Distinguished Teachers Chosen, 380 Graduate

Three Harding professors were honored at the University's spring commencement exercises May 9 by receiving Distinguished Teacher awards. Harold Hazelip, dean of Harding's Graduate School of Religion in Memphis, delivered the commencement address to 380 graduating seniors.

A plaque and a check for $1,000 was presented to Dr. Larry Long, associate professor of English; Dr. Don Shackelford, professor of Bible; and Mrs. Betty Work Watson, associate professor of elementary education.

An audience of 3,200 family and friends of the graduates attended the ceremonies in Benson Auditorium.

Hazelip spoke of the parable of the sower in encouraging the graduates on their new venture. "Life will have its share of failures, but it will also have its share of successes. If you will keep sowing, you will find the good ground," he said.

Several student awards were also presented. Randall Bert Maddox of Sulphur Springs, Texas, a math major, and Eugene S. Smith III of Duncanville, Texas received the Alpha Chi awards for highest cumulative grade point averages. Each had a perfect 4.0. Maddox also received the Charles Pitner math award and $100 as the outstanding mathematics student.

Carter Lambert, an English major from Pearl, Miss., received the M. E. Berryhill outstanding athlete award. Carter was a cross country and track star, receiving All-American honors.

Russ Summers of McMinnville, Tenn. received the Ray Kinslow chemistry award.

Kathy Cage, a junior journalism major from Branson, Mo., won the Russell Simmons memorial scholarship and the Duane Priest pre-med memorial scholarship went to Mark Pickhardt of Dallas.

Jerry Wright of Judsonia, a sophomore, and Kathy Burson of College Park, Ga., received $100 each from the Ganus family for highest grade point average for the year.

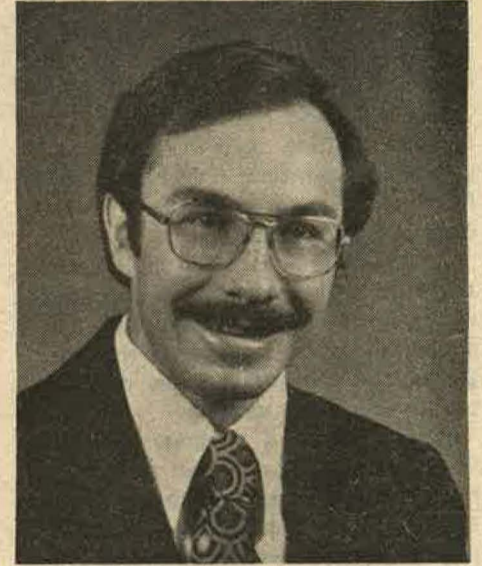

Betty Watson

The Mort Utley scholarship award for half tuition for the fall semester was presented to Melody Ward of Baton Rouge, La., and Mark Dossett of Virginia Beach, Va., for self-improvement.

Dr. Long is a native of Marietta, Ohio.

He is a member of the South Central Modern Language Association, Conference on Christianity and Literature, Thoreau Society and Thoreau Lyceum.

Dr. Long joined the Harding faculty in 1976 and has written articles which have appeared in Studies in the American

Larry Long

Renaissance, Thoreau Journal Quarterly, and Christian Teaching: Studies in Honor of Lemoine G. Lewis.

He is currently director of Harding's International Studies Program, the Harding University in Florence, Italy program, the Mission/Prepare program, and the College church of Christ's International Campaigns. He is also an elder at the Cloverdale church of Christ in Searcy.

Mrs. Watson received the award previously in 1973. A Detroit, Mich., native, she is a member of the International Reading Association, the National Council of Teachers of English, the Arkansas Reading Association and Arkansas Teachers of Reading.

Mrs. Watson joined the Harding faculty in 1968. She is the wife of Zearl Watson, an accountant at Harding. The Watsons have two children.

Missourian Elected to Board of Trustees

James Russell (Russ) Burcham Jr., D.D.S., of Kennett, Mo. has been elected to the Harding University Board of Trustees, according to Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., University president.

Burcham, 57, is engaged in the general practice of dentistry, and has been a member of the President's Development Council at Harding since 1972.

Burcham enrolled at Harding in 1943, but was drafted by the U.S. Navy after only three weeks as a student. He served with the Navy until the end of World War II, then attended Rice University in Houston, Texas. He pursued dental studies at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo. and completed the D.D.S. degree there in 1951.

"I believe Christian education is one of the greatest forces in the world today," said Burcham. "I am dedicated to its progress, and especially to Harding University. I am strongly concerned about the breakdown of the American family, and I see Christian education as a prime force in bringing about a better family environment in this country."

Floyd Daniel, vice president for development, commended Burcham for his work on the Development Council. "In the 15 years that I've worked with the Burchams they have always given more time, influence, and financial support than we had asked for. Russ will add strength to an already strong group of trustees at Harding."

"I am also committed to curriculum improvement at Harding in the next decade," said Burcham, who has been involved with education for a number of years. He has been a member of the Kennett School Board for 15 years, and was a charter member of the Board of Trustees of Crowley's Ridge College in Paragould, Ark. until a few years ago.

He has also been an elder at the Fourth & Slicer Street Church of Christ in Kennett for the past 17 years. That congregation is the largest religious body in Kennett, and is experiencing its third building expansion program since Burcham has been an elder.

In his 'spare time,' Burcham is interested in amateur and professional video programming. He is the engineer-producer of a daily 15-minute community service program in Kennett over the local cable television outlet. The program, entitled "Time for Talk," is hosted by his wife.

Burcham is also a licensed ham radio operator, and enjoys trouble-shooting electronics problems. This interest has aided his engineering work in the television studio.

He and his wife, Rosemary, have five children, all Harding alumni: Russ, 32 (BS '71); Graham, 30 (BS '74); Suzanne, 28 (BA '76); Mary Lee, 26 (BA '78); and Britt, 20 (BS '84).

The oldest four children are married, while Britt, a pre-medicine major, will be a junior this fall. Russ, an ophthalmologist in Denver, Colo. and wife Vicki have four sons. Graham, a dentist, and his wife, Alice, live in Sarasota, Fla.

Suzanne teaches music in the Oklahoma City public school system and is married to Warren Casey, a faculty member at Oklahoma Christian College. The Caseys have one son, and this summer will be moving to Searcy, where Warren will assume the position of Director of Bands with Harding. Mary Lee teaches music in the Little Rock public schools and is married to Brad Dell, an Independent Insurance agent. The couple lives in Little Rock.

13-in-1 Workshop Set for August -5

Dr. Jerry Jones, chairman of the Bible Department, would like to remind everyone that the fourth annual 13-in-1 Workshop at Harding is fast approaching. According to Jones, the August 2-5 workshop promises to be one of the best ever.

Topics to be studied over the four-day period will be Biblical Studies, Topical Studies, Mental Health, Christian Homes, Youth, Preachers, Church Growth, Church Leadership, Teacher Training, Visual Aids, Death and Dying, Mass Media and Evangelism.

Some of the speakers for the workshop will include Dick Austin, J. D. Bales, Leon Barnes, Joe Beam, Dan Blaze, Dee Bose, Bill Brant, David Burks, Lou Butterfield, Bob Coker, Mary Dudeck, Dale Foster, Corky French, Ray Fulenwider, Clifton L. Ganus Jr., Bob Gibson, George Goldtrap, W. T. Hamilton, Dale Hill, and Sandi Hill.

There will also be a complete program for children ages three through 17. Registration and housing information is available by writing Dr. Jerry Jones, Harding University, Box 939, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

Economics Team Wins Meet, Qualifies for National Finals

The Harding University Economics Team defeated teams from 10 colleges and universities representing five states, to win the Southwestern Regional "Students In Free Enterprise" competition in Dallas April 24. A $2,500 cash award was made to the University.

The team members are Sally Florence of Worthington, Ohio; Paul Holliman of Bartlesville, Okla.; Susan Collins of Atlanta, Ga.; Penny Hightower of Mt. Pleasant, Texas; Byron Carlock of Blytheville, Ark.; Steve Haynes of Little Hocking, Ohio; Ellen Reid of Houston, Texas; and David Hill of Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Don Diffine, associate professor of economics and director of the Belden Center for Private Enterprise Education at Harding, is faculty sponsor.

Co-sponsored by the National Leadership Institute, an Austin, Texas-based management training organization, and Southwestern Life Insurance Company of Dallas, the competition began at a September orientation meeting.

Working with a program theme of "Creative Capitalism," the participating institutions were challenged through formal intercollegiate competition to design and implement free enterprise programs suited for their particular campuses and communities.

The competing institutions were represented by their teams, who made formal presentations before national business and civic leaders serving as judges. The Harding entry, entitled "Free Enterprise — It Works When We Do," included a report and a 12' x 15' multimedia display that elaborated on a variety of 64 projects and programs which have been presented before civic, professional and educational groups in the Mid-South.

Other participating institutions were Southwest Louisiana State, second place; College of the Southwest, third place; Cedar Valley College, Southern Arkansas University, Oklahoma Christian College, Stephen F. Austin State University and North Texas State University.

The competition results, combined with first place finishes in six of the last seven years, establish Harding's Belden Center as one of the premier organizations in the country effectively promoting economic enlightenment.

The Harding team will compete in the national finals in Dallas July 26-28.

Harding won the 1980 and 1982 national competition, defeating colleges and universities from ten regions in the "Students in Free Enterprise" championships. Each year, competitions involve nearly 200 colleges and 6,000 students from around the country.

Public Relations Chapter Receives National Charter

Harding University was granted membership April 28 in the Public Relations Student Society of America, becoming the third school in Arkansas to have a PRSSA chapter, along with Arkansas State University and the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.

Parent organization of the PRSSA is the Public Relations Society of America, with headquarters in New York. Frederick H. Teahan, vice president for education of the PRSA, notified Harding journalism chairman Dr. Heber Taylor of the decision. Taylor is a member of PRSA.

The new charter caps four years of labor by the Harding journalism department, including efforts by Taylor and by Mrs. Betty Ulrey, assistant professor of English and journalism. Also instrumental in gaining approval for the Harding chapter were Teahan and Bob Joblin, liaison to the Arkansas PRSA Chapter located in Little Rock.

"The chapter started as a student idea at my house one evening in 1978," Mrs. Ulrey said, "when we had Bob Joblin speak to us in class." At that time, Harding had just formed a Public Relations Club, and Joblin was president of the Arkansas PRSA Chapter.

"He mentioned our club and PRSSA," Mrs. Ulrey continued. "Someone asked how we could get in. Many forms were filled out and application was made." Taylor soon joined in the effort. He was added to the journalism department in the fall of 1978, coming from Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

Taylor was promoted to chairman of the department the next year, and applied for membership in PRSA. He was accepted in February 1981. Later that year, in October, the Arkansas PRSA Chapter voted unanimously to sponsor the Harding chapter for membership in PRSSA. Taylor, Joblin and Ulrey are sponsors of the Harding chapter.

Several requirements were met for PRSSA membership. In addition to Taylor's membership in PRSA and sponsorship by the Arkansas PRSA Chapter, improvements were made within the journalism department, including the moving of the public relations major from the business department to the journalism department, and the adding of several public relations courses.

An additional faculty member was hired in the journalism department, and in the fall of 1981 an advertising major was offered for the first time. This spring the Harding public relations chapter had 15 members. "We've anxiously awaited the day when we would become a part of the national organization," said President Jim Bradley, a junior pre-law-public relations major from Memphis, Tenn.

"Now there will be plenty of activities for our group to begin working on," he added.

The Harding PRSSA Chapter is open to students majoring in public relations, journalism, or mass communications.

Because of the date of acceptance into PRSSA, Harding will wait until the fall semester to recognize the charter. Thus the chapter members this fall will be the first students officially recognized as PRSSA members. But those involved with the project are breathing a sigh of relief.

"We're glad to be a member of PRSSA," said Taylor. "The students have been looking forward to it for some time now, and the word has paid off. We're proud to be affiliated with an outstanding organization, and feel this will further strengthen the quality of our program here at Harding."

Five Retire from Harding Posts

Four members of the Harding University faculty and one staff member have retired at the conclusion of the spring semester. All are residents of Searcy.

Dr. Erle T. Moore, chairman of the music department, and his wife, Mona, instructor of music, are among the retirees. Dr. Moore has taught at Harding for 33 years, and also served as chairman for that entire period. Mrs. Moore has taught music at Harding for 25 years. The Moores do not have definite plans as yet, but intend to do some traveling and to spend more time with their grandchildren, according to Mrs. Moore.

Maurice L. Lawson, professor of physics, is retiring after 28 years at Harding. Likewise, he has not made any definite plans as yet.

Ermal Tucker, associate professor of business education, taught 25 years at a private business school in Kansas City, Mo. before coming to Harding. She has also taught 25 years here, to total a half century of teaching to her credit.

Mrs. Tucker is quite active in the work of the College Church of Christ, including the Thursday School and Ladies' Bible Class. She intends to add to this work and to spend more time assisting her husband, who is an elder in the church.

Merle Elliott, store room supervisor, is retiring after 19 years of service with the University.

Lawson, an Oklahoma native, was educated in that state and served with the United States Naval Reserve during World War II as Chief Petty Officer. He has also served as president of the Arkansas Academy of Science, and is a member of the American Association of Physics Teachers, and the Searcy Optimist Club. He is also an elder at College Church of Christ.

Mrs. Tucker has been active in the Arkansas Education Association and in 1972 was named Teacher of the Year by Arkansas teachers of business education. She served as president of the Arkansas Business Education Association in 1967 and was named to the Governor's Council on Education at that time.

She has also received the Distinguished Teacher Award at Harding, earning a $1,000 cash award, and is a member of the Searcy Business and Professional Women's Club.

Dr. Moore is a World War II veteran, having served with the Army Air Corps. He has been president of the Arkansas College Music Teachers Association, and is a member of the Music Educators National Conference. He did graduate work at Columbia University in New York.

Moore was also the recipient of a Distinguished Teacher Award at Harding in 1970, along with a $1,000 cash award. He is a member of the Searcy Lions Club.

Mrs. Moore has held various offices in the American Association of University Women, and taught at Abilene Christian College, David Lipscomb College, and in high school at Oklahoma before coming to Harding. She has also taught piano lessons for many years in her home.

Elliott was a winner of the Distinguished Staff Award for 1980-81, and received a $1,000 cash award.

Church Workshop Planned for June

There will be a workshop on Church Planting at the Harding Graduate School of Religion in Memphis June 10-11, 1982. The program will begin each day at 9 a.m. and end at 8:15 p.m.

The workshop aims at stimulating mission committee personnel, elders, prospective church planters, and other interested parties with respect to domestic mission work.

The program includes presentations on the State of American Religion, Attitudes Within the Churches of Christ, Recruitment and Training of Personnel and The Function of the Missions Committee.

Speakers are Harold Hazelip, Mac Lynn, Harold Shank, Howard Norton, Philip Slate, Earl Edwards, David Morris, Glendol Grimes, Billy Hubbard, and Jack Lewis. Everyone is encouraged to attend.

"Church Discipline — The Neglected Commandment," Harold Hazelip; "Acres of Diamonds," Jule Miller; "Undenominational Christianity," Jimmy Allen; "Graduate Studies for the Ministry," Bill Flatt; "Extremism," Mel Snook; "Fear of Failure — The Grasshopper Complex," Roger Johnson; "The Threat of Division," Bill Sherrill; "The Future of the Church," Bill Teague; "The Reel Thing," Jule Miller; "Public Schools and Children — Value Clarification," Brodie Harrell; "In the World, But Not of the World," John Davis; "Cults," Ed Sanders; "What Is Right with the Church?" Neale Pryor; "The Church in the Eternal Plan of God," Avon Malone.

Bison Wins ACPA Sweepstakes Award

The Harding Bison received the first place Sweepstakes Award, along with $100 from the Arkansas Gazette, for the most points in 12 individual categories at the annual spring meeting of the Arkansas College Publications Association.

Competing against nine other Arkansas college newspapers, the Bison won 16 awards in the 12 sweepstakes categories.

Individual winners were Laura Brown, Bridgeport, Ohio; Gwen Crownover of North Little Rock, Ark.; Karen O'Donogh of Syracuse, N.Y.; David Ullom of Ceredo, W. Va.; Randy Anthony of Richardson, Minn.; Jim Bradley of Memphis, Tenn.; Jim Dotson of Elizabethtown, Ky.; Kathy Cage of Branson, Mo.; Jerry (Boo) Mitchell of Texarkana, Tex.; Ken Bissell of Nashville, Ark.; and Jay Perdue of Memphis. Perdue was 1981-82 editor of the publication.

The Bison placed second in Advertising and Photography, Art and Graphics, and third in Design to take second place in the General Excellence category.

HARDING UNIVERSITY

This year's theme was especially chosen in order to sound a note of optimism to those who feel the church is on the decline, Pryor commented. "We feel the Lectureship will address this problem," he added. "The topics and speakers reflect a concern in our Brotherhood today about growth."

"We have continued last year's format," Pryor said, "because we found it to be successful. We feel that having a Saturday session gives more people an opportunity to attend. This makes the second year now that we have scheduled the lectures in this way."

A display area will be set up for both commercial and non-commercial exhibits. Space may be reserved by contacting Dr. Pryor. Further information about the Lectureship is available from Neale Pryor, Lectureship Director, Box 767, Harding University, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

Irises, $35,000 Gift Highlight AWH Meeting

More than $35,000 was presented by chapters of Associated Women for Harding to President Clifton L. Ganus Jr. during the annual AWH general meeting in Searcy April 23, and five new members were appointed to the AWH National Council.

Representatives of 13 chapters were on hand to make the presentations, and another chapter had sent a gift to add to the total.

The meeting opened at the newly-acquired AWH house on the corner of Center and Grand adjacent to the Harding campus. The site will be developed as a center for AWH, but currently will be used to house supplies and equipment owned by the organization.

The Little Rock chapter provided refreshments during registration.

A purple iris named Jan Burt, hybridized by Henry Rowlan of Little Rock especially for the first president of the National Council of Associated Women for Harding, was displayed at the general AWH meeting on the Searcy campus April 23. That night at a meeting of the President's Development Council, William Neal of Cleveland, Miss. bid $325 in an auction for the first rhizome.

Mrs. Burt of Richardson, Texas is the wife of Richard Burt, a member of the Board of Trustees. She has been instrumental in the organization of the Dallas chapter of AWH and served as the charter president of the chapter.

The group of 75 moved to the administration auditorium for workshops conducted by Kay Reiboldt of Shreveport on fund-raising activities, and Ann Hewitt of Little Rock and Claudia Petty of Hot Springs for chapter presidents.

Lunch was served in the home economics department reception room in the Olen Hendrix building with Mary Jolly of Odessa, Texas, National Council president, in charge. President Ganus addressed the members and check presentations were made following the luncheon.

Theda (Mrs. Ransom) Smith of Newport was announced as winner of the National Volunteer Service Award and received a brass tray.

During the luncheon, Mrs. Jan Burt introduced the Louise Ganus and Jimmy Carr irises. A photograph of the flower was presented to the respective namesakes.

Brenda McClain of Little Rock, who has been instrumental in the development of the three new iris, said that the project is being planned as a fund-raising effort for AWH.

Mrs. Jan Burt of Richardson, Texas, hugs First Lady Louise Ganus, seated, who has just been notified of the Louise Ganus iris, so admiringly held by husband Cliff, Harding president.

This year 25 Burt rhizomes were available for purchase and all have been sold, bringing slightly more than $1,100. Next spring some of the Ganus and Carr species will be offered for sale. More will be available at a later date.

"We are always seeking ideas to help Harding University meet her financial needs," Dr. Carr explained, "and we are exploring the possibility of offering iris rhizomes and perhaps other flowers and bulbs as well as a fund-raising project. In recent years, white garden swings, such as those on the Harding campus, have been placed in gardens across the country. Now perhaps flowers can become another symbolic way of extending Harding University around the world."

On Saturday, April 24, five Harding alumnae were appointed to the National Council of Associated Women for Harding by Dr. James F. Carr, AWH advisor. They are Mrs. Deborah Payne (BA '71) of Herrin, Ill.; Mrs. Ransom Smith ('41) of Newport, Ark.; Miss Cindi Pitts (BA '77) of Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. Lance Hesselrode ('80) of Sikeston, Mo., and Mrs. Randy King (BS '77) of Houston, Texas.

The Council coordinates the work of the national volunteer program of the University. Organized chapters in eight states and about 1,500 members-at-large from throughout the United States make up the group, which supports Harding through public relations, recruiting of students and fund raising. AWH, organized in 1965, has been responsible for many projects at the university, including landscaping, purchase of departmental equipment, funding musical instruments and uniforms, furnishing rooms and reception areas, and many other areas of support.

Muncy Receives Mellon Fellowship

Dr. Raymond Muncy, chairman of the department of history at Harding University, has been chosen to receive a Mellon Fellowship this summer to study "Crime and Punishment in History" May 16-28 at Rice University in Houston.

The competition was open to full professors who had published in social history. Dr. Muncy wrote the history of Searcy during the Bicentennial and published Sex and Marriage in Utopian Communities: 19th Century America in 1973.

In addition, he has written chapters for several other publications, the latest being "The Shakers: An Experiment in Celibacy" for Indiana University's Alternative Lifestyles: Experiments in Group Relations.

1982 Petit Jean Dedicated to Priest

Harding University's 1982 Petit Jean, entitled "A Matter of Motion," was dedicated by the senior class to Dr. Dean Priest, chairman of the mathematics department.

Susan Pryor of Searcy, editor, presented the yearbook to students in chapel ceremonies April 26, and gave a special copy of the 400-page book, signed by members of the staff, to her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Pryor.

The inscription to Priest reads as follows: "Because of his sensitivity, humility, courage, patience and love for the Lord, he has become an outstanding husband, father, teacher and athlete, but most of all, our friend. We, the Senior Class of 1982, have chosen to honor this servant of our Lord by dedicating our Petit Jean to him."

Susan E. Parkey, a junior education major from Franklin, Tenn., was crowned Petit Jean Queen by Dr. Joseph E. Pryor, vice president for academic affairs and advisor for the yearbook for the past 38 years.

Other queen nominees were Wendy McDonough, a senior elementary education major from Selma, Ala., and Nancy Cole of Spring, Texas.

Miss McDonough also received the Regina Spirit Award as the student best exemplifying the spirit of Harding University.

The 58th Petit Jean, the last 22 of which have received All-American ratings, was published by Josten's American Yearbook Company. Approximately 15,600 black and white and 2,300 color frames were shot for picture selection. Portraits were taken by Ben Red Studios of Little Rock.

The chapel presentation also included a slide show compiled and directed by Shawn Daggett of Auburn, N.H., a senior Bible major who served as head photographer for the 1982 Petit Jean.

A press run of 3,900 copies was released.

Reforms Necessary for Economic Recovery, Kemp Says

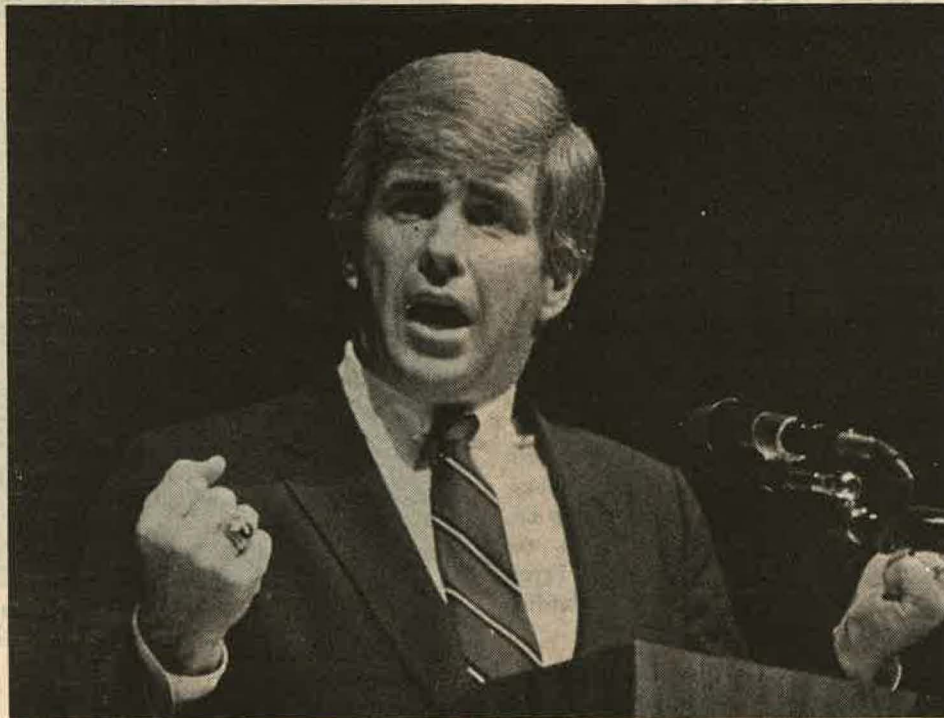

Congressman Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., concluded the spring American Studies Lecture Series on an upbeat note April 19 on the Harding campus by telling an overflow audience, "There is no limit to the potential of this nation to grow and produce and to create — none whatsoever as long as you don't limit people, as long as you don't limit their ideas, as long as you don't take away from men and women the opportunity to reach their highest potential.

"Those pessimistic economists who tell us that the era of growth is over for this country are absolutely wrong. The greatest tool on the face of this earth to prevent people from having to take charity is a healthy, growing, capitalistic economy linked up to democracy and freedom from political opportunity. And that's what this battle in 1982 is all about; in that battle, there are no spectators."

Kemp, a six-term Congressman from Buffalo, N.Y. and a former quarterback for the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, was accompanied by his colleague in the House, Rep. Ed Bethune of Arkansas.

One of the most influential of President Reagan's economic advisors, Kemp described the President's first 16 months in office as both "triumph and tragedy." Regulatory reform and cuts in government spending and taxes have been offset by the failure of the administration to achieve monetary reform through lower interest rates, he said.

The inability of the Reagan administration to convince the Federal Reserve Board, an independent agency that sets the interest rate that banks must pay in order to borrow money from the government, is the single biggest failure of the current economic program, Kemp added.

The Fed's policy of dampening inflation by keeping interest rates up — which has the effect of making interest rates too high for businesses to borrow money for increasing production — is a misguided policy that kills economic incentive, Kemp told media representatives at a press conference before his speech.

Kemp gave his audience his version of the country's economic ills by first introducing an historical perspective. "For years we have tried to spend and tax our way to prosperity, but there is no road to prosperity short of freedom and hope and opportunity and expansion of the amount of capital that is invested per capita. The Keynesian, liberal economic model which America unfortunately got down the track on in the late 1950's has led the United States to the ultimate dilemma of high unemployment and high inflation at the same time.

"The answer to balancing the budget, bringing down deficits, and providing the economic resources with which to finance educational opportunity as well as the infrastructure needs of this country, is the type of economic growth without inflation that has really stymied much of the Western world.

"There is only one real way to balance the budget. There's only one real way to get this nation back on the road to prosperity with price stability and that is to couple simultaneously monetary and currency reforms with the fiscal reforms which President Reagan has made.

"The essence of monetary policy is predicated upon the people's belief that the standard is going to be maintained. It is absolutely imperative to a free enterprise economy to have a currency, a unit of account, a numerer, a benchmark, a standard if you will, that is maintained by the government over a long period of time so that you know that in the morning when you wake up the dollar that you earned yesterday or saved yesterday will be worth tomorrow what it was yesterday.

"The interest rate today is a protection that the lender is building into his or her interest rates in order to protect themselves against long-term devaluation or decline in the purchasing power of the money. The whole idea of trade and world-wide monetary and financial markets to finance stability, has broken down and there is no longer the ability of our financial markets to finance the long-term investment needs without these huge risk premiums.

"It seems to me that one of the great moral issues of the '80s and the future of this country depends upon the leadership that is needed to bring our country back to an honest, stable, credible, believable, fiduciary dollar. What the American people most need is a money, a value to its money, a quality of the money, that will maintain itself over a long period of time; that is the issue."

Leadership Plays Crucial Role, Shaklee President Says

Leadership was the subject addressed by J. Gary Shansby of San Francisco, president of Shaklee Corporation, at an April 6 speech, the third in Harding's spring American Studies Lecture Series.

"Any person who respects and cultivates his or her mind, any person who has set out to grasp information and use it constructively, becomes educated in a real sense and usually becomes a leader," Shansby began.

"Don't wait too long to become a leader yourself," he continued. "In fact, don't wait at all! This campus is not all that different from the so-called outside world, from the Shaklee Corporation, or from the federal government. They all have issues that are unresolved, questions that are unanswered, and a path into the future that must be found.

"As you help define those issues, answer the questions and look seriously for the new path, you are exerting leadership. The principal component in good leadership is creativity. This is true because leadership is basically a search for the new. If we did not have to search out a future, we would simply not need leaders.

"Two kinds of thinking seem to be available to everybody — convergent thinking and divergent thinking. Convergent thinking works neatly and systematically within a system, tending toward an answer. Divergent thinking, on the other hand, tends away from a center or system.

"Divergent thinking seeks avenues of inquiry rather than a particular destination. Yet divergent thinking is not easy. As a leader you must look beyond the horizon of time and perhaps see something that nobody else has seen. Your creativity has found the new path, and you decide that your organization should take it.

"The confidence of your colleagues and co-workers is critical now. You must have their confidence and they must have yours. The leader who tries to do everything is soon swamped and lost in detail. Once a leader has persuaded the people around him to accept the new task or the new path, he faces the next step. The outside world must be persuaded.

"Now the leader has to persist. He must persist in the face of disinterest or ignorance or criticism or even attack until the new idea becomes a living fact, until it is validated by the passage of time. This is the most difficult part of leadership. You have gone out on a limb. You have accepted the responsibility. Now you wait for the verdict.

"It is better to make a wrong decision than none at all. There is only so much time to get it right, so keep moving forward. We must become public leaders, because we are needed. The world needs our energy, sensitivity and intelligence.

"It is the task of all Americans to create a 'more perfect union.' But it is difficult to define a perfect union, or a perfect family, or a perfect corporation, or a perfect university. And it's even more difficult to attain that perfection. But it is not hard to tell whether we are working toward, or moving away from, that great goal.

"It is time to pitch in, time to do our work intensely, time to help constructively, time to keep our sights high. Our nation, with all its democratic imperfections and uncertainties, still stands as a living monument to freedom of expression, movement, and choice, to freedom of the human spirit."

Ganus Attends Historic Ceremony for Poland Church

by Sharon Goetting (BA '81)
Searcy Citizen Staff Writer

Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., President of Harding University and an elder at College Church of Christ in Searcy, recently attended a historic event in Warsaw, Poland.

On Wednesday, April 14, a document was signed legalizing the Church of Christ in Poland. For the past 25 years the church had been forced to meet in an "illegal" way and members were subject to arrest and harrassment.

"There was one preacher there who had been in prison six or seven times," Ganus said. "Once he was put in prison for six months and his wife didn't even know where he was."

Ganus said that sometimes the Christian prisoners would begin to sing and pray until the officials would tell them to leave and take their Bibles with them.

"When the Christians in Poland learned that the government finally was going to recognize them and make their worship and services legal, they called several Americans to come over and participate in what they considered to be a very historic occasion — the first time that any Communist nation had recognized and made legal the operation of the Church of Christ," Ganus explained.

He said the other five Americans who went were Alton Howard, elder at the White's Ferry Road Church of Christ in West Monroe, La.; John Gipson, minister and elder at the Sixth and Izard Church of Christ in Little Rock; Bill Stokes, elder at the Airline congregation in Bossier City, La.; and Dr. Dan Russell and Jerry Harris of Shreveport, La.

The six Americans met in Atlanta on Sunday afternoon, April 11, and flew to Vienna, Austria. There they were met by Mike Dawidow who lives in Vienna, but who, along with his family, had been instrumental in securing recognition for the Church of Christ in Poland. The Americans, along with Dawidow, drove from Vienna through Czechoslovakia to Warsaw.

The Harding University president commented on the atmosphere of the country. He said that although the police still patrol the area, the tanks have been moved out of sight for the most part and "you don't see the heavy-handedness of the law." However he explained that the factory workers are still unhappy and the military is still very much in control. "You can sense that, too," he added.

"But it's a much more stable situation there now," and unlike other Communist countries, about 70 percent of the people own their own land, he said.

A curfew of 11 p.m. is in effect for the country, but Ganus said that everything closes down at about 9 p.m. "We were stopped about six times by troops," he added.

He said there is a crisis among the people concerning the food situation and one lady told him she only eats one meal a day.

Ganus explained that probably the major factor leading to the signing of the document was aid from the Americans.

"The Churches of Christ in the United States collected almost $2 million to assist the Polish people with food, clothing, medicine and detergents. More than 300 tons of supplies were sent over to assist the needy. Twenty tons of barley also were given to assist those in the northern portion of Poland who were stricken with floods," he said.

He said that another convoy of 50 trucks with 250 tons of food and clothing is being prepared to assist not only members of the Church of Christ, but orphanages, homes for the aged and other social works supported by the government of Poland.

Concerning the signing of the document, Ganus said, "The importance of the occasion was evidenced by the location of the signing and by the fact that it was signed by the highest person in the Department of Ministry in Poland."

The signing took place in the very room and on the very table that the Warsaw Treaty was signed. Those signing the agreement were Minister Kuberski from the Ministry of Religion and Valenty Dawidow, minister of the Church of Christ in Sopot.

At the ceremony, Ganus spoke on behalf of the Americans. He thanked Kuberski for being there to sign the document himself, and thanked him for the assistance the Polish government had provided the church in helping Christians serve the Polish people.

Ganus said the document gave permission for the Church of Christ to operate freely in Poland and to use newspapers, radio and television in their ministry.

On the night of the signing, a celebration dinner was given with the Vice-minister of Religion, Doshick present. The next morning the six Americans left Warsaw for New York City, via Zurich, Switzerland.

Ganus summed up his feelings about the excursion: "It was a long, arduous trip, but it was worth it."

Bison Linksters Take Third Straight Conference Title

For the third consecutive year, Harding University reigns as the golf champion of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference.

A second place finish in the final round pushed the Bisons into first place in the season standings by one-half point, 41-40.5, over Southern Arkansas and Ouachita Baptist University.

Coach Phil Watkins' team shot a team score of 314 in round six after a somewhat disappointing 321 in round five to win the title.

"After round five we really thought we were out of it," Watkins said, "but the boys came back with a strong finish. Ouachita had a bad round (322) and everything really fell in place for us."

The situation looked dim indeed after round five. The Bisons' John Hendricks of Shreveport, La. was the low man with a 76 score. Hubie Smith of Memphis finished with 79, Kyle Chandler of Odessa, Texas 80, David Padgett of North Little Rock, 86 and Collin LaFollette of Carthage, Texas 88.

Four Named to All-Conference Baseball Team, Letters Awarded

Four Harding baseballers have been selected to the 1982 All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference team, according to Commissioner Harry Hall.

The Bison honorees are first baseman Steve Ashcraft, pitcher Mike Galloway, shortstop Rich Katchur and third baseman Marty Ninemire.

Two other Harding players, catcher Dean Haley and second baseman Dan Johnston were named to the honorable mention team.

A senior, Ashcraft is a top-fielding first baseman who has been a Bison starter for four years. A native of Crossett, Ashcraft has been the Golden Glove recipient on the Bison squad for his outstanding defensive play. He batted .304 as a junior, .241 this season and led the team in runs batted in with 15.

Galloway, who received the most ballots of the pitchers selected to this year's team, posted a 6-1 record this season. A 6-2, 220 lb. righthander, Galloway recorded a 1.73 earned run average in 52 innings of pitching. He had 30 strikeouts. Galloway is a senior from Chesapeake, Ohio.

Katchur was named to the All-AIC squad after leading the Bisons with a .412 batting average. In 102 times at bat he had 42 base hits, including eight doubles, four triples, and nine runs batted in. He also led the team in stolen bases with 19 of 22 attempts. A 1978 graduate of Des Arc High School, he is a native of Woodridge, N. J. Katchur was not in school last year but was an All-NAIA District 17 selection in 1980.

Only a sophomore, Ninemire enjoyed an outstanding year at third base and batted a solid .310 for the Bisons. A solidly built 5-10, 180 pounder, Ninemire garnered 26 base hits in 84 at bats, including four doubles, one triple and a homerun.

Receiving two-year letter awards were Les Clonch of Houston, Texas; Galloway; Haley; Kenney Kinnear of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Steve Marrs of Tulsa, Okla.; Ninemire; Rob Nossaman of St. Louis, Mo.; Dave Payne of Cincinnati, Ohio; and Stan Valentine of Searcy, Ark.

First year lettermen were Johnston; Tim Murray of Atlanta, Ga.; Kelvan Musgrave of Bartlesville, Okla.; Bret Rupert of New Springfield, Ohio; and Jerry Whitmire of Monroe, La.

Ashcraft and Marrs were selected co-captains of the 1982 squad.

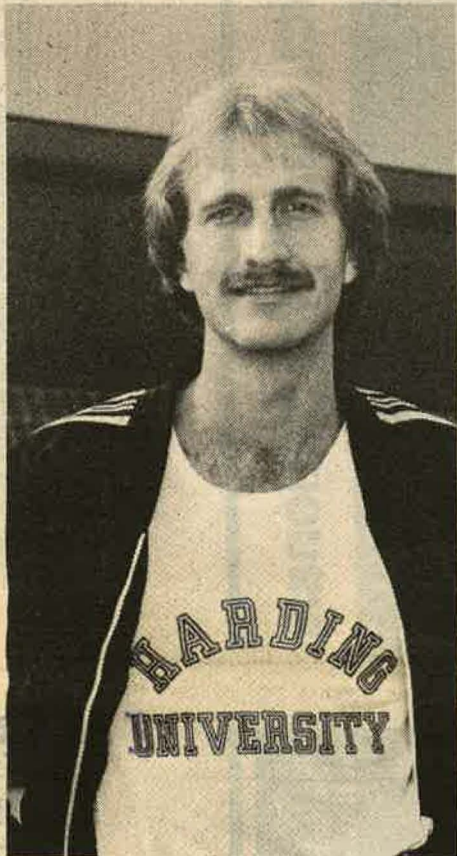

Lambert Wins Berryhill Award, Other Athletes Recognized

Track Team Wins Conference Meet In Convincing Fashion

Though termed an upset by some, the Harding University Bisons won their second straight Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference track championship in convincing fashion in Arkadelphia, Ark., April 30.

Harding won three events, the 800-meter run, the 200-meter dash and the 5000-meter run and each win proved to be pivotal for the Bisons.

Senior Tomy Sitton's victory in the 800-meter could well have been the turning point of the meet for Harding. Running like a man with a mission, the Atlanta, Ga. youngster was clocked in 1:52.86, well ahead of Ouachita's two-time defending champion. The victory seemed to obviously spark the Bison team.

Footballer Tony McCoy gave Harding its first lead of the meet, 87-86, with a great stretch run in the 200 to become the Bison's first sprint champion in recent memory. The Texarkana, Texas junior was timed in 21.82. After a re-check of the Accutrack electronic timing photo, Bison freshman Jeff Murrah of Louisville, Ky., placed third in 22.06.

Harding collected 22 points in the 5000-meter run to clinch the conference trophy. Senior Carter Lambert of Pearl, Miss., won by eight seconds with a time of 15:16.11. Teammate, junior Joe O'Connor of Shelter Island, N.Y., made a great stretch run for second place in 15:24.11. Junior Mitch McCohn of New London, Ohio, became the third Bison runner to score points with a fourth place finish in 15:40.07.

"We had a couple of disappointments early in the night," Bison coach Ted Lloyd said, "but we started coming back with the 800 and 200, and the 5000 just rolled us in. The kids held their composure when things didn't go right and I'm real proud of the way they responded."

Good scoring came in the triple jump and the other field events. Bruce Baldwin of Jacksonville, Ill., was the runnerup by an inch in the triple jump at 46-11. Sophomore Jeff Robinson of Atlanta, Ga., placed third with 46-8 3/4.

Indoor All-American Keith Herring of Anderson, Ind., placed in a tie for second in the high jump at 6-6 and fourth in the long jump with a 23-3 1/2 leap. Rod Teague of Kansas City, Mo. placed in both the discus and the shot put with throws of 144-4 and 48-0, respectively.

Lambert, in addition to his victory in the 5000, was fourth in the 1500-meter run with a 3:58.52 time.

Dwayne Allen of Harrisburg, Pa., the defending champion in the 110-meter hurdles, placed third this year in 14.80. Senior Bill Duff of Bloomington, Ind., was fifth in 15.1. Duff also scored in the high jump with a 6-6 effort for fifth.

The pole vault event produced some unexpected results as senior Tim Shoaf, of White Creek, Tenn., who had the best jump of the season of 15-6, placed sixth with a 14-0 vault. Searcy senior Mike Spurlock went 14-6 to place in a tie for second.

Harding placed in both the 400-meter and the 1600-meter. A foursome of McCoy, Allen, Newton Ekpo of Lagos, Nigeria, and Murrah, was fifth in the 400-meter in 42.4.

In the 1600, Marty Sewell of St. Charles, Mo., Don Shumate of Sherwood, Ark., Brad Kinser of Monticello, Ill., and Sitton placed sixth in 3:23.08.

Bisons Finish 2nd In All-Sports Total

With competition coming down to the final event of the season, Harding University finished second in the 1981-82 All Sports competition of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference.

Harding won the 1980-81 All-Sports championship and scored 59.5 points this year to finish one point behind Ouachita Baptist University.

In the sports year, Harding teams won AIC championships in golf, track and cross country and placed second in tennis. Baseball and swimming teams placed fifth in their races, football was seventh and basketball tied for ninth.

Two from Harding Named District Coaches of the Year

Harding University coaches David Elliott and Ted Lloyd have each been named Coach of the Year in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and NAIA District 17.

Selection of the awards were by ballot of the area coaches.

Elliott, 35, directed the tennis team to a district championship for the second straight season. The Bison team finished second in the AIC season race.

A native of Ft. Wayne, Ind., Elliott is in his eighth year as coach of the Bisons. He directed Harding to a team championship in district 17 in 1981 and to an AIC title in 1980. In the just completed season, Harding posted an 18-4 record, a district title and a team entry in the NAIA National Tournament in Kansas City, Mo.

Elliott is a 1969 graduate of Harding and was the AIC scholar athlete for 1968-69. He coached at Harding Academy and joined the University staff in 1974.

Lloyd, in his 17th year as coach of the Bison team, has directed Harding to consecutive track championships in 1981 and 1982. He also directed the Bisons to the 1982 AIC track title.

For the 47-year old Lloyd, the honor is his second Coach of the Year award this school year. Last fall he was chosen as the cross country Coach of the Year. Lloyd has previously received track Coach of the Year award in 1981.

Lloyd is a native of Spring Hill, Kansas and serves as an associate professor of health, physical education and recreation at Harding. A 1957 graduate of Harding, he joined the faculty in 1964 upon completion of his master's work at the University of Mississippi. He took over as track coach in 1966 and as cross country coach in 1968. Nationally recognized for his coaching abilities, he served as president of the NAIA-Track and Field Coaches Association from 1978-80.

Bison Netters Win District, Qualify for Nationals

For the second year in a row Harding University has won the NAIA 17 District tennis championship and qualified for the national tournament in Kansas City, Mo. June 1.

Harding swept to division titles in four of the six singles matches but a victory in the number three doubles clinched the title for the Bisons.

The Bisons finished with 29 team points, John Brown University was a point behind at 28, followed by Southern Arkansas 23, and Ouachita Baptist 14.

"I've never coached a team that overachieved like this bunch," said an elated coach David Elliott. "They upset three number one seeds and just refused to give up. It was really a great team performance."

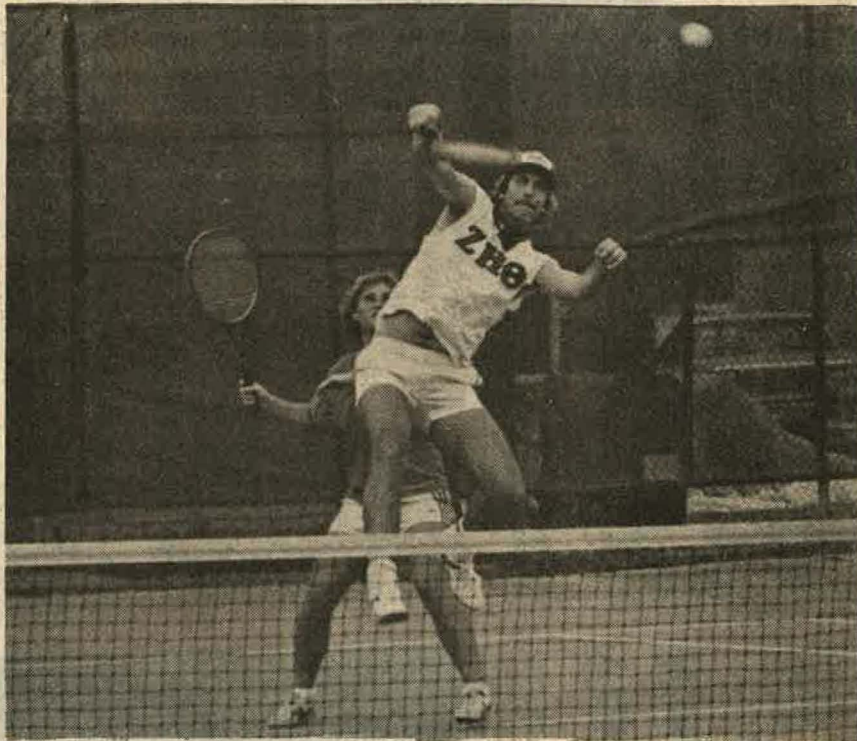

Harding won the number one, two, five and six singles division behind David Redding, Nigel Liverpool, Nathan Malone, and Tommy Tabor. Tabor then combined with Kent Casey of Roanoke, Texas to take the number three doubles victory.

Redding, meeting the defending singles champion in Jimmy Carr of John Brown, prevailed in a three-set 6-4, 3-6, 7-6 victory. He is a junior from Nevada, Mo.

At number two, Liverpool downed Mark Payne of SAU in a three-hour marathon match in perhaps one of the best singles matchups in some years. Liverpool, the newcomer to the Bisons team from Kingstown, St. Vincent, W.I., played at the top of his game to win 7-6, 4-6, 6-3.

Sophomore Nathan Malone of Searcy pulled off a decisive straight set win over SAU's Kent Lehigh, who was the number one seed in division five. According to Elliott, Malone played "one of the finest singles matches he's played for us" in the 6-3, 6-1 victory.

At number five Tabor took the measure of Mark Samuelson of John Brown 2-6, 6-1, 6-1 to uphold his winning pattern. The Atlanta, Ga., senior has had an outstanding year.

The key match of the day proved to be the number three doubles matchup between Tabor-Casey and Paul Blackburn-Samuels of JBU.

"Everything came down to this match," Elliott said. "The win meant the title and Tabor came through with a near superhuman effort. It was a tremendous performance."

Harding won the first set 6-3, but the JBU team came back to take the second set by a 6-4 score. In the final set, Tabor-Casey had a 5-1 lead when Tabor was best with cramps.

"It was the turning point for us," Elliott said. "He reached down and found it somewhere and came through for us. We had to help him off the court."

The Bison pair won the final set 6-2. Tabor-Casey had defeated Bobby Smith-Matt Porter of OBU 6-3, 6-2 to gain the finals.

Perhaps because of the stress of the long singles match, Liverpool and Redding came up short in the number one doubles, losing to JBU's Carr-Marty Weaver by a 6-4, 6-4 margin.

"After playing the three-hour match, they had to play a semi-final doubles match as well and it was probably just too much in one day," Elliott said.

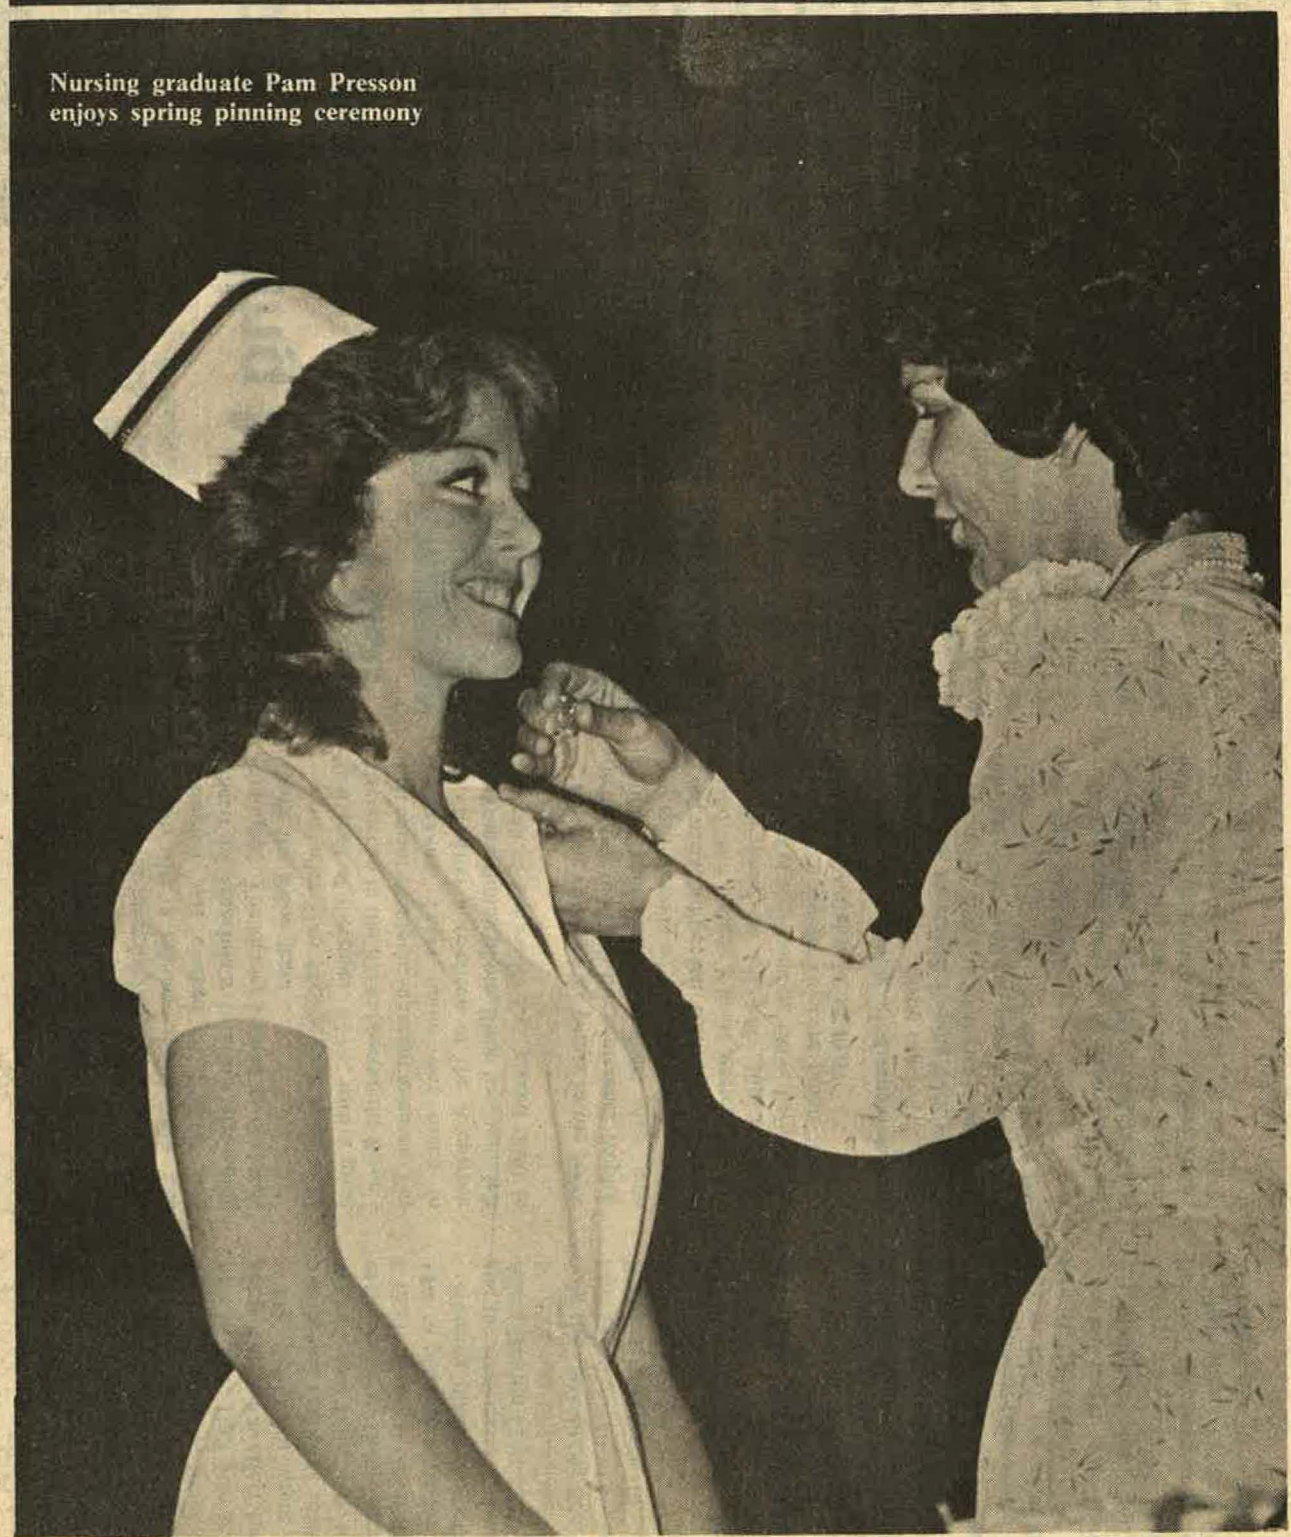

Redding-Liverpool won their way to the finals by defeating Tom Talbot and Bernie Fernandez of OBU 7-5, 6-3.

Malone and Eric Dawkins of Ketchikan, Alaska, playing the number two doubles, ran into problems in the semi-finals and fell to Mark Cushman and Doug Lancaster of OBU 6-4, 7-5.

The District 17 title, Harding's second in a row, was especially sweet for the Bisons. Harding clinched the bid to the NAIA National Tournament in Kansas City, Mo. after narrowly missing the 1982 Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference title.

"After finishing behind Southern Arkansas, the boys made up their minds they were going to take district, and they did!" Elliott said.
