Life Is Greatly Different At Harding To Former Member Of Hitler Youth

by Ted Diehl

Alfred Petrich, or "Padre Pete" to his buddies, spent six years in Germany during the last world war. Alfred, now of New York City, enrolled in the Harding Academy in the winter term. He became interested in Christian schools after his association with Christians at Camp Hunt last summer.

There was a very distinct difference between Alfred camping with Christians at Camp Hunt after his return to America in 1946, and attending the "Hitler Youth" camps while in Germany. At the age of eight, Alfred became a member of what he called the "Hitler Boys". These boys had to participate in military drill under the direction of German army officials.

Two years later the Russians entered Breimberg, Germany, Alfred's home. All of the occupants of the city fled. The Petriches made their escape by traveling 24 hours in a box car on a train going to a city of safety.

After the Petriches reached their destination, they found lodgings. But before Alfred had rested an hour, he was hurriedly awakened by the report that the Russians were only one mile away. He was unable to walk because his feet were numb from exposure and had to be carried on a horse drawn wagon. The wagon on which the children rode broke down and they became separated from 'their mother. Alone, the children walked 16 miles to the next town.

The greatest sorrow struck the Petrich family when Mr. Petrich, serving in the German army, in the drive to Stalingrad, for it was there that he died in action. Alfred, being the oldest child, had a great responsibility after this.

Throughout the war, the Petrich children seldom stopped going to school. Although Alfred attended seven schools while in Germany, he tells an incident of his attending three different schools in one day. Returning to school after lunch one day, he found the school building in ruins. Alfred was taken to enroll in a Catholic private school and began some of his classes. The school, finding out that he was a Lutheran, dismissed him. He was told to enroll in the school for Lutheran students, his third school for the day.

Alfred set his goal and is going to Frankfurt, Germany as a missionary, after he finishes his schooling at Harding. "Padre Pete," age 14, is now a freshman in the Harding Academy. In the near future, Alfred wants his sister to be trained for her education, partly with his support.

Frank Pack To Hold Evangelistic Series Here Next Week

Frank Pack, instructor at George Pepergine college, will be on the campus next week, April 3 to April 8, for a series of evangelistic meetings. It was announced this week.

Mr. Pack's home is in Memphis, Tenn., where he attended the Memphis Technical high school. While in high school he was on the school debating team and also was the valedictorian of his class. From Memphis, Mr. Pack continued his education at Lipscomb college, being graduated from there. Moving west and still attending school, Mr. Pack received his doctor's degree in the field of religion from the University of Southern California.

Jackson To Present Speech Recital Friday

Lois Jackson will present a speech recital, "Who Walk Along," in the college auditorium Friday night, at 8:30. The speech will be presented from the book "Who Walk Along," by Perry Burgess.

Mr. Jackson, who was graduated last year, is being coached by Mrs. J. N. Armstrong. Selected music will be provided by Marlin Phillips.

Scott Lectures On Christian Home

As part of a joint series of lectures and a school for song leaders which will be held at Harding college last week, Mr. Harvey Scott of Texarkana gave a group of lectures on "Marriage and the Home." Beginning with Monday night meeting the meetings continued throughout the week.

His climax speech on Friday night was "The Five Decisions That Everyone Must Make." They were: one's vocation in life, the institution in which to prepare for this vocation, one's associates, one's relationship to marriage, and one's relationship to God.

"These decisions must be made with respect to the best within yourself, the best for those around you, and in respect to your duty toward the Almighty," said Mr. Scott.

The special music school was under the direction of Professor Andy T. Ritchie Jr. and Mr. L. O. Sanderson of Little Rock. Visitors from Texas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. Harding students also sat in on the classes. Mr. Sanderson and Mr. Ritchie were in charge of leading the singing at the lectures.

Sophos Take Annual College Examinations

On Wednesday, March 23, the sophomore class began to take the standard test for all college sophomores. The class was divided into two groups. The examinations scheduled to be finished in one day, but owing to the lack of answer sheets will be finished sometime this week. The date is not yet announced.

The examination includes questions on current affairs, science, fine arts, and mathematics.

Gurganus And Grindle To Display Picture

George Gurganus and Edith Grindle of New York City will be in Searcy, Wednesday, March 30, to present motion pictures of Camp Hunt, a summer camp located in Hubbardville, New York.

Gurganus was a 1942 graduate of Harding college, and since that time he has preached in New York City. In addition to his ministerial work he is also director of Camp Hunt.

Grindle, before beginning his work in New York City, was connected with the Southern Christian Home at Morriston.
IT CAN BE DONE!

Self-satisfaction is a very dangerous state of mind.

“Harding college, the school that preaches democracy, provides no democratic student organization for the students.”

Is that true? Yes and no. Several times student organizations have been proposed from various sources, by both students and faculty members. But each time, they have been ignored, rejected, or have died because of the apathetic attitude of so many Hardingites.

STRIVE FOR PERFECTION

So actually the administration is not responsible in any way. But for the most part, none of our present student body is to blame either. Usually when plans have been proposed, they either had some defect which caused their own demise, or they were treated so apathetically that they died of indifference.

Many of us take the attitude that “We don’t need any kind of student government, because we are all Christians, and we will always do the right thing.” While very fine in its idealism, this is not a realistic view.

We have made some fine beginnings toward a United Student Government. Some examples of this trend were in the Girl’s House Council and the Hutville Town Council. Certainly they are imperfect and have faults, but they are steps in the direction of an over-all student government.

One of the best features of a student government is the ability to take responsibility upon himself and fulfill the obligations thus incurred. Development in this field may be partially realized through a student body organization.

ANARCHY NOT THE ANSWER

Some advocate throwing off all rules and regulations and living in a state of legislated anarchy, and developing the individual in that environment. This, too, is unrealistic. From birth everyone learns from instruction and training, and that training lasts until death. So actually the ideal would be for one to restrain himself with the moral assistance of others around him. In this way, true self-control will develop.

Rules and regulations imposed on one will never accomplish what the proper teaching will do. This, we believe, may best be done through a Student Body Organization.

Such an organization, to be successful, must be self-governing in whatever powers are delegated to it. And it should be respected by the students. No democratic form of government can exist without the support of those under it.

Obviously, such an organization would necessarily be in cooperation with, and not in opposition to, the administration. Yet it must also be independent in all the powers delegated to it.

This organization can and will be formed IF those who make up Harding college want it.

What do you think? We will be glad to hear from one and all. Simply address your communication to Editor, the Bison, Campus mail.

“Self-satisfaction is a very dangerous state of mind.”

THE BISON

Prof. Ritchie Sze:

“The statement: ‘We walk by faith, not by sight,’ is a very familiar one to most Bible students. In routine matters, from dressing ourselves to the alarm clock to wake us, to believing that the food which we buy at the grocery in not contaminated, we do actually live by faith. But with regard to many basic principles most of us are wont to hesitate and quibble even though God has plainly said something, just because we can’t see why it should be necessary. One of life’s greatest errors is to depend upon sight when the situation demands action by faith.”

Think On These Things...

by Victor Broaddus

SELF-DISCIPLINE

"Dad," said a thirteen year old boy to his father, "will you let me drive the car?" Dad, of course, said, "No".

Why would you suppose he said it? Was it because he did not want his son to learn how to drive? Was it that he did not want his son to enjoy the pleasures of driving the family car. No, rather, it was simply because the boy did not have sufficient knowledge to practice self-control, even though he were old enough.

This then, is a very comprehensive view of self-discipline. It is the ability to control oneself in any way.

But for most part, none of our parents or friends have had much to say about self-discipline. It is just a matter of common knowledge.

Peter the apostle recognized that fact when he listed the progression of the Christian graces in II Peter 1:5-7. He mentioned that knowledge which is exercised works self-control, or self-discipline. Of course this will always be individuals who never grow up just as there are men who still do not use enough of that knowledge to drive a car. Yet, a person who is brought up in a christian manner and is among christians everywhere will have enough knowledge to practice self-discipline.

God made man so that choices can be made by him; but that the consequences must also be borne by him. In order then, for man to face the problems of life, it is essential for him to practice self-discipline in his youth that he may be able to use it later.

The final conclusion one may gain is that not only must one gain knowledge, but one must also use that knowledge in a practical way by exercising self-discipline. Something to think about.

CASH REGISTERS

Light Bill—Have you heard the song about the buried light bulb? “Mazda’s in the Cold Ground”. Liquid Asset—On the way to Memphis, Dr. Kern Sears was driving through some water on the road left over from the flood. Mary K. King asked, “I say, do you think it will be good?” Dr. Kern said, “I sure will be glad when we get back on good ole ‘terra firma’. Dr. Kern said, “Yeah, the more firmer, the less terror.”

Security—I bet that you would never guess where Harold Wilson found a life preserver when he was looking for props for a play. He found one in a funeral home of all places.

Audit—My poor roommate lost her voice and she said to me, “Now I know how Charlie McCarthy feels when Edgar Bergen isn’t around. You open your mouth and nothing comes out.”

Withdrawal—Some one kicked “Moe” McCarthy and he came back with, “Stop kicking my leg, I’m kinda ‘Shin’amental about it.”

Check—As I was looking at the bulletin board it, organic lab, I noticed the following sign: Table of insolubles…Match stems, filter paper, broken glass, boiling stones, litmus paper, coffee grounds, Table of solubles. Water, water. Note—Sink drainage should be composed of dilute solutions of water. Gentle hint, huh?

Green stuff—We were discussing the sugar found in artichokes and someone mentioned that they had never eaten artichokes and Bob Prince pipes up with, “Well, I know some people that ought ta choke.”

Esther Mitchell, school nurse, is all smiles these days over the new buzzer system recently installed in the infirmary. It is really something to be smiled over too! There’s a buzzer for each bed. When the button is punched, it registers the number and see the number of the bed. Interesting to hear the low buzz in the nursing stations. A little machine out in the nurse’s office and also in the nurse’s room. You want to hear the low buzz or would you like the nurse to come? These and similar summons will probably keep the nurses “buzzing” from midnight to midnight, but it wouldn’t be surprising if Esther didn’t still keep her word that she’s lighted over the new system.

Hotel register—A knight came into an inn on a St. Bernard dog. It was very cold and stormy outside. He had to ride this dog because he could not find a horse. He asked the innkeeper for a room but there were no rooms available. Finally, the keeper said, “Well, I guess we will find something. You didn’t turn away a knight on a dog like this”!

But I’VE BEEN SICK

Balance—It seems so funny to me that goats can have kids but kids can’t have goats because their mothers won’t let them.

Working under pressure all the way, a strong Arkansas team beat Texas 64-51.

Arkansas worked well as the passing of Lawyer and Beck to Farmer and Winkle paid off. Winkle played a creditable ball game as he hit consistently. Every Arkansas player had an average of 10 points, Menes leading the field with 17.

Texas came from behind, but failed to come through. Fowler was the "Hot shot" of the evening with 16 points. Stone followed with 10 points and stood out with good floor work.

The first all-star team defeated the second all-star team last Thursday night 48-46. Neither team scored much in the first stanza when the 1st team led 8-7. But in the 2nd quarter both teams came out of their slump, and the 1st team led 20-16 at half time.

In the 3rd and 4th quarters the 1st team still held the lead, and went on to win 58-46.

Wildcats Take Sooners To Spring Cleaning
Led by the sharpshooting accuracy of Howard Garner and Joe "Dusty" Nichols, a strong Kentucky five combined their talents to take another impressive win at the hands of the Oklahoma squad by the score of 71 to 49.

During the first quarter, the Kentucky squad showed that they meant business by taking an eight point lead which was all they could maintain until the last period. It was at this section of the game when the Oklahoma aggregation was completely bottled up and the Wildcats went on to victory by a thirty-two point margin.
