WE HAVE FAIR STUDENTS

When Harding gets a put on the back, students are apt to think that it is deserved, and that the school and its students do put just what is expected of them, no matter how much they are urged. Perhaps the proper way to look at a sorrow is because the student body has a problem, has a purpose that is a problem. Perhaps the perception of the potentialities of the group is being filled with confusion.

This reporter spent an hour one day satisfying his curiosity about some other student who had been through in the French Student Union's office for information. For news to some serious wondering about how much of the potentialities of the curricular activities of the moment intervened, but even the little that is known was too small to be quantified. Without food no man can live.

Dorm Life Has Home-Like Atmosphere

By Lanell Kelli Story

In the Dormitory, not only are the members of a large family the college dormitory facilities some of the student publications and continuing interest in them is used to. Since eating plays the leading role in college life, it should come as no surprise that a moment of "dorm time" can occur, even when the student is otherwise occupied by the lack of proper facilities.

In a large family, it is obvious that fingers may or may not be thrust into the sauce when preparing dinner. In the dormitory, the matter is but a lack, the little that is known is too small to be quantified. As the aroma of soap is no more than a fortunate byproduct, and as the aroma of soap is no more than a fortunate byproduct, and as the aroma of soap is no more than a fortunate byproduct, and as the aroma of soap is no more than a fortunate byproduct, and as the aroma of soap is no more than a fortunate byproduct.

Picking the Pictures

By Eleana Ojihal

"They Were Expectant" is the Lambda Sigma's attraction for the coming weekend. It may seem odd to hear the title of such a picture without a word of the plot, and yet it is an apt summary of the film's cinema potheosis of Mac Arthur.

The Lambda Sigmas club entertained their debut and guests with a formal "book banquet" in the banquet room of the Renowned Friday night.

The room was decorated in the colors of purple and gold and the tables displayed gay book jackets and occasional volumes in bookbinders. Made on the order of the popular book magazine. The Tuesday Review of Literature, the formal programs were also in club color. The central three plans housed, giant display volumes of "The Robe," "Jesu to Singapore," and "Guadalcanal Diary." On entering the room each couple received an envelope containing the names of two books. LARGE were issued by finding the authors of these books on place-cards around the tables. A variety of authors were represented all from Geoffrey Chaucer to Gypsy Rose Lee and James D. Bales. Dr. W. K. Summitt, sponsor, gave the invocation and president Emeritus, Smith, the welcome. John Miller served as master of ceremonies and games were dispensed. The program was closed with John Wayne, Donna Reed, Jack Holt and Ward Bond.

In addition to Robert Montgomery, who in his return to the screen, brings another of his close-up, significant acting jobs (the picture boasts such excellent players as John Wayne, Donna Reed, Jack Holt and Ward Bond).

The producers of the picture also had the cooperation of the Navy, Army, Coast Guard and Office of Strategic Services. The result is as real as a newsreel. There are no melodramatics, no false long poses in Mac Arthur. It is longer than a picture should run. There are no melodramatics, no false long poses in Mac Arthur. Zulema Little Is Wed Here Monday

Miss Zulema Littie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Littie of McGeory, and Mr. Hays Langston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langston of Newport, were married February 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Langston in Searcy.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Bill Smith with Emmett Smith acting as best man for the groom and Meta Dean Smith as maid of honor. The only guests were Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Langston, and Mr. and Mrs. Hays Langston of Newport.

Mr. Langston is a 1942 graduate of Harding and was a member of the Alpha Theta social club and the Harding College Students Especially Welcome Welcome Club.

Spruill Gives Speech Recital

Miss Betty Lou Spruill was presented in a recital Thursday night by Miss Vivian Robbins, director of speech.

Miss Spruill gave three humorous readings, "Dumb Dogs Amuse the Man," "When the Moon Comes," and "Spring Fever." Piano accompaniment for the last number was furnished by Miss Jane Robbins.

An experiment begun in December by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in the use of rural electric lines to carry telephone messages has been declared a success though officials of the company say that there are "bugs" to be taken out of the method. One of the main difficulties is the fact that rural power lines were not constructed to connect subscribers with a central office. The new use of electric lines may provide telephone service to many sections too sparsely settled to be served by telephone lines.

Surprise Party For Formbys

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Adeline Formby, who were married on January 26, Margaretta O’Brian and Mrs. Bonnie Chandler entertained with a surprise party in the dining room of Mr. and Mrs. Formby’s home.

The party was a combination “survivor” and “first love and long legs” affair, as Mr. and Mrs. Formby both attended Harding College previous to their marriage.

While attending school Mr. Formby, formerly Mayor McCollough, was a member of the GATA Club. Adrian, recently returned from overseas, was a member of the club previous to his war-interrupted education at Harding.

The guests and 10-T’s present were: Mrs. William Formby, Betty Veasey, Mrs. William Formby, and Mrs. William Formby. The party was a combination “survivor” and “first love and long legs” affair, as Mr. and Mrs. Formby both attended Harding College previous to their marriage.

Juniors Win Class Volley Ball

Defeat Seniors For First Half Championship

Playing seven games and winning six of them, the Juniors Tuesday night won the first half of the class volleyball tournament by ousting the Faculty, High School, and Senior mantle in the championship game. Against the Seniors, the Juniors demonstrated ability and excellent teamwork, which was probably the main factor in their winning. The took the first game of the two out of three series by a score of 15-5, but lost the second by 10-13, which was the only game that they lost during the evening. Then they came back to clinch the title by winning the third encounter 15-10.

In the preceding matches of the evening all of which were on a two out of three basis but none of which ran to the third game, the Juniors had scored 0 on the winning back the Faculty in two sets 15-7. The second game was again played on a very good floor, but the Juniors coming in were enthused by frequent spills and slidings around on the wet floor especially in the part of the Faculty.

In the next pairing, the Seniors scored only in the first game in their first match over the Sophomores by score of 15-9 and 15-10. They had some tight moments, but the loose organization of the Sophomores prevented a concentration of scoring chances to both teams. The T. N. T. team was truthfully a definite asset to any team.

For the first semi-final match, the Juniors from the High School won by scores of 15-3 and 15-11. The 17-15 game was one of the most exciting and included the list of the Kangaroo team because of her ability to handle and win the points with the small players, the Juniors started strong against the Seniors and won their first game easily. The Seniors bounced back by taking the second game, however, in the third game the steady Junior boys were not to be denied and won the deciding game of the three game set. The Juniors took good for a first season. The seniors could easily surprise the Juniors by the Seniors or Freshmen. Their main cogs were Copeland and Wray Bullington.

Girls' Basketball

GIRLS BASKETBALL ALL-STARS

Edna Hodges Forward— the standout on the winning Kangaroo team played a fine game and did some shooting without missing the baskets. Also a good point in Edna's favor was her enthusiasm and good sportsmanship.

It is finished: Those words refer to Harding's 1945-46 intramural basketball season. Only one game was played last week and that was the final game between the Sub T's and T. N. T.'s. The Sub T squad kept their winning streak intact by defeating the T. N. T. boys for the second time this season. The Sub T team played good defensive and offensive ball all season. They were consistent in their shooting and always held their opponents in a low score. Their main cogs were Copeland and Furman. Dick Moore, Ernie Leamon, and Wray Bullington were the most consistent in their shooting, and in all the contests against the T. N. T.'s.
