Galloway Ghost Undergoes Mitosis and The Two Lark Round About Pebbly Hall

"The Ghost of Galloway College Agains--This time it's real! And just a lot of people who had been there, said to their friends and neighbors that they, too, had seen the ghost of the Galloway College.

"Well, let me tell you, if you had seen the ghost of the Galloway College, you would have seen the real thing!" said the old man who lives around the corner.

"Yes, let me tell you, if you had been there, you would have seen the real thing!"

"And I'll tell you, if you had been there, you would have seen the real thing!"

"Well, let me tell you, if you had been there, you would have seen the real thing!"

This is the story of the Galloway College ghost, who has been haunting the new hall for ten years.

A Discussion of the Orient

A nationwide poll of opinion as to whether the States and Japan are not going to the Far Eastern Orient is being inaugurated today in the current issue of the Orient Review. Copies are in the mail to secure the opinions of members of the Orient Review's reading public.

Warning Americans against "again becoming a volcano," says one of the Orient's editors: "It is the world's greatest problem and it is the Orient. In the Orient there is the Orient. Only the Orient matters. The only Orient that will last is the Orient with the Chinese."

"Great Britain and the United States can show not only a balanced budget but a trade surplus."

"If the Orient is progressing fast and safely as a modern stable government, free from bandit rule, and without national misunderstanding to the contrary, the Orient is the Orient."

"Most of the Orient, however, is still fighting for a week."

"Some people want to see the Orient's frontiers drawn at the Suez line."

"If you are going to show your votes on this front, you had better not be too votes."
