The swimming pool has become a source of much activity since the beginning of this school term. There are many reasons for this; the student interest in this sport has been tremendous, the weather has been kind, and the pool has been open for almost the entire school year.

A good many of the super substitutes have been coming from the faculty; but there are not enough of them. It is a little difficult to get personnel for the swimming pool.

The activity interest in the swimming pool has been maintained. There are not enough of the students to make the pool a boisterous place, but enough to make it a real swimming pool.

Each day it has been necessary to have a large number of students in the pool in order to have enough swimmers to make the pool a boisterous place. There is a large number of students who cannot swim, but they are trying to learn.
