Bales To Have Two Debates This Month

James D. Bales, head of the Harding Bible department, will take part in two debates this month.

The first, with a member of the religious group, "Jehovah's Witnesses," will be held in Mammoth Springs, Saturday night,

The second will be held in Memphis, Tenn., May 23 to 27, with Woolsey Teller, general secretary of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism.

In October, 1947, Dr. Bales and Mr. Teller held a four day debate in the college auditorium here on the "Existence of God". In Memphis they will debate three propositions. The first is identical with that held here in 1947; the second concerns the inspiration of the Bible; and the third subject will be "The theory of evolution is scientific."

The debate in Mammoth Springs will be "The Second Coming: Whether it has taken place or not." This will be a one night debate.

Large Chorus Presents Annual Outdoor Concert

The Harding college chorus presented it's third annual spring concert under the direction of Andy T. Ritchie last Friday night between the east and West wings of Godden Hall. Although over 500 chairs had been placed for the audience there were many people who stood in order to hear the program.

Opening with the "Alma Mater" the chorus followed with semi-classic, and religious songs. Charles Brewer gave a group of poems of "interpretation". Songs of evening were done with the chorus in candle-light. Mr. Brewer then gave a group of poems of "impersonation". The chorus closed with classic and popular songs. One of the songs was with Evelyn Rhodes singing "There Is a Balm in Gilead" accompanied by the chorus. As an encore number Professor Ritchie sang "Old Man River", while Dale Jorgenson directed the chorus; this was followed by the special request of "My God and I".

A Challenge: More On Thoughtlessness

Yesterday we visited a jail. And came to the conclusion that not all the criminals are behind bars.

Why should we arrive at this conclusion?

The jail we visited was used as a servants' quarters before the Civil War. It is about 100 years old. It is dirty, dingy, and overcrowded. Sometimes as many as five have had to share a cell about six feet square in which there were only two bunks.

There were two children in the jail, one thirteen and the other fourteen. One was in there because he had stolen some things and run away. He had a bad home environment. He will spend three years in the state reformatory because of delinquent parents.

Because of the crowded conditions these boys had to share the same cells with hardened law-breakers.

What lesson is there in this for us? Never should we forget our responsibilities toward our fellow men. Regardless of their conditions. In fact, the worse their state is, the more responsible we are.

This jail we visited was not in this county. But what if it were? Would we stand back and allow such conditions exist? What are our local jails like? Social workers have stated that many lives of crime have resulted from poor conditions in our penal system. It is our Christian responsibility to work toward improving our society in every way possible without being inconsistent with Christian principles.

Not all the criminals are in jail!

Mottoes For Sale—Cheap

Mottoes come cheap. Books are filled with them, bulletin boards are covered with them, papers are packed with them, and radio advertisements are sprinkled with them, but just what does a motto amount to?

During the war, a national advertiser held a contest for several patriotic mottoes. After the winner was chosen, the rest were put into a scrap paper collection. They actually weren't worth the paper they were written on!

But one successful business man attributes his success to the simple motto which hangs above his desk. He really wouldn't take a hundred dollars for a jingle on a piece of cardboard over his desk!

The annual crowd at the Gaebale, sponsored by the University of Arkansas, was reported to have been over 8,000. This is the largest crowd to have been in attendance at one. The Gaebale is a celebration on the University campus which is held annually.

Speaking of famous personalities, have you heard of Mr. Ferris? Oh! you know, he's a big wheel over at the circus.

The Pioneer of Whiteman College printed its entire March 25th edition in red ink, giving a very amusing satire of Communism. One of the headlines was "Remember, the Eyes of the Gremlin Are Upon Us."

'Look To Yourself First,' Says Writer

by Victor Broaddus

"Only three weeks left!" "I have so much to do before the end of school". Such cries and moans are being heard over the campus in dread anticipation of the coming final examinations. "It seems that we never have any time to do anything, there are just too many things you have to go to."

Actually the situation is not quite so bad, but it is likely bad enough. The problem of time is indeed a great one, and one that takes much thought and planning. Although there are only three weeks left in this term, and although there is much to be done, there may still be hope left for the majority if only they would settle down to some work between now and the end of one. If a budget is made however, it school.

The suggestion that one budget his time would no doubt be a very helpful should also contain a certain amount of time for something more than just study for every spare moment between meals and classes; there should be included time for meditation and private worship to God. If there seems to be a lack of spirituality either on the campus or among associates, it is likely not the fault of the other person; but rather due to the fact that we are too busy with other things to take care of our spirit of devotion. This time will not need to upset other plans, but rather assist in studies by a refreshing of the mind.

"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." (Ecclesiastes 9:10).

American Education, Chinese Wedding, And Refrigerators Describe The Jeus

by Ted Diehl

Mr. and Mrs. Dungan Jeu

Tien-Liang Jeu, the new assistant engineer in the Maintenance department, is a colorful addition to the Harding personalities. He and his wife, who doesn't speak a word of English, are overwhelmed with the courtesies of the American people. However, they plan to return to China and start their own air conditioning and refrigerator business as soon as circumstances will permit. Mr. Jeu is the uncle of Fung Seen Wong, a student here.

The most important need in China, stated Mr. Jeu, is faster communications and traveling conditions, and a more modern educational system, which will the needs of China, are some of their customs. Their custom of marriage, has some advantages over the marriages in the United States in that it lowers the divorce rate and eliminates marriage due to a "passing fancy." The Chinese marriage custom, which Mr. and Mrs. Jeu followed, is that the parents of the children choose the opposite mate and prepare the wedding ceremony. Not until Mr. and Mrs. Jeu were chosen did they see each other, Mr. Jeu said.

Mrs. Jeu prepares the meals, not in American style, but into special Chinese dishes. Some basic foods which they enjoy are fish, noodles and rice. While she is in the United States, she also has most of the modern kitchen conveniences, which are unheard of in some parts of China.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jeu came from Kwangtung, a province in Southern China, but Mr. Jeu was born in the United States and returned to China at the age of two. A few years later Mr. Jeu returned to the United States to attend college. He went to the Virginia Military Institute, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and Columbia University, working in the field of electrical engineering.

BISON SPORTS

by Jess Moore

As the days lengthen and more games are history, the baseball standings receive added attention and their evolves a great deal of speculation as to the final outcome. It merely boils down to this, which everyone is rationalizing and saying, I know we have the best team, but we play so seldom, we just don't get the feel of the game."

However, that isn't quite the case, as pertains to the Pirates. A few days ago they were performing, I overheard several of their players discussing their weak spots and what have you mostly. Then briskly from an air of disgust came the quirkish remark, "At least we are consistent."

After taking a licking on opening day, the league leading Giants have settled down and played victoriously ever since. This has been due to the strong hitting of their spark plug and in several cases some good samaritan tactics by the other teams. Two strong opponents remain on their schedule, that could easily change their position to one of scramble.

Today the Braves and Dodgers, who are tied for second place, battle it out, hoping either will be the victor and will be in such a situation to challenge the Giant supremacy. The game of the season is expected as fiery Joe Nichols pits his curve ball with the control of Max Mowrer and "Lefty" Lloyd Wright.

Down in the minors, the Chicks are setting the pace as a result of some fancy performing by Keith "Satchel" Thompson, "Genie boy" Jackson, Flash "just call me Boudreau for short", Burgess, Doug "The Kitten" Lawyer. In fact a greater aggregation of stars could not be found within a radius of fifty miles. Incidentally that includes the other greats that go to make that team.

Hard luck has prevailed in the Academy games lately, as they blew their early leads to suffer defeat. This was brought as a result of the outfielders trying to play ice hockey with the ball.

There is a code of groans among ball players if you haven't heard. When expecting a ball they holler hup, hup, hup, in a spirited sort of way. Then immediately after getting it, it then becomes hup-o, hup-o!

"Chick" Allison stated the other day, while in the act of loosening up a bit", I'd rather play ball hoss, than to chase squirrels, while Max Vaughn was whooping it up in hopes of getting another grounder smashed down to him.

Flash! Dwight Mowrer got on base yesterday afternoon by virtue of Pinky "oh my ankle" Berryhill's error.

Track and field was indeed a success regardless of the unfavorable condition of the track. Hats off to a swell group of Freshmen athletes that swept the honors right off their feet. Likewise hats off to all that participated, you were unable to walk, so you won' need a hat in the hospital.

.. Your Library Speaks ..

—By Evelyn Morris—

Spring is in the air, and the maidens sally forth in gayest attire. The library, in its effort to compete with spring fever, is presenting something new besides the "news".

For our gay bulletin boards, we are grateful to Ruth Bornschlegel. National Sunday School Week provides the theme for this week's admonition to attend Sunday School.

The Music Department has located its phonograph records with the library. These are listed in the card catalog by composer, title, and type of composition.

From the preface of VOICE OF NORWAY, Koht and Skard, we read, "Norway may be put forward as an instance of the ideals and realities which more than thirty nations have united to defend and uphold. Norway for years has shared the struggle of the United Nations against the enemies of our common civilization. 'If there is anyone who doubts the democratic will to win, let him look to Norway. He will find in Norway, at once conquered and unconquerable, the answer to his question.' This statement was made in 1944 by President Roosevelt." You'll enjoy this book.

RADAR, by Orrin D. Dunlap, Jr. (1948), tells of Radar's invention, its achievements in war, and its possibilities for peace.

For the Home Ec majors and interested homemakers, our library presents GOOD FOOD AND NUTRITION for young people and their families, edited by Amidon, Bradbury, and Drenckhahn; and FEEDING BABIES AND THEIR FAMILIES by Mansch and Harper.

For the Church History group under Mattox, the library announces receipt of Garrison and Dregroots' history, THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST. This work presents a close study of "Disciple history" for British backgrounds through Stone and Campbell into today's various working parts of the church—religious organization, missions, convention organization, literature. An excellent found in the appendix of CHURCH POLITY, by William Hayden. The first appendix is by Dr. Robert Milligan, the second, by David Lipscomb.

Shakespeare students will be interested in Tillyards' SHAKESPEARE'S PROBLEM PLAYS. This work deals with "Hamlet", "Troilus and Cressida", "All's Well That Ends Well", and "Measure".

Miss Alston wishes to express her appreciation to the students for their excellent respect of quiet rules in the library. This is perhaps unusual in view of our present crowded conditions, and limited inducement to meditation in the library.
