A Stroll Uptown Saturday Night
Reveals Many Interesting Things

Boy oh boy—Ain't it fun to go outside on Saturday evening and know what I'm going to do? This past Saturday night I was one of the many who were out walking and enjoying the evening. It was a pleasant night, with the stars shining brightly in the sky. The air was cool and the breeze was refreshing.

I went up town one Saturday night and I was just walking around and I came to a room where I overheard a conversation between two girls. They were talking about a place where you, those silly girls and boys with riding licenses—oh no! I mean the girls are there too, but they don't have a car. They just go out and enjoy the night. Well, we saw one of these girls and I just had the feeling that she was not there for the usual reason.

Honesty

Honesty is the best policy in terms of the American Indian. In fact, it is not only a policy, but a way of life. The American Indian is known for his honesty and integrity. The values and morals that he is taught from a young age are instilled in him. He is taught to be truthful, to be kind, and to be fair. This is the basis of his character and his way of life.

Law and Marriage

Law and marriage has been a hot topic in recent years. Some people are saying that too many marriages are failing and that the legal system is at fault. The problem, however, is not with the legal system, but with the individuals involved. It is important to remember that marriage is a commitment to a lifetime partnership and that it requires effort and dedication.

The golden rule

The golden rule is a simple principle that is based on the idea of treating others the way you would like to be treated. It is a basic principle of ethics and it is widely accepted around the world. The golden rule is not only important in personal relationships, but it is also important in business and in government. It is a principle that should be followed by everyone.

In the second talk to the group of students comprising the International Congress of Missionaries, Miss E. L. Mattox, missionary for the Church of Christ in Arkansas, is telling us about her work in Australia. Her work in Australia is in setting up post offices in the outback, and it is quite fresh in a blunt, unvarnished manner.

It was a delightful experience to witness the various scenes of mission work, but the author is interested in the Australian natives and their customs, exactly as he would in other peoples.

Honesty

Honesty should be the written word of the Christian. In fact, it is a word that should be kept in mind at all times. It is important to remember that honesty is not just a matter of telling the truth, but of living a life of integrity and doing what is right.

The value of a dollar

The value of a dollar is quite a subjective concept. Some people value money highly and consider it to be the most important thing in life. Others value it less and consider it to be just a means of exchange. The value of a dollar is determined by the individual's perception of its worth.

CLARK'S SPORTS CLINICS IN FALL PRACTICE

Sanford Stadium, tiny as it is, will be the scene of the start of the practice sessions of the track squad. Under the direction of Coach Clark, about thirty-seven men will take part in this fall's practice, and the alumni will be back for a week's work so that the men alumni will be in shape for use off the nation's outstanding coaches would be started in the near future and the Bison quintet will be eligible for the Olympics.

Floyd will assist in coaching under Dr. Baker last year. Giants had a chance to take three tackles that was over and that looks pretty good. Most of the members have been practicing for a few weeks already, and we're getting ready to go some of them of our own players. We will engage in a foot race and a game of football. The jumpers recently revealed that his greatest strength is in three events and that he looks pretty good.

The second string will be practiced in the second game of the season. The starting line-up will be announced at that time. The team will be in good shape when the season opens.
