AWH COFFEE — Glenda Arledge, Carolyn Garner, Sarah Jouett, and Dr. David Burks of Harding University examine one of the cookbooks offered for sale during the Associated Women for Harding membership coffee.

The Greater Little Rock chapters of Associated Women for Harding had surprises in store for those who attended the group's coffee to kick off their third annual membership drive last week.

Among the most ingenious was preparing party goodies from the two AWH cookbooks — and prominently displaying the cookbooks nearby. After nibbling on those delicious ham and cheese roll-ups or brownies or broccoli dip, guests just had to have the recipes.

"We sold a lot of cookbooks that day," Brenda McClain, the president, admitted cheerfully. The Pleasant Valley Church of Christ was the setting for the gathering, and after a welcome by Miss McClain, the group listened to musical selections by the acapella choir from Harding. These youngsters are special to AWH since the alumni group raised the money to purchase the choir's robes.

A brightly decorated refreshment table was centered with an enormous arrangement of silk flowers in a bed of wispy, aromatic lemon grass — the contribution of Sara Jouett who "borrowed" the lemon grass from a neighbor's yard.

Having Coffee for Harding

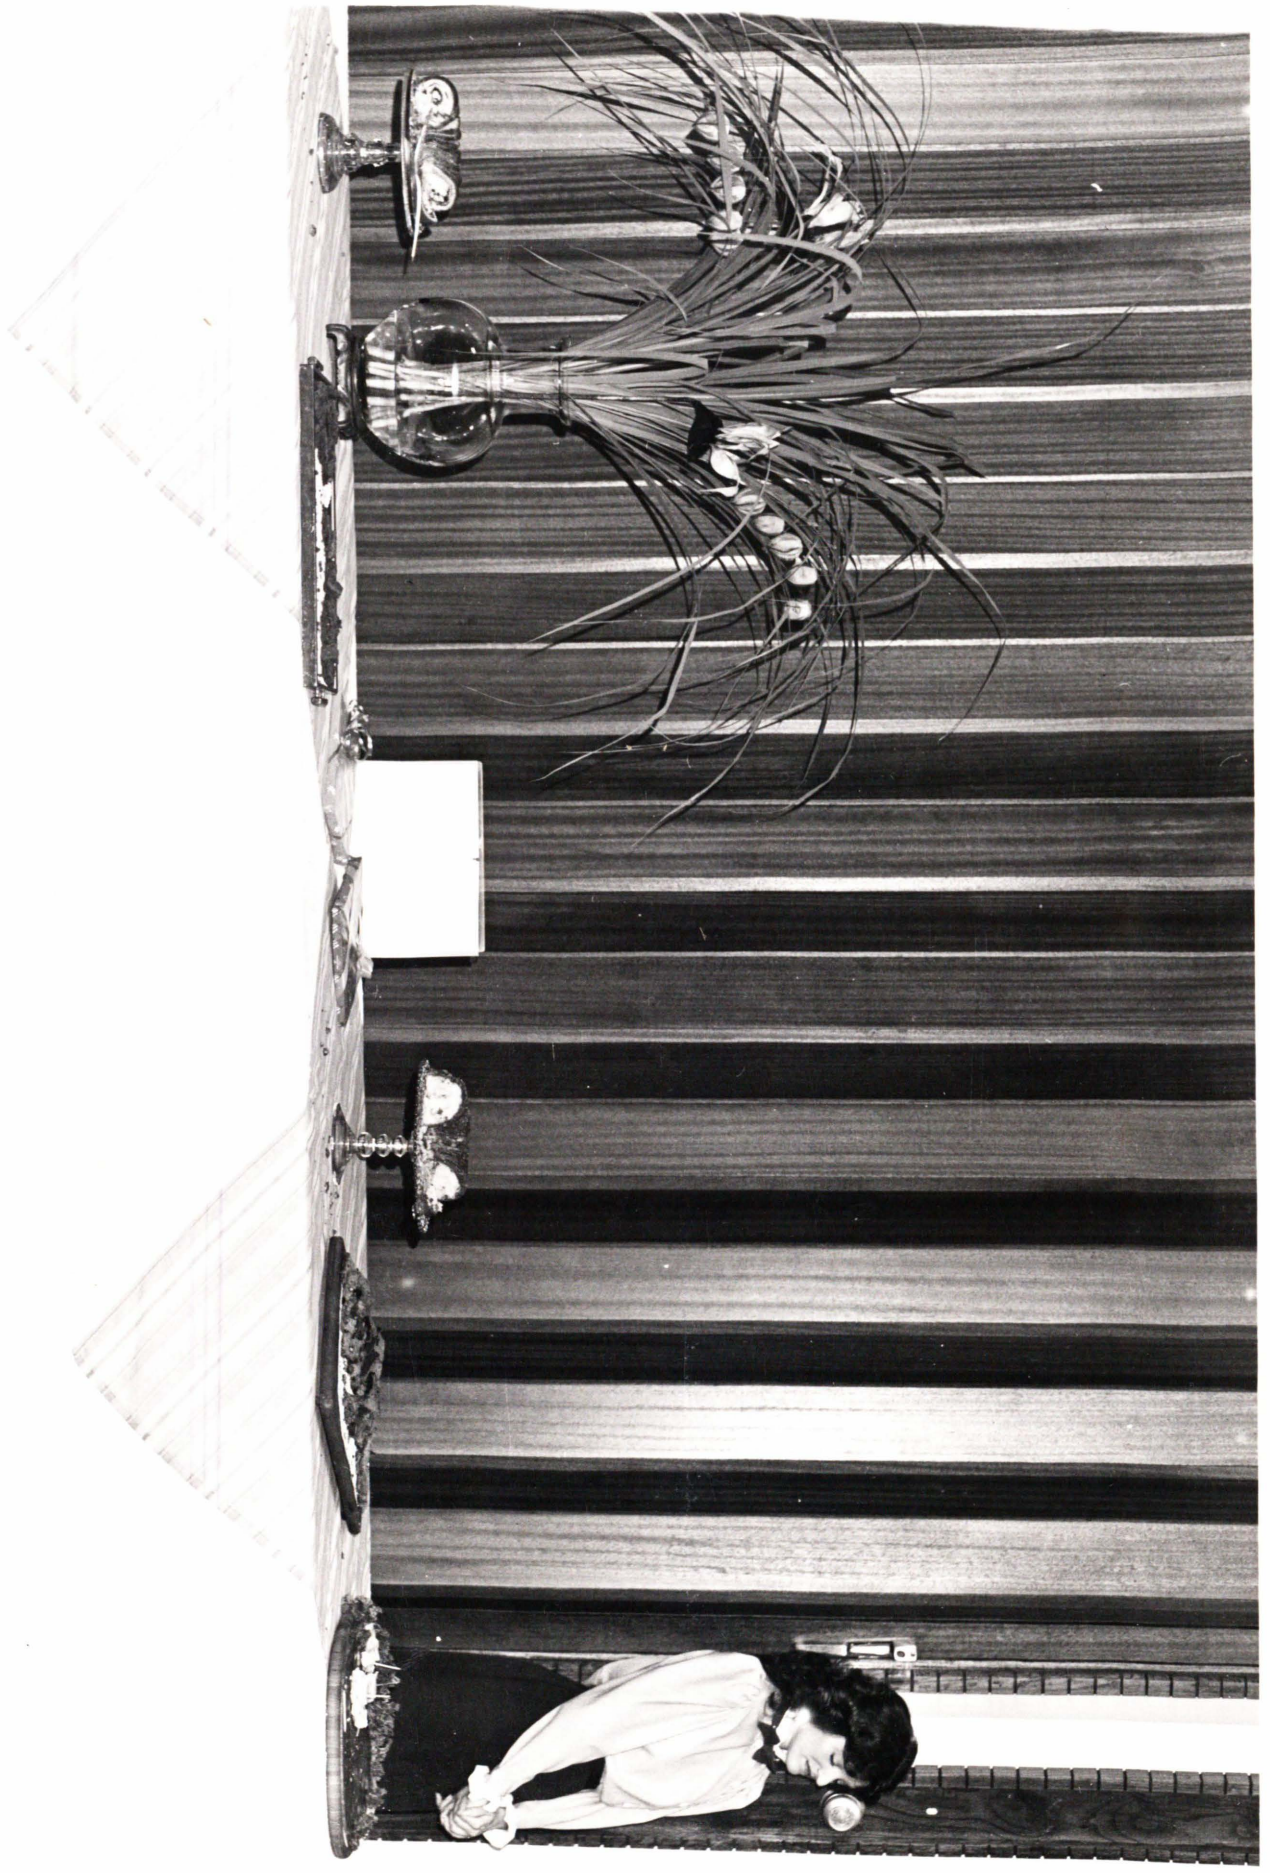

Visiting at the membership coffee given by the Associated Women for Harding at the Pleasant Valley Church of Christ September 16 are (from left) Jan Sykes, a member of the Harding A Capella Chorus; Dr. Kenneth Davis, chorus director, and Andee Cone and Beth Gipson, both AWH members. Robes for the chorus were a recent AWH project.

Sausage Passes Taste Test

Barbara Mills and her son, Hunter, take a look at a sausage on a stick that will be sold at the Arkansas State Fair to raise money for Harding University. The booth with the "sausage on a stick and beverage" is being organized by the Greater Little Rock Chapter of Associated Women for Harding. It is part of a varied menu that will be on the Fairgrounds from today through October 10.

GREATER LITTLE ROCK CHAPTER

1982-83 YEAR COMING TO A CLOSE

Well, it's almost over. Our 1982-83 AWH year is coming to an end. And Ladies,— we have reason to be proud. The year started out with our membership drive - a huge success - and ended with our biggest fund raiser, our first auction. Our dues, along with the auction, cookbooks, cutlery and peanut brittle sales totaled over $3225.00 for Harding!! Yes, we have reason to be proud. And one person that we have to thank for that is our president, Brenda McClain. To paraphrase a quote -- Behind every great club is a great president -- and we have certainly had one this year. Brenda is a fascinating, energetic lady who loves Harding and AWH. Her hard work for AWH this year is proof of her love for Christian Education. We feel very fortunate to have had her leadership this past year.
