HARDING DOWNS HENDRIX THERE IN EXTRA PERIOD

Roe, Copeland, and Carroll Lead In Victory

Harding Bisons defeated the Hendrix Warriors in the Hendrix gym last night before 800 spectators in an overtime period with a final score of 61-55.

Harding started scoring early in the game when Copeland scored 3 points in rapid succession. Within ten minutes of the end of the first half the score was tied 16-16. At the end of the half Harding led with a score of 28-22.

Early in the second half, Hendrix rallied to make the tallies read Hendrix, 30—Harding, 29. With 12 minutes left to play Hendrix led 37-34. With 9 minutes left to go, Pryor, Harding guard, dropped two straight field goals to give the Bisons a 40-37 lead.

Tige Carroll kept the visiting team ahead until the last two and one-half minutes of regular playing time, the tallies showing 48-44.

As the final whistle blew, Kennedy, center for Hendrix, tied the score with a spectacular, long shot from past center, leaving the score-keeper's record 50-50.

In the extra five minutes' playing period the Harding boys amassed a total of 11 points in comparison with the Warriors 5.

THIS WEEK'S ?

On the whole, what is your opinion of Mr. Roosevelt's actions during his terms as President?

Bill Harris—I can't make up—my mind.

Gene Koken — I cannot appreciate his unrestrained spending splurge. It seems to me that he is expecting too many golden eggs from proverbial goose.

Mable Dean McDaniel—It is a debatable question.

Hubert Flynt—I've lost out in politics, but I'm wondering what generation will pay off this debt.

Foy O'Neal—I certainly like them.

Lola Harp—I think he's the best man for the job.

Reedie Bridges—Shhh, I'm a republican.

BOYS DISAPPOINTED 'CAUSE THE GALS WERE PREPARED

Last Monday afternoon, from 4:30 until 5:15, the boys invaded the girl's dormitory to find out what good housekeepers they were. Almost without exception each one of those "gentlemen" had a secret motive behind his visit. The "lucky" boys that have "steadies" were expecting to find their darling's abode the most presentable room in the building. The more skeptical ones sought to discover dust and the curious ones to find out what the girl's home town beaus looked like. But to their surprise, it was hard to decide which room was the prettiest and best kept. There was no dust and few pictures. Oh! What a disappointment!

Some of these visitors then made the rash statement that they thought it would have been much more fun to have come over during the morning, unannounced. It probably would have! Without a doubt! Because what could be funnier than to see one of those dignified senior girls, that will barely speak to you on the campus, down on her hands and knees, scrubbing the floor while her roommate goes borrowing for articles that will beautify their room.

But alas, the fun wouldn't have ended there, for also rather amusing would have been one of the inmates' fall off the table during the process of hanging a picture; another's attempt to polish all the furniture, including the doors, inside and out; and still another frantically washing and ironing her curtains, wondering if she would get through in time for open house. Then they would have heard the story of the two girls who intended to launder their own spreads, but didn't. They would have seen several of the girls trying to find some place to hide the picture of the home town "Jerry" so that the Harding "Tom" won't get mad.

But that still wouldn't have been the half of it! Dirty faces, bare feet, torn dresses, uncombed hair and—But oh! Why go any further? Just be thankful that they didn't come over unannounced!

Male Trio Gives Chapel Program

The male trio, composed of Fletcher Floyd, baritone, John Mason, tenor, and Vernon Boyd, bass, sang last Saturday morning at chapel.

The program included "Songs My Mother Taught Me" by Anton Dvorak, "By the Waters of Minnetonka" by Thurlon Lieurance, "Home on the Range" by Gulon, "Pagan Love Song" by Brown, and "Among My Souvenirs". Two of Floyd's own compositions were included: "I Gamble My Heart" and "Shack by the Road".

Arkansas Water Color Society Exhibit Here

The second annual exhibition of the Arkansas Water Color Society will reach the campus on February 13. It is coming from Hendrix College at Conway, where it was last exhibited. The pictures have also been hung at the Fine Arts Museum in Little Rock.

This exhibit will be under the sponsorship of the Art Club and direction of Mrs. Maxie McCullough, head of the Art department. This is the club's first of several such exhibitions to be sponsored in the future.

Included in this exhibition will be the paintings of twenty artists located in six different states: California, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas and Illinois. There will be forty paintings and eleven of them will be from artists living in Fayetteville.

H. Louis Freund of Conway will have two of his paintings represented in the display. They are: "Mosque Tower, Kairuan" and "Rainy Day, Florence". Mr. Freund is an "artist in residence" at Hendrix, having been furnished a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York working through the Association of American Colleges. Coming to Hendrix a year ago, he was the second resident artist furnished an American College by the corporation.

As a result of a competition held last spring in Vicksburg, Miss Freund was awarded the contract for the Heber Springs mural. The mural is one of 200 being prepared for postoffices and other federal buildings throughout America, and it already has been placed in the post-office at Heber Springs. Mr. Freund has carefully chosen the subject of the painting, "The Ozarks," and the people of Heber Springs seem to be pleased.

Others who will have paintings in this exhibition are Trew Hacker, Kathryn Hall Travis, Ann Cunningham, Mae Allyn Schupbach, Keith

Dr. Snow Lectures To Photography Class

Dr. Charles C. Snow lectured to the photography class last Friday evening in the chemistry lecture room. His topic was the elementary chemistry of photography.

Dr. Snow explained the chemical preparation of film, the reactions involved in taking a picture, and the developing processes. A question and answer period followed the lecture.

LITERARY CLUB ORGANIZED LAST WEEK ON CAMPUS

Debate, Press, And The Poetry Members Eligible

The letter members of the literary clubs on the campus met together and elected officers Tuesday, forming the Harding Literary Society. Members of this group include those who have lettered in the Forensic League, the Press Club and the Poetry Club.

George Gurganus, editor of the Pettit Jean and president of the Lambda Sigma Club, was elected president of the Harding Literary Society; L. D. Frashier, vice-president; and Mabel Dean McDaniel, secretary-treasurer.

The constitution was drawn up by James McDaniel, L. D. Frashier, and Billy Yount. Due to Dr. Benson's absence in behalf of the financial campaign, he has not yet given his approval for the constitution of this new organization.

President Gurganus stated that the purpose of this organization is to promote interest in literary activities and to sponsor literary contests. Also, it is intended to secure cooperation between the literary groups on the campus.

A standardized letter representing this club will be given to anyone who earns it in the literary activities of the school. This uniformity of lettering will have more value and meaning to the members of the club than the individual literary club letters of the past have had.

Any man or woman lettering in debating, Press Club, or the Poetry Club is automatically a member of the society.

Academy Honor Roll Announced

They are: Dennis Allen, Dorothy Brown, Mary Brown, Richard Chandler, Nanci Isaac, Mary Etta Langston, Jane Snow, Juanita Trawick, and Ruth Bradley.

Cheer Up! Slaves Of The Kitchen. The Story May Apply To You Too

Treading the paths of learning will result in physical as well as mental strain for those who are devoted to keeping the kitchen utensils clean.

After each meal has been served, we take our stand before the washing tubs and begin to juggle pots and pans. Dainty, prim maidens in white, stiff, starched aprons begin to bring in the dirty pans. They dare not venture close to the garbage can lest they soil their pretty hands. And we, kitchen knaves as we are—but gentlemen—must scrape the pots. (We do this for our own protection, lest we have to use more than one dish-water.)

As we labor, Mrs. Thornton, "Mother" Chandler, and the host of boys and girls employed in the mission of feeding the hungry mouths of Harding, come to us with a legion of questions: "Is this clean?" "Have you seen a little paring knife?" "Where is a rag?" and many others. Commands are also common: "Wash this!" "Dry this!" "Come here a minute." We assist them the best we can and they scurry on, but it usually isn't long before another comes scuttling by.

We know what it is to be associated with slop, scummy grease,

Press Club Oratorical Contest Held This Week

The annual Press Club Oratorical contest will be held Thursday and Friday of this week, with nine students entering. Preliminaries for the event will be held Thursday afternoon at 3:30.

The men's division will be held in the college auditorium. Those entering are James McDaniel, Sidney Hooper, S. F. Timmerman, J. P. Thorton, and Oscar Drake.

Entrants in the women's division, Reedie Bridges, Mabel Dean McDaniel, Esther Adams, and Marie Brannen, will compete at the same time in the high school study hall.

Two winners will be picked from each division to compete in the finals Friday morning in chapel. In case of a complete majority in the preliminaries, the winner in the preliminaries will not compete in the finals. Winners in each division will receive medals.

Upon the recommendation of Mrs. J. N. Armstrong three judges will be chosen for each contest.

The preliminary contests are open to all who wish to hear them.

CORINNE BELL TO SERVE AS QUEEN IN MAY FESTIVAL

Other Candidates Will Serve As Maids For Queen

Miss Corinne Bell of Pine Bluff was elected by the student body to serve as Queen of the annual Ju Go Ju May Day Fete.

Second and third ranking candidates, T. Rose Terry and Pauline Moser, will serve as maids of honor at the coronation. The four other nominees, Annie May Alston, Wanda Hall, Marie Brannen, and Eva Thompson will make up the queen's immediate court. These candidates were named by the seven girls' social clubs on the campus.

Miss Bell, who will reign as May Queen, is a member of the Ju Go Ju club; she is a junior and is active in several different organizations, including the Chorus and the Arkansas Club, of which she is secretary-treasurer. Her picture will have a place in the feature section of the annual.

The May Day Fete will be held in the early evening of May 1, on the grassy plot at the foreground of the campus. All social organizations in college will be asked to participate in the affair. Girls' clubs will name two additional members to serve in the court, and other members will participate in the various formations and the winding of the May Pole. All clubs will be invited to enter a float in the parades which will be staged before and after the coronation ceremony.

It was originally intended to keep the identity of the queen a secret until the coronation, but because of conflicts on the ballot for favorite positions for the annual it was decided to announce the election results prior to the annual staff run-offs this week.

Second Interview On Radio Program This Afternoon

The college radio program this afternoon will feature the second in the series of interviews concerning various campus activities.

Today Coach Berryhill, Julian Dewberry, captain of the basketball team, and Ralph Bell, sports editor of The Bison, will be interviewed by Sidney Hooper in regard to athletics at Harding.

Deronda Bird will sing two numbers, "A Brown Bird Singing" by Wood and "Rose in Bud" by Forester.

"Evening Star" from Wagner's opera "Tannhauser" and "The Hall of the Mountain King" by Grieg will be presented as piano solos by Jeanne Lawyer.

The Sunday morning radio singers will be heard in two hymns, "The Lord is My Shepherd" and "Savior, Breathe an Evening Blessing."

The program will conclude with a news flash from The Bison, by Jack Bomar.

Itin and Dykes Speak In Church Services Sunday

Houston Itin preached in the college auditorium Sunday morning. His subject was "Neglected commands".

Maurice Hinds led the congregation. Mr. John Lee Dykes spoke at the evening services on "The Master Calletth Thee".

Quentin Gately led the congregational singing.

TO THE EDITOR:

Harding is a Christian College, established to serve the educational needs of children from Christian families. Serving in such a capacity it is necessary that the school uphold high, almost idealistic standards. The large majority of the student body is accounted for by that fact. Worthy young men and women come from more than twenty states to Harding College because they expect to find here the Christian guidance and wholesome associations such as no state-supported institution can offer.

In a school where the ideals of students are so high, rules of discipline are absolutely necessary. Prospective students recognize this, and so they come with their "eyes open." Most of them. It is unfortunate that this attitude is not widespread.

There have always been a few who could not accept gracefully the imposition of the rules, and so from year to year additional discipline and added rules have been necessary to uphold the school and its ideals. Many privileges to which they were accustomed and which would ordinarily have been granted have been revoked because of the few who took advantage of them. This is rather an unjust situation—one that is true in all society, however, where the good have to suffer for the mistakes of the careless and the sins of the wicked; but this condition could be eliminated, or at least alleviated, at Harding College if the right-minded students would take a stand for the right and demand that all others come up to it. If any should persist in breaking the rules of the school society they should be ostracized from it.

The plea of rule-abiding students is that they be given a few more ordinary privileges and not be forced to tolerate the infractions of weaker, less trust-worthy young people.

Dear Editor:

I'll bet I know a "reader of sundry college papers" who has been crying ever since he heard about how bad his college's basketball team got beat last Saturday night. Just to remind him, for the sake of one more big sob, the score still reads 77-39.

He happened to mention his being under some sort of "lusion" when he entered college. Really, Mr. Editor, I think it would be well worth some psychologist's time to examine that fellow for I know his brain must be in a most bewildering condition by this time. If he can call the Bisons' "some little team down in Arkansas" when they are beaten three points by five men and a referee, Mr. Editor, I'll bet they look like elephants to him now!

MEDITATIONS

By Mabel Dean McDaniel

There's a tinge of spring in the air these days. Frogs, creaking tell of its coming—warm winds replace the chilling ones of winter—afew violets acknowledge the brighter rays of the sun—the campus again becomes more popular for loafing.

As a rule, it is the students we don't know that we dislike, not the ones we know and understand. How often we think we do not like someone, who, when we come to know him, turns out to be someone really nice.

I don't know why I choose Arkansas as the subject for my oration—probably because so much bad and so little good has been said.

It's interesting how the debaters from different sections of the country differ in accent, tone, manner of presentations, and points in argument. There was certainly variety enough to avoid monotony at the Mid-South Meet. In four consecutive debates, Friday afternoon, we met teams from four states—Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Louisiana.

Weeks slip by, even months pass without time leaving any announcement that it is passing. I reckon time only as it leads up to something—a week-end at home—a debate tournament—an oratorical contest—term tests—only as these events come and are replaced by others do I realize how swiftly time is passing.

Mutability. The only permanent thing in life is change, and life itself is just a process of adjusting one's self to new surroundings. We cling tenaciously to the old and deplore the newness that necessitates sudden change yet how monotonous and uninteresting life would be without this continual change. I lament not the change, but ask only that it be synonymous with growth and development.

The Glory of Going On

Douglas Harris

"Brethren, I count not myself yet to have laid hold; but one thing I do, forgetting the things which are behind, and stretching forward to the things which are before, I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ." (Phil. 3:13-14)

The word "go" is one of the key words of the New Testament. The very essence of the Great Commission is going. The theme of Jesus' teaching was going to the needy. The Christian is the only living creature that is privileged to enjoy going on to greater spiritual accomplishments. The sinner cannot carry the divine message to the world because he is lost himself. Those that confess his name only cannot go. The happiest moment of a Christian's life is the saving of some soul that is the result of his going. The saving of souls motivates the Christian to continue in this great work for Christ no matter how arduous the way may be. We must go to the lost because it is a sure thing that they will come to us.

Paul could have listened to the call of the Romans or the Macedonians forever and never saved them. He had a full realization of the severe persecution he would endure but his glory was in going, not for himself or any of the other apostles, but for Christ. By Paul's progressiveness and the diligent work of all the other apostles the gospel spread throughout the world. There was a desire in their hearts that urged them forward in the spirit even though the flesh was weak. As Jesus prayed in the Garden of Gethsamane there was something burning within his soul that would not let him turn back. Death was staring him in the face, he was destined to intense pain, and rejection by his own followers was his fate, yet there was great glory in hearing all of this. It was the thought of returning some day to gather his disciples unto himself.

When Columbus launched out upon the vast waters of the Atlantic he wanted to go on until he could go no longer. His men were discouraged by storms and starvation, but Columbus consoled himself by the words: "Sail on! Sail on and on!" After Edison had tried for the ninety-ninth time to invent the electric light without avail, something inspired him to try again. He did, and succeeded; but had he not given it another trial he would not have had any glory of going on. The great driving force in a Christian's life is his love for Christ and his fellowmen, and the desire to attain the goal of perfection is found in Hebrews 6:1. The lives of great men are attained and held by pressing forward unto full growth. Likewise, the Christian should ever strive for the goal of perfection in Christ.

Congratulations to the Glee Club for bringing dignity and uniformity to the college music organization. The acquisition of the tuxedos will add much to the dignity and effectiveness of the singers in the programs that will be presented here at the school and at other places off the campus.

The presence of the suits is a testimony of the spirit of cooperation and loyalty of the individual members of the group. Without a concerted effort of all members, the possession would be impossible.

The suits are also available for school activities other than Glee Club programs. At a recent meeting of the group it was decided that any student could rent one of the suits for a school function. After a banquet last week one of the boys said, "Well, it's the first time I've ever had one on, but it's a feeling like you've never had before."

The second annual exhibition of the Arkansas Water Color Society will be held on the Harding campus this year. This is the first time in the history of the school that such an honor has been conferred by the Arts Department. Work by artists in six different states is being displayed.

About forty paintings are on display during the two-weeks period. Some of the better paintings are valued at 40 to 70 dollars each. A visit to the Art Room will certainly be compensatory.

Praise is due Mrs. McCullough, art director of the college, for calling attention to this oft-neglected phase of artistic expression. This is the second art exhibit held on the campus this year, the first being on Thanksgiving Day and featuring the work of the students now enrolled in school.

I fall short of my goal in life—
I fall; I faint; I fail
To attain despite my struggle and strife—
My days diminish—I sigh and wail.

I become weary of my efforts—
Oh God! my high ideals succumb to the worldly element;
My prayers rise up like incense for comfort
To be bestowed on me for my contentment.

My wisdom's earthly vision cannot see,
Blind are my eyes—I grope in utter darkness
The rocks I tread upon are sharp,
I bleed;
I can go no further; I despair.

JU GO JU CLUB BANQUET HELD AT MAYFAIR HOTEL

Outstanding formal event of the week was the annual Ju Go Ju Banquet which was held amid a bower of flowers at the Mayfair Hotel, Friday at eight o'clock.

A Japanese theme was carried out in pastel colors in the decorations. One extremity of the walk was converted into a Japanese flower garden. A rock bordered walk wound among grassy flowers beds of roses, sweet peas, jonquils, wood flowers, wisteria, and shubbery. A center of interest was a mirrored wishing pond. Greenery and for the garden scene. A simulated sky, replete with stars and a crescent moon, added romance and beauty to the garden spot.

Couples entered the banquet room by way of the garden path to the sound of muted music. Table appointments further emphasized the pastel color scheme. Place cards were tiny Japanese umbrellas supported in cups of vari-colored candy hearts. The program-menu leaflets were Japanese fans in pastel shades. Sweet peas in crystal containers were used on the tables and in advantageous spots about the room. Large clusters of balloons were festooned from pillars, chandeliers, windows, and doors.

Kern Sears gave the invocation. A welcome to the guest was extended by Sue McHam, Ju Go Ju president, and was responded to by Alstone Tabor. Houston Itin served as toastmaster for the evening and introduced the program numbers.

There were solos by J. E. Bartley; a reading by Mrs. L. C. Sears; vocal solo by John Mason; a vocal duet by Mr. Leonard Kirk and Mrs. Florence Jewel; a number by the Ju Go Ju trio, composed of Charlene Bergner, Louise Yount, and Lillian Walden. Two additional vocal duets were sung by Mr. Kirk and Mrs.

Jewel; another solo by John Mason; and the annual prophecy was read by Joe Spaulding.

At the conclusion of the evening's entertainment, members and their guests departed through the decorative Japanese garden. Those present were the following: Hazel Barnes and Joe Lewis Leslie; Corinne Bell and Houston Itin; Avanelle Elliott and Ordie Copeland; Maurine House and Joe Spaulding; Bernice Burford and Murray Wilson; Florence Lowery and J. E. Harding Overpowers State Indians 77-39

CARROLL IS HIGH SCORER WITH 37 POINTS

Led by "Tige" Carroll, stellar guard for the Bisons, the "Red-heads" defeated the Arkansas State College Indians 77 to 39 last Saturday night in the Searcy High School gymnasium.

Carroll, one of the Bisons' leading scorers, boosted his total by making 15 field goals and 7 free throws for 37 points, almost equalling the state college record of 38 points. However, since the individual record for this year is 33 points, Carroll does have the distinction of setting a new record at 37 points for this year.

Taking an early lead of 8 to 1 in the first few minutes, the Bisons were never seriously threatened by the Indians but once, this being about the middle of the first half when the Indians, led by Baldwin, managed to tie the score at 16 all. The Herd again went on scoring spree in the final minutes of the half to run up a 35 to 20 score at the end of the period. Baldwin, of State, and Carroll were high scorers in the first half with 13 and 11 points respectively.

The Bisons led all the way in the last half, with Carroll making 26 of the team's 42 points during the period. Handicapped by the fouling out of Baldwin in the last half, the Indians were able to make only 19 points in the last period.

The game was very rough all the way, with both teams committing 43 fouls in the contest.

Following Carroll in the scoring were Baldwin of State with 16 points and Roe of Harding with 11 points.

Searcy Trounces Cotton Plant, 50-19

Scoring at will, the Searcy Lions easily overpowered the Cotton Plant Scrappers, here last Friday night, 50 to 19.

The Lions took an early lead and were never headed during the entire game. The score at the end of the first half was 26 to 12, with the Lions in the lead.

Cole and Troxell, Searcy forwards, and Aclin, center, led the scoring for Searcy with 15, 12, and 10 points respectively. Ramer, forward for the Scrappers, was next with nine points. Davis and Reynolds played good defensive ball for Searcy, while Whiting and Allen were outstanding for Cotton Plant.

Searcy Juniors lost to the Antioch Juniors, 34 to 5, in the preliminary contest. White was high scorer of the game with 14 points.

RED HOT REDHEADS

The Bisons were going "super-strong" last Saturday night against State. In fact, they were playing ball like they really know how. I won't admit that they were just "hot." They can play that kind of ball against any team in the state.

It was the first time since Christmas that they have really played together, and all of them in a fighting mood. That game showed you fans just what kind of team we have when they get to playing together.

Just in case any of the students doubt the strength of State's team, remember that they won one game from the Bisons earlier in the year, by three points. Perhaps, I should say on the referee's decision.

PERSONAL TO STATE

In last week's State College Herald, there appeared an article saying that I knocked their team, their coach, and their referee. I deny the fact that I knocked their team, but I do protest the ethics of their coach, and the work of the referee. I like their team fine. They are like any other college team in the state. They take every advantage offered them, and so do all the other teams.

State beat us at Jonesboro, but the price they paid was hardly worth the win. The Bisons were

"riled" over the "royal gyp" they received, and were out for revenge Saturday night. Those three points don't pile up very high against the 38 point margin we had Saturday. The entire team told me, at one time or another, that they were really out for revenge.

As for the referee, he does not care whether or not he calls the game right. I can't understand why State uses him to referee their games unless—He never referees any games for the other colleges in the state. In fact they are insisting that some other referee call the game when they play in Jonesboro. Why, even Jonesboro High School doesn't use him. Surely this indicates something.

OFFENSE AND DEFENSE

The spearhead of the offense last Saturday night, of course, was "Tige" Carroll. He was hot, and I mean really hot. One has to be to score 37 points in forty minutes. He wasn't shooting just any old way, but just about everytime he shot, the ball went through the hoop. 37 points is a high scoring record for Arkansas this season.

The entire team made up the defense. All of them, "Red," Roy, Clyde, Ewell, and all the rest, never let up for a minute. They rushed the State boys off their feet, and even then, they wouldn't give them any rest.

BISONS TO PLAY ARKANSAS TECH HERE SATURADY

Wonder Boys Have Won Five; Lost Seven

Playing their next to last game of the current season, the Bisons will meet the Arkansas Tech Wonder Boys, of Russellville, here in the Searcy High School gymnasium at eight o'clock.

An earlier meeting of the two teams at Russellville, January 24, resulted in a 60 to 50 win for the Wonder Boys.

Coach Berryhill states that he is expecting a hard game for the Bisons. The Tech team is fast and does a lot of scoring. Their main offensive strength lies in their two forwards, Pat Kee and Veo Story. Both rate among the high scorers of the state.

Tech has won five games and lost seven so far this year. They have won but two intercollegiate games thus far this season. They defeated Magnolia A&M and Harding. They have lost to Hendrix, State Teachers, and Henderson State Teachers.

Roe, Vaughn To Referee Tourney

"Preacher" Roe and Raymond Vaughn, former Harding cage stars, will officiate in the Izard County Tournament to be held at Melbourne on the 17th and 18th of this month.

During the season "Preacher" and "Foots" have worked together in the home games that Searcy High School has played. Also they have called some of the less important games for Harding.

Out of the 737 points the Bisons have made thus far in the season, approximately one-seventh of them have been made by the free throw route. The team has made 124 shots out of a possible 229 for a percentage of .541, while the opponents have made only 98 out of 212 shots and a percentage of .462. For the 229 foul goals attempted, the team averages shooting 16 5-14 and making 8 6-7 per game. The opponents average shooting 15 1-7 and making 7 in the Harding games.

"Tige" Carroll, high scorer for the team thus far, has attempted 45 free throws, making 30 of them for a percentage of .666 to lead the Bison squad in this department. He is followed by "Doey" LaFevers who has made 9 out of 15 to have a percentage of .600. Five men of the squad have a .500 or better percentage. The highest of these is "Red" Garrison with a .571 percentage by making 16 out of 28 attempts. Coming next is "Ziggy" Sears making 5 out of 9 shots for a .555 percentage. The fifth place tied by Clyde Watts, Jack Lay, and "Toar" Pryor with a .500 percentage. "Bexar" has made 8 out of 16 to gain his while Jack has made 6 out of a dozen for his. Toar, with few chances, has made one out of two tries.

Only five men fall below the .500 mark. "Nubbin" Roe leads these with a .478 percentage. Roy leads the team in free throw attempts with 46 tries, but has made only 22 of them. Closely following Roe is Captain Julian Dewberry, who has a .474 percentage by making 9 out of 19 tries. Then on the heels of Julian comes Ordis Copeland with a .470 percentage. Ordis has attempted 17 throws and has made 8 of them. In eleventh and twelfth position come Norman Smith and Bill Bell, with a .333 and .300 percentage respectively. "Smitty" has had only three chances and made one of them while Bill has attempted only one and missed. The low percentage of the last two players is no special index to the ability of the player because of so few chances, and it may easily be remedied by the player making the few attempts.

This resume is complete through the Arkansas State game of February 11.
