NEW GYMNASIUM TO INCLUDE MANY FEATURES

Details concerning the new gymnasium which is being built on the east side of the campus have been released. The plans call for a large oval building, one hundred sixty feet in length by one hundred forty-eight feet in width.

The gym will be complete with dressing rooms for girls, college and high school boys and faculty. One is the size of the building and equipment rooms will house playground and gym apparatus. Two classrooms will adequately care for regular class work and in addition one room will be equipped with modern apparatus to be used in a special course in Corrective Physical Education under the direction of Hugh Rhodes.

SKATING RINK

A skating rink one hundred twenty feet by thirty feet will be located on the south side. The area above the skating rink will be used for seating approximately eighty persons. Additional seating capacity for approximately twelve hundred can be arranged on the north side if needed.

The main floor of the gymnasium will be left off with wood and will accommodate three large basketball courts, six volleyball courts, nine badminton courts, six shuffleboard alleys and one full size indoor softball diamond.

TO INCLUDE OFFICES

Offices for the director of boys’ Physical Education, director of high school Physical Education and Practice Teaching and director of girls’ physical education will be located near the main entrance.

The building was purchased from a Chicago construction company upon the recommendation of Dr. Jardine McKerlie after conferring with Dr. Benson and the physical education staff.

UNEXCELLED PROGRAM

The building and the arrangement of facilities will enable the school to offer its students a program of activities unexcelled anywhere. In addition to the regular activity classes in physical education at least one or two hours will be devoted to open play daily. At these hours, anyone is welcome to come and engage in the activity which best fits his or her need. Regular hours for skating will be scheduled. It will be possible to double patrolment in intra-mural play by using only sixty-seven per cent of the time now devoted to that activity.

BOWERS GIVES CONCERT IN AUDITORIUM THURSDAY

Jonathan Bowers will be presented in a piano recital under the sponsorship of the Lambda Sigma social club with the backing of Harding college. Thursday, February 17, 8:00 p.m.

The 22 year-old native of Gainesville, Florida, studied under private tutors for 13 years. He studied in Anderson college (S.C.) for three years, and gave his first concert when he was only ten years old. He also studied under Moriz Rosenthal for a period of three years. At the end of this time he gave his professional debut in Town Hall, New York.

After the Town Hall concert Moriz Rosenthal wrote: “Jonathan Bowers, a great pianistic talent. His tone is full and round, allows him interpretations of superlative excellence... The great school of Master Liszt lives still!”

The New York Times wrote: “The young artist displayed a natural gift for the keyboard...”

Mr. Bowers has played over all the major radio networks, and has done considerable concert work. He is listed in the monthly supplement of “International Who’s Who.”

He has also done some composing. He has written one minuet, three sonatas, and arranged an overture and a symphony for the piano, and has written several other works.

Mr. Bowers is a cousin of Marvin Booker, a Harding senior.

Print Shop To Move To New Location

The college printing plant will move to its new location in the north wing of the industrial arts building next week. The Bison will resume publication in March 1 edition.

The college printing plant has about 4200 square feet of space and will include a camera room, dark room, platemaking room, stock room, office, and the print shop itself. It will also include the mailing and binding department.

The move will enable greater efficiency in the work, Mr. Howes said. The college print shop is now one of the largest in Arkansas.

Barring unforeseen difficulties, the Bison will resume publication with the March 1 edition.

Individual Or Group Basis—Which?

...we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness...

What Jefferson meant when he penned those words as a part of the Declaration of Independence, is open to some argument. We know that he could not have meant that men are created physically or mentally equal, because it is quite obvious that they are not. He probably meant that men were created equal before the law. But this too wasn’t true in Jefferson’s time, nor is it in ours.

All over our country there are discriminatory laws against certain people because of their race or background. When Jefferson lived, human equality didn’t exist for hundreds of thousands of persons, and, although the cause of equality has made great strides forward in our country, it has still a long way to go.

This is no criticism of any person or group of persons, or of any particular area. It exists everywhere to some degree. And it probably will as long as human beings are human. But this does not mean that we should resign ourselves to it any more than we would cease to fight evil because there will always be evil.

Some say that a certain group should not be allowed the same privileges and responsibilities that others have until they are developed to the stage where they can shoulder responsibilities as well. That is like a father telling his son to “Go out and learn to swim, but don’t get in the water until you know how, because it is dangerous.”

We doubt that this is really the basic reason for such treatment in many cases, because there are many minority groups who are highly developed intellectually and culturally who are still segregated. And just as a member of a racial group will attain at the same time, so the whole matter of responsibility shifts to an individual basis.

A student at Northwestern University showed the fallacy of group discrimination when he said, “If I’m dirty, I can cleanse myself. If I am ignorant, I can better myself. But if you deny me justice because of the coloring of my skin, I can only refer you to God who gave it to me.”

As we said before, these things are said not in a factual spirit, but merely for our consideration. Think these things over; if you do not agree, why? No criticisms are welcome. Address them to the Bison, via campus mail.

Liquid Assets—Gene Mowrer has a pair of red shoes that are really RED. I noticed that he had them on one day when it was rather damp and I commented on them. He said, "Well, they keep my feet dry". Jimmie Mooneyham who was walking along with him said, "Yeah, they are so loud that they drive the water away!"

Draft—Dr. Frank Rhodes was discussing the comparative merits of Theodore Roosevelt as a writer and called on V. L. Simmons to give an illustration to show this. When "Kilroy" piped up with the fact that Roosevelt was one of the "Rough Riders", class was dismissed for the day.

Bill—It is a shame that we did away with the old water fountain because Bill Billknap was going to name it as one of the world's wonders with a sign to read "Old Face-Full!"

Check—When his class started to take a test in Physics the other day, Dr. Joe was grinning from ear to ear. Someone asked him what he was so happy about and he said, "Well, I always find out so many new things when I go to grade these papers."

Account—Dr. Summitt was explaining the mechanics of the body and the fact that talking was a motor action. Billy Horton leaned over and told Greeta the Shewmaker that his sister could not get her motor turned off and when Greeta asked him why, he replied, "Too much gas!"

Play Money—After looking at all the girls' recreation teams' names, such as Prunes, Plums, Pineapples, etc, Bobby Peyton replied, "Well, I think that we will have to have one of the famous bowls at Harding—the Fruit Bowl."

Unbalanced—And then there was the little moron who went to the store to buy some birdseed, and the salesman knew that he didn't have any birds. He said to the little moron, "Say, Bud, why are you getting all that birdseed? You don't have any birds. The little moron grinned and said, "Yes, I know. That is why I'm buying some. I want to raise some little birds from birdseed." All—in't that enuff?
