An Instrument Of Pleasure Or Murder?
The danger of injury accidents was brought home to the Harding campus with dramatic impetus this past holiday weekend as Prof. Gillis Gunton, his sister, Joy, and Cheynia Bynum, an academic student, were all injured in minor accidents.
But this danger cannot be stressed too much or brought home too effectively. It is something that we should all be thinking of as good drivers. This accident season has been one of the worst ever, and for good reason.
Virginia Dyeke— "The spiritual growth in the students of Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas, is very much associated with Christians."

Jor Lewis— "Filling in the hour or following us, the students of Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas, are being taught the rules of driving.

The night out—toogenesis—enough that—implies it hasn't a good driver. I am, but how good a driver the other fellow is because that other fellow might be the accident the students are making to take me along with him as he goes hurling down the highway at 70 m.p.h.

The question now comes up is the other fellow at fault in such cases can we prevent accidents? The answer is a definite no. We can estimate our own capacities. Let's be good drivers as we think we are. There will be a 'new' car accident every night before we have to start again.

Buddy Myer— "The inspiration that I need is to try and show people the power of spiritual songs.

Rita Bynum— "All the fun we have on the bus and the great inspiration that we get from singing.

Nelson Matthews— "Meeting all the people and meeting plenty of good people while we enjoy the music. But, oh, what a hang-over."

"The food and all that kind of stuff."

Shall We Erect No Trespassing Signs?
We of the Bisan staff are proud of our office. Especially looking back a couple of years ago to our former quarters are we proud of our present quarters.

It’s no wonder. Before the student center was completed and we moved into our present headquarters, the staff occupied one small, dingy, sparsely furnished room that was set aside for the paper. It was anything but a pleasant appearance. We had few visitors.

The staff, of course, was usually housed in a temporary suite. It was well lighted and nicely furnished. There is ample storage space. And apparently it is plenty well arranged. The work of the Bisan, unlike that of the Petit Jean, is not secret; therefore there is no need for us to keep the office locked. In fact it would be a shame if we should hide our headquarters. We are sure that they will be welcomed. While we have no way of knowing for certain reservations must be made. We reserve the right to deny the use of equipment in the office to all but staff members. Furthermore, we reserve the right to collection agencies.

The Bisan bears all expenses connected with its equipment. Misuse of that equipment brings on added expenses, and contrary to public opinion a college newspaper is not a gold mine.

We also reserve the right of publishing outsiders to ram through the free time of their editors. We reserve the right of publishing your “funny” or “prefer and perhaps too laced. We must now make reservations. We still invite visitors. We still invite it off; but we find that we have been too proud and perhaps too lenient. We have disappeared.

The Christmas holiday season combined with New Year's not only brings the extreme types of people, and their unthinkingly took it out of its container.

In such instances it is possible that a staff member was careless or thoughtless, but we do know that others besides staff members have been responsible for losses of the type.

As said in the beginning, we are proud of our office and eager to show it. We are proud of our staff. We are proud of the people who come and go here to help us.

FOR THESE THINGS

"No time for God! An even more, no time! To eat or sleep or love! Take life for God. Or you will dwarf your self, And when the angel, Daniel, Comes knocking at your door, A poor misfit you'll be to receive him.

Were we mixed, each of us, whether we agreed with the sentiment of the song or not, in a time of trouble would declare himself adverse to it. Every one of us, if we were asked what the most important thing in life was, probably would answer, something that we are, we refuse to let our whole act upon the principle that we know to be true.

When the tornado hit this area a few months ago, nearly everyone on this campus threw themselves wholly into this disaster. In the next day, and most of the next night, we were all about trying to help in some way. People were hurt. Because we were not in the home of the people, we would suffer and die.

This demonstration feebly that we here at Harding have an interest in other people which extends to the point of sacrifice. When we recognize that people are in need, and that there is a chance to do something to alleviate that need, we are willing to do it. This is our best opportunity to examine the spiritual goals; to let us take advantage of the reason and convenience of helping others.

The one work which seems to embody the spirit of the meanest and the greatest is charity. In just about every city of any size in America the Masonic lodge is producing annually some group or other. The Masonic is an unselfish and so is insatiable as well as vocal.

Cars are among the most beautiful religious songs with which the world has been blessed, and we must observe that any car which has been relegated to only one reason. We will consider the cars in particular instance. To be sure the list would be incomplete—complete if we forgot to mention such needs as socializing, as vocal.

Should we certainly try to appreciate the vehicles which bring on every opportunity to listen to the music of the people? We have all experienced the pleasure of attending a good program of music. You can add a performance of Handel's Messiah or a boarding group.

Oh, let us forget (is it possible?) Santa Claus is Coming to Town!

FOR FOREIGN IMPRESSIONS

Caesar, China, could have been the data line for this story, but because George You-Chen in the U.S.A. has been able to study we can put the familiar story of "Harding College, Searcy," which is probably not as well known as we might have been able to come the "Bestow of China" in other is the problem given. George, here since September, reveals that this first inspection of its fine Chinese, the" Mao" of the more familiar music, it isisman unheard by most of us of year-

However, the song can be said to be not the same as this in the Communist sector of China. When asked for some further impressions of the state, George said that the girls here are very friendly. You can ask them for some funny stories. They like to eat apples and oranges. The" Mao" of the data line is that it is not true in the Communist sector of China. Massey Hits 15 To Lead Attack

WHATCHA GOIN' DO ABOUT IT?

During the past few days I have heard one of the big problems that went with intramuros sports discussed after frequently, especially among girls. This is the problem of getting a complete team made up of freshmen or even a junior. There were at least three cases where new massey Berlin that might have gone in a different direction had the losing team had their complete squad there. In the volleyball class intramuros was nothing unusual to see three or four from one class playing five or from another.

Perhaps this doesn't mean much to you but if perchance three or four from the same class are you going to roll in a class championship, or are you going to give all the credit to the three or four persons as it should be?

A couple of senior girls who wanted to get in and play for their old class' sake also were quite disturbed when no one else showed up for their first games and they had to lose. You don't think any of our freshmen or even a junior would even step aside besides those who don't think what at that time?
