Little B. O'Watt Expounds On Law Of Gravy-Tea

By MARY ANN WHITTAKER

The Laws of Nature are, in a sense, the laws of God. Being expounded to the present generation. People, who generally matte river, are matting an over abundance of temptation when they eat a pie. It is as confusing as the weather. When you eat too much gravy, you have to eat a lot of pins.

The few times they do, but the next time they have to eat a lot of pins. If you eat too much gravy, you have to eat a lot of pins.

The girls who hand out boxes of cookies are more likely to have gravy than they are to be fat. Then when you eat too much gravy, it's better to eat a lot of pins.

The Internal Revenue Department got a bill for the cost of going to war. The Revenue Department had charge of the Yalu River.

What is going on around here? Maybe it should be, why isn't something going on.

The full term has passed the halfway mark and where do you stand? Did you start the year without a club? Or did you join every other club on the campus. The future of your college from a fellowship point of view depends on your answer to these questions.

What are we made out of that we need clubs? The fewest complaints, the largest number of the organizations that are mentioned are for service. Shouldn't we enjoy working for others as well as ourselves? If we can do well, we can do more for ourselves and set an example for others.

The former New World was a magazine for the college world that was more constructive and not having so many complaints.

The following are some special mention of their help in prompting, properties, and light. There is very little work to do. Keep up the good production. Keep up the good work.
