruction in fundamentals and provide each participant with the opportunity to improve his ability, according to Coach Wilt Martin, director of the camps. Instruction is given in every phase of the sport and each boy receives individual attention. In addition to working on skills, video tapes, films and other teaching techniques are used.

Camp dates are: junior high basketball, July 13-18; senior high basketball, July 20-25; junior high football, July 20-25; senior high football, July 27-August 1; and track and cross country, July 27-August 1.

Instruction will take place on the Harding campus. The modern physical education-athletic complex provides a pro turf floor with two regulation size cross courts, an indoor track, swimming pool, gymnastics area, handball courts and weight room.

conference recognition.

Mike Bedwell's back injury probably cost him the chance to break the school and conference average of 207, currently held by former Harding bowler Brad Davis. Jonathan Bedwell, although only a freshman, established an all-time school and conference record with a 757 series in the first round.

For the Bisons, the victory closes out perhaps the most successful intercollegiate record ever compiled in any Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference sport. Since the league began sponsoring the sport in 1963, Harding has won every championship except three.

Four times Harding won the NAIA national bowling title in 1970, 1971, 1972 and 1975.

Ragsdale, Thompson Elected Co-Captains

Two veteran footballers, Kerry Thompson and Scott Ragsdale, have been elected co-captains of the 1980 Harding University Bisons, according to head coach John Prock.

"We look to our captains to be the team leaders," Prock said, "and we believe these young men will do an outstanding job for us. They are both hard workers and dedicated to what we're trying to accomplish in our program."

A linebacker, Thompson will be a senior this fall and is a three-year letterman. A returning starter at 6-2, 195 lbs., Thompson is regarded as one of the hardest hitting defensive men in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference. He is a native of Murray, Kentucky.

Ragsdale, a three-year letterman at quarterback, will also be a senior. A 5-11, 175 pounder, he is a native of Conyers, Georgia.

Harding junior Brent Taylor of Bartlesville, Okla., leads the individual standings through three rounds of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference race with a 77 average. Taylor has paced the Bison team to a first place standing with three rounds remaining.
