Witch-Burning

Some years ago, back in Salem, Massachusetts, it used to be quite an entertainment to burn witches.

They’ve quit that long ago.

But they’re still burning witches in the country of ours, and oftentimes in places where you would least expect it.

Basically, the reasons behind this heat-treatment was an issue of non-conforming to set beliefs. Back in those days it was primarily religious. That is not necessarily true in our present day burnings. It just isn’t consistent to set ideas of any type.

In a country predicated on a base of freedoms — four freedoms we still have individuals and groups brandishing firebrands in the just non-conformance to set ideas of any type.

Will Male Situation

By Lew Dragger

I'm tellin' you, Sadie Hawkins Day was just fine last year. A man can never forget that impromptu program or that race. Luna, and I'll be a heap bet- ter this year what an amount of this male situation we all been hearin' about. Bummi hasn't said lovely, but the oldies figures the race will be in favor of the men.

If that's so, we all ought to have a pure easy time of it this year. Why, last year we had a run yard landscape and I drug Virgil out from (secret — we may call the same plan this year) and had him luck, nappin', and all in less than no minutes.

You now Harding Doughcutter may now go beyond the bounds and blamed ones last year. These that was playing the jugs for the marchin' part may go out of time and ruined things when they seen Dr. Joel I'm tellin' you. Quo's Betsy, from last year Bla-

Due to a scarcity of space in last week's Bisons this column was satirical ed. All good travel and life tips—on a high note. Our high note concerned a hitherto river-borne operation which took the Benson family out of Kwang Si province under the very nose of the Communist pandemic. Would the Bensons have their thrombosis cut, be fed to the Yellow River fish, or make Hong Kong safely? For the concluding chapter the boat sailed an American cover charge. There was no time to dwell on the boat's immeasurable. From an unknown four-year school of collegiate standing the seventh and eighth grades took their second science field trip of the year Tuesday afternoon, October 29, going about one third of the way to Bus Rock. Collections of rare leaves were brought back for identification and paper making.

The fifth and sixth grade room gained from plans by a narrow time margin in their drive for one hundred per cent membership in the PTA. The seventh and eighth grade rooms reached their hundred per cent goal a few minutes later.

The primary room is displaying a new set of window shades, and the brick walls lending to the elementary school building have been repaired. This work was done by painting school teachers and volunteer workers from the student body.

The annual elementary music teacher's convention was held in Little Rock November 5-8. Among the teachers who attended the convention on Friday, Principal speaker of the day was Dr. Paul Witty of Northeastern University, who spoke on the development of reading programs in elementary schools.

Training School Pauses For Parties, Fun On October 31

The spirit of Halloween swept over the training school campus Thursday October 31. Parties were held in each of the rooms, and movies gave way for the parade of witches, goblins, and princes. Refreshments were served as outdoor games and indoor jollity held sway.

On November 1, the primary room took advantage of the birth of James Edward St. John, son of Robert St. John, manager of the college farm, to center their writing, speaking and drawing lessons about the child's birth. Patricia St. John, sister of James, is a first grade student.

"Sure, Tully, we have faith in your decision," said Miss Shannon. "But for some reason, I seem to have us on edge by throwing his A.", which is of course, the wrong ever-lingering medicine known to those medical doctors. However, the other day up in the biology room a pert young lassie was about to tip her throat. At home that is the sign of some stray might consider this little (otherwise known as a key) during the wet spell he began to sing "Kalish." For instance: The other night in men's coats was quite a treat. The infirmary reveals that most of those students that have postponed their outing which was scheduled for Monday, November 11, made the trip post-ponement by Dr. Benson last week, the Koinonia's areas at Bee Rock and the golf course were unsuitable, thereby necessitating the prevailing weather conditions as Mr. and Mrs. Jee James accompanied by Josephine Connell who were proudly displaying new jewelry arrived. Miss Shannon has been awarded membership in the Phi Omega, national-fraternal fraternity. Rick Smith, student director, will continue the direction of the play for next season.

The group presented Miss Shannon with aummage. Coke and lemonade were served to the hour. Miss Shannon, every picket, Ruth Dunham, Charles Brooks, Jessie Jamieson, Jessie Jamieson, Miss Cannon, Minnie Lamier, Ed Cali, Edna Huggett, Summey Swain, Lois Gergacas, Morgan Buffington, Jo Connell, Dale Straughn, Helen Summe, Charles Swail, Nell Cheever, Paul Clark, Elizabeth Ware, Don Hickman, Mac Shull, and Gerry Young.

Seniors Display New Rings, Pins, Keys

Seniors were proudly displaying new rings, pins, and keys. However, the other night in Miss Shannon's class Professor Cope came in to take a few pictures for his monthly bulletin. It seems to the hour that fans to see a picture of the dreames and the club was so Andy's left at the front. Being perfectly happy with this arrangement, Andy remarked: "Boy, this is wonderful! I'll get to have my picture taken from the side that has hair!"

Konorias Cancel Scheduled Outing

Due to the elimination of one club, many students are now teaching school at Lepanto, are former Harding students and are now living in Memphis where Bill is in medical school and Margaret Jean is working with the Red Cross. Miss Johnnie Anderson and Miss Jerry Dunham were the guests of Miss Chen and other friends last week. They are former Harding students and are still working in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Miss Dunham is the former Miss Sarah Beth Ivanoff. Mrs. W. D. Smith visited her brother, Dr. Smith, and friends on the campus last weekend.

Leona Allen was a campus visitor over the weekend. Leona attended Harding last year.

Maxine Grady and Janice Avery, former Harding students, were among the visitors Saturday and Sunday.
