By Their Works Ye Shall Know Them

The petition to the dining hall which was circulated last week has developed both the subject of much consideration among the students. And it should be, for it concerns us all to a great extent. It is the belief of the Blazon that if students are dissatisfied with the present arrangements in the dining hall, a petition is a fine thing; but we wonder if enough thought was given to this particular petition, in that it does effect the entire student body so much.

It is decided upon, the change will not be over. And as the new plan is put into effect and does prove satisfactory, to change back would require buying new expensive equipment the dining hall doesn't need.

It is the view of the Blazon that students would do well to go slowly on this matter. It is not fair to working students, who can barely manage expenses as is, to jump too fast in plans. We have to prefer solutions that can offer an attitude to understand a few suggestions. First, take a vote among the students to see about adopting a less drastic plan of slightly raising the board rate, which would go to a greater and better quality and more varieties, without involving expensive equipment and personnel. This wouldn't solve the question of meals, we know, but as we stated earlier, that would probably involve more costs than it would save.

If it is decided to make the change, the students will be expected to know the cost in advance. And if it is decided this is a matter that we want to new, the students should be able to have the picture box filled in the dining hall and have students turn in complaints, requests for favorite foods, and so on. Mrs. Hart has assured us that every possible consideration will be made to save the dining hall a considerable amount of money which could go into better meals for you and a great deal of possible improvements in the diet of the students.

The class in stages crafts, taught by Professor Mason and Ulrey, may be taken for credit. The class made a review of some of the productions of two of the best known directors. The final project will be the production of "Connecticut Yankee" as a two-parent play. The show is scheduled for Birmingham on Mar. 7.

The Defoe Trio is one of the most popular in the art department. The group is made up of B. L. Coons, Shirley Zink, and in eternity.

Their programs consist of several songs that Miss Burt had taught them. These songs were sung by the cast and audience, and friends, and colleagues, Joan Ritchie, John Jones, Jack Weil, and Dick Mason all Jed songs. We enjoyed it very much.

The group has special mention for taking Robin Bish's role of Lesa, it happened that both boys wore in the performance. Carl May is playing the part of Arthur, and in the performance of "no children admitted" didn't put up as we are not hard to find, from the stage.

A trio consisting of an eligible man and two male students and two maids, and a maid, and helper friends. Joan Ritchie, John Jones, Jack Weil, and Dick Mason all Jed songs. We enjoyed it very much.

The Rosen House was held at the Rosenfield Frinesday, February 6, beginning at 6:30. The club chose "Sweet heart" theme for the event.
Two large red hearts, one at the entrance to the banquet room and the other in front of the large mirror, set the proper mood for the entrance to the banquet room.
Valentines were distributed as guests arrived.
Irish Roll Over Danes 80-33; Mens Scores 42 To Set Record

Irish Keep Tie With Welsh With Two Games To Go

One Man's Opinion

BY BILL BELL

The final score looked like it was a foregone conclusion, but the Irish outscored the Danes in the second half to take a 20-point lead going into the third quarter. The Irish went on to win the game by a score of 80-33.

The second half saw the Irish pulling away from the Danes, as they outscored them 47-13. The Irish had a balanced attack, with five players scoring in double figures.

The game was marked by a strong defense by the Irish, as they held the Danes to only 33 points. The Danes had a few bright spots, including a 3-point shot by their leading scorer, but they couldn't match the Irish's offensive output.

The Irish will look to continue their winning streak as they face off against the next team on their schedule.
