RALPH F. CARR TO GIVE WATER SAFETY EXAMS

A. R. C. Field Representative
To Give Tests To Local Water Safety Promoters In College Swimming Pool.

Beginning yesterday and continuing through until Saturday, water safety promoters on the campus began a preparatory course in an effort to qualify for the American Red Cross certificate as Water Safety Instructors.

Ralph F. Carr, field representative from the Midwestern Branch of the Red Cross in St. Louis, Missouri, is here instructing the class and will give qualification tests at the end of the course.

Carr is conducting this course through the efforts of the White County Chapter of the Red Cross, with Buck Harris as chairman of life saving.

Those planning on taking this course are Miss Margaret Alston, physical education director for girls, Coach M. E. Berryhill, physical education director for boys, Bill Stokes, manager and life guard at the college swimming pool, Frances Williamson, and Wailana Floyd, both students of Miss Alston, George Rogers, Searcy High School student, and Buck Harris, chapter chairman.

Alston and Harris are qualified life saving examiners, but are transferring their certificates to this new phase of water safety, since their titles are being abolished.

Carr is well equipped in the promotion of aquatic safety. During the summer of 1933 he covered seven Mid-Atlantic states of the agency's Eastern Area in the interest of first aid and life saving service. During the winter of 1934-35, Carr operated a boys' playground, training many of them in aquatics. Later he was made director of life saving for the Richmond, Va., chapter of the Red Cross, promoting water safety throughout the chapter territory.

He attended the first aid and life saving institute of 1933 at Annapolis, Md., and the national aquatic school of 1934-35 at Annapolis, serving on the faculty of the latter school. National Red Cross aquatic schools conducted at Lake Taneycomo, Mo., in 1938.

Chapel programs devoted to movie films on the work of the Red Cross were shown in chapel today and will be continued tomorrow.

These local instructors, if qualified, will through water safety and swimming courses, teach life saving, swimming, and water safety throughout the county, thus holding water casualties in this area to a minimum.

"This will make White County one of the foremost in promoting Red Cross work," stated Harris. "Plans for spring term aquatic work are now under way and Harding College plans to see that every student who desires knowledge in water safety is instructed."

Mrs. Cathcart and Mrs. Armstrong have been appointed to assist in the programs and to advise with Professor Kirk regarding the technique of the program.

Dr. Benson stated that the appointment was made at Professor Kirk's request.

Dr. Liu King Gives Program Tuesday Evening

Dr. Lui Ring entertained students Tuesday night with what he termed "a full course dinner, from soup to nuts," the 'soup' consisting of the sentimental songs for lovers, and the 'nuts' the humorous side of the program.

He terms himself as a man without a country, as he is a past resident of Czecho-slovakia. Dr. Ring is very versatile, as he told several humorous stories, then did impersonations, sang, read poetry, performed feats of magic, and played the violin in several different moods, ending with some words of philosophy and a short lecture on "Success."

He was accompanied by Miss Mary N. Elliott.

The program opened with the pictures he painted with his violin of gypsy life in Czecho-slovakia. This arrangement consisted of six pieces, "The Gathering Song," "The Dance," "The Love Song," "The Death of the Queen," "The Song of Lamentation," and "The Dance of Death."

Then followed a trip to Venice and a ride in a gondola while he sang, "O Sole Mio."

He then took us to Missouri where he impersonated a tenor singing, "Rigoletto," then a bass singing, "Asleep in the Deep," followed by a dainty miss attempting to warble, "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean."

He again returned to his violin and played "Mazurka de Concert," by Musin, and he followed this by playing "Humoresque," while Miss Elliott played "Swanee River."

Dr. Ring produced a book of poetry of his own composition and read the following pieces: "Lights and Shadows," "Friendship," "Flowers," and "Gratitude." Next he sang, "Sweet Little Woman of Mine," and gave an impersonation of an old negro and his son from college singing, "Uncle Ned."

Another part of the program was taken up with playing two original songs named, "Rhapsody d' Amour," and "Adorable One."

Modren magic was shown, and a story told about thought waves.

The program was concluded with a folk song of the Polish people named, "Kuiaweak" by Wieniawski.

The program was sponsored by the men's glee club, and the proceeds were applied on the remainder of the debt for their tuxedos.

Besides the first prize of a copy of the Petit Jean, two additional prizes will be offered. These will be an enlargement of the pictures entered, and sizes will be eight by ten, and five by seven respectively for second and third prizes. In case the winner has already reserved an annual the reservation fee will be returned.

Art Club Plans Study Of Recently Donated Prints

Another use was found for the gift of the fine art prints from Sophie Newcomb Art School Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Art Club in the Art studio. Members plan to study the various prints.

Hardly realizing the value of the gift in the line of future programs, the club browsed through the prints and selected those they would like to know more about.

Business before the club at the meeting included the announcement that the art club pins could be bought for half price by reason of a 50 per cent discount allowed. Those who intend to order their pins should have their money in to the treasurer, Ralph Stirman, it was announced by the Leah Barr, president.

Compliments of the club were extended to the foods committee chairman, Florence Morriss, for her services in the Sunday afternoon tea given by the Art Club January 21 in the studio. Miss Morriss was given the honor for the success of the affair. Her Russian tea and ginger cookies was a major attraction in the entertainment.

Student Sentiment Indicates Petit Jean Proposition Will Make Hit In Coming Poll

By MARY ADAMS

As a follow up from last week's editorial on the Petit Jean, in the Bison, I have investigated the reaction of some of the students on the question. I believe if the Petit Jean is included in the fees next year it will be one of the biggest accomplishments made toward purchasing a yearbook.

In paying our fees for the year we pay for our annual at the same time, and the money will never be missed. On the other hand it would be hard to "dig up five bucks" when the annuals come out with all the other new things in the spring. This new way everyone will get a yearbook, think of it, everyone, and then we can all rejoice together when the Petit Jean comes out. This way too, we will have our five dollars to buy a new Easter bonnet. Think this over and see if you don't agree with me and most of these I am quoting:

Myrene Williams: I kinda' like it.
Margaret Alston: I think it's a good idea. They do that in all the schools.

Gene Koken: Oh, My! It's the only thing. Everyone gets an annual that way.

Jerry Farrar: I think it's the only thing to do. I won't have to write home for a dollar.

Eva Thompson: I think it's a good idea. I wonder why they haven't had it before.

Mildred Dawson: It's a keen idea.
Wayne Smethers: I like it. Anything that will save me some money.

Louis Green: I think it's a pretty good idea.

Virginia O'Neal: Oh, I like it! I'm for it! A hundred per cent.

Bill Stokes: It has its advantages and disadvantages. I just don't know really.

L. D. Frashier: I'm highly in favor of it. If you had to dog the kids like I do to get their pictures made, you would be too.

Verle Craver: I think we have enough fees to pay now.

Bob Cronin: I think it's a good idea, boy.

Ruth Langford: I think it's good.

Vernon Boyd: I think it's a good idea, 'cause everyone will get one that way.

Don Bentley: Listen, I think it would be a mark of progress if the students would adopt it.

Mabel Dean McDoniel: Naturally, I think it's a good plan because it means every student will have a yearbook.

Jack Wood Sears: I like it, don't you? 'cause everyone can get a yearbook that way.

Poetry Club To End Contest February 1

The poetry writing contest, open to all Harding college students and teachers, will end February 1.

The writer of the best poem will be awarded with a copy of the latest publication of poems written by members of the club. The winner will also receive an invitation to become a member of the Poetry Club.

In addition to the other two awards, the winning poem will be published in the annual poetry book.

A suggestion has been made recently by Sam Peebles, a former member of the club, that the club publish an anthology at the end of ten years, including the best of the club's work for that period of time. Members of the club favored this plan and expect to make an amendment to their constitution to this effect in the near future.

Dorcas Club Makes Plans For Group Contest

Plans for a centerpiece among the members were completed at the meeting of the Dorcas Club Friday afternoon in the home economics dining room. This contest is for original centerpieces, with valentines for the theme.

The club is divided into groups of three, and the group having the best centerpiece will win a prize. Miss Elsie Mae Hopper and Leah Barr will act as judges in the contest.

Iva Farris was appointed temporary secretary due to the absence of T. Rose Terry, who has not yet returned to school from her illness. A luncheon in town has been planned in honor of T. Rose's returning on February 29.

New members in the club are beginning work on their club jackets.

Annual Staff Commended For Efficiency

By LOUIS GREEN

We have a Petit Jean staff that is really doing things this year. For the first time in the history of its publication the yearbook will contain the pictures of the entire Harding student body.

This feat, however, was accomplished only after long untiring efforts on the part of the entire staff. Scores of chapel announcements and pep talks had to be made. Class meeting after class meeting had to be called; even personal work was resorted to in order to get a few dilitary ones who put off picture taking until the last minute.

However persistent work won out, and gradually the number of students on the "no-picture" list decreased. Finally, with one last desperate effort on the part of staff members, class presidents, and other students, the one-hundred-per-cent mark was reached.

Thus, Harding can look forward to a bigger and more complete Petit Jean than has ever before been published. For the first time they will find a complete record of the entire student body.

L. D. Frashier, the editor, states that some of the copy has already been sent to press, and the work on the book should progress more speedily now that the big problem of picture taking is over.

Oklahoma Club Elects Officers

Wayne Smethers was elected vice-president of the Oklahoma Club at a meeting called Thursday by Hugh Rhodes, president.

Jewel Blackburn was chosen secretary-treasurer until the return of T. Rose Terry, who holds that office.

Pictures for the Petit Jean were discussed, during the meeting.

MUSICAL LYCEUM TO BE PRESENTED AS 3RD NUMBER

Miss Mary Elliott's Pupils Will Give Piano Quartet; Mixed
Chorus And Violin Ensemble To Also Have Part.

Continuing this year's lyceum series, the music and dramatic departments will present a mixed program the evening of February 15, as the third lyceum.

Miss Mary N. Elliott, head of the piano department, will present four of her pupils in a piano quartet, "Galop-Marche" by Lagnac, played by Josephine Stewart, Wanda Hartsell, Maxine Paxson, and Mary Agnes Evans. Mozart's "Sonata in G" will be played as a duet by Maxine Paxson and Mary Agnes Evans.

A violin ensemble composed of Mrs. R. A. Ward's pupils will play two numbers of their own selection.

The fifty-one voices of the mixed chorus will be heard in two Old English madrigals, "Come Again, Sweet Love" and "Now is the Month of Maying." They will also interpret Franz Schubert's "Am Meer" and will conclude the musical portion of the program singing a Bach chorale, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" accompanied by the violin ensemble and piano.

"They're None of Them Perfect," a one-act play by Sophie Nerr will be presented by the lyceum players under Mrs. Coleman's direction to conclude the program. The all-woman cast includes Miss Fern Hollar, Miss Elsie Mae Hopper, Miss Mary Elliott, Miss Pauline Owen, and Mrs. Ray Stapleton.

Academy Students Give Chapel Program Saturday Morning

Mrs. Geogre S. Benson presented several members of her academy Latin class in a skit and a one-act play during the chapel period last Saturday.

The cast was coached by Miss Nell O'Neal under the supervision of Mrs. Coleman.

Characters in the skit, entitled "Great Caesar's Ghost," were Marcelia, Margaret Jane Sherrill; Marcus, T. M. Hogan; Caesar's ghost, Willie Renner; and the American, Keith Coleman.

Caesar's ghost stressed the fact that over half of the words of the English language come from the Latin; that the doctor, the lawyer, the dentist, should know some Latin; that even the nurse will profit by the use of it; that the teacher of English and of science can ill afford not to know Latin; that most scientific terms are Latin; and that Latin helps in the study of French and Spanish; also that Latin will enable one to understand English grammar.

A Day Without Latin presented an amusing description of the difficulties that arose when a young son attempted to convince his father that he did not need to take a Latin course. Before the curtain is pulled the son agrees that he should study Latin. Characters were Mr. Brown, T. M. Hogan; Alice, their sixteen year-old daughter, Ruth Roach; Bob, their thirteen year-old son, Paul Hogan; Mrs. Brown, Verdeen Brown.

WHO ARE THE LEADERS?

An interesting survey was made last week by a senior which leads to the point of just who the leaders of our school are and how are they standing scholastically.

Checking on the recently adopted honor system and the leaders of the various organizations this student found that the majority of our "school leaders" are of the mediocre type scholastically and do not belong to the "bookworm" class. He compiled some astonishing figures to prove his point. Out of all the leaders of the numerous organization on the campus only 3.33% were ranked in the upper 10% of each class' honor rolls. In fact, only one president of a certain club on the campus can boast of that mark. In the 25% of each class group there were only 20%. Six student leaders were in this section. Coming on down to the upper 50% of each class exactly one-third of the group were placed in this section. Then below the 50% mark came the majority of the student leaders. In this group were 43.33% of all campus presidents were ranked.

This survey does not prove anything in particular, except one point—It doesn't take good grades to become a leader in your group. Half of our college life is our associations with our fellow students and in making friendships that will carry over through college days.

Who are the leaders in the campus organizations? They are Mr. and Miss Average student.

TWO EFFICIENT WORKERS

For the first time in the history of the school the Petit Jean officials managed to get every member of the student body to have a picture made for the annual. This event sounds rather common and most students take it as a matter of fact and dismiss it. However an investigation would prove that it takes a little more work than just getting up in chapel and announcing that the photographer is here.

Now the officials can rest assured that this will be the largest yearbook in history, and since each student has a part in the annual, an incentive for purchasing one would be created. Remember, February 1 is the deadline for reserving an annual for one dollar. This Thursday the price will go up 25 cents. Why not save that quarter, since you're going to get an annual anyway?

And now, inconclusion, let me congratulate the Petit Jean officials for their splendid work. You have mastered a difficult task. L. D. Frashier and Jack Wood Sears, and such earnestness should result in a perfect yearbook!

Meditations

MABLE DEAN McDONIEL

There are a number of contests open now—the radio-skit contest, the poetry contest, the oratorical essay contest on Peace, and the Bison men and women's oratorical contest coming up later.

Why not start to work on one of these and work to win? No one wins without trying and if it isn't along your line—try it for the practice.

It takes a little work to enter a contest. True, only one can win, but the practice is worth the effort.

BACKSTAGE did an excellent job of analysing chapel speakers last week.

Those girls who plan to teach children could store up a wealth of knowledge and glean a thousand valuable truths from Mrs. Cathcart's girls' class each Sunday morning. Few have the power to portray the beautiful old Bible characters and reveal the hidden charms in the old stories as she. By delving into the depth of them and recreating real beings for us, Mrs. Cathcart gives to the stories more realism than they have before had for me.

Since both juniors and seniors advocate last week's editorial—that of including payment for the yearbook in the fees, it is to the sophomores and freshman, seniors of '42 and '43 that we now look. And we believe that after considering—that other schools use the method—the decrease in cost—the possible payment by term—the inclusion of everyone's picture—that a better and larger yearbook is possible—they too, will say: "Include the yearbook in the fees—we'll pay it and forget about it. Then years later we will be mighty thankful we have a Petit Jean."

With Other Colleges

In the last 19 years the Rose Bowl football game has drawn a total gate of approximately $5,700,000.

The College Profile, student publication of Hendrix College, Conway, is sponsoring a campaign to take fingerprints of every student enrolled there. Hendrix will be the first college in Arkansas to take fingerprints of its students.

Eighty-three seniors have made applications for degrees at Abilene Christian College. This is the largest number on record.

Freshmen women at Madison College get more mail than the members of the other three classes.

Boxers from several colleges in this and surrounding states will enter the Fort Smith Golden Gloves tournament February 15, 16, and 17.

Fourteen students graduated at mid-term from Arkansas Polytechnic College.

At the University of Texas they have "Dead Week," a week devoid of quizzes and home assignments, just preceding final examinations to allow the students to study for the exam. The result, according to a local theater manager, is that there is a sizeable increase in theater attendance during "Dead Week."

Fragments . . .

The main topic on the campus this week is, "Shall I vote to have my yearbook included in the fees?"

Why not practice some of that economy you talk so much about and buy $6.50 worth for $5.25. You pay $1.50 for your picture otherwise and the new plan will be at your face value of only 25 cents for your picture. But I suppose the value of your face remains a matter of opinion.

And talking about faces I heard this one on a frosh. When asked what she did when she saw an unusually beautiful girl she replied, "I look for a while and then I get tired and lay the mirror down."

TRUE FRIENDSHIP

Mac Timmerman

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if you do whatsoever I command you." (John 15:13-14).

Have you ever realized the real significance of this statement spoken by our Saviour? Have you ever done anything which required the real spirit of friendship toward the person for whom you were doing it? Surely you have, but is that enough? Were you such a friend as our Saviour was to us?

In one of His parables, Jesus tells of the good Samaritan who stopped by the wayside to take a wounded stranger to an inn, while others had passed him by. Have you shown kindness like this to a friend?

Yet there is still a better example of friendship; that is, the suffering of Christ on the cruel cross of Calvary, shedding His blood for the remission of your sins and mine. Yes, He demonstrated His true friendship by dying on the cross. What have you done to show yours? He said that if you were his friend you would keep His commandments. In another place, he says "If you love me you will keep my commandments."

Can you say that you have been obedient to His will? If not, you are not his friend, nor are you a friend of his saints.

So far we have emphasized the friendship we should show toward Christ. Included in that friendship is that which we should have toward our neighbor. "Love thy neighbor as thyself." "As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye also unto them likewise." Again the Redeemer has stressed friendship. Do you observe these? They are self-explanatory.

On friendship and the love for fellowmen that it involves, Robert Louis Stevenson wrote: "We love our mothers otherwise than we love our fathers; a sister is not as a brother to us; and friendship between man and woman, be it never so unalloyed and innocent, is not the same friendship between man and man."

In order to be happy and blessed of God, let us be friends both with Christ and with men. This is a fulfillment of the law.

Backstage

BY EARL STOVER

Applause in chapel has been mentioned in the Bison several times lately, and I herewith take opportunity to state my views about it. I am opposed to applause at the end of a speech of a religious nature, whether the speaker be a member of the faculty or a visitor.

Applause at the end of a sermon makes it seem light, as if it were merely intended for entertainment. A playlet or program meant purely for entertainment may properly be applauded, if it merits applause. Even some of the seniors, reputedly the most dignified class in school, have been clapping loudly at some of the recent speeches. (I am told that a few of the teachers do, too).

It seems as if the social clubs are backward about using the Saturday chapel period. I enjoy the Saturday programs, (when we have one) and I think everyone else does. Let's have more of them.

Mr. Kirk tells me that he was forced to cancel a few programs because of flu and cold weather but may be able to present them when the weather warms up.

What is your opinion on the suggested inclusion of the cost of the Petit Jean with the activity fees? Think it over and vote as you think best.

NATURE'S HOUSE CLEANING

By Ralph Stirman

Dame nature shook her mattress
And cloaked the earth in white,
She set her house in order
And then she lit the light.

It looked all clean and spotless
But her cleaning was in vain,
The light, too hot, soon melted it
And muddied it with rain.

Now nature's house is dirty
What can she do but shrug,
Her lesson's learned, she mustn't sweep
The dirt beneath the rug.

A chip on the shoulder indicates there's wood higher up.

Girls' Clubs Make Plans For Winter Term Social Functions

W. H. C.

Mary Starnes, Olivene Merritt and Mrs. Carlon Hocutt were hostesses to members of the W. H. C. Club at their regular meeting Saturday evening, at 7:30, in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Hocutt.

During the business meeting plans for club activities were discussed. The annual Country Supper will be given at Hickory Ridge in the high school auditorium. ALL STAR BASKETBALL GAME

It would have been a very good game if all the boys on the two all star teams had reported, but, as it was with those out, the burden was left for a few boys. It seems to me there is a lacking of team loyalty somewhere. This should not be so on anybody's part, especially a person who has been selected on an all star team. In larger schools when a person fails to show up for a game or any practice he has a tough time ever making the first teams. You may not agree with me, but I think that a person doesn't deserve the honor of being on an all star team if he isn't behind his team, giving them everything he is capable of giving. This game was the final game of the season, one that had the crowd wondering if the first team could beat the second team, that is, until the game was well under way. At the half the high school had a game of gym hockey just to show the crowd what might be expected a little later in the season.

HIGH SCHOOL ALL STAR TEAM

It is the desire of everyone to make the first or the all star team of the school or league that he may be playing in. Six boys on the high school teams were given that honor last week when they were selected to represent the most outstanding players on the floor. There may be some who failed to be mentioned on the honorable-mention list, but it should cause them to play harder the next time. These boys have had a time of it this term, playing almost every day and having plenty of games to cause them to give all they had for their team, and I think that they should be complimented on the fine sportsmanship that they have shown on the floor.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Ending their basketball season with a very successful record this past week, the Pirates took first place under the leadership of Vernice Burford. Second place went to the Basketeers, who weren't as lucky as the Pirates but lost two games and won three. Third place was captured by the Chieftans, and fourth and last place was occupied by the Phantoms. About thirty-five girls took part in basketball, getting plenty of exercise and enjoyment from the games. There were plenty of thrills throughout the season, and the girls showed their desire to play by being out for every game their team played. The girls have a good director; and they enjoy working under Miss Alston very much.

High School All-Star Selection Made By Coach Berryhill

Announcement of the high school all-star team in basketball was made last week.

Six boys were selected on the team with two being mentioned on the honorable mention and three were mentioned as having been faithful for all practice games.

With the exception of very few games there was a toss-up as to who would be the winners but finally the Reds won out and are now considered the high school champions.

Those making the all-star team are as follows:

T. M. Hogan, Red Forward. T. M. led the group in total points made for the season and along with this he turned in a neat job of guarding.

Colis Campbell, Black guard. Colis was one of the best floor workers on the court. There was none that surpassed him in dribbling and handling the ball.

"Red" Chandler, Red, forward. Red had what it took to hold his man down and at the same time collect some points himself.

Bob Bell, Black, guard. Bob held his men together and was responsible for many of his teams points. It was very seldom that his man got away to make any points.

Donald Hall, Red center. Donald was the best passer on the court and helped his teammates win the championship by passing the ball into one of his men under the goal.

Cliff English, Black, center. Cliff was the tallest player on the court. With the reach that he had it made him one of the best centers because he was able to give his team the tip off.

Honorable mention were Keith Coleman and James Bradley.

Those faithful for practice were Hershel Erwin, Paul Hogan, and Johnnie Landrum.

Selections Made For Boys' Volley Ball Teams

Selections for the boys' volley ball teams have been made. There were four teams selected from thirty-four boys who signed up for this activity.

Each team will play the other teams three games of fifteen points each time they meet, and they will play two rounds. After the two rounds have been completed the team with the most games won from all matches will, hold the school championship.

The teams are as follows:

APACHES: Gorman Wilks, Leland Waters, Ex Berryhill, Louise Green, Kenneth Davis Lee Farris, Eugene Cone, Carl Wilson and J. E. Bartley.

PAWNEES: Harold Koehler, Granville Westbrook, "Toar" Pryor, Jack Lay, Johnnie Greenway, C. L. Bradley, S. F. Timmerman, Quentin Gateley, and Doug Harris.

CHEROKEES: A. W. Bennett, C. L. Ganus, Bill Bell, Ralph Stirman, Reese Walton, Dan Spencer, Bill Stokes, and Dennis Harris.

COMANCHES: Wayne Smethers, Clark Stevens, "Blackie" Berryhill, Bill Landrum, Floyd Chubb, Doyle Earwood Buck Harris, and Frank Blue.

Girls To Continue Basketball Instead Of Gym Hockey

After completing one series of play, the girls wanted to continue their season of basketball. With all this enthusiasm and interest shown, Miss Alston couldn't refuse the girls.

Winning three games against no defeats in the first series the Pirates came out victorious over the other three teams. Captain for many of the Pirates scores and one of the most outstanding players on the court. Other outstanding players are: Mary Dell Williams, Thelma O'Daniel, and Myrene Williams.

Miss Alston also decided that this series would be played between the classes as in the boy's league. Points will be given as in all previous activities. Concluding this series, an all-star team will be chosen. The first game will be played this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock.

Advantage In Height Proves Decisive Factor

The All-Stars showed their superiority by downing the second team 44 to 25 last week.

Led by Jack Lay the all-stars took the lead from the beginning and held it throughout the game although they were pressed closely several times in the first period.

The all-stars capitalized on the height that their men had on the second team but they were never able to hold all of the men down.

Coming back into the game after the half the all-stars began to settle down and hit the basket from all angles. Before they could be stopped they had built up a safe lead and was well on the road to victory.

The second team lost the ball several times on wild passes that cost them plenty. The all-star team took advantage of these wild passes and converted many of them into points.

Yingling was high point man for the night with 18 points. Lay and Stevens were close behind with 17 and 12 points each.

Twelve fouls were committed by the second team and four for the all-stars.

All-stars	Pos	2nd Team
Smethers (5)	F	(18) Yingling
Stevens (12)	F	(2) Harris
Wilks (9)	C	(3) E. Berryhill
Lay (17)	G	B. Berryhill
