He will speak Friday night at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Arkansas College Press Association convention to be held here Friday and Saturday.

The speaker graduated from Pottstown, Pennsylvania, and was editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin and the newspaper, The Echo. For two years he was an assistant in the classroom.

He has done two and one half years of special graduate study at Harvard and Columbia universities.

The national Pulitzer Prize was given to the Star last week night at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Arkansas College Press Association convention to be held here Friday and Saturday.

The program will be given in concert form and Sarah Beth Brown will be accompanied in the piano. The group has been practicing daily this week in preparation for the program. There will be no admission charged to the program and all are invited to come. Mr. Stansell said that since this is test week everyone should help the group and program and forget about their tests.

The girls trio and the men's quartet will also sing several numbers. The girls trio will sing "Joy of Life," "Chariot," "Trains," and "Drink With Thine Eyes." The trio is composed of Ardieh Brown, Frances Welch, and Charlene Foreman. The quartet will sing the "Woman in the Shoes," and "Shoeshine." It is composed of Lois Green, Jim Bill McIntire, Don Harrell, and Edwin Stone.

Other numbers on the program will be: "Wake, Awake For Night Is Flying," "Veni Jesus," "Hymn to Night," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Loch Leonard," "Matins Lovely Maid," "Blow, Blow the Trumpet," "Trinity Nups," "The Carolan Go Rolling A­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­�...

Tagmas Go To Red Bluff

Red Bluff is the scene of the Tagmas spring function. They left at seven o'clock Saturday morning, after having eaten breakfast in the college dining hall.

Those who attended the function were Clifton Horton and Frances Williamson; Don Harrison and Willis Dean Powell; George Pearson and Mildred Knowles; Doris Studebaker and Beth Nowaman; and Ferrel Mason and Dolene Heberd.

Miss Ettie Mae Hopper, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stapleton chaperoned the group.

Tofeet

Eloise Reese and Ettie Dennington were co-hostesses to the Tofeet Club at a regular meeting in the room of Eloise Reese, Friday night.

After a regular business session in which the spring function was brought up, the members were served tuna fish sandwiches, potato chips, cookies, and iced tea.

Beta

The Beta Club spent the day at Doniphan Lake for their spring function. Miss Hollar chaperoned the group.

Those who attended were Bonnie Sue Chandler, Ruth Benson, George Reagan, Dickie Dean, Billee Palace Armstrong, Vivian Smith, and Jane Know.

Shopping for the bride-to-be. The married ladies present wrote out "Recipes for Happiness" for the bride-to-be while the numbers of the group deciphered scrambled names and matched them with their lovers. Also a string game was played to decide the next bride and Padge Killings drew the lucky string.

Many beautiful gifts, such as an electric toaster, refrigerator, and various others were received by Reba.

Guests were served punch and cookies. The guests included both friends from the college and lady friends from Searcy.

Practice Recital Held For Voice Students’ Benefit

By Clinton Jenius

“I want to be in the next one, too,” said one student stage fright, as she reviewed the recital notes. Mrs. Florence Jewell, Harding’s voice instructor, had presented her and six other students in the third and fourth recital.

Thursday afternoon last.

Prof. Leonard Kirk, head of the department, Mrs. Jewell, and her voice students were present. Those participating were: Bobbie Waddell, “Summer Rain” by Wilfred; Christine Neal, “Hodge Bosw” by Schubert; Vera Madge Ellis, “I’ll Call” by Mozart; Margaret Jane Purnell, “In Time of Roses” by Reichardt; Willi Dean Snow, “Cin­ garage” by Foster; Tandy Blackburn, “Beautiful Dreamer” by Reichardt; Willi Dean Snow, “Cin­ garage” by Foster; Tandy Blackburn, “Beautiful Dreamer” by Reichardt; Willi Dean Snow, “Cin­ garage” by Foster; Tandy Blackburn, “Beautiful Dreamer” by Reichardt; Willi Dean Snow, “Cin­ garage” by Foster; Tandy Blackburn, “Beautiful Dreamer” by Reichardt.

Garrett Speaks

At Seary School

For Colored Children

By Dale Larson

Almost one hundred colored children, from the kindergartens to the eighth grade, heard Garrett Garrett, a missionary to Africa, Thursday morning.

Garrett gave a general description of Africa, the people, and customs, calling special attention to the peculiar native schools. He described the customs and way of life in the villages and towns, and told about some of their handwork. Some native inventions, as well as the types of clothing worn by Garrett, were exhibited.

The children were delighted in seeing some children’s writings in an African tongue.

Garrett’s talk was one in a series of lessons conducted every other week in the Sturgis school for colored children by members of the Missionary Forum.

Bison Sports

Jupiter Pluvius threatened for a few moments to douse the track and halt the track meet in the mid afternoon, but met only weakly from the participants and spectators alike which seemingly drove him away.

The day was perfect; the meet was close enough to draw excitement. For a time anyway, and the crowd was large, thus marking up another Harding Track and Field Day as a success.

Due to preliminaries held earlier in the week before time was conserved and the meet was run off. In a shorter time than it usually takes.

Wesson was the deciding factor with his 17 individual points.

He swam over the hurdles, both low and high, to take them for his class.

Jack Croom displayed a great deal of courage when he participated in several events despite the fact that both of his feet were failing. He should have easily won the low hurdles, and possibly the 440 yard dash also, if he hadn’t fell on the low hurdles and injured himself again.

The juniors opened up in the first event, on the way to take a lead with eight points.

As an old saying goes, “If you want to win, you must win big.”

Wesson added greatly to the junior team. Their general all-round ability gave them the lead.

The girls failed to show the same interest as the sophomores; they won the majority of events.

The meet was much more interesting this year since there was not a walk-away. Last year the seniors had too much for the other classes and scored twice as much as the nearest opponent. One of Sidney Blackburn’s high points was in his acceleration.

The girls failed to show the same interest that they have shown in previous years. I was surprised to find that the sophomores girls did not even enter a team. What is the matter with them?

Maybe they didn’t feel that they had the ability, but who did? It is better to have tried and lost than to sit on the sidelines and let someone else do it.

As a whole the meet was much more interesting than any previous years.

What was the matter with them?
