Thirty-four members of the speech choir and their director, Mrs. J. N. Armstrong, presented a program at the Letona school house last Thursday evening at 4:15. This was the first off-campus trip made by the group this school year, and it was under the sponsorship of Mr. G. S. Robinson.

In the Lambda Sigma Club, Arthur Brown and Joe Sumner were co-presidents, while Dr. J. N. Armstrong was secretary. The program entitled "Round-Ups of Mzus" was given by the Lambda Sigma Club. Songs in the play were by George Wilks, Wayman Hemingway, D. C. Lawrence, Marlin Graham, Douglas Bonds, Ernest Smith, and Louis Guevara. Mrs. Brown and Jack Baker were guest soloists on the program.

Throughout the evening selections were given by the mixed group, as well as the "girls" and "boys" quartets.

Maid of the mixed group was Yvonne Lindsey of "Dandi", and an off-key "Singing the Blues and the Maid." The girls' choir, "Little Co.," was performed by Misses Martha Mitchell, Enid Duke, "If No One Ever Marries Me," and John Barnes Wellesly, "I Don't Know," was the "boys" quartet. The "girls" were also given by the girls' choir, "The Romanza of the Romance," the "Blues and the Maid," "The Freshmen Four," and "St. Catherine, St. Catherine." The girls' quartet was heard in the "Big Bosh" by Paul Lawrence; "Cupid Swallows," "Dark Town Lullaby," and "The Way to Your Heart," and was received extremely and proved to be a great success.

Oratorical Contest Appeals Interest Of Harding Orators

As long as I can remember, there has been an appeal for publication, present, containing seems to be a magazine, newspaper, or listener to the radio, without being induced to become a subscriber, instead in the insurable types of conduct being offered. The problem is presented, with context for humanity, required while 18 years ago, under the supervision of the Press Club and sponsorship of Robert Gilkey, Frank Rhodes, and Morris Wett, we made the personnel of the organization for the contest. They were all outstanding members, members, those that were involved by the University of Arkansas, received the world medal in the second year's contest.

With a change of sponsors, Mr. Corley, International Oratorical contest for the past four years, pastor, home, history, and Biblical aspects have been used traditionally as a subject matter. "The life of the woman's division." The "high school is that misses have never been effective, been in temporary organization and the interior Arkansas organization. His appointment is especially significant at this time since the progress of the business in the area are being altered with current requirements.

Prof. Stapleton is now in his tenth year of teaching at Harding, having taught 4 years as a student and 6 years as a regular member. He received his B.A. degree at Harcuil and expects to receive his master's degree from the University of Oklahoma this summer.

Prof. Stapleton graduated from Thomasville School, Texas, Texas, before entering Harding as a student.

Love Had Little Part in Original Valentine's Day

By Margaret Lavato

Did you know that St. Valentine's Day has nothing to do with the customary connections with the 14th of February? In the days of yore, wolves were especially abundant and dangerous, and a destroyer of wolves was held in honor. In 1769, the city of Rome celebrated the feast of Lupercus, in honor of Lupercus, the wolf slayer. At this festival it was customary, among other things, for the young people to draw lots for partners. Hundreds and thousands of years later the custom spread to England and France, and then it was called St. Valentine's Day.

St. Valentine was a priest in Rome whose life came to an end about the year 273, during the persecution of the early Christians. He was beheaded with clubs and beheaded. Later the church canonized him, made him a saint, and so it was very unlikely that a woman could ever use it. In the old superstition, practical tricksters of pagan Rome, a new feast was introduced in place of Lupercus, to which the name of St. Valentine was given.

England about this time of the year, kids chose their mates, and probably chance was the cause of the young men and women choosing valentines, or special living friends, on this day. Besides the choosing of a person for a valentine for the year, it became the custom in England, from which we get our observance of the day, for the two persons who were valentines to exchange presents. Afterwards it became the practice for the gentlemen only to give a present. Usually there was, or at least a note, with the present. This custom has continued to the present time.

Andrea Peppe, who lived in the reign of Charles II, and whose remarkable diary gives us a clear picture of the social life of that time, mentions that the Duke of Buckingham, who had been drawn by Miss Stuart as her valentine, gave that lady for a present 400,000 florins worth 4,000, and the gentleman who drew her for the valentine the next year gave her a ring worth about £150.

A young lady who drew Miss Peppe for her valentine, received a present from him some green silk stockings, gloves, and shoes, which pleased the young lady very much. And to Mrs. Peppe, who saw her husband for her valentine, he gave a ring made of a turkey stone set with diamonds.

According to custom that in 1832 as many as 1,141,990 passed through the London post office, if choosing on explanation for the decision, he makes the custom suger-

The association of the lovestruck festival with St. Valentine seems to be due to the fact that the feast of the saint falls in early February, and is partially accidental.

In the second game of the doubleheader last Thursday night in the gym, the juniors barely nixed out the freshmen by a score of 11 to 10. The freshmen, handicapped by the loss of Morton Jackson, found consolation in a new addition to their squad, Curtis Walker.

Basketball — It looks as though the contest for the number one spot in the basketball race has now started a bitter feud between the juniors and the seniors. Both teams have one more game scheduled and neither can stand a loss.

The juniors趋势 with the score tonight and the seniors will meet the fresh in the play off over their first game. However, I do not believe either the fresh or the sophs will succeed in upsetting the league leaders. The sophs just haven't got the material to do it unless the juniors play their way below par and the fresh offensive has been so weakened by the loss of Jack that I do not look for much of a threat from them.

These last games will undoubtedly be the most hard fought of the season, and the crowd is sure to want to witness to each and all. The attendance so far has been remarkably fine. Let's keep up that good spirit and be in there rooting for our classes:

Badgers!

I didn't do so well on my selection of the singles champion. It seems that Obama is always meeting my predictions. He was responsible for all the matches in paddle tennis when he walked all over Chubb after I had picked Chubb not to lose. Then in the badminton tourney he finished on me when he lost to Scrapp in the semi finals. Despite that fact and the fact that Obama's won't last but either in singles, I am still坚信ing my original selection of Obama and Canaday as the winning double team.

Wrestling — This year most people expect something a great deal more. It is true that wrestling is rough but in the league at least it is sport as football, and no one ever thinks of it. This opinion of the sport of wrestling is very much to the advantage of the fresh, professional hackers that may be seen in every carnival or rodeo show that comes along.

Another wrestling according to intercollegiate rules, however, is not a game of tricks or sham but a duel of skill which needs much science. There are a number of recognized holds in wrestling, such as the quarter valve, writed lock, arm bar, etc. However, one does not need a technical knowledge to wrestle or to appreciate the sport.

As soon as the basketball season is over, the wrestling tournament will begin. If you are hesitating to come out and meet some fellow in your club happens to win a little experience but you should not let that worry you. Any experienced wrestler will tell you that the inexperienced man may often times make more trouble than the man with much experience. There is plenty of opportunity to pick up points in this sport, because in most克莱 hisfield is wide open. About the only men likely to enter who have had much experience are Spencer, Exberry, and Greenway.
