Gala Press Club Banquet Tonite At Rendezvous; Bison Staff And Guests Will Hear Gazette Editor

Twenty-four members of the Press Club and their dates will gather tonight at Roberson's Rendezvous for their annual Bison Banquet. The time is 7:15, and an evening of varied entertainment is promised to this year's staff in honor of their achievements.

Guest speaker will be Carroll McGaughey, state editor of the Arkansas Gazette. Also featured on the program will be the crowning of the new editor and business manager, awarding of letters, and music by Dudley Spears and his Combo. Danny Fulkerson, feature writer on the staff, will be Master of Ceremonies.

Amassing a total of 1266 inches for the year, Lin Wright topped all other Bison scribes to fully earn his letter, announced Editor Jimmy Atkinson. Wright, sports editor of the Bison, also contributed two regular columns under the titles of Chris Elliott and Pine Knox.

Other staff members earning letters are Danny Fulkerson, Lela

Short Shots From The Foul Line

By Danny Fulkerson

Tonight is the night. At last, the long-talked-about, long-awaited Bison Banquet is here. By a process or reconsecration, the derby that used to crown the incoming editor has been retrieved, the Press Club letters are here, the program is supposed to be a humdinger, and come seven-fifteen tonight, the Bioneers will whoop it up with their annual celebration at the Rendezvous.

A bit of conversation overheard at the Bearcave:

One chap: I wish we were in the huts again.

Second chap: Me too. We had so much freedom over there.

Could it be we have a future Patrick Henry in the crowd. The future may find this second chap operating with a phrase similar to: "I know not what course the other boys are going to take, but as for me, give me the huts." So, now that it's all over, and Hurricane has faded into oblivion, we find little bits of melancholy being dropped here and there for the old stomping grounds.

You know, when a thing is about to end, one begins looking back and pulling up incidents that have long since been memories. So it is with this school year. For most of us, a few more days will add another year's education to our list of achievements and we'll be waving to our friends until next fall. Sometime when you can slip out of the hustle and bustle of these oncoming few days, take a look at this year and see if you don't agree that it has been a good one.

Last week we commented on Norman Davis's illness. His condition was more serious than most of us realized. Tuesday, upon a doctor's recommendation, Norman left for his home, Elma, Washington. He plans to return next fall if his health improves during the summer months.

Congratulations to Skeetie McCullough who is timidly displaying a diamond engagement ring given to her by Jack Mitchell.

Tuesday afternoon was a special occasion for Harding moviegoers. Most students were dismissed from classes to attend "Cinderella," Walt Disney's latest picture, which was showing at the Rialto. Comments concerning the production were all praising it. Why couldn't we have more pictures of this type? It made more sense than a lot of shows I have seen—much more entertaining, too.

We're going to keep our promise and take a long last look at cupid's victims to note especially the change of hearts in the past few weeks. Cliff Seavel and Ann Morris, from all appearances, are suffering from a slight touch of romance.

Bill Curry has been seeing quite a bit of Mary Lou Johnson, while her room-mate, Dixie Smith, is being wooed occasionally by Jimmy Rudasell.

Leo Richardson and Katy Hollingsworth still seem to be nuts about each other, and Corinne Russell and Morgan Richardson are taking the first steps which might lead to an entanglement.

For the moment, Lin Wright has captured the roaming heart of Jean Rogers.

From "Johnny Hot-Pilot" To Editor Is Story Of Press Club Banquet Speaker

One of Arkansas' rapid-rising young newsmen, Carroll McGaughey, will be the feature speaker at the gala Press Club banquet tonight. McGaughey, a native of Atlanta, Ga., is currently state editor of the Arkansas Gazette.

McGaughey joined the Gazette as a reporter on January 7, 1947, after several years in service. He was promoted to the state editorship less than three years later.

McGaughey got his elementary schooling at Atlanta and frankly admits that he was the "youngest case on record in Atlanta with migraine headaches which disappeared shortly after classes were dismissed for the day."

After graduation from high school he entered the University of North Carolina and received a B. A. degree four years later. It was there he got his start in journalism, working on the student daily.

When the war came along McGaughey got a flight instructor's rating and for awhile taught recruits the fundamentals of aviation. The glitter of their shoulder insignia finally "got" him and he sought entry into the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps. He was McGaughey finally got a release to go to Eastern Air Lines, then badly in need of pilots to fly its Caribbean Army Contract runs. He spent a year at this, then applied for a release to join the Naval Air Transport Service.

With the NATS McGaughey went to the Pacific where he spent two years. Then the war ended.

Says McGaughey: "Mr. Heiskell, editor of the Gazette, wrote to ask me if I were interested in joining the Gazette and if he could help me get an early release from the Navy. My answers, in order, were 'yes' and 'please try.'"

His first big reporting assignment for the Gazette was to cover the state legislature. Of the assignment he said: "Without previous grounding in the ways of Arkansas politics that was like being a non-swimmer wearing lead shoes in mid-pacific. I swallowed a great deal of saltwater, but managed to come up just in time to take in air."

As state editor of the Gazette McGaughey has charge of the correspondents throughout the state, and handles all state news outside of Little Rock. As he puts it: "I struggle with the vagaries of country correspondents who wire me 10 minutes after the election of officers of the Little Petunia Garden Club and wait three days before they mail me a note about the shooting of the mayor's wife by His Honor over a bridge game score."

McGaughey, now 31, is single and is receiving ever-increasing acclaim for his accomplishments in the newspaper field.

Lavender, Benson, Cohea Art Exhibit Scheduled Sunday

Three Harding students will present their Senior Art Exhibit Sunday, May 21, in the Science Annex, the Bison was informed today. The three are Tom Lavender, Lois Benson, and Robert Cohea.

Pictures in oil, pen and ink, pencil, pastels, water color, and charcoal will be on exhibit. There will also be textile paintings, figurines, modeling, and a complete procedure on making maps by Lavender.

The public is invited to this exhibit.

Lavender, born in Columbia, Tenn., has spent most of his life in Memphis where he graduated from Memphis Tech High School in 1943 and also holds a degree from William M. Moore School of Technology. At the latter school he majored in advanced architectural design. He has also attended a private drawing school and a sculptor school.

A veteran of the last war, Lavender came to Harding in 1946. He was instrumental in the outstanding record compiled by the Gaur social club during its existence.

Miss Benson is the daughter of President and Mrs. George S. Benson. She was born in Hong Kong, China and moved to the United States in 1936. She graduated from Harding Academy in 1946 and enrolled in college here that fall.

Miss Cohea was born in Gainsville, Texas, but moved to Wewoka, Okla., at an early age. She did her elementary and high school work there and entered Harding in the fall of 1946.

The exhibit will remain up all next week.

Girls Glee Club Sextette Presented

The Girls Glee Club, Sextette, and Men's Quartet presented their annual spring concert Wednesday under the direction of Mrs. Florence Jewell.

Selections which the Glee Club presented included: "Bless This House" by Brahe and "Gypsy Choral Fantasia," arranged by Don Wilson.

Next the Men's Quartet sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte and "The Blind Plowman," by Clarke and "Rigolette."

"Hi, Ho, Sing Gaily," a Swiss folk song, "Little Star," by Ponce, with Evelyn Rhodes singing the solo, and "Down by the Station," were sung by the Glee Club.

The Sextette sang three selections, "All the Things You Are," by Jerome Kern, "Chloe" by Moret, and "Song of the Metronome" by Berlin.

Next, the Sextette and Quartet united to sing "Songs from Yesterdays," which included "Moonlight and Roses," and "The Waltz You Saved for Me."

The last portion of the program was of more modern interpretations that included, "Some Enchanted Evening," by Hammerstein-Rodgers, "Begin the Beguine" by Cole Porter and "You'll Never Walk Alone," by Hammerstein-Rodgers.

Evelyn Rhodes Is Crowned Queen Of 1950 Petit Jean

Kell, Stubblefield Are Attendants For Coronation Ceremony

Miss Evelyn Rhodes was crowned queen of the 1951 Petit Jean during the dedication ceremony of the yearbook held at Rhodes Memorial Field House, yesterday, May 19. The queen's two attendants were Bettye Kell and Kathy Stubblefield, two junior students.

Preceding the coronation ceremony, Ruth Bornschlegel, editor of the annual read, "The 1951 Petit Jean is dedicated to the spirit which inspired and carried forward the Christian school movement." Miss Bornschlegel then displayed the annual which is colored blue and orange on a gray background and was printed by offset lithography by Burd and Fletcher of Kansas City, Kansas.

Miss Rhodes, crowned by Dr. Joe Pryor, the Petit Jean faculty supervisor, is a senior from Wichita, Kansas. The Queen was selected by ballots cast by the student body. She is a member of the Ju Go Ju club, the small chorus, the girls' sextette and the girls' glee club. Miss Rhodes is majoring in home economics.

Miss Kell, attendant, is from Little Rock and is a member of the Ju Go Ju, girls' sextette, and girls' glee club. She is majoring in home economics.

Miss Stubblefield, attendant and a member of the Ju Go Ju, is from Tullahoma, Tenn. She is majoring in home economics and a member of the small chorus.

Students that were selected as "best all around," and "class favorites," joined in the processional with the queen. Students are listed and addresses and social clubs follows their names.

JIMMY MASSEY

BETTY THORNTON

Miss Thornton To Editorship, Massey Business Manager

Both Juniors Next Year; Take Over For Last Issue

Betty Thornton and Jimmy Massey have been selected to head the 1950-51 Bison, Faculty Advisor Neil B. Cope announced today. They will assume their duties with the next issue of the Bison, the last for this school year.

Both are sophomores and will be juniors next fall and both have established enviable records here. Each is completing a second year on the Bison staff, Miss Thornton as a reporter and associate editor and Massey as reporter and assistant business manager.

Each of the new Bison officers will receive $50 per term on tuition.

They will be officially installed at the Press Club banquet tonight.

Miss Thornton is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. R. H. Thornton of Sheridan. She received a host of honors in high school and was editor of the paper there. At Harding the past two years she has been one of the most active students on the campus.

She has had the leading roles in two lyceums and has appeared in numerous other productions. She is also on the Petit Jean staff and has worked part-time in the public relations department this year.

Miss Thornton, the football queen of Sheridan Hi one year, is majoring in journalism and minoring in speech.

Massey is currently president of the sophomore class, a member of the Alpha Phi Kappa social club, member of the Florence Cathcart Chapter (local) of the Future Teachers of America, and is in the large chorus and men's glee club.

He was a class officer throughout his four years in high school along with being a Beta Club member. He was selected for "Who's Who in American High Schools," was in the band and a member of the football team. Last year he was editor of the freshman edition of the Bison and vice president of the freshman class.

Massey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Massey of Pontotoc, Miss. He is majoring in Bible and Speech and is minoring in English.

"The Bison has been a tremendous influence on the campus this year, and I consider the responsibility of being editor next year a great one. I shall strive to uphold the high standards the staff this year has set and will do everything I can to make the 1951 Bison better than ever," Miss Thornton said today.

Music And Voice Students In Recital Last Wednesday

A musical program was given in the Harding auditorium Friday, May 19, by students of Miss Jo Bagnetto, Mrs. B. L. Oliver, Mrs. Florence Jewell, Prof. Erle Moore, Prof. Bill Cook, and Mrs. R. A. Ward.

The first group consisted of "Toccata in D" by Bach and "Third Sonata, First Movement" by MacDowell, played by Sue Christian; "Allemande" by d'Albert, played by Marion Bush; and "Romance," by Sibelius, played by Margaret See.

For the second group, Bettye Kell sang "Beloved It Is Morn" by Aylward; Vera Young gave "Morning," by Oley Speaks and "One Fine Day," by Puccini; and Hugh Mingle sang "Soft Dews from Heaven," by W. F. Bach and "The Blind Ploughman," by Clark.

Dolores Durnil followed with "Romance," by Henri Wieniawski and "Hejre Kati" (Scene from Czarda) by Jenő Hubay.

Ernestine Phillips was next, playing MacDowell's "Hungarian Etude." Edna McCullough gave "Prelude in G minor" by Rachmaninoff and Mary Katherine Daniels played "Polichinelle," by Rachmaninoff.

Sarah Longley led the next group with her singing of "A Heart That's Free" by A. G. Rogers. She was followed by Sarah Kerr who sang "Romance," by Debussy, and "The Sleep that Flits on Baby's Eyes," by J. A. Carpenter, and LeRoy O'Neal, who sang "Serenade," by Toselli, and "For You Alone," by Gheeli.

The next group consisted of Chopin's "Etude, Op. 10, No. 12," played by Carolyn Hovey, Chopin's "Funeral March from his Sonata, Op. 35," played by Eunice Hogan, and another Chopin number, "Scherzo in B flat minor," played by Mary Katherine King.

Sue Christian, Marion Bush, Edna McCullough, and Mary Katherine King are piano students of Miss Bagnetto. Mrs. Oliver teaches Margaret See, Ernestine Phillips, Mary Katherine Daniels, Carolyn Hovey and Eunice Hogan. Mrs. Jewell instructs Bettye Kell in voice and Bill Cook teaches voice to Sarah Longley. Vera Young, Hugh Mingle, Sarah Kerr, and LeRoy O'Neal are voice students of Prof. Moore, while Mrs. Ward instructs Dolores Durnil in violin.

Morris To Give Program Of Songs

Bob Morris will present a program of music, merely to entertain, May 26 in the Harding College Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The first song on Bob's program will be "The Forbidden Song." Besides the usual selection of an Italian, German and French songs the program will consist of Hungarian, Hebrew, and Voodoo numbers. Along with two Jerome Kern numbers, Morris will introduce a song, "The Day is Done," written by Earle Moore, Professor of music at Harding.

This is the third program of this type to be presented by Morris, a junior from Chicago. He will be accompanied by Sally Croom.

Constitution For Student-Faculty Committee Ready

Upon approval of the president of Harding College, the Constitution of the Student Body Association is now subject to ratification by the student body and faculty, announced the joint student faculty committee selected to draw up the charter.

Richard Walker, senior and member of the committee, has been appointed president pro-tem to take charge of the ratification and election of officers for the ensuing year.

A special meeting of the student body will be called for as soon as the faculty approves the charter in order to ratify it, and if time permits, elect officers. The other members of the Executive Council will not be elected until the first of next year, but in order to get the organization on its feet, the committee deems it advisable to ratify the charter this year.

A move for organization of the student body has been felt on the campus for almost two years, but this is the first successful attempt to get a charter composed. The joint committee, composed of students Richard Walker, Betty Thornton, and Bob Morris and faculty members A. S. Croom, Dr. Joe Pryor, and Dean L. C. Sears, composed the charter to fit the needs of Harding College.

Annual Dedication Invo ks Solemnness From Student Body

By Bill Curry

We've all found plenty to gripe about all year, but somehow, as the 1950 Petit Jean was being dedicated last Friday evening the hush that prevailed between bursts of applause seemed to indicate that only the best of Harding College was called to mind. And I suppose that, as years fade away, we shall many times gaze past those pages back into these few crowded days that have passed before.

We shall be inspired again and again by the lives of those who have made Harding great and fondly read the names of fellow students who shared her greatness with us. We shall recall that event upon which this Petit Jean was dedicated. The quietening influence as Ruth read the dedication, the silent admiration and audible applause directed toward our many outstanding classmates, the graceful entry of Evelyn—and her coronation. Even the announcements sounded great. Students formed lines hastily but in good order.

Dietitians In Demand, Law Grads Face Stiff Competition

Following is the first of two articles on the employment outlook in eight specific fields as released by the U.S. Department of Labor.

DIETITIANS

Dietitians are in demand! A thousand new dietitians are needed yearly to replace those who leave because of marriage or other reasons, but not nearly that number prepare annually to enter the field, according to the U. S. Department of Labor's Women's Bureau which has just completed a study in cooperation with the American Dietetic Association. In 1949 the Army reported almost 100 budgeted positions unfilled and many hospitals throughout the country reported difficulty in retaining well trained dietitians for their food services.

Preparation for a career in dietetics includes graduation from a home economics department of an accredited college with a major in foods and nutrition. A year's internship is also usually required.

Although most dietitians are women, men are much in demand in this field as food administrators.

In the next 5 to 10 years at least splendid opportunities will exist for dietitians. A wide variety of choices in this field, offers opportunity for service essential to the health and welfare of mankind.

LAWYERS

Law graduates seeking employment this year will meet exceedingly stiff competition in most areas, according to a study made by the United States Department of Labor's Bureau of Statistics.

The legal profession was already overcrowded in 1949, when twice as many lawyers passed the bar examinations as in the year before the war. In view of the unprecedented number of students now in law school, the number of new graduates will remain high.

Strictly Collegiate

By Ann Morris
Andrew Carnegie said, "I believe the true road to success in any line is to make yourself master in that line." How true that statement is. With the end of this school term quickly approaching, many of us girls will be working. How well will we do our work and how well will we be equipped for that particular job?

Modern science and invention, civic and economic progress, and the approach to Christian unity are all working to give the woman and woman's work a distinct place in the social order.

To the unmarried woman education in the broad sense of self-culture and development is of primary importance. All her studies and pastimes should be pursued with the main purpose of making herself the ideal woman.

The best teachers are those who have chosen it as their life work, and have therefore thoroughly prepared themselves for it. A girl who takes a school position merely for the money that there is in it and expects to give it up in a year or two is inflicting a grievous wrong on the children under her supervision.

The foundation of a critical habit in reading has a practical bearing for it is direct training for the positions of book-reviewer and manuscript reader for magazine and book-publishers. Not only is this true for just the prospect of a job but if we remember a great deal of what we read we will be well versed on many topics. This brings on reasons for reading only good literature or fiction.

The knowledge of books and the ability to digest their contents are necessary to the making of a library worker. Every one of us should have a vocation. Earnings and wages are not alone good in themselves, but are an additional gratification, in that they supply a proof that the earner's service is of worth to the world. There are many jobs that women can do and do well, but we have to be prepared mentally and physically for every one of them. If we neglect to prepare ourselves in our youth, we will never be a success.

are quite chummy. I'm not sure it's one of those cases though.

Bill Longley, bachelor for a lengthy spell, has been seen now and then with another roaming heart, Joan Golden. (Again, this writer assumes no responsibility if this situation is altered between the date of publication and the time this article is written.)

Rolling on undisturbed are Jimmy Garner—Jo Ann Pickens, Joe Webb—Nell Young, Denzil Gates—Rosaling Mitchen, Howard Garner—Jean Gibbons, Jimmy Massey—Joyce Burt, Paul Gross—Ann Harkins, Conway Sexson—Ann Cunningham, and Bill Phillips—Joan Cook.

We were about to overlook one of the biggest events of the year which took place in the gym this week. With the arrival of the yearbook, the Petit Jean dedication and presentation of special of special students highlighted Friday's activities.

Track and Field Day cannot be overlooked either. It was a success. Most of the students stuck around to cheer their classmates through the contests. The faculty sure kept their secret well though. Who could ever have guessed that it was going to be Friday?

Next week we'll drag a few memories and say a few farewells, so until then I leave you to your studying.

main high for the next 2 or 3 years at least. Many young lawyers will probably be forced to turn to other fields of work in which their legal training may be asset. Top-ranking students, however, will continue to find openings with relative ease.

Opportunities for specialists are often better than for lawyers in general practice.

TEACHERS

Graduates trained for elementary school teaching should find a wide choice of employment opportunities in most States this spring. On the other hand, prospective teachers at the secondary level will find a highly competitive employment situation in all but a few subject fields. Last year, only one student completed training for elementary teaching for every three who were needed; this year, the shortage will be nearly as acute.

Strong competition for high school teachers positions is expected in the country as a whole for the next few years at least. However, the distribution of
