Phase IV Campaign Launched, Buildings Planned

Growth and expansion on the Harding campus will continue as three major building projects have been approved by the Board of Trustees. The three-year, $5.6 million campaign has been designated as "Phase IV The Decade of the Eighties."

Early 1980 will signal the completion of the George S. Benson Auditorium and the beginning of work on Phase IV. Projects will include a $1.2 million Business and Economics Building, construction of a $1.25 million building for the Harding Academy in Searcy and a $400,000 expansion of the Science Building.

In addition, the campaign will include $500,000 endowment for the American Studies Program and the Center for Private Enterprise Education and $2.25 million for operational supplementation.

"The next ten years will bring into even sharper focus the impact of inflation, spiraling costs and the need for both expanded facilities and increased endowments," President Clifton L. Ganus said. "This campaign will help us to meet those demands."

Construction on the Business and Economics Building will begin during the 1980-81 school year. In addition to the School of Business, the building will house the American Studies Program, the Center for Private Enterprise Education, the Educational Media Center and the Computer Center.

The building will house nine classrooms, a seminar room and a study lounge on the second floor. Also included will be 14 faculty offices, a reception area, a faculty conference room and a computer laboratory room.

Already under construction is the $1.25 million Harding Academy Building. It will be located on the southeast corner of the campus near Alumni Field.

The 47,000 square foot building will include six elementary classrooms, 14 high school classrooms, an auditorium, a library, a gymnasium and administrative offices. Completion of the Academy is projected for the fall of 1980. Upon completion, the present facilities will be removed to provide space for the Business and Economics Building.

The $400,000 expansion of the Science Building will include two new laboratories, two classrooms, a seminar room, a Math Education Learning Center, seven faculty offices and the conversion of two classrooms into laboratories.

The present building was completed in 1967 for a projected enrollment of 2,000 and the much needed space will provide greater use and flexibility of scheduling for students and faculty.

Construction on the proposed $1.2 million Business and Economics Building is scheduled to begin during the 1980-81 school year. It will be located on the southeast corner of Center and Blakeney, across from the new Benson Auditorium.

"The facilities have been planned with frugal care, yet attention has been given to the expanding needs of our student body, which this fall exceeded 3,000 for the first time," Ganus said.

"The expansion represents tangible evidence of interest and concern for Christian education," he said, "and we want to meet the needs of our students in the best way possible."

Lomanco Head to Deliver Winter Graduation Speech

Del Belden, president of the Lomanco Corporation of Jacksonville, Ark., will address the final graduating class of 1979 on December 21.

Belden is an active supporter of the American Studies Program and the Center for Private Enterprise Education, and is the sponsor of a $90,000 research project conducted by the school's physical science department.

The 52-year-old company head obtained his formal education through the ninth grade in 1941 but returned to the classroom in 1977 as a student in the School of Business.

Born in Shields, N. D., Belden was raised in Minnesota. In 1946 he joined with five men in founding the business which he now independently owns. His company manufactures louvers for sale to mass merchandising companies and wholesale contractors. Belden's sales this year have reached $20 million.

He and his wife have four sons, one daughter and eight grandchildren.

According to Virgil Beckett,

Del Belden

registrar, 128 candidates will receive degrees. A total of 410 have received degrees in the two previous commencement exercises.

The ceremony will begin at 10 a.m. in the Main Auditorium.

Christian Home, Text Study Included in 13-in-1 Topics

The individual programs of the 1980 13-In-One Workshop at Harding University, scheduled for August 4-7, will include sessions on Biblical Studies and the Christian Home.

The workshop on Biblical Studies will focus on four areas. Studies in the book of Ruth will be conducted by Neale Pryor of the Harding Bible Department. Jim Woodroof, minister of the College Church of Christ in Searcy, will teach the Gospel of John. Ephesians will be the topic of Avon Malone of the Bible Department, and Jimmy Allen of the Bible Department will teach Hebrews.

The program will be in the George S. Benson Auditorium with Will Ed Warren serving as host.

The second workshop on the Christian Home will be held in the College Church of Christ and hosted by Jack Thomas.

C. W. Bradley of Memphis, Tenn., will talk on "How Do We Prepare Our Sons to Be Spiritual Leaders." Ken Dye

April Forum to Explore 'Cults'

"A Study in the Cults" will be the topic for the 1980 Harding Preachers' Forum scheduled for April 8 on the Searcy campus.

The full-day program, sponsored by the Bible Department, will include five lectures, and two question and answer sessions.

"Anyone who watches television, reads the newspapers or goes into an airport has seen the growth of cults in this country," said Dr. Jerry Jones, chairman of the Bible Department. "The topic is quite relevant to preachers and church leaders today," he continued.

Speakers will be John Waddey of Knoxville, Tenn., on "Why Do People Join Cults?"; Ed Sanders of Searcy on "Daily Life in the Cults," "Bibliography and Cults" and "What Can We Learn From Cults," and Bob Dankelfsen of West Monroe, La., on "Disengaging From a Cult."

Panel members for the feedback sessions are J. D. Bales of Searcy, Marvin Robertson of Searcy and the forum speakers.

While the day is generally planned for the church leadership and ministers, Jones stressed that anyone interested in the topic of cults would profit from the seminar, which is open to the public.

Management Seminar Set for February 9-10

The eighth annual Management and Economics Seminar for businessmen on February 9-10 will feature Dr. Ben Rogge of Crawfordsville, Ind., and Dr. Charles Hughes of Dallas.

Sponsored by the American Studies Program and the School of Business, the program will be held in the American Heritage Auditorium on the campus.

On Friday night, Dr. Rogge, a distinguished professor of political economy at Wabash College, will speak on "Economic Perspectives of the '80's."

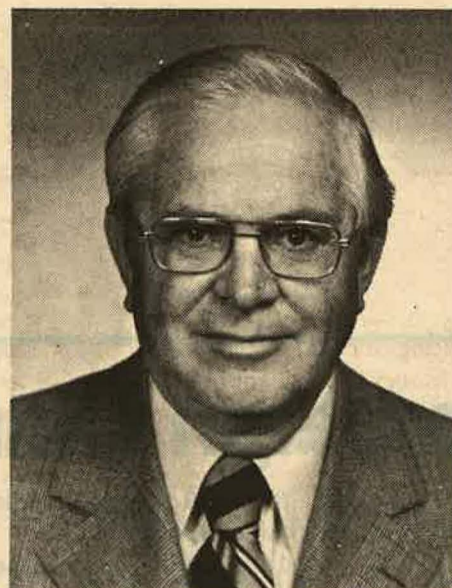

Rogge has taught at the University of Sao Paulo in Brazil, Northwestern University and the University of Minnesota and has also served as dean of Wabash College. He has lectured for bankers, public utility executives, businessmen, teachers and ministers.

The Nebraska native was chairman of the board of the Foundation for Economic Education of which he remains a member. He has been director of the Wabash Institute for Personal Development, a summer training program in liberal arts for business executives.

Rogge's lectures will be at 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m., followed by a question and answer session. Friday's program will open with registration at 5:30-6:30 p.m. and a dinner at 6:30 in the Heritage Cafeteria.

Dr. Hughes will speak Saturday on "Making Unions Unnecessary." His

8:30 a.m. session will include the topics Management Commitment and Communication, Basic Assumptions of Non-Union Companies, Pay Policies and Benefit Program, and Problem Solving.

Dr. Charles Hughes

At 1 p.m. he will cover Communication Programs; Selection, Placement and Promotion Policies, and Value Systems.

Hughes is the director of the Center for Values Research in Dallas. His articles and concepts have appeared in Harvard Business Review, the Wall Street Journal, AFL-CIO News, Industry Week, the Chicago Tribune and U.S. News and World Report.

He is the author of four books: Goal Setting, which won the McKinsey Foundation Award for Excellence, Management Without Interference, Making Unions Unnecessary and Value Systems Analysis: Theory and Management Applications.

Prior to entering private practice, Hughes was a consultant at IBM Corporate Headquarters.

For more information, contact Dr. David Burks, Seminar Director, Harding University School of Business, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

Further details may be obtained from the Harding University Bible Department, Box 939, Searcy, Ark.

Family Establishes Brannon Endowment Fund

by Alice Ann Kellar

What was to have been a memorial to her late husband actually was also a tribute in her honor, Mrs. Mary Bales Brannon of Roswell, Georgia, learned October 26 when she came to the university for a special ceremony.

Mrs. Brannon and her children, Holly of New York, Randy of Roswell and Ben of Conway, Ark., established an endowment fund in the name of their husband and father, Randall H. Brannon.

Unknown to her, the offspring, all graduates of Harding, added her name, calling the fund "The Randall H. and Mary Bales Brannon Endowment Fund."

President Clifton L. Ganus presided at a luncheon in her honor and commended her for her concern for others. "We are grateful for what she has been in example as a mother, wife, business woman and Christian," he said, "and this gift is an extension of the giving attitude that has characterized her life."

Assembled for the unveiling were other members of her family, a brother, James D. Bales, long-time member of the Harding Bible faculty; two sisters, Mrs. Mildred McMillan of Atlanta and

At the dinner given in her honor October 26 on campus, Mrs. Mary Bales Brannon of Roswell, Ga., shares a happy moment with President Clifton Ganus Jr. Mrs. Brannon's children established an endowment fund in the name of Mrs. Brannon and her husband, the late Randall H. Brannon.

Mrs. Mable Clark of Shelter Island, N. Y.; her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Randy (Midge) Brannon and grandchildren, Michelle, Chad and Joshua.

C. Floyd Daniel, vice president for development, told of some of the remarkable Georgian's life. She was a senior in high school in 1927 when her parents were killed in a car-train accident, leaving her with primary responsibility for the seven other children, they youngest of whom was four. Through her determination, will power and drive, she managed to complete business school, purchase a house and care for her brood.

The Brannons were married by B. C. Goodpasture in 1939 and continued to live in the Atlanta area. "Christian education has always been a part of our lives," she told the attendants at the luncheon, "and we have a lifetime of happy memories, many of which include Harding. This was supposed to have been for Randall, but now I think this was a good idea—I wish I'd thought of it, myself," she quipped.

The septuagenarian continues to work full time, following a pattern that has been her routine for years. She has served as president of the PTA on the elementary, high school and county levels and has been active in Women of the Motion Picture in Fulton County. She is the oldest charter member of the Sandy Springs Church of Christ.

Further indicative of the verve and kindness of this lady is that she dons a Santa suit each year and makes a call on local nursing homes to bring cheer to the residents, a practice she's been doing for years.

At the conclusion of the celebration, Mrs. Brannon received yet another surprise—a decorated birthday cake prepared for her.

Eighteen Students Elected To Leadership Positions

The Harding classes have elected leaders for the 1979-80 school year.

Serving the Senior Class will be Sarah Beth Fitzgerald of Memphis, president; Terry Casey of Norcross, Ga., vice president; Pam Riley of Detroit, Mich., secretary, and Charles Posey of Searcy, treasurer.

The Junior Class will be represented by Hal West of Nashville, Tenn., President; Wade Coggins of Arkadelphia, Ark., vice president; Randy Walters of Southaven, Miss., secretary, and Jim North of La Grange, Ind., treasurer.

Leading the sophomore class will be Mark Clay of Centerville, Mich., president; Patty Miller of Pasadena, Texas, vice president; Connie Corbin of Searcy, secretary, and Linda Eichelberger of Rockford, Ill., treasurer.

Freshmen officers are Mark White of Searcy, president; Royce Harbin of Dayton, Ohio, vice president; Lisa James of Warrington, Pa., secretary, and Jeff Parker of Sebring, Fla., treasurer.

Representing the freshman class on the Student Association Council are Barry Blain of Panama City, Fla., and Karla Kell of Lubbock, Texas.

The class officers are in charge of projects such as homecoming floats, spirit competition and any special service projects. They join with the Student Association to involve more students in activities, work in cooperation with the faculty and administration, build better communication and cultivate an attitude of service on campus.

Harding Receives $4000 Grant From Kodak

Harding has received a $4,000 special grant through Eastman Kodak Company's 1979 Educational Aid Program, President Clifton L. Ganus announced.

Kodak awards nonrecurring special grants to institutions of higher learning to support their efforts to improve the quality of life. Harding is among 35 schools sharing $2,216 million in Kodak special grants.

Commenting on the gift Dr. Ganus said, "We are very grateful for the confidence placed in us and the assistance given by Eastman Kodak. It will be helpful to us as we seek to provide a strong academic program in a moral and friendly setting."

Through the company's 1979 Educational Aid Program, 312 colleges and universities throughout the U. S. are sharing a total of $4 million in Kodak grants. The grants are financed from the company's current earnings and from funds previously set aside for the purpose.

In a joint announcement, Kodak heads Walter Fallon and Colby Chandler said, "With our 1979 commitment, we reaffirm Kodak's respect for quality education and invest in the future of higher learning for the benefit of all."

'Rainmaker' Takes Awards

The production of Richard Nash's "The Rainmaker," presented October 22 in the American College Theatre Festival competition in Little Rock, copped five of 23 awards presented at the festival and gained possibility of entry in the regional competition in Ft. Worth early next year.

Director Morris Ellis received the set design award and David Bedgood, stage manager, received an award for properties.

Three members of the cast received acting awards. Freshmen Kim Swink of Little Rock, who portrayed Lizzie, and Joe Aaron of Searcy, who had the role of Jimmy, won festival acting awards, and Steve Holder, also of Searcy, won a combination festival award and Amoco award for acting.

The play was one of ten entered from Arkansas colleges and universities, and the entries included two musicals, three comedies and five drama productions.

Harding will learn if they will be included in regional entries in December, and finalists from the competition there will be chosen for performance at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D. C. next spring.

Students Make Dallas Tour

Fifty-three American students visited Dallas October 28-31 to tour several large corporations and businesses.

Points of interest on the tour include The Ling Temco Vaught Corporation, General Motors Assembly Division in Arlington, WFAA TV Communications Center, International Business Machines, American Airlines Flight Academy, Bloom Advertising Agency, Texas Instruments, Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, and Union Station. The group also met with the Dallas Cowboy's at the team's practice field.

President Clifton Ganus and Dr. Don Diffine accompanied the group.

The fall tour is an annual event of the American Studies Program, which takes students to major metropolitan areas to view practical applications of classroom learning. They visit financial and industrial organizations, governmental institutions and places of historic interest.

ON THE COVER— Senior James Winston of Memphis, Tenn., scores against the University of Arkansas at Monticello in a game held in the Athletic Center. Harding has posted a 7-5 record in early season play.

Homecoming 1979:

Celebration of 'A Dream Come True'

Take a sunny, crisp fall day, more than 1000 alumni, marching bands, a Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, add the traditional gridiron clash and many gala reunions, and the result is Harding Homecoming '79, held November 8-10 on campus.

To celebrate the first Homecoming that Harding has held since changing to a university, the theme for weekend activities was "Harding University, A Dream Come True."

The dreams of senior Rhonda Dickey did come true on Thursday night as she was crowned 1979 Homecoming Queen. Mrs. Dickey, a 21-year-old brown-eyed brunette from Star City, is married to Bison safety Keith Dickey. Her court included sophomore Terri Franks of Lake Charles, La.; senior Nora Pierce of Hixson, Tenn.; senior Robin Bales of Searcy, junior Belinda Segraves of Searcy, sophomore Kim Adams of Dallas, and freshman Lisa Loden of Batesville, Miss.

"This was one of the most successful Homecoming weekends we have ever had at the school, with more alumni returning than ever before," said Dr. James Carr, Homecoming chairman. Carr noted that seven out of the original 40 members of the Class of 1929 were reunited for their golden anniversary.

Gottfried Reichel, a 1952 graduate, was honored Friday night at the Black and Gold Banquet as the Distinguished Alumnus of 1979. Reichel is a resident of Munich, Germany, where he preaches for the Munich Laim Church of Christ and broadcasts a daily religious radio program over Radio Luxemburg. Rodgers and Hammerstein's popular stage production of "The Sound of Music" played to sell-out crowds November 7-10. The 51-member cast included six school children from Searcy. Vicki Durrington of Wichita, Kan., and Bob Perkins of Rochester, N. Y., played leading roles.

Food and fellowship was abundant on Saturday at ten social club breakfasts, and 14 class and organization post-game receptions and suppers.

Alumni lined Center Street for the Homecoming parade on Saturday morning, which featured the Harding Bison Band and the Harding Academy of Memphis Band. Mayor Jack Wiseman led the caravan of clowns, floats and decorated cars.

Harding's unsuccessful joust with the Ouachita Baptist Tigers ended in a score of 21-6, a disappointment for the alumni crowd, chilled by 40 degree temperatures.

Festivities concluded Saturday night with a lily pool devotional.

Co-captain Robert Goldstein submarines to tackle a Ouachita running back in the Homecoming game. The senior noseguard was named All-American Intercollegiate Conference and All-NAIA District 17 for his outstanding play this year. Assisting on the play is linebacker Gary Henderson (8).

Celebrating their 25-year reunion are class of 1954 members, first row: Lorene Lemmons Pearson (Mrs. J. J.), Whitaker Harris (Mrs. Jack), Doris Storey Vaughn (Mrs. Max), Clayton Sherrill (Mrs. Bill), Grace McReynolds Coburn (Mrs. Bob), Nancy Vanwinkle Walker (Mrs. Richard), Dr. Norman (Mrs. Jack), Ferrell Ware, Shirley Birdsall Alexander (Mrs. C. Kim Adams of Dallas, sophomore Homecoming maid, joins Winnie the Pooh on the Sophomore Class entry in the parade on Saturday.

At the "Blackout '79" variety show, Scott Conner of Calemeña, Calif., and Greg Ross of Sanger, Texas perform popular songs.

Alumni gathered for the Black and Gold banquet on Friday hear Harold Hazelip, dean of the Harding Graduate School of Religion, give points on setting priorities. The annual event also featured the Campus Singers and Bob Helsten as master of ceremonies.

French Hymnbook Printed

Several Harding alumni who are now European missionaries had part in the recent publication of a new hymnal for French-speaking churches.

Ed Ritchie (BA '59) and Richard Wolfe (BA '70), both music education majors while in school, worked on the volume for more than a year. Ritchie, minister for the Mons, Belgium church wrote the music for two hymns, and Wolfe, preacher for the church in Liege, Belgium composed music for another.

Ritchie and Doyle Kee (BA '62) printed the new hymnal which will be used in congregations in Belgium, France, Switzerland and French-speaking Canada. The Geneva congregation, including Buddy Jones (MA '72), aided in the assembling process.

Others working with the project included Charles White, son of Harding English teacher Ed White, Paris missionary Don Daugherty and his daughter Prisca Daugherty Dauner.

The work is titled Chante Mon Coeur, translated Sing My Heart. Twenty of the 108 songs had words or music composed by members of the church. The remainder of the songs were selected from nine existing French hymnbooks.

Russian language. He is now in Officer Candidate School in Newport, R. I. Upon graduation from the Naval Education Training Command's school, he will attend the Navy's surface warfare school and will be eligible for full command at sea.

Seaman Carter is married to the former Carla Diane Matheny (BS '78).

Reichel Named Distinguished Alumnus

Gottfried J. Reichel of Munich, speaker on World Radio Germany and long-time minister of the Gospel, received the Harding University 1979 Distinguished Alumnus Award during Homecoming November 9-10.

Dr. Winfred Wright, alumni association president, presented the plaque "In recognition for his many years of dedicated service to the church, for his devotion to world missions, for his contribution to radio evangelism and for exemplifying the ideals of Harding University."

Reichel's broadcast over Radio Luxemburg, which he calls "a vital tool of evangelization among the 120 million German-speaking people of Europe," has had growing response through the years, especially from behind the Iron Curtain. In October he received the 35,400th written response from the effort.

A former Hitler youth, Reichel was a refugee from the Russian Zone following World War II when he came to Munich to locate his brother. Without papers or any identification in his war-torn homeland, the teen-ager, almost without any hope remaining, was befriended by American soldiers who showed him Christianity as a way of life. He began preaching almost immediately and has declared, "Ever since I was baptized into Christ I felt the responsibility to bring others the message of salvation, and especially to the people of my own nation. To keep Germany a peaceful nation will only be possible if the people know about the message of peace, a peace which comes not through arms, but the Gospel of Christ, which gives the obedient the power to make peace with God, with his fellowman and with himself."

Reichel attended Harding from 1951-

Gottfried Reichel, 1979 Distinguished Alumnus, accepts the plaque award from Alumni Association President Winfred Wright as the honoree's daughter, Katharina, a Harding senior, leads the applause. The award was presented at the annual Black and Gold alumni banquet held November 9 in the Heritage Cafeteria.

53, receiving the bachelor of arts degree in Bible. Also he served as visiting professor of missions in 1971-72. A son, Michael, is a recent graduate and his daughter, Katharina, is currently a Harding senior. Mrs. Reichel is the former Hannelore Pusch, and they have two other children, Matthew and Elizabeth.

Harding started the Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1960 with L. O. Sanderson as the first recipient. Mrs. Louise Nicholas Ganus, wife of President Clifton L. Ganus, received the honor last year. Reichel is the first recipient since the school assumed university status at the opening of the fall semester. His plaque, which was presented by the university, includes an etching of the landmark archway which still reads "Harding College."

Harriers Take AIC, Place in Nationals

Rounding out one of their finest seasons ever, the Harding University cross country team finished 16th in the NAIA national meet after capturing Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and District 17 Championships.

With junior Richard Teixeira earning NAIA All-America status with a 25th place in the NAIA championships in Kenosha, Wis., the Bisons registered their highest national finish since 1968.

"Despite losing two of our top runners during the actual race, one to injury and one to illness, the boys did a tremendous job for us," coach Ted Lloyd said.

In the NAIA meet, John Sills of Eads, Tenn. placed 55th, Joe O'Connor of Augusta, Maine was 134th, Mark Piller of Neenah, Wis. was 163rd, and Randy Jackson of Springdale, Ark. was 197th among 250 runners who finished.

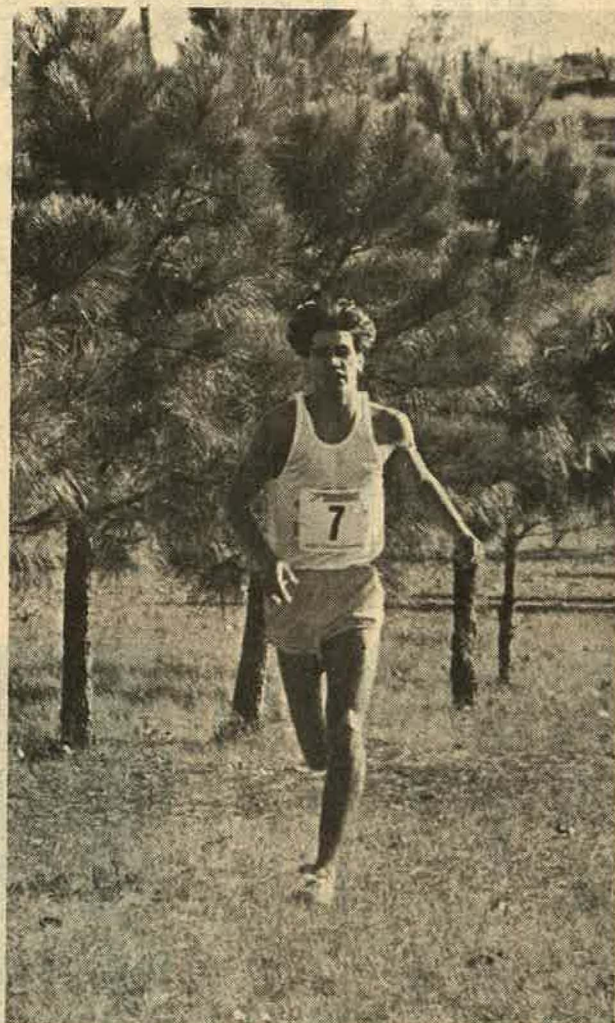

On the conference and district level the Bisons recorded a perfect low score of 15 to completely dominate the competition. Harding, which hosted the meet at the Bald Knob Country Club, finished first through sixth to become only the second team in AIC history to record a perfect score. The 1965 Harding team was the first.

The team championship was its ninth consecutive AIC title and its 15th in the last 18 years.

Teixeira won the individual AIC and District 17 championship with a time of 25:37 over the five-mile course.

Bison runners John Sills and John McAlister of Temple Hills, Md., finished second and third with both crossing the finish line in 16:18. Close behind in the next three places were Randy Jackson (26:21) of Springdale, Ark., Carter Lambert (26:28) of Pearl, Miss., and Joe O'Connor (26:46) of Augusta, Maine.

Howard Sennett of St. Petersburg, Fla. placed 14th in 28:01.

TEIXEIRA WINS TITLE—Richard Teixeira races to the finish line to win his second straight AIC and NAIA District 17 Cross Country Championship in November. Teixeira, a junior from Auburn, Ind., covered the five mile course in 25:37.

Roundballers Post 7-5 Record Early in Season

Harding basketballers jumped off to a fast start and have posted a 7-5 record in early season action.

The Bisons, under head coach Jess Bucy, races out to a 7-1 record, which included winning a third place trophy in the Evangel Classis in Springfield, Mo.

Utilizing a running game and rotating eight to ten players, the Bisons have averaged 79.3 points per game and head their opponents in rebounding average by a 38.2 to 35.9 margin.

Junior Ricky Treadway of North Little Rock is leading Bison scorers with a 13.8 ppg. average. He is followed by freshman Hubie Smith of Memphis at 13.3 ppg, junior Tim Flatt of Memphis, 12.3 ppg and junior Bruce Baldwin of Jacksonville, Ill., 10.8 ppg.

Teamwise, Harding is shooting .519 from the field and .775 at the free throw line.

James Winston, a 6-7 senior from Memphis is the leading rebounder with a 7.5 average per game and Kenny Mooror is pacing the team in assists with 4.8 per game.
