This is the last Biosk issued this year. The next issue will be Tuesday, January 10, 1939. We are not able to publish a paper on Tuesday, January 3, when the regular work begins again, due to a probable lack of news for that paper that week. It also indicates the probability of writing by the time.

In Wood Square, let us wish that each and every one of the student body and faculty happy one Christmas and A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Dear Editor:

As most of our students will be on the road more or less during the holidays, I wish you would publish the following warning from James S. Kemper,ationally known safety leader.

"With the increase of automobile accidents in the last three years classified as serious, we found 322 were in the period from December 1st to January 31st. This year the number was 38.

"Parents should realize that home-coming students on pleasure bent are 29 percent more apt to get into trouble in serious automobile accidents during this season, he continued. "Actually the first three weeks of the last half of December compared with the average for December and January.""}

At Christmas play and make good
For Christmas comes but once a year—Thomas Tusser.

And a very happy holiday to all with wishes that you get as much home cooking and sleep as you deserve. By the way, we have for one by town is to try to see good in everything—except, possibly, the lack.

Bisons Win Over Arkansas College 44 to 42

FIRST VICTORY OVER PANTHERS IN SIX YEARS

In a last half rally, the Bisons defeated the Arkansas College Panthers 44 to 42. It was the first trip for the Bisons this year.

The game started out slow with the Bisons missing many shots. The Herd was playing a good defense game, but was unable to gain the lead during the first half.

John Bray did most of the scoring for the Panthers during the first half. He was their main offense during the first half. He scored 21 points first, but the Panthers soon tied the score. From then on, first one team and then the other would pull ahead in the score. The last five minutes of the game was hard fought and thrilling enough to have the spectators on their feet all the time.

"Ziggy" Sears, who is playing his first year of college basketball, was the individual star of the game for Harding. He showed plenty of offensive power and was really outstanding on defense. "Zig" Carroll led Kyle Lay with five points in the last half, and they were underused during the entire game. Harding's five will be composed of several high school stars and they believe that they can give the Bisons a hard time.

Back at my old location in Pough building on West Market street, next to De Cowell store, a small sign will be appreciated.

Bisons Smother Bethel College Here, 74 to 32

Herds Has Very Little Trouble in Beating Visitors

Making their first appearance on the home court, the Bisons won their second game of the season by defeating Bethel College of Morristown, Tennessee 74 to 32 Tuesday, December 16.

Getting off with a slow start, the Bisons built up a comfortable lead in the first quarter. The score at the first half was 24 to 21. Alternating two teams throughout the second half, Coach Berryhill's men had little trouble in scoring at will. John Bray and Farrar were the hard men for the Bisons.

The Bisons are hoping to make this the first victory in the southern part of the state.
