Dear Sister Laws:

It was certainly good to get your letter and hear that everyone is all right.

I am sure that the mixup about the home of your preacher came from the last letter Louise wrote.

I was very happy to learn that you are interested in having me back for a meeting. Of course, it made me feel very good; however, in view of my move, which will come early next year, and the other meetings that I already have scheduled, it would be much better for me if we could make plans for this meeting to start the third Sunday in August, 1961. If this is not possible I probably can still make arrangements to be there in 1960, but I do want to stress that it will create somewhat of a hardship on my part. After talking with the brethren there, I hope you can come up with a solution and let me know.

Sue and I both look forward to being with you and, of course, that is another factor which has influenced my suggestion that my meeting be in '61. Under the circumstances it would possibly be difficult for Sue to make arrangements to be with me in 1960.

Please give my best regards to Louise and to all of the fine brethren there. We send you our love and best wishes.

Your brother in Christ,

John Allen Chalk
