Bison Poll Shows Different Views of Student Body

Robbins Reveals Cast Of Next Lyceum

Eight Register For The Bison Oratory Contest

Robert G. Cotton

The results of the poll conducted in chapel last week by The Bison have been tabulated. The poll included ten questions of interest to a Harding student. The answers are given for the high school and college separately.

We Thank You

The Bison sincerely wishes to thank the students for their splendid cooperation in our poll of last Wednesday. Especially do we appreciate your suggestions in respect to The Bison and how to make it a better paper.

We are going to endeavor to carry out some of the reforms that have been suggested and if The Bison is improved in any of the ways that you would like to see it, it may be because of a suggestion that you made.

It must, of course, be said that not all suggestions can be carried out. First of all, our limited financial resources require that we curtail expenses as much as possible without injuring the paper. This forbids certain reforms that you have suggested.

It is also true that a number of suggestions were made which we feel would not be of the best interest of the paper. This has no bearing on the value of the suggestions except that we do not deem it advisable to use them here.

East Wing Auction Sale Is Innovation In Selling

Saturday night, was the opening night of the Jones and Towvim Inc., Auctioneers. They specialized in nothing but everything and everything for sale. The kids came thick and fast.

"What am I bid on this beautiful sword, practically new," shouted auctioneer Jones.

"25 cents," retailed Charlene Majors. With no further bids it was sold to Charlene for a dime.

"Heres your any hair shampoo?" bewailed Mary Jane Whitt.

"Doesnt anyone want this beautiful pair of blue socks," screamed auctioneer momentarily ignoring Marlene.

"What else are? Have they hollered in a good price?" inquired Pat Higley, "Ill bid 50 cents, and no further bids were offered. They were sold for a nickel.

"To still like some shampoo," interrupted the Mary Ann's being ignored.

"Here's a hand full of pretty red roses, what am I bid?" the kids were sold at 5 cents when Jane Killiseck asked if it was for sale. When the kids made the bidding for the game we felt she was justified in asking and let her small bottle of applause. The game was finally sold to Dee Zante.

W. L. Oliphant Speaks To Student Body

"I, W. L. Oliphant, member of the Oak Cliff church of Christ in Dallas, spoke last Monday night and in chapel the next day. He closed with the moderator's action as a special in a demonstration of his belief in the human soul, as there is no demonstration of spiritualism in the Bible and by words of the magician's profession.

Miss. Oliphant has also practiced law in Dallas for several years.

Rumor Of Offer Is True

Another rumor is circulating today on the campus of Harding college. This rumour concerns the interest of an unknown individual in Little Rock, Arkansas, to buy the college. Harding college's changing location and thing moving to Little Rock.

Today Dr. George S. Benson disclosed for first publication the news that, "The rumor is true. Interest in the school has been manifested in Little Rock and Louis."

Dr. Benson also noted "Various faculty members when consulted have been quick to deny any interest in being in or near a larger city."

He added, however, that interest in the part of a move was widely rumors.

College Sponsors Essay Contest For Scholarships

A contest, sponsored by Harding college in the making, is an open competition for literary excellence in the high school and college nation. A $100.00 cash scholarship at Harding college is the subject for first prize, $75.00 as second prize which will cover board and room, $150.00 as third prize which will cover the cost of tuition. The subject of the essay is the American flag in or Patriotic in America in Performer in Any Type of Government Managed Economy.

New Signs At City Limits

Arthur Peddle

Because of the prevailing necessity, that some have been carrying a rumor around town that a new store is going to open in the night market, I felt it necessary to clear this up.

It was generally felt that I had caused considerable excitement by this statement, however, I believe that this rumor is false. The object of every Christian should be to bring about good will, and not to spread rumors. I have found this fact in the following manner. It was in the course of a talk with a group of Christian college students that we arrived at this conclusion. Christians acquire a title, husbanded by (Continued on page four).
No Gossip Column
Occasionally a word of explanation is necessary for our not having a gossip column in The Bison. You may wonder why we do not have one as much as quite a number of the students have suggested that it might live up the paper. We feel that our readers deserve an explanation.

Our reasons are as follows:
1. This is a college paper, not a high school paper. It is questionable whether it is good journalistic manner to include the scandal column.
2. Gossip columns are based on trivia. That is, there's always a triangle somewhere along the line, even if trivial.

We may laugh at the latent humor but we are laughing at someone's expenditure of energy. Many tears have been shed because of the "indecent" gossip column.
3. It is useless to say that such a column can be written in a kindly, scandal column just isn't sneaky by nature.
4. True or false, someone is bound to believe what they read and get the wrong impression. Result—broken friendship.
5. Gossip columns are funny until we are affected. Then we want to know What is wrong with the paper.
6. Finally, there is something about the terms "gossip" and "scandal" that doesn't sit right. If we teach against sin in classes and chapel, why promote it in our paper?

To The High School
In the recent Bison poll quite a few high school students expressed themselves as desiring more high school news. We realize that such is needed.

We of the Bison are only too glad to comply with this request. We ask however that the high school students themselves select someone to furnish us the news. Our entire staff is made up of college students. We would welcome a high school representative who would have responsibility and ability to do the job. That is not an empty gesture. We mean it. You select your reporter and we'll publicize your work.

Editoriallettes
We're certainly going to miss Bro. Smith on the campus. We'll realize his value more when we don't have hot water.

And along that same line, Nurse Jungers has certainly impressed us all with her efficiency and interest in students.

Since some have taken exception to some of the things we wrote here two weeks ago, we suggest that they write a letter to the editor expressing their views. Names need not be printed, but letters should be signed as usual.

God Is Source Of Strength For All Accepting Him
by Ernest Smith
When Jesus was tempted in the wilderness he was tempted to return to the flesh to build up his hunger might be satisfied. His answer, "Thou shalt not tempt God," was not given on the ground of his own needs. But in the words in which he taught the devil to return and again to cast into the wilderness. We see the answer in the words in which he taught the devil to cast into the wilderness.

"Thou shalt not tempt God," is an answer. In the word of God, the word of the devil is null. We of the Bison are the society editor; Dorothy Smith is the campus manager; Miss Neece, George Tipps.

Dear Angus
Another week has rolled by and I'm ready now to return to you the interesting campus happenings.

First I should tell you that we are still having some very inspiring Monday night meetings here on the campus. Some of the talks delivered by the students themselves have been most inspiring. A good many of these students are especially thoughtful-prolific writers in which they touch on the marriage question, and which aroused a bit of comment from more than one source. In last week's happenings some big things were happening. We do believe in them. What a thrill to give and see that something was wrong with his other

Dear Editor:
I am one who sincerely does not appreciate the way we abuse our privilege in this building. We have the library open every night for our use and it is for our use. I do not ask for any special privilege — it is just not right that we go to the library and talk loud or unnecessarily when that i[t is time for study.

Nutty-Nutty Nutty-Nutty

In the frost of life his life burned when he borrowed $1000 and brought a paper mache with it. It proved a good investment — if you really want to know how go it was just ask how he has paid his expenses here at Harding. Clinton declared he couldn't spey his most embarrassing moment for he's had too many (haven't we all).

His aim in life is to preach and work for the Lord. It was during the Clinton holiday in 1941 that Clinton preached his first time. To the future Clinton's plans are to attend the Baptist Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky and major in Greek.

First All-Stars Win Over Seconds In Both Men’s and Girls’ Games

The game between the first and second all-stars went thru to this year’s basketball, and an agreed upon has been a great year for the game.

The score was never close at any time for the taller and faster first team was really on the ball. Leading scorer of the evening was Ordis Copeland, first team center, who hit the hoop for twenty-five points. Next was John Ordis, who hit the hoop for eighteen. Twenty-first was John Greenwood with nine of his team’s seventeen points. Of the scoring of the evening was Ordis Copeland who was high-point man in every game of the season. Looking ’em Over

By Bill Smith

The 66-17 victory scored by the first over the second all-star marked the official close of this year’s basketball season.

The second all-star marked the unofficial close of this year’s basketball season. This poll was answered by approximately 250 college students and high school students.

Girls’ Class Finals Tonight

The second half finals in the girls’ class tournament will be played between the freshmen and seniors on Tuesday night. Don’t miss it.

Any variation, if that same real was manifested in the work of the Lord, the church of God would move forward like a mighty army. Paul’s life is a fine illustration of this point. He felt he could render great service to God by remaining in an estranged state. Others, however, have been sided in rendering a great service to God by the encouragement and friendship which their hosts have given them in every type of adversity. The blessing of a wife can be ascertained by any human standard. And it is in an array of a sort, who appreciates an actor’s work.
