HIGH SCHOOL
For the first time in 80 years, more young people are dropping out of high school before graduation, reports the U.S. Department of Labor. Between 1911 and 1978, the percentage of 14-to-17-year-olds in school increased steadily. However, recent surveys have indicated that approximately 11 out of every 100 young people now leave school before they graduate.

“Mother can’t understand why the canary is missing. Said he was there when she vacuumed his cage.”

Dr. O.A. BATTISTA: “The only time knowledge costs you a lot is when you make a decision without getting enough of it.”

VEE HILLIS, Beauty Consultant, tells about a letter from her college freshman son, Mark: “Send food packages! All they serve here is breakfast, lunch and dinner.”

EARL WILSON: “Old basketball players never die. They sit in front of you at the movies.”

School Counselor to new boy: “We want you to enjoy yourself here. If there’s something you want that we haven’t got, I’ll show you how to get along without it.”
The phone rang in the fire department dispatcher's office, and the caller immediately began talking:

"I'm 78 and a widow," she said.

"and I have such a bad back that it's very hard for me to work in my garden. I . . ."

"Where's the fire?" the dispatcher interrupted.

"... have put in a very nice garden, in spite of that, with lovely zinnias all around the border, and it's growing quite nicely, which is a good thing, the way grocery prices are these . . ."

"Hey!" yelled the dispatcher.

"Is your house on fire?"

"No, it isn't," replied the woman's voice, "but the house next door is, and if anyone calls you about it, I don't want your people stomping around and dragging hoses through my nice garden. Do you understand?"

A man had ridden three miles in a taxi when he suddenly realized he had left his wallet at home. He leaned forward and told the driver: "Stop at the drugstore for a minute. I want to get some matches so I can look for a $20 bill I've lost back here." When he came out of the drugstore, the taxi had disappeared.
