Pep Is Shown By All in Meeting

Gibson and Paine, Cheer Leaders, Back Drive

Harding Collins, owing in full since once more. Oh, November, Tuesday, November 8, 1932, when the basketball ticket-selling campaign was opened. With enthusiasm and affection shown by the student body, the expectations of the Fane, business, and Harding athletic teams, the Pep Club basketball team, and Professor J. C. Andrews, it started in that office.

It is a common thing to hear that the team is going to lose. Perhaps it did not matter, why. Those who "had forgotten their expectations" of the basketball team, and the cheer leaders, and the boy spent some time in the office.

Besides being a class leader he was a member of the Freed-Hardeman Club, and his name is shown by the Student Body. The club had never been to the mountains, and spent lots of time getting by without trying to see what they could do for their reason and this reason alone.

However, there are other reasons. So let's hope that next year the trustee means are being taken to secure the best for the trustees.

The ticket is good for ten games. In addition, there will be several games which will be included in this ticket, making each game one of those included.

The statewide championship this year is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord.

The true Thanksgiving treasure is to be found in the fact that we can sell his whiskey cheaper, hence there is a ripple effect which can sell his whiskey, cheaper, hence the demand is increased. The demand can be increased.

HONOR WITHOUT RESPONSIBILITY

In every phase of life there are people who will accept positions of honor without accepting the burden of the responsibilities. The office of the various classes and clubs are honored by having the best students elected to those positions. Their followers expect them to recognize their responsibility and discharge their duties to the utmost of their ability. Shall these officers betray this honor and confidence or shall they strive to live up to the expectations of their supporters?

We who accept positions in our press or on the staff of the paper also accept the responsibility of the positions. We obligate ourselves to the school, the paper and to ourselves. Shakespeare said, "First of all, be true; that some, while all the rest are false."

Let us strive to live up to the expectations of the faculty and of those who believe in and support us. It is true to say that a paper is only as good as its writers. There have been many times when I have felt that I was doing a good job, but the only way I could be sure was to have my work checked by others.

BARF FENCE

By Frank Rhodes

We have applied to the editor for permission to carry a column of letters from students who don't like to see the truth. It is called "Oh, my dear!"

Who gets the coveted honor of opening the scandal sheet this week? This week we shall have a letter to the editor from Brother George. It seems that Brother George was a witness of the events that occurred on Brother Owen's speech on the American Constitution. Brother George evidently fortified himself for this duty as he attended the following meeting Monday.

After the afternoon speech Court-

Theodore wanted to know when Brother Owen had seen him studying

According to Owen's analogy, there seems to be a lot of oil in the world. It is evident that Brother Theodore got the oil after he attended the meeting on the American Constitution.

Great minds run in the same channel. Modern Harding and Jimmies are a little more clear than last week. They question to questions in history class.

There is a story that Ralph Royster Dayter was appointed in the background of our history professor.

Everyone loves a lover—except the one who is waiting to use the telephone.

Little Rock Junior College opens its cage to the world with five of the regular squad of last year.

At Fordham University it appears that the faculty are appointed by name. Father Flaherty is dean of the student affairs and the faculty are appointed by name. Father Flaherty is dean of the student affairs and the faculty are appointed by name.

The history of the United States is a history of booms and depressions. But, peculiar as it may seem, people act and talk as though our present crass is the only one of its kind in the history of the world.

Some more mature mind has said: "Col. Cabbage Training is not a royal road to romance."

Patent medicine ads are so attractive that on the Harding campus.

As students from the Texas College of Mines and the University of Texas have been circulating "No Date Club" the membership of which is constantly changing.

That's an idea.

"A" students at St. Thomas College may take out an insurance policy against being called upon in class for 25 cents. If he be called upon he may collect five dollars.

Some people are always in the public eye, but so is dust.

It is peculiar how students can become so enthusiastic over a class tournament that, as Mark Twain said, "It is quite possible that I am as interested in the very same enthusiasm for varsity games.

There is no doubt now about the importance of extra-curricular activities for success in after life.

GREEN SYMPOPHY

O, how slow the minutes fly,
Will they never pass on by?
I look again at my watch,
And the class is in their best.

Gee, that lesson sure is dull,
All the class is in a ball;
Nothing seems to interest me,
I am dozing in my class.

I feel very tough right now,
Waiting for the sound of chow.
Ah, now I'm feeling very well,
For I hear the dinner bell.

FAVORITISM

The most important thing that wrote a finale to the old absolute monarchies of Europe was their favoritism. They appointed persons to hold positions that were to honor them and to guard the way of the person who happened to be his favorite. This was pushed out of control and finally the people came to hate the upper hand.

Dear Miss Mix:

I am desperately in love with a V. B. by name, but I am unable to express my love to him, because a red-headed Texas (G. P.) is always hanging around.

Can you help me—won't you?

Could you also help me with some of these things?

Dear R. L.:

Dear Martha:

I am an old-fashioned person, a position that threatens to become famous.

Brieftly I am...

From G. D. Mc., and when that happens...

Do you know any old-fashioned person who is a real friend.

I really am not sure what the matter is with this girl.

Can you suggest a way out of this predicament?

Dear R. W.:

Our situation is desperate. It is common knowledge that moths are attracted to flames. I suggest you dye the cuffs black, while he is asleep, to make a letter to the editor about the "critter."

I am really a great friend.

FRESHMEN IN WIN OVER JUNIORS 33 - 35

Championship Won By Freshmen

In Overtime Game

The Freshmen won the class championship from the Juniors by a score of 32 to 18 Saturday night after a record-breaking crowd in one of the finest basketball games of the year. The Juniors played a good game but were hampered, to some extent, by the absence of Toby McReynolds, who was out due to an accident a few days ago; however, he was all right in a few days.

The Juniors started the scoring, but the Freshmen soon followed suit and the game was nip and tuck the entire time. The Juniors finally took the lead over the Freshmen, but the latter scored seven points in the first half of the second half the Freshmen had scored thirteen points to the Junior's able to tie the score; the time limit had to be extended five minutes. The Juniors opened the extra period by scoring a field goal but the Freshmen followed suit. Again the Juniors scored a field goal but the Freshmen kept them from scoring any more while they were scoring two more points to take the championship. Kingley, high point man for the Juniors, scoring eleven points, and was closely followed by Bell, who scored ten. Herffington was high scorer for the Freshmen, scoring eleven points to tie Kingley and the point man of both teams.

Both teams showed a lot of pep and enthusiasm and were in there fighting all of the time. Pep squads were not to be stopped, how­ ever. They furnished much encouragement to both teams. At the end of the first half the Sophomores were leading by a score of 15 to 13, and they continued to score in the second half, piling up several points before they could be stopped. The Sophomores were in there fighting all of the time and put up some stiff competition.

Kingley, high point man for the Juniors, scored eleven points, and he too was hitting the basket from every angle. The game was fast throughout and much rivalry and enthusiasm was shown by both teams. It would be hard to pick the star player as that choice will be left to your own judgment. A large crowd witnessed the contest and enjoyed it very much. If one may judge by the excitement of the students, the win was well earned.

Sixteen Candidates Out

For Vanity Basketball

Sixteen men reported to Coach Ervin Berryhill for the first ball from last year's team and under his leadership the team should be greatly strengthened.

The squad goes to Nashville, Tenn., to play David Lipscomb College this Saturday night. Let's cheer them on to victory.

The Celts, a miscellaneous group of players, beat the academy by a score of 16 to 32 in a preliminary game Saturday night. The Celts were composed of players from different classes and one ex-student and basketball star—Sidney Merrick.

The game was rather slow coming into action but was enjoyed by all.

Why Did You Change Your College?" Course?

Did you ever stop to think why so many Harding College students change their academic course and thus alter their lives in more ways than one? It is quite interesting to note the outcome of life that results in such actions after such a change.

Some students change courses of study because of a conflict in classes, others change their place of residence, and yet others change because of—well, to be frank, too many reasons. Speaking of changes reminds me of a certain "tough guy on the Harding campus now who once claimed of being a surgeon but now is planning to drift until further circumstances arise. To hear him tell the story one might think that the change resulted from a sudden realization that the study of medicine was too long a journey to take. "But, being a close observer of the character and habits of a good friend of the person in question, I am rather inclined to believe that the 37 pounds of '3 feet 2 eyes are blue' balance the scale in favor of a—well, a more general curiosity.

But did you know that the young gentleman involved just happened to be plied in the same manner by someone else he knew real well? That's strange, isn't it?
Funny But It's True

Cleo Lyce said Mrs. Owen's speech came too late for his benefit. From the look of the reception room, it was rather timely.

The Home Economics Club has met twice since the last Bison was published. The first time was in day Goodwin's room for a business meeting. On November 12 the club met in the Home Economics lab where Miss Malie Jones has her high school class demonstrate it. Mrs. Jones is very interesting much the same as her high school class. After the demonstration, the members of the club decided as to the next meeting. Ways of improving the home have been discussed, and plans are under way.

Dean L. C. Sears and Mrs. J. N. Armstrong attended a meeting of the Arkansas Little Theatre Association at Little Rock.

Make a Go of Anything

It has been said, "where there is a will, there is a way," and Elizabeth Harding has found it to make money even in this depression.

All the students remember "Let" as a vivaciously, friendly girl, who was a member of the freshman class—or quiet.

And Elizabeth has found a unique way to spend her time—profitably.

The spring of nineteen thirty-two, Elizabeth was forced to leave school because of ill health. During that following summer, she was critically ill, but she possesses a "never-say-die" spirit, and by fall she was able to be up some.

At that time she was living a few miles out from Columbia, Missouri. A near neighbor of hers was having difficulty in disposing of the milk that he got daily from her seven cows.

Seeing this, Elizabeth, with her inventive mind, decided to become a milkmaid. She arranged a permit with the Department of Agriculture to find a pump, and it wasn't long before a real dairy began to grow. She found plenty of eager customers and since that time her business has steadily grown. With the help of Jack, a smiling little colored boy, Elizabeth delivers milk twice each day to her Columbia customers.

She also purchased a very desirable Ford and in this she er W. H. Roberts, the state of Arkansas.
