Speakers Set for American Studies Lectures

Michael Novak

Four prominent speakers are scheduled for the fall American Studies Lecture Series at Harding. Included for the presentations are Michael Novak, theologian, author and diplomat; Robert Ferrell, author and distinguished professor at Indiana University; J. Peter Grace, chairman of the Private Sector Survey on Cost Control in the Federal Government; and William Stevens, chairman of Triad Systems Corporation.

Novak will open the series on Sept. 22, Ferrell will speak on Oct. 14, Grace will follow on Nov. 10 and Stevens will close the fall lectures on Dec. 2. "We have an excellent line-up of speakers for our fall series," said Dr. David Burks, director of the Harding American Studies Program. "We believe their presentations will be very timely, informative and authoritative."

Novak will speak Sept. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the American Heritage Auditorium. He holds the George Frederick Jewett Chair in Religion and

Robert Ferrell

Public Policy at the American Enterprise Institute in Washington, D.C.

Novak is head of the U.S. Delegation to the Experts' Meeting on Human Contacts of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe. The meetings are a continuation of the Helsinki Accord negotiations. He has served the United States in three administrations.

Novak has written over 20 books in the areas of philosophy, theology, politics, economics and culture. He is also the author and editor of numerous monographs and over 200 articles and reviews. His articles and essays have been published in popular journals including The New Republic, Commentary, Harpers, The Atlantic and National Review. Novak's writings have appeared in every major western language, and in Bengali, Korean and Japanese.

"Illusions and Realities," his twice-weekly column was syndicated nationally from

Peter Grace

1976-1980. He took leave of the column in 1980 to complete three books and resumed publication weekly in 1984. His column "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" is published monthly in National Review.

He has received numerous awards including the George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedoms Foundation; the Award of Excellence, Religion in Media, Eighth Annual Angel Awards; first U.S. member to the Argentina National Academy of Sciences, Morals and Politics; and ten honorary degrees.

Novak was appointed to the Presidential Task Force on Project Economic Justice and to the Board for International Broadcasting. He has served as the head of the United States Delegation to the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva.

Ferrell will speak on Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the American Heritage Auditorium. He has

High School Day Scheduled for October 18

Harding's annual fall High School Day is scheduled for Oct. 18 and will feature as its main speaker Mike Cope, evangelist for the College Church of Christ in Searcy.

"Mike identifies well with young people and presents interesting and challenging lessons to his listeners," said Durward McGaha, director of admissions. A 1978 graduate of Harding University, Cope received his M.Th. degree in 1982 from the Harding Graduate School of Religion in Memphis, Tenn.

For two and a half years he preached for the Pine Valley church in Wilmington, N.C. In October 1984 he began his work as pulpit minister for the College church in Searcy. He is managing editor of 20th Century Christian.

He and his wife, Diane, have two preschool children, Matthew and Megan.

High School Day is a special day set aside for high school students to visit the Harding campus and enjoy special activities planned just for them. The day's events include musical entertainment, inspirational devotionals and speakers and periods of informative discussion about Harding.

This year's High School Day will begin with a devotional, which will be followed by the newest Harding University slide show. Musical entertainment will feature the Good News Singers and the Time of Day.

Selected faculty members will present information about various degree programs. Representatives will be present from the Nursing School, the School of Business, the School of Education, the Bible Department and the College of Arts and Sciences.

"This will be an excellent time for students to visit our campus and really get the feel of college life," McGaha said. "Getting to meet our students and looking over our facilities can be very important."

An information exchange and tours of the campus are scheduled. The day's activities will end at 7:00 p.m. when the Bison football team takes on the University of Arkansas Pine Bluff Golden Lions at Harding's Alumni Field.

For more information about High School Day, call the Admissions Office at (501) 268-6161, ext.

David Tucker

Tucker Awarded International Prize

Harding Assistant Professor of Economics David Tucker has received second prize in the Olive W. Garvey Fellowship International Essay Contest by the Mont Pelerin Society.

The award for the essay titled, "The Economics and Philosophy of Liberty," includes a $1,500 cash grant plus a $1,000 travel grant to present the paper to the September, 1986 general meeting of the Mont Pelerin Society in St. Vincent, Italy. Tucker's essay competed with more than 40 entries in the contest.

The Mont Pelerin Society is an international group of scholars and others who believe in the free society. The society was founded by Friedrich von Hayek (Nobel Laureate in economics) at Mont Pelerin, Switzerland in 1947.

The essay by Tucker was judged by an international panel of three judges — one each from Europe, America, and Latin America. Tucker's essay emphasized three systems which must support liberty in society for a free society to function — the economic system, the political system, and the moral-cultural system.

"This singular honor for David is a wonderful reminder of the bright and shining example he is for those who would seek a better understanding of the idea of freedom applied to the marketplace," said Dr. Don Diffine, director of the economics program at Harding.

Tucker is married to the former Renee East and they have two children, Peyton and Kinsey. He has taught at Harding for four years and is also director of the Walton Scholarship Program for Central American students.

Ganus Endowed Scholarship Raising Funds

The campaign to establish a $1 million endowed academic scholarship fund in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., is off to a rapid start, according to Floyd Daniel, vice president for University Relations.

"We've had a great response from a number of alumni and friends who have expressed their support of the decision by the Board of Trustees to establish the program," Daniel said. "They are well aware of the great work, the service and the commitment of Cliff and Louise and they want to have a part in this effort."

The Board of Trustees on May 9 announced a campaign to establish an endowed scholarship to recognize Dr. and Mrs. Ganus. To fuel the campaign, six members of the Board of Trustees have already committed more than $169,000 to the effort, Daniel said.

The "Clifton L. and Louise Ganus Scholarship Fund" will be the largest endowed scholarship fund in the school's history. Interest earned in the principal of the fund will provide scholarship assistance to at least 100 or more students each school year when fully funded.

"A significant response has come from two former classmates of the Ganuses," Daniel said. "George Tipps of Dallas and Jim Bill McInteer of Nashville, Tenn., have agreed to take on volunteer leadership roles among people they know because they want to have a part in honoring Cliff and Louise.

Tipps, a classmate of Dr. and Mrs. Ganus, said, "This endowed scholarship is probably the greatest kind of tribute that could have been established. I've known Cliff and Louise for 45 years and they have been a source of continued strength to me.

"No school is any better than the head man and his zeal for academic and spiritual excellence has made its imprint on the school, the student body and the faculty."

McInteer echoed Tipps' remarks. "Scholarships are awarded because of the excellency of the individual. This endowed scholarship will be a double barrelled program. The students selected will be very able; they will be blessed because great people are being honored by it."

Following the lead of the Board of Trustees, alumni and friends will be contacted concerning gift opportunities, Daniel said. Information describing the scholarship will be distributed in August to Harding alumni.

"It is our hope to secure as much of the $1 million as possible by the end of the 1986, but I feel sure we will still have some contacts to make in early 1987," Daniel said. "We will announce our results at the May, 1987 commencement which will mark the conclusion of Dr. Ganus' presidency."

Alexander, Hatfield Step Down From Board

Two longtime members of the Harding Board of Trustees, Flanoy Alexander and W.C. (Bill) Hatfield, have announced their retirement from the policy making group.

Alexander, publisher of the Gospel Light in Delight, Ark., completed 33 years of service and Hatfield, a banking consultant in Dallas, served eight years as an active trustee.

"We appreciate very much the many years of dedicated service Flanoy Alexander has given to the Board of Trustees of Harding," said President Clifton L. Ganus. "He is much loved by his colleagues and will be missed."

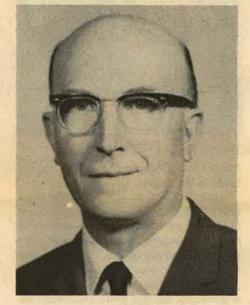

Concerning his years on the Board, Alexander said, "It's been one of the highlights of my life, a very pleasant time. We've had some hills and valleys but the future looks very bright. Harding is doing a wonderful work.

"Serving with the other members of the Board has been very gratifying to me as well," he said.

A solid supporter of Christian education, Alexander's three children, Wallace, Lynn (Mrs. Don England) and Harold are graduates of Harding. Two grandchildren also have graduated and two are currently enrolled.

"I believe there's been only one year since I came on the Board that we didn't have either a child or a grandchild enrolled."

Hatfield resigned from the Board because "at this time I'm not able to make the commitment of time and energy that is necessary.

Flanoy Alexander

"Serving on the Board has been one of the most fulfilling things I've ever done," he said. "The school has made great progress in its physical facilities and in developing significant cost control practices.

"Academically Harding has a strong program, but one of the things that has impressed me the most is the continued spiritual development, which is so vital to what Harding is all about."

W.C. "Bill" Hatfield

"We are grateful to him for all he has done to help us," President Ganus said. "He has contributed freely of his expertise and ability to the growth of Harding."

With the loss of Alexander and Hatfield, there are now 18 individuals serving on the Harding University Board.

Harding Has Lowest Default Record

Harding ranks first among the colleges and universities in Arkansas with the lowest default rate in the National Direct Student Loan Program (NDSL).

Harding's rate of 1.45 percent was the lowest default rate 32 schools listed for the fiscal year 1984-85 by the federal Department of Education. With the national average at 8.25, in Arkansas 19 schools exceed that figure.

"The NDSL program has been instrumental in making a college education available to students," said Byron Rowan, assistant to the vice president for finance. "Thousands of our students have participated in the program."

As of the end of June, more than $6 million dollars in loans are currently active, Rowan said. Harding has been a participant in the program since it was begun under the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

The program is administered by Harding personnel with 90 percent of the funds coming from the federal government and 10 percent from the university.

"Our default rate has always been extremely low for a number of reasons," Rowan said. "We have a very high caliber and responsible type of student and our financial aid counselors try to go over the loan procedures very carefully to be sure they are completely understood by the student.

"Also we attempt to carefully follow the mandated federal regulations in our collection procedures."

Under the coordination of Cecil Adams, the loan collection officer, the program utilizes computerized billing procedures and personal correspondence and contact to keep the program active.

"We have an experienced, highly professional staff that does an excellent job of keeping the program current," Rowan said.

Some colleges in the state which had default rates below the 8.25 national average were Arkansas Baptist College in Little Rock, 1.99 percent; Arkansas College, 2.45; and John Brown University, 2.62 percent.

Registration Dates Scheduled Aug. 25-27

Registration dates at Harding have been set for Aug. 25-27 with the final date to enroll on Sept. 15, according to Virgil Beckett, registrar.

Pre-registration was held at the end of the 1985 school year with 2,053 students registering for classes. Two academic orientation days were held this summer in which 395 freshmen attended in order to be advised concerning classes and pre-registration and to make dorm room assignments.

The first Student Impact will be held at Harding Aug. 18-22 for freshmen to get acquainted with faculty, classes, majors, and building locations, as well as to participate in a variety of fun activities. Approximately 400 students have registered to attend Student Impact.

Intersession had a record enrollment of 577 this summer compared to 551 last year. The first session of summer school had 561 students enrolled and 497 attended the second summer session of classes.

ON THE COVER: The Harding campus maintains its welcoming appearance as visitors come for Youth Citizenship Seminar, Elderhostel, Academic Advising Days, 13-in-1 Bible Workshops, UPLIFT, and various workshops which are held throughout the summer.

Details on the class and social club reunions will be available on campus during Homecoming weekend.

Jones Joins Faculty as Visiting Missionary

For James (Buddy) Jones and his wife, Maurine, being the visiting missionary family at Harding this year meant more than coming home to the United States from France; it meant coming home to their roots.

Buddy grew up in Searcy and graduated from Harding in 1972 with a degree in Bible. His parents are Jimmy and Dorothy Jones.

For the next year, Buddy will teach Bible courses at Harding, giving first-hand insight into mission work. He will teach Acts and one missions course in the fall and will probably add another missions course to his schedule in the spring.

Maurine is nearly as close to home in Searcy as her husband. The daughter of Claude and Madge Lewis, she is a native of Little Rock where her father is the minister for the Sandstone church of Christ. She also finished Harding in 1972 with a major in elementary education.

The road from Searcy and back home again took the Joneses through St. Louis where Buddy completed an intern program with the McKnight Rd. church. Their daughter, Anna, now 11, was born in St. Louis. She was the first child in what has now become a truly international family.

Buddy, Maurine and Anna moved to Geneva, Switzerland in August of 1977. They lived and worked there for two and one-half years. During that time a son, Daniel, was born. He is now nine-years-old.

The four Joneses moved to Nantes, France in April of 1980. There the family added two more members, David and Sarah, now six and two, respectively.

The emphasis of the work in France has been sharing the gospel through personal contact, the Joneses indicated. One of the ways they have established personal contact, Maurine said, is through seminars which deal with aspects of everyday life. "We advertise subjects such as death and loneliness," she said.

Buddy Jones

"The main thrust of missions," Buddy said, "should be to reach people who have not heard the gospel and communicate to them the message of Jesus through personal contact.

"That's a whole lot harder than I thought it was."

At Harding, Buddy and Maurine will try to show students the need and the challenge of being a missionary for the gospel.

"I'm convinced there are a lot of people who will rise to that challenge," Buddy said. "And the more that go, the quicker we can get the work done."

Sears to Address Commencement

Dr. Jack Wood Sears, Harding University retiring professor of biology, will speak at graduation ceremonies at Harding Aug. 15.

A member of the faculty since 1945, Sears was chairman of the biology department, retiring as chairman in 1983. Also, he has taught for many years in the Bible department.

Sears began his education at Harding Elementary School in Morrilton at age six in 1924 and received the Bachelor of Science in biology in 1940. In 1943, while attending the University of Texas, where he received the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees, he was married to Miss Mattie Sue Speck. They have three children, James David, Pattie Sue and Martha Ann.

A native of Cordell, Okla., he is the son of Dr. L.C. Sears, retired dean of Harding, and the late Pattaway Armstrong Sears.

He is past president of the Arkansas Academy of Science and is a member of a number of other scientific societies. He has been a pulpit minister since 1940 and is an elder at the Downtown Church of Christ in Searcy.

In 1969 he published a book, Conflict and Harmony Between Science and Religion. He is a past president of the Searcy Lions Club.

Jack Wood Sears

Sears, who has been associated with Harding University since the beginning of the school in 1924, was named the 1985 Distinguished Alumnus.

GRADUATING CLASS — The Lambda Mu class of the Harding School of Biblical Studies

ecutive officer of W.R. Grace and Co. since 1945.

The President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control, popularly known as the Grace Commission after its chairman J. Peter Grace, was given the task in June 1982 to find ways the federal government could cut spending without raising taxes or adversely affecting social programs.

After 18 months of study, the commission presented President Reagan with 2,478 recommendations which, over three years, could save $424 billion. The proposals were contained in a two-volume summary which was gleaned from 47 separate reports and supported by 1.5 million pages of documentation.

Subsequently, Grace has pressed the issue of cutting government waste in several ways.

Under Grace's leadership W.R. Grace and Co. has changed from a Latin American and steamship line heritage into an international company with world wide interests in chemicals, natural resources and selected consumer services. Today the company operates 268 plants, 245 offices, 446 sales units, 131 warehouses, 693 retail outlets and 857 restaurants in 47 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, and 45 countries of North and South America, Europe, Africa. Asia and Australia.

Grace graduated from Yale University. For several years he has been speaking to various business and education groups about the need to reduce federal government spending and waste. President Reagan appointed him as Chairman of the Private Sector Survey on Cost Control in the Federal Government in March 1982. He is also a member of President Reagan's National Productivity Advisory Committee.

Stevens will speak Dec. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the American Heritage Auditorium. He was introduced to electronics while attending the U.S. Navy Electronics School in San Francisco, Calif. After leaving the Navy, he attended City College of San Francisco where he studied electrical engineering. He was employed by Stanford Research Institute as a research associate in the Computer Techniques Laboratory where he was involved in early computer research.

Stevens joined a start-up company, Data Disc, and over the next eight years rose from engineer to president of the company. He then organized Triad Systems Corporation in 1971 where he has served as chairman to date.

Triad Systems Corporation is a computer company that employs approximately 1,400 and has 150 offices in the United States, Canada, Great Britain and Australia. Triad is head-quartered in Sunnyvale, Calif.

Stevens is a member of Pepperdine Board of Regents and a board member of Anderson Jacobson Inc., Covalent Systems Inc., and Silvar-Lisco Inc.

The American Studies Program also includes Youth Citizenship Seminars and Management Seminars. Harding's program has been honored by the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa., for contributing special programs and quality lectures to the community of Searcy and the students of Harding University.

For more information about the American Studies Lecture Series contact Dr. David Burks, School of Business, Box 774, Searcy, Ark. 72143 or call (501) 268-6161, ext. 240.

Henderson Named Associate Dean Of Harding School of Business

Dr. Jim Henderson has been named Associate Dean of the School of Business at Harding.

The appointment, announced by Dean of the School of Business David Burks, is effective immediately.

"Dr. Henderson is extremely knowledgeable in the business discipline, has demonstrated leadership, the ability to perform at a high level and has consistently been one of our highest rated teachers in the classroom," Dr. Burks said.

A 1971 alumnus, Henderson joined the Harding faculty in May, 1978 as an assistant professor of business and economics. He earned his master's degree from Memphis State University in 1976 and the doctor's degree in accounting from Texas A & M University in 1979. He is a certified public accountant.

The 34-year-old native of Memphis has served since 1983 as assistant dean of the School of Business and director of the master's program in accounting.

Henderson's appointment concluded a monthlong search and interview period. Extensive interviews have been conducted with all members of the business faculty, the deans and vice presidents of the University before the selection was made, Dr. Burks said.

"Of course I feel this is a great honor," Dr. Henderson said. "I came to Harding because I wanted to work with students. The School of Business has made great progress in recent years and I want to see us continue to grow and excel."

Dr. Burks, who will become president of Harding in May 1987, said Henderson also will serve as director of the accounting program as well as associate dean for the academic year 1986-87. In May 1987 he will assume the role and responsibility of dean of the School of Business.

Henderson is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force, serving from 1971 to 1974. He is married to the former Rennie Willis of Pasadena, Texas and the couple has four children, Beth, Matthew, Julia and Aaron. He is a member of the College Church of Christ and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Henderson of Searcy.

FACULTYFILE

Terry Edwards

Terry Edwards — Field Director, Harding University in Florence, Italy. B.A. (1980) Harding University; M.A. Butler University.

By Dennis Organ Professor of English

There's a faculty member who has made it to campus only a day or two in the last 18 months. Most of his colleagues wouldn't recognize him if he walked into their offices.

Yet he teaches full time, manages a dormitory and food service for 35 students and is on call 24 hours a day. And the few colleagues who know him well could pick out him and his battered blue van in the busiest rush-hour traffic.

He is Terry Edwards, who is completing his second year as field director at Harding University in Florence, Italy. To the students and Searcy faculty families who have enjoyed his hospitality, he is fondly remembered as translator, tour guide, stimulating teacher and tireless friend who gives new meaning to the term "Christian servant."

Bearded and rail-thin, he has the zeal and energy of an Old Testament prophet or maybe John the Baptist, but also the quiet voice of a humble contemplative.

Edwards, 30, was a perfect choice when someone was needed to live year-round in Florence so that the Italian-speaking Searcy faculty, Dr. Don Shackelford — the director — and L. V. Pfeifer, would not have to be in the faculty rotation each year.

The son of missionaries to Italy, he had spent his teen years in Florence, learning to speak the language fluently. After having earned a Harding degree in music education in 1980, he had taught at Indianapolis Christian School and completed a master's degree in music at Butler University. He has also worked toward a degree in Biblical languages.

When the call from Florence came, he says, he jumped at the chance to return to the country he loves. With his wife, the former Kim Klein, and three young children — Katie, Brandon and Jon-Michael — he moved to Florence and oversaw the preparation of the sixteenth-century villa for the program to move there in the fall of 1984. Last November a second daughter, Chelsea, was born.

When HUF is in session, Edwards teaches Italian and The Life of Paul, required courses for all students, and gladly will present units on music history in the required humanities class. But that only begins his duties: he manages the villa staff of three, does most household repairs, buys groceries, sometimes shuttles riders to the bus stop, cashes checks, pays bills, delivers photographic orders, translates for Italian doctors when medical needs arise and answers countless questions from his American guests.

When a rare spare moment arrives, he'll often pull out his guitar and improvise a John Denver tune or whatever requests come from the students who gather around.

"I'm here to serve you and help you enjoy your time in Italy," he tells each group when they arrive. It's not a message he needs to repeat, for his actions speak it every day. Ask anyone who has been to Florence.

Alumni and Friends to Tour New England Sept. 22-Oct. 3

A Harding University Alumni and Friends Tour to New England will take place Sept. 22-Oct. 3, according to Dr. Jimmy Carr,

Two buses will make the tour hosted by the Carrs and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Berry. It will originate in Searcy and the first night's stay will be in Effingham, Ill.

The group will tour Indianapolis, Ind., with lodging in St. Clairsville, Ohio and will visit Niagara Falls on the third day. After viewing the American and Canadian Falls from the Minolta Tower, the group will spend a night in Niagara Falls, Canada.

Traveling the New York State Thruway to Syracuse, the tour will arrive at Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence Seaway at the Eastern end of Lake Ontario and will cruise through the islands. The group will drive through the Adirondack Mountains, stopping in Lake Placid, the site of the 500 million year old Ausable Chasm.

A circle tour of the Green Mountains will include stops at the 150-year-old covered bridge at Waitsfield, the state capitol at Montpelier and other historic sites.

The tour will continue across the Connecticut River into New Hampshire to the White Mountains and Franconia Notch including an aerial tramway ride to Cannon Mountain. After a trip to the "Old Man of the Mountain" phenomenon at Profile Lake, the night's lodging will be in Littleton, N.H.

In Boston, the group will visit places such as the Boston Common, USS Constitution, Old North Church, Beacon Hill and Back Bay before stopping for the night.

A drive through Rhode Island and Connecticut will end in New York City, where free time will be a part of the fare. The next day a sightseeing tour of Times Square, the United Nations Building, the Statue of Liberty and other significant points of interest will be made.

The return route will travel through West Virginia, with the final night at Bardstown, Ky., the site of Stephen Foster's "Old Kentucky

After travel through "Music City, USA" Nashville, Tenn., the group will return to Carr said the 11-day tour will be limited to approximately 80 persons and will cost $895. Further information may be obtained through World Travel Agency of Searcy (501) 268-4291 or from the University (501) 268-6161, ext. 462.

Alumni and Friends tours have previously traveled to New England, Europe and Alaska. They have visited Europe twice and made the first trip to New England last year.

Foy O'Neal

Admissions Office Announce Changes White Promoted; O'Neal Added

Durward McGaha, director of admissions, has announced the promotion of Jim White from admissions advisor to assistant director of admissions and Foy O'Neal will be added to the admissions staff as an advisor.

"Jim has been here only a short period of time, but his past experience as Director of Admissions at Ohio Valley College and his good work here justifies the promotion," said

His duties will be expanded to include coordinator of the Christian Academy invitational basketball tournament in December. He will also be the coordinator of one of the major Bible bowls which will be held on the campus during the spring semester of 1987.

Jim is married to the former Martha Hart and they have one daughter, Meredith.

O'Neal, whose appointment will be effective Aug. 1, will be responsible for student recruitment in the east and southeastern states. He will work with young people in churches and high schools, giving special attention to Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida, according to McGaha.

"With Foy's experience in preaching and working with young people in the churches and with his successful background in business, he will be a valuable asset to our program," said McGaha. "We are very pleased to have him as a member of our staff."

O'Neal has served as a minister and missionary for the Churches of Christ in Kansas and Oklahoma and has worked as a general real estate appraiser, a real estate broker and as an insurance agent.

He attended Oklahoma Christian College in Oklahoma City and graduated from Harding in 1967 with a bachelor of arts degree. He is a member of the President's Development Council at Harding; National Association of Realtors and Oklahoma Association of Realtors.

O'Neal is married to the former Lois Ann Reiboldt and they have two children, Tim, 15, and Kristi, 13.

Students Place In National Business Competition

Four University students scored in the top ten in the Phi Beta Lambda National Collegiate Business Competition at the Washington Hilton Hotel and Convention Center in Washington, D.C., recently, according to Dr. Don Diffine, faculty sponsor.

James McCreary of Brentwood, Tenn., placed fourth in Accounting II; John Loe of DeKalb Texas placed fourth in Business Law; Kathy Sanburg of Grand Junction, Colo., and Michael Andersen of Coeur d Alene, Idaho, placed third in Parliamentarian Procedures. This is the highest national rank ever for a Parlimentary Procedures Team.

Tahkodah Music Camp

Harding will hold its 25th, Silver Anniversary, Tahkodah Music Camp Aug. 15-22. Special T-shirts have been designed to remember the anniversary.

Anyone may order T-shirts which cost $5.50 each. Sizes run small, medium, large and extra-large and Oct. 1 is the deadline to order. T-shirt orders may be mailed to Department of Music, Tahkodah Music Camp, Box 772, Harding University, Searcy, Ark. 72143, or called in to (501) 268-6161, ext. 343. The T-shirts may then be picked up during Homecoming weekend Nov. 7-8 or to have the order mailed, $2 should be added to the cost for each shirt ordered.

Dr. George Baggett, professor of music and Dr. Kenneth Davis, Jr., professor of music, began the camp with 26 people in the summer of 1962. Dr. Clifton Ganus III, professor of music, was a freshman and among the first group to attend the camp.

Also, to celebrate the silver anniversary, a program of choral and band selections will be presented at 8 p.m. on the final night of the camp.

Each one of the students was a first place winner in the Arkansas State Phi Beta Lambda competition, to qualify for the Nationals.

Entrepreneur T. Boone Pickens was the keynote speaker at the convention. There were approximately 25 competitors from 25 different states in each area of expertise. Seventy-five percent of Harding's competitors have made it to the top ten at the National Competitions since Harding started competing in Phi Beta Lambda in 1983.

"To my knowledge, it is quite rare that one university would have this kind of success, percentage-wise, in national competition," Diffine said.

The college level equivalent to Future Business Leaders of America, the Phi Beta Lambda organization seeks to create more interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations, encourage members in the development of individual projects and in establishing themselves in business, participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of business and community, and develop character, train for useful citizenship, and foster patriotism. Regional and national competitions involve students in 25 different business subjects.

"Our Phi Beta Lambda members are strengthening their confidence in themselves and in their work, while developing competent, assertive business leadership skills," said Diffine. "They are growing professionally toward successful careers as Christian business people."

Harris Named Visiting Professor of Sales

Bill Harris of Searcy, Ark., has been named the Del Belden Visiting Professor of Sales for the Harding University School of Business for the 1986-87 school year.

The appointment will be effective for the fall term, according to Dr. David Burks, dean of the School of Business.

The visiting professorship is funded by Del Belden, past president and chairman of the board of Lomanco, Inc., of Jacksonville, Ark. Belden is also funding a five-year program for marketing majors with a special interest in the Harris is a general agent for Southland Life Insurance Company. He is chairman of the President's Development Council at Harding and has served as a regional chairman for the council. Harris Meadows. All four attended Harding. Harris is an elder of the College Church of Christ in Searcy.

"Harding is very fortunate to have Bill Harris filling the position of visiting professor of sales this year," said Burks. "His practical experience and training will be important pluses for our students."

A program emphasizing the sales area is sponsored by the Belden funding. Specific activities include a teleconferencing system in the J.E. and L.E. Mabee Business Center, a sales seminar during the fall semester and a Belden Video Library in Sales. Additionally, an annual recognition, the Belden Outstanding Sales-Marketing Student Award, is presented to a student majoring in marketing with an interest in

The establishment of the Visiting Professorship in Sales continues the involvement of Belden in the Harding Program. He previously had provided support for the Clark David Belden Center for Private Enterprise Education which was established in 1976 as part of the School of Business.

UPLIFT — Buddy Bell speaks to approximately 250 young people attending the UPLIFT Bible camp.

UPLIFT Camp Experiences Success

Harding's second UPLIFT Bible camp is getting high praise from Alan Isom, UPLIFT director, based on evaluations of attendance figures and responses and remarks made by campers and youth leaders.

"The evaluations given by visiting youth ministers again said UPLIFT was one of the best campus-based camps they had ever been to," Isom said.

"Many of the youth ministers and the campers," explained Isom, "said they were already planning to come next year and that they expected we could nearly double our attendance."

The number of full-time campers was up 20 percent this year for the week-long camp, Isom indicated. Five hundred campers registered and stayed at Harding the week of June 22-27.

During the week, as campers were challenged to grow in the image of Christ, 66 young people responded to invitations to commit their lives to God. Six were baptized and the others asked for prayers

Already plans are well underway for the third UPLIFT in 1987, which will take place June 21-26. According to Isom, the 1987 UPLIFT will start off in a special way when the group "A Cappella," from Paris, Tenn., performs on Sunday night, June 21.

Fashion Study Tour Sponsored to New York

Eighteen Harding students and friends participated in a New York Fashion Tour, May 28-June 4, according to Lolita Higginbotham, assistant professor of home economics.

Sponsored by the University's Department of Home Economics, the group visited a session with a leading television model, Here and There Colorful Casting, Liz Claiborne Accessories, Beldoch Potter sweater manufacturer's showroom, Mondi European manufacturer's showroom, Jean Charles Brosseau showroom, Metropolitan Museum of Art, office of Mohair Council, and a seminar by an editor of Fashion Industry Magazine at Fairchild Publications.

The highlight of the trip was a visit to the Design and Costume Library at the Fashion Institute of Technology.

The group composed of students majoring in fashion merchandising, marketing or a related area and other interested persons also attended a Broadway play, rode a ferry by the Statue of Liberty and visited the World Trade Center.

Harding students making the trip were Phyllis McFall of Memphis, Tenn.; Lisa Stuck and Rita Glenn of Strafford, Mo.; Charmaine Stacy of Cave Springs, Ark.; Beth Davis of Searcy; Nancy Juday of Kalamazoo. Mich.; and Paula Maple of Ulysses, Kan.

Others on the tour were Kerry Hickman, Becky Boaz and Sherry Davis of Searcy; Mary Harlan and Angela Balch of Conway, Ark.; Avis Cotton of Dardanelle, Ark.; Marilynn Maple of Ulysses, Kan.; Scarlett Stephens of New Boston, Texas; Laura Davis of Fairfield Bay, Ark.; and Sonja McCauley of Little Rock, Ark.

Second Annual Sales Seminar To Feature Motivational Speaker

Nationally known speaker Ty Boyd will be the featured speaker for the Harding Sales Seminar Thursday, Sept. 11. The seminar will take place in the American Heritage Auditorium at 7:45 p.m.

Boyd is chairman of Boyd, Kellen, Thomas, and Cruse Marketing and Advertising, Inc., and president of Ty Boyd Enterprises, Inc. He is the host of the television syndicated DAWN show which features motivational speakers and entrepreneurs.

He also conducts the Executive Speaker Institute, a three-day intensive seminar held each month for key executives; is the creator of the learning system "The Skill Builder" series and is a contributing editor for QUOTE magazine.

Boyd has served as president of the National Speakers Association and has received the CPAE award for platform experience and the Canett Award from the National Speakers Association.

The Sales Seminar was originated for Harding's marketing students and business leaders who want to expand and sharpen their sales skills.

The seminar is sponsored by the School of Business at Harding and is funded by a grant from Del Belden, immediate past president of

Ty Boyd

Lomanco, Inc. of Jacksonville.

Benson Continues To Plan For The Future

By Tim Bruner

"We need to continue planning for the future" is probably not the most often used statement among typical octagenarians.

Then again, Dr. George S. Benson, Harding's president emeritus and longest serving member of the Board of Trustees, is not your typical octagenarian.

In fact, Dr. Benson, who will be 88 in September, continues to devote considerable time each day to analyzing current events and the impact today's happenings will have on the world of education tomorrow.

"As a Board, we're concerned with and convinced of the need for quality Christian higher education in light of everything that is happening in the world today," he said. "But our concern is overshadowed by our excitement of the preparation of leadership at Harding University and how that leadership has continued to rise to meet constantly changing challenges."

In June Dr. Benson marked the 50th anniversary of his election as a Trustee. Nearly 30 of those years he spent doubling as president of the institution. Since then he has continued to serve on Board committees for development, the Graduate School, building and grounds, audit and special recognition.

After investing a lifetime of leadership and service to the institution, Dr. Benson described the present as being "an exciting time to be around Harding University."

Dr. George Benson and Louis Green Spring 1986 Board of Trustees Meeting

"We've got another outstanding Christian leader (Dr. David Burks) to succeed Dr. (Clifton L.) Ganus when he retires next spring," Dr. Benson explained. "The school is on sound financial footing, and the administration is concentrating its efforts on the school's greatest need by solidifying the endowment . . . all of which makes Harding an excellent cause in which to invest children and support at whatever level possible."

Looking ahead has always been a theme phrase for Dr. Benson as well as an attitude behind his lifestyle. In fact, he continues a busy pace of traveling, speaking, consulting and writing in conjunction with his work as president of the National Education Program. He still writes a weekly column, syndicated to 2,000-plus newspapers, appropriately titled, "Looking Ahead."

"When I think how busy we were back in the '30s and '40s, just trying to get the school on an even keel financially," he recalled, "it's nice to see how far we've come and to know that the sacrificies of a large number of generous and kind-hearted individuals did not go in vain.

"Since those early days when we concentrated on stabilization and the initial stages of campus growth," he continued, "Dr. Ganus has led us through a period of continued campus growth to where we have what I think is just an excellent physical plant."

Now, according to Dr. Benson, the new president will be faced with the challenge of meeting changing educational demands.

"Harding will always have an institutional thrust for continued academic improvement," Dr. Benson noted. "It's a concept of heritage, an attitude that has been passed through the years from each generation of administration, faculty and staff to the next. And this transaction is no different.

"It will be his challenge to keep looking ahead, anticipating how to best prepare our graduates for the technological changes in the professional world while continuing to provide the solid foundation of a spiritual emphasis. We're confident, as a Board, that he can do that, because he's a good planner."

So, a quick overview of Harding from Dr. Benson's perspective is fairly simple: Established plant, wise leadership, broad support, eternal mission. What next, you ask?

"Let's keep on planning."

Harding Still The Same After All These Years

By Tim Bruner

Harding students are not all that different from the students who went here 35 to 40 years ago, according to Trustee John Baldwin, an alumnus who is familiar with both eras.

Baldwin, who graduated in 1948, chairs the Student Life Committee of the Board of Trustees and subsequently holds confidential discussions with several students each semester.

"Many of their concerns are the same issues we as students raised when I was here," the Holyoke, Colo., automobile dealer said. "And the big three topics are still hours, holidays and cafeteria food."

Baldwin and his fellow committee members visit campus at least once a semester to meet with student leaders. The sessions are "wide open," Baldwin said.

"They tell us whatever they want to," he explained. "No one prompts them. They speak for themselves and their classmates. As a result, we feel pretty confident that we are staying in touch with what's happening on campus. And the students know they will be heard."

Baldwin cites his committee work as a positive factor in developing his approach to his role as a Trustee.

"If I weren't on this committee, I'd be like everyone else who leaves school and forgets about the campus issues," he said. "Mostly, these discussions with current students stir my own memory about my days here.

"Perhaps most importantly, though, it has helped keep my attention focused on the fact that our students are the most important part of this campus, and it's vital that we stay in touch with their feelings."

A Board member since 1964, Baldwin also serves on committees for academic affairs, special recognition and audit. Only three members of the current Board have served longer than Baldwin — Dr. George S. Benson of Searcy, Louis Green of Newark, Del. and Jim Bill McInteer of Nashville, Tenn.

Baldwin traces his Harding ties back to his parents, who attended Harding's collegiate forerunner, Cordell Christian College, at Cordell. Okla.

"My entire family has been a Harding family ever since," he noted.

Baldwin met his wife, Gladys (O'Neal), at Harding, and the couple's two sons, John of Denver and Tom of Boise, Idaho, are both alumni as well. In addition, Baldwin's brothers and their children have attended Harding.

"It's especially satisfying to have mutual college-age experiences in our family," Baldwin said. "It's another unifying factor among us. We can talk about campus locations, faculty personalities and, yes, even similar student-inspired pranks we might have participated in."

Staying close to young people is a quality that seems to follow Baldwin. In the Holyoke congregation's most recent July Vacation Bible School, Baldwin could be found serving cookies and pouring punch for the long line of children. Also, he has helped point a large number of Rocky Mountain area students toward Searcy, Ark.

"My parents grew spiritually as a result of Christian education. My wife and I matured as Christians from our Harding experience. Our sons studied with the same Harding emphasis on spiritual growth. Hopefully, our grandchildren will too. Because of these experiences and hopes, I have come to fully appreciate every aspect of Harding."

Even the hours, holidays and cafeteria food.

Bison Gridders Open Drills Aug. 18; Key Veterans Return

High hopes and a brilliant 5-0 start went down the tube last fall as the Harding Bisons fell victim to key injuries and the "near miss" syndrome to finish 5-5.

Uppermost on the mind of coach John Prock will be the return to form of top running back Glenn Segars. Loss of Segars to a knee injury coincided with the turnaround of Harding's 1985 fortunes.

Key returnees among the six offensive starters will include quarterback Mannie Lowery of Little Rock and running back Daron Cathey of Coldwater, Miss. Lowery amassed 1,081 yards of total offense as the chief engineer of the Bisons' return to the wishbone offense. Cathey, a super-quick 5-10, 162 lb. athlete, picked up the rushing load when Segars was hurt and gained 465 yards. He was an all-the-way threat as a receiver as well, pulling in 10 passes for 343 yards.

Junior-to-be Jack Moore, an Academic All-American at split end, is a talent to be watched. The Huntsville, Ala. native, came up with a half dozen "miracle" type catches among his 16 receptions for 208 yards, including three for TD's.

Up front offensively only co-captain John Collins, a competitive 5-11, 235 lb. guard from Uniontown, Ohio, returns with solid experience. Junior college transfer Tim Spencer, 6-3, 215 lbs. from Alexandria, Ind., is expected to improve the tight end situation but sophomores with limited playing time are found in the other spots, tackle to tackle.

Defensively, the loss of NAIA All-America honorable mention noseguard Fanasial "Dump" Quinn will hurt. Little Rock junior Kenneth Forte, a 6-0, 240 lb. starter at tackle last year, was moved to noseguard in spring drills and did an impressive job. Starter Kevin Hunt, 6-0, 225 lbs., of Denison, Texas, returns at left tackle and co-captain John Fox, 5-10, 195 lbs., of Searcy returns at one defensive end position.

Mannie Lowery

At linebacker Steve Dudley, a 6-1, 210 lb. fireeater returns on the right side and ranks as one of the finest in the area. He is an all-conference talent and should be one of the senior leaders for the Bisons.

Harding returns its most experienced group in the secondary where junior Mickey Adkison, 5-10, 176 lbs., of Tulsa, Chris East 5-8, 152 lbs., of St. Petersburg, Fla., and co-captain Chris

Glenn Segars

McDavid, 5-10, 195 lbs. of Dallas return.

Adkison at free safety is a big play type who has the knack of being in the right place at the right time. A daring and resourceful punt returner, he has All-America possibilities. East at right cornerback gets a lot of mileage out of his speed and quickness and McDavid is the solid, dependable tackler you just can't do without.

The Bisons' kicking game will return intact. Stu Varner, a 5-11, 170 lb. junior-to-be from Marietta, Ohio, booted three field goals last season to become a solid offensive threat. Punter Paul Golden, whose slender 6-1, 150 lb. frame belies his kicking power, returns for his senior year. He carried a 36.7 yard average last fall. He is a senior from Caddo Gap, Ark.

A fruitful recruiting season could have a significant effect on 1986 possibilities. A number of big, talented offensive linemen are signed as well as at least a couple of junior college athletes who are counted on to step in and produce.

Prock's move to the wishbone last fall was not a disappointment as an exciting and explosive offense was the result. With a year of the "new" system under their belts, the Bisons could easily surprise some unsuspecting opponents.

Cross Country Prospects Appear Exceptional

A high degree of optimism is apparent in the forecast by Harding coach Ted Lloyd for the fall cross country season.

"A good looking bunch of newcomers gives our men opportunity for a l6th consecutive trip to the NAIA nationals, and the women's team could perhaps be the best we've had," Lloyd said.

Three all-district performers will headline the men's contingent, which won the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and NAIA District 17 titles last year. Harding finished 14th in the national championship in Kenosha, Wis.

Seniors Darryl Halbert of Lakewood, Colo. and Eddie Neal of Griffithville, Ark., will team with junior Jon Partlow of Portland, Ore., to give the Bisons a solid nucleus to build on. An experienced letterman counted on to contend for the top will be Richard Lockhart of Grand Blanc. Mich.

Among the newcomers Lloyd is excited about are two state champions from Missouri. Jon Murray of Carthage, Mo. was the class 3A champion and John Hatley of West Plains, Mo., was the class 4A champ. Eric Van Matre of Rolla, Mo., a transfer from the University of Kentucky, is expected to be a top performer.

For Lloyd's Lady Bisons, two all-district honorees are among the five returning veterans. They are Beverly Gardner, a junior from Fort Worth, Texas and Teresa Durham, a sophomore from Bakersfield, Mo.

Other returning letter winners are Leigh Bassett of West Plains, Mo., Joan Cigrang of Westminster, Md., Ruth Meecham of Warren, Mich., and Linda Pryor of New Philadelphia, Ohio

The Lady Bisons will count on a trio of newcomers to make a solid run for conference honors. They are freshman MeLynda Davis of Gresham, Ore., a transfer from Abilene Christian, Cheryl Bednaski of Shelter Island, N.Y. and Jody Murray of Carthage, Mo. Murray was a member of the Lady Bisons track team last spring after transferring from Abilene Christian.

Lady Bisons Open Fourth Season With Optimistic Outlook

Despite the loss of three starters, the Harding Lady Bisons volleyball team has the chance to field an even stronger lineup this year, according to head coach Karyl Bailey.

"Our program is still getting off the ground and every year we're making good progress," he said. "Our returning players are more experienced and our recruits are stronger with good high school backgrounds."

Two seniors headline the seven returning letter winners. Beth Shanklin, a three-year starter from Montgomery, Ala., will give solid leadership as a setter and Sherri Clements, a starter last year after transferring from Northeastern Christian, is a strong middle hitter and blocker. She is from Landover, Md.

Five talented sophomores make up the core of the Lady Bisons. They are Onetta Gardner, a hitter from Andover, Kan., Sheryl Green, a hitter and blocker from Brentwood, Tenn., Tracy Hinton, hitter from Jonesboro, Ark., Stephanie McAfee, a hitter from Missoula, Mont., and Laura Shifflet, a hitter from Newberry, Mich.

In addition to the regular Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference competition, the Lady Bisons will compete in tournaments at Arkansas State University, Christian Brothers College (Tenn.) and Ouachita Baptist University.

Last season, the Lady Bisons compiled a 13-21 team record and earned their first borth in the NAIA District 17 Playoff.

"This is only our fourth year of competition but our program is definitely moving up," Bailey said.

Three Tracksters Named Academic All-America

Academic All-America honors have been won by a trio of Harding track athletes.

Earning national recognition from the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) were Dawn Mason, Doug Ogburn and Ed van der Kaaij.

In addition, van der Kaaij was named to the College Division Academic All-America Second Team selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA).

"We're proud of these young people and the achievements they've made, on and off the field," Bison track coach Ted Lloyd said.

Mason was recognized with the Outstanding

Senior Woman Athlete Award after completing a three-sport career for the Lady Bisons. A native of Tabernacle, N.J. she lettered in softball and track. In track she set a conference record of 1:05.93 in the 400 meter intermediate hurdles and won the 100 meter hurdles in 15.53.

A physical education major, she compiled a 3.73 grade point average

Ogburn, a four year letterman in track, was the 1985 Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference shot put champion with a throw of 155-103/4. He also was selected as an NAIA Academic All-American in 1985. Ogburn was an All-AIC honoree in 1985 and 1986.

A native of Warren, Mich., he recorded a 3.32 grade point average as a marketing major.

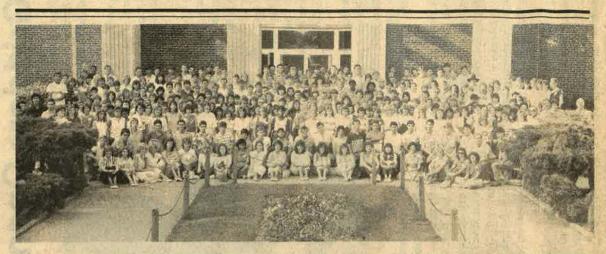

Also earning NAIA Academic All-America honors for the second year in a row, van der Kaaij rounded out a highly successful career for the Bisons. Graduating with a 3.89 grade point average in computer science, he is only the fourth Harding athlete ever to gain recognition on the CoSIDA national team.

A standout pole vaulter, van der Kaaij had a career best of 16-6. He was a three-time NAIA All-America performer, placing in the NAIA national outdoor meet two times and the NAIA indoor championships once.
