Mrs. Lee Makes Large Gift To Complete Music Center

A $125,000 gift for improved and additional music facilities has been made to the college by Mrs. Claud A. Lee of Gladewater, Tex., according to President Clifton L. Ganus Jr.

The gift will finance construction of a new band room and ten practice rooms, renovation of the existing building and purchasing of new equipment. Much of the renovation, including carpeting, air conditioning and sound-treating, has been accomplished (BULLETIN, September 1968), and construction is expected to begin this month on the 5,200-square-foot addition.

Connecting Addition

Upon completion of the new construction the entire complex will be named the Claud Rogers Lee Music Center in memory of Mrs. Lee's son, who died early last year. It will be valued at about $300,000.

The complex will consist of the two-story, T-shaped building constructed in 1952, the Recording Studio located behind the original building and built in 1966, and the new one-story addition which will join the two existing structures.

Half of the area of the new construction will be devoted to a band room, with storage space, rest rooms and ten practice rooms completing the plans.

College construction crews are expected to begin work as soon as the Art Center is far enough along so that only interior work remains on that facility. Business manager Lott Tucker and construction superintendent W. T. Pearson said the completed Music Center should be ready for use by September.

Remaining Renovation

Included in the remaining renovation work is the air conditioning and carpeting of the large studio comprising the east wing of the older building. The rest of the building was renovated during the summer.

President Ganus said, "Mrs. Lee's gift is a very generous one, and we are extremely grateful for it. It will provide an excellent facility that will be a great value to many students. The music faculty, of course, are overjoyed with their new and re-decorated center."

In making the gift in her son's memory, Mrs. Lee noted that his first interest during his school years was music. He played in the Gladewater High School band and with an orchestra in Houston, Tex. Mr. Lee, who died at the age of 42, lived in El Paso, Tex., several years before his death.

Mrs. Lee is the wife of the late Claud A. Lee of Gladewater.

President Clifton L. Ganus Jr. presents the J. D. Merritts to an appreciative audience who gathered during the Lectureship to honor Bro. Merritt for his long years of service in Africa.

Busy Day Ends Lectureship

The honoring of former missionary J. D. (Dow) Merritt and final speeches by Stanley Shipp of Abilene, Tex., and Goebel Music of Little Rock climaxed the events of Thanksgiving Day and the 45th annual Lectureship, held Nov. 25-28.

In conjunction with the missions emphasis of the Lectureship theme, "Christ: The Light of the World," the college gave to Merritt a Distinguished Christian Leader Award for his 42 years of service in Africa. Now living in Searcy, Merritt was honored at the Preacher-Elder Dinner and then spoke to an open audience on "The Light of Christ: In the Darkness of Africa."

Sharing the agenda on Thanksgiving Day were morning lectures by Cleon Lyles of Little Rock on "God's Great Gift: The Message of Light" and by President Clifton L. Ganus Jr. on "God's People: The Light of the World," an afternoon lecture by Jimmy Allen, assistant professor of Bible, on "Unity: A Radiant Light" and evening lectures by Shipp on "Radiating Christ to Modern Man" and by Music on "Penetrating Moral Darkness."

More than 2,000 persons are estimated to have attended at least one of the lectures, including about 1,500 out-of-town guests from at least 30 states and two foreign countries.

The largest audience came on Wednesday evening, when about 2,100 filled the two auditoriums in which Shipp and Music spoke simultaneously. Other capacity audiences gathered for Allen's lecture, with about 1,600 attending, and for "Why I Believe" by John Clayton of South Bend, Ind., with a total of about 1,800 attending his two presentations.

Dr. Joe Hacker Jr., Bible department chairman, described the Lectureship as "one of the best in the series" since he joined the faculty in 1961.

Featured evening lecturers on Monday and Tuesday were Clarence Dailey of Memphis, Tenn., on "Christ: The Light of the World" and Dale Smith of Elkhart, Ind., on "Take Time to Live in the Light."

Mission Travels Made to Assist Program Plans

College personnel were busy before and during the Christmas holidays with a variety of activities looking to the future of Harding's MISSION/PREPARE program.

Three faculty members and three students made overseas trips in connection with the program. Dr. Joe Hacker, Bible department chairman, and Bob Eubanks, instructor in speech, accompanied three men students to Europe during the holiday period on a fact-finding tour for a projected European missionary training program, and Joe Cannon, visiting professor of missions, made two trips at year-end on behalf of the campus missions program.

Hacker Keynotes

Dr. Hacker was keynote speaker at the 4th annual European Teacher Workshop Dec. 30-Jan. 3 in Weisbaden, Germany, where Eubanks also taught a class.

The five-man team also visited Rome, Florence, Milan, Zurich and Munich to investigate the possibility of establishing a missionary training program for European nationals and American missionaries in Europe.

The students, Mark Woodward of Ft. Worth, Tex., Roger Lamb of Lufkin, Tex., and Wes Harrison of Prescott, Ariz., are interested in attending such a school or program if and when it is begun.

Copenhagen Visited

Eubanks, formerly a missionary to Denmark, also traveled to Copenhagen to help plan summer campaigns for Scandinavia involving Harding students.

Cannon's first trip was to Sao Paulo, Brazil, for the Pan American Lectureship Nov. 18-22, where he represented MISSION/PREPARE and gathered material for missions courses and the Mission Study Group on campus. During the Christmas holidays he went to Japan to help plan summer campaigns. He is on leave from his work in Okinawa this year.

Student Projects Say, 'Let's Get Involved'

By Dennis Organ

There is a story going around about the typical Harding College student doll—you wind it up and it thinks up a project. And more often than not that project is one reflecting the desire of students to be an active, potent force for good in their world, whether that world is Searcy, Arkansas, or the total sphere.

Two such projects conceived and implemented by students this year are Friend Corps and ACTION, one primarily emphasizing social involvement and the other primarily religious involvement, but both born of Harding's unique brand of contemporary student activism and "student power."

Phil Jamison, one of the instigators of Friend Corps, said of his group's program, "We felt so many of us are at Harding to get a Christian education and to learn to work with the people of the world, but that while we are students we make no effort to make contact or share experiences with the 'outside' world. We want to live some Christianity and, of course, help some people at the same time."

Two Areas of Work

Friend Corps currently is a two-pronged program working with children in Southern Christian Home at Morrilton and in the Searcy area. The Morrilton program includes bi-weekly visits to the home, where students engage in physical activities and arts and crafts projects with the children. Later a program will be added in tutoring, which also is the main thrust of the Searcy Friend Corps effort.

"Our main goal, really, is to encourage personal acquaintance between the youngsters and our students," Jamison said. "We feel additional individual attention will benefit both groups."

Jamison noted that there has been no campus-wide push yet to recruit students for the work, but volunteers have had to be turned away for the Saturday trips to Morrilton. Only about 25 have been taken regularly, although more than 150 have indicated an interest in Friend Corps.

Tutoring Begins

The second phase of the work — tutoring — will not get fully under way until the spring semester. About a dozen students have been tutoring Searcy children on a trial basis, and during the spring semester it is hoped that every elementary and junior high school in the area will be able to be served by Harding's students.

"Again, our main hope is to be friends with the children in any way we can. Especially in studies, the students sometimes only lack parental support and motivation to achieve to their full ability," Jamison said.

He added that the program would show the people of Searcy that Harding students were interested in the welfare of the community and were willing to work for its betterment.

Advisory Council

As student coordinator of the program, Jamison, a sophomore from Pasadena, Tex., works with an advisory council composed of Robert Lynn Calhoun of Pasadena, Gary Cope of East Alton, Ill., and Bill Dudley of North Little Rock. Student supervisor of the Morrilton work is George Saunders of Bell, Calif.

Faculty advisors are Dr. Jere Yates, assistant professor of Bible, Dr. Evan Ulrey, professor of speech, and Miss Linda Schmidt, associate instructor in speech.

ACTION also has its accent on service, through weekend religious campaigns co-sponsored with Arkansas churches who seek the help of students. During the fall semester four campaigns were held involving about 130 students.

Kent Brand, a senior from Holdrege, Neb., is student coordinator of the group, who have worked so far in Ft. Smith, West Helena, Marianna and Lepanto. Three or four campaigns are in prospect for the spring semester, Brand said.

Working closely with Brand under the guidance of the Bible department is Phil Johnson of Atlanta, Ga. Each campaign also includes a sponsor from the faculty.

Planning for the year's activities began during the summer when Dean Kilmer of Alva, Okla., wrote many of the congregations in Arkansas and informed them of the students' availability. Thus, the campaigns all have been the product of work by each congregation and have been geared to its individual needs.

Churches Responsive

"Many of the churches have gospel meetings immediately after our door-to-door work," Brand said. "The ones we have worked with have been quite excited over the prospects of their

Blood Donors Give Victory Sign

These Harding students, representing the 147 who gave blood for a 15-year-old hemophiliac in Little Rock early in the fall, give the victory sign upon learning that the youth, Gary Lemons, was to have the cast removed from his broken leg. Large quantities of blood were needed to provide the concentrate necessary to control the internal bleeding.

Art Instructor Predicts

Center Will Be 'One of Finest'

Construction is progressing well on the college's $200,000 Art Center, described by instructor Tom Watson as potentially "one of the finest in Arkansas."

The Center is fairly unusual in that it was planned carefully by the art faculty, then the plans were given to architect Bruce Anderson for details and specifications.

Speech Department Presents 'Earnest'

Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" was presented Nov. 21 and 22 as the speech department's first drama production of the season.

The Victorian satire had veteran actor Chuq Parker of Broken Arrow, Okla., in one leading role as half of one young couple, with newcomers to the Harding stage filling the other three romantic parts. They were Cindy Loudermilk of Jacksonville, Ill., Mike Shannon of Hot Springs and Patty Selvia of Irving, Tex.

Other roles were played by Mary Ann Peden of Washington, D. C.; Linda Frost of Nashville; Chris Bulard of Ft. Worth, Tex.; Dennis Noble of North Little Rock; and John Wilson of Nashville, Tenn.

Larry T. Menefee, instructor in speech, directed the three-act production, assisted by technical director Terry Eyman, associate instructor in speech.

Faculty Accepts Two New Fields For Degree Plan

Two new major fields leading to the bachelor's degree have been approved by the faculty.

A major in physics will be offered by the college in addition to the co-operative major in physics with the University of Arkansas, which some students may wish to elect. The degree will be the bachelor of science.

A fourth home economics major will be offered in the field of dietary technology. The curriculum leading to this bachelor of arts degree will include home economics, accounting and business courses and will prepare students to serve hospitals, nursing homes and other related institutions.

Home economics majors already offered are the B.A. in general home economics and the B.S. in vocational home economics and in institutional management and dietetics.

The new physics major has necessitated the addition of several courses. Curriculum changes also have been made in certain areas of the mathematics and music fields.

Scholarships Raised To $1,000 and $1,400

The college's academic scholarships of $800 and $1,200 for four years will be increased by $200 beginning with the 1969-70 school year, according to Virgil Lawyer, dean of students and director of admissions.

Only students entering under the new policy will receive the increased amounts, Lawyer said. All academic scholarships are prorated equally for eight full semesters.

The $1,000 scholarship is awarded on the basis of a score of from 100 to 114 points on the American College Testing Program exam required of all Harding applicants. The $1,400 grant is based on a score of 115 points or more on the same test or the achievement of semifinalist status on the National Merit Scholarship Test.

In order to retain the scholarships students must achieve a 2.75 grade average in their freshmen year and a 3.00 grade average thereafter.

Andrew J. Hairston

Hairston Lectures On Race Relations

Andrew J. Hairston, Negro minister of the Simpson Street Church of Christ in Atlanta, Ga., conducted forums and delivered lectures on race relations in a visit to the campus Dec. 3 and 4.

Hairston spoke both days in chapel and in smaller assemblies for selected classes. Each afternoon he and Jimmy Allen, assistant professor of Bible, held a forum on racial problems. He also spoke Wednesday evening at the College Church.

Hairston has four years of ministerial study at Southwestern Christian College and holds the B.A. and B.S. degrees from Paul Quinn College and the B.D. from Brite Seminary at Texas Christian University.

He also has completed residence work for the M.Th. at Brite Seminary and residence work for the master's degree in sociology at Atlanta University. He currently is in his final year of study for the law degree at John Marshall University.

'68 Yearbook Rated All-American

The 1968 Petit Jean has won the college's ninth straight All-American yearbook rating from the Associated Collegiate Press. The annual also captured the General Excellence Award of the Arkansas College Publications Association at the semi-annual meeting Oct. 21 in Little Rock.

The book, edited by Ann Camp, won every individual category in the ACPA competition: editorial content, editorial planning, photography and typog-

Junior Colleges Named Targets For New Work

Harding has launched a new program to assist students who plan to transfer to Harding after two years at a junior college.

Directing the program is Fred J. Alexander, former registrar at Michigan Christian College, a junior college in Rochester, Mich.

Alexander said too often students in junior colleges have no information on how to coordinate their studies with the requirements of the senior college they plan to attend. Consequently, sometimes they must attend an extra semester or year to complete their degrees.

To answer the problem, Alexander is studying catalogs of all interested junior colleges to compile a counseling guide for each, listing Harding's requirements and what the junior college offers as equivalents or substitutes.

He also is traveling to many of the brotherhood schools to introduce the program and to help individual students with degree plans. On a recent trip to York College he worked out plans for 40 students in two days.

The program also includes campus orientation programs and follow-up studies on transfer students after they enroll in Harding.

Alexander said the program, which is the first of its kind among senior Christian colleges, is being very well received by junior college administrators and students, who feel that it will be a definite benefit to their own programs.

L. O. Sanderson

New Chorus Record Salutes Sanderson

The A Cappella Chorus has released a new long-play stereo record honoring alumnus composer L. O. Sanderson, with 14 of his most famous hymns featured.

"A Tribute to Sanderson" also includes the Harding Alma Mater. Sanderson was named the college's first Distinguished Alumnus in 1960.

Other songs on the record are "I'll Never Forsake My Lord," "O For a Faith," "Crossing the Bar," "Buried With Christ," "How Precious Is the Book Divine," "Yes, For Me He Careth," "All Things Bright and Beautiful," "The Solemn Feast," "Take the World, But Give Me Jesus," "Jesus, Friend of Children," "Bring Christ Your Broken Life," "Nearer to Jesus," "The Lord Has Been Mindful of Me" and "Be With Me, Lord."

Proceeds from the sale of the record will be applied to an incidental travel fund for the chorus' European tour this summer. The records are available from Dr. Kenneth Davis Jr., at a cost of $5.

Fall Tour Covers 5 States

Twelve programs in nine days comprised the annual fall tour of the A Cappella Chorus, who sang in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma Nov. 30-Dec. 8.

Churches in Jefferson City, Mo.; Sedalia, Mo.; Kansas City, Mo.; Des Moines, Iowa; Omaha, Neb.; Topeka, Kan.; Bartlesville, Okla.; Neosho, Mo.; and Springfield, Mo., were visited by the chorus. The group also gave programs in two high schools in Des Moines and at York College, York, Neb.

local work, although we have no word of any conversions as a result of the campaigns."

In terms of contacts made and Bible studies and correspondence courses set up, however, results are apparent. The following reports were made:

In the Ft. Smith campaign Sept. 28, a total of 51 students were involved, 21 Bible studies and 86 correspondence courses set up and 32 prospects met.

In the West Helena work the same weekend were 43 students, who arranged 70 Bible studies and 70 correspondence courses and engaged 68 prospects.

The Marianna campaign Oct. 26 involved 23 students, who set up 40 Bible studies and 58 correspondence courses and engaged 20 prospects while knocking on 500 doors.

On Nov. 9 the Lepanto campaign had 22 student workers and resulted in 35 Bible studies and 72 correspondence courses.

The campaigns are planned by the congregations and by Brand and Johnson, who meet with the congregations about a month before the weekend to prepare them. "The success of the work really depends on the congregations," Brand noted. "They must follow up the contacts made during the canvass."

Students travel to the city the Friday night before the campaign and stay with families in the church. On Saturday each teams with a member of the congregation to knock on doors.

90 Student Leaders Meet for Conference

Approximately 90 student leaders from 14 Christian colleges across the nation met on the Harding campus for the 12th annual Christian College Conference Oct. 24-26.

The theme was "Keys to Effective Student Government."

Student Association president Ronnie Reeve said the conference was successful and that "delegates left with improved understanding of mutual problems and stronger bonds of friendship among the colleges dedicated to Christian education."

Visiting speakers were Harding board member Jim Bill McInteer of Nashville, Tenn., and alumnus Bob Brewer of Warrensburg, Mo.

Alumni President Talks About Giving

Fellow Alumni:

I'm sure as you look at the summary of giving presented on the following pages, you will be disappointed, as I was, with the low figures both in percentage of contributors and in the total amount given by alumni in 1967-68. It looks somewhat better when we recognize that the figures are for a 10-month period. The college has changed its fiscal year to end June 30 rather than Aug. 31; therefore, the giving report is somewhat misleading. If we add the two other months, our total contribution would have been larger than the preceding year's. But in 1966-67 we had 30.9 per cent of our graduates giving, and this year in 10 months only 23.5 per cent of us gave (the 12-month total was 25.1 per cent). The total of all alumni giving in 1966-67 was 23.2 per cent, but in 1967-68 it was only 17.5 per cent (the 12-month total was 18.7 per cent).

To me, this record is a very serious matter. Harding College has blessed every one of us. God has been good to each of us. Most of us don't have a lot of money, but we do have enough to share with Harding in appreciation for everything she has done for us. Let's look at this summary of alumni giving and determine in our hearts that this year, 1968-69, we are going to give to our alma mater.

Our world seems to be in a terrible state. Materialism, atheism and agnosticism are taking the field. Our young people are being subjected to adverse and destructive influences on every hand. They are very unsure of themselves and are seeking answers in all kinds of ways and in all kinds of places. Perhaps this explains much of the rioting and destructiveness that have been seen on college and university campuses.

Harding offers an entirely different picture, however. Our students also are disturbed, but they are not rioting. Instead, they are giving of their money — more than $3,500 this fall to Biafra. They are giving to others — more than 1,000 dolls and toys collected at Christmas time for children's homes. They are giving of themselves — hundreds are telling others of Christ in campaigns across this nation and in foreign lands. Yes, our students are also disturbed; they are not complacent. But they are serving their Lord in a constructive manner. I am very grateful for these young people.

I know you are thankful for all Harding has meant and can mean. I am thankful to God, and I want to use my money, my support and my prayers to see that Harding continues. The facts are plain. If we, as alumni, do not rally to the support of our alma mater, it will be evermore difficult for Harding to continue in her job of giving a first-class education in a Christian environment. It is not how much you give, it's that you give that is important. If you've not yet given this year, stop right now and consider how much God would have you give. Then make out your check to Harding College, now!

Disappointing 2-8 Season

Football Forces Start Rebuilding

Harding's young football forces, though suffering through a disappointing 2-8 season, began an arduous task of rebuilding, with all eyes set on tomorrow.

Bison victories came in the 62-7 romp over Centenary College and a 30-6 Homecoming win over Northwood Institute. In Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference play the herd was unable to notch a victory but came close in a 34-25 battle-royal with offense-minded Henderson State.

Ten gridders, headed by burly Don Sinquefield, carried away post-season honors. An NAIA All-American honorable mention last year, Sinquefield was named to the All-AIC defensive unit for the second year in a row.

He also was placed on the All-NAIA District 17 team, which was chosen for the first time. To close out an outstanding college career, the Senatobia, Miss., senior was named to the AIC All-Star team for the second time.

David Litzkow, junior offensive guard from Jackson, Miss., shared post-season All-Star laurels and was also an All-AIC honorable mention choice.

Harriers Win 6th Crown

The Harding Bisons continued to dominate Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference Cross-Country competition by sweeping to their sixth consecutive championship this fall and representing the AIC at the national meet.

Behind the record-setting first place victory by All-American Jim Crawford, Coach Ted Lloyd's harriers earned a valuable ten points in the All-Sports Trophy race.

Senior Joe Boyle of Sag Harbor, N. Y., second in the AIC meet, came back one week later to capture the Arkansas A.A.U. title.

Boyle also paced the Bisons in the NAIA National meet in Oklahoma City as he placed 18th among 332 runners. Harding finished 17th in the nation in overall team rankings.

A senior who will complete his eligibility at this semester, Boyle topped off an outstanding collegiate career by going on to place 13th in the national AAU meet in New York.

Also completing their cross-country eligibility were four-year lettermen

Dick Shenfeld and Crawford. Shenfeld grabbed third place finishes in the AIC and AAU meets to help the Bisons to victory.

Eight lettermen were announced by Lloyd following the national meet. They were Boyle; Crawford, of West Millington, N. J.; Shenfeld, of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Larry Headley, Bloomington, Ind.; Ken Coston, Monticello; Bob McCluskey, Atlantic City, N. J.; Calvin "Skip" Cain, Cleveland, Ohio; and Bill Slicer, Kennett, Mo.
