Dear Don:

It was certainly nice to receive your letter of December 18th. Due to the holidays and various activities in connection with the church, I have been unable to answer the letter before this time. I certainly hope this finds you in good shape in every respect.

My wife and I visited with your family about a week ago and found them all fine. We enjoyed the visit very much, as usual.

I know that possibly your holidays were not as lively as they would have been had you been home, and certainly one appreciates home the more one is away.

I am glad to learn you have located a church of Christ and hope that you will get to attend quite regularly. I had the opportunity of visiting with Brother Bradfield during the Christmas holidays when I was home. He is still going strong and doing a good work. His work at the college is quite confining right at this time, but he is the same old Bradfield.

The young people of the congregation have in the last few months become quite active. We have had several parties and get-togethers for the group. Ailene Spicer is going back to school again and as far as I know doing quite well. Her father had to be placed in a mental institution for a short time, but is now home again.

We appreciate hearing from you. Glad to learn that everything is going well with you. We sent you our prayers and best wishes.

Your brother in Christ,

John Allen Chalk.
