Dedication Ceremonies Planned for Business Center

Dedication ceremonies for the $1.88 million J. E. and L. E. Mabee Business Center have been tentatively scheduled for late September or early October, according to Harding President Clifton L. Ganus Jr.

Work began on the building in the spring of 1981 and will be open and ready for classroom use at the beginning of the fall semesters.

Ganus said, "We are planning to incorporate a prominent speaker in the dedication activities and hope to be able to announce the final arrangements very soon."

"We are excited about this addition to our campus and feel it will enable us to serve our students in the traditional manner of excellence associated with Harding," said Dr. Ganus. "We are also grateful to our many friends, supporters, and alumni, who with the Mabee and Kresge Foundations, helped to make this possible."

One of the best advantages of the new business building, according to Dr. David Burks, Director of the School of Business, is that the School of Business faculty will be located in one single campus area.

"We are excited about this facility," said Burks, "because it will enable us to do our work in a more efficient way."

The structure will house an academic computer center, the Mr. and Mrs. Roy Guffey Educational Media Center, the Belden Center for Private Enterprise Education, the Center for Management Excellence, 11 classrooms and the James Hedrick Memorial Conference Room.

Located in a 2,400 square foot area of the first floor will be a $250,000 Vax-11-750 computer system. Gene Dugger, director of academic computing, said, "It's the preferred academic computer of the 80's," being used by more than 85 percent of major universities in the U.S.

The computer system is manufactured by Digital Equipment Corporation and will include a Vax-11-750 CPU with two million bytes of memory, 124-megabytes of disk, a 1600 BPI magnetic tape drive, and 32 terminals.

The building will have eleven classrooms, two being large lecture halls and seven having a special horseshoe design, with seating arranged in a semicircle so that teachers can function more as moderators. "These classrooms will be among the most modern in the nation," Burks commented, with each having color video monitors tied in to the computer system so that programs, keyboard demonstrations and other computer and mathematical functions can be displayed to the whole class including color graphics.

"The use of color puts us in the forefront of overall curriculums in the computer science area," Burks said.

The Business Center totals 33,000 square feet of space, with business faculty offices located on the second floor. The Guffey Media Center will be the new headquarters for Dr. Jerome Barnes and his staff. According to Barnes, there will be separate rooms for graphics, Xeroxing, and repair.

'Roundup '82' Theme Will Lend Western Flavor to Homecoming

Homecoming '82 will take on a Western tone as the Harding University Departments of Music and Speech present "Oklahoma," one of the longest-running musicals ever staged on Broadway, in conjunction with the theme 'Roundup '82.'

Set in turn-of-the-century Oklahoma Territory, the play features historic as well as romantic themes. Morris Ellis, who will direct the play, said it was one of the first plays on Broadway to incorporate the story line in the form of songs, and is the forerunner of the modern musical.

He stressed that, although the play first appeared in the early 1940's, the theme is still contemporary with those of today. A cast of 45, including seven major characters and many chorus members, will be selected early in September. Robin Miller will serve as technical director and lighting designer, and Leigh Ellis will be costume coordinator.

The play, made popular by songs such as "Oklahoma," "Surrey with The Fringe On Top," "I'm Just a Girl That Can't Say No," and "O What a Beautiful Morning," will be presented Friday, Nov. 5, and Saturday, Nov. 6 in George S. Benson Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. See the coupon inside to order reservations.

Homecoming activities will begin on Wednesday, Nov. 3, as queen candidates are presented in chapel. A pep rally will be staged on Thursday, and Friday morning during chapel the Homecoming queen will be crowned.

Friday at 1 p.m. registration tables open in the lobby of American Heritage Center. Friday afternoon a chili supper, sponsored by the Student Association, will be served on the front lawn from 4:15 to 6 p.m. The traditional Black and Gold Alumni Banquet will be held from 5:30 to 8 p.m. in the Charles White Cafeteria.

Friday's activities will conclude with the opening night production of "Oklahoma," beginning at 8:15 p.m.

On Saturday a complimentary Continental Breakfast for alumni will be held in the New College Inn of the Hammon Student Center. The theme will be "Muffin Roundup." Six varieties of muffins with jams and marmalades will be served in addition to fruit, coffee, milk and orange juice.

A special alumni chapel will follow from 9:15 to 10:30 a.m. in Benson Auditorium. The Homecoming Parade will not be held this year so that more time can be devoted to social club reunions. The time set aside for this is 10-11:30 a.m.

The Belles and Beaux musical group will perform from 11:30-12:15 a.m. in the Administration Auditorium, with free time scheduled afterward for lunch before the Homecoming football game gets underway at 2 p.m. Pregame warmup begins at 1:40 p.m. at Alumni Field. The conference clash will feature the Bisons against the Muleriders of Southern Arkansas University.

Also scheduled are an anniversary luncheon at 12 noon for the Class of 1932, a finger food luncheon at 12:15 for the Class of 1957, and a reception at 4 p.m. for all alumni who attended while the school was in Morrilton.

Those already scheduled include the Class of '47, 5 p.m., buffet at the home of Bob Helsten; Class of '57, dinner at 7 p.m.; Class of '67, reunion at 7 p.m.; Class of '72, reunion at College Church Fellowship Room, 5 p.m.; Class of '77, reunion at Harding Academy Home Economics Department, 5 p.m.

The Blackout Variety Show is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. and at 8:45 p.m., in the Administration Auditorium and "Oklahoma" will have a final showing at 8:15 p.m. in the Benson Auditorium. Contact Homecoming Director, David Crouch, for more details.

59th Bible Lectureship to Focus On the Future of the Church

The theme of the 59th annual Harding University Bible Lectureship Oct. 13-16 will be "The Church: Renewal or Ruin," according to Dr. Neale Pryor, Lectureship director and professor of Bible.

"A lot of people in the church today are prophesying doom for the church," Pryor said. "We feel the Lectureship will address this problem."

The lectures will be presented by well-established gospel preachers or Bible teachers, some of whom are leading scholars in the brotherhood.

Music performances by the Harding Chorale, A Cappella Chorus, and the Academy Chorus have been scheduled, as well as a number of special dinners and luncheons for different groups.

The theme was chosen especially with emphasis on the church and to bring out attitudes of optimism to those who feel the church is on the decline. "We feel that having a Saturday session enables more people to come who couldn't during the week," Pryor said. This will be the second year the lectures have been scheduled this way. "We have found this format to be successful," said Pryor.

A special display area will be set up in the American Heritage Center for both commercial and non-commercial exhibits. "The cost for a commercial display is $10," Pryor said, "and space for a non-commercial display is free." Space may be reserved by contacting Dr. Pryor before October 1.

Those attending may find housing in the homes of local church members. For more information concerning the Lectureship see pages eight and nine inside or contact Neale Pryor, Lectureship Director, Box 767, Harding University, Searcy, Arkansas 72143.

Muncy Heads Student Association

Harding University Student Association Officers for 1982-83 are Zac Muncy of Searcy, president; Blair Bryan of Tulsa, Okla., vice president; Mary Ciccone of Orland Park, Ill., secretary; and Ken Fowler of Southaven, Miss., treasurer.

Muncy is a senior public administration major, member of the American Studies Program, TNT men's social club, and Barristers prelaw club. Previously treasurer of the SA, he is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Muncy of Searcy.

Bryan is a junior business management major and a member of TNT men's social club. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan M. Bryan of Birmingham, Ala.

Ciccone is a junior English major, co-chairman of the JOY Welfare Committee, member of the Spiritual Life Committee, and was sophomore women's representative for the Student Association. She is the daughter of William Ciccone of Orland Park, Ill., and Barbara Glendening of Kasilof, Alaska.

Fowler is a junior accounting major and a member of TNT men's social club. He was also beau for Zeta Rho women's social club. He is the son of Mrs. Theo Fowler of Southaven, Miss.

All four students have been named to the Dean's List while at Harding.

The Harding University Student Association plans and oversees many activities on campus, and also coordinates programs of various kinds through an extensive system of committees. Projects such as student directories, Toy and Dolly Drive, Friendly Week, and a lost and found service are sponsored by the SA. Various committees include academic affairs, food services, executive, physical plant, election, spiritual life, movie and student activities.

Southwestern Life Insurance Company of Dallas, the competition this year began at a September orientation meeting.

Working with the program theme of "Creative Capitalism," participating institutions were challenged through formal intercollegiate competition to design and implement free enterprise programs suited for their particular campuses and communities.

Harding's entry this year is entitled "Free Enterprise — It Works When We Do," and includes a report and a 12 x 15 ft. multimedia display elaborating on a variety of 64 projects and programs which have been presented before civic, professional and educational groups in the Mid-South area.

Last year's winning entry was entitled "Free Enterprise — The Great American Bargain." Competition was held in New York City.

Each year more than 200 colleges and 6,000 students in the United States, participate in "Students in Free Enterprise" competition.

Burks Appointed as Director of American Studies Program

Dr. David Burks, dean of the School of Business at Harding University, has been appointed director of Harding's American Studies Program, according to Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., University president.

"Dr. Burks is a very capable individual and we feel he will continue to do an outstanding job for us," Ganus said. "We're especially pleased to make this announcement, because we feel he will help us uphold the long-standing tradition of excellence associated with the American Studies Program at Harding."

A 1965 Harding alumnus, Burks is a native of Truth or Consequences, New Mexico. He earned a master's degree in business administration from the University of Texas in 1966, and joined the Harding faculty in 1967.

The 39-year old Burks was awarded the doctorate from Florida State University in 1974, the CPA license from the State of Texas in 1975, and also the Distinguished Teacher Award at Harding in 1975. He and his wife, Leah, have three children: Bryan, Stephen, and Marleah.

For more than 25 years, the award-winning American Studies Program has combined academic and real life experience with people and events, in order to provide opportunities for students, faculty and Central Arkansas residents to develop a better understanding of and appreciation for the American way of life.

In recognition of this, Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge National Park, Pa., has presented Harding and several of its faculty members and administrators with nearly 50 honor medals and certificates during the last 30 years, including the George Washington Medal of Excellence.

Harding's program consists of an annual lecture series, youth citizenship seminar,

Ganuses Tour China

Dr. and Mrs. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., president and first lady of Harding University, vacationed in the People's Republic of China for 18 days during July.

The Ganuses left June 28 from Searcy and departed from China on July 15. They returned to Searcy July 17.

Dr. Ganus previously visited the People's Republic of China in July 1978. On that trip, he visited the northern part of the country. During the most recent trip, which was Mrs. Ganus' first visit to China, the southern half was toured.

Besides Beijing, the Ganuses also visited the cities of Changsha, Kian, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Guangzhou and others. They visited the Northern Jiao Tong University of the Ministry of Railways and also the Changsha Railway Institute, among other points of interest.

They also renewed acquaintances with two Chinese officials — Mr. Zhao Jueming and Mr. Zhang E. Yi — who visited Harding University in August 1980. Jueming is president of the Changsha Railway Institute, and Yi is deputy director of the Education Bureau of the Ministry of Railways.

The Chinese officials were in the United States to study administration of private American universities and colleges.

Dr. Ganus, who has taught history for many years, is a frequent world traveler who has been in more than 60 foreign countries. As an ambassador for Christian education, free enterprise and Americanism, he seeks to learn from other cultures and societies, in order to better communicate these ideas.

management seminar and field trips to modern businesses and historic sites across the United States. Among the 66 majors offered at Harding is the Bachelor of Science in American Studies.

"The end result of our American Studies Program is a great number of well-educated, experienced graduates who make good citizens and who will work to preserve a great heritage and to make a better America and a better world," Ganus added.

Burks is a well-known speaker at business seminars in the Mid-South area. Former chairman of the Department of Business and Economics at Harding, he has served as president of the Arkansas Association of Teachers of Economics and Business.

He has also been president of the Searcy Kiwanis Club, chairman of the Camp Wyldewood Board of Directors, and faculty advisor to five national championship intercollegiate business teams at Harding. He also served as Harding's Director of Placement for a number of years.

Burks has been listed in Outstanding Young Men of America, Personalities of the South, and Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He is a member of Beta Alpha Psi, Phi Delta Kappa, Delta Mu Delta, and serves as Director of the annual Harding University Management Seminar.

ON THE COVER — Junior coed Stacy Green of Searcy flashes a favorite button along with her warm smile, also popular on campus. "It's great to be at Harding" will be the theme for University advertising in 1982-83, and will be highly visible on campus during High School Day, Homecoming, Lectureship, Youth Forum, Spring Sing and other events. The logo will also be displayed in various publications.

Summer Campaign Groups Help Strengthen Churches

Members of the Harding University faculty, staff and student body conducted campaigns throughout the world this summer in an effort to strengthen local churches and bring lost souls to Christ. Campaigns were conducted in Scotland, England, Germany, Italy, Australia, Venezuela, Kenya, Honduras, Virgin Islands, the United States, and several countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Approximately 300 persons from Harding were involved in the mission efforts.

International Campaigns has perhaps the widest scope of any single campaign effort at Harding. This year six groups totalling 82 people worked with local congregations in Glasgow, Glenrothes, Peterhead and Bunkie, Scotland; Brandon, Northampton, Loughborough and Corby, England; Heidelberg and Mannheim, Germany; Cosenza, Florence, Forli' and Vittorio Veneto, Italy; and Sydney, Australia. Several students involved in the German campaign were able to drive trucks loaded with relief supplies into Poland after the campaign ended.

Group leaders for International Campaigns were L. V. Pfeifer, Dr. Kenneth Davis, Jack McKinney, Dr. Carl Mitchell and Tom Eddins. Dr. Don Shackelford is director. Most campaigns lasted about six weeks. A total of 13 baptisms were reported during the campaigns, with several more resulting later from follow-up Bible studies. Over 3,000,000 pieces of religious literature were distributed by campaigners.

Campaigners reported that much growth was accomplished not only in their own lives but in the lives of local members with whom they lived, worked and worshipped during their stay. Said Harding senior Joy Stevens of Bennington, Vt., who through door-knocking set up a Bible study which later resulted in a baptism, "There can't be many experiences more joyous than finding one open heart, one open mind that's ready to

Christian Communications Program (CCP) students spent two weeks in May in campaigns in Edinburgh, Scotland and St. Croix, Virgin Islands, under the leadership of Bobby Parks and Joe Jones, respectively. Twenty-four students and four wives participated. After much door-knocking and Bible study, 13 baptisms were reported along with two restorations.

May Campaigns were held for one week, May 10-16, with 32 students participating in efforts by four Arkansas congregations — Cabot, Higdon, Ash Flat and Levy (North Little Rock) churches of Christ. Efforts included a gospel meeting, family enrichment seminar, religious survey of community residents, and door-knocking to set up Bible studies. Dwight Smith is director of May Campaigns.

Ava Conley, associate professor of Spanish, led a group of students into Venezuela for several weeks. Ron Doran, associate professor of biology, led a group to the British Honduras; Dr. Van Tate, associate professor of sociology, was group leader for Kenya campaigners; and Dr. Fred Jewell, professor of history, headed a group which spread the gospel behind the Iron Curtain in several Communist countries.

Harding students also went on extended campaigns in several areas of the United States this summer. Sylvan Hills church of Christ, which sponsors Northeast Campaigns, reported 20 Harding students out of a group of approximately 50 which worked May 16-August 5 in Summerville, Pa.; Warsaw, Ind.; Waynesboro, Va.; Trumbull, Conn.; Henderson, N.C.; Smithfield, Va.; Rochester, N.H.; Suitland, Md.; Greenfield, Ind.; Danbury, Conn.; New Milford, Conn.; Newcastle, Ind.; Worthfield, N.J.; Grafton, Ohio; Front Royal, Va.; Westfield, N.J.; and Sulligent, Ala.

Cossie Chandler, a Harding sophomore from Cincinnati, Ohio, commented, "Knocking doors and discussing the Bible with members of other religious groups was very challenging and enlightening. People in the Northeast are very tradition oriented when it comes to religion. You really have to know your Bible."

Northwest Campaigns is an effort supported by Downtown church of Christ in Searcy. Twenty-four Harding students, working in six four-member teams, conducted campaign efforts in Great Falls, Mont.; Federal Way, Wash.; and Glasgow, Hood River, Hillsboro and Pendleton, Ore. The group worked May 12-Aug. 3, and was joined for several weeks by members of the Harding Chorale, under the direction of Dr. Cliff Ganus III.

Social Work Majors Sponsor Symposium

Senior social work students at Harding University sponsored a symposium entitled "Children in Crisis," July 12-13 in the American Studies Auditorium. An audience of approximately 150 persons heard seven different authorities on the topic present lectures.

The symposium focused on the stresses and strains that children face in growing up in today's society. Particular emphasis was given to the situations of children coming from homes with single parents, abusive parents or sub-poverty level parents.

Speakers and topics for July 12 were as follows: Corinne Eubanks, Searcy, "Problems Facing School-Age Children of Divorced Parents;" Tom Winter, Paragould, "Dynamics and Issues in Sexual Abuse of Children;" Dan Bynum, Searcy, "Attitudes Toward Abuse;" and Mike Ireland, Searcy, "Building Self-Esteem in Children."

The schedule for July 13 included David McCray, Little Rock, "Joint Custody Approach to the Crisis of Divorce;" Chuck Miller, Valparaiso, Ind., "Who Am I in the New Family?;" Carolyn Nicholson, Searcy, "The Rebellious Child."

Harding students sponsoring the symposium included Tammy Ivey, Muscatine, Iowa; Sandy Meeker, Amarillo, Texas; Lynn Latham, Durant, Okla.; Jenni Felps, Forth Worth, Texas; Dennis Hensley, East Peoria, Ill.; Marlene Richards, Florence, Ala.; Bonnie Nicholson, Searcy; and Cheryl Gregg, Valparaiso, Ind.

Shock Named Social Work Director

Mary R. Shock, assistant professor of social work at Harding University, was recently named Director of the Social Work Program.

In making the announcement, Dr. Joseph E. Pryor, Vice President for Academic Affairs, said, "Mary has done a very effective job in her teaching and in coordinating and supervising the field experience of senior social work majors. She has also been very effective in counseling students interested in social work, and we feel that she will do a very fine job as Director of the Program."

Shock, a native of North Little Rock, joined the Harding faculty in 1979. A 1974 alumnus of the University, she holds the M.S.S.W. degree from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock Graduate School of Social Work, and has recently completed L.C.S.W. requirements for the State of Arkansas.

Formerly she taught at David Lipscomb College in Nashville, Tenn. and served as a medical worker at St. Vincent Infirmary in Little Rock and at City of Memphis Hospital.

Some of her activities at Harding include sponsoring a chapter of Alpha Delta Mu, the National Social Work Honor Society; sponsoring a chapter of NACSW (National Association of Christian Social Workers); directing community seminars developed by senior social work majors; and training volunteers for Hot Line, a community service providing counseling and referral information.

Shock is a member of Arkansas Gerontological Society, National Association of Social Workers, Harding Business Women, and has been named to Outstanding Young Women of America. In March she attended a New York meeting of the Council on Social Work Education, and presently is involved in a project to reduce adolescent pregnancy, sponsored by Community Action Program of Central Arkansas.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Shock of North Little Rock.

Burson Wins CPA Award

Kathy S. Burson, a senior at Harding University, has been named recipient of a $900 award by the National Society of Public Accountants Scholarship Foundation. Miss Burson, an accounting major, is one of 22 recipients nationally, selected from 1,300 candidates this summer.

The award will be credited toward her educational expenses for the 1982-83 school year.

Miss Burson was one of four Harding Business Team members during the spring semester and participated in the Emory University Business Games competition at Atlanta, Ga. in February.

A consistent Dean's List student, she has maintained a 4.0 grade point average on 97 semester hours of credit, including 11 hours of CLEP scores. During the 1981-82 school year, she was inducted into Alpha Chi National Honor Society.

Miss Burson is a member of Shantih women's social club at Harding.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Burson of College Park, Ga.

In making the announcement, Leslie Shapiro, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the NSPA Scholarship Foundation, said,

Kathy Burson

"It is an honor to have a student of your caliber and overall abilities as one of the recipients." He also cited her "outstanding record" as a collegian.

Dr. Ken Johnson, director of Harding's accounting program, said, "Kathy is one of the most outstanding students we have had in the accounting program at Harding in recent years. She has been quite involved in extracurricular activities while at the same time maintaining a perfect academic record."

Jones, Allen Debate Televised

A debate, recorded by Dr. Jerry Jones and Dr. Jimmy Allen of the Harding University Bible Department, with James Bjornstad of Philadelphia, Pa. and David Kingdon of Great Britain, was recently aired on the Christian Broadcast Network of cable television. The four 30-minute presentations were a feature of the John Ankerberg Show, and were shown on consecutive Sunday nights at 9:30 p.m., beginning June 27 and ending July 18.

"Is Salvation Dependent on Baptism?" was the subject for the discussions, filmed at Chattanooga, Tenn. with Ankerberg as moderator.

An earlier debate recorded between Jones and Dr. Gordon Lewis, professor of systematic theology and Christian philosophy at Baptist Theological Seminary in Denver, was cancelled. That debate, which also centered on baptism as an essential part of salvation, was recorded in March and was scheduled originally to be aired in April.

The Ankerberg Show utilizes a talk show-audience participation format such as has been popularized by Phil Donahue.

Jones, a full-time evangelist for the church of Christ before joining the Harding faculty in 1966, received his Ph.D. degree from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. Each year he preaches in some ten states and 30 churches, in addition to lectureships, retreats, seminars and rallies. Jones has been chairman of the Harding Bible Department since 1974.

Allen, a nationally-known preacher, has been a gospel minister for over 30 years. He is the author of eight books and joined the Harding Bible Department in 1959. Allen received the Hh.D. degree from Oklahoma Christian College and annually travels across the United States to conduct meetings.

Elderhostel Program Well-Received

This summer Harding University joined the world-wide network of colleges, universities and other educational institutions which offer special low-cost, short-term academic programs in residence for older adults. Known as Elderhostel, the program is open to people over 60 or to those whose spouse or companion qualifies.

Elderhostel combines the best traditions of education and hosteling.

There are no exams, no required grades and no homework, and lack of formal education is not a barrier.

Courses which Harding offered and their dates included, June 20-26, "The American Civil War: The 'General Situation',"

"Utopian Communities of the 19th Century," and "Birds of Central Arkansas"; June 27-July 3, "The Four Gospels," "Water Coloring" and "The 'General' Situation"; July 4-10, "Drawing," "The 'General' Situation," and "Utopian Communities."

Approximately 100 Elderhostelers attended the three sessions. According to Dr. James F. Carr, director of summer programs, "Harding was very pleased to offer her outstanding facilities and faculty for involvement in this worthy and very beneficial program, and we look forward to hosting Eldershostelers from around the country next summer."

CAMPUS NOTES

Cathleen M. Smith (nursing) spoke May 14 at the nursing convocation of the University of Central Arkansas Department of Nursing in Conway on "Challenges Facing Nursing." Smith was one of six nurses who received a proclamation from Governor Frank White May 6 on National Nurse Day, and also spoke to the Searcy Kiwanis Club the same day on "Changes in Nursing During the Last 100 Years" . . . Tom Howard (testing), Durward McGaha and Scott Bellamy (admissions) attended a CLEP workshop May 26 at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. Topic was "The Role of Applied Research in CLEP Policy Decisions" . . . Psychology majors Randy Anthony of Richardson, Texas and Karla Kell of Lubbock, Texas presented papers at a symposium in psychology at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville April 2. Kell's paper was entitled "Effects of Objective Self-Awareness and Type of Feedback on Counselor Training Outcomes," while Anthony's was on "Client Self-Esteem and Client Perceptions of a Self-Disclosing Counselor." These were the only two undergraduates making presentations at the symposium, and their work was perceived as being at the graduate level. They spent 18 months working very closely with Robert McKelvain (psychology) in preparation for this event . . . Chuck Florez (BA'79) has co-authored two articles which were published recently in The Journal of Social Psychology: "Factors Affecting Courteous Behavior" and "Evaluation of Interpersonal Touch by the Sighted and the Blind." Florez is now Director of Career Development at Pepperdine University, Malibu, Calif. . . . Lew Moore (counseling) taught two back-to-back seminars at Ohio Valley College May 10-14 and May 17-21. The first was "Psychology of Human Relationships" and the second was "Introduction to Counseling." Moore also attended the National Symposium on the Family May 26-28 at Lincoln, Neb. . . . Betty Ulrey (English) had an article, "Does God Help Us Make Decisions?," published in the July issue of 20th Century Christian . . . Winnie Bell, Suzanne Spurrier, Joe McReynolds, Frank Hayes, Henry Terrill and Travis Cox (library) attended a meeting of Christian College Librarians at Nashville, Tenn. May 28-29. Bell presented a paper entitled "Electronic Security in a Christian College Library: Harding Has It!" CCL librarians have been indexing 15 to 23 brotherhood periodicals and lectureships, and now have completed and available 1974 through 1981. Bell also attended a meeting June 18 in Little Rock of the Arkansas Networking Committee. Library directors from across Arkansas met to discuss, make recommendations, and elect members to a new Council on Networking. Academic, school, public and special libraries will be represented by the Council . . . Eddie Cloer (Bible) began publishing a monthly magazine, The Preacher's Periodical, in June. The magazine is designed to offer encouragement and sermon ideas to gospel preachers . . . David Burks (business) attended the annual meeting of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business April 22-May 1 in Honolulu, Hawaii. Theme was "The Challenge of Global Competition: New Strategies for Business and Business Schools." Burks and Mike McGaha (BS'82) conducted a five-day management simulation seminar in Detroit, Mich. May 17-21. The seminar was hosted by the U.S. Army Tank-Automotive Command. Burks, Jim Henderson, David Tucker, Bob Reely and Robert Kelly (business) attended the 32nd annual meeting of Arkansas College Teachers of Economics and Business April 3 at UALR. Theme was "Industrial Growth in Arkansas: What Is Our Role?" . . . James Walters and Richard King (Bible) are attending Harding Graduate School of Religion this summer. Walters has begun conducting Spiritual Development Seminars for interested churches . . . James D. Bales (Bible emeritus) published three books in July . . . Ed Sanders (Bible) was quoted recently in an article on cults in the Arkansas Gazette. He is presently writing a book on cults . . . Raymond Muncy (history) contributed a chapter on Alfred Kinsey's Institute for Sex Research in Research Institutions and Learned Societies. The Greenwood Press immediately asked Muncy to write two chapters in their forthcoming volume on "Foundations." He has agreed to write the histories of the Samuel Roberts Noble Foundation and the Weingart Foundation.

Dr. Mike Plummer instructs a group of Elderhostel participants in the art of birdwatching.

Jouett to Address August Graduates

W. Ray Jouett, M.D., will be the speaker at summer graduation ceremonies August 13 on the campus of Harding University, according to school president Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr.

Jouett, a member of the President's Development Council at Harding since 1968, is engaged in the practice of neurological surgery at Little Rock, Arkansas, and has been associated with Neurological Surgery Associates, P.A., since 1965.

One hundred and one students are scheduled to graduate in August. According to Dr. Joseph E. Pryor, Vice President for Academic Affairs, the class represents a major cross-section of academic divisions within the University.

A former Captain and Chief of Surgical Services in the Army Medical Corps, Dr. Jouett is a member of the Arkansas Medical Society, American Medical Association, Southern Neurological Society, American Association of Neurological Surgeons, Congress of Neurological Surgeons, and has been president of Pulaski County Medical Society and Meacham Neurological Society.

He is also associate clinical professor of surgery in the department of Neurosurgery at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences campus in Little Rock, and has published several articles on the problem of strokes.

Dr. Jouett and his wife, Sara, have two daughters, Rebecca and Susan.

Student Pedals 2,800 Miles for American Cancer Society

by Bruce Cook

Kevin Glenn of Paradise, Calif. fulfilled a dream this summer. Glenn, who will be a junior at Harding University this fall, spent the summer as many college students do — traveling. But unlike many, his 2,800-mile bicycle trip from Searcy to Paradise was used to raise money for the American Cancer Society.

Glenn arrived home near the end of July, after deciding to tack on an extra 800 miles by skirting Death Valley and entering California from the north, then heading south to Paradise, near Los Angeles.

He decided on the trek early this spring, contacted the American Cancer Society, and began training. To prepare for the long trip, Glenn pedaled 30 miles a day during the school week this spring and 50-plus miles on Saturdays. He got a bicycle club to plan his trip for him, plotting out stopping points according to terrain, climate and season.

Glenn had hoped to cover 80-100 miles per day and make the trip within a month, but due to hilly terrain, a stomach virus, strong headwinds and numerous bicycle repairs, he was delayed by about a month.

His route included stretches through Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California. The state chapter of the American Cancer Society in each state sought sponsorship from local businesses for Glenn's ride, as a means of fund-raising.

One such representative was Dan Tullos of Searcy, who is assistant professor of speech at Harding and also White County Coordinator of the American Cancer Society's annual bike-a-thon. Tullos got involved because of his position with the bike-a-thon, and received almost daily reports via postcards from Glenn, who reported that he stayed in the homes of many Harding alumni during his trip.

At other times, he camped out. Interesting events included not being able to find a post office one particular day, riding over three rattlesnakes another day, riding through a rain storm, and visiting the Grand Canyon, besides close misses with several large tractor-trailer trucks.

Glenn averaged 400 miles per week on his trip and celebrated his 21st birthday on July 8. At Harding he participated on a soccer team which won their state championship this year, the Searcy Steel.

He should have a few weeks to recuperate before school begins in the fall, but it is doubtful he will return to Searcy by bike. As he flies, or drives eastward on the return trip, Glenn will be retracing his journey — one which began in his mind — in a much more comfortable style, but he will carry with him the memory of his experiences, and the knowledge that others will benefit through donations made to the American Cancer Society.

CLASS OF 1939

Dr. Helen Mattox Young, wife of the chancellor of Pepperdine University, received the Christian Woman of the Year award at the Twentieth Century Christian breakfast February 24.

The award is given to a woman who is known for her Christian life and her dedication to the cause of Christ by her works and her family. The 12-year-old award is selected by a committee from the editorial board of the Twentieth Century Christian magazine.

In addition to her responsibilities at the university, she is active in civic and philanthropic groups, is a writer and editor for religious publications, and also homemaker and mother of four.

Mrs. Young is senior editor of Power For Today, a daily devotional guide which encourages family worship and goes into 70,000 homes. She is also consulting editor of Twentieth Century Christian.

She received her master's degree from Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., and received the first Honorary Doctor of Law degree from Lubbock Christian College in 1980.

CLASS OF 1949

Mrs. Marie Massey Baker (BA), retired recently as an English teacher and librarian at Imboden High School. She was honored with a gold chain and a plaque on retirement after 36 years of teaching. She also received a life membership PTA pin and was recipient of the Delta Kappa Gamma special citation.

She and her husband, Jewel, a Polled Hereford breeder, have a daughter, Alexa Ann. Their address is P.O. Box 113, Imboden, Ark. 72434.

CLASS OF 1951

Kelley B. Doyle has been named acting chairman of the music department at Freed-Hardeman College, Henderson, Tenn. Doyle, who first went to FHC in 1950, previously held the position of music department chairman, and serves as the director of the FHC Chorus. He completed the MA degree in 1955 at Peabody College in Nashville. He is a member of the American Choral Directors Association. Doyle resides in Henderson with his wife, Dorothy, and the youngest of their five children, Leigh Cereice.

CLASS OF 1952

Wayne Creason has been named Small Business Owner Department Manager for Rebsamen Insurance-Pine Bluff. Before joining Rebsamen, Creason was associated for many years with another Pine Bluff insurance agency.

He and his wife, Georgia, are the parents of a son, Dirk, and reside at 24 Nottingham Lane, Pine Bluff, Ark. 71601.

Emil Menes (BA) recalled the part he once played in presenting copies of an internationally known painting to former Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israel Premier Menachem Begin, shortly after the two signed the Camp David Peace Accords.

Menes, executive vice president of Christian Art Tours Ltd., headquartered in Huntsville, Ala., decided along with other members of the firm, to present gold framed copies of the "Creation of Adam" by American artist, Arthur Lidov, to the two world leaders.

Letters were forwarded to Egyptian Ambassador Ashraf Ghorbal at the Egyptian Embassy in Washington and to Yehuda Avner, adviser to the Prime Minister.

Menes then journeyed to Washington where he presented copies of the art work with inscriptions to each embassy.

CLASS OF 1953

Herb Dean (BA) had another kidney transplant June 2. His body rejected the previous one, but his son, Prent, was the donor for the second attempt. The kidney is functioning and Herb can be contacted at:

Hermann Hospital
1203 Ross Sterling
Houston, Tex. 77030

Herb is married to the former Barbara Cooper (BA '55). Their daughter, Dianna, was injured in the tornado that recently ripped through Paris, Texas. She received a broken pelvis and dislocated arm. Her two children, one four, and one a few months old, both had their legs broken. Dianna's husband was not hurt.

CLASS OF 1957

Francis M. Albin (BS) has published a book entitled Consumer Economics and Personal Money Management, with Prentice-Hall Inc., for use by high school and college students. 'Living Is All in Your Head,' Say Two Special Friends

by Sharon Goetting (BA '81)
of the Searcy Daily Citizen

Occasionally, one person will touch the life of another and brighten a spot that was once dark or fill a void. But rarely has one person made as big a difference in another person's life as Debbie Hooten has in that of Frances Walker.

In late 1973, at the age of 45, Walker began suffering symptoms of a crippling disease called amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS) — more commonly known as Lou Gherig's Disease. Since then she has become totally incapacitated, losing even her ability to communicate verbally.

In fact, all hope of communication seemed gone. Walker had been at Leisure Lodge Nursing Home for three years, and had become very depressed because no one could understand her. Then Hooten went to work as an aide at the home and was assigned to the hall Walker was on.

A special friendship developed between the two, and Hooten, who is a student at Harding University, taught her to communicate by the alphabet. Then, she arranged for the Harding student body to buy Walker a communication device. Walker appeared on the Harding stage, and by means of the machine, was able to bid the nearly 3,000 students a personal "thank you."

Walker's accomplishments in communication and the machine were the subjects of a previous "Citizen" article written by Linda Hilbun.

Since then, Walker and Hooten have spent many hours getting her personal story down on paper. Walker's story of how she deals with a killer disease is to be published in a book entitled "Living is All in Your Head."

"Telling my personal experiences with ALS in a book has been a real pleasure. I have reason to believe it will help many people," Walker expressed.

Hooten explained that they began the book in hopes of helping other ALS patients. But as the story began to take shape, they realized that it would have a much wider impact and could be of benefit to persons with other problems as well.

Walker has already outlived most other ALS victims by about six years. Hooten said that even doctors do not know very much about the disease, and just on her own, Walker has developed the mental attitude and some physical adjustments that have helped her cope with her struggles and outlive the two years ALS patients are usually given.

It has been said that when a person loses the use of one or more of his senses, the others are sharpened. When her body became unresponsive, Walker began sharpening her mind. Since she has become crippled, her living has to take place in her head, as the book's title indicates.

While lying in her bed or sitting in her wheelchair, Walker can travel ("My favorite place to travel is Africa" she says in the book) or make a dress (she will begin a dress one day and take up the next day where she left off), within her mind.

And much of her time is spent remembering good times spent with her two children as they were growing up. "I have two children, Dean Walker of Searcy, employed with Sperry-Vickers, and Brenda Sample of Bossier City, Louisiana, employed with the Commercial National Bank of Shreveport," Walker said. And she added that she also has five grandchildren.

"I think good memories are the most expensive gifts you can give or leave," she expressed.

But she has also picked up some "tricks" of physical survival that could be of benefit to other ALS patients. For example, since an ALS victim loses the ability to move his tongue, swallowing becomes almost impossible. But Walker learned to take big bites of her food rather than smaller ones because they are easier to force back to her throat. Then she uses the next bite to force the last one down. She also began coating her food with butter to make it slide down easier.

ALS victims also face difficulty in breathing. Walker has learned how to put her head down into a position that helps her start breathing better.

One of the biggest breakthroughs Walker indicates by her facial expressions. "We are doing the impossible by writing this book," she explains in the text. "Debbie is capable of the impossible."

It has taken approximately a year to complete the book, working a couple of hours or more every day. Even with the alphabet communication system that Walker and Hooten use, it takes some time to get a message across. The system works with Hooten beginning with 'l' if Walker winks her left eye and with 'r' if she winks her right. Hooten then proceeds through the alphabet until Walker indicated by her facial expression for her to stop. In this way they spell out words.

Hooten explained that they would get down about a page and a half in three hours. She said one day they were in the lobby working on the book and one of the other aides asked her what they were doing. She said when they told the aide they were writing a book, she laughed and told them it couldn't be done.

Yet now the book is completed, approximately 150 pages, and ready to be accepted by a publisher.

Hooten mentioned some other problems Walker has faced in the past.

"Frances had polio when she was a child. She has had a painful skin disease that is so rare only 12 others in the United States have had it. She had a tumor in her stomach the size of a grapefruit, and she had to have a hernia operation. But this was the only thing that could stop her."

Although she has accomplished a lot in light of her physical state, there is still a lot she misses. "The two things I miss most are my ability to talk and my ability to hug my family," she says in the book. "My coping devices don't make dying any easier, but it makes the burden lighter."

Her burden is also lightened by a special girl from Texas. "Debbie and I have shared laughter, tears, problems, and now this book," Walker expressed. "I wonder what my life would be like if Debbie hadn't come into my life. I thank God everyday for Debbie."

Linda Hilbun —

'She's A Gutsy Gal,' Says Circuit Judge

For their firm stance in pursuit of First Amendment rights, Linda Hilbun (BA '80), her former editor Perrin Jones, and the Searcy Daily Citizen have received the 1982 Distinguished Service Awards from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock Department of Journalism.

Hilbun, now a reporter and entertainment writer for the Memphis Press-Scimitar, was employed by the Citizen as a reporter when accused double-murderer James Curran talked with her about the June 1980 slaying of a Little Rock couple.

Curran's remarks, made during two conversations after his acquittal, were documented on tape and by handwritten notes from Hilbun. She wrote a story about the encounter for the Citizen.

Eventually, her association with Curran led the reporter to the chambers of a circuit court judge who was asked by the Pulaski County Grand Jury to order the release of the tapes and notes.

Hilbun and her editor had refused to give the Grand Jury access to off-the-record information obtained from Curran.

The first interview was conducted in a Little Rock restaurant about two weeks after Curran's acquittal. Curran talked to her for more than two hours about his knowledge of the murders of Lester 'Buddy' Little and his wife, Dorothy. The Littles were brutally murdered by an unidentified man, referred to as "Trigger" by Curran.

During his murder trial, Curran did not testify. Evidence linking the defendant to the scene of the crime was ruled inadmissible.

Prosecutors were unable to establish Curran's presence at the Little residence the night of the murders. However, in his first conversation with Hilbun, Curran admitted as much. He said he was knocked unconscious during a scuffle and awoke to find the dead couple.

A subsequent conversation between Hilbun and Curran yielded off-the-record comments that became the focal point of the Grand Jury investigation.

The Grand Jury was investigating charges of hindering prosecution, placed against Curran after his acquittal for murder.

The jury wanted Hilbun to say what explanation Curran had given her for taking a man known to him only as "Trigger" to the home of the couple.

"I answered questions concerning the part of the interview that was on the record," Hilbun said. "They (the Grand Jury) wanted the stuff we didn't print."

After refusing to turn over her notes and tapes, Hilbun and her editor, Perrin

Jones, were taken before Circuit Judge Harlan Weber.

After hearing the tape recordings and Hilbun's reading of her notes, Judge Weber ruled that the material did not have to be turned over to the Grand Jury.

"We think it is a first, since they weren't asking us to reveal our source, but what the source told me," Hilbun said.

In addition to his ruling, Judge Weber issued a character assessment of Hilbun. According to a story in the Arkansas Gazette, he said, "She's a gutsy gal." The UALR Journalism Department obviously thinks so, too.

College. Dr. Ray will assume his new post for the 1982-83 academic year.

Currently he is minister for the South Baton Rouge church of Christ and teaches in the speech department at Louisiana State University. Also, he teaches Greek and various Bible studies courses as an adjunct professor in Harding University's extension program at LSU. He obtained the Ph.D. degree from LSU.

Neighbor's Death Prompts Decision to Preach

by Bruce Cook

Sometimes in life an event will happen that changes a person forever and makes such an impression that a completely different direction is taken. Such a situation once confronted Mike Gardner, who is now minister at East Central church of Christ in Muskogee, Okla.

As Mike tells the story, "In 1977 as I was struggling to work for the Lord and keep my grocery business going, too, an event occurred that will never be forgotten and which created a yearning within me to do something different with my life.

"It was in January, on the morning after the coldest night of the winter. The wind had been blowing 20-30 miles per hour, the snow was blowing and temperatures had dropped to 30-40 below with the wind chill factor. The phone rang at the store and I answered.

"A man asked if I knew John ——. I said yes, and he told me he had found someone lying in front of his store that I needed to identify. When I arrived at the store, located about two miles away, I saw a body on the cold icy ground and knew immediately that it was a neighbor. He was frozen.

"The man, an alcoholic, had gotten drunk one time too many and on the wrong night. He had tried to crawl from a bar to a 24-hour restaurant, but did not make it; he was less than 50 feet from safety. As I stood over him, I thought to myself of the times I had taken him to alcoholic clinics, the nights I had stayed awake with him, and the long talks we had shared. What more could I have done?

"I did not feel responsible for the man's death, but I did feel responsible to God for doing everything I could have to prevent it. I decided that I needed some training, and began to search and pray for something to happen.

"My interest and desire for training increased, and with God's help I developed a little bit of faith to go along with them. In April of 1978 I decided to sell my home and business, and move to Searcy, Arkansas to begin a new life.

"In August of 1978 I entered the Christian Communications Program (CCP) at Harding University. I have often thanked God for bringing me into contact with the people I get there. Through the CCP program I not only learned much about the Bible, about ministering, teaching and preaching, but I also found my Savior and Lord in a way that I had never before found Him.

"I whole-heartedly support the program because I believe it is centered on Christ, and therefore will always be successful in preparing men or women for the work of the Lord. In August of 1980, my wife Charlotte, son Cortney and I moved to Muskogee to begin work with the East Central church there.

"This series of events has given me everything anyone could want. We are not without problems but we are without failure. God has given us the victory through our Lord Jesus."

A Cappella Chorus Makes Fourth European Tour

Opening night for the Harding University A Cappella Chorus's 35-day musical tour of seven European countries was June 9, in Augsburg, West Germany.

Approximately 55 A Cappella members, including about ten former members, took part in "Tour '82." Under the direction of Dr. Kenneth Davis Jr., chairman of the Harding Music Department, the group visited 22 cities, with nightly performances scheduled in most.

The group performed in hospitals, parks, nursing homes, jails, civic auditoriums, church buildings and other places. This is the fourth European tour for the Harding A Cappella, with previous tours in 1971, '74 and '76. The Chorus also visited France, Italy, Belgium, Switzerland, Austria and Greece in addition to Germany.

"It takes between a year-and-a-half and two years to organize a tour of this magnitude," said Dr. Erle Moore, former music department chairman, who recently retired after 33 years in that position.

The tour was organized through missionaries at the local churches of Christ, who in turn scheduled appearances for the A Cappella in their cities. Local church members provided meals and lodging for some of the group, but since overseas churches are usually quite small, the other half of the group stayed in hotels. Accommodations were switched at each new city so that all members of the chorus could learn the customs of each country.

On past tours, the free A Cappella concerts have drawn large crowds of appreciative Europeans, who enjoy listening to works by Bach, Beethoven, Haydn, Christiansen, Malotte and Americans such as George Lynn. Leaflets and pamphlets are distributed by the local missionaries during performances, with follow up contacts aimed at teaching natives the gospel.

Approximately half of the A Cappella group, including Dr. Davis, arrived in Europe several weeks early as part of International Campaigns, a summer mission effort sponsored by College Church of Christ in Searcy. The other chorus members left June 6, to join them. Each member of the group paid his or her own way on the tour, and saved for about two years in order to afford the $2,000 cost of the five-week trip, which ended July 10. Some members were able to raise support funds from their home congregations.

The Chorus also received several requests from churches in Spain to sing there, but were unable to schedule them due to lack of time and funds.

A recording of the Tour '82 numbers, entitled "Holy Radiant Light," was completed this spring and is available in a two-album set for $12, or on cassette for $12. A total of 32 songs, including popular spirituals, are included. Orders should be addressed to A Cappella Record, Box 531, Harding University, Searcy, Ark. 72143. Proceeds from sales of the recording, will be used to help pay Tour '82 expenses.

The A Cappella also made another recording this spring, featuring Dr. Davis as soloist on each number, entitled "I Want Jesus To Walk With Me." It, too, is available on album for $10 and cassette for $10. All proceeds will be used to sponsor chorus members on International Campaigns, according to Dr. Davis. Included are favorites such as the title song, "Just A Closer Walk With Thee," and others.

Harding Wins Two Awards from SBA

Harding University was selected this summer as the winner of two prestigious awards from the Small Business Administration.

The first award was given by the Little Rock District SBA Office for the "most outstanding" Small Business Institute (SBI) case study of 1980-81. The Little Rock District encompasses the entire state of Arkansas. Ten schools in the district participated in the SBI program and assisted 115 businesses during the year.

The Harding case study was also chosen as one of the top three Regional cases, and was entered in SBA national competition. The Dallas Region includes Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Small Business Institute programs have been organized on college and university campuses through the Management Assistance division of SBA. Senior and graduate business administration students, with the supervision of faculty advisors, provide in-depth management counseling for small businesses at no cost to the business owner.

The winning case study was developed by former Harding students Byron Jordan and David Satterfield, both of whom have since graduated, and who were assisted by Charles Walker, assistant professor in the School of Business at Harding. The team provided assistance to a business owner in the areas of advertising, store layout and financial planning.

According to Walker, the study was developed as part of the regular course work for Management 365, "Small Business Institute," which is open to upper level management students. "We in the School of Business are very proud to accept these awards on behalf of our former students," Walker said.

Harding to Host Admissions Meeting Region Workshop

Harding University will host the fall meeting of the Arkansas Association of College Admissions Officers, according to Harding Admissions Director Durward McGaha. Some 40 members of the AACAO are expected to attend the September 17 afternoon meeting.

Harding will also host an articulation workshop that morning for high school counselors in the central Arkansas area. Approximately 150 counselors are expected to attend.

Since 1976, AACAO has existed to promote a closer cooperation among secondary school guidance counselors and college admissions personnel in their shared effort to help the young people of Arkansas who pursue a college education.

Purposes of the AACAO include promoting a high degree of professionalism, establishing and maintaining direct lines of communication, counseling students, providing students with descriptions of campuses and communities, providing information about financial opportunities, fostering a spirit of unity and cooperation among the membership.

Formerly known as the Armstrong House, this house at the corner of Grand and Center Streets in Searcy is being furnished by AWH members as a Harding memorabilia display.

AWH House to Contain Harding Memorabilia

Five committee members of Associated Women for Harding's National Council, met recently to discuss possible uses of a Searcy house made available to AWH. Members include Mrs. Johnice Hearn of Harrison, Mrs. June Swink of Little Rock, Mrs. Jo Shackelford of Shreveport, La., Mrs. Louise Ganus and Mrs. Mary Ann Arnett of Searcy, and Mrs. Pam Hesselrode of Sikeston, Mo.

The committee was appointed April 23 at the spring meeting of the AWH National Council, and has since been considering suggestions about the house located at the corner of Grand and Center Streets.

It was decided that one purpose of the house will be the preserve Harding University's history. Interested persons may donate memorabilia about Harding for display in the house. Furnishings for a living room, dining room, breakfast room and two bedrooms are also sought.

A brass plaque will be placed in the living room of the house in order to recognize persons contributing $100 or more.

The committee also decided to identify their new facility as the "AWH House," and to hold open house on September 16, when the National Council will convene for their fall meeting. Local chapters and other interested parties are providing assistance.

An honor roll book containing the names of service award recipients, past AWH chapter presidents, officers and honorary life members will be compiled and kept on display in the house.

Items already donated for the AWH House include a crystal bowl, Mrs. Blanche McKnight, Little Rock; bowl, plaque and silver service, Mrs. Sally Benson, Searcy; flat silver collection, Catherine Riggs, Little Rock.

When completed, the house will be available for receptions and small parties.

For more information, contact Dr. James Carr, Box 1224, Harding University, Searcy; Mrs. Louise Ganus, 208 S. Cross, Searcy; or Mrs. Mary Ann Arnett, 124 Jawanda Lane, Searcy.

Nominations Open For Alumnus Award

Nominations for the 1982 Distinguished Alumnus Award will be accepted by the Harding Alumni Association Executive Committee until September 1, 1982.

The Distinguished Alumnus will be honored during Homecoming '82 festivities Nov. 5-6. The Executive Committee of the Association will select the honoree from submitted nominations.

All candidates must meet the following qualifications: (1) Must be an active supporter of Harding (2) Life must be consistent with the ideals of Harding (3) Must have achieved a degree of excellence and recognition in his or her chosen field of activity and (4) Must strive to advance academically and spiritually to serve God.

Detailed information about the nominee should be included with each nomination and should be mailed to Harding Alumni Association, Box 768, Harding University, Searcy, Ark. 72143. Suggestions for division honorees should be addressed to Dr. David Burks, dean of the School of Business; Dr. Bobby Coker, dean of the School of Education; Dr. J. E. Pryor, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, or Dr. Jerry Jones, chairman of the Bible department.

1982 Football Outlook Points to Improvement

Harding University football fortunes are pointing only one way — and that is up.

The outlook for an improved season this fall will find two of Arkansas' most prolific offensive performers returning in quarterback Kyle Blickenstaff of Boise, Idaho, and tailback Tony McCoy of Texarkana, Texas.

Despite a lackluster 2-9 record, Blickenstaff passed for 1,556 yards last year and rewrote four school records in the process. A bona fide All-America candidate, he completed 120 of 262 passes and should be even more a threat as a runner this fall. He also is an All-Conference punter, averaging 38.5 yds. on 57 kicks.

McCoy stepped in at tailback last season and rushed for 1,021 yards to give the Bisons a sorely missed running threat. A compactly-built 175-pounder, McCoy was named "Newcomer of the Year" in the conference by the Arkansas Democrat.

Coach John Prock's other strong suit is the place-kicking game which is the domain of the All-AIC performer Steve Hunter of Stigler, Okla. Hunter rewrote the Bison record book last year with 15 season field goals, including five in one game.

Additionally, Prock will have 31 returning lettermen this season after losing 10 by graduation.

Overall, eight starters, one from 1980, are returning offensively. With some shifting around of positions, seven starters return for the defensive unit.

On the offensive side, new personnel must step in at both tackle positions. Junior college transfer Troy Cobb of Wiggins, Miss., finished spring drills at right tackle

At tight end, Prock can boast of perhaps the finest pair of talents in the conference. Sophomore Mark Adkison of Tulsa, Okla., had 41 receptions for 572 yards and six touchdowns last year after Durwood Dry went down with an injury. Dry, a 6-2, 214 pound junior, came back in top shape for spring drills and the Bisons will make use of the two-tight end offense to showcase their talents. Dry had 23 receptions for 265 yards in the 1980 season.

In the backfield, James Joyce of Huntsville, Ala., returns at fullback to go along with Blickenstaff and McCoy. Joyce suffered a cracked bone in his foot during spring drills, but should be at full speed come the fall. Senior Mike Peacock of Searcy, who caught 22 passes for 255 yards last year, returns as the starter at the flanker position.

man the right tackle position. At right end, another sophomore, Joey Lowery of Newport, Ark. appears to be the front runner in a battle with Todd Donohue of Jonesboro, Ark.

Senior Steve Jones of Creve Coeur, Mo. was stationed at noseguard and will provide the size, toughness and leadership up front. At linebacker, two starters, Randy Buttram of Windermere, Fla. and Greg Poston of Memphis, Tenn., will return to defend their positions.

In the secondary, All-AIC candidate Bruce Baldwin returns at safety. A 6-2, 195 pounder, Baldwin made nine interceptions in 1981. Senior Scott LeDoux, a rough and tumble operative at cornerback, despite his 5-5 size, appears set at right cornerback.

David Kent of Covington, Ind., was injured as a freshman, but won a safety spot during spring drills. Letterman David Fullerton of Mesquite, Texas, will move up to the left cornerback spot.

In summary, experienced team depth is thin despite the number of returnees. Prock and his staff are counting on the development of the younger squadmen to provide the quality needed for fall.

Signees indicate the team speed should improve, especially in the defensive secondary.

In short, the Bisons are building — and they hope the offensive skill people can get the support needed to produce some victories.

Smith Wins AIC Cliff Shaw Award

Harding University's Eugene Smith is one of three Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference athletes to share the 1982 Cliff Shaw Scholar-Athlete Award, according to commissioner Harry T. Hall.

The three-way tie is the first ever to occur in the 26-year history of the Scholar-Athlete Award. A Harding athlete has now won the coveted award 16 times and every year since 1976. The award is given each year to the senior AIC athlete posting the highest academic grade point average who has earned at least two athletic letters.

Sharing the award with Smith with perfect 4.0 averages are, Charles Crowder and Gary Tanner of Hendrix College. Smith is a two-year letterman swimmer, Crowder lettered in golf and Tanner was a tennis competitor.

Smith is a Dallas, Texas native who majored in chemistry and will enter the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas in the fall. He was elected a member of Alpha Chi Honor Society and participated two years in regional competition as a member of Harding's Intercollegiate College Bowl Quiz team. A musician as well, Smith served as concert master of the Harding University Orchestra and was a soloist with the A Cappella Chorus. He has also participated for the past four summers in religious campaign work. He presented a violin solo at the 1981 National Alpha Chi Convention in Nashville, Tenn. and a paper "Aspartain: A Sugar Substitute with Sweet Promise" at the Region II Convention in Shreveport, La.

In addition, at the end of his year-long course in organic chemistry, he achieved a score at the 99th percentile on the nationally standardized examination of the American Chemical Society.

He is a graduate of the Justin F. Kimball High School in Dallas and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith, Jr. of Duncanville, Texas.

Harding has dominated the Scholar-Athlete Awards with 16 winners. They are: Joe Hightower, 1959; Gerald Casey, 1962; Jimmie Lawson, 1964; Lanny Casey, 1965; Dennis Organ, 1966; Michael Plummer, 1967; Robert Erickson, 1968; David Elliott, 1969; Jamie Cowley, 1974;

Ken Neller, 1976; Michael O'Keefe, 1977;

Eugene Smith

Marshall Grate, 1978; Jeff Earnhart, 1979; Dan Sears, 1980; Mark Piller, 1981, and Smith this year.

'Could Be Exciting,' Says Lloyd

A solid line of experience returns for the 1982 Harding University cross country squad as coach Ted Lloyd draws sights on a 12th consecutive Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference crown.

The Bisons return three All-AIC performers in seniors Joe O'Connor of Shelter Island, N.Y., and Jeff Westover of Sidney, Ohio and sophomore Steve Hubbard of Brentwood, Tenn. O'Connor is a three-time All AIC honoree.

"This year we should really have great balance on the team," Lloyd said. "We may have as many as eight or nine athletes who will be running within 30 seconds of each other. And when you add our newcomers, it could be a real exciting year for the Bisons."

Last year Harding captured its 17th AIC title and its ninth straight NAIA District 17 championship. Lloyd's harriers went on to place 28th in the nation in the NAIA national championships at Kenosha, Wis. All-American Carter Lambert, now graduated, was the top Bison finisher in 76th place.

With the three All-AIC returnees, Harding will return four other lettermen. They are Ken Berry of Little Rock, Jerry Harris of Lawrenceville, Ga., Mitch McCohn of New London, Ohio, and Tomy Sitton of Atlanta, Ga. Also, squadman Jimmy Alderdice of Madison, Tenn. returns.

New faces will be among those who will be contending for positions in the top five. Included among the incoming prospects are Al Bates of Nashville, Tenn., John Jackson of Mansfield, Ohio, and junior college transfer Larry Wayne of Fairhope, Ala., by way of Jefferson State Junior College.

The Bisons open the 1982 campaign at the Ouachita Invitational in Arkadelphia September 11. Harding will host the annual Bison Invitational at the Bald Knob Country Club September 17 and a High School Invitational September 25.

In October, Harding will enter the Notre Dame Invitational on the first, the Arkansas College Invitational at Batesville, Ark., on the eighth, the Washington University Invitational at St. Louis, Mo., the 16th and the Belmont Invitational at Nashville, Tenn., on the 30th.

Harding will run in the combined AIC and District 17 meet in Batesville, Ark. November 5 and the National meet in Kenosha, Wis., November 20.

David Redding

Redding Is Runnerup For National Award

Harding University junior David Redding was one of two national finalists in the 1982 Arthur Ashe Tennis Award of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and the International Tennis Coaches Association.

Redding, a native of Nevada, Mo., is the 1982 NAIA District 17 singles champion and a three-time All-District and All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference performer.

The first presentation of the NAIA-ITCA Arthur Ashe Award was made at the NAIA Tennis Championship Banquet May 31 in Kansas City, Mo. Craig Hamilton, a senior at Pacific Lutheran in Tacoma, Wash. was the winner.

Nominations for the Ashe Award were considered on the basis of (1) tennis-playing accomplishments, (2) scholastic and extra-curricular achievements, (3) humanitarian concern and accomplishments and (4) sportsmanship and character.

Redding is a physical education major and has completed 82 semester hours with a 3.56 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. He is a 1979 graduate of Nevada High School.
