Dear Lamar,

I have wanted to write you for the last several weeks but have not had the opportunity before now. I have heard many good reports about your work at Northridge. Having experienced many difficulties in that field I think I can understand the sacrifice that you are making better than anyone else. Realizing that encouragement is welcomed by all of us I have written this letter telling you of the many good reports we have received.

Please accept my best wishes and prayers for your continued success in that great field.

Fratnerally yours,

John Allen Chalk
