No OPC Board Can Regulate Freedom Price

BY CHRIS ELLIOTT

The price of Freedom is High.

Do high, in fact, a 41-year-old man on the road to a peak of success, has given up his job to battle for a principle.

On February 15, A. D. Hinds, the district manager of the River City Company, said at a meeting of the Board of Directors that, in a way, Hinds had been fighting for his freedom.

"I have much to fear from Big Government," Hinds said. "The power of any one individual is too great, and the loss of individual freedom is a terrible thing."

Hinds used to illustrate his point with a story about a small, isolated country where freedom was still alive. The country was named "Boojum," and the inhabitants were known as "Boojumites."

In Boojum, every citizen had equal rights and freedoms. There were no laws, and the only rule was that no one should interfere with another person's freedom.

One day, a wealthy man from another country arrived in Boojum. He wanted to take over the government and make himself ruler. But the Boojumites wouldn't have any of it. They fought back, and the wealthy man was driven out.

"That's why I'm fighting for my freedom," Hinds said. "I don't want anyone to take that away from me."

Hinds smiled as he said this, and there was a spark of joy in his eye. "I believe in Freedom, and I'm going to fight for it until I die."
Four Days To Nominate Candidates

There are only four more days before the deadline for nominating petition for student council officers. This is not much time when you consider that 20 names must be signed to your petition.

You have all heard the rules of eligibility for the candidates. It is up to the students to start and sign the petitions. Before every election, students are urged to nominate their favorite candidate and yet, after every election, there is the same thing: "There was no one to vote for so we elected a good officer."

Now, then, is the time to get your candidate in the race. Maybe you think that your candidate doesn't have a chance of winning. Maybe you say, "Oh, he and she-won't worry about running for office, they'll vote for him nevertheless. Perhaps your candidate could win—many a good campaign has been made."

At any rate, it is not fair to yourself if the officers elect to make no effort or sacrifice during the nominating and then criticise every action of the officers the next day.

Circulation or Isolation

Are you selfish? Do you deprive others of what they rightfully desire? Have you a copy of the newspaper article on our winning the sweepstakes tacked to the bulletin board? Have you read it? Have you told others of it? Are you selfish? Do you feel that you are doing something little for yourself, and others, of a vital part of development along the social scale? Are you selfish? Do you think he or she doesn't have a chance of winning. Maybe you should, she will enjoy it.

Then, is it the same with you? Do you feel that you are doing something little for yourself, and others, of a vital part of development along the social scale? Are you selfish? Do you think he or she doesn't have a chance of winning. Maybe you should, she will enjoy it.

What you write today will be read tomorrow. What you write today will be read tomorrow. Most people are determined to try to "win" him. When all you both is to get acquainted with, and grow to love, you can, if you choose. But, you can ask a girl a question; to answer it yourself; and she will enjoy the game just as much as she would a T-Bone steak at a restaurant. Who eats steak these days, anyway.

Then, girls, why should you feel that because a boy dates you once and someone else next time, that he is in private property. Why take the chances of rushing promenade and becoming a "boy friend" by trying to "win" him. When all you both is to get acquainted with, and grow to love, you can, if you choose. But, you can ask a girl a question; to answer it yourself; and she will enjoy the game just as much as she would a T-Bone steak at a restaurant. Who eats steak these days, anyway.

Many, very delightful people are getting lost themselves all the time when they could be enjoying the company of others as easily as not; and they could date without going steady. After all—variety is the spice of life, and the bright light of her eyes, and being with a friend, will write many, and fully appreciable, that "one and only" when she be here along.

So, boys—and girls, why not be a little different to tradition, and try courtship. Why not? It might just be fun for the time, very worthwhile.

It's Nice To Be Appreciated

We of the Bison staff had a pleasant surprise awaiting us when we returned to work this morning. That is, a big envelope. As we walked in the office, we were greeted by a big welcome home sign, a copy of the newspaper article on winning the sweepstakes tacked on the bulletin board, andSO on. We dint feel that being greatly appreciated.

This was the work of one person. A person that has done a little toward building that spirit and morale of Harding alive. We know that little that is done in the name of Harding without her help or encouragement, she has been the instigator of many plans toward the promotion of the ideals of Harding College.

It's about time someone cleared up the big deficit this college owes to Miss Meredith Thorn, alumni secretary.

If a staff member could hold to this opportunity to present her the "credit" she deserves for her fine efforts toward the promotion of the ideals of Harding College. Appreciation counts for a lot in this world.
