Looking 'em Over

By Charles Shaffer

Well, two intramurals were started this week. Horseshoes has gotten well under way and the cross-country race was run.

First let us look at the cross-country run. There were only eight runners. Plenty of competition too. The favorite, Virgil Lawyer, won as was expected. He broke the old record set by his brother Raymond two years ago. Virgil beat the record 55 seconds. This is exceptionally good considering that no one has been training.

Another interesting point was the race for last place. The three last men came flying down the last 100 yards like dash men rather than distance runners. There wasn't even a yard between the first and last. Quite a crowd had gathered by this time and they got quite a thrill out of these sprinters.

The sport of horseshoes is providing quite a thrill. Everyone is doing his best or worst (which ever it is) to win. Some of the games are pretty close as the 21-20 score the other day. Most of the games have been won by close scores. However in Thursday's play Clinton Elliot and Bill Smith looked like the champions already. Elliot was pithing on the average of a ringer out of every two throws and Smith was putting in his share also. Lawyer and Shaffer looked pretty good Monday as they won 21-12 and 21-5. Smith and Elliot have had only eleven points scored against them. But one never knows how things will turn out.

Competition in athletics has been good so far this year. However there was a great disappointment Wednesday when only two-thirds of those who signed up for cross-country appeared. I suggest that if we sign up for an intermural event, let's try to be there. I know that sometimes it's hard to make it and sometimes we can't but let's do our best anyway. Only by signing up and staying hitched will we have this keen competition.

Lawyer Wins Cross Country Run

Upsets, thrills, and disappointments all featured in the annual cross-country race over a two-mile course marked with fences, ditches, fields and railroad tracks.

The Zebras, the team composed of Colis Campbell, Bob Rowland and Charles Shaffer, nosed out the Snails, a team made up of Virgil Lawyer, Bob Totheroh and James Ganus, by one point. Because the Anteterripins did not contain a full team they were third in the running.

Virgil Lawyer ran the course in eleven minutes to finish well ahead of Colis Campbell. This time is a new record—the old record being 11 minutes and 55 seconds. Bob Rowland finished third. Richard Chandler and Wyatt Sawyer finished fourth and fifth respectively.

The real race, however was for last place. Bob Totheroh was one-quarter of a step ahead of James Ganus who in turn was the same distance from Shaller.

Lawyer took the lead for first at about the half-mile point and never gave way till the end.

Although fewer men ran than ever before, the competition was keen and every runner was pressed until the end.

Teams Advance In Horseshoes

In Monday's play of the horseshoe tournament, two more teams advanced to the second round.

Neal Watson and Wymer Wisner pulled through to defeat James Ganus and Derral Starling while Richard Chandler and Lucion Bagnetto had little trouble downing George Tipps and Thomas Love. Watson and Wisner won over Ganus and Starling 21-12, 17-21 and 21-20. Bagnetto and Chandler won 21-8 and 21-14.

Horseshoes continued again Thursday after a layoff since Monday, the delay being caused by the cross-country run. Wyatt Sawyer and Joe Cannon downed Edwin Stover and Buddy Vaughn while Clinton Elliott and Bill Smith downed Bill Hatcher and Bob Tetheroh. Both winners had an easy time of it. Cannon and Sawyer won 21-8 and 21-14. Elliott and Smith won easily 21-8 and 21-3.

165 Books Added To Library

One hundred and sixty-five books have been added to the Harding College Library this term. Twenty nine of these were given by Mrs. J. C. Kingsley, the former Miss Maurine Rhodes, an alumni of Harding College.

In the reading room there have been added, one dictionary of biographies; five commentaries, one encyclopedia of social sciences in 15 volumes and twenty volumes of bound magazines of 1942.

In the stack room the following have been added: 14 volumes of English, 11 volumes of science, 3 volumes of religious books, 16 volumes of psychology, 7 volumes of education, 10 volumes of art, 28 volumes of history, 2 volumes of biography, 2 volumes of mathematics, 2 volumes of home economics, 1 volume of physical education, 10 volumes of music and 6 volumes of Foreign language.

Miss Catherine Score is the College Librarian.

ACADEMY STUDENTS COMPLETE DECORATIONS

High school students completed interior decorations in the high school rooms Saturday afternoon. About 40 percent of the student body participated in this work which was accomplished in four Saturdays.

All of the rooms have been papered and the floors either painted or varnished. New shades, which were purchased last year by the Beta Club and Dr. Benson, have been placed on the windows. Also, new pictures were bought and hung in the study hall.

The seating system and black board arrangement in the science room have been changed and 24 new chairs have been placed in Room 108.

ROGERS STUDIO SHOWS PROOFS

Rogers Studio showed the proofs for the pictures taken November 4 and 5 for the Petit Jean, November 10 and 11. Orders were placed for pictures of various sizes here because of reduced prices.

The contest for the 30 dollar page of pictures is still on for every class which goes 100 percent in having its pictures made. The Seniors and Sophomores lack one picture each; the Juniors lack 3; the Freshmen, 16; and High School, 20.

The photographer will be back Thursday evening from 6:00 to 9:00 to finish taking the pictures.

FIRST PRIZE: A full evening's entertainment for the winner and his best girl friend (or boy friend). Including being chauffeured downtown, chicken or steak dinner at the Mayfair Hotel with all the trimmings), chauffeured to the show and chauffeured home again.

SECOND PRIZE: Two dollar payment on a 1944 annual.

THIRD PRIZE: One dollar payment on an annual.

Mr. Clay urges that the pictures be as representative of Harding as possible and should be clear enough so that it could be used for a cutting. He, also, assures the contestants that the pictures will be returned. They do not have to be all turned in at the same time but if so desired they can be mailed in as the contestant receives them.

With such a shortage of films every shot should be a good one and the Petit Jean staff wants your pictures. Miss King points out that the more pictures are sent in the more the staff will have to pick from and the better the annual will be.

The winner probably will not be announced until after the Christmas holidays.

SEARS PREACHES HERE SUNDAY

L. C. Sears, dean of the college, preached at the college congregation last Sunday at the morning and evening services.

He spoke in the morning on the importance of growth in the Christian virtues using the first chapter of II Peter as a basis for his talk. "The real key to the kingdom," he said, "is a developed and perfected Christian life." On Sunday night he discussed faith, the first of these virtues on which the others are built. "Faith is the foundation of all Christian living," he said. He also stated that it is the motive of all living, it leads to action and is the culmination of life. He gave as the way to increase faith the continual increase of facts and evidences on which faith rests.

The preceding Sunday J. N. Armstrong preached on the value of the great principles underlying obedience to God. In these lessons he expressed the thought that if people have in their hearts the love for God that they should and a willingness to obey, the doctrinal points of the law will take care of themselves.

—ROUND HERE

Dot Davidson didn't know the answer, but she thought of the people on the campus and said, "About a million." Her answer was right.

Joe Cannon was asked to say a few words at the dedication of the dining hall. Said he, "all of the others have expressed appreciation for the beauty of the cafeteria and the people around the table, but I want to express my appreciation of what's on the table."

Students in music education class had to imitate a rhythm band, so each would be designated an instrument.

Margaret Jane Sherrill said, "I'll be the drum."

"O. K. said Edwin Stover, "I'll beat you."

WHO'S WHO In Harding College

By Joyce Blackburn

Another outstanding senior is Era Madge Ellis better known to the student body as Padgie. She is from Little Rock.

Padgie states that she has lived in Little Rock all of her life except for six months that she lived in Texas. She attended what is said to be the largest high school in the south, Little Rock High School. While there she was a member of the National Honor Society, A Capella Choir and French club. She was also, selected saleswoman for her home room.

Since coming to Harding, Padgie has been an active member of the girl's glee club, trio, sextet, and chorus. She was a nominee for May Queen and also Petit Jean Queen last year. She was in the court on May Day last year. She is now class editor of the Petit Jean.

Padgie likes athletics very much. By her active participation in basketball, softball and swimming last year she won a medal.

There is one strong characteristic about Padgie that everyone notices and that is her thoroughness when she has completed a task. She is every ready to help anyone and her smile shows that she is glad to do it. There is one thing that she doesn't like and that is "Pistol Packing Mama".
