Preacher's Forum to Review Women's Role

"Women: A Biblical View" has been selected as the theme for the 1978 Preachers' Forum. The meeting on February 28 will be in the American Heritage Auditorium.

Ed Sanders of the Bible faculty and James Casey of Baytown, Texas will address the morning sessions on "Women's Work in the Church." Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., president of the college, will open the meeting at 8:30. Following the addresses and a break, an Open Forum will be held until noon.

For the afternoon sessions, Jack McKinney will give a Greek analysis of I Tim. 2: 8-10 and I Cor. 14:34 and Gailyn Van Rhee will speak on "Women and Evangelism." Both are members of Harding's Bible faculty.

The Forum will close with an address on "Challenging Women to Serve" by Ken Hoover of Murray, Kentucky.

Dr. Jerry Jones, chairman of the Bible department, said the meeting will be open to all ministers and church leaders. Several hundred men from Arkansas and surrounding states are on hand for the Forum each year, and last year's attendance was the largest ever.

Registration will be held in the American Heritage lobby. There is no registration fee for the event and all ministers are invited to attend.

Meals may be purchased at the Heritage Cafeteria or Pattie Cobb Cafeteria. Participants will be responsible for arranging their own housing. A number of quality motels are available in the Searcy area.

Senator Sam Comes to Harding

"Freedom of the individual is earth's most precious value. If it is to endure in our land, we must renew our love for it and make manifest our determination to guard and defend it, cost what it may," Senator Sam Ervin told a crowd of more than 1,000 at the American Studies lecture November 8.

He received three standing ovations and intermittent laughter and applause throughout his speech and the lengthy question and answer session which followed.

Congressman Ray Thornton, who served on the judiciary committee with Ervin, introduced the 81-year-old retired democratic senator from North Carolina, referring to him as a legend and a man big enough to laugh at himself. "He is a man who has not sought out opportunities for himself but who had constantly found throughout his life that opportunities for service were thrust upon him," said Thornton.

In his introductory remarks, Senator Ervin said, "I'm glad to be at Harding College — an institution which has woven so much intellectual and spiritual beauty and strength into the warp and woof of our country."

The Senator began his presentation with a short talk on constitutional freedom. He noted that the conflict between freedom and tyranny had intensified in the past few years and freedom was suffering many defeats at the hands of the federal government. Some of the problem areas he cited were: confiscation of an inordinate proportion of the fruit of the labor of the people, busing to achieve racial balance, sanctioning compulsory unionism, and collecting and storing personal data concerning individuals for which the federal government has no need.

In answering numerous questions from the audience, Ervin gave his opinion on current issues.

ERA IS UNNECESSARY

"If I thought the Equal Rights Amendment would improve the lot in life of my wife, two daughters or my three granddaughters I'd be for it," Ervin said. "But the present problems women face in life will still be present." His main reservation about the ERA was that legislative power would be transferred from the state to Washington and ultimately five out of nine judges on the Supreme Court could declare the validity of a law.

KEEP THE CANAL

"For some strange reason I can't fathom, people in the State Department seem to have a guilt complex about us

Senator Ervin speaks on "Freedom"

Ervin . . . continued from Page 1 digging the Panama Canal and think we ought to atone for that sin by giving it back to Panama," he said and proceeded to give examples of our acquisition of the Louisiana Purchase, Texas, California and Alaska, a land we "cheated the socks off" the Russians to get.

ON CARTER'S PRESIDENCY

Assessing President Carter's first months in office, he said, "I think everyone has to learn. Mr. Carter is doing the best he can. He made the mistake of trying to do too much too quick. He needs to concentrate on balancing the budget, reorganizing the bureaucracy and trying to solve energy problems."

He then praised the President for giving us hope in government and being open in his administration. And in his thick North Carolina accent, he added, "I was glad to see a Southerner elected because it was a sign that we'd been readmitted to the union after 100 years."

NO PREVIOUS WATERGATES

When asked if abuses like Watergate have occurred before, he replied, "This was the first time in the history of our nation that a national committee . . . ever engaged in all the dirty tricks employed. It's the first time they used campaign funds to finance things of that kind."

Other questions he commented on included:

— Alan Bakke reverse discrimination case: "In a country like our with diversity of citizenship, the government can't discriminate on the basis of race, religion or color. The California Supreme Court was correct in their decision. He was denied the right, by the medical school, to study medicine because minority students had to be admitted."

— Anita Bryant's crusade against homosexuals: "I'm a great admirer of Anita Bryant and I'm glad to see someone stand up."

— National no-fault insurance: "I don't know what I should have to pay a man to compensate him for what he brings on himself."

— On rescinding votes (in relation to ERA ratification): "What a legislature does today it can undo tomorrow. Any

Comment: Ervin — One of the Lions

by Jim Warren

Jim Warren, a senior journalism major, comes from Senator Ervin's neighboring state, South Carolina. Warren is editor of the 1977-78 Bison newspaper.

He is one of the aged lions of our political statesmen — a member of the old guard.

His slow body movement and his sometimes unsteady hands are evidence of his 81 years, but his eyes burn with a fervent, youthful intensity when anyone begins to talk about America.

And through his small-town-country-lawyer vernacular one can still sense a razor-sharp mind capable of yielding some of the most capable expertise ever available on the Constitution of the United States.

Senator Sam Ervin is a throwback to the times of early America and the principles of the revolutionary leaders. He believes strongly in the rights of the individual as is evidenced by the numerous bills he has sponsored.

He also believes in the philosophy that truth will ultimately prevail over all falsehood. It was this attitude which gained him fame while chairing the Senate Committee to investigate the election activities of former President Richard Nixon and his Committee to Re-elect the President.

It is also this attitude which makes him an ardent supporter of the first amendment's right of the press, despite abuses which sometimes exist.

"Any freedom is going to be abused unless you absolve that freedom," he said, "and you don't want to do that."

When asked to compare the morality of America as compared to 20 years ago, he was surprisingly positive, citing the actions of Congress and the courts throughout Watergate as proof of the integrity found within the fabric of American society. And despite all its problems and ailments, Ervin maintains democracy remains "the most viable" government on the earth today.

To many he seems idealistic, naive and even old-fashioned. But perhaps that is because he holds so strongly to those almost forgotten ideals which made our country great, like the courage of one's convictions, the belief in truth and integrity, and the freedom of the individual to choose his own destiny.

legislature can change its mind and reverse its previous vote at any time before 3/4 of the states have ratified the amendment and made it part of the constitution."

At the conclusion of his speech, Secretary of State Winston Bryant presented Ervin an Arkansas Traveler Award, a certificate of honor for distinguished visitors to Arkansas.

Ervin, recognized as one of America's foremost elder statesmen and an authority on Constitutional law, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and Harvard Law School. He served in World War I and was awarded the Purple Heart, Silver Star, Distinguished Service Cross, and French Fourragere. He retired from public office in 1974, completing a 20-year tenure in the United States Senate. Ervin served on numerous investigating committees and as chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Watergate. The Senator was born in Morganton, North Carolina. He and his wife, the former Margaret Bell, have three children and seven grandchildren.

English Faculty Attends Meeting

A delegation from the Harding English faculty attended the South Central Modern Language Association meeting in Hot Springs October 27-29.

Dr. Larry Long, an assistant professor, presented a short paper on "Teaching The Research Paper at Harding College" as a part of the freshman English section of the meeting.

Dr. Gary Elliott, chairman of the department, was elected secretary of the Modern Literature section for the 1978 meeting, which will be held in Houston.

Attendants included Dr. Jo Cleveland, Mrs. Alice Jewell, Dr. Duane McCampbell, Kelly Morris, Dr. Dennis Organ, Eugene Underwood and Ed White.

Women Attend Pro Family Rally

A group of 100 Harding women attended the Family Day Rally at the Astro-Arena in Houston November 19. The meeting, sponsored by the Pro Family Coalition, was held independently of the federally-funded International Women's Year Convention conducted in Houston at the same time.

Every state was represented by the 15,000 delegates at the rally. In addition to Harding's group, several other bus loads went from Arkansas.

The program featured lectures by Lottie Beth Hobbs, president of Women Who Want to be Women; Phyllis Schlafly, author and president of Stop-ERA; Congressman Robert Dornan of California and Dr. Mildred Jefferson, president of Right to Life.

The "Time of Day," the Harding musical trio, presented a portion of the entertainment.

Julia Miller was student co-ordinator for the Harding group and Mrs. John McKinney and Mrs. Rita Franklin were sponsors for the trip.

Dr. Dean Priest, chairman of the Mathematics Department, and Steve Garrett, senior mathematics major from Bryant, "visualize" figures in different dimensions which they derived from algebraic expressions.

Article Published in Mathematics Teacher

An article by Dr. Dean Priest, chairman of the mathematics department, has been published in the October 1977 issue of the "Mathematics Teacher," the official publication of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

The article, "Hypercubes, Hyperwindows, and Hyper stars," was described as an excursion into several dimensions by students and their teacher. It traced the findings of the freshman calculus class as they worked to find the relationship of algebraic expressions to geometric hyperfigures. Steve Garrett, senior math major from Bryant, was the first student credited with discovering the geometric interpretations.

Librarians Active in Fall Workshops

Winnie Bell, librarian of Beaumont Memorial Library at Harding, went to Dallas November 17 for a membership meeting of the Amigos Bibliographic Council, an organization of directors of libraries in the Southwestern states who have terminal connections with the Ohio College Library Center.

Harding's Library has been operational on the OCLC system since July. After a brief training period, librarians have used the terminal to produce catalog cards for more than 1,300 titles. With the use of the terminal it is possible to process a new book within seven days after it is received in the library. In the past, processing took a period of from three months to a year before a book was ready for use.

The Amigos Council strives to promote cooperation among institutions in its network, plan and implement long-range development and operation of the network and promote cooperation between the network and other computerized library networks.

Miss Bell and Travis Cox, cataloging librarian, attended a workshop on the campus of University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences in Little Rock November 11 on "Budgeting and Quantitative Methods of Library Management."

The workshop was conducted by Michael Koenig, Information Executive and Director of Library Operations, Institute for Scientific Information, Philadelphia.

JOY Women's Group To Hold Fellowship

The JOY Organization will hold a women's day of fellowship on January 28 in the American Heritage Auditorium. The theme "I'm Not Much But... I Am" will be carried out in each of the four sessions. Those speaking will be Mrs. Ed (Loleta) Higginbotham, Mrs. A. R. (Ruth) Brown, Mrs. Jim (Louine) Woodroof and Mrs. Dennis (Sherry) Organ.

Dr. Bill Verkler

Verkler Represents State at Convention

Dr. Bill D. Verkler, professor of sociology and president of the Arkansas Sociological Association, was a state delegate to the National Mental Health Association national convention in Washington, D.C., October 25-29.

The conference was addressed by Mrs. Rosalynn Carter and Dr. Peter Born, president of Scientific Advisor.

Dr. Verkler, chairman of the department of Sociology and Social Services at Harding, is treasurer of the Arkansas Coalition for the Handicapped.

Spring Sing Work Begun

Since its beginning in 1974, the Spring Sing musical spectacular has grown in popularity to become a highlight of Harding activities.

Begun primarily as a major entertainment event held simultaneously with the Youth Forum, Spring Sing provides interclub competition on a musical level. As the largest participation activity on campus, more than 700 students from 30 social clubs will take part in the production scheduled for March 23-25.

Preliminary plans are well underway with some clubs meeting and working on themes. The clubs arrange music, provide accompaniment and make costumes in addition to performing. Dr. John Ryan, professor of speech, is overall co-ordinator of Spring Sing and Jeff Hopper, assistant professor of music, is the musical co-ordinator.

Competition for the host and hostess positions has become very keen over the past few years. This year 40 singers tried out for four parts. This quartet will sing a variety of musical numbers between club acts. Those selected were Karla Adams, Mary Carolyn Campbell, Tim Smith and Tim Woodroof.

Miss Adams, a junior music major, is a member of Regina Social Club, A Cappella Chorus and A Tempo Club. She is from Searcy.

An elementary education major, Miss Campbell is a junior from Trumann. She is a member of A Cappella Chorus and Kappa Kappa Social Club.

Smith, a senior general science major from Searcy, is in Chorale, Belles and Beaux and Chi Sigma Alpha Social Club.

Woodroof, a senior, was selected for the second consecutive year to serve as host of Spring Sing. He is a psychology and Bible major from Searcy. He has performed in the Time of Day and is in King's Men social club.

Under the direction of Dr. G.E. Baggett, the Harding Stage Band will provide accompaniment for the host and hostess group in addition to playing popular and jazz numbers.

Youth Forum Plans Outlined

"What Sort of Man is This?" will be the theme for Harding's 14th annual Youth Forum scheduled for March 24-25. Featured speaker will be Jack Evans of Terrell, Texas.

Evans, president of Southwestern Christian College, will speak on the topics, the "Character of Christ," "Claims of Christ" and "Commitment to Christ."

The fifth annual Spring Sing, involving more than 700 students, will be a highlight of entertainment. Other performances are planned by the Time of Day, Belles and Beaux and the A Cappella Chorus.

Terry Smith of Searcy keyed last year's Forum which was attended by more than 3,000 students from over 20 states. According to co-ordinator Ken Qualls, this year's crowd is expected to exceed the record turnout set in '76.

Due to the anticipated large number of visitors, guests will again be expected to provide for their own meals. Pattie Cobb and American Heritage cafeterias and College Inn Snackroom offer food services and numerous eating establishments are located in Searcy.

Visitors will need to plan in advance to stay in the dormitory room of a friend on campus. Housing will be provided upon arrival for those unable to make arrangements. Assignments for those requiring accommodations will be made upon registration. All visitors should bring bedding and towels for the weekend.

In order to avoid extremely overcrowded conditions and in an effort to make the Forum as meaningful as possible, it is suggested that sponsors concentrate primarily on bringing only high school students.

Two-week Bible Courses Offered In Summer School Sessions

Three complete Bible courses, with three hours of college credit offered in each course, will be a part of the summer school sessions of the Harding Bible department.

The courses, each to be taught by Avon Malone, are Prison Epistles (I and II Thessalonians, Galatians, I and II Timothy and Titus), Selected Letters (Philippians, Ephesians, Colossians and Philemon), and General Epistles (James, I and II Peter, I, II and III John and Jude).

Malone, an assistant professor of Bible at Harding, is a well-known preacher and author. He has served churches in Colorado, Texas and Illinois, and has taught at Bear Valley and Preston Road Schools of Preaching before coming to Harding in 1974. He has written four tracts, "Pardon Refused," "The Misunderstood Church," "The Royal Priesthood" and "Merge For Missions."

Graduate credit toward a Master of Education at Harding may also be earned with the courses.

Meeting Monday through Friday for a two-week period, classes will be held from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. with a 15-minute break after each hour and a half.

Chapel will meet every day from 11:15 to 11:30 a.m.

Registration fee for each course is $15 and tuition will be charged at $53 per credit hour. Room rent in campus dormitories will be $28.10 per course for double occupancy and $36 for single occupancy. Students housed in dorms will be required to purchase a meal ticket at $49.20 per course.

The schedule for the courses is as follows: 315G Prison Epistles, June 5-16; 314G Selected Letters, June 19-30 and 316G General Epistles, July 24-August 4.

Further information may be obtained by writing Dr. Jerry Jones, Chairman, Harding Bible Department, Box 939, Searcy, Arkansas 72143.

Dr. Wilson Attends Chemistry Meeting

Dr. Edmond Wilson, associate professor of physical science at Harding College, attended a meeting of the American Chemical Society in Little Rock at the Convention Center in November concerning glass transition temperatures of alkali halides.

Petit Jean Merits 18th All-American

For the 18th consecutive year, the Harding College yearbook, the Petit Jean, has earned an All-American rating from the Associate Collegiate Press critical service. The 1977 book, edited by Kim Moss of Union City, Tennessee, also received the top award at the annual fall conference of the Arkansas College Publications Association held at Henderson State University in Arkadelphia.

"The 1977 staff put together one of the nicest yearbooks I've ever seen. It was refreshing to evaluate a book full of good ideas, new trends, with a solid foundation in good journalism," said contest judge Richard P. Lloyd.

The maroon and white volume received marks of distinction in areas of photography, display, coverage and concept. The 416-page book centered around the theme "A Fragment in Time" and was dedicated to former Coach Hugh Groover.

Moss and business manager David Tucker from Searcy headed a staff of 25 students. Dr. Joseph Pryor completed his 33rd year as faculty advisor for the Petit Jean.

Tom Buterbaugh of Indiana, Pennsylvania is serving as editor of the 1978 yearbook which is now being assembled. Richard Roberts of Searcy is business manager. Newly elected leaders for the 1979 book who will serve as assistants this year are Kay Williams of Birmingham, Alabama and Steve Heimburger of Chantilly, Virginia.

Graduate School Provides Spring Classes for Commuting Students

The spring semester schedule of classes at the Harding Graduate School of Religion in Memphis will allow commuters from neighboring states to attend classes.

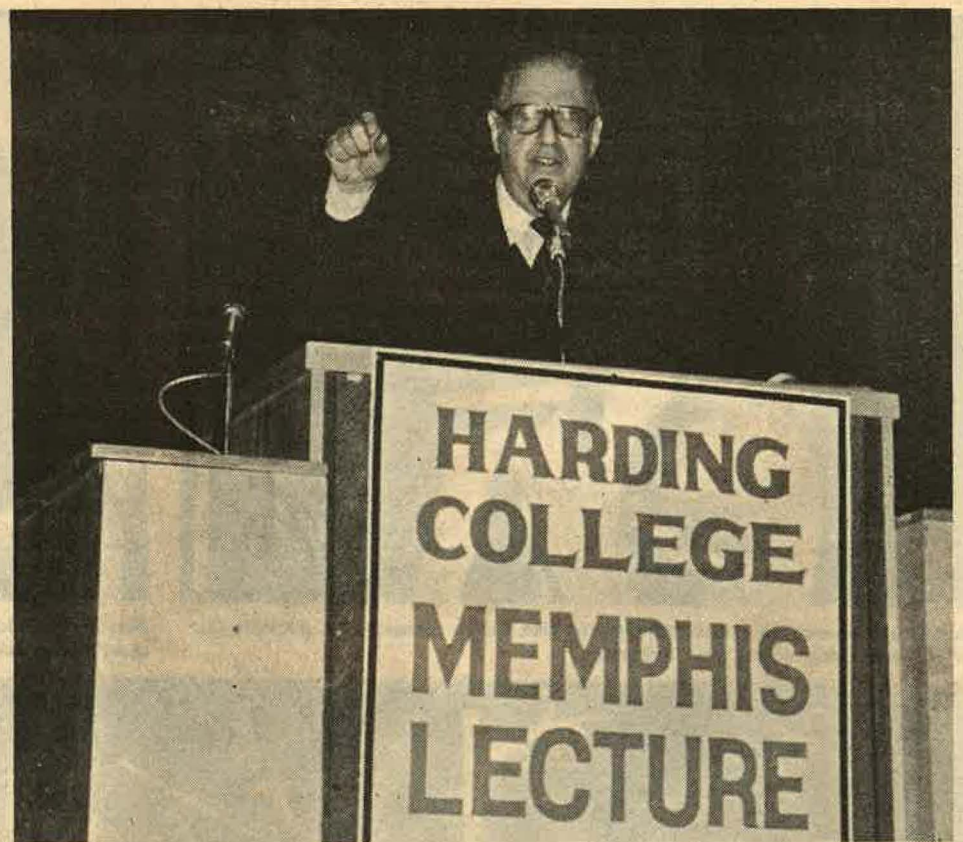

During the fall semester, students enrolled from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

Commuters arriving by 1:00 p.m. may take two courses and finish by 6:45 p.m. Some of the courses offered include Reading in Patristic Greek, History of the Reformation, Advanced Preaching, Archeology of the Bible, Psalms, Research in Counseling, Historical Missiology, Building Better Leadership, New Testament Exegesis, History of Christian Thought, Introduction to Graduate Study, Seminar and Current Religious Thinking.

A special class titled Atheism, Agnosticism and Christianity will be taught by Tom Warren on alternate Saturdays. The course will be comprised of the following divisions: (1) the problem of evil as set out by Professor J. L. Mackie, an atheist (2) three basic efforts to refute Mackie which are inadequate and (3) the Bible answer to Mackie. The course will meet seven times during the semester.

For further information, contact the Graduate School, 1000 Cherry Road, Memphis, Tennessee 38117, Phone (901) 761-1353.

Ambassador Abba Eban of Israel spoke October 13 on the American Studies Memphis Lecture Series. The international statesman chose for his topic, "Prospects for Peace in the Middle East... Reality or Fantasy."

Hammon Scholars Named

Four Charles Hammon scholarships have been awarded for the fall semester according to Dr. Bill Cox, vice-president of Harding College.

Those chosen from four areas of study were Kevin Fisher, Florissant, Missouri; Gary Hanes, Mandeville, Louisiana; George Turner, Dunwoody, Georgia and Jim Warren, Aiken, South Carolina.

A senior accounting major, Fisher was recipient in the business division. His activities include Theta Tau Delta social club, American Studies and he is a three-year letterman in bowling. Fisher was a member of the 1975 NAIA Championship Bowling Team.

In the American Studies division, Gary Hanes, senior social science major, is recipient. Hanes is a member of Knights social club, Alpha Chi national honor society and Phi Alpha Theta historical honor society. He has served as photographer for the Petit

Jean yearbook and is currently serving as the Bison photographer.

Turner, a senior history major, received the scholarship in the area of history and political science. He is a member of Theta Alpha Gamma social club, Alpha Chi national honor society and Phi Alpha Theta historical honor society. He is a transfer from Kinnesaw Junior College where he received the College History Award.

Warren, a senior journalism major, received the journalism scholarship. Warren is a member of Sigma Tau Sigma social club, Alpha Chi national honor society and is editor of the 1977-78 Bison.

The Hammon scholarship fund was established by Mrs. Charles Hammon of Gainesville, Florida in memory of her husband. The recipients are chosen on the basis of scholastic attainments, positive attitudes and potential for good works.

Campaign Launched for Press

A drive to raise $10,000 for a printing press in Vienna, Austria that produces Bibles and religious materials for distribution in Iron Curtain countries is underway according to student sponsors Ross Cochran of Hobbs, New Mexico and Steve Meeks of Gladewater, Texas.

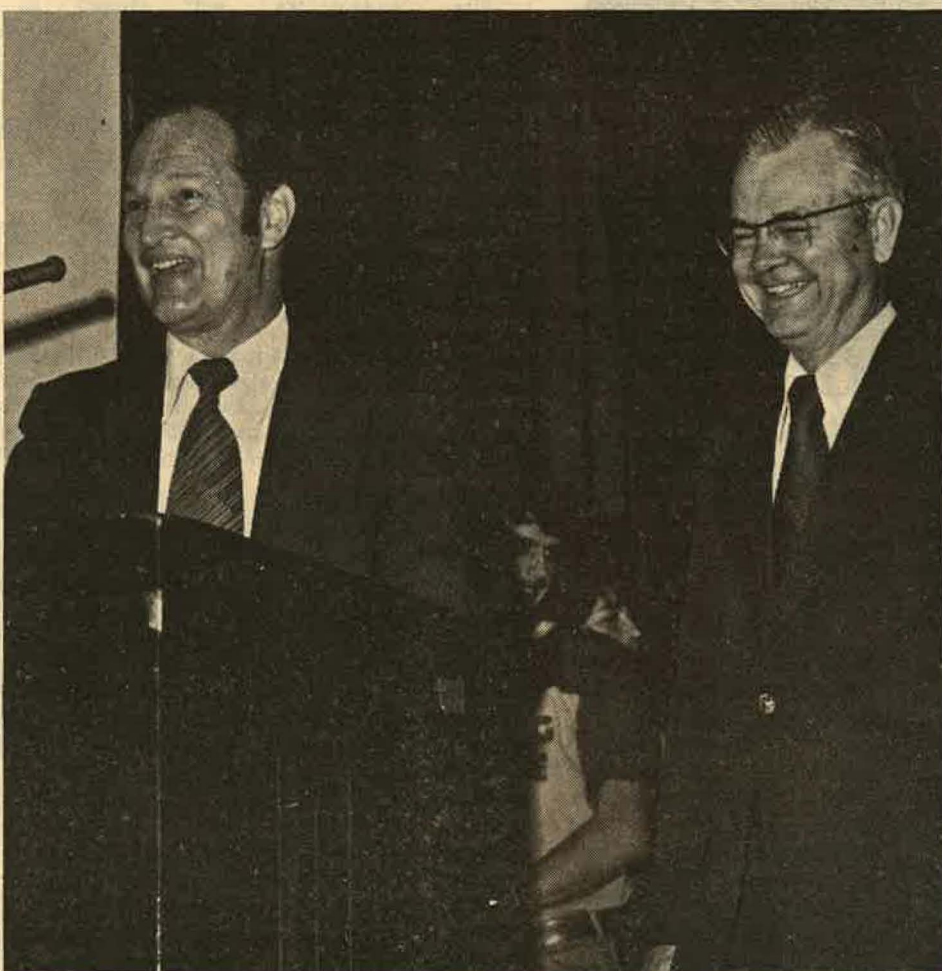

The Harding project is part of the "Mission of Love," headed by Bob Hare, missionary to Austria. A group of 150 Harding students initiated the drive after attending the World Missions Workshop at Oklahoma Christian College where they learned of the financial need.

All students at Harding were asked to personally give $10 or to raise the amount over the holidays. After Thanksgiving, approximately $3,000 had been turned in,

The Bibles from the $300,000 press will be printed in 17 languages eventually. They currently are printed in 12 languages. Materials now go to Rumania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, East Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria.

The Bibles cost $3 to print one or $15 to print ten. The press, purchased in 1975 with money from the trust fund of the late Cathleen McGehee, is operated by seven full-time workers who are "refugees from behind the Iron Curtain," said Cochran.

"The goal is to keep the machine running eight hours a day, every day of the year," Meeks said. "There are 400 million people behind the Iron Curtain who can't see Bibles and only 2,000 Bibles that we know are there."

A startled Kenneth Davis Jr., left, who directs the Harding A Cappella Chorus, receives applause in a recent chapel presentation after the chorus dedicated a record album to him. Jimmy Jones, right, director of the college's recording services, made the presentation after careful negotiations had been made to keep the secret. Chorus members were on stage to honor their director.

HOMECOMING POTPOURRI

The largest crowd of alumni ever to return for a Homecoming celebration gathered on campus the weekend of November 4-5. It was a time to "Try to Remember" and all the gala festivities created even more memories for future years.

The "Fantasticks" was staged as the Homecoming musical. The Black and Gold Banquet gave all alumni a chance to visit and the Distinguished Alumnus Award and two Outstanding Service Awards were given to Emmett Smith, Jim Bill McInteer and James Ganus, respectively. Numerous social clubs, classes and organizations held breakfasts, suppers and parties for old members. The Class of '52 was honored on its 25th anniversary.

Miss Pam Logan of Plano, Texas, was crowned queen at halftime activities of the game against Southern Arkansas University. Her attendants were Cilla Riley of Little Rock and Kathy Florence of Worthington, Ohio.

With all the activities and excitement of the weekend, the happiest moments were those spent renewing old friendships, seeing families and just catching up on the latest. Why don't you make plans now to attend Homecoming '78?

Cloud Portrays Spiritual Prisoner in Original Monologue

Few talented college sophomores have had the opportunity to perform on the same program with an entertainment giant like Bob Hope and compete for the chance to perform on national television.

Jonathan Cloud has.

It all started when Cloud, a Bible major at Harding, saw an article in the Bison on Bob Hope's area "Search for the Top in Collegiate Talent" contest and decided to enter. A poem he had read about prisons sparked the idea to create Toby, a man spiritually as well as physically imprisoned. The dramatic prison soliloquy, "The Morning of a New Bondage," earned him an area title. He then advanced to the sectional competition of Texas A&M on Dec. 5 where he placed third.

Cloud, a native of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, and the other Arkansas winner, singer Beth Browning of Ouachita Baptist University, appeared on Hope's program at the Pine Bluff Convention Center Oct. 27.

Of his appearance with Bob Hope, Cloud said, "I was used to performing, but I was a little tense this time. I was super excited and felt good. Mr. Hope came to the dressing room to talk with us and say hello before the show started."

Though he has had no formal training, Cloud is blessed with a mellow bass voice. He started acting and writing in high school. "My high school director (he attended Parkland High School in Winston-Salem) believed in original productions — he directed us to act by inspiration."

While Cloud has done comedy, he admits that serious drama is his favorite. He prefers those roles with a message to offer.

Versatility on the stage is not the only trait the dramatist displays. Before returning to Harding this fall, Cloud completed a Washington internship with North Carolina Congressman Stephen Neal. While there, he did research on legislation.

The latter part of the summer, Cloud rejoined some of his high school drama group and traveled to Chicago to perform "Back to Creation."

In preparation for the competitions, Cloud polished the monologue and practiced it one or two hours a day. In keeping with his philosophy that the union of the soul and body are indivisible, he also ran every morning to get in physical shape. "A couple of hours on the stage can physically drain you. The running routine helps in breathing correctly also," he advised.

While drama is a part of his life, Cloud's first love is preaching. He ultimately wants to form a small group that specializes in communicating the gospel through preaching, singing, teaching and acting.

His recent experiences at Harding should help him achieve his goal.

Quartet of Bison Gridders Named to All-Conference First Team

A quartet of Harding footballers has been elected to the 1977 All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference first team, according to AIC Commissioner Leroy Nix.

The four are receiver Max Ellzey of Osceola, Ark., linebacker Mike Graul of Cahokia, Ill., defensive end Gary Brown of Chamblee, Ga. and defensive back Lanny Dauksch of Tamaroa, Ill. All are seniors except Ellzey, who has one more season of eligibility.

Ellzey, a 5-9, 165 lb. flankerback with 51 catches, became the first Bison receiver to catch more than 50 passes in a single season since 1971 when All-American Ronnie Peacock captured 59. Ellzey parlayed his receptions with 651 yards and two touchdowns.

Graul, Brown and Dauksch are all defensive standouts who have played key roles in the Bison success. Last year the group keyed an effort that produced a co-championship in the AIC and a place in the 1976 San Jacinto Shrine Bowl in Pasadena, Texas.

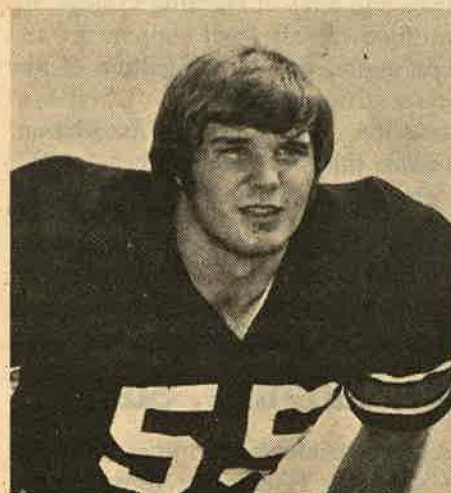

Despite a disappointing 4-7 record after losing key men to injuries, the Bisons experienced some individual success. Bison quarterback Cam Prock led the AIC in passing with 1,258 yards on 106 completions on 256 attempts for six touchdowns.

Mike Vanlandingham, a junior college transfer from Seminole, Okla., was this year's leading rusher with 692 yards on 174 carries. The 6-0, 205 pounder missed a number of games with leg injuries but still ranked seventh in the conference.

A freshman from Searcy, Kevin Webb was second ranked in the AIC in punt returns and was listed among the NAIA leaders most of the season. He finished with a 10.5 average in 29 returns, including an 87 yard record touchdown in the victory over Ouachita Baptist.

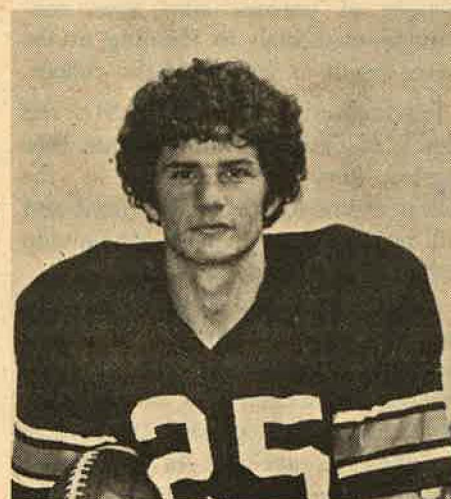

Others with high conference marks were junior end Gail Gregg of Columbiana, Ohio, and David Bangs of Marcella, Ark. Gregg was third in receiving with 31 receptions for 385 yards and three touchdowns. Bangs, only a sophomore, caught 23 for 351 yards for the air-minded Bisons.

Harriers Capture AIC Title, Finish 19th in NAIA Meet

Harding College, the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference Cross Country Champion, finished 19th in the NAIA National meet in Kenosha, Wis. November 19.

Coach Ted Lloyd's squad recorded its second best finish ever and this was the first time to crack the top 20 since the 1973 season.

"Our boys did a fine job and we felt we've made an important breakthrough," Lloyd said. "It was one of the largest meets we've had with 56 teams and more than 450 runners."

Finishing first for the Bisons was Phil Hostetler in 46th position. the 5-5 junior from Topeka, Ind. was the runner-up in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and NAIA District 17.

Harding's second runner was freshman John Sills of Eads, Tenn., who placed 78th. Sophomore Matt Grate of Waterloo, Ind., placed 122nd and his brother Marshall, a senior, finished in the 126th position. Mark Williams, a sophomore from Wichita, placed 181st.

Rounding out the Bison entries were freshmen Dave Edwards of Louisville, Ky., at the 224th position and Jimmy McClain of Memphis at 257th.

"The caliber of competition continues to improve," Lloyd said. "Our boys were responding to the challenge and we feel like we have a fine future in store for us."

Lloyd explained that two of the top runners on the team did not participate in the NAIA meet. Richard Teixeira, a freshman from Waterloo, Ind., and Carter Lambert, a freshman from Pearl, Miss., have seen sidelined with injuries.

Despite losing these boys to injuries, the Bisons won the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and NAIA District 17.

Lettermen announced by Lloyd were Marshall Grate, Matt Grate, Hostetler, Steve Gambill of Lubbock, Texas, Edwards, Sills, Williams, Jimmy McClain of Memphis and Richard Teixeira of Auburn, Ind.
