Spring American Studies Lecture Speakers Announced

Speakers confirmed to appear at Harding for the spring American Studies Lecture Series include Arthur Laffer, professor of economics at the University of Southern California and a member of President Reagan's Economic Policy Advisory Board; J. Gary Shansby, president and chief executive officer of Shaklee Corporation, and Jack Evans, mayor of Dallas, Texas.

Shansby is scheduled to be the first spring speaker, following the January 22-23 10th Annual Harding University Management Seminar with Joe Batten and Charles "Tremendous" Jones. Shansby will visit the campus in February on an as yet undetermined date.

Prior to joining Shaklee, Shansby was vice president and senior consumer marketing consultant for Booz, Allen & Hamilton. Previously, he served as vice president in the Clorox organization and president of an American Home Products subsidiary. He also directs numerous San Francisco Bay Area civic and cultural organizations.

Laffer will speak April 5. He has gained national prominence in recent months as an expert on supply-side economics. Laffer's theories are at the heart of President Reagan's economic program.

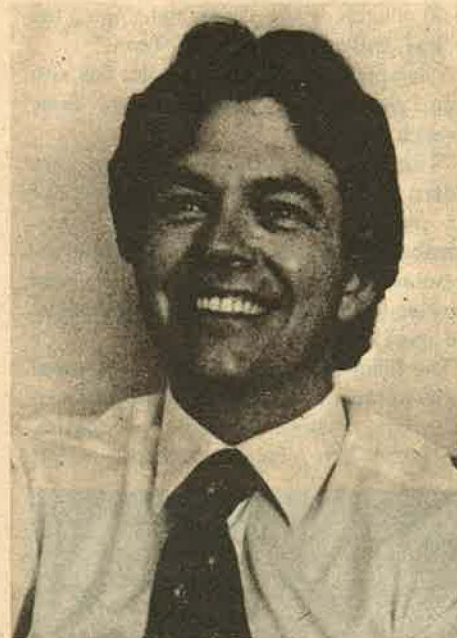

Jack Evans

Laffer did his undergraduate work at Yale University and earned his masters and doctorate at the University of Southern California. From 1970 to 1972 Laffer was economist in the Office of Management and Budget and until 1977 was a consultant to both the Treasury and Defense Departments. Author of International Economics in an Integrated World, the now-famous "Laffer curve" was first proposed in 1974.

Evans is scheduled for April 19. In addition to mayoral duties for the city of Dallas, he is president and chief operating officer of Collum Companies, Inc., a position he has held since 1977.

Evans entered the business field in 1947 after serving three and one-half years in the

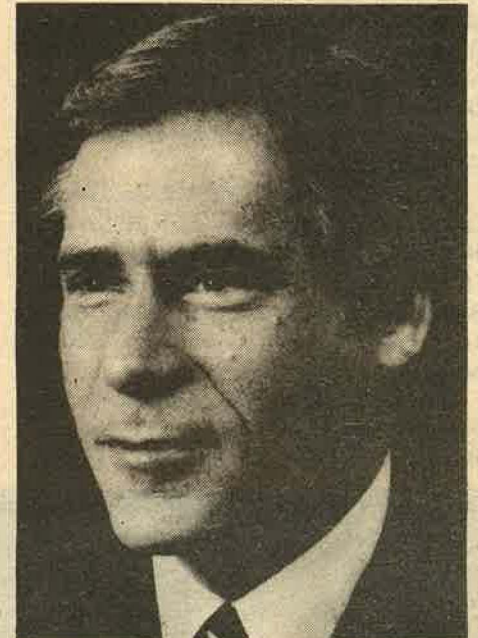

Arthur Laffer

U.S. Air Force. He started ten Evans Food Marts, later merging with Wyatt Food Stores. After Kroger Company acquired Wyatt in 1958, Evans was promoted to divisional vice president.

In 1966 Evans joined Cullum Companies, Inc. as executive vice president of Tom Thumb Stores. Later he was promoted to president of Page Drug Stores and executive vice president of Cullum Companies, Inc.

The American Studies Program at Harding combines academic and real-life experiences with people and events, in order to provide opportunities for students, faculty and Arkansans to develop a better understanding of and appreciation for the American way of life.

Consisting of an annual lecture series, youth citizenship seminar, management seminars, and field trips to urban centers and historic sites across the United States, the program has established itself as one of the top citizenship education programs in the country, receiving nearly 50 honor medals and certificates from Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

In the lecture series, speakers are sought who have recognized the ideals of our forefathers, dreamed of a better America, and fought to make her strong. In recent years, such prominent figures as Alexander Ginsburg, Gen. Moshe Dayan, Arthur Goldberg and President Gerald Ford have spoken on the Harding campus.

130 Graduate While Thornton Honored

Ray Thornton, president of Arkansas State University, Jonesboro, was the featured speaker at the fall commencement exercises of Harding University Dec. 18, and was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by President Clifton L. Ganus Jr.

A total of 130 graduates received degrees. Candidates for degrees were recommended by Dr. Joseph Pryor, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Dr. David Burks, dean of the School of Business and Dr. Bobby Coker, dean of the School of Education. President Ganus conferred the degrees.

Degrees awarded during the ceremony included the bachelor of arts (66), the bachelor of business administration (44), the bachelor of science (10), the bachelor of social work (1), the master of education (7) and the associate of arts in secretarial science (2).

A former member of the President's Development Council at Harding, Thornton served as that group's chairman 1971-73.

Thornton is a 1950 graduate of Yale and a 1956 graduate of the University of Arkansas Law School. He was attorney general of Arkansas 1971-73 and represented the fourth congressional district in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1973-78.

Currently, Thornton is chairman of the National Institute of Health's Recombinant DNA Advisory Committee and a member of the Advisory Board for New York University's Center for Science and Technology Policy.

A total of 581 degrees were awarded to graduates of the University during 1981, according to Registrar Virgil Beckett.

Youth Forum, Spring Sing Planned for April 9-10

Joe Beam, minister for the Highland Church of Christ at Carriage Hills in Montgomery, Ala., will be the featured speaker April 9-10 at the 18th Annual Harding University Youth Forum.

Beam's topics will include "Compassion," "Fellowship" and "Forgiveness," in conjunction with the theme "O To Be Like Thee."

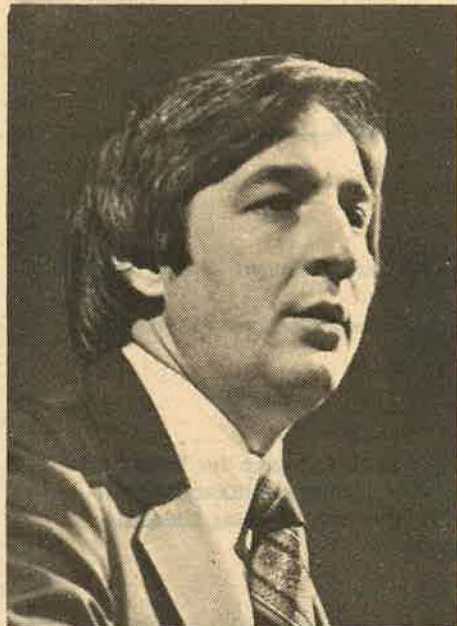

The ninth annual Spring Sing, with a cast of more than 800, will be featured at one matinee and three evening performances. Other musical entertainment is planned by the Time of Day, Belles and Beaux, A Cappella Chorus and Bison Band.

Harding's Youth Forum and Spring Sing provide a time that high school students can visit the campus and experience a taste of college life at a Christian university. It is a very busy time on campus, both for visitors and for university students and staff members. But like other events here, the main purpose is spiritual growth.

A Rose Hill, Ala. native, Beam attended Alabama Christian College and ACC School of Religion, graduating from both institutions. Married to the former Alice Hilyer of Tallassee, Ala., the couple has two daughters: Angela Michelle, 11, and Joanna Marie, 4.

Beam began preaching for the Park Avenue Church of Christ in La Grange, Ga. in 1970, and spent six years there before assuming ministerial duties at Childersburg Church of Christ in Childersburg, Ala.

Joe Beam

His next evangelical efforts were at the Washington Avenue Church of Christ in Evansville, Ind. beginning in July 1976. After several years there he began preaching at his present location.

Beam's gospel outreach efforts have also included extensive use of the mass media. Radio and television programs, as well as newspaper columns have been utilized to reach the lost. He averages 10 weeks each year spent in speaking engagements, including gospel meetings and youth rallies.

Guided tours of the campus will be offered for visitors during the special weekend, and there will be several opportunities to learn more about Harding: A slide show entitled "This is Harding University" will be presented on Friday morning. During the weekend the Admissions Office will stay open and qualified personnel will be available to answer questions about Harding's programs.

Also, a special faculty-student conference period is scheduled for Saturday morning. Students and their parents are invited to talk with Harding's department chairmen and begin making plans for higher education. It promises to be an exciting weekend.

13-in-1 Workshops Scheduled for August

Plans have been finalized for the 1982 13-in-1 Bible Workshops at Harding University. Stimulating, inspirational Bible-centered workshops will be presented during four days, August 2-5, along with three nights of dynamic lectures and congregational singing.

The workshop will feature programs on Biblical Studies, Topical Studies, Mental Health, Christian Homes, Youth, Preachers, Church Growth, Church Leadership, Teacher Training, Visual Aids, Death and Dying, Mass Media and Evangelism.

Speakers for workshop classes are experienced professionals. They include Dick Austin, J. D. Bales, Leon Barnes, Joe Beam, Dan Blazer, Dee Bost, Bill Brant, David Burks, Lou Butterfield, Bob Coker, Mary Dudeck, Dale Foster, Corky French, Ray Fulenwider;

Randall, Bob Reely, Ken Rhodes, Sharon Rhodes, Don Robinson, Ron Rose, Bill Snow, Tom Steed, Jack Thomas, Calvin Warpula, Will Ed Warren, Larry West, W. D. White, Jim Woodell and Sam Wylie.

Along with the workshop classes, three nightly lectures will be presented by members of the Harding Bible faculty. Avon Malone will present "Jesus as the Consummation of All Things;" Jerry Jones will speak on "Jesus as the Lord of Our Lives" and Jimmy Allen will present "Jesus Our Coming King."

Preceding the night assemblies, there will be 30 minutes of congregational singing led by Ray Walker of Nashville, Tenn.

A complete schedule of activities has also been planned for children ages three through 17.

"The 13-in-1 workshops of the past have proven to be spiritually advantageous for the participants," said Dr. Jerry Jones, Harding Bible chairman, "and the program personnel for the 1982 workshop have been working for months to make the 1982 series the most effective yet."

The following material will be discussed in the workshop classes: Biblical Studies — Colossians, Psalms, Romans, Ecclesiastes, Job and I John; Topical Studies — Holy Spirit, Evolution, Instrumental Music, the Godhead, Inspiration, Denominations and Premillennialism; Mental Health — Growing in Self-Discipline, Christian Growth in Work and Leisure, Personal Growth, Stress and Crisis as Stages of Growth, Mental Health of a Single Parent;

Information on registration, housing, and costs are available by writing Jerry Jones, Box 939, Station A, Searcy, AR 72143.

Earl Cobill

Cobill Earns Ph.D.

Earl Wayne Cobill, assistant professor of political science, received a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Mississippi in Oxford Dec. 17.

In completing the doctorate, Cobill compiled a professional paper entitled "Legislative Districts and Legislators' Perceptions of Interest Groups Among Members of the Arkansas House of Representatives in 1977."

Cobill has taught at Harding for nine years. The Worcester, Mass. native earned the B.A. in political science from Harding in 1969, and the M.A. in political science from the University of Mississippi in 1970.

Before joining the Harding faculty in 1973, Cobill taught at Livingston University, Livingston, Ala. Cobill is currently serving as secretary-treasurer for the Searcy Noon Optimist Club.

Cobill and his wife, the former Nancy Campbell of Walnut, Miss., have a son, Robert.

College Bowl Team Selected

A College Bowl varsity team has been selected to represent Harding in intercollegiate quiz competition, Dr. Larry Long, associate professor of English, announced.

The eight-member team includes Scot Harris, a junior psychology major from Las Vegas, Nev.; Joel Ragland, a senior music education major from Cookeville, Tenn.; Eugene Smith, a senior chemistry major from Dallas, Texas; Greg York, a senior Biblical language major from Louisville, Ken.; Neil Thompspon, a sophomore accounting major from Marion, Ill.; Allen Layne, a junior history major from Judsonia, Ark.; Van Rickard, a senior social work major from Montgomery, Ala. and Phil Porter, a senior chemistry major from Cashmere, Washington.

Faculty advisors are Dr. Fred Jewell of the history department and Drs. Larry Long and Dennis Organ of the English department.

The all-star team was selected during a double-elimination intramural quiz tournament which involved more than 100 students on 27 teams. Competition narrowed to two finalist teams, "Sigma Tau" and "AGO," who met in a championship match during the chapel period Dec. 10.

Harris, Ragland, Smith and York, all members of AGO social club, composed the winning team and became the core varsity players. Thompson, Layne, Rickard and Proter were selected from eliminated intramural teams, on the basis of their individual speed and accuracy in answering questions during the tournament.

Harding's second intercollegiate competition will be held Feb. 13 at the University of Texas in Austin. Sixteen teams are expected to meet for the tournament, representing colleges and universities from Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana.

An honorable mention team which will not compete in Texas has also been selected, including Wayne Ard of Richardson, Texas; Frank Weaver of Newton, Miss.; Jadie Matthew of Corning, Ark. and Wade Huffman of Fayetteville, Ark.

ON THE COVER: Danny Starkey (4) goes into the lane for two points against Evangel College in a Dec. 1 contest which the Bisons won 74-69. Looking on are David Presley (11), and Alan Pearson (24).

Organ Named New English Department Chairman

Dr. Dennis Organ, a 1966 graduate of Harding who has been associated with the University since 1967, has been named chairman of the department of English. The appointment is effective immediately.

Organ succeeds Dr. Gary Elliott, who resigned at the conclusion of the fall semester in order to accept a position as Academic Dean of Columbia Christian College in Portland, Oregon.

Organ said there will be no immediate changes in the department's faculty, although two instructors who have been teaching part-time will assume full teaching loads for the spring semester. "We will miss Dr. Elliott's leadership and contribution to the department, but will try to continue a good work, that of building a strong curriculum and faculty," he said.

A native of Shreveport, La., Organ, son of Fred Organ and the late Mrs. Organ, attended Harding from 1962-66, graduating summa cum laude with a degree in mathematics. He attended the University of Missouri from 1966-67, receiving the M.A. in journalism. From 1967-69 he was director of the news bureau at the university, and he joined the English faculty full time in the fall of 1969.

While a student he was editor of the Bison for two years and a member of Belles and Beaux and the A Cappella chorus. A member of the varsity bowling team, he received the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference Cliff Shaw Scholar-Athlete Award in 1966.

In 1974 Organ received the doctorate at Texas Tech University. His dissertation, "Tennyson's Dramas: A Critical Study," was published in 1979 by Texas Tech Press and his articles on Tennyson, Faulkner, Hemingway and Dickens have been published. Currently he serves as editor of the Alpha Chi Recorder. He received a Distinguished Teacher Award in 1977.

Mrs. Organ is the former Sherry Balthrop of Ft. Worth, Texas, a 1967 Harding graduate. They have three sons: Michael, 11; David, 8; and Philip, 6.

Blue Retires: Taught 35 Years

Troy J. Blue, an assistant professor of mathematics who joined the department in 1967, retired from teaching at the conclusion of the fall semester. He was honored at a dinner at the Heritage Room on campus Dec. 14, when he received a gold watch from President Clifton L. Ganus Jr.

A former faculty member at Arkansas State University in Jonesboro, Blue also taught at Jonesboro High School after serving in the U.S. Army from 1943 to 1946. He was graduated from Harding in 1942 and received the master's degree from George Peabody College.

"Troy came to us at a time when it was difficult to find dedicated people who wanted to teach," Dr. Dean Priest, math department chairman, said. "He has consistently taught large sections of classes for us and has served us well. We are grateful."

A quiet man, Blue was cited by Priest as "a tribute to the ideal of family success." Priest noted, "Carolyn and I have sat with the Blues many times asking questions about raising children. I feel that we, as well as our five children, have greatly benefited from their advice."

Mrs. Blue is the former Cora Keer, a 1942 graduate of Harding. The couple's three children have graduated from Harding. Anne (Mrs. Gene) Rouse (BA'65) resides in Edmond, Okla. Their sons, Glen (BS'70) and Leon (BS'72), are practicing physicians in Searcy. Glen, a surgeon, is associated with Drs. Rodgers and Simpson. Leon, a cardiologist, is in practice at Searcy Medical Center.

75th Birthday Dinner to Honor W. B. West

In honor of Dr. W. B. West Jr.'s 75th birthday, a birthday dinner has been scheduled at the Harding Graduate School of Religion in Memphis at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, January 22, 1982. Tickets for $6.50 each may be obtained by sending your check to Dr. Bill Flatt, Harding Graduate School of Religion, 1000 Cherry Road, Memphis, Tennessee 38117. Available are 150 tickets on a first come, first served basis. Dr. West will be in Memphis for the occasion. Come if you can, or send a message if you can't.

Continuing Education Courses

A series of night classes, a popular addition to the curriculum last fall, will be included in the spring 1982 semester, Dr. Jimmy Carr announced. The courses in accounting, computing, economics and public speaking are in addition to the night courses of graduate credit that have been a part of the regular schedule of previous years, Carr said.

"We have felt that many individuals in our community feel a need for continuing education courses to either continue work toward a degree or update their vocational training," the director said. "The courses last fall proved valuable for those registered and we are glad to make the courses available again this semester."

Included are Accounting 206, Fundamentals of Accounting, on Tuesday night; Computing 214, Fundamentals of Computer Processing, on Thursday night; Economics 201, Principles of Macroeconomics, on Thursday night; and Public Speaking 210, Foundations of communication for business and professional organizations, on Tuesday night. All are offered at three credit hours.

Also, several non-credit short courses will be included during the spring semester.

These are Supervisory Management Skills, a systematic examination of management style, offered Jan. 26, Feb. 2, 9, 16, 23, and March 2; Executive Time Management, for middle and upper-level managers, on Feb. 25; Executive Stress and Fitness Management, the development of a lifestyle that copes successfully with stress, on Jan. 11, 18, Feb. 4, 11, 18, and 25; Reaganomics, dealing with the current economic program of the President, March 15, 22 and 29, and Personal Finance, a course on personal investment, retirement planning and estate planning, on March 22, 29, April 6, 12, 16 and 26.

The credit courses will meet once a week throughout the semester, January 7 through May 8. Registration may be filed at the first class meeting, on January 7 or 12, depending on the night the course is being offered. Further information concerning details may be obtained from Dr. Carr at 268-61616, ext 462 for the credit courses or Dr. Bob Reely at ext. 497 for the short courses.

Graduate level courses in education also offered are: 516-Middle School; 645-Educational Sociology and 632-Development and Administration of Curriculum.

Chorale, A Cappella Plan Tours

Both the A Cappella Chorus and the Chorale will be a part of the annual Christian College Choral Festival set for January 8 and 9 on the campus of Oklahoma Christian College in Oklahoma City.

In addition, the Chorale will make a week-long tour, with programs scheduled prior to and following the Festival. The A Cappella will sing one program both enroute to and returning from the event.

During the Festival, the groups will sing individually under the direction of Dr. Kenneth Davis Jr., A Cappella, and Dr. Cliff Ganus III, Chorale. Joining with the groups from other colleges and universities, the singers will present "God Goes Upon High," by Gallus, "Tenebrae Facta Sunt" by M. Haydn, "Now Shatl," by Kimner, "Holy Radiant Light" by Gretchaninoff, "Give Me Jesus" by Fleming and, as a finale, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," an arrangement by George Lynn.

Concerts by the Chorale are set for Maxwell Avenue Church of Christ, Ardmore, Okla., Jan. 4, 7:30 p.m.; Altus (Okla.) Church of Christ, Jan. 5, 7:30 p.m.; Walnut Hill Church of Christ, Dallas, Jan. 6, 7:30 p.m.; Waterview Church of Christ, Richardson, Texas, Jan. 7, 7:30 p.m.; Dewey Church of Christ, Jan. 10, 7:30 p.m. and West Side Church of Christ, Russellville, Ark., Jan. 11, 7:00 p.m.

The A Cappella will sing at Fayetteville,

Ark., enroute to the Festival on Thursday, Jan. 7, 7:30 p.m. and at Henryetta, Okla., on Sun., Jan. 10 at 2:00 p.m. enroute to Searcy.

The Chorale plans a three-week tour to the West Coast in May. The A Cappella will make a 10-day tour in the spring to the Southwest.

CAMPUS NOTES

Harding Alumni Aid in Recent Poland Relief Effort

At least three Harding alumni assumed the role of truck driver in the recent massive relief project to the people of Poland, an effort which has received much acclaim this fall. Ron Hobelman (BA '75), James "Buddy" Jones (BA '72) and Edward Ritchie (BA '59), all serving with their families as missionaries in French-speaking Europe, joined 32 other men and women to drive a convoy of 30 trucks loaded with almost 140 tons of food and supplies into Gdansk for distribution.

The aid was a collection of $1.69 million received from persons in almost all of the 48 contiguous states and also from Europe.

Several months ago Bill and Barbara Harris (BA '59) McDonough, missionaries, in Mannheim, West Germany, reported the problem of shortages in Poland to their sponsoring congregation at Sixth and Izard in Little Rock. In May seven tons of food were sent.

The McDonoughs then learned the need was greater than first thought, and an effort to assemble additional funds was accelerated.

Hobelman made the following report, "The convoy of 30 red vehicles, rented from Avis, left Mannheim at 4:30 a.m., Monday, Oct. 5. We arrived at our first destination point, the German border, over a span of six hours.

"The next day the Czechoslovakian police were courteous enough to escort us from border to border. You can just imagine the varied reaction of the folks in the hundred villages we drove through. Occasionally a lady would run into the house and four people would run back out to the front gate and stare. Foreign license plates are not common, let alone 30 rented trucks from Germany headed toward Poland, escorted by a police car with a blue light flashing. While moving, we stretched out over a mile. Our impression was spectacular — the Lord's army marching onward to do good works penetrating the Iron Curtain."

The Little Rock Gazette reported the story and quoted James Dixon, an elder from Sixth and Izard who also made the trip.

"When the group told Czechoslovakian customs officials that the goods had come from Christian people all over the world, they just shook their heads in disbelief," he said. One response was "You must make a lot of money doing this." When he replied that the goods were all a gift, "they just couldn't believe it," he said.

Hobelman also noted, "All those who made this trip were deeply impressed by the condition of Polish society today. Many came back never to return. Some came back anxious to begin further plans of helping a needy people. The last chapter has not yet been written."

Dixon said although the Little Rock congregation is not actively seeking more gifts at this time, "the needs of the people of Poland will continue, and we will let our people know if more funds are needed."

Hobelman and his wife, the former Cindy Cates (BA '73), work in Brussels, Belgium; Jones and his wife, the former Maurine Lewis (BA '72) are in Nantes, France; Ritchie and his wife, the former Anne Kirk ('61) are in Mons, Belgium.

(Editor's Note: The above report is intended for the information of Harding Bulletin readers and is based on data available at our offices. We feel confident that many more Harding alumni were involved, and the absence of their names is merely circumstantial.)

Nursing Society Granted Charter

Harding's Nursing Honor Society was recently granted charter membership to Sigma Theta Tau, the international nursing honor society, becoming the second school in Arkansas to be so honored.

Founded in 1922, Sigma Theta Tau is organized to encourage and recognize superior scholarship and leadership achievement at the undergraduate and graduate levels in nursing.

"I consider this to be an indication of the quality of our program and a reflection upon the nurses associated with us, both current students and alumni and faculty," said Catherine Smith, dean of the School of Nursing. "This recognition by a national organization is a vote of confidence in our ability as a school to remain truly professional."

Sigma Theta Tau chapters exist in 162 colleges and universities with nationally accredited programs which grant baccalaureate or higher degrees in nursing.

Individual membership in Sigma Theta Tau is granted to students and professionals in graduate and baccalaureate programs who have excelled in their nursing academics. Scholarship, leadership and research comprise the major criteria for membership.

To be considered for membership, an individual must attain a 3.5 grade point average in nursing curriculum and a cumulative average of 3.0. Junior students are eligible upon completing their first semester in the program.

Members who have met these specifications must then be elected into the honor society by the members. Three fourths of the members in attendance must approve a given nominee on the first ballot, or that nominee is eliminated.

"Only the top 25 per cent or so from the junior and senior classes are considered," said senior Darrel Chavez, vice president of Harding's chapter. "Of the 40 or so eligible candidates, only 12 to 13 are chosen."

The formal induction ceremony for Harding's chapter of Sigma Theta Tau is tentatively scheduled for Feb. 9, 1982. On that date, current members of the Nursing Honor Society will be inducted as well as past graduates of the society, alumni who have excelled since graduation, and new members.

Each year Harding's Nursing Honor Society presents a minimum of two academic programs for its members and sponsors a seminar open to the public.

747 Units Collected

Harding students and employees donated a total of 747 units of blood during the fall semester for the American Red Cross blood collection on the campus, a number slightly less than the 750 goal set by campus officials.

A collection of 414 was made during a three-day draw in early December and 132 units were given earlier in the fall at the regularly-scheduled time. Since most of the students were ineligible to give because of the measles vaccination, the 132 units came mostly from staff members. Those vaccinated were eligible again after December 1.

Chairman Eddie Campbell extended appreciation to the King's Men and OEGE social clubs for their assistance in conducting the draw. "Many individuals have assisted in various ways, because it takes a large number of people to handle a blood draw, but these two clubs have been extremely diligent and cooperative in working at these draws. We are most grateful to the club members as well as to all our volunteers," he said.

Another draw has been set for the spring, Campbell said.

AWH Hosts Tour of Homes

The Little Rock chapter of Associated Women for Harding launched the holiday season December 3 with a tour of homes of three members of the organization in that city. About 300 guests made the tour.

Each home had been decorated elaborately from entrance decorations to kitchen arrangements, and at each residence a theme innovation was presented.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Cone, a "Christmas Dinner at Grandmother's" theme was used. The Cone's dining table was set for the meal, complete with place cards for the family. The printed menu and complimentary recipe for Pecan Tarts, chosen from the AWH cookbook, was issued to the guests. Also, a collection of hand-made crafts was available for purchase, and guests sipped hot cranberry punch as they browsed and selected.

"A Christmas Cookie Exchange" was the idea presented at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Swink. Home-baked cookies and other holiday items for sale were quickly swooped up by the visitors. Also issued at the Swink home were copies of details for holding a cookie exchange, and the family dining table had been set for such a party.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Holton was set for "A Tree-Trimming Surprise," with instructions for planning such a party available for the guests. The family room had a display tree and picnic surprise, suggesting a menu for the trimming party. AWH members made available red tree ornament apples personalized to order, and the supply was quickly exhausted.

Mrs. John Hewitt, president of the Little Rock chapter, said the event netted about $2,500.

Florence Attracts 29 Students

Twenty-nine students and two faculty coordinators will leave Feb. 1 for a semester at Harding's Florence, Italy campus, according to Dr. Don Shackelford, International Studies director.

Faculty coordinators this spring will be Carl Mitchell of the Bible Department and Dr. Van Tate of the Sociology Department. Nineteen hours are offered at the Florence campus including Italian, Humanities and Bible courses. Students may also take an independent study course sponsored by the Searcy campus.

Italian, which is required of all students, is being taught by Florence native Gianfranco Sciotti. Sciotti helped to establish the International Studies Program and is serving as the branch school's Italian administrator.

The Florence classes are set up on a Monday through Thursday schedule to allow the students to travel on the weekends. Sightseeing tours include Italy, Greece, France and 12 other neighboring countries. Students travel by rail and sea liner.

The spring semester in Florence will be the fourth consecutive semester in which the program has been operated.

Kodak Donates $4,000 to Harding

Harding University has received a $4,000 special grant through Eastman Kodak Company's 1981 Education Aid Program. President Clifton L. Ganus has announced.

"The Kodak company's nonrecurring special grants help institutions of higher learning meet the challenges of an increasingly complex world by supporting new programs and specialized facilities," Dr. Ganus said, "and we are pleased to have this grant for our American Studies program."

Through Kodak's 1981 Educational Aid Program, 166 academic institutions and 34 education organizations throughout the U.S. are sharing a total of $4.7 million.

Funding for the program is provided from the company's current earnings and funds previously set aside for these purposes.

Walter A. Fallon, Kodak chairman and chief executive officer, said, "We have said on many occasions that Kodak sees philanthropy as a businesslike investment. The financial contributions we make are investments in the future of society, designed to produce dividends for us all. We believe that we in the industrial world and you in the business of learning share a common concern for educational excellence. Our contributions are an expression of our mutual concern for excellence."

Harding University Board of Trustees Resolution Milton Peebles

WHEREAS, he understood the meaning of a great word, namely, "education";

WHEREAS, he knew the word meant "to draw out" and the high motivation of his life was to draw people out from ignorance into bliss, from darkness into light, from shadow into substance;

WHEREAS, he devoted himself to all phases of education, be it public or private, be it Matthew or mathematics;

WHEREAS, the greatest emphasis of his life, however, was religious in that he belonged to his Lord Jesus Christ, giving himself fully to preaching the gospel, holding countless gospel meetings magnifying the name of Jesus, and serving for more than three decades on the Board of Harding University as it leads in the field of Christian education;

WHEREAS, he unflinchingly stood for the truth which diminished not his popularity in the community where he was best known, but rather gave cause for the admiration of myriads of men who paid constant tribute to the man in his living and his passing from the scenes of this earth;

WHEREAS, he manifested a faithfulness and steadfastness that reminded one of Jesus — whether the steadfastness was in the church, in his profession, or to his family — thus, giving reason to rely on him, knowing he championed the ultimate good;

WHEREAS, his gentle demeanor, his quiet and calm approach to the problems of life underscored the ancient axiom that "still waters run deep";

WHEREAS, he used his influence near and far to advance that which is eternal as is found in Jesus, His church, and His Truth;

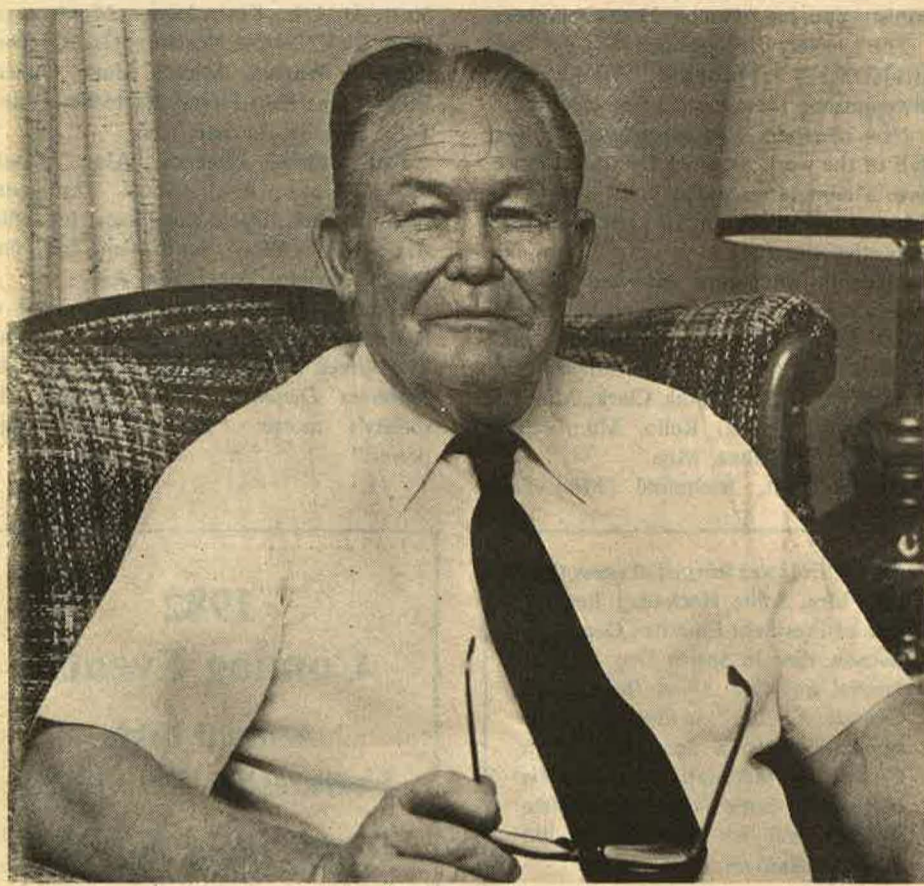

WHEREAS, he served Harding University as friend, benefactor, and Trustee, being repeatedly re-elected by his peers, and passed to generations that succeeded his a firm and beautiful love for the cause of Christian education and Harding University in particular;

BE IT RESOLVED on this the first day of our meeting since our beloved brother, Milton Peebles, went home to be with his Lord that the entirety of the Board of Trustees of Harding University go on record expressing lasting appreciation for the valiancy of his life and the beauty of his service;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that his dear wife, Nannie Katherine, and all his family shall know of our twin emotions of sadness in separation, yet joy in eternal victory and; lastly, be it resolved that we publicly express our admiration for him who leaves us better than he found us by virtue of his unflinching loyalty to the Christ, that we spread on the pages of this Minute Book our earnest expressions of love, that we voice to his wife and family our thanksgiving for the treasure of his friendship, and that we cause the publications of this school to state our sense of debt and gratitude for one who walked our way and enriched our paths as he consistently brought us closer to the Christ and His commandments;

UNANIMOUSLY ENACTED this 30th day of October, 1981, by the Trustees of Harding University.

Number One Bison Fan Demonstrates Loyalty, Support

Virgil Morrison relaxes in his home at Four-Mile Hill near Searcy.

by Stan Green

When you talk about football fans, Virgil Morrison of Four-Mile Hill doesn't have to take a back seat to anyone.

Morrison has attended every Harding University home football game since the school returned to intercollegiate competition in 1959!

An alumnus, Morrison's last semester at Harding was in 1938, followed by a short stint at teaching.

"Teaching didn't pay too well and I ended up pipelining for better than 30 years," he said.

Now 68 and retired, Morrison has clocked more than 21,500 miles in his automobile since the Bisons' first game against the Arkansas State Freshman team in 1959.

"I think if you're going to follow a team then you ought to support them," he said, "and I felt like Harding was a good team to follow."

Born in IZARD County, Morrison moved to Walnut Ridge in 1942. Most of the years spent following the Bison teams meant a 160 mile round trip to Searcy for each game.

"It's good to be a little crazy to do that much driving, I guess," he said, "but I always figured Harding needed intercollegiate athletics and this was my way of helping them out."

In 1969 Morrison moved to Pollard, west of Corning, and his round trip mileage increased to 272 miles per trip. He moved to Four-Mile Hill in 1977 where he now serves as elder at the Four-Mile Hill Church of Christ.

Looking back, Morrison recalled "the time we beat Centenary 62-7 in 1958" as one of his highlight memories. "We really skunked 'em."

Morrison's unusual achievement was called to the attention of the University staff by Bill Johnson, son of Harding offensive line coach Dick Johnson. Bill attends the Four-Mile Hill Church of Christ and he discovered the information through a casual conversation after a church meeting.

Morrison summed his story up in the best way possible, "If you're gonna support 'em, then you gotta be loyal."

At the final home game of the 1981 season, Morrison was officially recognized for his unusual achievement. He will be a permanent "guest" at all future Bison games!

Harriers End Successful Season, Place 28th in National NAIA Meet

Harding University placed 28th in the NAIA national men's cross country championships at Kenosha, Wis.

For coach Ted Lloyd's squad, senior Carter Lambert led with the Bisons with a 76th place finish in a field of 326 runners who completed the 8000-meter race.

The Bisons, who placed 10th a year ago with a senior-laden team, entered a young group this year including one senior, four juniors, and two freshmen.

Lambert covered the rolling hills of the course in 26:55 to cross the finish line first for the Bisons. A Pearl, Miss. native, Lambert was the 1981 Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and NAIA District 17 individual champion.

Junior Joe O'Connor of Shelter Island, N.Y. was the second Bison finisher, placing 125th in 27:39. Freshman Steve Hubbard of Brentwood, Tenn. placed 180th in 28:26; junior Mitch McCohn of New London, Ohio was 200th in 28:57; and junior Jeff Westover of Sidney, Ohio rounded out the Bisons' scoring in 205th place in 29:10.

Harding's other team entries, Tomy Sitton of Avondale Estates, Ga. and Ken Berry of Little Rock, Ark., placed 218th and 219th, respectively, both with a time of 29:32.

"From where we started at the first of the season, we did exceptionally well," Lloyd said. "I believe, however, that we did not run as well as we were capable of. For most of our boys, this was their first time in the national meet, and that perhaps was a factor."

Lloyd indicated this year's competition was much improved over the 1980 field. "From one through 36, the teams were much stronger than we've seen in years past."

The 1981 season was a highly successful one for the Bison team. With Lambert taking the individual championship, Harding won the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference title for the 11th consecutive year and the NAIA District 17 championship for the ninth straight year.

Women Place 12th In NAIA Nationals

Competing at the national level for the first time, Harding University placed 12th in the NAIA women's cross country meet in Kenosha, Wis. November 21.

The Bisonettes, who won the NAIA District 17 title to qualify for the national meet, completed their first season of competition on a high note behind Adams State (Colo.), the national champion.

"We're really pleased with the team's performance," Coach Ted Lloyd said. "The first time in a national competition is always tough, and the girls came through in a fine way."

Senior Kim Castle of Longmont, Colo. was the first Bisonette to place, covering the 5000-meter course in 21:09 and a 41st place in the individual competition. Two places back at 43rd was junior Marla Upton of Greenwood, Ind., who was timed in 21:11.

Sharon Westover of Sidney, Ohio was Harding's third runner to place, posting a time of 23:04 for 71st place.

Lee Belew of Romance, Ark., was close behind in 75th place with a 23:18 time, and Gina Hodel of Naperville, Ill. was in 78th position in a time of 24:58.

"When you are starting a program, you have nothing to compare your progress to," Lloyd said. "But we feel the girls came nearer to realizing their potential than we had expected, and they proved to be good competitors. The experience will prove invaluable."

Bison sophomore Lawrence McNutt goes high to score over Evangel, December 1.

Cagers Impress With Early Record

With the holiday break near at hand, the Harding basketballers are off to an impressive 6-3 record.

Setting the early season pace for the Bisons has been 6-6 All-AIC senior Charles Gardner. The Searcy native is scoring at an 18.3 point average with 164 points. He also is leading the team in rebounding with 71 for a 7.9 per game average.

Sophomore Lawrence McNutt of Forrest City, Ark., is also averaging in double figures with 10.2 points per game. A 6-3 forward-guard, McNutt has 92 points and 50 rebounds through the first nine games.

Junior cager Hubie Smith of Memphis is nearing the career record for assists. Smith set a single season record of 207 last year and has 378 in three years of competition. He is scoring at a 9.9 ppg. clip.

An early season bright spot has been 6-8 sophomore Allen Gibbons, of North Little Rock, who has scored 62 points for a 6.9 ppg. average, and freshman guard Danny Starkey of Rose Bud, Ark., averaging 5.8 ppg.

Harding resumes competition January 4 at home against College of the Ozarks, a conference battle to launch the 18-game league schedule.

Four Bisons Named All-AIC

Four Harding athletes have been named to the 1981 All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference football team, according to commissioner Harry Hall.

The 31-member All-AIC team is selected by ballot to the conference coaches. Name to the honor unit were punter Kyle Blickenstaff, offensive tackle Dain Clark, defensive back Lafe Caton, and kicking specialist Steve Hunter.

A bona fide triple-threat performer, Blickenstaff led the AIC in punting this season with a 38.5-yard average in 57 punts for 2195 yards. As the Bisons' quarterback, the Boise, Idaho junior passed for 1556 yards on 120 completions out of 262 attempts. He added 132 yards rushing to rank third in the league's total offense category with 1688 yards.

Clark is a four-year starter from Pavo, Ga. and weighs in at 250 lbs. A solid, dependable performer, Clark was an honorable mention selection last year. During his career he has been recognized 11 times as Player of the Week for his outstanding play.

As co-captain of the Bison squad, Caton performed double duty as defensive back and punt return specialist to earn his second All-AIC award. Known as a hard-hitting defender, Caton ranked third in tackles on the 1981 squad with 64 individual tackles and 49 assists. He had two pass interceptions, a blocked kick, and tackled a runner for a loss.

As a junior Caton was pressed into duty at the tailback position and rushed for 370 yards on 120 carries. Careerwise, he returned 47 kickoffs for 1053 yards for a 22.4 yard average. Also, he has 221 return yards on 36 punts and four interceptions for 69 return yards. Caton is a native of Inola, Okla.

Hunter is a sophomore who jumped to national prominence with his effective field goal kicking. From Stigler, Okla. Hunter set an AIC and school single season record with 15 field goals, and a school and AIC record for the longest field goal — 52 yards against the University of Central Arkansas.

Hunter kicked five field goals against Southeastern Oklahoma and scored 54 points for the season by kicking.

16 Football Records Rewritten

Sixteen individual and team records were rewritten during the 1981 football season. Outstanding individual performances accounted for most of the new standards as quarterback Kyle Blickenstaff accounted for four, field goal specialist Steve Hunter added four, and defensive back Bruce Baldwin had two.

A junior man-under, Blickenstaff established a new school and Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference single season record for passing attempts with 262. He set single game records of most passes completed (22), yards gained passing (275), and yards total offense (300).

Hunter eclipsed all the field goal records on the books. The Stigler, Okla. sophomore set new marks for career (15), for single season (15), for game (5), and for longest (52 yards). He also set a single game record for points scored by kicking with 18 points against Southeastern Oklahoma on September 26.

A junior from Jacksonville, Ill., Baldwin set records defensively with interceptions for career (12) and single season (9).

Freshman tight end Mark Adkison of Tulsa, Okla. got his name on the record sheet when he tied the single game record for touchdown receptions with two scoring catches against Arkansas Tech. His five season touchdown receptions were also the most ever by a Bison freshman.

Several team records for a single season were tied or reset. They included most field goals (15), most points kicking (54), most losses (9), and most points by opponents (279).

Lloyd Repeats as Coach of Year

Ted Lloyd of Harding University has been named the cross country "Coach of the Year" for the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and NAIA District 17, according to District Chairman Harry Olee.

Lloyd, in his 13th year as coach of the Bison team, directed Harding to an 11th place finish in the NAIA national championships at Kenosha, Wis., an 11th consecutive conference title and the ninth straight NAIA District 17 championship during the fall season.

A native of Spring Hill, Kansas, Lloyd also was selected Coach of the Year in 1980. Nationally recognized for his coaching abilities, he served as president of the NAIA-Track and Field Coaches Association from 1978-1980.

Lloyd was one of three AIC coaches to accompany the NAIA District 17 All-Star team in international competition with the Mexican National Team in 1979. In 1969-70, he served as the national coach of Panama and in 1972 was nominated for a coaching position with the United States Olympic team.

Two Named Academic All-District

Two Harding footballers have been named to the College Sports Information Directors' Association College Division Academic All-District 6 team, according to district coordinator Nancy Burch of Rice University.

Bison players selected were linebacker Randy Buttram and defensive back Lafe Caton.

District 6 of COSIDA includes colleges and universities from Arkansas, Texas, and New Mexico. Players selected to the All-District team will be placed on the national ballot from which the Academic All-

America Team will be selected in December.

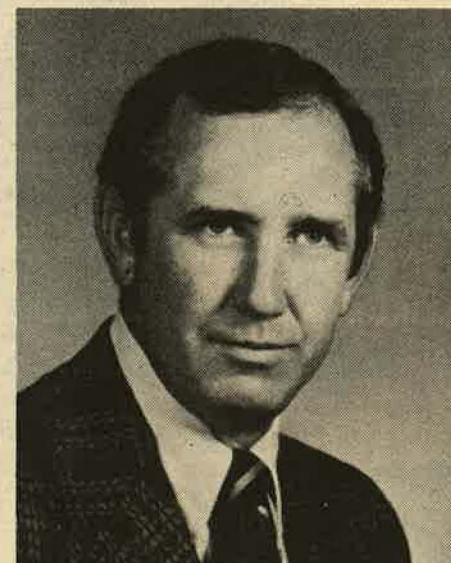

"Players selected represent the best in both academics and athletics at the college level," Burch said. "Each one is a leader not only on the field and in the classroom, but in student organizations and activities as well."

Randy Buttram

Buttram is a three-year letterman from Windermere, Fla. A major in biology and pre-dentistry, he has compiled a 3.29 grade point average (4.0 scale). A 5-11, 195 pounder, he was credited with 55 tackles, 64 assists, and two blocked kicks. He is a 1979 graduate of West Orange High School.

Caton served as co-captain during the 1981 season. He is a two-time All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and NAIA All-District selection. In 1981 he recorded 64 tackles, 49 assists, has two interceptions, and blocked a kick. A physical education major, he compiled a 3.33 GPA. He is a 1978 graduate of Inola High School in Inola, Okla.

Ted Lloyd

education and recreation, Lloyd joined the Harding faculty in 1964. A 1957 graduate of Harding, he took over as track coach in 1966 and began in cross country in 1968.

Lloyd is married to the former Marcie Crawford of Mountain Home, Ark., and the couple has two children, Rees and Melissa.

BISON BITS — Harding sophomore Steve Hunter became the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference field goal record holder for a single season with two kicks against nationally-ranked University of Central Arkansas November 21.

The Stigler, Okla. native boomed three-pointers of 52 and 50 yards against UCA to account for his 14th and 15th field goals of the season. The old record of 13 in a single season was set in 1977 by Bo Adkison of Henderson State.

The 52-yard kick established a new record for the conference and Harding as the longest field goal. Harding's previous school record was a 51-yard field goal in 1972 by Tom Ed Gooden.

Bison tailback Tony McCoy of Texarkana, Texas became the third runner in Harding history to rush for more than 1000 yards in a single season by gaining 1021 yards in 226 carries.

McCoy led the AIC in rushing throughout most of the regular season and finished second in the conference. He scored four touchdowns during the 1981 season. In addition, McCoy returned 29 kickoffs for 556 yards and a 19.2 yard average. He caught eight passes for 65 yards.

Sophomore Keith Herring of Anderson, Ind. established two school records in an indoor track meet December 5. Herring highjumped 6-9 and long jumped 23-4 to rewrite the record books.

Junior cager Hubie Smith of Memphis is nearing the career record for assists as the Bisons have recorded an early season 6-3 record. Smith set a single season record of 207 assists last year and has 378 in three years of competition.
