President and Son Tour Holy Land

Returning just in time to begin his first year as president of his Alma Mater, Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr. arrived in Searcy August 31 from a whirlwind tour of the Middle East, visiting Syria, Lebanon, Egypt, Jordan and Israel, then stopping briefly in Greece. He was accompanied on the trip by his son, Clifton III, a senior at Harding.

The pair left New York August 13 and spent a short night (by flying East) arriving the next evening in Cairo, Egypt, where they joined a group already on tour.

"Probably the most enjoyable part of the trip was our time in Egypt," Dr. Ganus said in musing over the trip, "for we were so very much impressed with the sheer massive engineering feat involved in building the pyramids." He noted that the largest pyramid is 710 feet square at the base and contains three million stones, ranging in weight from $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 30 tons. The two climbed to the top of the large pyramid, an ordeal that took about 20 minutes. "It wasn't so bad going up, for we were climbing into the stack, but we got an entirely different feeling about it all when we looked down those 545 feet and realized that somehow we had to get down," he remembered.

Biblical Cities

The men visited many cities which were high points, Jerusalem, Nazareth, Jerico, Capernaum, Bethlehem, Bethany, Damascus and a number of others. "I swam in the Mediterranean Sea and the Dead Sea, I dangled my feet in the Jordan river, but the Sea of Galilee — I fell in!", Dr. Ganus said, explaining that he had meant only to wade. However, he hit a slippery spot and down he went, pocketbook and all.

Dr. Ganus and Son Astride Camels

"If I had a disappointment, it was that the area has become so commercialized. Everything is pinpointed as to the exact spot each Biblical event occurred.

"Even though I knew the precise spots were not known, it was thrilling to be in the places Jesus traveled and talked about. The part I will remember best is the altogether better perspective I got of the things I have studied all my life."

"We lodged on the top of Mt. Olives, walked through the Garden of Gethsemane and crossed over the brook Kidron. I feel that I understand better what Christ meant in the parables when He spoke of the sower, shaking the dust off his feet, washing the disciples feet, etc. I could see how the man going down

President's Corner

Every member of our Alumni Association will be thrilled with our lectureship this fall. For the first time in our lectureship history we will have alumni exclusively appearing on the program. While this would not be a desired program each year, it will make for an interesting and enjoyable experience for this one lectureship.

Lectureship Theme

The theme itself is intriguing, "Christ in the Space Age." Our society is undergoing violent upheavals. While the race for the moon speeds up, the moral pace lags. Men are so enthralled with what is "out there" they are ignoring "what's here."

God's redemption for man is for those "in all the world." Our responsibility is to the nations and people of the world.

I'm looking forward with anticipation to hearing those scheduled on the program. We can listen to the wisdom of George Benson, F. W. Mattox, John Banister and J. Harvey Dykes. We can share the enthusiasm of George Tipps, Clifton Ganus Jr., Jim Bill McInteer and Jimmy Allen.

Scholars such as Alvin Hobby, Gerald Kendrick, Clark Stevens, and J. D. Bales will conduct forums. I haven't begun to mention all the capable and outstanding men who will be appearing on the program.

Each speaker is experienced and outstanding in his area of work. I truly believe this will be the best lectureship we have ever had.

Big Enrollment Increase

You alumni who visit will be seeing the largest enrollment Harding has ever had. We are well over the 1400 figure for our four year program. While we are not striving for size, we certainly want to make Christian education available for every family who desires it.

Many of you have helped make possible this healthy increase in enrollment. Quite a number of you arranged for dinners last year to which high school juniors and seniors were invited. We are wanting you to continue to help us in this manner.

Cliff Cronin is helping to set up such a dinner for us in Denver in October. He will be notifying alumni in that area and requesting your cooperation, I'm sure. I will have the privilege of being there to talk to the young people and our alumni about Harding.

Jimmy Allen and I are going to Bloomington, Indiana, for a youth lectureship in October. He will be the featured speaker and I will have an opportunity to acquaint the young people with the advantages of Christian education.

Amazed at Changes

I'm sorry that each one of you cannot be on the campus at least once a year. Recently Kermit and Mildred Ary arrived on the campus after a twenty year absence and I wish you could have heard them as they voiced their amazement and appreciation for the many improvements. Those of us who work here have this experience daily.

We want to continue to remind you of how much we need your help. We must continue to build for our expanding enrollment. We must acquaint more families with the plus factors of Christian education. We must continue to emphasize moral values and characted foundations which will stem our mad rush into the vortex of materialism. We are counting on your help.

Football Captains

Seniors Don Samanie and Bernie Cox will be co-captains of the 1965 Bison football squad as the team prepares for the opener against Northwestern State College September 18.

Samanie, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Samanie of Ft. Worth, Tex., has seen action for the Bisons at end, but this year will also be playing tackle. He is a Biology major, and was president of the Mohican Social Club last year.

Cox, a physical education major from Jacksonville, Ark., is the quarterback for the team, a position he has played throughout his previous three years at Harding. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cox.

to Jericho could fall among thieves. I feel I will always have a better understanding of Jesus' teachings," the traveler recalled.

As could be expected, Dr. Ganus preached several times on the trip. Further proving that Harding College is universal, he encountered Robert Taylor, who attended Harding 1962-64, at Beirut, Lebanon. Here he spoke through an Arabic interpreter, which he admitted was a rather trying effort. He also spoke in Cairo and in Jerusalem.

In Greece the two ascended the Acropolis where they visited the Parthenon, and the Areopagus, where Paul preached a sermon to the Athenians.

"But the best place of all was Searcy, Arkansas and Harding College," the gentleman educator admitted as he settled down to work.

A Good Example

The following letter was received from an alumnus which typifies the spirit which will insure a Harding equal to, if not better than, the Harding you first knew. The name is being withheld because we did not ask permission to use it.

"Enclosed is my personal check in the amount of $25.00 as a contribution to the Greater Harding Program.

"It is my plan to continue this contribution on a monthly basis and if possible increase some as time goes on. This, together with matching gifts by my employer, should be an amount in excess of $500.00 per year to assist in the Harding program."

Potential Captain

"Us Bison Boosters had rather fight than switch," says young Mark Waters as he makes plans to support the 1965 football program at Harding. And he aptly expresses the sentiment of Bison fans as the grid season gets underway at Alumni Field. The future Hardingite is the son of Quinn (BA'60) and Lanelle Gammill ('60) Waters of Gainesville, Fla. and is a third generation Bison Booster. Bev and Nina Waters are his grandparents, and the shirt was a gift from uncles Leighton (BA'64) and Mike (BA'65) Waters. The shiner resulted from a swan dive from his highchair.

The Harding Bison Band Is Bustin' Out All Over

Two years the Harding Band, long a struggling but plucky group of musicians plagued by a shortage of instruments, members and especially uniforms, happily accepted fifty-five shining new dress uniforms that were supposed to have ended their immediate problems. Today the band is awaiting the arrival of fifteen additional uniforms, several new instruments and considerable new music have been acquired, and the outlook is far brighter for the overflow of students seeking a chair with the group.

Director George E. Baggett has parlayed the group into a marching band, a concert band, a stage band, a pep band, and the company will perform for all home football and basketball games, Academy Homecoming, Thanksgiving lectureship, one out-of-town football game, White County Fair, Little Rock Air Force Base and campus concerts. The group will participate in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Band Festival at Ouachita next semester.

Sixty-four musicians will march at the first football game September 25, with John Bowen, a freshman of McGehee, Ark., as drum major. Officers are John Tucker, president, a junior of Grove City, O., Bill Culp, vice-president, a junior from Little Rock, and Kay Smith, secretary-treasurer, a sophomore of Corning. Librarians are Faye Freeman and Sue Bixler. Baggett said that a new half-time program will be presented at each game, but that the traditional ending, the "HC" formation while playing the alma mater, then off the field to the tune of the fight song, will be used at each performance.

Last December the band was granted a two-week tour of the United States Third Army in the Southeastern States, and received wide acclaim for the high quality music presented and conduct of the students.
