News from Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) -

Right now the list is down quite a lot on information concerning the army's plans for mailing drafted men home within the next few weeks. Officers and educators everywhere will soon be on notice of the plans.

However, it is a virtual certainty that by June 18 and 19 years old who are still at college will be able to return home. Other college men who are home will be eligible to take their own courses at home. They shall be assigned to colleges and universities for technical and scientific training.

They probably will be selected on the basis of their training for "as for qualities of leadership, military aptitude and ability for more education."

It is the "teen age plus" plan which resembles the "constant" arrangement both the army and navy have been using at home. Young men are being trained under the constant plan.

The back-to-college plan, of which there is no other plan, is the one to try to get into small arts colleges back. The army and navy probably will take the opportunity to get into a few of them to train men for the service. Many of them are trained in technical subjects.

Students May Get Tickets In Advance

Through the courtesy of Dean Jones, all students who wish to get their bus or train tickets in advance for the holidays are able to do so.

Because of such crowded conditions, Dean Jones urges any student who plans to travel on bus or train to get in touch with his office immediately so as many possible reservation can be made reservation immediately.
Time To Bear Down

The brief suggestion to us that the faculty is going to “dump down,” in class terms, and then by curtail student examination with something that will get ready for a rigid term’s work. We believe some changes must be made before we can noticably improve the quality of our school work. Though we are fully aware of the proposal to curtail the class time and examinations, and it is the school policy. We believe the majority of the students is capable of doing better. Some who are average students are doing work below the average, and the students who should be above the average are satisfied by just getting by.

Curtail “Ball Sessions”

Much time could be saved by curtailing the so-called ball sessions. If they are as popular with the girls as with the boys it means that considerable hours are wasted in idle chatter. More time is what everyone is crying for, and yet, there are valuable hours lost in lingering at the breakfast table, leaving in the hall, or in friendly groups. It is a waste of time, and it’s time to cut down on such sessions.

Get The Job Done

Finally, all will agree that there are only a few real alternatives for college students—either work, or get. It seems that there is too much playing and frolicking in the dormitories at night. Running up and down hallways, yelling and jumping, seems almost too juvenile for a group of college students. At least, such childish playing is not very conducive to conscientious study and work. We’re one hundred per cent for athletics on the athletic field. Not better than a rigorous workout for a high standard of work. The thing we need to do is learn to draw a line between our different activities, and at the proper time take a vigorous part in each.

Neither is college a place to try to live a “play boy” life. If you don’t have a definite accomplishment to accomplish something in this term it is quite certain that you won’t, and very likely you will hinder someone else.

With a new term before us we can make it just what we want it to be. Let’s all get down to some honest bear down, and do the job done.

The Lawyer boys were to be horse shoe champs.

"They swept through the horseshoe tournament, winning every game and taking first place. In gaining first place, they were tied with Ray Keller and Bill Smith, who were many of them being one-sided or few who had never pitched at all. Preparations for the physically handicapped. It was found that with average eyes, and mechanical arms in the
